Give the Children More Olives

If you fully realized how much good food as well as good taste there is in a bottle of good olives it's safe to say you would use more, many more than you do.

It would be a good idea to educate your family to eat them at least once a day. Olives will satisfy their taste for something acid and will at the same time help to keep their blood in good condition—it's the olive oil does that, yet they don't taste it at all.

The choicest olives that grow, put up plain, that is without being pitted,

15c, 35c and 50c Per Bottle

Stuffed olives, pitted and stuffed with pimento or celery 15c and 35c per bottle. Put a bottle on your table tomorrow and see how the family enjoys them.

CALIFORNIA WOMEN FIGHT FOR VOTES

NO CAMPAIGN IN GOLDEN STATE EVER FOUGHT WITH GREATER DETERMINATION.

ARE GREAT CAMPAIGNERS

Conduct of Campaign a Revelation To Seasoned Politicians Even.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 21.—On October 10, only a trifle more than two weeks hence, the voters of California, for the second time in the history of the State, will decide by their vote whether women shall have the right to vote. The last time women's suffrage was submitted to the ballot in this State it was defeated by only 5,000 votes. Times have changed since then and the advocates of women's rights are not only more hopeful of success than ever before but quite confident that California will win the honor of becoming the sixth State in the Union to grant suffrage to women.

Never was a political campaign in this State fought with greater determination than the one now drawing to a close. The women of California realized the importance of a victory; at this time, and inspired and encouraged by the success of the women in other western States, entered upon this campaign with tremendous energy and determination. When the legislature decided to submit a constitutional amendment, giving women the right to vote, to a referendum vote on October 10, it did not find the women of the State unprepared.

More than two years ago the first step was taken to prepare the women of California for just such an emergency. It was Mrs. James Lee Laidlaw, chairman of the Women's Suffrage party of New York City who by her individual efforts induced the women of California to organize for the purpose of making a fight for suffrage. The ground was well prepared and when the legislature voted for the submission of the women's suffrage amendment to the State constitution, the organized women of this State were ready to begin the battle.

Fully realizing the importance of a thorough and energetic campaign the women of California sent out an appeal to the friends of women's suffrage throughout the United States and elsewhere. Nobly did their friends respond to the appeal. From all parts of the world came encouraging letters from men and women interested in the success of the women of California fighting for their rights. J. I. Bray of Pasadena, a retired business man of great wealth, organized under the name of the Political Equality League a powerful body of prominent men and women bound together by the common desire to aid the women's suffrage movement.

In every State of the Union where there are friends of women's suffrage meetings were held, resolutions passed, giving moral support to the battling suffragists in California and funds were contributed to help the women of this State in their great struggle. The women of New York headed by Mrs. Laidlaw, willingly came to the assistance of their sisters on the Pacific coast. Miss Jeanette Rankins, sent by Mrs. Laidlaw Mrs. Helen Greaser, Mrs. Archibald C. Pink and other distinguished leaders and organizers of the women's suffrage movement in Greater New York, came to California to help by word and deed in the campaign. Large sums were raised during the week of self-denial, when men and women, anxious to help the women of California, denied themselves some luxuries and contributed the money thus saved to the campaign fund.

The energetic, businesslike and effective manner in which the women of this State have conducted their campaign has been a revelation to such men even who have made politics a business for many years and have grown gray in it. There was no uncertainty about the methods employed and everything was thoroughly up-to-date. The women throughout the State were thoroughly organized and everywhere meetings were held, speeches made and literature distributed. In many places house-to-house canvases were made by special committees of women and all men favorable to the movement were enlisted in the campaign.

The opposition, which includes many distinguished and powerful men, like Gen. Harrison Otis, former United States Senator Frank P. Flint, Oscar P. Lawler, former assistant United States attorney general in the department of the interior; former United States senator Cole, President Benjamin Mc Wheeler of the University of California and many others, has by no means been idle and is still carrying on its campaign in all parts of the State.

