

As I See Ranger

By GENE TOWNSEND

Ranger has a citizen that is quite good at writing poetry. This person is also a strong supporter of our school system and civic activities of Ranger. He also seems to have an admiration for Bill Auvenshine, the school band director. This person handed us the following lyric recently: "Twas handed to me by Bill Auvenshine. A clever poster of unique design heralding operation 'Strike up the Chord'." Date, February seventeen, Year of our Lord. Gathered at the school a big fine crowd; Bright smiling faces showed they were proud. That there on the stage bands A, B, C, A magnificent sight for all to see. And music to hear, no finer in the land. Proud are we of our leader and band. —An Admirer

This reminds us of a story that was recently told on Bill. He is a member of the Ranger Lions Club and is song leader for that organization. He is very enthusiastic about his work and never misses a Thursday meeting if possible. Recently Bill rushed out to the College cafeteria where the Lions Club meets each Thursday noon, and to his surprise there were a lot of unfamiliar faces gathered around. Bill thought that there must be an outstanding program planned for the meeting to bring out so many guests. Then he realized that there was something else unusual about the crowd—there were no Lions present. Then the light dawned—he remembered that the day was Wednesday, and that is the day that the Rotary Club meets. Well Bill, we think that you should get at least an "E" for effort. If all organizations had members that enthusiastic they would have better clubs.

Wilson Simpson recently purchased a new (to him) 1957 Chevrolet automobile. The purchase was made approximately the same date that Bob Gailley's car was stolen. The car "Simp" bought was almost identical to the one Bob lost. "Simp" has been taking quite a bit of kidding about where he got his few cars. It seems that one of his friends even challenged him to raise the trunk lid to see if he had any little league equipment in the trunk.

Don't forget the Senior Play Friday night. They have a fine cast and have been working hard to give a good performance. It is a comedy play that everyone will enjoy. This is one of the highlights of the senior year, so everyone try to give them support.

MUSIC LOVERS YES, but the members of the Breckenridge Boys Choir have many other activities. They come from all walks of life and will move on to many of the different professions of life. The choir is scheduled to appear in New Orleans soon.

Breckenridge Boys Choir To Sing In New Orleans

From out of the West—West Texas, that is—goes the Breckenridge Boys Choir to New Orleans, Louisiana, where they are to appear in concert during a week's celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Grace Episcopal Church. The boys will be introduced in a noon-time television show and appear in an evening concert at Grace Church on Feb. 24.

This group of vigorous West Texas school boys whose daily garb is jeans and boots, is unique in its organization and musical participation. They are learning the joy of singing and the pleasure of good music while continuing in all regular school activities, football, 4-H Club, and Future Farmer work.

There will be a few music majors in the group, but there will be more than likely be many engineers, and a veterinarian or two—all of whom will be familiar with Bach, Beethoven, Mozart and Vaughan-Williams.

The boys have grown up in the "cowboy country" and they almost all participate in some phase of livestock raising, either on the family ranch or in "backyard ranches" in this small West Texas town. Of the forty boys making the trip, ten come in from as far away as 23 miles to the tri-weekly rehearsals of the Choir.

Mrs. Ben J. Dean, Jr., director of the Choir, organized the project nine years ago. Since that time the Choir has sung in ten cities, has had eight television performances;

Ranger College American College Testing Center

Ranger College has been designated as a testing center for the American College Testing Program. The first tests will be given at the college Saturday, Feb. 25, under the supervision of James P. Anderson of Ranger College.

Forty-one students of this area have made application to take the tests Saturday, students coming from high schools in Ranger, Eastland, Breckenridge, Strawn, and Mineral Wells. More and more colleges are asking that tests of this kind be given for college entrance, and in view of the demand for such testing, four testing dates a year have been set up. Applications are made to the American College Testing Program.

The next testing date will be April 22, 1961.

Palo Pinto Soil Conservation District News

Many Conservation Practices Completed During Past Year

A. L. Cranford, Chairman of the board of directors of the Palo Pinto Soil Conservation District, which includes the area east of Ranger, has released a report of the District's activities during the past year.

Other members of the board include C. B. Quante, vice chairman, Bill Sanders, secretary, Sam Powers and Tess Tuller. Cranford's report stated that the district has been trying to get the job of conservation in the district done in many ways. First, the directors feel that every supervisor should have a good conservation job done on his own property.

