PROMOTER JONES VISITS THIS CITY

SPENT LAST EVENING HERE TALKING OVER NEW ROAD PLANS WITH LOCAL PEOPLE.

IS NO DEFINITE OFFER

Will Probably Not Submit Direct Proposition Before Jan. 15—Given Encouragement.

Fresh impetus was given the proposition for the proposed new railroad from this city to Oklahoma points last night when C. G. Jones and his associates visited this city and took the matter up with the local business men. While no proposition was submitted to Wichita Falls, Mr. Jones announced that he intended to make this city a definite offer on January 15th or earlier.

As planned, the new road will follow what is known as the Stone survey, crossing the Wichita River near the city and crossing the Red River at McFarland Springs, about four miles from the Northwestern crossing. It is not intended to use the Stone survey, but it will be followed in general direction.

Those in the party were: C. G. Jones of Oklahoma City; W. J. Homan of Lawton; J. R. McLennan of Oklahoma City; M. S. Simpson, Lawton; P. D. Anderson of Lawton, Jake L. Hamon of Lawton; Mr. Jerome of Randall; Fred Thompson of Lawton.

Mr. Homan is chief engineer for the proposed road and Mr. Hamon is attorney. The others are leading capitalists and business men of Oklahoma.

The party left Lawton yesterday morning and were due to reach this city early yesterday afternoon. They were unable to cross the Red River in their machines, however, and four automobiles went out from here to meet them. Sam Scaling, J. C. Tandy, W. M. McGregor and others were in the party that went out from this city. Upon arrival here, supper was served at the St. James, after which a meeting was held in the Elks club rooms, short talks being made by Messrs Hamon and Jones.

Mr. Jones left this morning for Oklahoma City and goes from there to New York tomorrow evening. Upon his return he will probably submit Wichita Falls a definite proposition.

The rest of the party left over the Northwestern this morning for Lawton, with the exception of Engineer Homan, who is already at work on the survey. He will probably locate the line into the city from the river.

This was not the first visit of Mr. Jones to this city. Several years ago he came here with a railroad proposition, but could command no attention and went to Quanah, building into that city the road now operated by the Frisco. He took occasion while here last night to contrast his reception then and now.

It is not yet determined that the road will be built to Lawton, although that city's demand for it seems to be the most insistent. Oklahoma City or Chickasha may be decided upon, that resting largely upon the topography of the country and the encouragement extended the promoters in these towns. Until January 15 no further action will be taken on the matter. On that date, Mr. Jones will probably be back with a definite proposition.

COTTON RECEIPTS FOR THIS SEASON

ABOUT TWENTY-FIVE HUNDRED BALES GINNED IN WICHITA DURING SEASON.

COMPRESSES DID WELL

Receipts Amounted to Over Thirty Thousand Bales—Last Year is Ahead.

Gin receipts of over twenty-four hundred bales and compress receipts of over thirty thousand bales, attest the importance of Wichita Falls as a cotton market during this season. The local crop is now practically all gathered and the receipts after the first of the year will be small.

The good prices paid for cotton during the few weeks preceding Christmas together with the general demand for money by the farmers at that time of the year, caused most of the cotton raised in this county to be sold and very little of it is still being held.

The two gins handled 2265 bales between them and other gins in the county will probably increase the total to 7,500. At this time last year the gins had turned out about twenty-seven hundred bales, the crop being smaller this year. The compress receipts this year have been very gratifying. While the exact figures are not available, the total by the two local compresses will probably reach thirty thousand.

BAILEY'S SUPPORT TO GO TO BROOKS

THAT IS BELIEVED TO BE RESULT OF CONFERENCE AT FORT WORTH YESTERDAY.

POINDEXTER TO GO OUT

Gus Shaw May Also Withdraw in Favor of Brooks, Who Will Get Senator's Following.

Texas News Service Special.
Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 29.—A conference between Senator Joseph W. Bailey, Judge J. M. Brooks of Dallas, Gus Shaw of Texarkana and Judge William Poindexter of Cleburne, was held here last night and is of great significance to the Texas gubernatorial campaign. It was learned of this afternoon.

The conference was held to determine the knotty problems as to which two of Brooks, Shaw or Poindexter should drop out of the race and leave a clear field to only one representative of Bailey's followers, and thus unite all factions.