JEWISH NEW YEAR BEGINS ON FRIDAY

According To Jewish Calendar New Year Will Be 5672—A Day of Remembrance.

The celebration of the Jewish New Year begins at sundown on Friday. This sacred day among the Jews falls this year on Saturday, but according to the Jewish calendar the setting of the sun marks the close of one day and the beginning of another.

The year according to the Jewish calendar is 5672. New year is observed as a holy day by the Jew all over the world, and until sundown Saturday no business of any nature whatever will be transacted by the faithful. The orthodox Jew usually observes two days for the sake of safety. Next to the day of Atonement, Yom Kippur, new year's day is one of the most sacred observed.

In Leviticus, chapter twenty-three will be found the scriptural injunction for the observance of the holiday. There it is written: "In the seventh month, in the first day of the month, shall ye have a Sabbath, a memorial of blowing of trumpets, a holy convocation." Ezra also refers to the day as one only to the Lord.

Unlike the secular day of new year is usually observed, this day, Rosh Hashanah is considered a day of memorial or a day of remembrance reminding the Jew of the duty of self-examination and self-judgment. To arouse the conscience to this solemn task the ceremony of sounding the shofar or ram's horn, forms an important feature of the service. Among the orthodox Jews, attainment of this object is also sought by setting aside a few days before new year's day for the recital in the synagogue of penitential prayers called Selihot. This continues until the eve of the day of Atonement, Yom Kippur. These Selihot are chanted in the minor chords before dawn, in the dimly lit houses of worship. These impressive prayers sound the note of grief and contrition for the sins of the past year.

In many places the curious ceremony of Tashlich, originating perhaps with the German Jews not earlier than the fourteenth century, is observed on the afternoon of new year's day. The worshippers congregate near a running stream when the eighteenth to twentieth verses of the seventh chapter of Micah are intoned, ending with the phrase which no doubt suggested the ceremony, "Thou wilt cast all their sins into the depths of the sea."

After the solemn services on Friday evening and in the morning Saturday, the Hebrew greeting is heard on all sides, signifying "A good year, or 'Mayest thou be inscribed (in the book of Life) for a good year.'" In latter years a custom has appeared of sending to friends new year's greeting cards and often gifts. When stars begin to peep out at the close of the day after earnest devotions are done, the festival is made an occasion of social and domestic rejoicing.

LETTER TO GLENN BROS.

Wichita Falls, Texas.

Dear Sirs: The wear of paint goes by gallons; the less-gallons paint wears longest. It takes less gallons because it is strong; it wears a long time, because it is strong. It is all-paint and the strongest paint.

There is a best paint among all-paints. No two are alike, of course; no two cover alike or wear alike. One is this, another is thick; one has too much lead, another too much zinc, another is right. The right is Devco, so far as is yet known. Perhaps somebody-else will find out a better paint than Devco; then Devco will become a more-gallons paint, a poorer paint, a weaker paint, a less-durable paint, a less economical paint, a timid paint.

Bigger changes than that have come over the world. Devco has the lead; why shouldn't we lose it to somebody-else?

E. R. McClendon sells our paint.

For Crime Committed Long Ago. Bonham, Texas, Sept. 21.—To answer for a murder alleged to have been committed forty-six years ago, former Lieut. Daniel W. Byars was arraigned in court here today. A Captain Harris and his son were the alleged victims. Following an argument over politics Byars is said to have shot young Harris and then his father. He was indicted in 1865, but escaped while awaiting trial and was not located until a short time ago.

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.

Mobile, Ala.—"I suffered for seven years, with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city. "I felt weak and always had a headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble.

My husband asked me to try Cardui. I felt better after the first bottle, and now, I have a good appetite and sleep well. I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."

If you are sick and miserable, and suffer from any of the pains due to womanly trouble—try Cardui.

Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients that have been found to act curatively on the womanly constitution.

For more than fifty years, it has been used by women of all ages, with great success. Try it. Your druggist sells it.

YAQUIS MAY RETURN TO THEIR OLD HOME

Special to the Times.

