DAVIDSON BEGINS RACE FOR OFFICE

WAS NOT INTRODUCED BY GEO. CLARK AT WACO, AS HAD BEEN PLANNED.

ATTACKS HIS ENEMIES

Refers to Opponents as "Toy Soldiers." Discusses Many Present Issues.

Texas News Service Special. Waco, Texas, April 21.—Following the announcement late yesterday afternoon that Judge George Clark would not introduce R. V. Davidson here when the latter opens his campaign for the governorship this afternoon, Davidson this morning sent word to Judge Clark, asking him for a confirmation of the statement given out by State Senator Holsey yesterday, that the introduction by Clark would not take place.

It is reported authentically today that two members of the local Davidson committee will resign on account of the action of Holsey. A special train from Cisco arrived this morning with five hundred Davidson adherents. Among the prominent visitors here today are Mrs. C. M. Johnson of Tyler, Rawlins Colquitt, son of the Railroad Commissioner, Tom Connally of Marlin, J. L. Spurlin of Hamilton, Bob Barker of San Antonio, Comptroller Stephens from Austin.

Almost at the beginning of his address here this afternoon, R. V. Davidson complimented Judge George Clark, who was to have introduced him, but which introduction was opposed by Davidson's manager, Holsey, and others close to him. Davidson jumped at once into the issues of the campaign, declaring that bread and meat problems are of much more importance than the prohibition problem and that a man of one idea, one issue or one faction is not the man for Governor of Texas.

For the first time, Davidson announced directly that he was opposed to statewide prohibition, in favor of local option and that he believed the submission of the prohibition constitutional amendment to the voters would be a wise move. He also said that statutory prohibition was unconstitutional.

He defended his record as Attorney General at some length and declared that his opponents were "toy soldiers" who were silent during his fight against the trusts, but who were now anxious to tell their views. He emphatically denied that the trusts had drove out of the state were now back doing business and robbing the people as is alleged. He also denied that he had ever received any money for alleged anti-trust litigation and said that any such statement regarding him was a malicious falsehood.

Davidson declared himself in favor of reclamation and the agricultural development of the state. A. R. McCollum, chairman of the local Davidson committee introduced R. V. Davidson, at the Auditorium this afternoon, when the latter fired the first gun in his gubernatorial campaign. Messages of friendly character passed between Davidson and Judge Clark and it is expected they will meet later today. Clark does not blame Davidson for his manager's refusal to permit him to introduce Davidson.

The rescuers expressed the opinion that all miners are dead.

Mr. Roosevelt's Boat Bumped By a Big Hippo.

So I left Cunningham to cut off the head for the Museum, and started off by myself in the boat with two rowers, neither of whom spoke a word of English. For an hour we saw only the teeming bird life. Then, in a broad shallow lagoon, we made out a dozen hippo, two or three very big. Cautiously we approached them, and when seventy yards off I fired at the base of the ear of one of the largest. Down went every head and utter calm succeeded. I had marked the spot where the one at which I shot had disappeared and thither we rowed. When we reached the place, I told one of the rowers to thrust a pole down and see if he could touch the dead body. He thrust accordingly, and at once shouted that he had found the hippo; in another moment he shouted much more loudly that the hippo was alive. Sure enough, bump went the hippo against the bottom of the boat, the jar causing us all to sit down suddenly—for we were standing. Another bump showed that we had again been struck, and the shallow, muddy water boiled as the huge beasts, above and below the surface, scattered every which way. Their eyes staring, the two rowers began to back water out of the dangerous neighborhood, while I shot at an animal whose head appeared to my left, as it made off with frantic haste, so I took it for granted that the hippo at which I had first fired (and which was really dead) had escaped. This one disappeared, as usual, and I had not the slightest idea whether or not I had killed it. I had small opportunity to ponder on the subject, for twenty feet away the water bubbled and a huge head shot out facing me, the jaws wide open. There was no time to guess at its intentions, and I fired on the instant. Down went the head, and I felt the boat quiver as the hippo passed underneath. Just here the lily pads were thick, so I marked its course, fired as it rose and down it went. But on the other quarter of the boat a beast evidently of great size—it proved to be a bull—now appeared, well above the water, and I put a bullet into its brain.—From "African Game Trails," by Theodore Roosevelt, in the May Scribner.

