Navy League Scorns Pres. Apology Demand

The municipality of Rome, Italy, issued an order that it was all right to wear overcoats. Sure! All right to borrow a dollar, too.

BORGER TO BUILD OWN GAS SYSTEM

BORGER, Texas, Nov. 5.—A plan for the construction of a $25,000 municipal natural gas system was Borger's answer today to the action of the Panhandle & Light company in cutting off ability services to the city because of an unpaid $16,000 utility bill.

While the utility company refused to turn on the lights, gas and to the city hall last night, the town streets remained in darkness. City officials did not want to pay the street lights when the contract for the municipal gas was let to Joseph A. Green of St. Louis.

TICKETS FOR CISCO GAME NOW ON SALE

Tickets for the Ranger-Cisco game of Nov. 11 have been placed on sale at the drug stores in Ranger and a large number of tickets have been sent to the school office in Cisco to be sold there.

Reserved seat tickets are selling for 75 cents and admission for school children has been placed at 50 cents. The drug stores of Cisco are handling the ticket sale.

J. Lanier of the Ranger office announced today that the reserved seats were being sold in Ranger and anyone from town who wanted to see the game from a good location should make a request for a reservation. The tickets would be forwarded to them. In this way those from town will be given an opportunity of securing good seats for the game.

Trucker Held in Fistic Fight Death of Slaton Man

ABBOCK, Texas, Nov. 5.—A Denver local trucker, was held in jail here today while officials investigated the death of F. E. Slaton, 51, former Slaton automobile dealer, who died allegedly the result of a fistic fight with Jackson's skull was fractured as he struck the pavement after being struck by the trucker at Slaton last night. The dispute is said to have originated over payment of a note.

TAXATION IS SUBJECT OF RANGER LIONS

Taxation was the chief subject of discussion at the regular weekly meeting of the Ranger Lions club today when George Bryant, Eastland county tax assessor, W. H. McDonald, district clerk, and president of the Eastland Lions club and Ernest Jones, tall twister of the Eastland club, were visitors for the day.

Mr. Bryant made a very interesting speech in which he urged that all citizens pay their poll taxes and asked the cooperation of the Lions club in furthering the movement to have every voter pay his poll tax. He mentioned that there were constitutional amendments coming up next year in which every taxpayer would be interested and on which they would want to vote. He also called attention to the fact that $1 of each poll tax received went into the school fund and the county would be materially benefited by a large number of poll taxes.

Texas Has More Autos Than Entire European Nations

WASHINGTON.—More motor cars are owned in Texas than in all the European nations except France, figures on file in the United States department of commerce today revealed.

Statistics show 1,365,896 vehicles are in Texas, while France has but 1,459,630. Texas' total cars exceed that of England by 57,000, and is equal to nearly one-sixth of all motor vehicles outside the boundaries of the United States, which total 9,108,234.

Department of commerce figures show more cars in Texas than in Spain, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Austria and Hungary combined.

Ghandi Attends King's Tea Party

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Gandhi, leader of India's millions in their passive fight against Great Britain for independence, was received by the king and queen at Buckingham palace tea party today. He was bare-legged and wore his native costume, including a loin cloth.

Eastland Woman Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Alberta Golden, 56, died suddenly Wednesday night at 10 o'clock, at the family residence on West Commerce street, Eastland. The deceased had been a resident of Eastland for the past several years.

FRESHMEN LOSE MUSTACHES.

GENEVA, N. Y.—Freshmen at Hobart college will do without their mustaches this semester. A new code ruled that newcomers to the college must be clean shaven.

Probe Slaying of Milwaukee Millionaire

The mysterious slaying of Philip A. Koehring, Milwaukee millionaire, is puzzling Wisconsin officials.

ARMISTICE PROGRAM PREPARED

H. X. Wallace, chairman of the Armistice day celebration in Ranger, together with W. C. Hickey, L. R. Herrin, W. W. Carlin, H. L. Henry, T. A. Tume, J. Haig Johnson, Charlie Moore, E. H. Earnest, and D. W. Johnson, met at the offices of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night and perfected plans for the free celebration to be held at Haugland airport on the night of Nov. 11.

The celebration is to take the form of a sham battle in which the members of Company 1, 142nd Infantry, Texas national guard, are to attack a fortification defended by members of the Civil War Post of the American Legion.

The guardsmen are to attack with rifles and the "fort" is to be defended with bombs, guns and smoke screens. The whole battlefront is to be lighted with flares and star shells will be fired from time to time to light up the scene and show the activities of the "enemy."

Welfare Fund Now Totals $892

A total of $892.25 in cash, pledges and merchandise has been taken in for the Child Welfare association of Ranger, Eastland, which has been going on since Monday morning.

The total is most gratifying to the sponsors of the organization and the good showing made is an indication of the whole-hearted way in which the solicitors have taken up the work.

Donations which have been received since the last list was printed are as follows: Stevens and Dupree, 50c; L. H. Flower, 25c; C. D. Hartnett Co., $10; Mrs. J. F. Warren, Olden, $5; Hal Walker, $5; Edwin George, $2.50; C. A. Purser, $1; Lone Star Garage, $3; Panhandle Filling Station, $2; Fire Chief Murphy, $1; Quick Service Garage, $2.50; Jake Ralston, $3; Mr. Piper, A. & T. Grocery, $3.

A large number of members of the Church of Christ of Ranger are attending a protracted meeting at Gorman today.

Eastland Methodists Plan Music Program

The Methodist Church of Eastland is planning for a big day Sunday with a special music program to be given by the choir Sunday evening.

MACHINE GUN IS USED BY BANK ROBBERS

SHAWNEE, Okla., Nov. 5.—While on a bank robbery in the streets at bay with a machine gun mounted in a small coupe, his two companions robbed the First National bank of Kowasa of $1,500 in cash and escaped today.

No shots were fired. No one attempted to rush the car, which commandeered the block like an arsenal.

Three customers were in the bank when the bandits entered. Four employees were covered with pistols and forced to open the vault.

One of the bandits threatened to take a member of the group with him. A large crowd gathered outside the bank, attracted by the machine gun. The plan to abduct one employee was abandoned.

PRISONER LEAPS TO HIS DEATH

WACO, Nov. 5.—Rather than face trial on a charge of a $1.90 burglary at Eddy, Opie Williams, 21, chose death today and dived from a window.

Williams leaped through the third floor window of the McLennox county courthouse when Deputy Sheriff Jeff Abbott called him to come to the courtroom.

He died of a broken neck. His body crashed head first to the pavement below and he was dead when his father rushed to his side.

WHEAT IS AGAIN UP IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—A bull market in wheat today spread optimism over the west as farmers watched each one-cent rise in price add approximately $3,500,000 to their wealth.

The more than 20-cent rise in price had restored confidence not only to farmers who a month ago faced ruin in the midst of a surplus of unwanted grain that was selling at the lowest prices in 50 years.

War is Feared In Manchuria

The threat of open war in Manchuria became more serious than ever today as Japanese and Chinese forces battled along the Nonne river.

With heavy casualties reported in the fighting, the danger of complications which would involve Soviet Russia, because of her extensive interests at Tientsin, was feared in Tokio.

