Bets On Bulldogs. Has To Unload 400 Sacks Feed

Charles Littlejohn of Ranger paid a bet on the Ranger-Breckenridge football game when he unloaded a car of feed containing 400 sacks. The car unloading stunt was pulled off Saturday.

WATCH OUT BELOW!

This is the Leaning Tower of Apulia, N. Y. Residents of the little village of 100 persons fear that the steep may topple some day, pitching its 1500-pound bell through the roof of a nearby home. But nobody has offered to advance the money which would be required to have it taken down. The church has been practically abandoned for 40 years.

Failure To Heed Superstition Is Cause of Death

Dick Chesbro, 13, was dead tonight, probably because he failed to heed his little brother, Pete's, superstition about seeing a black cat ahead.

Dick's body was found, a bullet wound in the back of his head, on a ranch five miles from here by a party which had searched for him all day.

TEACHERS END MEET SATURDAY

By United Press.
AMARILLO, Nov. 27.—Delegates to the State Teachers association convention today adopted a resolution opposing military training in secondary schools. An effort to qualify the resolution by placing it in the work compulsory was defeated by a narrow vote.

VIEWPOINT OF A WORLD WAR AMBASSADOR.

Woodrow Wilson sent James W. Gerard abroad as an ambassador to Germany. Gerard served many years and was ever loyal to his chief. As a peace policy he has recommended "an army of 500,000 men, an adequate navy and a resolution to sit tight and mind our own business."

Taking note of the coming presidential race this former ambassador said he favored the democratic candidacy of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York but "Ohio has plenty of good presidential timber also." He mentioned Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war; Gov. George White and Sen. Robert J. Buckley as possibilities. "Sit tight and mind our own business," was the advice of George Washington in his farewell message. Japan is sitting tight, minding its own business, playing for the richest prizes and willing to let the rest of the world go by. We have the Philippines and the Islanders are demanding complete independence. We have Porto Rico and we promised the natives many years ago. "Pigs is pigs."

GOV. MURRAY AND OIL REDUCTION.

Asserting over-production is still harming the oil industry despite efforts to keep supply in line with demand, Col. Cicero I. Murray of Oklahoma, chairman of the oil states advisory committee, proposes a 15 per cent reduction in present oil runs throughout the country. Kansas is behind Kansas and Oklahoma and Texas at Tulsa Nov. 30 to consider a further reduction of from 10 to 20 per cent. Thurman Hill of Kansas is responsible for the call. Gov. Sterling no doubt will attend. He has been accused of participation in a conspiracy to keep up high price of crudes. That accusation is an honorable decoration of service to those who believe in a fair price for oil. There should be concert of action on the part of all representatives of the three oil producing states. Their government should be in behind them. Why should there be a huge over-production with oil a drug on the market, forcing the lowest of price levels and sacrificing the interest of the producers of the black gold wealth of three American commonwealths?

Holy Mountain Name Given By Mother Nature

SAN ANGELO, Texas. — Holy Mountain, one of the green-clad foothills of the Davis Mountains, was named by Mother Nature herself. Centuries of erosion and vegetation have engraved into a landscape six miles wide the letters "H-O-L-Y". This bit of nature's pen-work, comparable to the Great Stone Face and the Holy Cross, is generally unknown even in Texas. Conductors on the old Orient railroad first noticed the letters, formed by bushes, trees, ravines and bared rocks. The letter "H" of the word Holy appears soon after the train passes Cancellor, traveling east on the Santa Fe, about 22 miles west of Fort Stockton. The letter "O" is written on the left and fifth side of the track, about three miles away. John Davenport, Santa Fe conductor, describes it as follows: "As your approach comes near you observe two parallel ravines or small valleys which have their head near the peak, and come the entire distance to the foot. These two ravines have a ledge or outcropping of stone near the half-way point, which connects the two and thereby forms the alphabetical letter 'H'." Then as you continue east and having covered about one mile distance, two more ravines come into view, starting near the caprock and very nearly connected at the top, these follow down to the foot, varying widely in the center meeting at the base of the hill and forming a complete letter 'O'." "By this time you have covered about another mile distance when another ravine appears, starting as the others do near the top, it runs straight down the mountain about three-fourths the way and then turns sharply to the right, forming a beautifully engraved letter 'L'." "By this time you have covered another mile in travel when the fourth and fifth ravines unfold, starting just under the caprock. The small ravines form angles of about 45 degrees toward each other, joining about one-fourth the way down and forming a larger and more distinct ravine which continues straight to the base of the mountain, forming a distinct letter 'Y'." "You therefore in about 10 minutes travel have had a cyclorama view of a mountain bearing deeply carved on its face the distinct letters 'H-O-L-Y'."