This information was given out by one of the conferees and an esteemed friend of Bailey.

It is believed that Poindexter and Shaw will quit the race and throw their support to Brooks.

The latter candidate has been a loyal supporter of Bailey for years and the senator also supported Brooks.

Brooks favors constitutional prohibition, but not statutory. Bailey is an avowed local optionist.

If the rest retire the race will be between Brooks, Davidson, Johnson and Colquitt.

Senator Bailey this afternoon said in regard to the reported conference: "I am not making governors of Texas at present." Further than this he refused to discuss the meeting.

Latest Photo of Queen Wilhelmina and the Baby Princess, Juliana

Here is the latest photograph of Queen Wilhelmina and the baby princess Juliana, affectionately called "the hope of Holland." The picture was taken when the little princess was six months old. She is an exceedingly robust child and has never known what it is to be ill. Her royal mother also is in good health, being much fleshier than she was a few years ago. The little princess' first name, Juliana, was given to her in memory of Countess Juliana of Nassau, wife of Prince Frederick Henry and mother of the branches of the house of Orange-Nassau. Her name Louise recalls Louise de Coligny, wife of William the Silent. The names Emma, Marie and Wilhelmina are those of her grandmother and her mother.

NOT THE FASHION NOW.

Men No Longer Carry Their Hats to Drawing Room When Calling.

A number of customs which used to be part and parcel of the social system, are being much modified or are fast disappearing altogether. Paying afternoon calls, for instance, and conversation after dinners have been completely elbowed out by bridge.

Dining out, unless you are a bridge player, is reduced to a minimum, and those who cannot join in the fashionable game have to be content with an invitation to luncheon where they used to dine.

Among the minor changes in social usages I have remarked lately that it is now quite demode for a lady to take the arm of a gentleman under any circumstances whatever, except just for going in to dinner, and that perfunctory sign of feminine weakness will also probably disappear very soon.

Formerly after dancing and when going in to supper at a ball, young ladies always put their hand through the arm of their partner, but now if anyone did such a thing in an up-to-date ballroom they would be looked upon as (in phraseology of the day) not quite all there.

How very seldom, too, you see a man in these days, hat in hand, in a lady's drawing room! Up to quite a short time ago elderly gentlemen who went to evening parties invariably walked in, "crush hat" under arm; while every man, whether young or old, went up to the drawing room, hat in hand, when going to visit a lady. It used to be said that this custom differentiated a social call from that of a doctor or lawyer.

The practice had its inconveniences, for there was always a danger of an all too heavy foot being planted in the middle of a brand new silk "topper" by an absent-minded fellow visitor. Anyhow, whether for good or evil, the custom has disappeared like many others.—Gentlewoman, London.

CAUSES CONSUMPTION.

If you have catarrh, don't fool yourself into the belief that it is a harmless disease.

At least one-half of the consumption in the world can be traced to catarrh. Here are some symptoms of catarrh: If you have any of them get rid of them while there is yet time:

- Is your throat raw?
- Do you sneeze often?
- Is your breath foul?
- Are your eyes watery?
- Do you take cold easily?
- Is your nose stopped up?
- Do you have to spit often?
- Do crusts form in your nose?
- Do you blow your nose a great deal?
- Are you losing your sense of smell?
- Does your mouth taste bad mornings?
- Do you have to clear your throat on rising?
- Do you have a discharge from the nose?

Does mucous drop in back of throat? Hyomel is guaranteed to cure catarrh, sore throat, coughs, colds, croup, and bronchitis or money back. Just breathe it in. Complete outfit, including hard rubber inhaler, $1.00; extra bottles 50 cents. Leading druggists everywhere sell Hyomel. MATTER-WALKER DRUG CO. guarantees it.

URNS CARGO INTO CANDY.

Fire Breaks Out in Hold of Ship Loaded With Sugar.

Fire started the other night in the hold of the steamship Harry F. Luckenbach, of the Insular line, while she lay at her berth in Beard's Stores at Van Brunt Street, Brooklyn. She arrived from New Orleans Monday with 45,000 bags of sugar and little of it had been unloaded.

Shortly after 8 p. m. smoke curled up from the after hatch and the unmistakable odor of burnt sugar left no doubt in the minds of the crew as to what was going on beneath their feet. They turned in an alarm and the fireboats New Yorker and Abraham S. Hewitt were sent for. They were at another blaze but left there and turned their attentions to the Luckenbach.

