FOUR ALREADY KILLED IN RACE

FOURTH DEATH IN EUROPEAN CIRCUIT AVIATION RACE TOOK PLACE TODAY.

FIFTEEN REACH LIEGE

Some of Birdmen Seek Spiritual Preparation for Perils of Day—Mass Said at Improvised Altar.

By Associated Press.
Liege, Belgium, June 19.—The aviators who accomplished the perilous first stage of the European circuit races are resting here today preparing for the second stage tomorrow. Fifteen aviators are now here. The second stage will be to Utrecht about 130 miles.

Further details of the deaths of Landron yesterday were received this morning. He was flying perhaps three thousand feet above Epiens when suddenly the machine and aviator were enveloped in flames. An explosion was then heard and a ball of fire pitched earthward, flames streaming fifty feet behind the machine. Landron was hurled clear of his seat and free from the flames, but was killed by the fall.

Four Have Already Been Killed.

By Associated Press.
Charleville, France, June 19.—An aeroplane piloted by one of the contestants in the European circuit race fell from a great height while flying between St. Laurant, and Ville Sur Lurmas this morning. It is expected this adds the fourth fatality to three already dead since the start of this race yesterday. The occupant of the aeroplane has not been learned.

Three of the fifty aviators who started on the first stage of the European circuit race yesterday were killed soon after the start from Paris.

The dead:
CAPT. PRINCETAL, whose motor exploded in midair flooding him with gasoline and burning him to death.
M. LE MARTIN, who dashed against a tree, the motor of his aeroplane crushing his head.
LENDRON, killed near Chateau Thierry. Gasoline in the reservoir exploded, the aviator was burned to death and the machine consumed.
The injured:

CORONATION GUESTS ARRIVING IN LONDON

Prince and Special Ambassadors From All Over World Come for Crowning of King George.

By Associated Press.
London, June 19.—Scores of King George's coronation guests reached London this morning, among them being John Hays Hammond. Through out the day special trains rolled in bringing prince's specials and ambassadors and suites from all points of the world.

Flags are covering all the central portion of London and gave a brave gala appearance to the city. The demand for electrical illumination is so great that the electrical companies have served notice that they have reached a limit of their capacity to supply current until that they can undertake further contracts.

Among today's princes arriving were the German crown prince, Prince Henry of Prussia, and Prince Henry of the Netherlands. Showering mud from their swiftly moving vehicles the Duke of Connaught and other members of the royal family flitted from station to station receiving the guests.

The public appeared smitten with the coronation fever and they thronged the streets in such numbers as to make progress anywhere in center of fashionable London a matter of difficulty.

The ceremonies of the class of 11 were impressive in the extreme, and it was declared that several years have passed since such capable young officers received sheepskins from Uncle Sam's institution.

BONDED INDEBTEDNESS INCREASED TO $963,000,000

By Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., June 19.—Announcement may be late today of the names of the investors who bid successfully for the new three per cent fifty million dollar Panama loan. It appears that most of the issue will go to individuals, trustees of estates, schools and public institutions rather than to banks. With the issue of this fifty million dollar issue the bonded indebtedness of the United States increased to $962,000,000 of which $731,000,000 draws interest at two per cent, $117,000,000, three per cent, and $118,000,000 at four per cent.

Mrs. J. Lee Jackson and children left today for a few weeks' visit with relatives at Jasper, Texas.

COMPLETING EXCAVATION FOR THE STREET PAVING

Work of excavating for the paving of the business streets by the city now under contract with the Crescoated Wood Block Paving Company, is being completed today.

Preliminary to the actual paving work was the construction of the big storm sewer that was begun about three months ago and since that time the streets of the city have presented a torn up appearance and the glittering lights from the red lanterns a warning of danger have been much in evidence.

In speaking of the matter this morning Steert Foreman George Dobson said that for about 100 days his force has consisted of from 30 to 50 men and the necessary teams and that during all that time no accident of a serious nature had happened.

The last of the work of excavating was done at the Fort Worth & Denver Railway crossing over Seventh street and this evening the little army of workers who have stood at their posts through the almost intolerable heat of the past month will be disbanded.

FIREMEN OFF FOR WACO CONVENTION

The delegation representing the Wichita Falls Fire Department at the annual state convention which opens in Waco tomorrow left on an early train this morning for that city.

The delegates are Chief Stampfli, Auto Engineman McCure and members Will and Jim Bachman and A. K. Collins. These gentlemen go with authority by both the city government and the Chamber of Commerce to arrange for the next convention to be held in this city and with flattering prospects of success.

In the absence of the members of the department named, I. H. Roberts will be acting chief, Grover Harben auto engineman and Joe Stearns will drive the hose wagon team, a full complement of other fire fighters having been provided for in case of an emergency.

The convention delegates, probably will return home Thursday night.

TAFTS CELEBRATE SILVER WEDDING

THOUSANDS OF VISITORS CALL AT WHITE HOUSE TO EXTEND CONGRATULATIONS.

