Wind, hail wipe out more crops

Warning signals

Here are the siren signals for Dimmitt, Hart and Nazareth. For your family's safety, clip and post in your home, or have every member of your family memorize the signals for your community:

DIMMITT

TORNADO—Three long blasts, then a pause, then three long blasts, then a pause. Series continues for 15 minutes.

FIRE—Seven blasts of six seconds each.

PRACTICE—Two long blasts, usually around 7:30 Thursday evenings.

NAZARETH

TORNADO—Trucks are dispatched around town individually, with sirens going and warning announced over the trucks' loud-speaker systems.

FIRE—Firetrucks are together or close to each other, going in the same direction.

FIRE DEPT. PHONE NUMBER: 945-2219. (New number.)

HART

TORNADO WATCH—Three long blasts.

TORNADO APPROACHING—One long blast.

FIRE—Four or more short blasts of approximately six seconds each.

PRACTICE—Two short blasts.

An early-morning storm with wind gusts estimated at 80 miles per hour and heavy hail damaged or completely destroyed crops in the northern sector of Castro County Saturday. The storm, which began at approximately 1:15 a.m., also dropped up to three inches of rain in some parts of the county.

Although the hail was described as small, its force stripped some fully-grown corn and grain sorghum down to the ground. The combined winds and hail destroyed hundreds of acres of cotton and the wind damaged onion crops by blowing off the soil.

Apparently the hardest hit by the deluge was an area northeast of Dimmitt. Cotton and onion crops were totally destroyed on the Tom Draper farm near Frio and 60 percent of the wheat was damaged.

Rachel Hunter, who owns a farm in the area, said the wind played a major role in the destruction.

"The wind was a bigger factor in a lot of places than the hail," she said.

"The wind was terrific," she said, adding, "it broke limbs and things and we estimate it at 80 miles per hour."

The entire cotton crop on Mrs. Hunter's farm was destroyed and part of her sugar beet crops were damaged. The total tonnage will be hurt, she said, but they will come back up.

In addition to the heavy winds and hail, the storm dumped a large amount of rain on the area.

"It practically filled Jumbo lake and it rained two to three inches," Mrs. Hunter said. Winds were so high on the Bob Simpson place that a tree was uprooted, according to Simpson's son, Scott.

Approximately 600 acres of cotton was destroyed by hail on the Donald Wright farm. According to Sheri Wright Kenworthy, the acreage will be replanted in sunflowers.

According to Charley Hill of the county ASCS office, "it didn't get a whole lot in our county, but what it got, it got real bad."

"It beat grain sorghum even with the ground on one farm," he said, adding, "there was a corn crop a good shoulder high and it broke off within ten inches from the ground."

Gene King of Easter Grain reported cotton crops were the hardest hit in that area. Other crops, although damaged, will probably come out of it, he said.

Also hit by the wind was the Huggins Addition east of Dimmitt. Bundled shingles on the roof of Robert C. Lay's home were torn loose and scattered in all directions from the house.

Tar paper was blown from the roof of the Don Carpenter home and they suffered water leakage.

At the Bob Sheffy home northeast of Dimmitt, boards that had been nailed to the windows were blown off by the wind's force.

A door at one end of their mobile home was blown open and the wind even blew clothes out of the home. At their nearby animal pens, the wind blew over a sheet metal windbreak and did heavy damage to parts of the pens.

"It's the hardest wind we've ever had here, but I think it was just a straight wind," Mildred Sheffy said.

Nazareth's German Folk Festival, featuring plenty of music, dancing and German sausage, is set for Saturday and will include the "First Annual Outhouse Race" in addition to the usual festivities.

The race, held this year for the first time and coordinated by Cecil Wilhelm, will feature two outhouses on wheels, complete with occupant. Two teams per race, 12 teams total, will compete from 7 to 9 p.m. on a hill west of Nazareth.

Teams are composed of six people — three pushers, two pullers and one sitter. Entries are being accepted at Kern Supply, phone 945-2211 or Home Mercantile, phone 945-2633. Teams from across the county are urged to compete and can use their company names or the name of their choice.

The team with the best time will be awarded a miniature outhouse.

A free outdoor concert outside the community hall will kick off the day's activities. Local musicians are scheduled to play throughout the day until 8 p.m. Area bands and individual musicians can still participate in the concert by calling 945-2505.

The dancing begins at 1 p.m. in the Legion Hall with a round dance called by Les and Alberta Grumke.