Their largest hose was put into play and they flooded the steamer's hold before the fire was extinguished. It was impossible to ascertain the loss. One Norwegian sailor who ventured a few feet into the depths of the vessel, said the mixture of sugar and water had been boiled into a solid mass of candy. The steamer settled well in the water under her indigestible load.

The Luckenbach has a powerful derrick on her forward deck and the greatest candy pull on record is expected to take place soon.—New York World.

THE LATEST IS A 'SYLVIAN CITY.'

American Millionaire Originates Novel Home for Britishers.

London—'Garden cities' have flourished in England for some years, but the latest idea—an extension and improvement on the original—is the 'sylvian city.' There are many novel features to this new scheme, which originated with an American millionaire (name unrevealed) who has just arrived to put it into operation.

The site of the 'sylvian city' is Patchesham Park, Leatherhead, Surrey, a beautifully wooded estate of two hundred acres, with a spacious lake. It is proposed to build here about a hundred houses at a cost of some $6000 each. Each tenant will pay a fixed sum per week, and when he has thus contributed the capital value of the house, it will become his own.

The weekly payments would cover the light and steam heat, first-class annual season ticket between Leatherhead and London, membership in a golf club and the privilege to fish in the lake.

The scheme is intended to benefit city men of modern means, and is likely to be eagerly accepted, for there has been of late a marked tendency among jaded business men to spend their nights and leisure in the country.—Los Angeles Examiner.

TWO WINTER POEMS.

When the Frost is on the windows, and the kitchen pail is froze, when the little icy needles come with every breath that blows; when the chilblains make us sick and cold feet give us pain; it's safe to bet we all wish for summer days again. For while we swear and fume around in summer clothes; it is an easy thing to cool off, as everybody knows; But it's different in the winter, when the world is full of ice, and the weather is as hard to beat as a pair of loaded dice. We may talk about our climate, and about our spring and fall, but the balmy days of summer are the days that suit us all.—McGregor Mirror.

Strange, strange indeed, how men's opinions change—even our Texas weather doesn't have a wider range. The last time I saw you you sang a different song, and what I want to know is: Which time were you wrong? There was heat under your collar, there was sweat upon your brow, and you cussed just like a negro in a July picnic row—swore that "Dallas was a hotter town than the below—hotter than Gehenna, or Hell—ena, Arkansas. I remember you tried to cool yourself with a remedy called beer, but the more you'd drink, the more you'd sweat and the hotter you'd appear. The last word I heard you say (as you were about to go), was that you'd like to trade this "hellish weather" for a big mountain of snow. Strange we never prize the summer 'till the chills run down our back—strange we never know the good of warmth 'till winter puts us on the rack. But now that you've quit cussing summer and are praying to get warm, I'll put you on to a simpler trick which can do no harm: Forsake Budweiser, Schlitz and rye and others of their ilk, and warm your hide with nature's fire—just good old buttermilk.—Bonham News.

Harry Lee Marriner, the Post-philosopher of the Dallas News, has published his daily yesses in book form. While nature did not endow Harry very liberally in physical pulchritude, she gave him a set of brains that more than balanced the account. May his daily messages of cheer never cease.

The editor of the Bownwood Bulletin still believes in Cook, which leads one to believe that there is still a promising field for gold brick artists in some parts of West Texas.

Mrs. Cassie Chadwick will probably turn over in her grave when Mrs. Ford comes to trial.

The most sickening picture that has appeared in the public prints for a long time was that of the white pugilist Jeffries, and the black pugilist Johnson, signing an agreement to fight. On one side of the table sat the white man and on the other the negro, each surrounded by a number of admirers and backers. The long table was crowded with bottles of beer, champagne and brandy, and the dispatches state that the signing of every section (and there were many sections) was accompanied by two rounds of drinks, one before and one after the signing. Of course there can be no intimation of social equality in the unholy proceeding, for it is not likely that any of the crowd would be received socially anywhere, but such a mingling of the races is to express it mildly, disgusting, and we are astonished that any respectable journal in the South printed the picture. The only redeeming feature of the proceeding was that the principals always declined intoxicants and called for buttermilk when the round of drinks was ordered. This recognition of the accumulated lacteal fluid by those who are to pound and be pounded in a measure atones for the disgusting scene, but even with this compensating feature, it remains a picture that makes decent people feel wobbly and uncertain.—Honey Grove Signal.