A GREAT GARDEN PARTY

Foreign Diplomats, Members of Judiciary, Congressmen, Governors and Other Prominent Persons in Attendance.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—Seldom if ever before in its history has the White House been the scene of such a large and merry gathering as assembled there today to help the President and Mrs. Taft celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. Open house was kept throughout the day. Foreign diplomats, members of the judiciary, senators and representatives and other persons prominent in official life called to offer their congratulations. But the occasion was made most felicitous by the presence of all the family relatives from near and far and also a large number of the President's boyhood friends who came on from Cincinnati in response to a special invitation. These relatives and friends were entertained at a luncheon at the executive mansion and later in the day there was a garden party in the White House grounds for which several thousand invitations were issued. The governors of several States and the mayors of many of the large cities throughout the country were among those present.

The marriage of William Howard Taft and Miss Helen L. Herron was celebrated in Cincinnati June 15, 1886. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Moses A. Hodge of Zanesville, O., an old friend of the Herron family. Mr. Taft had recently graduated from Yale and was employed as a reporter on a Cincinnati newspaper and at the same time studying law. Miss Herron had lately finished her education at Cincinnati university and was engaged in teaching in a private school. The bridegroom was in his twenty-ninth year, while the bride had just passed her twenty-fifth birthday anniversary. It is an interesting coincidence that exactly twenty-two years after the day of his marriage Mr. Taft was nominated for President of the United States.

Considerable Damage From Wind Storm Early Sunday Morning

"Where's my parasol?" asked Little Vivian Ross, the three-year-old daughter of J. M. Ross, 1016 7th street, when she was removed from a pile of bricks that had blown upon her bed when the gable of the brick house occupied by the Ross family was blown in during the storm early Sunday morning.

The little girl had been given a new parasol Saturday which was the last thing she thought about when she went to sleep and the first that flashed into her mind when she was awakened by the tumbling brick.

The whole north gable of the two-story brick house was blown in by the wind, the brick falling upon the bed in which Mr. and Mrs. Ross and Little Vivian were sleeping.

As the wall crashed in Mr. Ross who was already awakened threw his body over the little girl so that she escaped without injury, while he and his wife were only slightly bruised. Brick covered the bed and the floor of the room to the depth of a foot or more and it seemed almost a miracle that none of the occupants were uninjured.

Much damage of a minor nature resulted from the storm which swept over the city a little after midnight. The wind which was accompanied by a dashing shower, came from the west, and the dark clouds sent many scurrying into storm cellars.

The Southwestern Telephone Company suffered heavy damage. A string of poles carrying a heavy cable was blown down from Brook to Burnett and several hundred phones were put out of commission.

for the operation of the street cars. Electric lights in different sections of the city were also put out of commission.

Everywhere out-buildings were blown over and a number of chimneys blown down.

A big tent used for a revival meeting in the Crescent Lake addition was laid flat.

The rain amounted to only a quarter of an inch and was only enough to lay the dust but the cooler temperature that followed made a grateful change.

Among other damage in the business district was the breaking of a plate glass window at the Saratoga Cafe on Seventh street. Many signs were also blown down.

The wind did considerable damage in the Thornberry community. The home of Dan Thornberry was blown from the foundation and moved several feet and his granary was blown some fifteen or twenty feet and completely turned around. A small house on the Russell place occupied by a family by the name of Jackson was badly damaged, one wall being blown in, and a man who works on the place was badly bruised but not seriously injured. Mr. Jackson and family escaped injury by seeking shelter in the storm house on the place. It is also understood that the home of W. W. Linnville was damaged by the storm, but the extent could not be learned further than the fact that none of the family sustained injury. Three panels of the piazza fence around the home of A. L. Thornberry, Sr., were blown some distance lodging against some trees in the yard. It was also reported that a dwelling on the Shumate place was slightly damaged by the wind.

DOG DAYS OF SUMMER HERE

NATIONAL MAD-DOG SCARE NOW HAS ITS GREATEST VOGUE.

A REMEDY IS SUGGESTED

Symptoms of Canines About to Be Attacked by Rabies—Cures For the Terrible Malady.

Special to The Times.
Washington, June 19.—Now is the season of the year when the mad dog scare has its greatest vogue. The dog days of summer are almost at hand, and in most cities of the country the dog-catchers are plying a busy trade.

It is in recognition of these facts that the Department of Agriculture has just issued a comprehensive little pamphlet on rabies, or hydrophobia. The disease is one of the most terrible to man and beast known to medical science. It was known in the days of Aristotle and dreaded like the devastating plague. And yet, scientists assert that the malady could be wiped off the earth if every dog were to be muzzled for a sufficient time. Several European governments have stamped it out within their borders by just such means.

Few diseases, the Department of Agriculture's pamphlet says, are so dreaded, and yet very few people know exactly what the malady is. It is still a widely prevalent belief that if persons of animals are bitten by a dog they are liable to become rabid if the dog should contract the disease at any future time. There is no foundation for this impression. All experience, both scientific and practical, goes to show that rabies is transmitted only by animals that are actually diseased at the time the bite is inflicted.