The Dear Old Alamo.

The Daughters of the Republic of Texas cherish the ancient and historic Alamo as a sacred relic—the Texas Cradle of Liberty—to be preserved and perpetuated for all time as a monument to the heroes who gave their services and their lives to the cause of freedom and independence.

Every foot of the ground is regarded as sacred that was defended by the brave men who left no messenger of defeat, but much of it has been put to use in accordance with the demands of modern needs; and some other parts of it remain to be beautified and made to form a proper setting for the old mission church which is the Alamo.

The Daughters of the Republic will not sacrifice any patriotic sentiment to any possible consideration in dealing with the problem of preserving the Alamo. They may differ as to measures and plans for perpetuating the Alamo and making of it a shrine for all lovers of heroism and of liberty and independence, but they will all be actuated by the same purpose to maintain inviolate the trust imposed in them. Whether it will be possible to allow the old Hugo-Schmeltzer building's walls to remain and at the same time do credit to the memory of the heroes and to the modern city which has arisen on their ashes, or whether they will park the ground around the historic old church and make it beautiful, remains to be determined. At present there is more the appearance of neglect and decay than of reverence and care. The Alamo is overshadowed by its surroundings and the only blossoms that bloom near it are on the plaza some little distance away.

We manifest our love and cherished memory of departed ones by making their last resting place look attractive through the care bestowed upon it. We raise a shaft and plant flowers and we watch and tend them. Something of the sort ought to be done for the Cradle of Liberty, the last stand of our heroes. When people come to visit the shrine let them not go away with the impression of forgetfulness and neglect.—San Antonio Express.

The Voracious Mississippi.

Old settlers along the Mississippi can tell how a thousand acres here and there went into the river a long time ago and how landmarks have been wiped out and family possessions obliterated. Sometimes a farm is transferred from one side of the big stream to the other, but the river masses up more things distressingly in the transfer. It creates an island or builds up a sandbar every once in a while, thus changing the topography of things and furnishing a place of refuge for the carefree shanty boatman. The Mississippi is big and muddy. It would be less muddy if its turbulent tributary, the Missouri, was not always contributing cargoes of real estate which it has picked up in a devious journey of more than 3,000 miles. For all that, the Mississippi is somewhat of a mudgatherer itself, as is shown by its ruthless confiscation of a section of Ballard county. It is doing things of that sort all the time, except in places where mother nature or a federal appropriation has made it impossible.—The Louisville Courier-Journal.

Wine Interests Have a Hearing. Washington, D. C., April 21.—Representatives of the wine interests of California, which are protesting vigorously against the pure food rulings relating to wine labels, were given a hearing before the house committee today. The rulings to which objection is made require that the words "port" and "sherry" shall not be used by the California wine makers without qualifying phrases, on the ground that they are place names and belong to the Portuguese and Spanish originals. The Californians protest that, as the wines are well known under the old names, they could not make the required changes without incurring a great loss of business.

For Texas, Governorship. Waco, Tex., April 21.—R. V. Davidson of Galveston, former attorney general, formally opened his campaign for the democratic nomination for governor of Texas at a well attended rally here today. Mr. Davidson is one of the five entries in what promises to be one of the most exciting gubernatorial races in the history of the Lone Star State. He is known as an anti-Bailey man and an opponent of statewide prohibition.

BIRTH OF NEW TRIBUNAL.

Customs Court is Formally Inaugurated Today.

Washington, D. C., April 21.—No elaborate ceremony marked the formal inauguration of the new Customs Court today, the swearing in of the justices being the only formality connected with the birth of this latest addition to the judiciary of the nation. As soon as the judges decide on the appointment of a marshal, clerk and official reporter, the court will be ready for business and notification of this fact will be sent to the various tribunals before which customs cases are pending. Under the law, all such cases will have to be filed at once before the new judicial body.