The League of Nations was alarmed by the extension of Japanese military activities and the renewal of fighting despite the league council request that Japan withdraw her forces within the South Manchurian railway zone.

Washington awaited accurate information concerning the situation.

Eastland Pastor Plans To Attend Methodist Conference

Rev. George W. Shearer of the Methodist Church of Eastland is preparing to leave next week for the annual conference to be held Nov. 12 in the First Methodist Church at Fort Worth.

The meeting will be presided over by Bishop Sam E. Hay, Rev. A. D. Porter, presiding elder of the Waco district is secretary of the conference.

A feature of the conference will be the address of Dr. Webb of Austin who represents the church there in its contacts with university students. Dr. Webb will address the Methodist Board of Education Wednesday evening.

Lawyer Demands Chinese Government Apprehend Slayers

HOUSTON, Nov. 5.—W. A. Vinson, prominent lawyer and brother of J. W. Vinson, American missionary slain by Chinese bandits, has asked Texas congressmen and the state department to take action to force the Chinese government to apprehend the bandits.

Vinson said his brother's body probably would be buried beside those of his wife and son in Hancock if it is recovered.

WHEAT IS AGAIN UP IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—A bull market in wheat today spread optimism over the west as farmers watched each one-cent rise in price add approximately $3,500,000 to their wealth.

The more than 20-cent rise in price had restored confidence not only to farmers who a month ago faced ruin in the midst of a surplus of unwanted grain that was selling at the lowest prices in 50 years.

The flour mills of Minneapolis, Buffalo, Kansas City and the southwest were adding men to care for increased orders based on the rising price of flour due to the advances in wheat.

The mills themselves were aiding the rise as they entered the market to replenish wheat stocks which were reported to the department of commerce as nearly 15,000,000 bushels below those of last year.

Keeping Up With Eastland County C. I. A. Students

DENTON, Nov. 5.—Frances Glazier and Kenneth Weir, of Ranger, are both members of the Odeon Club, recently organized music society at Texas State College for Women (C.I.A.). They are also members of the college choir, under the direction of William E. Jones, director of the department of music. The choir will make its first appearance Dec. 6 in connection with the college orchestra in a joint presentation, "Lochner's Ride." Sir Walter Scott's poem set to music by Shelley, and "Rhapsody" by Star.

Students who are members of the choir are selected from the choral class, composed of about 150 members.

Maedele Sikes, of Eastland, has been elected as one of the eight members of the staff of the Dardalian Annual, year book at Texas State College for Women. She has charge of the literary section.

Joyce Johnson, of Eastland, is one of the 21 seniors majoring in library science at Texas College for Women (C. I. A.).

This year the schedule of senior library majors is arranged so that their entire time is devoted to library science courses. This is done in order that 30 hours of major work can be taken in the senior year. These classes have been equipped with individual desks, which are quartered on the first floor of the college library.

Former Official Of Kentucky In Street Gun Battle

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Nov. 5.—General Henry H. Dehart, former lieutenant governor and former adjutant general of Kentucky, was shot and seriously wounded in a street fight here today.

W. K. Dent, a republican campaign worker, was arrested for the shooting. There had been ill feeling between the two for the past few weeks.

MAID IS SHOT FOR BURGLAR

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 5.—Mistaking his new maid for a burglar, Lew Scott shot Matilda Flores today and critically wounded her.

Houdini of Jails

Jack Martin, alias James Bartfield, above, arrested at Detroit as an escaped lifer convicted for murder of a Macon, Ga., cotton broker, told of a long series of jail breaks, burglaries, auto thefts and hold-ups, police said. Martin said he would rather be shot than return to the chain gang of the Milledgeville, Ga., penal farm, from which he escaped by holding up a guard with a wooden pistol.

12 HURT IN RIOT AT MINE

Nearly a dozen men were treated by doctors here today for injuries suffered in riots between miners seeking to go to work and agitators seeking a strike for higher wages.

Nearly 300 men rioted at the edge of town as crowds lined the highways leading to the mines and hurled stones and missiles of every sort at the miners.

Authorities estimated 100 men were in the attacking force with nearly twice that many miners involved.

Texas May Have Branded Criminals

VICTORIA, Texas.—Did the Republic of Texas at one time brand its criminals, a practice that was once commonly resorted to by European countries? They are also members of the college choir, under the direction of William E. Jones, director of the department of music. The choir will make its first appearance Dec. 6 in connection with the college orchestra in a joint presentation, "Lochner's Ride." Sir Walter Scott's poem set to music by Shelley, and "Rhapsody" by Star.

Students who are members of the choir are selected from the choral class, composed of about 150 members.

Police Short Circuit Alarm On Still

CENTRAL FALLS, R. I.—Police outwitted devisers of a system of electrically controlled locks when they raided a distillery in the so-called "Moonshine Center" here.

The raiders drove nails into the walls. The nails struck wires, caused a short circuit and the electric locks failed to work.

VOTE IS 7 TO 1 IN UPHOLDING THEIR LEADER

Support Charges Hoover is "Abysmally Ignorant" of Navy Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The Navy League executive committee by a vote of 7 to 1 today supported the charges recently brought against President Hoover by the league's president, William Howard Gardiner.

The league issued a statement of its action. It was signed by all members of the executive committee except Henry Breckinridge of New York, who previously had "dissociated" himself from Gardiner's charge that Mr. Hoover was "abysmally ignorant" of naval affairs.

Gardiner issued an independent statement in which he made no mention of the apology demanded by President Hoover.

LEGION POST RECEIVES CALLS FOR CLOTHES

Many have already notified the American Legion to call for clothing to aid the needy in their city to be held on Saturday. This move is to be held in cooperation with the Child Welfare association of Ranger and is planned particularly to relieve them of the burden of collecting these items. Clothing of any description is required and it is suggested that all persons or families having such articles of wearing apparel that is of no further use to them, be donated for this cause.

On Saturday morning the American Legion will hold a sale that will call at any address in the city if the people of Ranger will merely call phone 31, Chamber of Commerce, and leave their address. The Legion makes a serious plea to the people of Ranger to please donate every item possible as the necessity for clothing is more acute in the near future. Cold weather is near and in anticipation of many requests for clothing, the Child Welfare association asks that all possible donations be given at this time in order that they may have time to arrange their clothing depot and that all possible assistance may be given unobscured when requested.

Republicans and Democrats Hope For House Control

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—While leading republicans cling to the hope their party will control the house, democrats went ahead with plans today for reorganization on the basis of added strength gained in Tuesday's election.

Meanwhile, democrats and anti-prohibitionists continued to rejoice over the election, greeting it as an indication of victory in the 1932 presidential elections.

Proceeding on the assumption that John N. Garner of Texas would become speaker, democrats began discussion of who would be elected to important committee chairmanships, floor leader, committee clerks and house officers.

Republicans confessed to seeing nothing but an off year reaction in the election of Garner, while democrats are receiving the most attention for the floor leadership.

Congressman Hutton Summers, Texas, is prominently mentioned for chairmanship of the rouse judiciary committee.

Finance Committee Of County League To Meet Tonight

The financial committee of the Eastland County inter-scholastic league is meeting tonight in the office of the county superintendent at Eastland at 7:30.