Nazareth's Art Club will sponsor a show and sale in the cafeteria from 1 to 7:30 p.m. Area artists will display their paintings and craft items in booths and interested artists can reserve space by phoning Lucille Drerup at 945-2562.

Square dancing will start at 3 p.m. in the Legion Hall with callers Herreck and Bonnie Allen. The square dancing will continue through 4:30.

The Nazareth and Dimmitt fire departments will face off at 3:30 with a game of water polo. The action will be held at Nazareth's fire station.

German sausage with all the trimmings will be served in the community hall from 4 to 7 p.m., sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of Nazareth.

The meal includes sausage and sauerkraut, cold potato salad, relish dish, corn, homemade bread, German chocolate cake and apple crisp for $3.50 per person.

The German Festival dance featuring the Rough Riders of Nazareth will top off the day's events. The action starts at 9 p.m. and will continue through 1 a.m. in the community hall.

Gasohol now available from local distributor

Dimmitt's first gasohol is receiving "a lot of response" according to Al Gibbs, manager of Dimmitt Consumers, the wholesale buyers of the fuel. A 2,000 gallon shipment was delivered Thursday from Friona Consumers and according to Gibbs, they plan to sell the fuel on a regular basis.

At $1.25 per gallon, the gasohol costs slightly more than the $1.22 charge for regular gasoline and $1.24 for unleaded. So far, sales are to individuals and not to farms.

"The way we're buying it now, we're just selling it through the pump. We hope to set it up later on so we can take it to the farm," Gibbs said.

The Friona Farmland Industries distributor is mixing the gasohol, composed of 90 percent gasoline and 10 percent ethanol. Farmland Industries, based in the northern U.S., is supplier of the gasohol.

Actual benefits to automobiles from the gasohol vary according to the type of car and the owner.

"We've had one fella come in here and fill up and he claimed he got three to five more miles per gallon," Gibbs said.

Gibbs said he and the Friona distributor decided months ago to share the first gasohol shipment received by either of the coops. Friona received its gasohol shipment last week and delivered part of the fuel to Dimmitt Consumers.

Another shipment is expected, "as soon as we need it," Gibbs said.

"I suppose we may buy some through Farmland ourselves, but we'll wait until we see the response," he added.

Emergency preparedness

Session yields lifesaving tips

In case of a tornado, the most important thing you and your family can do is to be self-sufficient. Have your emergency plan ready in advance.

Should a tornado strike, the first and most important job of the city and county governments is search and rescue. Public officials, firemen, Civil Defense volunteers, hospital personnel, utility companies, communications media and others must know their assignments in advance, because in a panic situation you can't afford to spend life-saving time trying to get organized.

These were two of the main points brought out at the public Civil Defense meeting Friday night in the city hall meeting room. The meeting was called to update the Emergency Preparedness Plan which the county and its three cities have had for several years.

Other life-saving tips brought out at the meeting:

—Don't go too far to shelter; more than half the people killed in tornadoes are those running or driving to shelter. One of the safest things to do is to stay in your own home—go to a central point, under a heavy table, away from windows; or to a central hallway; or into a ground-floor closet. Take a battery-operated radio with you if possible so you can keep up with the emergency broadcast and know when the all-clear has been sounded.

—The best tornado shelters are cellars, basements, underground excavations, and steel-framed or reinforced concrete buildings. Mobile homes and cars are particularly vulnerable to tornado damage.

—Pea-size hail during a thunderstorm isn't serious. But when hail reaches golf-ball size or bigger, it's a sure sign that there's a tornado in the system, whether you see it or not.

—A tornado doesn't come out of the "shelf cloud" of a system; it comes out of the "wall cloud"—the part with the towering peaks. Once a "drop cloud" below these peaks starts rotating, a tornado could come out of it at any time. If you can identify the formation, you won't have to wait until you see a funnel to know to head for cover.

—To report any emergency situation—tornado, ruptured ammonia tank, explosion or whatever—call the Sheriff's Office at 647-3311. This call will put the Emergency Preparedness program into effect. Approximately 30 persons from throughout the county attended Friday night's meeting which started with the showing of a documentary film on the tornadoes that struck Wichita Falls, Vernon and Lawton.

Heading the discussion were County Judge M. L. Simpson, who is the chief of Emergency Preparedness; Dimmitt Mayor Elmer Youts; Dimmitt Police Chief Ronald Mitchell; and Sam Killough, base operator for the CB Club's Storm Watch service.