The establishment of the Customs Court is due to a provision in the Aldrich-Payne tariff law. The need of such a tribunal has long been felt. For years there has existed great confusion in respect to decisions of contested cases in the collection of customs duties. There has frequently been a wide variance in the interpretations of the different courts in regard to the various provisions of the tariff law as applied to specific articles. It is believed that by concentrating the responsibility for deciding such cases in a single judicial body, much of the confusion that arises from these variations of interpretations will be removed. The Customs Court will decide all contested cases without appeal, except on questions of constitutionality.

The court is composed of a chief justice and four associate justices. The chief justice, Robert M. Montgomery, comes to Washington after ten years' service on the supreme bench of Michigan, having served in this position from 1900. His first public office was that of prosecuting attorney, which he held in 1874. He was assistant United States attorney in Michigan in 1887, and was circuit judge of Kent county, in that state, from 1880 to 1890.

The four associate justices of the new court are all men of judicial experience. They are Judge William H. Hunt of Montana, who was governor of Porto Rico from 1901 to 1904; Judge Marion DeVries, who was a representative in congress from California and a member of the board of customs appraisers in New York; Judge Orion M. Barber, a prominent lawyer of Bennington, Vt., and Judge James Francis Smith of California, who recently retired from the position of governor-general of the Philippines.

DEDICATED TO TEXAN VALOR.

San Jacinto Battlefield Formally Committed to Keeping of State.

Houston, Tex., April 21.—The battlefield of San Jacinto has been dedicated to Texan valor. At the San Jacinto Battlefield Park it was today formally committed to the keeping of the state. The dedication was attended by interesting exercises which were conducted in the presence of a large throng of visitors.

The battle of San Jacinto, which decided the fate of Texas, was fought seventy-four years ago today. It followed a year's campaign that was a succession of disasters and cold-blooded butcheries by Santa Anna's orders of Texas soldiers. The battle was fought at a point a short distance below the junction of Buffalo Bayou and the San Jacinto River. The Texas troops were under the command of General Sam Houston, who, though severely wounded, never left the field until the battle was over and the victory complete. Santa Anna was captured and his army practically annihilated.

The result of the battle and the success of the Texans was that foreign rule was driven back to the boundaries that now confine the Mexican republic. From that battle California came into the union, together with the vast territory which intervenes between the Pacific and the plains of Texas.

Knights Templars on Parade.

San Francisco, Cal., April 21.—A parade of 1,000 Knights Templars, accompanied by several bands, marked the opening here today of the convocation of the grand commandery of California. Market street and other downtown thoroughfares were decorated in honor of this occasion. The business of the convocation will be taken up tomorrow morning and continued until the end of the week.

WATTERSON ON ROOSEVELT.

Answering the criticisms of his recent editorial on Roosevelt, Henry Watterson says, in the Louisville Courier-Journal:

"Nothing seems surer than that long before the opening of activities of the pre-election campaign of 1912 the personality of Theodore Roosevelt will have taken possession of the field as quite the leading figure upon it. It will then be too late disinterestedly and dispassionately to discuss the possibilities and portent of his election. Men and newspapers will have taken their stand. They will listen to nothing which does not flatter their view."

"All the tomfoolery about Cesarism, as they call it, wherewith the Courier-Journal stands charged, will become the common vogue of one side; all the contempt with which the Courier-Journal's modest questions are treated by the timid, the indifferent and unseeing will become the common vogue of the other side. Can any harm follow looking a little ahead? Shall we never be able to contemplate a serious political question without excitement? If Roosevelt is to come again it will be to do something which can be done by none other. That is, upon the threshold, confession of the one-man power. If he is to be once more elected it must be through the potency of a majority which prefers his personality and jurisdiction to the less direct agencies of the houses of congress and the courts of law, the terms of the new commission, as enlarged and unlimited increase of the power of the Executive, his tenure indefinite, for which the overthrow of the third term tradition will be idle to think of a change of parties until the tremendous autocracy thus established chooses to allow it. That has been precisely the road which led to absolutism in every age and under every form."