Louisiana-Arkansas Crude Price Raised

DALLAS, Nov. 5.—Magnolia Petroleum company today announced increases of 15 cents a barrel on Louisiana and Arkansas crude oil.

RECOVERS RAPIDLY.

While the nation yesterday was brightening over the prospects of higher prices for farm commodities, offering the prospect of more buying power for the farmers and, in consequence, jobs for the jobless and more money for everybody, Ranger and other cities in the oil belt were beginning to see a few silver streaks between the clouds of pessimism that have hovered over the consciousness of the most of the business men and citizens. Rising agricultural commodity prices, indicating a fundamental and general support for improvement, contributed to this sentiment, although the immediate incentive was an increase in oil prices.

Oil men were confident that the price for oil would reach one dollar before the first of the year. The top is now thirty-three cents, offered by Magnolia Monday.

No immediate revival of oil field activity about Ranger is contemplated as a result of this increase, but the prospect that leases, long inactive, would resume operations was much nearer. Operators declared generally that this would not take place until oil was priced at $1 or above.

Should predictions prove true, as they seem on the way to do, the revival of a major industry shortly after the first of the year will tend to take up the slack in local business conditions and make recovery from the present state of affairs probable. The record of west Texas has been that it recovers from such influences with amazing rapidity.

BETTERING FARM PRICES.

The market, excited over a sudden spurt in wheat prices which yesterday closed twenty cents above the season's low, wonders at the stability of this sudden upturn. Many see in the renewed wave of buying that has brought the sudden rise an effort of the Soviet government to cover its short sales. But a report that the Soviet government would export no more wheat this year has been emphatically denied.

In more optimistic quarters the rise in grain prices is seen as a leader which will carry agricultural commodities back to profitable levels and thus initiate a recovery from the depression which has been due in the main to the stagnation of the wheat and cotton and other agricultural commodity markets. But veteran traders look with astance on these "flighty" markets and with good reason. They prefer a consistent, if not spectacular, movement, one susceptible to the measuring rod of calm judgment.

News dispatches reporting the price jump mention conditions supposed to affect the upturn that are surprising in view of the cries of over-production which were heard during the period that prices were sliding downward into an abyssal pit of depression.

Some of these conditions are the partial failure of American and Canadian spring wheat crops, reduced export stocks in Argentina and Australia, unsatisfactory conditions in Europe and a reduction of 16,000,000 bushels in the world's visible supply. Couple with these factors is a reduction of acreage that is taking place.

Coincident with the sudden improvement in the wheat situation is a gradual betterment in the cotton market. Before this trend has advanced much further, if it is to advance as most observers expect, conditions in the cotton situation will likely be revealed quite different from the "over-production" explanations which were advanced to explain the depressed prices. We are to find, no doubt, that it has not been over-production so much as under-consumption that has affected the market. The enormous surplus pictured as a bugaboo will no doubt dissipate rapidly before a revelation that this surplus is nothing more nor less than a stagnation, which can be drained into healthful trade movements within a surprisingly short time.

The Editorial Digest, in an editorial review this week points out that this is Cotton Week. It says:

"This is cotton week. It comes at a time when we have every reason to permit our optimism to express itself. For the traditional monarch of the Southland, King Cotton, shows every sign of recuperating from his long and serious illness.

"He may never be as hale and hearty and absolute a ruler as once he was. As a matter of fact, we don't want him to be. We want the Crown Prince of Industry and the Duke of Dairyland to assume a portion of the royal responsibility. They deserve an opportunity to parade before an admiring throng.

"Peculiarly enough, the ailing King showed his first improvement immediately his subjects despaired of the mail-order prescriptions shipped in from Washington. So soon as our own family physicians took upon themselves the task of curing the King, and pumped a few million bales of congested cotton from the patient's stomach, lo and behold, the King rose from his couch and walked!

"Now we will celebrate the King's improvement condition by decking ourselves out in new cotton shirts and dresses. We should replenish depleted supplies of cotton table cloths, and replace worn-out cotton underwear. We should spend at least a dollar for some form of finished cotton material. It is hoped this proof of our loyalty will give the old King new spirit and new life. That is what Cotton Week is for.

"We may be thankful that Cotton Week came at this time. Had it come a month ago, it would have been a royal wake more than a joyous celebration and Thanksgiving."

HIGH COST OF POLITICAL CLOWNING.

A proposed sale of $12,000,000 Louisiana highway and bridge bonds has been cancelled because New York bankers are in doubt as to who could legally sign them as governor. This is the wire New York bankers and bond buyers sent to the Hon. Huey P. Long: "The Louisiana comedy has been elaborated and played up so much that it makes it impossible to seriously consider doing anything as no one will have confidence in the legality of the bonds or other acts necessary to sell these bonds." Now the people of Louisiana will realize the high cost of political clowning on the part of their governor, their alleged governors, and the factionists who are in the Louisiana picture. Some men are children just grown up. May the political clown tribe decrease. They are low comedians who are not needed in the public service.

Rescued After Week Adrift

Rescued after drifting for seven days, 24-year-old Frank Caspar of Cape Cod, Mass., was deserting his water-logged motorboat to climb aboard the deck of the liner Metapan which rescued him off Norfolk, Va., when this picture was taken. En route to Miami, Fla., Caspar had encountered a storm in which his motor failed and the sailing gear was swept away. A few minutes after this photo was made, the motor boat, which he had kept afloat by constant bailing, sank.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE
 Shawnee, Okla.

That advertisements sparkle with money saving information. Persistent advertisers show an honest desire to serve everyone well. The printed page is the proper place for the seller to seek the buyer. Nothing offers such a big opportunity to please trade and build big volume business as does the right kind of advertising. Advertising through the printed page is a progressive, convenient way to sell goods or services. Trustful advertising proves itself in accomplishments. Some business concerns have mistaken ideas about the kind of advertising that is best, while others hesitate because they don't believe in any kind of advertising. He who hesitates long in business is lost. To those who do not know a business, it does not exist. It takes persistent advertising to make the public know it and not forget it. Advertising is the life of business!

Encyclopedias Are Loot of Thieves

BELOIT, Wis.—Decline of the chicken market is blamed for the theft of valuable encyclopedias from southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois schools recently. Encyclopedias worth $80 a set and other reference books of value are being taken, presumably by the same robbers, who seem to have discontinued chicken thievery in that area when prices of fowls dropped. Organized gangs of thieves, who formerly preyed on the flocks of off farmers, now have turned their attention to the children, the teachers complain. A new encyclopedia was stolen from the Troy Lake school and a 1926 set left in its place. Practically every school in Kane county, Illinois, has been robbed, and intensive theft has been reported in Walworth and Waukesha counties of the adjoining state as well as McHenry county, Illinois. One book company has offered a $100 reward for capture of the thieves who have evaded several traps set by authorities.

Ranger Legion Post To Meet Tonight

The Carl Barnes Post of the American Legion will hold its regular meeting tonight at the Legion hall. The final arrangements to complete the plans for the Armistice Day celebration are to be made and every Legionnaire is requested to be present. Many important details will be worked out and it is necessary to have several members work on these committees. Most of the workers will have the fun of handling the pyrotechnic display which should be sufficient compensation for their services. This display promises to surpass all previous efforts in this respect. The local legion post with the National Guard is furnishing all requirements and is offered to the public free of charge.