The result of years of investigation regarding hydrophobia are embodied in Dr. Mohler's bulletin for the department. He says that despite the fact that the disease was recognized and described several centuries prior to the Christian era, even now no scientist has been able to isolate the specific germ or organism that is directly the cause. Apparently contagion can only be propagated in the body of an animal.

Specifically, rabies is an infectious disease, involving the nervous system and characterized by extreme excitability and other disorders, practically always terminating in death, if unchecked. The time within which a bitten animal or person contracts the disease varies greatly—generally from three weeks to three months. It is this respite that enables human beings to ward off the attack by the Pasteur system.

Two Kinds of Hydrophobia.
In animals, there are two varieties of hydrophobia—the furious, violent or irritable, and the dumb or paralytic. A dog which develops this form of the malady gives first indication of his affection by a noticeable change in disposition.

An affectionate dog may become morose and depressed, while a snarling, treacherous animal may become cowardly or affectionate. This is known as the stage of development and in one or two days is followed by an irresistible tendency to roam if prevented the dog will fight or bite at the restraint or at anything that interferes with his freedom. This roving may occur for one or two days during which he travels aimlessly in a nervous and irritable condition. His instinctive methods of defense are nearly always highly developed or exaggerated, but he seldom willfully attacks persons or other animals without provocation. When he returns if not destroyed in the meanwhile, he shows from his exhausted, dirty, shaggy and depressed appearance evidence of wandering. Having returned home he frequently seeks secluded places such as are found under houses or porches.

During this period of roving he exhibits a disposition to eat or chew indigestible objects, as rags, leather, sticks, and even pieces of coal which are often swallowed. The secretion of saliva in some cases appears to be excessive, owing to the inability to swallow, and it sometimes becomes frothy from the champing of the jaws. However, foaming at the mouth is not a constant symptom of rabies, as is commonly believed by the layman and furthermore, it is frequently misleading owing to the fact that it may be observed in other diseases. The erroneous opinion that dogs suffering with this disease are afraid of water is also misleading, since such dogs have been known to swim streams in their roamings. On the other hand they appear to be afraid of nothing as is evidenced by attacking all animals, regardless of size.

A change in the voice of the animal is peculiar to this affection, and is due to the beginning paralysis of the throat, which usually sets in early. Instead of the normal bark the affected dog makes a long, resonant, peculiarly drawn-out bark, which has been likened to the yelp of a coyote.

James J. Hill, railroad magnate who for a generation has been advocating reciprocity with Canada, and who declares the farmers of the Northwest his part of the country, are not opposed to the treaty. He scores Senator Root for his opposition to the measure and agreed with President Taft in his statement made in Chicago. "He hit the nail squarely on the head," said Mr. Hill, "when he declared that only a few politicians in our section of the country are declaiming against reciprocity with Canada."

Later, as the paralysis gradually extends, barking and swallowing become impossible, although attempts may be made to swallow. At this stage the muscles of the jaw become paralyzed, causing the lower jaw to drop and the tongue to hang out which makes it collect dirt and appear dry and darker in color.

The paralysis continues to extend the hind legs become involved, and the dumb form of the disease results. Finally death follows in from four to eight days after the development of the first symptoms.

Dumb Form of Rabies.
The dumb form of rabies is more rare. It is characterized by early paralysis without any of the symptoms of irritability or frenzy.

Practically all animals may contract the disease. Dr. Mohler states that it is transmitted nearly always by bites, although experiments have proved that the milk of infected animals contains the deadly virus, and their flesh is infected. A cow, for instance, which suffers from the disease, may give infected milk. However, experiments prove that unless there are sores or abrasions in the mouth or stomach where the virus may get into the blood, persons drinking infected milk may escape. It would be exceedingly dangerous, however, as the slightest cut or soreness in the mouth or pharynx would be fatal.

Dr. Mohler devotes considerable attention to a case of unjust suspicion against dogs. In the summer there were frequently unfounded scares, and many innocent dogs pay the penalty of complaints from umorous or ignorant persons who believe that the mad dog scare induces auto-suggestion in individuals. One case cited in the pamphlet was that of a young man who suddenly imagined that a slight bite, inflicted by a dog owned by his employer, had infected him with rabies. The dog was once held under observation. The man became very hysterical, suffering from nervous prostrations, and biting and tearing the bed clothes. Nothing seemed to give him any relief until physicians assured him that the dog which bit him was alive and well and had not the slightest symptoms of rabies. Then he recovered almost at once.

If it were not for the great success of the Pasteur treatment, thousands of people in the United States would inevitably die each year from hydrophobia. Moreover, the disease is apparently on the increase.

Monetary loss, untold suffering and death among both human beings and animals caused by the disease would rapidly decrease, and in a relatively short period rabies would be eradicated from our country. After reaching this desired goal the reappearance of the disease could be readily prevented by a six months' quarantine of all dogs imported into the United States from countries where rabies is prevalent.

