Constitutional Amendments Deserve Support.

So far, little or no opposition has been manifested to the issuance of the county jail bonds, upon which an election will be held Tuesday, and it is believed that the issue will carry by a substantial majority. The issue calls for $20,000, which will be sufficient to erect a modern, sanitary, efficient structure, to replace the present building. The latter can never be put in acondition good enough to do credit to a county as progressive at Wichita. The only slight opposition to the issue has been on grounds of economy, but this is overshadowed by the necessity for the new building.

Somebody Turned Off Lights in Rush

For the Doors. Laredo, Tex., July 31.-More than a score of women and children were injured in a panic at the Concordia theater at New Laredo last night. No deaths resulted and those injured are believed to be out of danger today. The panic was caused by a smoking electric fan. Some one in the audience switched off the lights and shouted, 'Save yourselves, those who can.' A wild rush for the exits followed, in which many were bruised and cut in the jam at the doors.

In another errorless performance, Wichita took Quanah into camp yesterday afternoon after a very pretty game despite the one-sided score. The first three innings were very snappy baseball, but after that hitting was too heavy to make the game more than passably interesting.

Schanafelt opened the game for Wichita and after holding up well for four innings, yielded three hits in the fifth, letting in two runs. He was not at his best yesterday. Lewis, of Memphis, Texas, replaced him in the sixth and his work was of the stellar variety. The first six batters to face him fanned, he allowed not a single hit and wants Bryan to come here to live and let but one lonesome runner reach first on a base on balls, Moore slapped one over the fence in the eighth with two men on bases, but the umpire robbed him of a home run by calling it a foul, though it was clearly inside the fair line. Rothschild's Play.

Baron Henri de Rothschild was once involved in an amusing incident, in which a well known Parisian theatrical manager took part. The baron offered him a play, which he practically accepted without looking at. "Yes, my dear baron," he said, "of course I'll produce it, and I am very flattered you should have brought it to me first."

"Yes, but you must read it," insisted the baron, "for it may not suit you. I am not at all sure that it will. I will come again tomorrow, when you will have had time to look over it." "All right, do," answered the man-

Next day, when the baron presented himself, he was received with enthusiasm. "It's a masterpiece, my dear baron-a masterplece. I shall be delighted to produce it, and as soon as possible. We'll have it next season." On the manager's desk lay the roll of paper Baron de Rothschild had brought the previous day. He picked it up, unrolled it and showed it to the manager. All the pages were blank.

For Two Years. "For two years after I was married was ashamed to meet the preache who united my wife and me in the holy bonds. You see, in my excited condition I made a blunder and gave him a five dollar bill instead of $20, which I intended to band him. I suppose he thought I was a cheap skate, but I couldn't very well explain it without making myself ridiculous or causing him to suspect that I was lying about it."

The water spider carries air down with it when it dives. Dr. McCook with it when it dives. Dr. McCook saw one remain forty-five minutes under the water. One water spider builds a nest under the water attached to the stem of some plant and in the shape of a diving bell, with the opening downward. It fills this bell with the taking down a buildle at a time. air by taking down a bubble at a time. Coming to the surface, it incloses an air bubble under its body and instantly descends. Getting under the nest, the bubble is allowed to secape into it, and this process continues until the nest is full of air. The spider then lays its eggs there, inclosed in a co-coon, and leaves them to grow in this underwater palace, safe from all flying foes. When these water spiders are seen under water they look like little balls of shining silver. Little bubbles of air seem to cling among the hairs of their bodies. As spiders, like insects, breathe the air at little holes along the whole length of the body, they can easily make use of these bubbles of air for breathing.-London Standard.