Reporting on the Storm Watch program, Killough said the Lucky 7 CB Club has 12 dependable spotters in the immediate Dimmitt vicinity, and that there are 24 to 26 throughout the county, all equipped with CB radios, who station themselves to monitor storm systems and relay information.

"Everything we get, we turn over to the Sheriff's Office, and let them take it from there," Killough reported.

Killough said the CB Club also sponsors an emergency preparedness program before tornado season each year.

"We've tried for years to get people in to hear the programs and see the films, which we bring as a public service," Killough said. "But we usually have only 40 to 50 people, and it's usually the same ones."

Simpson reported that a siren for the Summerfield community had just been delivered, but that the county's other cities and communities are still waiting for theirs. The new sirens, which are intended to provide a better warning system for more of the county's people, are being purchased through the state with federal Revenue Sharing funds, and most have been on order two

Church roof costs will curl thy hair

Repair costs from the recent hail storms are now beginning to add up for local businesses and churches. Many firms have not yet begun to total the damages and others are still waiting to check bids.

The greatest roof damage reported so far has been the First Baptist Church. The estimates for the roofing job have ranged from $100,000 to $150,000, said Rev. John Street. Roofers will have to come from Amarillo or Lubbock to reshingle the steep slopes of the roof.

Amstar plans to replace roofs, skylights, vehicle windshields and pipe insulation. The cost is estimated at $70,000 to $80,000. Goodpasture reported about $5,000 worth of damage to roofs, skylights and to the side of a cooling tower.

Plains Memorial Hospital will have to be re-roofed at a cost of $40,000, hospital administrator Jack Newsom said. The County estimates that the damage to Rhoads Memorial Library, the Exposition Building and the Court-house will be close to $24,000.

Other area churches have not received their bids yet. The First United Methodist Church plans to replace their slate shingles. The Fourth and Bedford Church of Christ has requested bids, but has not opened them yet. The Holy Family Catholic Church is waiting to hear from their insurance company about the tornado damage which knocked off shingles and broke windows.

Class of '40 reunion set

The Dimmitt High School Class of 1940 will hold its 40th Class Reunion Saturday. It will be held at the Senior Citizens Center, beginning at 3 p.m.

Irene Bradley said that all are invited to come to the reunion and visit old friends.

County property tax bills due to go up

County residents will pay more property taxes this year, but how much more remains to be seen.

During an all-day budget session Monday, the commissioners' court decided it would have to increase the county's property-tax income to offset losses of some federal Revenue Sharing funds and state lateral roads funds.

The county governing board already had approved a doubling of the property tax assessment ratio—from 18% of market value to 36%. And Monday, the commissioners considered hiking the ratio even more, to 54%. But they finally chose to adjust the tax rate instead, to produce the additional revenue they feel the county will need for the coming year.

The new tax rate will be controlled in part by state guidelines for county roads and ad valorem taxes. The rate will be set when the budget is officially adopted—probably July 14.

Before the adoption, though, property owners will have a chance to visit with the Board of Equalization Monday in the commissioners' court room, starting at 10 a.m., and at the final hearing at the July 14 adoption meeting.

Commissioners reviewed the county's expenditures and found a 12% increase this year, which auditor Harold Irlbeck of Tulsa said was small compared with the inflation rate.

The commission awarded roofing contracts to North Plains Roofing of Amarillo for $6,000 for the Rhoads Memorial Library; to Daryl McLain of Hart for $8,750 for the Exposition Building; and to Leaway Roofing of Hereford for $9,500 for the Court-house.

Commissioners also approved a bid of $1,012 from Elmer Schulte for a back hoe.

The governing board learned that it had no jurisdiction over the Sunday sale of beer and wine. The Alcoholic Beverage Commission has the authority to change the law or the county can enact ordinances to permit the sale, said Jimmy Davis, county attorney.

The board also heard a request from Sheriff-elect Joe Ben Mitchell for a salary increase for the deputies and for an additional deputy on the force. The Central Plains Mental Health-Mental Retardation Center also requested an increase in its allocation. Both matters will be taken up during the final discussion on the budget.

Percy Parsons, owner of Parsons Funeral Home, met with the commissioners about the burial of indigents. The board decided to hear from other funeral homes and set the policy for indigents at a later date.

The board approved a petition by Rickey Byers to exchange one tract of land to the Springlake-Earth school District from the Dimmitt School District. The commissioners had denied the petition when it was first filed in the spring, but approved it Monday "for legal reasons" after adding a sentence to make it clear that they still didn't like the exchange.