LIBELOUS PUBLICATION.

The Times, in reply to some unjust censure which it has come in for during the past few days, because it refused to accept for publication an article which might be, under the law, construed as libelous in character, believes that it can better afford to stand the censure than involve itself in a nasty suit. Again, the Times is not going to permit itself to be used as a medium through which to pull chestnuts from the fire that may not be quite ripe for the pulling. It often sees things going on which it would like to denounce through its columns as pure "fakes," "frauds" or "gum games," but under the libel laws of Texas, a reputable newspaper will not indulge in such pastime, unless it knows beyond any question of doubt that what it prints and puts in circulation are facts. With all due regard to its learned critics, it begs to say that while it may have "cold feet," it also believes it has a cool head.—Wichita Falls Times.

Such is life for a newspaper man. The law tells us what we can and can not print and if we obey them we have "cold feet." People should not forget that the district attorney draws a salary for stamping out fakes, frauds and the like.—San Angelo Standard.

A scientist has declared that "a rusty one-dollar bill subjected to microscopical test, carried 92,000,000 germs, 91,999,976 of which were deadly and the balance of a kind that would bear watching." And yet people will continue to scramble for the dollar.

PROBABLY MET WORSE.

American Missionary in China Not Assassinated, But Married.
Johnston, Pa., April 20.—While the friends and relatives here were fearing Miss Irene Polling, a missionary in the Chang Sha district of Hu Nan province, China had met death or worse in the rioting there, news came that Cupid had taken her from the scene or disorder in time to avoid danger.

A letter just received by a sister, Mrs. Harry Dunmire, of South Fork, announces that Miss Polling was to be married March 12 to Rev. Mr. Beck, a Reformed church missionary, stationed at Shen Chow Fu. The young woman said in her letter that following the wedding, she and her husband would go to Shen Chow Fu to live and it is supposed they have been at that place during the rioting at Chan Sha.

The Cheap Grafters.

Saturday Evening Post: Every fresh graft disclosure proves anew the amazing cheapness of the grafters. Some of the forty or fifty Pittsburg Councilmen who were bribed got as much as $31 a head for their votes. From that the price shaded off to $50. Touching stories are told of men in public positions of trust who yield to the temptations of a glittering bribe in order to meet some pressing financial need. Such cases there may be, but they are not typical. The typical bribe-taker is a poor, little sneak-thief, so pitifully void of character that he hasn't even the courage to ask a decent price for himself. In city councils and in state legislatures the big robberies of the public are usually accomplished by means of members who are so ready to sell themselves that they will accept anything that looks like money; a few $20 bills or a few fives—either will do.

Now, this is also due to a democratic, but utterly mistaken notion—the notion in a representative government the more representatives the people have the better; that every petty subdivision, such as the ward in the city or the county in the state, must elect its own particular alderman or legislator, in order that local interests may be properly represented. This vicious cheapening of the representative of office results in a lot of amazingly cheap representatives, each possessing very little responsibility.

The best governed cities, on the whole, are those that have adopted the commission plan, electing only a few men and turning the government over to them. We expect that other state capitals will be fruitful sources of scandal until legislatures are reduced in size about nine-tenths.

BARRETT SARCASTIC.

President of National Farmers' Union Comments on Cotton Investigation.
Atlanta, April 20.—The present investigation by the federal authorities of the so-called bull cotton pool in New York will materially aid the campaign against gambling in farm products, according to Charles S. Barrett, president of the National Farmers' union. In referring to the activity of the department of justice in the matter of the cotton investigation, Mr. Barrett said:

"It is certainly queer that the government should be entirely indifferent to gambling in cotton during the fall selling season, when the cotton is in the hands of the farmers, with manipulators slaughtering their profits, and develop a sudden virtue when practically all of the cotton is out of the hands of the farmer and the only possible beneficiaries appear to be a few welching bear operators."