Drinking Cups of the Ancients. Silver cups made by such famous workmen as Myron, Myos and Mentor were preferred to gold cups. They were very beautifully engraved and of workmanship which has never been equaled. When gold cups were enriched with precious stones they sometimes became peers of the engraved silver vessels. Of all sizes, shapes and designs were these drinking cups, and their value was measured more by their form and design than the material of which they were made. Some had two handles, some only one and some none at all. They were large and small, low and tall, narrow and obage, which seemed to scorn uniformity. The early Greeks and Romans drank hot water from cups, as we now drink coffee and tea, these beverages being unknown to them. Coffee originated with the Assyrians, and tea was first used by the Chinese at a very early age.—National Food Magazine.

Curzon and Davitt. Once in the house of commons, when George Curzon was making some defense as to alleged harsh treatment by Turks of Cretan prisoners, he was hiterrupted by a query from Mr. Davitt, Were these prisoners handcuffed?" Quick as lightning came the reply, Yes, and some bonorable gentlemen ought to be no strangers to handcuffs." This was of course the signal for a violent parliamentary tempest. A day or two after Mr. Curzon went up to Swift MacNeill and expressed his sorrow at having used the expression and his desire to apologize for it in the most public manner. "Why," he said, "I thought the interruption came from you and that you, of course, would not mind. I was horrified when I discovered that it was Davitt who had made the remark. Of course I would not be capable of joking on the subject of imprisonment and handcuffs with a man who had endured nine long Making Men's Hats. Men's bats, stiff or soft alike, are made from the fur of the rabbit. A copper cone, whose very top is more or less the shape of the crown of a derby hat and whose sides are covered with minute holes, is revolved very swiftly over a suction fan. The fur is fed on to the cone, and the suc-tion and the swift revolution draws this against the cone in the form of a fur cone very far in shape from the finished hat, but which rapidly becomes a finished hat by sizing, shrinking, shaping and trimming. News Forecast for the Coming Week. Washington, D. C., July 31.-The Seattle exposition promises to be a center of great attraction during the week. Governor Hughes will be on hand Monday for the celebration of New York Day. Tuesday has been designated as Minnesota Day, which will be made notable by the unveiling of a bronze bust of James J. Hill. Governor Johnson of Minnesota will be one of the speakers. Another of the State executives who is expected to visit the exposition during the week is Governor Deneen of Illinois, who is to speak at the Illinois Day celebration on Friday.

President Taft and family have promised to go over to Gloucester from Beverly Wednesday to attend a big outdoor pageant to be given in the first-named city. Secretary of the Navy Meyer will also attend the affair. In the field of politics the most interesting event will be the general democratic primary in Virginia to choose candidates for governor and other State officers to be voted for at the November election. Public interest centers chiefly in the contest between Harry St. George Tucker and Judge William H. Mann for the gubernatorial nomination. As the campaign has progressed the contest between the two candidates has developed into an extremely bitter one and as a consequence the result of the primary is awaited with keen interest,

A referendum election will be held in Cleveland Tuesday to decide if the people will accept Mayor Tom L. Johnson's latest three-cent fare traclong. They were purely the product of Mon ordinance. The election marks the the varying fancy of that prodigious crisis in Mayor Johnson's eight years' effort to make his traction idea materialize. If the grant is voted down, many believe it will mean the complete elimination of the mayor as a agure in the traction question in Cleve-

.......... WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity -Tonight and Sunday, generally +

It is now a pretty well settled fact that the West Texas Normal is to be auctioned off to the highes bidder without regard to the natural advantages offered for the location of the school. This should be a sufficient hint to Wichita Falls that she must not rely wholly on the natural advantages which she has to offer for the landing of this splendid plum. One town has of the great naval maneuvers which already offered a bonus of $90,000, and if Wichita Falls secures the school she will necessarily be compelled to raise a good sized cash bonus aside from the other advantages offered. It will do no good at this time to discuss the propriety of the locating committee in taking Preceding from Cowes, King Edward, into consideration the size of the bon- on board the royal yacht Victoria and us offered. It has already given the Albert, pased along the line while the various towns which are candidates great guns beiched forth a continuous for this State institution to understand salute. that a respectable cash bonus would be expected for the location of the school, and if Wichita Falls secures it, she will have to get busy.