Eastland Plans To Dress Up All Vacant Buildings

Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is asking merchants to decorate the show windows of vacant store buildings, especially on the courthouse square. There are eight vacant ones in this area and 17 vacant within two blocks of the square. Dr. Tanner is hopeful of getting the more noticeable ones trimmed for the Christmas shopping season. The window in the building formerly occupied by Muldave's has been trimmed and merchandise put on display by Wolfe's. It is expected that work will begin the first of the week in putting up the holiday decorations and colored lights on the streets.

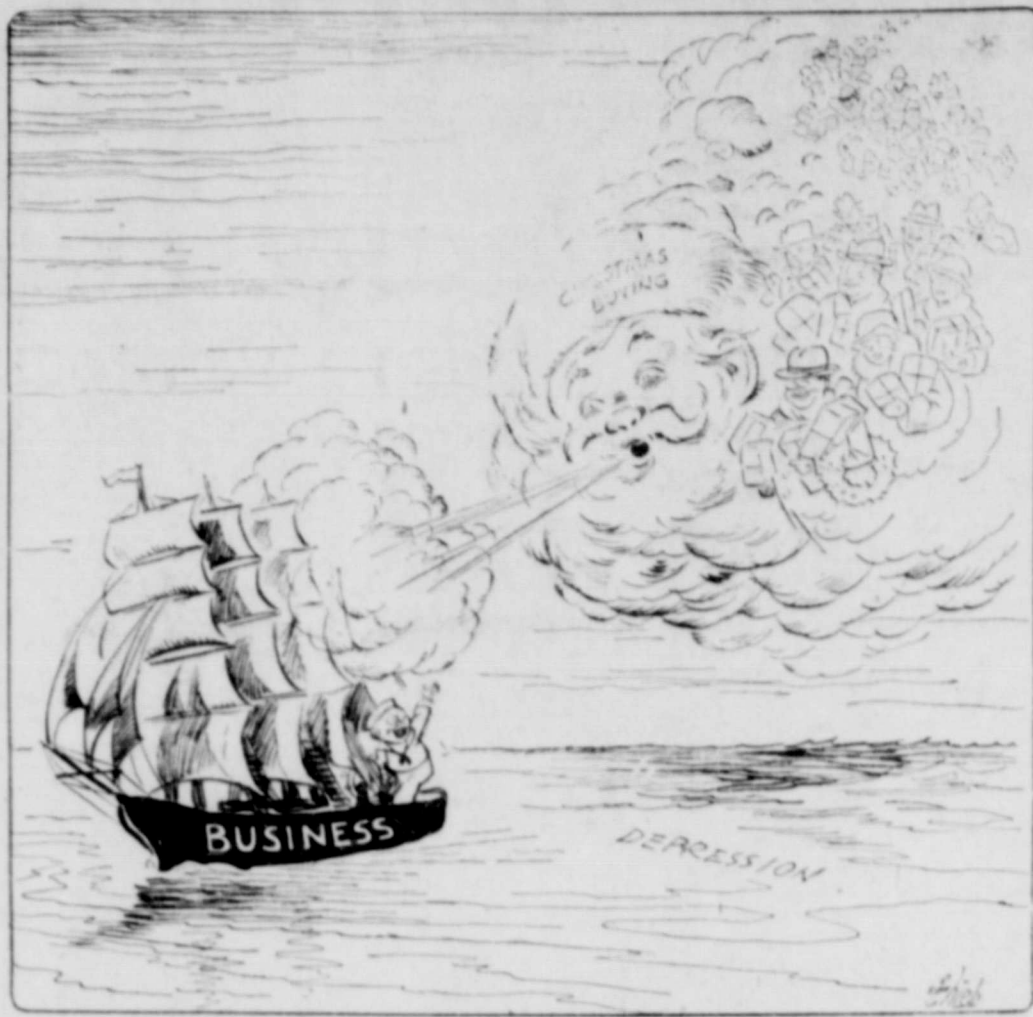

Liquidating Agent Mails Statements

Statements of account are being mailed out by the liquidating agent of the Texas State bank. All persons having an account should receive their statements in the next few days. A blank for filing proof of claim and full instructions are enclosed with the statements. These blanks when properly filled out are to be mailed to the state banking department at Austin. No information is available concerning when the depositors may expect a dividend nor what percent they are likely to receive.