PASTORS HOLD MEETING

The Methodist pastors of the Cisco district held their regular monthly meeting in Eastland this week with five members in attendance. They meet in Eastland regularly every month.

A million people cheered Mussolini at Naples. Probably because the Fascists had given them the Duce.

UNITED'S 8 Ballyhoo Days

November 6th to 14th

Mr. Ballyhoo may be crazy, but he's here to drum up some business for us. We've turned him loose to run this sale for us—the lid is off! Come in and have a good time with Ballyhoo himself and see the hot he has put on our merchandise. And, boy, oh, boy,—watch it disappear!

PRE-WAR PRICES

But, don't let anybody kid you—this is a lot of ballyhoo. Anyway—better come in and see for yourself.....

SHORT SIGHTED SLIPS AND NARROW MINDED PAJAMAS—You might lengthen the slips, and then again you might not! The pajamas are another problem—narrow legged. We thought that they were worth $1.98 but they aren't. Here they are for 69c

14 HISTORICAL HANDBAGS—If all these Handbags were laid end to end it would be a good thing. Why not give one to your mother-in-law? She might think that they are worth $4.98 49c

COATS WE CAN'T EXPLAIN—No one else has these Coats, so our coat buyer must be crazy. They are full length, but the furs are only imitation. We don't want them, so please take them away at $7.95

SCARFETS! ... AND HOW!—We tried to sell these last year to protect the fur on your coat. You didn't think that you needed it. We'll try the same gag this year, and on top of that we'll give them to you for half-price. 49c and 98c

THESE HATS HAVEN'T KEPT KISSABLE—But we are going to give them just one last good-bye kiss. That guy sure lied to us when he said that they would sell for $4.98. $1.00

And some that we think we can kid you into taking at $1.98

THIS SILK CREPE UNDERWEAR LOOKED GOOD TO US ONCE!—But we are getting tired of PINK. You'll be surprised (we hope) at $1.19, $1.98, $2.98

DISAPPOINTED RAYON UNDERWEAR—Some of the pale of the underwear left were sold. They wear so long that you never have to buy another—believe it or not. We want to get rid of these so that we can offer you something that will wear out, so you'll have to come back. Panties, Step-ins, Bloomers, with fancy trimmings, 39c

IF YOU STILL LIKE SHORT GOWNS—HERE THEY ARE!—Mostly Rayons—some Kwantos Crepe (If you know what that is). You paid $1.98 for a few of these last year—we'll sell the rest 69c

IT MUST BE THE COLORS!—This Kayser pure thread SILK HOSIERY surely has the value. But, we don't want it any longer, so we are shooting values as high as $1.95 for $1.00 pr.

WHEN BELTS WERE USED FOR A PURPOSE instead of just for looks, these Belts were good. People are crazy about looks now, so we'll sell you these "service" Belts for (They are worth 49c) 10c

THESE DRESSES HAVE "IF"—Or it might be maybe—they surely have something. $7.95

ANTIQU SPECIALS—Men's heavy sheep-lined Mole-skin Coats. Maybe it doesn't get cold in this town. Anyway these coats are now full-fledged antiques. But if you need one—you will say not half bad.

GIRLS ARE USING SWEATERS THIS YEAR—We have some beauties to sell, so why not come buy them. You don't have to come, of course, but you'll be sorry when you see your hated rival with one before you wake up. Don't mention price, because we have something at ever price for you 69c to $1.98

MOTHERS WANT SHORT SOX FOR THEIR BABIES! And we have long ones. Maybe we can convince you that it is cool enough to use long Hosiery whether your baby likes them or not 10c-25c

WE WEREN'T LOOKING FOR THIS DEPRESSION WHEN WE BOUGHT ALL OF THESE INFANT'S KNITTED GOODS!—So if you need some warm garments for that precious baby of yours, you will find a lovely selection of saques, saque sets, knitted caps, and infants silk caps, at prices so low that we would almost as soon you didn't take them away from us.

BABIES HAVEN'T WORN UNDERWEAR THIS SUMMER!—But they will need it now. Some mothers want part wool and some want cotton. Perhaps we won't have what you want, but if we do you surely will get a bargain. Your baby will never know that you bought these for him at half price or less.

WE HAVE TOO MANY!—Did you ever eat too much candy? Then you know how we feel about getting so many of these foundation garments. Don't bother to buy them unless you need them. 25c to $1.00

Girdettes, and almost any style you want $1.00 to $1.98

THEY TOLD US THAT FLANNELETTE GOWNS AND PAJAMAS WOULDN'T SELL THIS YEAR!—We are trying to see if they told us the truth. Prices are so much lower than they were last year that we think they are kidding us. 49c, 79c and 98c

PRINTS—Fast Color per yard

10c

Men's Semi-Soft Collars values to 35c, each

10c

Children's Shoes and Oxfords, all sizes

$1.00

MEN'S SHIRTS—Cotton flannel

79c

Slice It Ever So Thin It's All BALLYHOO!

WANT TO BE POPULAR? WEAR ONE OF THESE COATS!—We don't guarantee who you will be popular with, but that is none of our business. If you don't take one of these we won't worry, because the next woman will, because who could turn down a Senta Crepe Coat, silk lined, beautifully tailored, with large luxurious furs, for $24.50

CRIB BLANKETS BIG ENOUGH FOR ANY CRIB!—That will mean something to you mothers that want to keep your infant healthy this winter. We have only three or four of these so we are giving them— $1.00-$1.98

WHY SHOULD WE HOLLER ABOUT THESE LADIES UNION SUITS?—Because the louder we holler the less you will believe us when we tell you that they are not good. Don't believe us—come and see! 69c and 98c

DO YOU HAVE TROUBLE GETTING YOUR CHILDREN TO TAKE A BATH?—You won't if you let them step out of the tub into one of these cute little bath robes. $1.00

WHY SHOULD A GIRL HAVE A COAT IN THIS COUNTRY?—It never gets cold. This is just another mistake our buyer made. He thought that it did get cold here! $3.98 and $4.98

BALLYHOO—HOO—HOO—HOOOOOOO—What are these SWEATERS?—We are counting on Mr. Ballyhoo to find someone to buy these sweaters. We couldn't. He says that we didn't try hard enough. Watch 98c to $2.98

WHAT HO? TRULY A BRIGHT SPOT!—New, wide leg, Rayon Pajamas that will razzle you. Better wear your colored glasses. $1.19 to $1.98

WHO SAID MEN WERE WEARING TAN OXFORDS AND SHOES?—Somebody said so and we bought them—believe it or not, we don't want them—we probably are out of your size but look them over, you may get a good laugh anyway. $3.98

A NIGHT-MARE IN LADIES FOOTWEAR!—We dreamed these were beautiful—well, do we have funny dreams. Come in and see for yourself. The price is only $1.98

CHILDREN'S SHOES—IMAGINE!—Mothers never have to worry about "The Kids" Shoes wearing out, so we bought some numbers built for long wear—we don't want them now—but you might use them at $1.00

BLANKETS—If the alarm doesn't go off—and the cats don't bother you—then you are sure missing some good sleep. A good Part Wool Blanket. $1.98

WOOL SHIRTS—We have too many—Don't you want one? If you have ever had too much candy or anything else you will know how we felt when we unpacked some more of these shirts. Won't you please buy one?