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 20.—One of the beneficent results of the success of the Mexican revolution is the fact that the Yaqui Indians who were driven from the Yaqui valley and many of them taken to Yucatan in obedience to the order of former President Diaz, will be returned to their old home. Some years ago hundreds of those people were forcibly taken from their homes and deported to Yucatan and their lands, the richest in the republic, confiscated by the government. General B. J. Viljoen, hero of the Boer war and military adviser of Francisco I. Madero during the revolution, has been commissioned to confer with the leaders of the Yaqui Indians in Sonora relative to the return of their banished kinsmen. Viljoen has been commissioned by the Mexican government to treat with the Indians and induce them to return to the lands from which they were driven by the leaders of the old federal regime. Those who desire to return from the hot lands of Yucatan will be brought back to their homes by the government given free land, irrigation systems, and crop seeds as "reparation for the wrongs that have been done them. While the Yaquis are at work when enraged, they are the most progressive tribe of Indians on the American continent and have shown themselves to be good farmers and capable of rapid advancement. Through their efforts, they have made the Yaqui valley in Sonora one of the most productive sections in the republic of Mexico. It was to get possession of these lands that many of them were driven from their old home.

LOSS OF LEG NO GREAT HANDICAP

THE MANUFACTURED "STUMPS" REMARKABLE IN COMPARISON.

SOMETHING OF BUSINESS

Artificial Limbs Have Been Made Before Time of Christ—Never Was a "Cork Leg."

What do you suppose becomes of all the people who have the misfortune to lose one or both legs, or arms. You will possibly remark that they are out on the streets begging. But not so. If this were the case the ordinary person could not pass down the streets of Tulsa for the army of mendicants that would fill the sidewalks.

A man was in Tulsa yesterday who represents a Chicago artificial limb factory. Both of his legs are gone but you couldn't hardly tell it to see him on the streets. His artificial limbs are almost perfect substitutes for the missing legs, and he passes them as effective demonstrators to those he calls upon for the purpose of selling his wares. Regarding the great army of armless and legless ones about the country, he said:

"Persons who are not in touch with this phase of our life have no idea of the great number of men who are maimed daily. In Chicago alone it is estimated that on an average three legs are amputated each day; in the state about nineteen. In Pittsburg there are nine taken off each day and in the state of Pennsylvania an average of about thirty-five. Ohio comes next with twenty-seven a day and in New York the average runs to about twenty-six.

So, you see, if the unfortunate were compelled to give up work because of their affliction the army of beggars, peddlers would be enormous in the hurly-burly of present day life men are mowed down in the industrial fields in far greater numbers than they were ever maimed in battle. The general use of the machinery, is a constant danger to the working man, and not only is this true in the factories, but in the agricultural districts, too. Years ago the proportion of deaths followed amputations was high but today surgical science has advanced so tremendously that the proportion of fatalities is insignificant. To meet the new conditions manufacturers of artificial limbs have had to keep abreast of the times as it were and today the industry is one that commands millions of capital.

"Loss of one, or even both legs, is no longer considered a serious handicap to a man. Improvements made within the last few years in the manufacture of artificial limbs have been so great that many men who feared after the amputation of one or both legs that their days of usefulness were over now find that with artificial limbs they can accomplish practically all that they could with their natural limbs, and in some cases they can do more. Authenticated cases of men minus both legs riding bicycles, engaging in athletic sports and in various lines of work are common, and there is one case of a man who after having both legs cut off in a little practice, to become a slack wire walker with his artificial legs."

With two exceptions all of the 102 employees of a Chicago artificial leg factory wear one or two artificial turned leg. The sight is uncanny to in the shop office to show the newly fitted patients how "easy" it is to walk, run and jump with a manufactured leg. The sight is uncanny to the unafflicted man; to the unfortunate who must get an artificial leg or legs it is a revelation that fills him with new hope.

Manufacture of artificial legs has been going on since the early days of the Roman Empire. It was explained to a reporter. In the Royal College of Surgeons, London, there is an artificial leg made of bronze and wood, which was found by a scientific exploration party in a tomb at Capua, Italy, in 1885. Its date is estimated as about 300 B. C.