The Car and the Highway.
Nothing has given so forceful an impetus to the movement for road building as to automobile. It has caused states to begin constructing systems of good roads, which will in time be joined into a nation network of highways vaster than, and as enduring as that which bound together the Roman empire.—Harper's Weekly.

New York, June 19.—The perplexing question of cotton lading bills, which was brought to a head by the disastrous failure of the firm of Knight, Yancey and Company, was the subject of discussion at a conference here today of representatives of the cotton and cotton interests of both the North and South. It is hoped by those concerned that a plan may be agreed upon whereby the integrity of lading bills may be assured.

Lee Francis Lybarber will speak. Mr. Lybarber is an orator. It is said of him:

"He speaks only to enlighten, to persuade, to reform. Yet, such is his power in the presentation of great truths, that, with no thought of entertainment he holds the rapt attention of vast audiences—whether in the Lyceum hall or on the chautauqua platform—with masterful ease and skill. And this for the reason that he is in earnest, has the faith and enthusiasm born of conviction, knows what to say, and how to say it.

"The orator's sole and lofty purpose is to change the habits, conduct and conditions of men. But to do this he must first—as lecturer—change thoughts, beliefs and opinions. And then—as orator—he must link the feelings, emotions and heartthrobs of his hearers to the new beliefs and convictions he has created, in order that they may go forth and embody these new convictions in life and action. The lecturer appeals to the intellect—the entertainer to the emotions. The orator appeals to both.

"Being endowed by Nature with those traits and qualities which distinguished the world's great orators Mr. Lybarber has amplified these vivify social forces and tendencies and give even to abstract thought a superior gifts by years of culture and training. He has the magical power of world-painting. He has that rare endowment of imagination which can portray characters, picture scenes and local habitation and name."

Real Cruelty to Children

By Gordon Loyd in Houston Post

Fully to discuss all the forms of cruelty to children due to ignorance, selfishness and foolish pride would require a volume instead of a half column. Of the danger of sending little folk too early as is the custom nowadays, we have already talked in this place; of the horror of child labor much has been said; and of the irreparable error of allowing children to be harrowed by ghost stories, sudden frights, and practical "jokes" much might be written.

But it is of another phase of cruelty to little ones that we want to speak now, namely, the barbarous practice of dragging very young children along the streets faster than their little legs can normally carry them. Figure to yourself, madam, if you can, the extreme discomfort of being jerked by the arm an interminable distance over rough ground by a giantess three times your size and speed!

In a careless or brutal nurse one is not surprised to witness barbarity of this sort; but on the part of a presumably intelligent and sympathetic parent such behavior is intolerable. Yet how common a sight it is to see a robust mother yanking a tot of four along very much as if the child were a suitcase!

In addition to the shortness of breath, leg weariness and general discomfort to the little sufferer from such treatment there is a more serious aspect of the matter—the possibility of injuring the shoulder joint. In the young child the muscles and ligaments around this important articulation are elastic and immature. A long continued pull upon the arm, punctuated by jerks, may well be calculated to elongate the tissues of the shoulder joint, leaving a laxity of the part which predisposes to dislocation throughout life. As every surgeon knows, spontaneous dislocation of the shoulder due to relaxed ligaments is one of the most difficult deformities to reduce permanently.

Let some of the good people who are so much opposed to vivisection and "cruelty" to animals direct part of their emotion and attention to little children.

GET AFTER THE FLIES!

More attention is being given the fly this year than ever before—his real and deadly nature are now better known. You can't afford to have any flies in your home. Its hard to keep free from them—yes, but you play with disease and death when you permit them to be in the house. Use every precaution you can, get a good supply of fly paper, it catches flies wherever flies are, keep some of it in every room where flies are or are apt to be.

THIS DATE IN HISTORY

- June 19, 1610—Champlain defeated the Iroquois near the mouth of the Richelieu River. 1786—Gen. Nathaniel Green, of the distinguished officers of the American Revolution, died. Born May 27, 1742. 1819—Maine separated from Massachusetts. 1820—The Earl of Dalhousie assumed office as Governor of Canada. 1834—Charles H. Spurgeon, a 1864—The Alabama sunk by the Federal gunboat Kearsarge. 1895—Maximilian I., Emperor of Mexico, executed. Born July 6, 1832. 1895—Baltic Canal opened by Emperor William. 1902—King Albert of Saxony died. Born April 23, 1828.

The compliments extended by Lt. Mator to Madero would have been appreciated more, perhaps, had they come sooner.

If reports from Washington are to be credited, sixty of our United States Senators now favor Canadian reciprocity, with the Root amendment left off.

The Times has at last received those maps or wall charts, and those who gave their order for these wall charts, should call at once and get them.

Peace has not yet been completely restored in Mexico. So far there are only about four new revolutions started since Diaz quit the country.

Nineteen hundred and eleven models are in favor and have the preference over older types. This not only applies to new automobiles, but to new babies as well.

Don't forget the mass meeting of citizens to be held on tomorrow night. The matter of additional paving is to be considered, and property owners—especially those who are expected to pay for a greater portion of the work, should not fail to attend this meeting.