It begins to look as if the penitentiary investigation now in progress is going to result in great good. So far it has been revealed that at least one convict was so severely whipped that he died of "heart failure" the following night, and it has also been established that at least one child was given birth by a female prisoner in a field the cigarettes and papers for sale. where prisoners are required to work. A whole lot of the evidence so far secured is unprintable.

The report of the Federal investigation comittee shows that two per cent of the hogs slaughtered at the various packing houses throughout the Unied Sates are tuberculous. Still, the percentage in the United States is much smaller than that of foreign countries, some of which run as high as five and seven per cent.

The San Angelo fair is overwhelmed with applications for the marrying prize, to be given the couple wed in an automobile in front of the grandstand. They are getting married every day in Wichita Falls without the assistance of either autos or county fairs.

If Mr. Bryan should happen to take up his residence in Texas, the democrats of this State would hardly allow him to remain here for a great while without bestowing upon him any political power which he might desire.

Our fire department may assume an air of deliberation in its peregrinations over the city, but it is doing a lot better than that Missouri company that answered an alarm thirty days afted it was sounded.

He reached the grade of lieutenant in 1871 and four years later took part in the British expedition to the Arctic regions. For a number of years he served as naval attache at the British embassies in the various capitals of Europe. Sir William was a particular favorite of the late Queen Victoria and was given command of the naval contingent in the great Jubilee procession in 1897. Sir William was made director of naval ordnnace and torpedoes in 1901 and the same year became a Lord of the Admiralty and Controller of the Navy. During the past few weeks he has been in command of the naval maneuvers in which the largest fleet of war vessels ever assembled under the British flag has taken part.

BUSINESS METHODS.

The Necessity of Advertising and the Efficiency of Salesm A man may have several carloads of ability. He may have brains and ideas and other desirable things. But all the ideas ever "ideated" will not avail to raise a man who neglects that all important item of advertising. You simply must get attention. Of course you can get attention by firing off a revolver during office hours or you can do it by wearing loud clothes and proclaiming your kinship in the sporting fraternity. But most men who have risen from the ranks have carefully neglected to use methods of this kind. Every office man must act as his own salesman. He must first prepare himself by increasing his efficiency. He must be able to do the work for which he is hired. Not only should he do that for which he is hired, but be must do that work better than it ever was done before. When that item has been attended to it is then time to look about for more work. The wise employee will keep his eye on the job ahead or, better still, will look at a job which does not exist, but which should exist for the good of the business. The next step is to think out a selling talk that will get the attention, arouse the interest, create a desire and bring about in the mind of the employer a desire to do what the live employee desires him to do.-Book-

FORGOT HIS OWN LINES.

Quotation That the Poet Campbell

Failed to Recognize That poets, like other folks, some times forget their own creations is shown by an incident related by Sir Frederick Pollock: At a dinner where Thomas Campbell and Lord Nugent were present the conversation drifted from the use of Latin words in English to monosyllable verse. Some one expressed a doubt whether two consecutive lines composed of words of one syllable could be found in our language. Lord Nugent at once quoted: "By that dread name we wave the sword

Campbell said he did not believe in the lines and asked where they came from. Lord Nugent said, "From your own Pleasures of Hope." "How do you know that?" asked the poet. "I know it all by heart," replied Nugent. "I'll bet you a guinea you can't repeat it," said Campbell. The bet was taken and Nugent started declaiming. The poet soon got tired and said; "I see you know the poem. Don't go any further." The other insisted upon repeating the whole poem or claiming double stakes, and Campbell paid the extra guinea in order to be spared the recital of the poem which had made him famous-which he had forgotten .-