MEN'S WINTER UNION SUITS—They are rather heavy—but then this is a cold climate, you could get used to them in time.

HISTORICAL WINDBREAKERS—If you have a Father-in-law and you want to get even with him, why not get him one?

YOU'LL TURN DOWN THESE MEN'S PANTS—Every one else has. They're turn down styles anyway. But Look! ONLY $1.98

BOYS DRESS SUITS—We'd like to unload these. We don't know what you could do with them, but that is your worry if you buy them, not ours! $4.98

COLLARS—YEP—They're Dirty! But we will let you in on a little secret. Laundries will laundry them for you. Yeah. Most every size and style 10c

WHO SAID WORK CLOTHES SOLD?—Somebody said that the men in this town worked very hard and bought a lot of Work Pants. We don't think so cause we still have the Pants!

AND MORE—Curse the Luck HORSEHIDE VESTS to get rid of. Our buyer must have been drunk when he bought all these, but we will fool him and sell them for only $6.90

LUGGAGE—These things just won't move. Quite useless to us. But we are sure that Ballyhoo Priced you will find them valuable. $1.00

We have told you the worst about these items, so if you buy them it's your own fault. We're not to blame. But if you buy them, be good sports about it and don't bring them back—they're yours—and we won't take them back. Sorry. NO APPROVALS! NO EXCHANGES! NO FOOLIN'!

Who said that MEN'S HATS SOLD?—Somebody said that all the men were going to wear Hats this year. We haven't found it so. But if you look at these values you'll be surprised.

We're telling you all that there is to be told—if you don't come to see us you'll be the loser—you'll be sure of plenty of good fun if you come around, and REAL VALUES IN MERCHANDISE!

PING THRU KNOTHOLE

With BILL MAYES

Being one of those days we feel like playing the old game of "ping thru the knothole" we searched through papers neighboring towns and have enough sport comments to fill a column with the minimum and will pass it along to the boys, without too many words.

The first place Benny Butler has things to say about is, all of which is, or is not, of more or less interest as the Lobos are slated for the most victims of the Bull-Ox. Or at least we are hoping they will be victims.

HOW AND SLIDES

Henry L. Farrell

Harvard Journalists

SOME Harvard journalists, expressed editorially several years ago in the Crimson, school paper, played a part in the severance of football relations with Princeton. Now, an editorial in the Crimson can see no reason for a football game between Harvard and Army because of "an absence of interests common to Harvard men and the United States Military Academy."

Perhaps if the Crimson tried hard enough, it could find an utter lack of reasons for Harvard playing anybody at all.

It is easy to understand the Crimson when it says the Army eligibly rule, under which a cadet who has played three years of football at another college may still play for Army, is a point against the game.

But that "absence of interests" is something else again. What do you make of it, my dear Watson?

Football Politics

AT a great many colleges and universities "Dad" is regarded as the bane of athletics. Dad is the fellow who played football for dear old Oglewath in 1901 and who insists that his son should have a place on the team, even though football may not be the boy's game.

The writer, visiting recently at a large eastern school, took some pains to look up the status of the squad with a view to finding out about the dads. Three inferior football players at the college had earned their letters simply because their dads had raised particular havoc with the graduate manager. These dads happened to be wealthy and influential and were the donors of large gifts to the school.

Cisco fans. Moran is being paged for a return contest. Such a game would not only be good entertainment but would give Ciscoans a glimpse of prospective grid material.

Then in the Breckenridge American we see that one Robert C. Campbell jumps all over us for saying he has picked most of the Buckaroos for all-district material and that he selected Hinrichs for fullback on the charge that he had kicked a goal. Bobby counts a grand total of somewhere in the 20's for the young man, but at the time of the selection he had booted but one in a district game. We are sure of that because at the time the Bucs had made but one touchdown, the selection having been made before the Brownwood game. It is true that he has booted many in non-conference games and no doubt he is good, but all-district men cannot be selected on their showing against class B and non-conference teams.

Bobby claims he did not select Hinrichs—he merely said that a backfield could not be selected without putting him in it—which is a horse of a different color as Mr. Campbell sees it.

And in using the shears on the Breckenridge paper we gleaned this item, which may also be of interest, especially since the young man mentioned will not be eligible to play:

"Boone Magness, one of Texas' greatest high school football players, and maintainer of the Schreiner institute team this year, in all probability will enter the Breckenridge high school within the next few days. "The glittering quarterback of

Frisch didn't do a lot of slugging in the series, but his play around second base was at times miraculous. . . . he was back of second for double-play balls and on the next play would be snatching the old apple in Jim Bottomley's territory. . . . and what a fighter!

Heston Quits

FAMOUS Willie Heston's son, Willie, Jr., quit the grid squad at Michigan the other day after two years of trying to make good the Heston reputation for football prowess. He showed great promise in 1929, but after his first game turned out to be just another "B" team football player. He played in a few games last year and failed to click. Rather than play on the second, he turned in his uniform.

Another son of the once mighty line backer, Jack, is breaking in this year at Michigan with a vim that is worthy of the fire of his noted sire. Through Jack, the name and fame of Heston may live again in Michigan football annals during the next few years.

Beginning Friday morning the United Dry Goods Stores will hold its "Ballyhoo" sale. The local manager said, "We wanted to announce a new range of prices on practically everything in the store, some of it is actually merchandise that has been in stock a long time. The reader may turn to the advertisement in this issue and see the "wiscrack" used in the descriptive matter.

JOBLESS GET BEDS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The unemployed of Philadelphia have been assured a place to sleep during the coming winter with the receipt of 3,000 cots, mattresses and blankets from the U. S. quarter-master depot for use in the Shelter for the Homeless.

Mavs Crippled On Eve of Game With Buckaroos

Faced with one of the seasons toughest games yet weakened by the illness of Smith and Daniels and the strained ligament in Allison's leg, Coach Gibson's Mavericks have settled down to the serious business of re-constructing a team that may retard the Bucs from Breckenridge a whole notch in their climb to the top of the ladder.

Delbert Myers faces a tough assignment. In the capacity of play center, line, half or quarterback. And Myers, working out at center, passes accurately and charges fast and the coach may be holding him as an ace-in-the-hole to send him to play any position when needed.

Heath has been promoted from halfback to right guard to fill the shoes of Smith. In case Daniels is unable to play, Roy Brown or Wayne Howell will get the call to do the punting. Howell can be shifted to tackle position but if Daniels is there, Howell will work in the backfield for he is a good blocker.

For some reason Ed Mackall hasn't been up to form in any game this year. He has been depended upon to do the heavy end of the line plunging but hasn't hit his stride. If Mackall is "right" Saturday his presence will surely be felt by the Bucs for he is big enough and fast enough to qualify with any back in the district.

Vaughn and Taylor have run miles this week snatching the long passes of Burgamy from unreasonable heights. This looks as if the Mavs plan to "shoot the works" on taking chances with the passing game. Bargsley, left guard, will be ready to proceed with his "iron-man" performance. He has been in every game every minute this season. Fulkner is working his usual steady game at left tackle, nothing spectacular but still on the field.