"It is sincerely to be hoped that next fall and each successive fall, the intervention will be of some benefit to the more than 2,000,000 cotton growers of the South, the government will manifest a smattering of the zeal now belatedly put forth."

BUYS AMERICAN DREDGE.

King Edward Now Owns Machine. Used in Galveston.
New York, April 20.—Edward VII, king of England, has bought an American-made dredge, according to an announcement here today. The dredge is the Nereus, and was used at Galveston, Texas, after the city's inundation by a tidal wave. The sale is really to the Canadian government, but the bill is made out to his majesty, the king, for delivery at the port of Halifax.

"I do not believe that the king ever bought an American dredge before," said Samuel Holmes, the broker, who engineered the sale, "and I believe he would be interested if he knew that I was the broker. His birthday and my own fall on the same date, and for forty years I have sent him a cablegram on that date offering my congratulations. He invariably replies, 'Congratulations.'"

HOUSEWIVES DELIGHTED.

Preconcerted Plan to Push Down Prices Appears to be Evident.
New York, April 20.—Lower prices for potatoes, flour and many varieties of canned goods delighted New York housewives on their visits to grocery stores today and bakers added their assurances to the news of declining prices by announcing that they have added two ounces to the weight of their loaves. Grocers predicted lower prices all along the line, especially in vegetables.

The drop in retail prices, they declared, is likely to be sensational. Prices of meat, however, remain stubbornly at the top mark, but even the representatives of western packers were willing to admit for the first time in months that a decline is possible within a short time.

Season Opens in Eastern League.

New York, April 21.—Weather permitting, the season of the Eastern Baseball League opens today, with Montreal playing at Jersey City, Toronto at Providence, Rochester at Newark and Buffalo at Baltimore. This will be the organization's nineteenth season and predictions are made that it will be the banner year. The schedule calls for a season of 154 games, with September 25th as the closing date.

Knight Templars on Parade.

San Francisco, Cal., April 21.—A parade of 1,000 Knight Templars, accompanied by several bands, marked the opening here today of the conclave of the grand commandery of California. Market street and other downtown thoroughfares were decorated in honor of this occasion. The business of the conclave will be taken up tomorrow morning and continued until the end of the week.

Just Like Eve's Apple. A fruit supposed to bear the mark of Eve's teeth is one of the many botanical curiosities of Ceylon. The tree on which it grows is known by the significant name of "the forbidden fruit," or "Eve's apple tree." The blossom has a very pleasant scent, but the really remarkable feature of the tree, the one to which it owes its name, is the fruit. It is beautiful and hangs from the tree in a peculiar manner. Orange on the outside and deep crimson within, each fruit has the appearance of having had a piece bitten out of it. This fact, together with its poisonous quality, led the Mohammedans to represent it as the forbidden fruit of the garden of Eden and to warn men against its noxious properties. The mark upon the fruit is attributed to Eve. Why the bite of Adam did not also leave its mark is not known, but as only one piece seems to be missing its loss is ascribed to the woman.

Constable Had the Evidence. One of Philadelphia's leading corporation lawyers was visiting in New England, and, returning home, he told how he had been arrested there. He had not had a vacation for some years, and, getting into the country, he proceeded to be a boy again.

He struck a piece of country road and ran along for a half mile. He found a fence and vaulted it. He saw a tree and climbed it. Finally he returned to the village. Just as he struck the town a hand was laid on his shoulder, and a man said in a gruff voice: "Come with me."

"What for?" inquired the other in amazement. "I'm the constable, and you're under arrest. I've been following you, and I think you're crazy."—Philadelphia Times.

Cool Presence of Mind. Debtor (to shopgirl)—It's an outrage for your employer to have you present this bill here at the railroad station in the presence of all these people! Tell him I'll attend to the matter as soon as I get home. And now give me a kiss, so the people will think that you are a relative and have come to bid me goodbye!—Fliegende Blätter.

A Risky Study. "Why have you dropped your popular astronomy?" asked the visitor. "Cause I got too many lickings," confided Tommy. "The other night I told pa that Mars' face was ever changing, and us heard me and thought I meant her face. Next thing I didn't get any supper and got a licking besides."—Chicago News.