New York Mail. How to Patch a Canos. There are several different "home made" methods by which to repair a crack or leak in a capoe. Perhaps the most permanent is varnish or shellad and silk. Put a little varnish over the crack, place a small silk patch over the varnish, letting it dry, then varnish or shellac over the silk. Two coats will be sufficient. If it is a varnished canoe, use white silk, and the patch can hardly be detected, the silk being transparent. This may be put on both inside and outside if necessary. White lead and varnish mixed well and put in the crack is also a good permanent repair. If on a cruise in the woods and without the necessary articles to make a permanent repair, get a little spruce gum off the trees, heat and add a little grease and put over the crack. The grease has a tendency to keep the gum from getting very bard, and it will not break so easily. The silk and shellac repair is the usual remedy for a puncture in a canvas covered cance

-Recreation. The Dogs of Turkey.
In the matter of kindness to animals it is said that the Turk cannot be surpassed. Thus at Stamboul the wandering dogs are treated with great gentleness, and when pupples come into the world they are lodged with their mother at the side of the street in improvised kennels made out of old boxes lined with straw and bits of carpet. And frequently when a young Turk happens to be flush of meney goes to the nearest baker's shop a buys a quantity of bread, which be distributes among the dogs of the quarter, who testify their gratitude by jumping up at him with muddy paws and sniffing muzzles.

"A prophet is of no honor in his own country,' but this ought not to apply to a mineral well by any change of simile.

It is a peculiarity, we all acknowledge, with the majority of us that 'distance lends enchantment to the view," And so, although we have as good medical specialists and as good a mineral well as any other Texas town can boast of, we get the 'wanderlust" habit and for the novelty of it go off elsewhere. The general result is seen in the Buster-like confession, 'Went further and fared worse.'

It is true that towns whose wells have made them, now offer a daily round of amusements, and so far so good; but when it is a question of HEALTH alone, let us remember that we dont' have to leave Wichita Falls to get the best maleral water, for we possess here, right at home, in Carter's Mineral Well, a well whose waters, as analyzed, are the equal of any mineral wells in Texas for the betterment of certain abnormal conditions of certain organs of the body.

Then why go elsewhere and why have mineral water shipped to you from elsewhere, when so far as health is concerned you can regain your oldtime vigor and retain it by the regular daily use of Carter's Mineral Water?

The testimonials given by two of our best known physicians is a guarantee that this mineral water is all that its advertiser claims it to be: "Firstclass," as they say, "in every respect.' Many of our best citizens are to hand also, with their testimony to its beneficial effects in cases of stomach troubles, liver and kidney disorders and its potency in the final elimination of uric acid.

Rules For Dealing With the Fly Nuisance

Keep the flies away from the sick, especially those ill with contagious diseases. Kill every fly that strays into the sick room. His body is covered with disease germs.

Do not allow decaying material of any sort to accumulate on or near your premises.

All refuse which tends in any way to fermentation, such as bedding straw, paper waste and vegetable matter, should be disposed of or covered with lime or Kerosene oil.

Screen all food, whether in the house or exposed for sale.

Keep all receptacles for garbage carefully covered and the cans cleaned or sprinkled with oil or lime. Keep all stable manure in vault or pit, screened or sprinkled with lime, oil or other cheap preparations, such as are sold by a number of reliable manufacturers.

See that your sewerage system is in good order; that it does not leak, is up to date and not exposed to flies.

Pour kerosene into the drains.

Burn or bury all table refuse.

Screen all windows and doors, especially in the kitchen and dining room.

It you see flies, you may be sure that their breeding place is in nearby fifth. It may be behind the door under the table or in the cuspidor.

If there is no dirt and filth there will be no flies.

If there is a nuisance in the neighborhood write at once to the health department.

TO KILL FLIES:

The London "Lancet," the leading medical journal of the world, says that the best and simplest fly-killer is a weak solution formaldehyde in water (two teaspoonfuls to the pint). Place in plates or saucers throughout the house. Ten cents worth of formaldehyde will last an ordinary family all summer. It has no offensive smell, is fatal to disease organisms, and is practically non-poisonous except to insects. Pyrethrum powder, which may be bought at any drug store, burned in the house will also kill the flies.