With two more days rehearsal we'll see a marked improvement in the co-ordinated team work. The

SKUNKS AID FARMER

MARION, Va.—T. J. Hickam, Lee county farmer, has found skunks useful in tobacco growing. Hickam noticed many stalks of his burley had been eaten, and then discovered worms were responsible. After that he saw skunks dodging through the patch, picking off the worms.

State Employees Face New Troubles

AUSTIN.—Employees of the state, grateful over escaping a reduction in pay at the recent session of the legislature, now face a new difficulty.

The state has no funds to pay them. This has occurred before and banks have discounted the pay warrants at from 1 to 2 per cent. Now state funds are so far behind that banks are demanding 8 per cent discount.

Some employees say that they can only cash 75 per cent of their salary even at the 8 per cent rate. Those who have failed to establish local banking connections or local store accounts cannot get even that service.

Employees believe the recent entry of the state highway department into buying of state warrants has resulted in banks being less willing to take them. Two million of state highway funds have been put in other state warrants and a million set aside for buying pension warrants. An overdraft of $8,000,000 before taxes generally begin to come in is predicted, unless a special finance session of the legislature is ordered.

U. S. Forestry Man Wins Fishing Honor

KEMMERER, Wyo.—Wyoming fishing honors for 1931 went to Bert Cheeseman, a member of the United States forest service, who caught a 14-pound trout in the Green river.

Cheeseman battled the fish, which was the largest rainbow trout ever taken in western Wyoming, for nearly an hour before he landed him.

Cheeseman used a small reel and the usual tackle to land the fish which was 30 inches long.

A few minutes later a street car conductor-motorman telephoned police that he had been robbed of more than $50. Upon checking, the police ascertained that the bandit was the man who had thrown the stone through the service station window, thus detaching attention from the real holdup.

Skunk Shows Its Sense of Gratitude

CONCORD, Mass.—Edmund Horton's friends will tell you he is a brave man and Edmund will tell you even skunks are not without a sense of gratitude.

A skunk, with its head jammed into a preserve glass, paused before Edmund in historic Monument Square amid indications by clawing frantically at the glass that it wanted freedom. A crowd gathered at a distance and someone called police.

The policeman explained he was helpless because he was wearing a new uniform and a skunk could not be expected to appreciate the cost of getting another.

Edmund doffed coat, hat and necktie but reluctantly retained his trousers. He grasped the glass and, lifting the skunk high, shook it until it fell to the ground while Edmund held the glass in his hand. The crowd gasped and scattered, holding noses. But the skunk proved it had the finer feelings commonly conceded only to animals of more polite repute by quietly leaving the square and Edmund unmolested and unscathed.

Woman Gets Civil War Pension After Waiting 50 Years

PETERSBURG, Ind.—Mrs. Susan E. Edwards, 87, widow of a Civil War veteran, has been granted a pension, nearly half a century after she applied for it.

Mrs. Edwards filed her application in 1888. Technical delays delayed granting of her petition. When she divorced her third husband in 1903, a rule was in effect forbidding pensioning of a divorced woman. This rule was revoked in June, 1930, whereupon Mrs. Edwards entered another application, it being granted recently.

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

"NO, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right.

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too.

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD.

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE. I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough.

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That is why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS tire of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like rawness. For a steady diet, they want a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD—a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day are changing to CHESTERFIELD.

Expect 300,000 Tourists to Pass Through Texas

AUSTIN.—Three hundred thousand tourists will pass through Texas by automobile en route to the Olympic games in California next year, C. Hawley, director of national road reports for the Texas company, predicted here today.

Hawley, who travels about the country keeping information channels open for the road reporting service, conferred with Assistant State Highway Engineer Webb on the outlook for three routes that likely will draw much of the traffic.

These are: U. S. highways 66, 80 and 90. The Santa Fe trail, highway 66, passes through Amarillo on the way to Tucuman, N. M. Highways 80 and 90 both cross the state practically from east to west.

One goes through the northern part of the state by way of Fort Worth and Dallas. The other runs through Del Rio, San Antonio and Houston. Both reach El Paso. Federal highway No. 290 also will get some of the traffic through Texas to the Olympics, it is believed.

Hawley contrasted conditions of Texas highways now with conditions a few years ago. "I passed in 15 minutes over a stretch of road on this trip that I could pass on a former visit only by backing," Hawley said.

"Each of the three routes through Texas should get 100,000 cars en route to the Olympics," Hawley estimated. "Many will go one way and return the other. It is a conservative estimate that each will spend at least $20 on the trip across the state, so the financial benefits to Texas from the Olympics being held on the west coast is apparent."

Hawley was assured while here that the routes will all be kept in good condition for the tourists. Work on highway 66, east of Amarillo, will be completed by that time. While it will not be completed west of Amarillo, Webb said that the road would be put in condition to assure good passage. Gaps on the other routes are rapidly being filled by paving projects.

Season's First Snow Falls in California

Here is the first snow picture of the season! And it was taken in California where the early snowfall caused many to scurry from football games to the hills to participate in early winter sports. This scene was taken near Truckee, in the Sierra Nevada mountains, and shows "Scotty" Allen, famous Alaskan dog race driver, enjoying the early snowfall.

Miss Gretchen Overton and Misses W. S. Jackson, Joseph M. Perkins, W. E. Stallier, W. T. Root, T. J. Haley, T. J. Pitts, and A. J. Campbell were among those from Eastland who attended the Sixth District Federation of Music Clubs convention in Sweetwater Wednesday.

Mrs. Bob Hammett was a Ranger visitor Tuesday. Leonard Cox of Crane visited Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hightower this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wilcox and Miss Merle Crockett are expected to return Friday from a visit to Dallas and other points. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Fry of Weatherford visited Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Daniels and Miss Winnie Snyder Tuesday.

Judge Jake Alford of Rising Star was in Eastland on business today. Constable Tub Wilson of Cisco was here today.

Special Picture Is Secured For Child Welfare Matinee

Roy Speed, chairman of the Ranger Child Welfare drive, and B. E. Garner, manager of the Columbia theatre, Ranger, announced today that he had secured the picture, "Sunny Skies," together with a two-reel comedy and cartoon for the benefit matinee to be shown Saturday morning.

This film has been secured through the courtesy of F. A. Tones, branch manager of the Educational Film exchange of Dallas, who is furnishing the pictures for the matinee.

The price of admission is to be a can of food to be used in aiding the needy in Ranger this winter and the admission price has been limited to canned goods because of the fact that it can be kept until needed, where fresh vegetables could not.

One can of food, either tomatoes, beans, peas, milk or any other article chosen by the public, will be accepted as a paid admission to the show.

The projection machine operators have donated their services and Mr. Garner is furnishing the theatre, lights and all expenses in connection with the matinee in order that all receipts in the form of food may be given to the Child Welfare association.

Texas Fleas Are Called Smartest, But Who Cares

By United Press.
FORT WORTH.—Texas has one more thing to boast about—its fleas are the smartest in the world. At least that is the opinion of Prof. John C. Ruhle, who has come to Texas to resist about 300 fleas who will be given an education and then will perform in the flea circus all over the country.

"Texas fleas are the best," Ruhle has proclaimed, thus adding another thing in which Texas excels. "Texas fleas are not only harder than most fleas but are the smartest."