But there is little resemblance between this relic and the modern artificial limb. The former was a heavy clumsy contrivance; the present day article is so nearly life-like that an army surgeon has been fooled by it and in action the movement is natural. At the present time there is no such thing as a "cork leg" and it is doubtful if there ever was one. While some authorities believe that the name may have been derived from a supposed practice of riveting cork to a solid wood core in the manufacture of artificial legs, others claim the name was derived from that of a man named Cork, who made artificial dial legs in New York City early in the last century.

In the present day manufacture of artificial legs they are made of English willow, covered with a thin parchment and enameled, or of wood and leather. The mechanism which takes the place of the joints, in the natural leg is of case hardened steel, plated with nickel, silver or gold. The foot is of sponge rubber cemented on hickory cores and has a resiliency that absorbs all shock in walking and permits of a natural step.—Tulsa World

If those who favor the nomination of Woodrow Wilson as the Democratic presidential candidate desire to properly look after his political interests the Times will make the suggestion that this can be best accomplished by organization. Some one should take the lead in this matter and start a movement for the organization of a "Wilson Democratic Club." The next president of these United States is going to be a Democrat.

The greatest political farce that was ever enacted in Texas will come off next summer according to press dispatches. We refer to the candidacy of A. M. Kennedy for congressman-at-large. The idea of a man of his character and meagre ability asking for that position is almost a disgrace to the state and should be met with the just criticism that it deserves. —Childress Index.

If Kennedy wants to make the race for congressman-at-large, that is his privilege. There are a whole lot of people in Texas who would like the privilege of passing on his claims for any public office, and it might be the best thing that could happen to Kennedy to find just how the people of Texas regard a man of his calibre. By all means, encourage him to make the race. It is about the only way thousands of Democrats will have the opportunity of expressing their contempt for him.

Many a town has found out to its sorrow that it did not look good enough to the farmer to induce him to kill his team getting to it. Country life in many sections means almost isolation four months in the year. —Bonham Daily Favorite.

That is a splendid argument for good roads. Wichita Falls wants to build good roads, and if the farmers will join in the movement on October 13th, (the day set for the election to vote $150,000 worth of bonds for that purpose), there will be good roads constructed leading into Wichita Falls from four directions.

Because Texas' member of the National Democratic Executive Committee is opposed to the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson, it must not be inferred that a majority of Texas Democrats are of that way of thinking. For instance, Culberson and fourteen of the eighteen members of congress, twenty-three of the thirty-one State senators and eighty-seven of the 183 members of the House of Representatives favor Wilson, and are leading his fight in Texas.

HAS SPENT 50 YEARS BEHIND WALL OF A CLOISTER

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 21.—Fifty years behind the walls of a cloister is the experience of Sister Euphrasia of the Ursuline Convent in this city. During a half century, she has never broken the cloister by leaving the grounds of the convent. In honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the acceptance of vows one day of religious and social celebration will be held at the Ursuline Convent, October 21. Sister Euphrasia came to the convent fifty-two years ago on October 21, and became an aspirant for the veil and two years later took the vow. She is a marked favorite among the alumnae membership because of her many years as supervisor of the dining room and close contact with the pupils.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 21.—Returns from the statewide prohibition election were revised today when the Hall county vote came in. It was necessary to consider the Hall county vote as it did not reach the capital until this morning. However, it was thought best to consider it to prevent a question being raised. This county gave the pros 845, and the anti 263, leaving an anti majority in the state of 6,297, the amendment receiving 231,096 votes and 237,393 against.

HER HAIR GREW.

That's Why a Thankful Woman Recommends Parisian Sage.

O. F. Marchman will sell you a fifty cent bottle of PARISIAN SAGE and guarantee it to banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp, or money back. It's a delightful hair dressing that makes hair lustrous and fascinating.