As to whether it will be left to a majority of those mostly interested or not, is a question the Times is not in a position to state. Heretofore, that is the plan upon which street paving has been done, which is fair and just.

In about ten days more the bulk of the old battleship Maine will be raised to a position where it can be definitely determined whether she was sent to the bottom of the harbor at Havana by the explosion of a mine placed under her by the enemy—the Spaniards, or whether it was caused by the explosion of her own magazines. Spain has always contended that the sinking of the Maine was the result of an explosion within, and not from without, and the fact that the United States has been so long about raising the Maine, looks as if there might be something in the contention of Spain. At any rate, the mystery will soon be solved.

TO TEXAS PROHIBITIONISTS.

We are just one month removed from the day which is to decide whether the saloon shall continue to run in Texas and its politics or whether the liquor traffic shall be forever banished from the confines of our state.

It is with the people whether we shall win or whether we shall lose. We have a natural majority but we must get the vote out in order to win. The supporters of the saloon in 99 cases out of 100 have some selfish interest at stake and they will vote to a man. Our people, having only an unselfish interest, may allow something to interfere with the exercise of their franchise on July 22. To prevent this we must cover the state with speakers and reach the voter with literature. To do this costs money. We haven't the money, but our people have it in their pockets. Since the campaign opened we have received less than $7000, and, including money advanced by our State Chairman, our books show receipts of not to exceed $10,000.

Not a single county has come up with its full per capita assessment. Some have done well; some have done something, but most of the counties have done nothing, or practically nothing. Think of a paltry $10,000 as compared with the multiplied hundreds of thousands being used by the whiskey crowd, and then, prohibitionists of Texas, blush with shame for the little that you have done toward helping to win YOUR fight.

Do not lay this paper down, but take it with you and draw a check or secure a postoffice or express money order and send it to headquarters at once for every cent you feel you can possibly afford. Do not delay at all but let this money come forward. We must have it in order to get speakers out, and if there was ever a time when you wanted to do something in this cause, DO IT NOW!

TOM C. SWOPE, State Secretary, Houston, Texas, June 17, 1911.

The above speaks for itself, and is in direct line with what has been said by the Times before. The pros have the votes, but unless they arouse an interest and get them to the polls, they cannot win. It requires money to conduct a campaign like that now in progress.

About The Chautauqua. Editor Wichita Daily Times.

Dear Sir: There seems to be a general misunderstanding as to the attending cost associated with patronage of the Chautauqua now being held at Lake Wichita and as a result the attendance has been extremely limited and the losses to the promoters large.

No better advertisement can be sent abroad concerning the city of Wichita Falls than the fact that there is within the city itself a degree of culture and refinement that gives assurance to desirable residence within its confines. The institution of the Chautauqua is the highest exemplification of that which appeals to the culture and refinement of any community and yet judging from the support being given the Chautauqua now being conducted in this city there is either a gross misunderstanding on the part of the citizens or as the stranger concludes there is lacking the responsive chord of culture and refinement that the said citizenship should possess.

The attractions being presented are of the highest character and recognized as among the very best upon the American platform and warrant a fuller measure of recognition in this city than is now being accorded. Certainly the report should not be permitted to go abroad that Wichita Falls cannot appreciate a Chautauqua or that it is unwilling to support such an edifying agency.

The management has made it possible to enjoy the several attractions at a minimum of cost, namely: 50 cents including a round trip ticket to the Lake. To attend these means a moral and intellectual uplift with an accompanying pleasure that can in no otherwise be experienced. Let us make of Lake Wichita a rendezvous for the red-corpused men and women of this great Southwest by building up a permanent institution that shall provide recreation for both body and soul and mind.

section of the United States. Old camping friends of Mr. and Mrs. Taft sent one of the best salmon ever caught in Penobscot river, Maine. Miss Harriet Waterchurch of Lancaster, Mass sent a wedding slipper worn by Taft's great grandmother.

Senators who are lined up against reciprocity and are doing their utmost to prevent the passage of the Canadian treaty in the upper House of Congress. On the left, Elihu H. Root, senior senator from New York; on the right, Senator Bristow, of Kansas. The latter was at one time hailed as among the most progressive members of the Senate, and for a long time, he stood by every progressive measure introduced. His most recent activities, however, indicate that he has changed his sentiment particularly the offering of his amendment to the direct election of senators resolution, which put control of these elections in the hands of Congress.

J. J. Hill, the railroad king, who has long advocated reciprocity with Canada recently referred to Senator Root's opposition in lurid terms, calling the New York Senator a "snake doctor."

JUDGE FELDER'S ATTITUDE TOWARD PROPOSED ROAD LAW

At the last meeting of the Chamber of Commerce a resolution was passed favoring an attempt to secure for Wichita county authority to issue road bonds similar to that which is now in force in Lamar county, which law expressly provides that any municipal corporation may be included in a road district and such portion of the money expended in the limits of said corporation as the road commissioners should deem best.