If Wichita Falls does nothing more than secure the building of the proposed railroad from here to Oklahoma City during the year 1910 it will mean the enhancement of property values, a shorter route by 140 miles from here to St. Louis, and by 100 miles to Kansas City. The saving in both freight and passenger rates will be considerable. The Oklahoma gentlemen who were here last night and met with a few of our leading citizens say they will return on or before January 15, 1910, and make a definite proposition for the building of this road, and if the proposition is within the bounds of reason, there is but little doubt that it will be accepted.

The "bat" has been abolished at the Rusk penitentiary. Score one for civilization, Christianity and humanity.

President Zelaya's leaving Nicaragua for Mexico might be characterized as going from bad to worse.

That Lawton railroad would be a splendid thing to wind the old year up with or start the new.

LOCAL POLITICAL NOTES.

The office of tax assessor is the best office in the county, considering the amount of work connected with the office and the compensation received for its performance. It is, therefore, but natural that there should be several who would like to step into Mr. Bullock's shoes, who is now filling out his third term and has declined to again become a candidate for that office. Already there is one announced candidate, John Robertson, for that office, and it is known that at least two or three others are thinking of getting into the race. Among the prospective candidates for the office are Charlie Clark of Iowa Park, John Hursh and J. P. Jones of this city, all of whom are strong and popular men.

Walter Reid, who has "grewed up," as it were, in the clerk's office, does not want it understood that he is tired of the job, and while he has no opponent, either prospective or real, he is beginning to behave just like he had a dozen right after him.

It is pretty generally conceded that Tom McHam, county treasurer, will have no opponent for re-election. He is making the county an efficient officer and so long as that is the case, there is no real necessity for a change.

Constable Pete Randolph, it is said, is, and has been, a candidate for sheriff and tax collector for the past several months and is likely to warm up in the next few weeks and get in the race in the regular way. Sheriff Walkup, who is serving his first term, will be a candidate for re-election. It is likely that there will be another candidate for this office.

It is understood that Judge Arnold of Graham, will soon announce his candidacy for the judgeship of the 20th Judicial District. His opponent will be District Attorney P. A. Martin, of the same town, and, as both are splendid lawyers and good speakers, a lively race is anticipated.

There will be two, and possibly three, candidates for county judge. Already one candidate, Judge Felder, has announced. It is not known whether Judge Yeager will be a candidate for re-election or not.

H. A. Fairchild will likely have no opponent for the newly created office of county school superintendent.

T. B. Greenwood, county attorney, it is understood will be a candidate for re-election.

Fruits From The Best Orchards of the Country

It's only a few short years since your mother perhaps you yourself, had to depend entirely on the fruits that grew around your home or the surrounding farming and garden country, and the supply was necessarily somewhat limited in quantity and quality.

Now you have at your command the orchards of the world, for under the Monarch and White Horse labels you can get any kind of variety of fruit that you want or care for.

Not only that but you will get the choicest specimens that are grown, no imperfect, green or overripe fruit but every piece free ripened and perfect.

You can hardly realize the importance of this to you until you try a few different kinds that we can supply—some of the less common kinds. Take for instance White Horse Brand:

- White Cherries,
- Pears,
- Peaches,
- Sliced Peaches,

and a dozen others that are fruit perfection.

You can't get anything like them in any other way and we want you to give them a trial for they will solve your fruit-and sauce problems fully.

The above brands are 35c per can or 3 cans for $1.

We have other brands at 20c, 25c and 30c per can but we urge you to try the Monarch and White Horse brands.

WOMEN'S PECULIAR FANCIES.

Vanity the Cause of Personal Adornment, Says Edward Ross.

Women are gradually becoming civilized. The process has been going on for many thousands of years, and perhaps in a few more thousand the fair sex will leave off the ornamentation of savagery and appear in all their primitive glory. This is a digest of the belief of Prof. Edward A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, who spoke before the St. Louis Society of Pedagogy in the Central High School auditorium on the "Curiosities and Follies of Fashion."

In accounting for the peculiar fancies of women, evidenced in their personal adornment, Professor Ross ran the entire gamut of styles of various people, from the naked lip-punctured and ear-slit specimens on obscure islands to the present-day woman.