"In the spring I was recovering from a severe case of erysipelas which left me virtually bald on the front of my head and next to my ears. The hair kept coming out rapidly and nothing I used stopped my getting entirely bald, until I used two bottles of PARISIAN SAGE. This tonic made my hair start to grow in and in fact, grew me a good fair amount of hair, and it has entirely stopped my hair falling out. It is with pleasure that I give a public recommendation to PARISIAN SAGE, which I know is a wonder." Mrs. Ella Gilchrist, W. Pitt St., Bedford, Pa.

Earth from Evil Man's Grave Used on Complaining Subject

The use of earth from a wicked man's grave and the burning of dead by poisons in the cure of disease and as weapons against the spirits of darkness has caused complaints of theft and vagrancy to be filed against a Fort Worth clairvoyant who claims for herself unusual powers.

The filing of the complaints followed revelations made by a woman who had been the victim of the clairvoyant's methods to the amount of $180, all the money she possessed or could borrow.

The victim told the officers and the county attorney's assistant a strange story. She is a widow and was engaged to marry a man out West when he died suddenly. About the same time her little son's hand was cut off in a street car accident. Upon the advice of a friend she went to the clairvoyant, convinced that she was beset by the forces of evil.

The clairvoyant strengthened her faith that spirits of darkness threatened her. The clairvoyant said that there were four spirits who had conspired against her, but not to fear, she could overcome the evil forces. The clairvoyant's first act was to provide a flannel suit for the child. The garment was held in the fumes of burning arsenic, and over burning earth taken, so the clairvoyant said, from the grave of a wicked man.

While the operation was in process, the clairvoyant recited a wierd incantation against the evil spirits. The victim said that a cure was guaranteed.

When months had elapsed, without the child being improved in its physical condition, and without any change to better fortune, the complainant asked for a portion of her $180 back.

Then the clairvoyant threatened the victim with the same evil spirits which she had attempted to placate in spite of the dire threats and a note pinned to her door Monday morning, the victim put the story in the hands of the officers. The warrants have not yet been served on the clairvoyant.

Dizziness Due To Various Causes.

(By Gordon Lloyd, M. D.)

Swimming in the head, or vertigo, may be due to twenty different causes. To name but a few of these, there are ocular vertigo, gastric vertigo, nasal vertigo, anemia of the brain, hysterical vertigo and vertigo due to congestion of the brain.

But perhaps the most persistent and intense dizziness is due to the disease of the inner ear. Connected with this part of the ear in the wall of the skull are three small canals partially filled with fluid. When the body is leaned one way or the other the relation of this fluid to the cavities containing it is changed and nerves connecting these canals with the brain convey to the brain an impression or sensation indicative of the leaning position assumed by the body. Thus we are able to keep our balance in the dark or with our eyes closed, since nature has provided us with this unique balancing or leveling apparatus.

Now anything which unduly disturbs these canals produces a false sensation of movement and consequent dizziness. For example, if one swirls around on the heel, as children sometimes do, dizziness results, because the fluid in the balancing canals is set in motion and continues to flow after the body has ceased to revolve.

That part of the brain to which the nerves pass from the balancing canals must remain normal if the individual is to be free from dizziness. Any change in the blood flowing through this brain center may bring on vertigo. Thus when a woman faints she becomes dizzy and loses her balance because most of the blood has left the brain and not enough is passing through the balancing center to insure normal action. Likewise too much blood in the brain by flooding this center produces vertigo.

GATES REMEMBERED MANY IN HIS WILL

WILL FILED FOR PROBATE AT BEAUMONT—WEALTH ESTIMATED AT FIVE MILLION

TEN THOUSAND FOR VALET

Widow Gets a Good Share and Nearly Every Member of Millionaire's Family is Remembered.