The supervisors have sponsored field tours for city, urban and district cooperators to see what was being done. They have worked closely with the bankers, chamber of commerce, Palo Pinto Agriculture workers' council and other organizations in presenting the problems and jobs as benefits to everyone.

The Palo Pinto chamber of commerce assists in the annual Soil and Grass contest by paying for one-half of the prizes and helping in grading. The banks in the district furnish the meals for the banquet and the agriculture council helps in the field and grading papers.

The district has had from one to three representatives at the 1960 state and national conventions. Every county agent and FFA advisor in the district is called upon to help in informational and educational activities. The ministers in the district are furnished materials for Soil Stewardship Sunday.

Following is a report of applied conservation practices in the district during 1960. There was 3457 acres in the Conservation Cropping System. Pasture farming, using costal Contour farming included 31,945 acres of cropland. Cover cropping with vetch, peas, oats and vetch and clovers was applied to 10,191 acres. Crop residue (crop residue left on surface of soil) was used on 18,454 acres. A total of 5506 acres was under the Hay and Pasture Rotation plan using Johnsongrass, Sorghum, Aluma and Blue Panic grasses.

Strip cropping systems (8 rows peanuts and 2 or 4 rows begonia, maize, sudan or peas) was practiced on 1380 acres. Bermuda, common bermuda and (Continued on Page Two)

George Hurt, State Director of Vocational Agriculture Education, in the following statement, outlines the future of the FFA in Texas.

We are living in a critical period where we find ourselves involved in a worldwide conflict of fundamental processes that have meant so much to our American way of life. These require a combination of sound leadership and a well informed citizenship, both endowed with a capacity of eternal vigilance and a willingness for all-out effort to preserve the heritage and future of our nation.

Never before have so many people recognized the need to strengthen and perpetuate the fundamental processes in our country by which each generation of youth develops to its maximum ability, and out of which emerge the leaders in the many fields of endeavor.

The Texas Association of Future Farmers of America is an integral part of the vocational agriculture program of the public secondary schools. It provides for its members, learning experiences essential in working with others, and encourages strong incentive for developing talents and initiative characteristic of outstanding leaders. The program is a planned, continuous approach to strengthen rural youth's opportunity and to bridge the gap between rural and urban accomplishments.

This week has been designated as Future Farmer, of America Week. Governor Price Daniel has issued a proclamation urging all Texas to recognize and encourage the FFA young men who are preparing for careers in agriculture.

Daniels said, "The Future Farmers of America organization is playing an outstanding role in assuring the future progress and prosperity of our State and Nation."

Covered Sugar advertisement with logo and text by Mrs. Cubian Perry.

Do we, as a whole, squander our leisure time? Of course we do. Those that have grown children come suddenly face to face with time to kill so, being very human, that is what we do with seeds of our free time. This happens because we haven't used our inner resources for really constructive leisure. Each of us have had at one time or another small dreams of doing some one thing but never had the time, energy, space or what have you to go ahead and do it. After all the busy years of menial work for family it seems to leave us in the air, wondering just who we should be rushing toward or from as we had to do a few years ago. Remember the PTA meeting that seemed to come at the most difficult time just when you had costumes to make for some play or fix box for a box supper for the small fry? On this earth we have but a few years. One third of it is spent in sleep, one third is spent in work, eating, dressing and going to and from work which leaves us one third of our time as our own. Now what we do with that depends on us. This third will have to include our social, religious and civic works. You say to yourself, "What's left?" That is what we have to work out for ourselves. Some times our social life takes it all; religion should have the top priority (to me the studying of the Bible should have the most of this time) we can attend every

Judge Receives Thank You Note From State Pen

It's not too often a judge sentences a man to the state penitentiary and then gets a card of thanks from him the next week. That happened to Turner Collier, judge of the 91st District Court, however.

Judge Collier received the following letter: "I would like to write this personal letter to you to thank you and your Court for the fair and just consideration shown to my brother and I last week when we were brought before you for trial. We both feel that we received a just and a fair sentence for the crime which we were charged and convicted of. I feel certain that when, and if, we are ever granted clemency by the Board of Pardon and Paroles, we will not betray the trust which those gentlemen might place in us, for we can and will, when that time comes, once again return to society with the help of our family and God and take our place there. We will not fail. Again sir, may I say thanks for all your consideration shown us. Please feel free to write at anytime."