JIMMIE CHAPMAN is ready to start a "dream trip" to Europe, courtesy of Trans-World Airlines, after being named a winner in TWA's "Win the World" contest. In one hand, Chapman holds his passport, airline tickets, TWA flight bag, Eurail schedule and travel brochures. In the other hand, he holds the newspaper ad that prompted him to enter the nationwide contest.

Man wins TWA dream trip

Are you one of those people who never win anything?

Well, take heart. So was Jimmie Chapman—until he entered Trans-World Airlines' "Win the World" contest last April.

He won a free round trip to any part of Europe or the Middle East served by TWA.

He'll leave July 18 on an 11-day round trip to England, Germany and Austria.

"I had never won anything before, except for a baseball pot or two," said Chapman, who is the shop foreman of the Castro County News.

Responding to a TWA newspaper ad, Chapman mailed in a self-addressed envelope last April, and got back a card with three "rub-off" spots on it. He rubbed off the overprint, and bingo—he had the right combination.

Then came the delightful dilemma of choosing the place to go.

He had already seen much of the Eastern Hemisphere, courtesy of Uncle Sam, as a US Marine during World War II. He chose Europe, with most of his time to be spent in Germany.

"Many of my best friends here are of German background, and Germany is the birthplace of the printing press," said Chapman, who has been a printer for 34 years. "I'll get to see the Gutenberg Museum in Heidelberg, and see the press which he used to produce the first printed Bible. And I'll be given a tour of the Heidelberg press factory, where one of our presses here at the News was built."

He'll leave July 18 from Amarillo Airport. At Kansas City, he'll board a TWA 747, which will touch down in Chicago, then fly direct to London.

In London, he has reservations at the Charles Dickens Inn—six blocks from Buckingham Palace. He'll spend three days and two nights in England's capital, then will fly to Frankfurt.

He'll board the Eurail in Frankfurt for Heidelberg, where he'll spend a day. Then he plans to visit relatives of the Fred Bruegel family in Munich and Nuremberg, then travel by rail to Augsburg, Salsburg and Vienna. Todo del Munda Travel Agency in Amarillo worked out his itinerary for him.

He'll catch his return flight at Vienna July 28. After touchdowns at London and New York and an overnight stop in St. Louis, he'll be back home July 29.

And that may not be the end of it. He's still in the running for TWA's grand prize—a free round trip for two, every year for the rest of his life.

TAKIN' IT EASY—This sight was almost as common as the ropers and riders Sunday afternoon at Nazareth's Fourth Annual Country Rodeo and Wild West Show. Observers, like the cowboy above, escaped to the shade, relaxed and watched the festivities.

YOUNGEST SURVIVING PUPPY—King Leroy, a four month old pomeranian, is held by his owner Paula Powers. The puppy is the youngest to survive the intestinal virus, canine parvoviral enteritis, which has claimed the lives of many local dogs.

Puppy's life credited to local veterinarian

Paula Powers received an unusual Mother's Day present from her family but she thinks she received an even bigger one from Dr. Ron Easley, a local veterinarian.

"See me for car home, life, health and business insurance"

Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there.

Her present, a registered toy pomeranian named King Leroy, contracted canine parvoviral enteritis May 15 and after weeks of medication, IV's and tender loving care, beat the odds to become the only surviving puppy his age.

Mrs. Powers, a nurse at South Hills Manor, credits Dr. Easley with saving King's life.

"If it hadn't been for him, I don't think King would have survived," she said. The intestinal disease which has spread to an unknown number of Dimmitt dogs during the past two months, is usually fatal to puppies. Older dogs have a greater chance of survival, especially if the disease is caught in its early stages.

A neighbor's dog caught the disease, Mrs. Powers said, and when King showed some of the symptoms, she immediately took him to the veterinary clinic. King and the neighbor's dog were the first two diagnosed cases in Dimmitt.

Mrs. Powers brought King to the clinic and he was given a shot. After he showed no sign of improvement, she took him back to the clinic the next day and he remained "hospitalized" for one week. King's condition was "touch and go" for awhile, Mrs. Powers said. King received intravenous fluids to prevent dehydration, in addition to antibiotics.

King's condition gradually improved enough so that he could go home. Dr. Easley phoned every day to check on the puppy, Mrs. Powers said.

After three weeks, King was "back to normal." "He's very feisty," Mrs. Powers said.