Vanity, the desire to be more attractive than you really are, is the cause of personal ornamentation with all its variations of grotesque fashions. Since time immemorial women vied with each other to be the chief attraction, especially to the male sex.

"Animals have never been known to ornament themselves; perhaps it is not a matter of brains which makes them refrain; it doesn't take such brains to be vain. The various changes in fashion, the great balloon-like hoops, the bustle, the high hat, then the small compact figure, hair close to the head, straight figure. All these modes illustrate the attempts of the parvenue to distinguish herself from her poorer sisters. The moment hot polloi fall in line and the shop girl wears the styles adopted by the exclusive set, the exclusive set at once change the styles. She must be distinguished from the common herd.

"Style is the only asset of the newly rich. It costs money to adorn oneself in a variety of costumes. The common people must know the woman of wealth realize she has money, and therefore must spend lavishly to prove—what? Nothing but that she has money. And then, the foolish poor girl must follow the instinct of ages of slavery; she must imitate the exclusive set at any cost, and when she does this, alas, the styles change. The consciousness of being well dressed gives more peace than religion."—St. Louis Republic.

SHE WAS LEGALLY A GHOST.

Young-Woman Has Lots of Trouble Coming to Life.
The trip going is much easier than coming back," says Nellie Burns, referring to a journey, which, by legal fiction, she took across the grand old river Styx.

Nellie really never had a ride in the boat, rowed by the grim oldriverman, Charon. Nellie never even thought she had. That's the difference between plain fiction and legal fiction. In fiction you imagine you have something which you really haven't, but you are just as happy as if you had good sense, because you don't know any better. But in legal fiction you try to make yourself imagine you have had something, or done something or been something, aforesaid or hereafter, which you know isn't so and which you wouldn't believe if you saw it.

Nellie's death was a very long-drawn out affair. She was dying for seven years. No respectable victim of the law ever dies within seven years. It is the conventional period which she has been sanctioned by local fiction. The courts began it. The lawyers support it. The plaintiffs swear by it, and any notary will attest it. With such a bunch behind it, how could you be anything but dead?

Though the news of Nellie's death did not reach her until a comparatively short time ago, she was dead five years. And this by a most fictitious fiction. To be explicit, Nellie Burns was dead, though not recorded so, every minute of the time after seven years since she disappeared from Mrs. Bosse's home. As Nellie was missing from Mrs. Bosse for twelve years, any expert accountant can figure out that Nellie was dead five years.

Nellie herself attests the figures. She says in an affidavit filed in the Circuit Court that she remembers very well the day when her legal fiction fatal illness began twelve years ago. Though it was long-drawn out, it was a most peaceful, and Nellie says, a most happy passing away. It was the getting back that irritated Nellie.

The insurance agent said he would take her word for it, but that she would have to tell it to an attorney. The attorney said he believed her, too, but that she would have to write it. The notary said she must swear to it, and the court told her she must file it. All of which Nellie now has done and no longer sleeps and wakes a legal ghost.—St. Louis Times.

EPHESUS, THE CITY THAT WAS.

Many Incidents of St. Paul's Life Are Recalled by Old Land Marks.

There is no lack of knowledge concerning certain of the structures here—the more recent ones, we may call them though they were built 200 years ago. There are inscriptions everywhere, and some of them are as cleanly cut today as they were when the tool left them. This library was built in honor of Augustus Caesar and Livia, and it must have been a veritable marble vision. Here in its corners the old students sat and pored over books and precious documents that filled these crumbling recesses and the long-vanished shelves. St. Paul doubtless came here to study during the three years of his residence, and before him St. John, for he wrote his Gospel in Ephesus and would be likely to seek out the place of books. And Mary would walk with him to the door sometimes. I think, and Mary of Magdala, for these three passed their final days in Ephesus and would be drawn close together by their sacred bond.

The great theatre where St. Paul battled with the wild beasts stands just across the way. It seated 25,000 and its stone benches stretch upward to the sky. The steep marble flight that carries you from tier to tier is there today exactly as when troops of fair ladies and handsome beaux climbed up and still up to find their places from which to look down on the play or the gladiatorial combat or the massacre of the Christians in the arena below.