Ministers Aboard Ship. A minister aboard ship has always been taken as a "Jonah sign" by seamen. In recent years, however, this superstition has been modified to a certain extent. A young minister, the seamen believe, will not bring as much of a "Jonah" with him as an old one.

Simplify Itself. "There are only two points in success," "What are they?" "Work and keep other people from working you."

Advisory Supplement to the Sanitary Code

The Advisory Code recently adopted by the State Board of Health for uses of city and county authorities makes provision for the regulations by local health authorities of garbage and offal disposal, abatement of nuisances detrimental to public health, removal of sources of filth and prevention of causes of sickness. Sanitary disposal of night-soil, prevention of pollution of the soil and contamination of water supplies, and the proper drainage of premises provided for.

Interment, dis-interment and the transportation of the dead is regulated and permits from local health officers in many instances are required.

Slaughter Houses.
Slaughter houses come under the ban and several good and wholesome sanitary requirements are imposed. Adequate water supply, water-tight floor, thorough washing of floors and sidewalks of house, sidewalks white-washed or painted at regular intervals, house screened against flies, all utensils, machinery, receptacles, etc., to be thoroughly cleaned daily if used, ice boxes kept sanitary, offal and refuse removed promptly after each day's killing, pens and enclosure kept in sanitary condition; no slaughtering to be done in buildings not designed for such purpose, nor outside building except in rural districts. When provision is made by local authorities for inspection service, no meat is to be sold unless inspected.

Meat carts are to be washed daily, and meat and fish must not be conveyed through the streets unless protected from dust and flies.

Heat and fish markets and butcher shops must be completely screened against flies, floor scrubbed at frequent intervals, refrigerators kept sweet and clean, and the market must be maintained in a thoroughly sanitary condition.

Dairies.
Dairies must be inspected frequently by local health authorities, and the milk room, barn and premises are to be kept clean; barns to be white-washed every twelve months or painted every two years; premises are to be well drained and accumulation of water or manure not to be allowed to collect thereon; fresh pure water must be supplied in sufficient quantity for the cows; milk room must be built separate and apart from the barn—it must be screened against flies and supplied with pure water and suitable facilities for straining and storing milk and sterilizing utensils and milk bottles, etc.; all cans, bottles, or other receptacles for handling milk must be sterilized (scalded with boiling water or live steam) daily and protected from flies. Many matters of detail in a sanitary way are set out, but not unreasonable in their requirements.

"Trust Taft"—Why?

"Trust Taft." This is the message Senator Burkett sends his constituency in Nebraska in the form of a speech delivered before the Nebraska Republican Club in Washington.

Trust Taft—and don't worry, or fret, or get mad, or think for yourself; just trust Taft. It is the voice of the sluggard, the coward, the trimmer. To the distracted hosts of republicanism it comes from many quarters. But it comes loudest and most earnestly from just two sources—from those who want to hold the sinking ship together till they can reach shore just once more, like Burkett, and from those who have placed their entire and unquestioning trust in Taft to do all he can to beat down insurgency and hold the prow of the old ship pointing directly toward the north star of torquism.

"Trust Taft," says Aldrich, "Trust Taft," says Cannon, "trust Taft," Ballinger, "trust Taft," says the trusts—and "trust Taft," echoes Burkett. But why should the plain people trust Taft? Why should honest republicans trust him?

They did "trust Taft," and he helped make Cannon speaker. They did "trust Taft," and he helped fasten the Cannon rules anew on the house.

They did "trust Taft," and he helped Aldrich as "the leader of the senate." They did "trust Taft," and he declared for the central bank of issue.

They did "trust Taft," and he helped defeat the income tax. They did "trust Taft," and he signed the Aldrich tariff act, and declared it "the best tariff law ever passed."

They did "trust Taft," and he put Ballinger, the crony and attorney of the land thieves, in charge of the lands the thieves were plotting to steal.

They did "trust Taft," and he discharged Glavis and Plinchot who were honestly trying to protect the public domain against powerful conspirators.