Other veterinarians might not have given King the personal attention he received from Dr. Easley, Mrs. Powers said.

"I think he deserves something special because he cared," she said.

Local church dedication set for Sunday

The Church of God of Prophecy will hold its dedication Sunday at 2:30 p.m. with guest speaker Rev. Lefoy Parker of Abilene, the West Texas overseer of the church.

The dedication will feature special music and other special guests.

Immediately following the service, a reception will be held for Rev. and Mrs. Don Price, pastor of the church. The Prices, who moved to Dimmitt in 1976, will leave this month. A new pastor will be appointed in July.

The public is invited to attend the dedication and reception.

Tech studies area tornados

The Texas Tech University department of atmospheric sciences is filming and studying tornados in the panhandle area.

This study may eventually lead to a better understanding of structures to prevent tornado damage, and help learn more about the winds associated with tornados by tracking debris, dust and cloud fragments.

Anyone having movies, slides or other information on tornados, the atmospheric sciences department would appreciate the information. For more details, contact Dr. Richard E. Peterson at (806) 742-3113.

A new book which some sill enjoy is "The Grouchophile." It is a photograph album narrated by Groucho Marx. Like many other photo books, "The Grouchophile" goes from the Marx Brothers days in vaudeville and through their stage career (when they were the Four Marx Brothers) to their film career with MGM (and they were the Three Marx Brothers).

There are dozens of movie books with the same sill. The photos have become familiar items. What makes this photo book better and more interesting is that it communicates through the pictures so many facts. Groucho's narrative is short but informative. With the words and the pictures both, the readers learn about life with the Marx Brothers. The reader learns, for example, that the movies weren't as much fun to make as they are to watch. The Marx Brothers, as a business team were as sharp in their dealings as they were with their comedy. They had to be. Even though they became the most prominent performers MGM had, much of their financial resources went to hiring the best comedy writers of the day and hiring the best comedy directors. As a result, all of their movies are very good and many are considered classic "screw-ball" comedy.

They had to buy it, however, every step of the way. Groucho has many things to say about his brothers and the people he worked with over the years. He makes them human. Many other photo books attempt the same result but never make it.

Speaking of photo books, I was in Oklahoma last week (taking my fill of Cherokee seven-course dinners, i.e. six packs and opossum) and found a rich color plate book about the scenery in Oklahoma. That was amazing to me. I didn't think Oklahoma had any scenery. From what I saw in the book, it still doesn't have any. The pictures are pretty, however. I expect the book to be available soon in local book stores. They'd be dandy gifts.

KRMIVA team and hosts tour irrigation site

Yugoslavian team tours Dimmitt area

By CONNIE NELSON
Members of a Yugoslavian grain utilization and processing team, KRMIVA, toured local feed grain production and storage facilities as well as irrigation sites last week as part of their nation-wide survey trip.

The group of five men and one woman are part of a 12-day tour co-sponsored by the Yugoslavian government and the U.S. Feed Grains Council. According to John Langwick, program coordinator of the U.S. Feed Grains Council in Washington, D.C., the purpose of the survey trip was to observe American technology in feed grain production and storage and apply this to projects now being developed in Yugoslavia.

Because of Yugoslavia's growing sophistication in livestock production, it has become a net exporter of grain and beef, Langwick said.

The KRMIVA team, Langwick and Y.F. Snodgrass of Abernathy, service director of the National Grain Sorghum Producers Association, toured several area feed lots, including Estacado Industries. The Yugoslavs also saw farmland irrigation west of Dimmitt.

The team arrived in Washington D.C. June 9 from Zagreb, Yugoslavia. There they were briefed on the feed-grain situation in the United States and then flew to Chicago. In Chicago, they observed methods for oxygen-limiting grain storage for moist grains.

According to Langwick, the Yugoslavian energy crisis is much greater than that in the United States, so the Yugoslavs must learn how to store grain on a high moisture basis.

From Chicago, the group left for the Midwest. They saw the newest in harvesting equipment at Deere and Co. in Moline, Ill. While in Des Moines, Iowa, they studied the chemical preservation of moist grains and forages.

In Manhattan Kansas, the KRMIVA team toured the International Grains Institute. They saw the model grain facility at the technological college there and studied energy conservation in grain processing and utilization as well as nutritional studies.

The team also surveyed livestock and poultry production from breeding to the marketing stages and visited scientific research centers devoted to improvements in the production of mixed feeds and meat.