Here Comes the Trade Winds!

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service-Writer
 WASHINGTON—Here are a few local notes gleaned by your correspondent.

Edward N. Hurley has been visiting here, trying to lure both the Republican and Democratic conventions to Chicago. The idea is that Chicago, if it asks for both, should at least get a 50-50 break. Hurley, an ex-brakeman who became a millionaire and a Democrat, is one of the world's most popular men. American and European men of affairs, Republican, Democratic and including the Scandinavian respect and like him for his hard business sense which is combined with an altruistic cosmopolitanism.

Chicago, although many politicians would like to go there, suffers as a convention city possibly because of Al Capone, Big Bill Thompson and the city's reputation for pin-apple-tossing. If a bunch of Tammany toughs could create a nasty atmosphere as they did for the Democrats at Madison Square Garden in 1924, what couldn't Chicago gangsters do when properly organized?

Latest dope (inconclusive) is that Republicans are likely to choose Cleveland and that Democrats are as likely to choose St. Louis as Chicago.

EVERYBODY expected a lot of people to bet Grandi of Italy, a recent visitor, mixed up with Gandhi of India. But just as usual, judging from sidewalk conversation, confused him with the famous erstwhile senator from Pennsylvania, Joe Grandy.

W. G. MEADOO has written a book about his career which some reviewers say demonstrates a continued yearning for public life.

W. G. MEADOO has written a book about his career which some reviewers say demonstrates a continued yearning for public life. Colonel Frederick Palmer, recently produced one which pictured Newton D. Baker as an heroic figure in the World War. Ernest K. Lindley is out with a somewhat adulatory biography of Governor Roosevelt of New York that takes care of Democratic presidential possibilities except Governor Ritchie of Maryland, of whom there is no full-length biography.

AT least four books are appearing which are decidedly uncomplimentary to President Hoover. Naturally, one anticipates (this being a presidential year) a tome belittling the achievements of the administration. Inquiry at Republican headquarters, however, fails to disclose that any such book is in preparation anywhere.

LIFE is just one title after another for Chief of Police Peham D. Glassford. He worked his way up, after West Point, to a colonelcy. During the war they made him brigadier-general. After the war he automatically lapsed back to being merely Colonel Glassford. Upon his retirement, thanks to an act of Congress conferring war rank on retired officers, he became General Glassford again. But the chief of police job here, which he recently accepted, carries only the title of "major." So now he is Major Glassford again.

PROHIBITION Director Amos W. W. Woodcock suspended Agent Henry Dirks, who is charged with killing a young man in a restaurant over a small bottle of wine, only after Colorado citizens had shown unprecedented indignation through mass meetings and other demonstrations. Woodcock, however, is sincerely opposed to having his agents kill people except under extreme provocation.

GASTON B. MEANS, demon ic character since the Harding administration, was arrested the other night and charged with beating both his wife and a cop. Police for several months had investigated complaints of screams from the Means home. Mrs. Means, wearing a black eye, showed up first thing in the morning to hail Gaston out.

GRIPINGS
 By GUS

This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

Going around town Saturday in an effort to stir up a few pieces to put in the paper, I noticed that more people are smoking pipes and the pipes smell worse this year than any year I ever spent in the pipe-smelling business. There are three mighty fine old gentlemen who are to be found down in Jim Steele's office almost every morning, but I can't say so much in favor of the odor of the smoke they create.

Then there's Herbert Reed's pipe, Herbert, you know, is the man you have to explain your business to before you can see Jack Lewis. There was a bull session going on there when I arrived. They were re-playing some recent football games and discussing the possibilities of T. C. U. beating S. M. U. But just about the time they got the ball on the 20-yard line and were ready to break through for a touchdown, Jack Lewis came in and you should have seen them feller get busy. Jack was supposed to be gone to Fort Worth, I think, but he was waiting to see if, when and where John Mouser and Fred Blatt were going to eat turkey.