Beaumont, Texas, Sept. 21.—Today in the probate court of Jefferson county, Texas, the last will and testament of the late John W. Gates was made on record, and while the application places the value of the estate at "over $5,000,000" that figure is simply used as a formality, as the estate will no doubt inventory many times that amount. The document, which consists of over forty pages, was made in New York and dated March 18, 1911, while a codicil dated May 29, 1911, was made the day previous to his sailing for Paris, where he died August 9, 1911. The will is witnessed by Harry B. Moore of Tarrytown, George Strauss Merrick of East Orange and John P. Seffertin of New York City, while the codicil bears the signatures of A. C. Miegietta, F. W. McCutcheon, and Ben Leray Stowell.

Mrs. Delora L. Gates, the wife and Charles C. Gates, the son, are named as the sole executrix and executor of the estate.

He bequeaths to his wife, Delora Gates, his home and residence at Port Arthur, consisting of about seven acres of land and all buildings thereon, and appurtenances thereunto, including all furniture, bric-a-brac, gold and silver plated wares, china and household goods, also stable and garage at 103 West 52nd street New York City, together with all automobiles and appurtenances belonging thereunto; also all furniture, etc., of every kind and character in his apartments and living quarters at the Plaza hotel in New York City. To his wife he also bequeaths all paintings that he may be possessed of, she to have and to hold during her natural life, and upon her death the paintings are to revert to the son, Charles G. Gates. Any of the paintings can be sold however, by the wife upon the consent of the son.

The deceased bequeaths to Edward J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., brother of Mrs. Gates, the farm near St. Charles being the farm on which he now resides.

Some of the Bequests.

The executors are also instructed to release and cancel any notes which the deceased may hold against him at the time of his demise and in addition bequeaths him the sum of $25,000.

To Harriet R. Baker, his wife, he bequeaths the sum of $25,000.

To his son, Henry R. Baker, he leaves $10,000.

To Henry R. Baker, he leaves $240,000 additional upon his attaining the age of 30 years, provided he shall before that time have been through some college or university of standing.

To Frank R. Angell of St. Charles Ill., the deceased leaves $1,000.

To his wife, Delora R. Gates and her successors, he leaves $100,000 in trust, to be invested and the income from same to be paid quarterly to Laverne J. Angell, wife of Frank R. Angell, so long as she shall live, and upon her death the principle is to be paid to her daughter, Delora F. Angell, at her attaining the age of 25 years.

S. W. Gates of Durand, Mich., is granted for life the farm on which he now resides and upon his death he bequeaths the farm in fee-simple to William R. Gates, his son, who resides at Flint, Mich., also to William R. Gates, the deceased leaves the sum of $10,000.

To Craig F. Cullinan of Houston is left the sum of $25,000 if he attains the age of 25 years, and to John H. Cullinan of Houston is left the sum of $25,000 under the same stipulation.

To Mrs. Henry E. Evans, of Brooklyn, N. Y., $10,000.

To his friends, J. S. Cullinan of Houston, John J. Mitchell of Chicago and James C. Hutchens of Chicago, $10,000.

$10,000 For the Valet

To F. W. Kruger, the valet of Mr. Gates, is left the sum of $10,000.

To R. H. Woodworth, of Port Arthur, is bequeathed the sum of $25,000.

To W. L. Warnell, of Port Arthur, $10,000.

To Charles E. Herman is left the sum of $10,000 provided he is in the employ of "Moose Mountain Ltd." at the time of Mr. Gates' death. To Gillison C. Lott, private secretary, $3,000 and $10,000 additional for each year after March 1, 1911, that he may be in the employ of deceased.

To Nathan Bennett, the butler of deceased $5,000 if still in the employ at time of demise.

To Mrs. Augusta Gates Tuttle of Alma, Mich., $1,000.

To the Methodist Episcopal board of education of New York City for the use of the college institute $50,000.

To the Mary Gates hospital at Port Arthur, Texas, $100,000 of the United States Realty and Improvement Company bonds, bonds to be deposited in the First National Bank at Port Arthur, and that bank to act as administrator.

To Charles G. Gates, his son, $1,000,000 is bequeathed.

All property over and above the bequests is bequeathed to his wife.

A Home For the Aged.