The Yugoslavs and Langwick flew to Lubbock Tuesday, June 17, where they were met by Snodgrass, and drove to Dimmitt the next day. Following their tour of the Dimmitt area, the group returned to Lubbock and spent Thursday at Texas Tech University.

Dr. Bob Albin of Tech's Animal Science Department spoke to the group on the formulation and use of grain.

The group flew to New York Friday and home to Zagreb Saturday.

Members of the KRMIVA team include Mr. Neda Mijatovic, General Director of KRMIVA and team leader; Dr. Branko Markotic, Advisor for Science and Research of the UPI Kombinat (Coop) in Sarajevo; Mr. Milan Tomicic, Commercial Director of the PPK Kombinat in Valpovo and one of the founders of Yugoslavia's feed industry.

Also on the team are Mr. Ante Svalina, Nutritionist for AGROKOKA Kombinat in Zagreb; Mrs. Tajana Crnojevic, Assistant Professor of Animal Feeding, Faculty of Agriculture, Zagreb; and Mr. Mile Alekovski, director of the Sveti Nikole Feed Mill in Sveti

In other action June 17, the Couple at home in Abilene

Mr. and Mrs. Don Allen Davis are at home in Abilene following their evening wedding held June 7 in the Saturn Road Church of Christ in Garland.

The bride is the former Tania Beth McGann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McGann of Garland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duward F. Davis of Dimmitt.

Jerry McCaghren officiated the formal, double ring ceremony.

Potted ferns and palm trees decorated the church sanctuary and six candelabras on either side of an eighteen candle heart candelabra completed the centerpiece. Two large bouquets of gladiolas, daisies and butterfly mums were set in the center of the candelabras at the front of the church.

The church aisles were lined with potted mums while the pews were decorated with candles, white bows and English ivy. The unity candle used by the couple was decorated with English ivy.

Summer Renee McGann of Garland served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Debra Davis of Weatherford, Cyndy Davis of Garland, Lisa Davis, sister of the groom, of Dimmitt, Cindy Bell of Richardson and Petsy Duhon of Houston, cousin of the bride.

The groom's brother, Kelly Joe Davis of Dimmitt, was best man. Groomsmen were Jay Singleton of Weatherford, Danny Logsdon of Beaumont, Fred Allen of Fort Worth, Ed Alred of Abilene and Wes Phillips of Austin.

The bride's cousins, Steve Estes of Port Arthur and David Estes of Lake Charles, Louisiana were candle-lighters.

Tommy Burns of Garland was ring bearer and Heather Taylor, cousin of the bride, of

Mrs. Don Allen Davis

Orange, was flower girl.

Guests were seated by David Estes, Steve Estes, Danny Logsdon and Ed Alred. "Hissingers" from Abilene Christian University sang "If Ever I Would Leave You," "First Time Ever I Saw Your Face," "One Hand-One Heart," "Lord's Prayer," and "God Bless you Go With God."

Other musical selections were provided by James and Nancy Taylor who sang "You Needed Me," and by the bride's mother who sang "Sunrise, Sunset" to the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress featuring a Queen Anne neckline. The accordion-pleated lower skirt encompassed the chapel-length train. Her headpiece was lined with pleats and was accented with matching lace from the dress. It featured a fingertip veil.

The bride wore her maternal grandmother's pearls. She carried a large cascade of white butterfly orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

The bridesmaids wore dresses of crepe de chine in a shade of deep rose. The dresses had low draping backs and skirts which flowed in a straight line from the waist. The bodices were blousant and the sleeves were fitted.

Bouquets of various shapes of roses, stephanotis and baby's breath made from gumpaste by the bride's mother were carried by the bridesmaids.

The reception was held following the ceremony in the Saturn Road Family Center. The bride's cake of seven tiers was designed and decorated by the bride's mother. Gumpaste flowers matching those carried by the bridesmaids decorated the cake. Two white doves topped the cake and the second tier featured a ceramic bride and groom made especially for the couple.

Two tables were arranged with pink daisies, roses, carnations and white iris. The groom's table featured a German chocolate cake topped with sugar coated fruit. Sausage balls, cheese

An Open Letter to All Savers and Stockholders!

The U.S. Treasury Department is asking Congress to pass a law requiring that 15% of the interest you can earn on your savings account be withheld and sent to the Government before you ever see it.

If the savers of this nation let Congress know—without delay—that they oppose this proposal, then Congress will kill it. Otherwise, it is expected to become law this year.