The Lamar county road law also provides for four road commissioners, who with the county judge and the commissioner of the precinct affected as ex-officio members have charge of the distribution of the funds.

The directors also asked the co-operation of the commissioners court in securing such a law.

Hon. C. B. Felder, County Judge, in response to a letter asking his co-operation has written the Chamber of Commerce the following letter: Mr. R. E. Huff, President, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Dear Sir: Answering your favor of the 14th inst. I have repeatedly stated that if it could be done under the law, I would not oppose the improvement by the county of that portion of the streets of incorporated cities and towns forming extensions of the main public roads leading into such cities or wishes that the president and wife would live long enough to celebrate their diamond wedding.

Indications are good for fine weather for tonight's big reception on the White House grounds, which have been festooned with electric lights and Japanese lanterns. Searchlights will play on the guests and a spot light will bring into relief the American flag that floats over the White House, when the president is at home. At the suggestion of Mrs. Taft the lawn near the point where the guests will be received will bear a cluster of silvered incandescent lamps forming figures 1886-1911, first date being their wedding year. Former president and Mrs. Roosevelt sent a gift of an antique silver bowl. Mrs. Macveigh, wife of Secretary of the Treasury, designed a silver fruit platter which was their gift and which is intended for state dinners.

the army, who was entered in the civil race under the name of "Dagger." He was found lying senseless near his machine in a wheat field, four miles from Villars Coterets. His injuries are serious.

M. Bille's aeroplane struck the earth within a mile of the start and was wrecked. Bille was injured, but not seriously.

Three other aviators fell—M. Lordain, near Chareville; Oscar Morfison, close to Gagny and M. Morin at Chevron, within twenty-two miles of Liege, which is the end of the first stage of the race. None of these men were badly hurt.

Enormous Crowd at Starting Place. Of the fifty aviators who started the race, thirty-eight were civilians and twelve officers assigned for military duty. Hung up for the competitors are prizes amounting to $54,000.

Down at Vincennes saw a crowd estimated from 500,000 to 1,000,000 people massed around the military exercise field to witness the start. Six thousand soldiers and 4,000 police, most of them mounted, kept the field clear.

A single gun fired at 5:45 o'clock signaled the commencement of the preliminaries to the race. The Abbe Lareborg was just finishing the mass at an improvised altar in one of the aeroplane hangars for some of the aviators who desired spiritual preparation for the perils of the day.

M. Le Martin, who within the hour was dying, was among those who knelt for the blessing.

The second gun sounded at 6 o'clock and Maurice Tabuteau, Pierre Vedrine and M. Bathiat, who already were in position, whirled away within a minute of each other amid wild cheering. The aviators started from three parallel runways from one to three minutes apart. Last to leave was Emile Train, whose machine recently killed Minister of War Bertaux and wounded Premier Monis.

Among those who witnessed the start from the official stand was Premier Monis' son, Antonio, who was also injured when M. Bertaux was killed. Others in the stand were Gen. Francois Goiran, Minister of War, who succeeded M. Bertaux; M. Delcasse, M. Lepine, Perfect of Paris.

The wind was rising at the start and Le Martin, who was one of the most experienced aviators in France, hooked about a good deal as his machine cleared the ground and swept away. His aeroplane had reached the woods a quarter of a mile beyond the barriers when it was observed to pitch swiftly downward and into the trees. The biplane fell at the foot of an oak tree.

Skull Crushed by Motor. A corner of the motor struck Le Martin's head, crushing his skull and his right leg also was fractured in two places. The aviator was barely alive when he was taken away by Red Cross surgeons and expired a few minutes after reaching a hospital.

Something was wrong with the steering gear of Le Martin's machine. It had acted badly earlier in the morning and Roland Garros, who helped adjust it, favored Le Martin not going up.

Disaster overtook Capt. Princetau almost at the start. He had scarcely got well into the air when one of the planes of his machine caught fire. Princetau was seen struggling to undo a strap that bound him firmly in his seat, so as to be free to jump as he glided toward the earth before he reached the earth.

Covered by Flaming Benzine. Before he could loosen the belt however, the motor exploded and flaming benzine covered him. He did not utter a cry and when the wreckage fell to the ground the Captain was dead. His body was fearfully burned.

Princetau had been a Lieutenant since 1900 and was gazetted a Captain in the official gazette this morning for "exceptional services rendered to military aviation."

Previous Deaths at Same Place. A tragic coincidence of Princetau's death was that at the exact spot where he fell La Fort, the French aviator and Poin, a passenger, were killed last December in the competition for the "Automobile Club's" prize for a flight from Paris to Brussels and only a few yards away the French Minister of War met death four weeks ago.

Sixteen different styles of monopanes and biplanes were used.

Mrs. Bruce Poore, who had intended to go to Denver a week ago, but was prevented by illness, is now convalescing, and expects to leave within the next two or three days for that place. Mr. Poore will accompany her, and they will not return until after the weather becomes cooler.