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Washington, D. C.—39 Democrats and 6 republican senators have introduced a $389,500,000 bill to aid "depressed areas." On the House side, about 55 such bills have been introduced, all very nearly alike.

From all indications a bill of some kind will pass the Congress. Whatever is passed is likely to be a very expensive sedative for the ills of a few. None of the proposals now being made are likely to prevent conditions which this action is supposed to relieve.

The central purpose of all the proposals is to inaugurate a program for Government financial assistance to locate industry in "chronic labor surplus areas." It would also re-train workers in new fields of labor, paying them a subsistence wage while training. Most of the bills also provide the elimination of "incentive" for industry to move from one State to another.

It would seem as long as the causes for a depressed area go uncurd, trouble will remain.

Although there are other points of view, it seems obvious that there are three real causes for these economic conditions. One is the low wage foreign imports which, under certain Governmental policies, have been encouraged, both on the domestic and foreign end. Another is wage rates not based on productivity and third, is the unrealistic tax laws which have hampered industrial expansion and drained off workers' take home pay. While all this is happening, we still have inflation. Never before in our history or the history of any other modern nation, except France, has there been an economic slump and inflation at the same time.

As long as the causes remain, there is just no reason to expect Government subsidized industry to succeed where private efforts have failed. It is common sense to conclude that losses by the Government from reduced income taxes will diminish as the trend continues. The best figures available suggest that it may cost as much as $15,000 to provide employment for one individual in a real depressed area. This is a rather expensive palliative which fails to get at the cause of the condition in the first place.

Our Government is plagued by four scourges:

1. Compulsive spending, which has upped the level of spending 25 fold in about as many years—much faster than our National growth.
2. Government by credit card—which has piled up our huge national debt that we seem unable or unwilling to reduce.
3. Cancerous taxation—so high that it has undermined the individual initiative and encouraged both personal and business dependence on the Government.
4. Inflation, the final destroyer, which can cheapen our money, drive prices beyond the reach, and cause untold hardship by reducing the value of our savings, pensions and insurance.

'Swiss Family Robinson' Animal Cast Holds Motion Picture Variety Record

The animal cast for Walt Disney's fabulous $5,000,000 Panavision Technicolor feature, "Swiss Family Robinson," holds the record for variety at least. The show is now showing through Saturday, at the Majestic in Eastland.

More than 200 birds and animals were used in six months of filming on Tobago, small and primitive neighbor of Trinidad in the West Indies.

Numerically, motion picture productions have possibly exceeded this outlay of feathered and four-legged thespians. But no non-documentary feature has used more than 70 varieties of bird and beast in one fell swoop.

Even the prolific Johann Wyss, Eighteenth Century creator of the original classic, would have been pleasantly surprised with the snarling, yipping, screeching, prancing, fighting turnout.

The impressive list includes ostriches, zebras, anacondas, monitor lizards, iguanas, monkeys—22 of these—tigers, cheetahs, hyenas, alligators, sharks, camels, dogs, goats, turtles, tortoises, a cow, an elephant and a mule.

Many more birds filled the tropical air with their color and their cries: pelicans, frigate birds, flamingoes, macaws, parrots, cranes, toucans, cockatoos, pheasants of one variety or another, peafowl, swans, ducks, geese, chickens, and a squadron of more than two-score vultures.

A lot of the capricious creatures, particularly birds, were window dressing or atmosphere, as if Tommy the Toucan, looking like he had stepped right out of "Alice in Wonderland," and the evil Hyena boys, tougher than tigers and considered strictly unsafe for anything but long shots.

But the most surprising character of all was the five-year-old elephant named Rocky. Rocky liked to rock and roll more than most of her breed. But the real reason for the name was, probably, a still more peculiar leaning of hers. For solace, particularly after a tiring day before the cameras, this young 'un liked to have her head rubbed with a rock.

Although Tobago and Trinidad are well populated with crocodiles, iguanas, agouti and manacous, and still stranger creatures like whistling frogs and oysters that grow on trees, no real island could come up to the kaleidoscopic zoological role dreamed up by Wyss and Disney.

Wyss wrote the myriad animal extras in Disney flew them in, gathering them from all over the Western Hemisphere for air-lifting across the Caribbean. Waiting to join them before the cameras were a motley crew of locals, which included pigs, sharks, sea turtles, an excitable group of farmyard fowl, and an extraordinarily obstinate donkey.