The professor to the fleas should know, for he is the grandson of Charles Ruhle, who founded the first flea circus, at Munich, Germany, in 1821, and a brother operates a nationally known flea circus on Broadway in New York.

The training of a flea is very arduous, both on the flea and the trainer. An educated flea's span of life is not more than a year. But he is well fed, during that time. Every few hours, the flea is fed by being placed on the forearm of his trainer where he is able to help himself to a little human blood.

The training starts with a tiny wire being placed around the flea's neck in order to limit their jumping. After a couple weeks of that, they will be hitched to wagons or cannons. By the time the fleas are graduate, they have a name and are able to answer when called.

GRIPINGS

By GUS
This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

The best story I've heard today is to the effect that Lee Reid, chief of police, is accusing Sheriff Virge Foster of searching the former's garage without a search warrant. It seems that the chief had a whisky still stored in the garage and that last night he heard a noise out there but was busy trimming a toe nail and paid no attention to the noise.

This morning he discovered that the still was missing and reported it to the sheriff's office. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the chief's still had better keep still because he is still looking for the still.

The chief explained that the still was taken in a raid several months ago and put in his garage for lack of a better place. Some reader of this paper probably noticed the number that had been captured recently and in anticipation of an increase in the price of liquor on account of the scarcity thereof, decided to hook the still and fire it up.

Among the people I chatted with this morning was O. D. Dillingham of Abilene, owner of the Banner Creameries. Few of you will remember it but O. D. was in the ice business in Eastland back in 1919. I expect Jack Lewis remembers him.

Also had a chat on the corner with Mr. Hannah, manager at Perry Brothers' store. We decided that a nigger oughtn't to be allowed to either carry a pistol or drive an automobile.

Hubert Toombs envied me into a wager on the outcome of about six football games this week-end. If I win I'll take my winnings in toothpaste and if I lose he can take his winnings any way he can get them.

Here's the kind of letters I like to receive. I never was used to having much money, and it is so seldom I ever get a word of praise that I must put this one here on the front page where you all can see that I have made a few friends in my brief residence in the egg-basket city. Here it is:

Wilbur To Attend Parent-Teachers Meet in Texas

SAN ANTONIO.—With Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur in attendance, the twenty-third annual convention of the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher association, Nov. 10 to 13, will be in the nature of a "follow up" meeting of the white house conference on child health and protection.

The convention theme is the "Challenge of the Children's Charter," which is a document of 19 principles of child welfare. Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith, president of the association, has invited all persons interested in child welfare and in education and the wiping out of illiteracy in Texas to hear Dr. Wilbur speak Nov. 11.

Secretary Wilbur is chairman of the National Advisory Committee on Illiteracy, appointed by President Hoover to perform an urgent national duty by taking part in conferences in every state to assist in organizing both the state and local committees and for further promoting and enlarging the scope of the campaign to blot out illiteracy.

The three-day program of the congress lists a variety of events when nationally known authorities on child welfare and educational problems will speak. An illiteracy luncheon is being planned by S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction and state chairman of Texas illiteracy commission.

Turkish Trade Mission To Tour Texas Four Days

DALLAS.—Four days in Texas will be spent by members of the trade mission from Turkey on a two-months tour of industrial cities of the United States.

On Dec. 9, 10 and 11 the Turkish visitors will visit Dallas, examining particularly the functioning of the federal reserve bank in extension of credit facilities to cotton growers. On Dec. 12, the trade missionaries will visit Houston to learn various methods of drilling for oil, refining crude, compressing cotton and to tour the ship channel there.

Members of the party include Saradjoju Shuekri Bey, member of the Turkish parliament and former minister of finance; Mukdin Osman Bey, business man of Istanbul, and Julian E. Gillespie, of Dallas, American commercial attaché at Istanbul and official escort.

Lieutenant Gets a Belated Medal

By United Press.
SAN ANTONIO.—An incident in France, Sept. 29, 1918, when he entered a blazing tank under machine gun fire and rescued members of his crew, was recalled by Lieut. Ernest F. Kusener, with receipt recently of notice that a distinguished service cross had been awarded him by the war department.

The award was made for extraordinary heroism in action during the World War near Ronshoy, France, while Kusener was in command of a heavy tank in the 301st tank battalion.

The tank had been put out of action and set on fire by a direct hit which killed four of the crew. The organization at the time was engaged in an assault upon the Hindenburg line. Disregarding his own safety, Lieutenant Kusener made two trips over ground swept by heavy machine gun fire to carry two members of the crew who had been seriously wounded to a dressing station. He entered the blazing tank while it was still under fire to drag the remainder of the crew to safety. The tank battalion was commanded by Maj. Ralph Sasse, present West Point football coach. Kusener previously had received the British military cross for his action on this occasion.

What Is The Little Theatre

By Mrs. Homer Brelsford, Sr.
What is the Eastland Little Theatre? It is the halfway place between legitimate and the strictly amateur, something less than a finished stage performance, something more than the transitory and strictly amateur rendition.

It is something more than the high school or college play and something less than the production of professional artist. Construction and maintenance of a Little Theatre organization community suggests something less than a professional organization. It bespeaks a community sentiment supportive of the better and finer ideals among those who have not the time or opportunity to don the sock and top as a professional career. It will develop hitherto undeveloped unsuspected talent and point way to a loftier and more ambitious ideal.

Mr. Arliss is today at the Arcadia Theatre in his most stirring play, "Alexander Hamilton," a Warner Bros. production.

Mr. Arliss will amaze you with the buoyant youthfulness of his appearance, partly by reason of the contrast with the characters he portrayed so flawlessly in "Disraeli," "Old England" and "The Millionaire."

Capacity houses have greeted Edward G. Robinson's new picture, "The Five Star Final," now playing at the Columbia theatre in Ranger, according to a statement given out this morning by B. E. Garner, manager of the house.

Scores of people were turned away last night, Garner stated, due to the fact that the theatre was entirely filled the first hour it was opened. The management stated "The Five Star Final" was doing a tremendous business all over the country and for this reason was booked for a four-day run in the local house instead of the usual three days.

The picture plays today and tomorrow.

HAZEL ROSS HAILEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY Rich old Mrs. Jupiter is robbed and murdered during the engagement party she gave for her secretary, Mary Harkness. The thief fails to get the famous Jupiter necklace. Suspicion points to Mary's brother, Eddie, who is killed by a car as he goes to meet her. Police drop the case, believing Eddie guilty. Bowen, police reporter for the Star, conducts a private investigation. He discovers a racketeer crook called The Fly to whom Eddie owed money. Eddie's coat, found in the house, is recognized by the butler as one worn by a "gate-crasher" he ejected the night of the murder.

Bowen, "I hope to God you're satisfied." "Honey, I'm not having hysterics, honest!" Mary giggled. "It's just the let-down. I never was so thrilled in my life. Wouldn't you have missed it for anything?" "Perhaps it will amuse you to know there was nothing to miss," Dirk said sharply. "You don't believe all this claptrap, do you? Three drummers from Terre Haute or some such place, making the rounds of the speakeasies, and you let this clown feed you a wild story about murderers and jewel-thieves? You've been reading too much Edgar Wallace, Bowen. Keep it to yourself after this, will you?"