They did "trust Taft," and he put Knox and Nagel and Wickersham and Dickinson in his cabinet—trust lawyers, all of them.

They did "trust Taft," and he appointed Lorton to the supreme bench. They did "trust Taft," and now he is trying to fasten a federal incorporation law on their backs for a saddle on which private monopoly can ride them to death.

They did "trust Taft," and now he is getting ready to burden them with a shipping subsidy.

How much longer must they "trust Taft?" And how much longer, if they continue to "trust Taft," will they be able to pay the heavy price that comes as a penalty for "trusting Taft?"

How would it do for the American people to begin trusting their own judgment and conscience awhile, just for a change?—Omaha World-Herald.

MORE PROOF.

Parisian Sage Stops Falling Hair and Makes it Grow, or Money Back. People who are not using Parisian Sage are not using the best, most delightful and refreshing hair grower and tonic in the world.

Parisian Sage is the big seller nowadays because when once tried no one ever goes back to the ordinary commercial tonics.

Read this: "Mrs. Alberta Van Hiel, 725 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J., on Oct. 14, 1909, wrote: 'I have used Parisian Sage, and can say, safely, that it has been very beneficial to my hair, stopping my hair from falling out and curing dandruff and making my hair much thicker and nicer.'

"Last summer I had the measles and my hair came out in handfuls; I thought I would have to have it cut off. I got a bottle of Parisian Sage, used it, and it saved me from having my hair cut off."

Parisian Sage is sold by druggist everywhere and by the Weeks Drug Co., and is guaranteed to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itchy scalp in two weeks or money back. It makes women's hair bewitching, lustrous and luxuriant. Big bottle for 50 cents; mail orders filled, charges prepaid by American makers, Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Boy Rider Comes to Grief.
Wylie Crawford, the ten-year-old son of B. T. Crawford, sustained a fracture of his right leg between the hip and knee, yesterday afternoon about three o'clock.

Wylie, it seems had stretched a wire across the back yard at his home and was practicing riding this wire on a wheel which he had rigged up for the purpose.

Dr. Guest, assisted by Drs. Lane and Yantis, attended his injuries and he is resting as well as could be expected today.

VANISHING POLYNESIANS.

Strong and Handsome People Literally Rotting Away.

Of all the inhabitants of the South Seas, the Marquesans were adjudged the strongest and the most beautiful. And now all this strength and beauty has departed, and the valley of Typee is the abode of some dozen wretched creatures, afflicted by leprosy, elephantiasis and tuberculosis. Melville estimated the population at 2000, not taking into consideration the small adjoining valley of Hoo-poomi. Life has rotted away in this wonderful garden spot, where the climate is as delightful and healthful as any to be found in the world. Not alone were the Typeans physically magnificent; they were pure. Their air did not contain the bacilli and germs and microbes of disease that fill our own air. And when the white man imported in their ships these various micro-organisms of disease the Typeans crumpled up and went down before them.

When one considers the situation, one is almost driven to the conclusion that the white race flourishes on impurity and corruption. Natural selection, however, gives the explanation. We of the white race are the survivors and the descendants of the thousands of generations of survivors in the war with micro-organisms. Whenever one of us was born with a constitution peculiarly receptive to these minute enemies, such a one promptly died. Only those of us survived who could withstand them. We who are alive are the immune, the fit—the ones best constituted to live in a world of hostile micro-organisms. The poor Marquesans had undergone no such selection. They were not immune. And they, who had a custom of eating their enemies, were now eaten by enemies so microscopic as to be invisible, and against whom no war of dart and javelin was possible. On the other hand, had there been a few hundred thousand Marquesans to begin with, there might have been sufficient survivors to lay the foundation for a new race—a regenerated race, if a plunge into a festering bath of organic poison can be called regeneration—Pacific Month-

THIS IS A SECRET.