These old theatres were built in a semi-circle dug out of the mountain-sides, so that the seats were solid against the ground and rose one above the other with the slope of the hill, which gave everybody a good view. There were no columns to interfere with one's vision, for there was no roof to be supported, except perhaps, over the stage, but the top seats were so remote from the arena and proscenium that the players must have seemed mere minuscules. Yet even above these there was still mountainside, and little boys, who could not get money for an entrance fee or carry water to the animals for a ticket, sat up in that far perch, no doubt, and looked down and shouted at the show.—Albert Bigelow Paine, in Harper's Weekly.

AMUSEMENTS WICHITA THEATRE

'The Girl Question.'
 The attraction at the Wichita Theatre tonight will be a musical comedy full of incessant action and brimming over with fun and laughter. Pretty girls and catchy music and its title is 'The Girl Question,' and it come here with the recommendation of having played four hundred and sixty times in Chicago, and with the further endorsement of the fact that it is by the author of 'The Time, The-Place and The Girl.'

There is a delightful love story running through the play and its plot is logical and of sufficient interest to hold the attention of an audience even though the songs, dances and pretty girls were eliminated. The musical numbers include 'Good-Bye Pal,'
 'I hate to Work on Monday,' 'O,
 Gee, Be Sweet to Me Kid,' 'Waltz Me around 'Till I'm Dreamy,' and others.

John L. Keafney as 'Con Ryan,' heads the large cast of fun-makers, supported by Dorothy Maynard as 'Elsie Davis,' Helen McGowan as 'Joe Forster' and sixty others.

'Babes In Toyland.'

Much enthusiasm has been aroused among local theatre-goers by Manager Bean's announcement of Victor Herbert and Glen MacDonough's famous musical extravaganza, 'Babes In Toyland,' which will appear at the Wichita Theatre New Year's day, matinee and night.

The Winnipeg Tribune says:
 'The renovation of 'Babes In Toyland,' as produced yesterday. Thank-giving Day, at the Walker Theatre—matinee and evening performances—has been so tastefully done that will as-surely give this amusing extravaganza a new lease of popular favor.'

'The signs of approval given by the various specialties by audiences which packed the auditorium right to the rear lobbies, means, if anything, an entire week of good business, worthy of the bright entertainment, with its picturesque scenic effects, pretty girls, comedians and singers, not forgetting ful experience, her winning manner enhancing the expression of her vocal tones.

'Broad comedy came easily to Gus Pixley. His was the fun the gallery boys liked, and he was aided and abetted by an actor of similar propensities in Leon Mayo. When these two comical individuals were on the stage the fun raged with furious zest, that burlesque on baseball was simply immense, the audience almost going into convulsions of mirth.'

'Messrs. Pixley and Mayo between them enacted four parts.'

'There is a cleverly-played scene near the close of the production in which Mr. Ladell as Alan, proposes to six beautifully dressed widows. It is so unusual for members of a chorus to come prominently forward and speak their lines freely, easily, and well, that the names of these six good looking girls are worth recording. They are:

HARRY LADELL, WITH 'BABES IN TOYLAND'

some dazzling costumes more or less encasing shapely female forms.

'Victor Herbert's lilting musical measures are much superior to the average setting of similar entertainments both to the songs and in the ensembles, the genial Irishman's melodious work was greatly enjoyed, humor and sentiment being pleasantly blended, with the concord of sweet sounds ranging around the stage, and bursting over the footlights to the people in front with the effulgence of fresh young voices, intelligently directed.

'Harry Ladell is one of the few refined comedians now on the stage, making his points with the wit that comes of keen mentality, moreover, he is an accomplished dancer, and possesses a singing voice.

'His partner in fun-making was a versatile damsel, Marie Malatesta, who gave a lively version of 'Contrary Mary,' the business between these two people being animated, purposeful, and yet laughable.

'Marie Radcliffe, too, as Jane, with her tomboy tendencies, and her cute singing of those nursery rhymes which have haunted English-speaking homes from time immemorial, was a delight-

Jessie Randolph, Vergie Barrows, Lavinia Edwards, Grace Merritt, Violet Clifford and Rose Minnie.

'Marion Elmore as 'Jill' and Gene Merrick as 'Hilda,' were likewise sprightly in their respective roles.

'Helen MacLeod wears a becoming Scotch dress in the first act.'