We urge you to write to your Congressman and Senators without delay and object to this ill-advised proposal.

This proposal would saddle you (and also people who receive other forms of interest and dividend income, including earnings from stocks and bonds) with new tax forms, procedures and requirements. In millions of instances the tax sums involved would be inconsequential.

It would work a special hardship on the millions of people on fixed incomes who depend on interest from their savings accounts to help meet living expenses.

It would reduce the total return on your savings because when interest is withheld and sent to the government, you would lose part of the compounding effect that helps your savings account return a higher yield.

Though the Treasury Department says it will develop an exemption plan for some taxpayers, you would be required (if eligible) to file an exemption form with each bank and savings and loan association and with every other source of your interest and dividend income and keep that paperwork current.

Dear Congressman:

I am unalterably opposed to any form of withholding of interest or dividend income. The U.S. Treasury in particular and the U.S. government in general already penalizes savers and thrift and rewards spenders and non-savers.

We sincerely request that you use your influence and position to defeat this proposal.

Signed _____

The Treasury claims this withholding is needed to cut tax evasion through failure to declare interest and dividends. We know that you pay taxes on the interest you earn. None of us condones evading our fair share of taxes. But withholding on savings interest is unnecessary because the Treasury's Form 1099 system—the Information Return sent to you at the end of each year with a copy to the IRS—already gives the government the means for checking on those who don't pay their taxes.

Rather than impose a tax withholding plan on savings, and reduce the interest your deposits will earn, our nation needs further incentives to build savings—to provide the capital and jobs for a sound non-inflationary economic future. A recent law will let you exclude $200 from interest and dividend income (for single people) or $400 (for married couples) starting next year. That Congressional action is a sound first step toward encouraging savings.

We urge that you write your members of Congress—your representative in the U.S. House and your two U.S. Senators—now. Ask them not to complicate further our already over-complicated tax system. Ask them to vote against the withholding proposal.

Dimmitt's police department is back in full force for the first time since December according to Chief Ronnie Mitchell. Because of police resignations, including that of Alan Newman in January, the department ran on a skeleton staff until recently.

Five new patrolmen were hired in February along with Chief Mitchell. The only "veteran" on the force is Sergeant Dewayne Haney who has been a patrolman since 1977.

The police force consists of Chief Mitchell, Sgt. Haney, who is also uniform patrol supervisor and patrolmen Felix Balderas, Dale Johnson, Billy Ray Quillen, Emery Strother and Gary Gillespie, who is also the criminal investigative training officer. Most of the men were trained in Amarillo. Strother and Quillen will be certified this fall.

Social Security in Castro County

By JANICE B. ULMER

Earlier this month, Patricia Harris, Secretary of Health and Human Services (formerly Health, Education and Welfare), announced the results of a quality study on Social Security retirement and survivors insurance programs. According to the study the accuracy rate for the most recent period covered was 99.72 percent correct. That's all well and good, but just exactly what does this figure mean? Well, on a local level, individuals in the six counties serviced by the Plainview office receive about $30 million per year in benefits. These benefits go to retired workers, their dependents and the surviving dependents of deceased workers. Of this money, less than 1/2 of 1 percent is erroneously paid. Even one of the popular soap products on the market today claims to be 99 and 44/100 percent pure — or accurate, if you will. Even though the percentage of error is very small, it still results in overpayments to beneficiaries. The study revealed that the student beneficiary program is the source of nearly half the errors. These errors occur, for example, when students leave school, drop below full-time attendance, marry and fail to report it to social security. Another significant source of errors occurs when other beneficiaries marry and do not report it.

Although this was the first public announcement of our quality review system, it is not new to social security. We have had internal quality reviews for many years. In our efforts to increase accuracy and demonstrate our responsibility to the public we serve, the formal error rates have been developed. Similar quality assurance systems have been installed in all programs administered by the Social Security Administration. As information becomes available on the other programs, this column will pass it along. In the meantime, any questions concerning social security can be answered by phone. Our toll-free number is 1-800-392-1603. For Medicare claim information call 1-800-442-2620. Or if you wish to file a social security claim call the Plainview office collect, number 293-4371. The Social Security representative is in Dimmitt the first and third Thursday of each month from 10:00 to 12:00.

agri-facts

Arabic arithmetic may become a required course for American farmers. This special sort of mathematical learning is based on a very simple premise, "if you control a resource the rest of the world has to have, make sure they pay for it." American agricultural producers' ability to supply a large portion of the world's food has been responsible for a variety of new terms developed during the past few years . . . some even in the past few months. First . . . food power, then Agri-power . . . now, some politicians are talking about "agridollars." In balance of trade situation, the American public will benefit as long as the "agridollars" coming in equal or exceed the "petrodollars" going out. From that point the future looks bright . . . nearly everyone had rather run out of gas than groceries.