TIMES MAPS HAVE ARRIVED AND ARE READY FOR DISTRIBUTION

The maps offered in connection with new subscriptions and renewals by The Times several months ago have been received and are now ready for distribution.

Only those persons who accepted the conditions of the offer at the time it was made are entitled to these maps and those persons can secure them by calling at this office.

We may state that while the maps have been long delayed in publication awaiting the returns of the U. S. Census for Texas, we are much pleased with them and are sure those who receive them will be also.

SCATTERED SHOWERS IN COAST REGION

By Associated Press. Houston, June 19.—The long drought in this section was broken this morning by a slow rain which began at eight o'clock and was still falling at ten. Several points in the coast region had good showers last night and this morning. Teague reported an hour's rain last night and Waco had about half an inch last night which helped cotton and also helped corn on some bottom lands. The rains are in the nature of scattered showers.

So pleasing was the feature picture, a Vitagraph, at the Gem on Saturday that Manager Tritch has decided to reproduce it today and tonight. The picture is the "New Stenographer," and is said to be one of the best comedy reels ever presented in the city. Two new pictures will also be presented in connection with the program and Mr. Gilman will sing a popular illustrated song.

"The New Stenographer." "Jealousy Foiled." "Jack Mason's Last Deal." "Silver Bells"—Song.

Larry Doyle, captain and second baseman of Johnny McGraw's New York Giants, who is setting the pace for his charges by proving himself one of the foremost pinch-hitters of the season. Captain Doyle's average, less than .290 as a whole, is over .390 when you count only the times he faces the pitcher with men on the bases to be driven in. He is most versatile in the heart of advancing a man, being a beautiful bunter, sure at lining out a sacrifice fly and able to slam out the desired single if a hit is signalled for. Doyle's infield work is almost beyond criticism, and it is doubtful whether even Eddie Collins or Johnny Evers can claim anything better than the class of work being put up by the Giant second sacker at the present stage of the National League Marathon.

YOUR SELECTION OF A GOOD BANK

Is important, not only for the present, but also for the years to come. The right Bank connection will be a material help to your every day business. This Bank has a successful record of safe, conservative banking from the day of its organization.

WE INVITE YOUR BUSINESS.

LEST WE FORGET.

A Critic Reminds Us How Our People Have Bucked Progress.

We of this big republic complacently affirm the glory of our national achievements and are not without temptation to acclaim them as proof of superior craft and judgment.

But herein do we forget that we are on record as having cast our vote against every move that has contributed to the present century's development.

We raised our voices in contemptuous protest against the first projected railroads. Had the locomotive waited its signal from the people it would not yet have started.

When the electric telegraph was shown to us we brushed it aside as a toy and laughed its inventor to scorn when he offered to sell us his rights for a few thousand dollars.

We put into jail as an impostor the first man who brought anthracite coal to market. We broke to pieces Howe's sewing machine as an invention calculated to ruin the working classes, and we did the same thing to the harvester and the binder. We scorned the typewriter as a plaything.

We gathered together in mass meetings of indignation at the first proposal to install electric trolley lines, and when Dr. Bell told us he had invented an instrument by means of which we might talk to one another across the town we responded with accustomed ridicule, and only the reckless among us contributed it its being. —Atlantic Monthly.

President James A. Farrell, of the United States Steel Corporation, who will be one of the first witnesses to be called before the Stanley steel trust investigating committee of the House when it resumes its hearings in Washington this week. One of the principal questions President Farrell will be asked to answer will be why the steel corporation can sell rails abroad cheaper than at home.

THEIR COLORS.

A Touch of Human Nature Amid the Horrors of War.

Out of the midst of the bloody horrors of the battle of Fredericksburg comes a sweet and touching incident which goes to prove that the rage of battle cannot obliterate the tenderness dwelling in the hearts of men. The story is taken from Major Robert Sillies' "Four Years Under Massa Robert." The Federal army was entering the town, shot was flying in all directions, and Buck, a Confederate soldier, was peering round the corner of a house.

A little three-year-old, fair haired baby girl toddled out of the alley, accompanied by a Newfoundland dog, and in the midst of the hissing shells chased a cannon ball down the street. Buck grounded his gun, dashed out into the storm and swung his great right arm round the baby. Then he ran after his company, the little one clasped to his breast.

The company took refuge behind the stone wall which has now become historic, and there for hours and days of terror the baby was kept. Fierce snarls took turns in petting her while the storm of battle raged and shrieked. Never was a baby so cared for, and she soon secured the countryside to get her milk.

When the struggle was over and the Federal army had left the company behind the wall received the post of honor in the van to lead the column into the town. Buck stood about in the middle of the regiment, the baby in his arms. There was a long halt, and the brigade staff hurried to and fro. The regimental colors were not to be found.

Suddenly Buck sprang to the front. He swung aloft the baby girl, her little garments fluttering like the folds of a banner, and shouted: "Forward, men of the Twenty-first! Here are our colors!"

—Of started the brigade, cheering lustily.