Bowen turned white, but whether with anger or shame, Mary could not tell. "Have it your own way," he said quietly. "Good night, Miss Harkness. If there's ever anything I can do for you, I'll be glad to do it." "If there's ever anything I can do for you, I'll be glad to do it," Bowen turned white, but whether with anger or shame, Mary could not tell.

Even Dirk was touched, disconcerted, for a minute. Then he said with good natured scorn, "Oh, keep it! What if somebody does plug me? You'll get a good story." Bowen's temper gave way. "I don't give a damn what happens to you," he said roughly. "But you've got a woman with you, remember. Take this whether you want it or not."

He shoved the gun into Dirk's lap and swung off. As they moved down the street, Bowen's little tin-can of a car began to shiver and roar and give off explosions like a Fourth of July rocket. When they reached Broadway, Mary looked out the back window and saw it turn, also, apparently following them. It was easily picked out in the traffic, for its top was up—a flimsy "one-man" top which had apparently been added to its accoutrements since she had left it. Its curtains were all drawn against the rain.

Something about that grotesque equipage and its owner wrung Mary's heart and anger flooded her. "I think you're a beast!" she said to Dirk, who shouldn't have talked to him like that! Maybe Mike lied to him, but I'm sure he didn't mean to lie to us!" Mike told him what she knew of Mike, and explained that he owed service to Bowen for favors done in the past.

"You mean," Dirk said slowly, meaningfully, "that all this so-called evidence he's got that a man named the Fly," (he grimaced and muttered, "more Edgar Wallace") "robbed that house, killed

When they reached Broadway, Mary looked out the back window and saw it turn, also, apparently following them. It was easily picked out in the traffic, for its top was up—a flimsy "one-man" top which had apparently been added to its accoutrements since she had left it.

They were in lower Broadway now, in the manufacturing district, dark and comparatively deserted, heading for the Nassau street law office of Stephen Ruyther and Son. They were going along at about 45 miles an hour, but clinging tenaciously on their trail, about a block behind, was Bowen's machine, its "one-man" top swaying perilously in the breeze.

Dirk ducked his head and looked in the windshield mirror. "Is that fool following us?" he asked disgustedly. "Seems to be," was all she could say. Now, what was he doing that for? Was it possible that he, himself—no, he couldn't have had anything but the best motives in mind, or he would not have given Dirk his revolver.

Nassau street was dark and its narrowness seemed to close in on Mary like the walls of a prison as they came to a stop before the small office building in which three generations of Ruythers had their offices.

"Cover that up," Dirk told her curtly, as he turned the key in the switch and locked the car. Holding the collar of her coat tightly across her throat with both hands, she got out and followed him into the building.

The lobby was dark except for a dim light way at the back, which proved to be a watch-light kept burning for safeguard in a little hole-in-the-wall jewelry shop opening off the lobby. By its pale and ghostly radiance they found their way up the stairs—the elevator was a black, empty cavern which Mary hurried past with averted eyes.

Steps, steps, steps—arm in arm they went up, up, up. Mary's fingers fairly pinched Dirk's arm, so tense was her pressure. The stairwell was pitch black, but each landing place was faintly lighted from without by a tall, narrow window. On one of these Dirk bent his head and kissed her cheek.

"Scared?" he asked. She could see well enough by this time to see that he was smiling fondly. She squeezed his arm tighter. "Awfully," he said. They did not seem to be in a hurry to go on. He held her against him for a breathless minute or two, and whispered, "It's been a long time."

That was one of their particular jokes; sometimes they even said it between kisses, and it seemed terribly funny. It didn't seem funny now, for it had been a long time since last night's rather. Arms about each other, they went upstairs.

The blaze of light that followed when Dirk had opened the office door and punched the button was blinding. Mary threw up her hands to protect her eyes from it. Dirk went straight to the safe and began twisting the knob. Mary unfastened the ruby necklace, held it up for a last adoring glance, and put it into the soft leather bed he held out for it. He hid it away inside, shut the door and spun the knob.

"Phew!" he said, getting up and dusting off his hands. "Thank God that's done!" He made a pretense of mopping his fevered brow with a handkerchief. "Five more minutes with that thing on my mind, and I'd have buckled under the strain."

Arliss Here Today In Greatest Play, Alexander Hamilton

George Arliss is today at the Arcadia Theatre in his most stirring play, "Alexander Hamilton," a Warner Bros. production. Mr. Arliss himself wrote the play in collaboration with Mary Hamilton, and started in it on the Hamilton, and started in it on the stage 14 years ago on Broadway and in London. It deals with the humanity of Hamilton, rather than with the constructive genius which made him one of the most able of the founders of the republic. He is 40 at the time, and implicated in the strange affair with the notorious Mrs. Reynolds, whose machinations endanger the government.

A cold does 3 things "Pape's" stops them all A cold always affects you IN AT LEAST THREE WAYS. Air passages are inflamed and irritated. Perspiration is checked. Bowels are clogged with acid wastes from the mucous discharges. So doctors say you must do THREE THINGS to be rid of a cold. Pape's Cold Compound does all three! It reduces inflammation and swelling of the mucous membrane; it induces perspiration; opens the bowels. Chew one of these pleasant tablets and see how quickly nasal discharge stops; head clears; breathing becomes easy. See how that aches, feverish, weak feeling disappears. And "Pape's" doesn't stop with killing cold germs. It activates bowel and removes germs and acid wastes from the system. All drug stores—35c. Just remember "Pape's."

Beware the COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

To Our Patrons:

We regret very much we were unable to see everyone who wanted to see the "Five Star Final" last night. The picture will play today and Friday and urge you see it one of these nights. Come early today to avoid the crowds. The box office will open at 5:15 and the feature will start at 5:30 p. m.

Lioison Between Republican Party And Radio Corporation Reported

NEW YORK—Democratic leaders of New York and New Jersey were being importuned today to ask for a congressional investigation into what is declared to be a lioison between the radio monopoly and the Republican National Committee.

The investigation, it was said, would center around the alleged political activities of the National Broadcasting Company. Charges are being openly made that the organization is extending its field of operation into politics.

Immediate cause of the protest was said to be the recent action of Chief Examiner Yost of the Federal Radio Commission in which he favored NBC over station WOR for grants of kilowatt power in the first zone.

The Republican National Committee was brought into the picture when it was revealed that Mrs. Ellis A. Yost is chairman of the women's division of that organization.

In further support of their contentions, the plaintiffs say that a concerted political effort is being made by certain Republicans to make Major General James G. Harbord chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Enlistment of democratic support for such an investigation was taken to indicate that before another Presidential campaign rolls around the radio monopoly may become a major political issue.

It was pointed out, however, that any attempt on the part of the JEWELRY that seems to be a part of the dress is one of the outstanding features of the new Paris collections. A black crepe dress from J. Suzanne-Talbot has no trimming save the dull hollow silver chains, made of alternating rings and lozenges.

Democrats to seize upon radio monopoly as a partisan talking-point will be frustrated because there are as many Republicans ready to make it an issue as there are Democrats.

A prominent Republican leader of Manhattan, when informed of the proposed investigation, declared: "Some of us Republicans have been wondering why there has been such persistent talk about General Harbord as chairman of the Republican National Committee."