Workshop attendance labeled 'astounding'

Attendance during the Kid's Bible Workshop held last week at the Fourth and Bedford Church of Christ climbed steadily each day, topping 470 on the final day of the workshop.

The sessions, labeled "an astounding success" by pastor Dale Wells, were taught by the Bible Hour staff of the Garland Street Church of Christ in Plainview. Dozens of local adults helped with refreshments, supervision and transportation of the youngsters.

Five busses were used to bring in over 300 youngsters from preschool age through sixth grade.

"Our Kid's Bible Workshop was a greater success than any Vacation Bible School we've conducted in recent years," Dale Wells said.

Democrats:

'Let's have unity'

Eight people from Castro County attended the State Democratic Convention in San Antonio last weekend, where there was "unity behind President Carter," said Marilyn Higgins, who attended the convention.

Harold Bob Bennett, Castro County delegate, said there was not one main controversial issue of the convention, but many resolutions were discussed and reviewed.

Carl King was chosen as an alternate delegate to the National Democratic Convention in New York City in August.

In the presidential preference poll among the delegates, 65% supported President Carter, 22-24% were in favor of Ted Kennedy and 11% were uncommitted.

The 3,800 delegates heard speeches from John Hill, former attorney general and gubernatorial candidate in 1978, Bill Hobby, Lieutenant Governor, Congressman Rick Nolan from Mich., and presidential candidate Lyndon Larouche.

Castro County sent six voting delegates to the conclave that Mrs. Higgins said resembled a "miniature national convention that you see on television."

Republicans:

'Let's have unity'

The State Republican Convention theme of "Unity" held true throughout the two-day conclave held in Houston this past weekend, according to Castro County delegate Deanne Clark. Willie Faye Huseman and Becky Killingsworth also represented the county during the convention.

The convention was "very uneventful because people are really trying to unite behind the Republican Presidential hopeful—Ronald Reagan," Clark said.

The group heard speeches from New York Congressman Jack Kemp, Gov. Bill Clements, Senator John Tower, and other state office-holders.

Over 1,400 resolutions presented to delegates were broken down into 22 resolutions that will be presented at the National Convention. Clark said that there was very little dissent about the issues of right to work, right to bear arms, balancing the budget, less bureaucracy, a free market place for the farmers, anti-ERA and anti-abortion.

State representatives to the National Committee were elected during the convention. Ernie Angelo, ex-mayor of Midland was elected as committeeman, and Mrs. Eddie (Fran) Chiles was elected as committeewoman. Both ran unopposed.

"There were buttons and bumper stickers everywhere," said Clark. "On the ones that were promoting a vice-presidential candidate, there would be four or five names listed, kind of 'Take your pick.' Some of them were Laxalt, Helms, Crane and Kemp. Others were strictly Reagan and Bush or Baker."

Delegates attended a barbecue and "Peanut Stomp" on Friday night. There was a Western Dance and the Houston Oilers' Cheerleaders were there.

Pages for the convention were Lori Rickenbrode, Pam Nelson, Debbie Dobbs, Ka Ka Bruegel, Lynna McGuire, Christie Huseman and Edith Durbin.

Letter to the editor

On dog complaints-- who's annoying who?

Dear Editor:
It is understandable that some Dimmitt residents would become annoyed at certain times because of barking dogs in the neighborhood, and I can sympathize because I have been awakened numerous times by neighbors' dogs. I have never complained to the city, though, primarily because I am a dog owner, too, and I find it impossible to keep my dogs from barking at certain times.

According to my daughter, she has been awakened in the early hours of the morning by residents returning home from partying, making enough noise with their screeching brakes, racing engines, loud talking, etc. to set her dogs to barking, as well as any other dogs in the neighborhood. There have been no apparent complaints against the noisy neighbors who cause the dogs to bark.

Although I have found most Dimmitt residents to be friendly, the complaining neighbor has not bothered to introduce herself to my daughter nor to notify her personally about her annoyance with my daughter's dogs. Instead, she complains to the city with the false accusations about the mistreatment of the dogs. Is this the way to become known, not acquainted, with the new neighbors?