In the codicil a bequest is revoked, in which the deceased had stipulated that in case he survived the wife and son $3,000,000 of his estate should go to build the John W. Gates home for the aged at West Chicago, Ill.

By the codicil that portion of the will providing for a trust fund for the son Charles G. Gates, is withdrawn and leaves the will as the law would provide.

That portion of the will which named John J. Mitchell and James C. Hutchens of Chicago, and J. S. Cullinan of Houston as an advisory board is withdrawn.

What is This

ANSWER

One—the flat, sad, sickly looking one—was baked with poor baking powder; possibly the high-priced kind—possibly the cheap, big can kind. It denotes a lack of leavening gas, or an uneven distribution of same—or both. The other—the large, light, fluffy one—was prepared with Calumet Baking Powder, and denotes the never-failing, delicious baking that always results from its use.

Calumet does not cost as much as the high price baking powder, but it is very much superior in every way—it is purer—more reliable—more healthful. Here are the reasons:

All baking powders undergo a chemical change in the process of baking. You do not take it into the stomach in the same form as it is in the can. For example: When you use Cream of Tartar Baking Powder you get Rochelle Salts in your food, because the Cream of Tartar during this reaction turns into Rochelle Salts. This, as you know, is a drug, and should be taken only under doctor's orders.

Calumet is so carefully and scientifically prepared that the neutralization of the ingredients is absolutely perfect.

That it is absolutely pure and of highest quality is proven by the fact that have come in from England. This first clause, therefore, of the free-list bill offers no boon to the farmers at all, although apparently drawn for the purpose of inducing them to think so. It does contain some very general words at the close of the specially mentioned articles which by interpretation might be made to include 150 different articles used on the farm, but used in other vocations also. And these articles—the hammers, the tools, the cutlery and the machinery of various kinds—are now dutiable under the metal schedule. To admit them under this clause would be to destroy entirely the symmetry of the metal schedule and produce such a confusion as to seriously interfere with the administration of the tariff act.

PRESIDENT DEFENDS TARIFF VETOES

Another clause provides for the admission of barbed-wire fencing free, and then all wire and other material which could be used for fencing, and includes wire rods and wire rope. To let in barbed-wire fencing alone would be unimportant to producers, but the framing of the amending clause is such that if it were to go into law it would have a serious effect upon the metal schedule and would utterly destroy the principle which was followed in its framing and would make free of duty some of the most highly wrought articles under the metal schedule not used by farmers at all. Then there is a clause admitting jute and cotton bagging free, and materials from which made, which would allow common cotton cloth to come in free for any purpose, although under the cotton schedule, even as proposed to be amended by this Congress cotton cloth is to pay a certain amount of duty. The bill also puts boots and shoes of all kinds on the free list. It did not put on the free list, except some kinds of leather, the materials which went into shoes. In other words, it put on the free list the finished product and continued the tax on raw materials. This would be such a burden on our manufacturers that its injustice must appeal to everyone. The fact is that under the Dingley bill imported shoes were taxed 25 per cent ad valorem, while in the Payne bill the duty was reduced from 25 per cent to 10 per cent the duty on hides was reduced from 15 per cent to nothing, and the duty on leather was reduced to 5 per cent. No evidence was taken as to what effect this putting of shoes on the free list would have on the very highly important shoe industry of the country, and as it violated the first principle of justice in a tariff, namely, of putting the finished product on the free list and taxing the materials, it did not and could not commend itself to one who was pledged to the support of a moderate protective tariff.

"Finally, the free list has two clauses affecting meat and flour. As they went through the House they put meat on the free list and flour on the free list. In the Senate, however, an amendment was put on limiting the operation of these two clauses to imports from those countries with which we have a reciprocal relation and which admit certain agricultural products of ours free. This limitation made Canada the only country which would be affected by the provisions of the clause. Now, in our negotiations with Canada for reciprocity we attempted to secure free meat and free flour. Canada would not consent to this, because she feared the effect of our competition with her meat and flour. This showed that importations of meat and flour from Canada without duty would not have any effect to lower the price in this country of either in normal times. But this free-list bill was giving to Canada something for nothing. This Congress at the close of the act approving the Canadian reciprocity agreement directed me to continue negotiations and expand its terms, and yet in these provisions it proposed to deprive me of using the concessions of free meat and free flour to secure concessions from Canada. Thus the bill was so loosely drawn, it was drawn on such a wrong principle, and with so little information, and it purported to do so many things which it did not do, that I had no hesitation in vetoing it.