The Texas Hen

The Texas hen is the queen of the barnyard. Her cackle sounds as musical to the farmer as the clink of gold dollars and her flesh is the daintiest of food. We ship live and dressed poultry to the Northern and Eastern markets and give the nation its Sunday dinner.

The hen is the patron of mechanics, science and art and is further advanced in civilization than any other animal. She is a splendid advertiser, a good money maker and she uses so many labor-saving devices that she lives a life of ease and luxury. The incubator relieves her of the necessity of hatching her young; her nest is built by master mechanics; glass eggs take the place of the home-made product for decoy purposes and she roosts on automobiles. She is progressive, practical and happy and merrily sings as she lays 5,000,000 eggs per day.

The egg is the only animal product that is good for food and will produce its specie. It is the only product known to creation that has a dual commercial value and it finds its way to every table in the universe.

The poultry business in Texas has reached mammoth proportions. During the past year the total production, including eggs and young poultry, approximated $25,000,000. The egg output was worth $15,000,000. The Texas hen lays three times her value per annum. We have approximately 25,000,000 domestic fowls. We have more turkeys and geese than any other state in the Union.

Poultry farming in Texas is one of the most profitable of investments. Our natural conditions are adapted to the propagation of domestic fowls and their products and it is one of the many industrial fields in Texas, which present large opportunities to small investors.

INTOXICATION NOT

A LEGAL EXCUSE

San Antonio, Texas, June 19.—A ruling was made in the Fourth court of civil appeals last week in an opinion prepared by Associate Justice W. S. Fly, in the case of M. F. DeWitt vs. J. B. Bowers, appeal from Farmer county, reversed and remanded, that a person can not escape liability on a contract on the mere ground that he was intoxicated at the time of its execution, unless it is proved that he was so intoxicated that he was unable to understand the nature of the contract and the consequences of its execution.

"He may be intoxicated to such a degree as to be excited or so as to prevent him from acting with that degree of care that he would use were he sober," says Judge Fly, in his opinion, "still he would not be released from his contractual liability. His contract can not be avoided, in other words, unless his drunkenness was of such a character that he did not know its true intent or meaning, which is an amelioration of the early common law rule that asserted that a contract entered into by an intoxicated person was binding upon him. As said by this court, through Justice Neill in Wells vs. Houston:

"To avoid a contract on this ground the obligor must have been so drunk as to have dethroned reason, memory and judgment, and impaired his mental faculties to an extent that would render him non compos mentis for the time being, especially, where there is no pretense that any person connected with the transaction aided in or procured the drunkenness.

"It has been held that a less degree of intoxication than that required to absolutely invalidate a contract may serve as a basis for avoiding the same if the drunkenness was caused by the other party, or if, he takes unfair advantage of it. This would involve question of fraud and undue influence, however, and not those of capacity to execute the contract."

Bowers instituted the suit and alleged he was a stockman and a farmer, and that on Dec. 12, 1909, being Sunday, while he was within the bounds of the town of Texas he entered the Big Four Saloon, and while there he was approached by DeWitt, with the proposition to sell the saloon, fixtures and stock for $2,000. Bowers claims that at the time he made the trade he was in an intoxicated condition to such an extent that he did not thoroughly understand and comprehend the nature and probable consequences of the contract, and made no pretense of any investigation of the condition and status of the property as to the quantity and value of it. He later demanded the return of his money which demand was refused. He sued and the jury gave him a verdict for $2,000, the amount sued for, with interest.

GET THE HOOK

It has been a long time since we matriculated in the pharmaceutical kindergarten and began to hand out the information that we were on earth to make others happy for cash, that is the reason we advertise in the news papers. We have had the advertising bug from infancy, and have gone against every advertising scheme from printed powder rags to souvenir wash boards and learned from experience that as a medium for converting reputable merchandise into cash the newspaper has all other mediums nine miles down the speedways with a bursted tire and a dead engine.

You will find us in the same place every day on the last page, there has not been a copy of the Times issued since our advent into the basiest and best built city in Texas that did not carry our advertisement.

The band concert at the court house Sunday evening beginning at 7 o'clock was attended by a large crowd that thoroughly enjoyed the splendid program rendered for the occasion. The program was an exceptionally pleasing one and the different numbers were well rendered. The band continues to develop under the splendid directorship of Prof. B. P. Boyer and may now be considered one of the best musical organizations in this section of the state. Hereafter the concerts on Sunday afternoons will begin at 6:30 instead of 7 o'clock, which hour is thought to be more convenient for the public and will be less liable to conflict with the early church services.

Winter of course is the real coffee season, but at the same time its a fact that a cup of good coffee correctly made is a life saver these hot mornings when you can eat no breakfast--Its food and drink in one--It produces contentment of mind, allays hunger, mental and bodily weariness, increases the capacity for work, makes man forget his troubles and anxieties, enabling those who use it judiciously to endure unusual fatigue and remain a long time without food or sleep, as well as to preserve their temper and cheerfulness. Now to make this kind of coffee you want the very best, well aged coffee--scientifically blended and FRESH ROASTED--That's where we come in.