"Swiss Family Robinson" stars John Mills, Dorothy McGuire, James MacArthur and Janet Munro, and co-stars Sessu Hayakawa, Tommy Kirk, Kevin Corcoran and Cecil Parker. Bill Anderson produces for Disney. Ken Annakin directed the Lowell S. Hawley screen play. Buena Vista releases.

ALL IN FUN . . . Both Janet Munro and her Zebra steed enjoy their ride in Disney's Panavision Technicolor feature, "Swiss Family Robinson," starring John Mills, Dorothy McGuire, James MacArthur and Miss Munro. The production is released by Buena Vista.

Not A Flying Saucer—It's A Floating Marina

Anchored near yachting centers, this proposed seagoing marine store complete with snack bar and showers would make gasoline, fishing tackle, bait, boating supplies, first aid and radio-telephone service available to passing small craft. The marina was designed by the aluminum market development group of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation for the Lone Star Boat Company, Plano, Tex., which is exhibiting this artist's rendering in boat shows around the nation. The aluminum marina would be powered by two large outboard motors, concealed below decks and controlled from the domed cockpit. The 35-foot long structure could be hauled overland on highways, with side sections of the main deck and canopy folded upward and wheels added so it could be towed like a trailer. Lone Star is evaluating the design for possible production.

So, lets invest these few shining hours of freedom in hobbies that will give us happiness and health. What will we lose by trying new ideas? Hardly a thing but it will surely pay off in fresh attitudes, things accomplished, created products and a brand new lease on an otherwise dull existence.

Veterans and Dependents Risk Losing Pensions

About 4,000 veterans, or their dependents or survivors, in North-east Texas are risking termination of their pensions because they have failed to return a 1960 income questionnaire, the Veterans Administration has warned. Edward P. Onstot, manager of the Dallas VA Regional Office, said the questionnaires were mailed with December checks to approximately 28,000 payees and should have been returned to the Dallas office before the end of January. Unless the questionnaires are returned immediately, properly filled out and signed, VA has no choice under the law other than to suspend the pension payments, Onstot said. The questionnaires were sent only to veterans and widows or orphans of veterans who receive non-service-connected pension, and dependent parents of deceased veterans who are receiving dependency and indemnity compensation. Veterans receiving service-connected compensation and widows and orphans of deceased veterans receiving death compensation or pension are not required to file statements of annual income, Onstot said. Also, he added, dependent parents of deceased veterans receiving death compensation are not required to file the annual income statements.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

State Health Department officials say conditions are now right for the usual spring upsurge in animal rabies.

Since January 1, 56 animals have been diagnosed by laboratory methods as being rabid. Included in that number were 28 skunks, 18 dogs, three cows, three foxes, three cats, and one horse.

Health authorities have no way of knowing the actual extent of the disease among foxes and skunks because only those which come into contact with humans come to their attention.

Eastside Church of Christ
Corner Young and Strawn Road

The Lord said, "I will build my church." (Mt. 16:18). He added the saved to "the church". (Acts 2:47). The Lord was given to be "head over all things to the church, which is his body." (Eph. 1:22-23). It is plain to see that the "body" is the "church". There are as many churches as there are bodies. "There is one body," (Eph. 4:4). From the above passages it is clear to see the promise, "I will build my church", and that He did build it for he added the saved to it. We can also see that the "body" and the "church" are one and the same thing. If a person reaches the conclusion that there are many churches he does so by accepting something other than the New Testament, the teaching of Christ. Men say there are many churches but the Bible only speaks of one.

Local churches or congregations are referred to in the New Testament as "the churches of Christ". (Rom. 16:16). "The church of God which is at Corinth". (1 Cor. 1:1). Other terms showing ownership and relation were used to show that the church was of and belonged to the Lord. No name for the church was given, but the disciples were called Christians. (Acts 11:26). The church is simply "the church", for there is but one.

In America there are some 256 denominational churches. All of them have a different founder or builder. The Lord built none of them. They differ in many ways, but one thing is sure, the Lord did not build them and the scripture says, "Except the Lord build the house, they do labor in vain that build it." (Ps. 127:1). The Lord built His church. (Mt. 16:18) added the saved to it. (Acts 2:47) and has promised to be the savior of it. (Eph. 5:23). Who built the church you are a member of? God? or man? The Lord's church is built upon his teaching. (Mt. 7:24-27): Upon whose teaching does the church you are a member of rest? Study your New Testament.