For Special Reasons it Must Not Be Repeated.
"Ah want to see de editor."
She was robust and her face black. She stood at the counter in the business office of the Yonkers Statesman. The editor consented to see her.
"What can I do for you?" asked he.
"Well," das the reply, "my man, my Sam, hab done bin 'reasted, an' I want him kept outen de paper."
"Yas, you may, but Ah'm not going for to tell it. Ah don't want no scandal in mah family."
"But many men have been arrested. How am I to know which one is your husband if you don't tell me his name?"
With reluctance she admitted that "her man's cognomen was Sam Jackson and that she was "his Mandy." You won't print our names in your society news, will you?"
The editor assured her that both names would be omitted from that department of the newspaper.
"Why was your Sam arrested?" the editor inquired.
"Well, Ah hate to say it, but he was 'reasted for burglarizing."
"Burglary? Where?"
"At Mr. Slawson's chicken coop, in a yard back of our house, but, you see, he am only partly guilty, c'ause he done get no chickens."
"Where was he captured?"
"In de coop. Mr. Slawson he s'prised Sam dere wif a rooster on one han' an' a hen in de udder. He war jes' goin' home, he war, when Mr. Slawson s'prised him an' yelled for a p'liceman. An' de p'liceman come an' tuk Sam away. It war a shame."
"A shame?"
"Yassir. He'd jes' borrowed dem chickens to give a poor sick woman, who needed that kind of nourishing food."
"Who was the woman?"
"Ah, myself, was de woman. An' dat am not the wust of it. Nossir. Mah Sam war insulted. He nebbber had sich a insult befo' in all his life."
"What was the insult?"
"Why, dat Mr. Slawson he jes' done kicked mah Sam while dat p'liceman held him; kicked him four or five times, an' he ain't been able to set down comfortably since. Ah'm going to have Mr. Slawson 'reasted for 'sault."
"Your Sam was certainly insulted and assaulted. Where is he now?"
"In de lockup. He had his trial today and de judge he just reprimanded mah Sam."
"Is that all? He got off easy."
"Easy! Why, mister, reprimanded mah Sam for six months. Can't you do something for him?"
The editor said he regarded the case as hopeless. "Six months is not such a long time," he observed, "and then your Sam can resume his place among his friends."
"That's why Ah'm here. Ah want mah Sam's name kept outen de social functions news so he won't lost his standin' in s'ciety."—Kansas City Journal.

FOR OLD SOLDIERS.

Arrangements Made to Care For Forty More in Home.
Superintendent Wynne of the Confederate Home at Austin, has issued the following statement:
"To the Confederate Soldiers of Texas. I am pleased to make known to you that after I had fully explained to Governor Campbell this morning the large number of old soldiers seeking admission to the home, their great age, destitution and affliction, who could not be admitted for want of sufficient appropriation to maintain them, he promptly agreed with me that we should admit at once all the oldest, most destitute and afflicted for whom room could be made; that he would provide for their maintenance to the full limit of the constitution. He said with deep feeling, that not one of the old heroes should suffer for a home as long as he could prevent it within his power under the constitution of the state."
"This patriotic action of the governor should challenge the admiration and meet with the cordial indorsement of every Confederate soldier in Texas. It relieves the management of the home from a most distressing condition. It will enable us to admit about forty additional inmates to the home as soon as the necessary preparations can be made, which will only require a few days, when we will order in the most aged, destitute and afflicted."
"Let none come until they receive notice. Only those who are unable by age or affliction to support themselves and who have no relatives to care for them will be admitted under present conditions and no one who is not legally entitled to the protection of the home will be admitted under any circumstances."
"R. M. WYNNE, Superintendent."

PRaises SPEAKER.

Allen Sangree Writes of Texan Now With Boston.

Allen Sangree writing in the New York Journal of Saturday's game says of Tris Speaker, the Texas ball player:

"Of the Boston players, New York today watched with breathless interest the renowned 'Tris' Speaker, a Texan lad, born and raised hard by the plantation that nurtured our own Jim Vaughan. Speaker came here equaling Cobbs' record last season in hitting, but not in base running. He is however, a better peger, and having age in his favor, may be even this season develop into a good man as the Detroit wonder."