I don't think John Mouser would steal pecans out of a friend's car, but the fact that he was seen eating some pecans which looked exactly like the missing nuts naturally put the finger of suspicion pointing at him. Neither do I think Fred Blatt would steal a man's turkey, but John Mouser lost one and had Fred arrested for it. Now Jack Lewis is mad because Fred Blatt didn't have that turkey cooked and give Jack half of it. The above story is the substance of an interview I had with Mr. Lewis. I suspect he is using this story to evade some of the important questions I wanted to interview him about.

Bill Mayes is quite versatile. In addition to his other accomplishments he claims to be a cook. That crack he made at me in his column Friday was all bolony. Mrs. Mayes had prepared a delightful cake for Thanksgiving and Bill came in smoking that evil odored tobacco incinerator of his'n and told her about how he used to be an old army cook and a couple of ceteras and insisted that he be allowed to make the icing. He got down the cook book and turned to page 278 where it said, "icings, frostings and fillings." He picked out the one that had words in it that he understood the meaning of and proceeded to mix himself up a batch of cake icing. When the last ingredient was stirred and cooked, he required amount of time. Bill didn't have cake icing at all—he had made some of this gooey junk like you see stuffed inside of cream puffs. Then he tried to lay his failure onto his wife by saying that she didn't know icing from filling. She went ahead and made the icing after his perfect flop.

The Christmas lights are up in Abilene. The streets look purty.

Interesting people I've talked to recently include Earl Harvey, the corpulent entrepreneur of the harmless livery stable. He tells me he used to play marbles with the Dalton boys. Came here 10 years ago and a service car driver took him around the block a few times and brought him back to approximately the same place where he got out in the car and charged him $1 for taking him to a couple of blocks of town. He expected to find this town full of cowboys and found it full of oil field workers. He settled down and saved his money and now he smokes cigars. His hobby is hunting. His weakness is football. He fills a lot of space when you're riding three in a seat.

LIKES $150 OF MAKING QUOTA SET AT START

Response To Plea for Funds Is Gratifying To Head of Drive.

A week ago, Chairman John Mouser and Alex Clarke, who are in charge of the Eastland Boy Scout drive were not much encouraged over the outlook. The drive had been started and then suspended on account of business conditions; commitments were not cleared up and they had turned their lists back and given up hopes of a successful campaign. Then Mouser and Clarke started out to work alone and their example of optimism aroused a spirit of co-operation among other committeemen and in a short time practically all were working and meeting with unusual success.

Quota Was $600
 Mouser expressed himself as being mighty well pleased with the wave of response that came in with his committeemen's reports. Of the 32 members on the original list following have reported, some of them not finished their solicitations, but all of them still working: Earl Woody, Earl Bender, W. S. Michael, Horace Conley, G. S. Stire, Walter Clarke, John Burke, L. J. Lambert, Jim Horton, Ralph Crouch and F. M. Kenney. Some were excused on account of the urgency of business.

The Eastland quota for this zone was established at $600. Of this amount $459.56 had been subscribed at noon Saturday and $250 had been paid in cash. Eastland has heretofore been prompt in raising her quota and last year it was over-subscribed.

How is Time To Look Over Battery, Local Dealer Says

“Nothing surveys of this and a new fashion now,” said J. S. Reynolds, the local dealer, “but much information of practical value can be obtained.”

“For instance,” he continued, “a survey made by the manufacturer of Exide batteries to find out approximately how many times the average motorist calls his battery to start his car. The information obtained was very interesting. It was found that the average was 2,200 times a year. That means that the average automobile battery discharges about 2.2 times a year. This means that the average motorist calls his battery to start his car approximately 2.2 times a year. This information is of value in many ways. It emphasizes the necessity of keeping a watchful eye on the use of the battery, especially at the beginning of the winter season. In cold weather, Mr. Reynolds stated, “the engine is harder to turn and the efficiency of any motor, regardless of its make, is reduced. Accordingly a battery that has been working all right during the summer may not be in condition to stand an increased load in winter. A battery that has been lowered efficiency in warm weather a battery can be in a pretty poor condition and be capable of turning over an engine.”

“But when frosty mornings come, the weakness in batteries is to appear, usually catching the motorist unawares. Battery inspection at this time is a good insurance against unexpected battery failure this winter.”