"Finally, the cotton bill came to me. This bill differed from the others in being a bill for which the Democrats alone, and not the insurgent Republicans were responsible. It had passed the House on the report of the Ways and Means Committee made without the taking of any evidence of persons interested in the manufacturer or anyone else; it had completely changed the method of classifying cottons, classifying them according to the threads in the yarn instead of by the threads of the piece and the specific duty upon the square yard, as in the present bill. This was a most important change, and it had been adopted after an informal communication in writing with the Bureau of Standards and after an adverse report by the Treasury experts. The bill was adopted avowedly as a free-trade bill by the House. It came to the Senate and was passed in the form in which it passed the House except that certain amendments were added. One was an amendment cutting down the metal schedule by a sweeping reduction of 30 per cent, and the other was an amendment of the chemical schedule with a purported reduction ad valorem of 25 per cent.

We will be open during the fall season until 10 o'clock. Phone 80.

So hastily was the bill thrown together, so little attention was paid to the consideration of it in the Senate, especially in the chemical schedule, that the most ludicrous results were reached. In the first place, although the amendments radically changed the metal and chemical schedules, no change was made in the title, which still read "An act to reduce duties on cotton manufacturers." An amendment was introduced in order to make certain that in the cotton and chemical schedules there must be a reduction of all rates to not more than 20 per cent ad valorem, but it was so placed in the act that by its language it could only apply to goods already in the customhouse, upon which duty had not been paid. The calculations by which the specific duties in the chemical schedule were transmitted into ad valorem rates and then reduced 25 per cent were exceedingly faulty. The Senator who proposed the reductions said that he had secured the services of a statistician at the Treasury Department, who had done the work as he told him to do it, and that that was all he knew about it.

"Senator Williams, a Democratic member of the Committee on Finance of the Senate, objected to this method of adopting a most important schedule. The chemical schedule is the first schedule in the list. It has 35 items, and of these 66 have specific duties. It affects many millions of imports. Nevertheless, the bill went through, and it went back to the House and was submitted to two days' examination by the Ways and Means Committee of that body.

"Then it passed the House under a rule that permitted no amendment whatever. I had the bill examined by experts, especially with respect to the chemical schedule, and even in the very short time I had, I found the greatest confusion produced by the amendment. Upon a number of the articles the reduction was greatly more than the proposed 25 per cent, reaching in some cases 75 and 100 per cent, and on other articles, instead of being a decrease, there was an increase all the way from 5 to 100 per cent. The bill was supposed to be a concession to the North Carolina cotton interests, and to be intended to cheapen the bleaching, dyeing, and coloring materials needed in that business. The very contrary effect of the bill as amended was that instead of reducing the duty on bleaching powder 25 per cent, it increased 40 per cent. But even a more serious defect

YOUNG MAN

When you don the tall silk headgear, the snow colored trousers and the coat that says all there and says forth to worry the fair one with a line of conversation that would give a parrot the headache don't forget that the credentials for recognition is a box of ALLEGRETTI'S Chocolates fifty cents the pony and a dollar the pound. Don't faint, Adam paid more for apples.

Take a box with you. It's the only thing to do else it might be rumored in keen society that you did not belong.

EVERY DAY ACCIDENTS

They are bound to happen more or less frequently in every family. The wise housewife is always provided for them. Not only is it possible to relieve pain at once, but an injury properly and promptly treated will be well and forgotten when otherwise it would still be painful and annoying. Ask us about "first aids for the injured," they are inexpensive, save suffering and may save their cost many times in doctor's bills.