“If the first quarrel is the key to a married life, there's a catch in somewhere.”

CHURCHES

ST. RITA'S CHURCH.
Masses will be at 8 and 10 a. m. by Rev. M. Collins. Masses on Friday will be at 6:45 and 8 a. m. Next Friday is the first Friday of the month.

The Gospel read in the mass today is taken from St. Luke 21:25-32. This is the first Sunday of the ecclesiastical (church) year and a special collection will be taken up today at the masses for the support of the Catholic university at Washington, D. C.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Kindergarten Class of Mrs. H. H. Durham

On the kindergarten floor of today play the men and women leaders of tomorrow, is the opinion of the supervisor of this kindergarten class, Mrs. H. H. Durham. This picture shows the kindergartners with one of the toys they have made. They are wearing their orchestra suits. In the orchestra they develop a sense of rhythm. “We aim to establish the habits and develop the attitudes the child carries throughout his school and his later life,” explained Mrs. Durham. He develops a sense of responsibility, of independence of cooperation and feels his way to doing things with his hands that shape his hobbies and avocations in later life. He learns how to play, but also how to work.

very delightful announcement to the folks who attend this church. The slat seats are removed and are replaced by seats that came from the old Liberty theatre. If the weather is cold, there are stoves in all departments, and you will be made comfortable. We are very much indebted to the membership of the church and our other friends of the city who have made it possible to get these seats.

Come and worship with us in any or all the services of the day.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH.

Note the change in time for evening services.

EASTLAND CHURCHES

ST. FRANCIS XAVIER CHURCH
Mass at 8 a. m.

This is the first Sunday in Advent and it is the first Sunday of the ecclesiastical year. The ecclesiastical or church year differs from the civil year which starts in January. Advent is from the Latin word adventure, meaning coming; and refers to the coming of Christ; so that from now on we prepare to celebrate the birth of Christ at Christmas. This is a time for fasting and prayer and the vestments used in the church are symbolic of penance and suffering. This time also represents the time from the creation or fall or sin of Adam and Eve when heaven was closed to the birth of Christ 1,900 years ago. Advent extends for about four Sundays before Christmas. Advent has been observed in the church as far back as the seventh century. This time we ought to practice in a special manner self-denial, so that we may be able to give more to the poor at Christmas time and at the same time help ourselves in a spiritual way.

Gems of Peril

by HAZEL ROSS HAILEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY Mary Harkness plots to ensnare The Fly, who she believes 'framed' her brother, Eddie, with the murder of old Mrs. Jupiter, and later ran Eddie down and killed him.

She meets Count De Loma, old acquaintance of Countess Louise, Bruce's friend. De Loma is listed as the owner of The Fly's horse. Mr. Jupiter buys a second-hand car of the same make that used by the murderer, and finds Eddie's I. O. U. for $15,000 in it.

an exchange of something from hand to hand—De Loma looked about and shifted restlessly. At any moment he might bolt for it. She realized suddenly that they did not know of the presence of her handbag in his pocket, or they would not let him go so easily.

ing herself "solid" with the right set. What she did not know, however, was that the flower of the Tabor clan tomorrow would not be able to recall having met her. In the meantime, Cornelia and her chum would have sneaked away from the sordid scene of battle, and by the time the newspapers got wind of the affair, they would be safely entrenched behind their locked hotel-room doors.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT, United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS—What a break for the "bustier"! No more trivial and unbecoming "bustier" that always manages to get caught somewhere and start to unravel. The 1931-32 bustier is as modern and up-to-date as the debutante who splashes around in it preparatory to dashing from one party to another.

Bath towels, wash cloths and mats are as unusual and artistic in design and color as the brocaded curtains in the best parlor and the Oriental rugs on the library floor. In fact, while they are immediately absorbent and never have to pass over a damp surface, but ones to completely dry it, they have the look and the feel of being silk or satin.

There is something about these innovations that commands much more respect from their employers. Without stopping to reason it out you always hang them up where they belong when you finish with them.

A Meadow gin employee received 9,540 eggs from 20 hens in one year—an average of 247 eggs per hen.

Drinkers, says a headline, pay one-fifth of Britain's taxes. Well, over there it's "Ale, ah, the gang's all here."
