Marines Sent To Scene Of Salvador Revolt

REPORTS SAY 1,000 KILLED IN UPRISING

Three Warships Enroute To El Salvador From Panama.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Three United States warships with 112 Marines are steaming full speed to El Salvador from Panama under orders to protect Americans in the strife-torn republic.

The state department has been informed of serious disorder reportedly of communistic nature in the Central American nation.

The department was informed telephone connections have been destroyed and railroad tracks torn up. Fighting is reported in three towns.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Private notices were received here today saying 1,000 or more persons were reported killed over Sunday in the Salvador uprising.

These notices, among the last to arrive before communications with the interior were further curtailed, describe the uprising of communistic nature and said the killings had occurred in the interior.

The notices said dynamite bombs were being used freely against public buildings. Canadian warcraft have arrived off El Salvador.

Prisoners Revolt In London Pen; Guards Called Out

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Heavy guards re-enforced by police and troops held in readiness, preserved order today at the famous Dartmoor prison on the Moors near Exeter after a mass attempt of 100 of the 400 convicts to escape.

Twenty convicts among those more seriously hurt in the rioting were in the prison hospital. The six ringleaders were isolated while the government officials investigated.

It was expected the leaders might be flogged or have their sentences increased, but capital punishment cannot be inflicted.

Discontent had been growing, apparently based on dissatisfaction at the food, just as complaints about food resulted in the "Dartmoor riots" more than 100 years ago in which seven seamen of the War of 1812 were killed.

Chinese Government Split Over Policy Toward Japanese

The Chinese government was split today by resignation of Foreign Minister Eugene Chen and Premier Fu Fe, while Chiang Kai-shek and other militarists conferred at Nanking on their future policy toward Japan.

Japan maintained an imposing display of naval and military power at Shanghai. Japanese authorities threatened drastic action unless demands of their ultimatum, expiring shortly, were met.

Residents of the international settlement at Shanghai were assured Japan would take no action without ample warning.

Shanghai terrorists attempted to bomb the city's largest moving picture theatre and set fire to the Japanese minister's home.

Washington and London watched the situation closely.

Owen Bray Victim Of Change Artist

Owen Bray at the "M" System grocery, Ranger, was the victim of short change artists' Saturday evening.

Two men went into the store and one made a purchase and offered a $20 bill in payment of the groceries. The other then offered to pay for the purchase and in making the change Mr. Bray found that he was several dollars short.

He notified officers and a search was made for the short change pair, but they were not located. It was thought that they were transients.

This is one of the oldest "gags" of the short change workers and has been given publicity from time to time for a number of years, and practically every town in the United States has been visited by people making their way in this manner.

KING TAKES OATH UNDER GUARD'S EYE

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 25.—Surrounded by loyal guards, Alvin O. King, native of the Kansas Jack rabbit country, took the oath of office as governor of Louisiana today amid political turmoil, caused by a second claimant to the governorship.

The oath was administered in the governor's office of the executive mansion, vacated Saturday by Huey P. Long, who went to Washington to become United States senator from Louisiana.

A half dozen officers of the highway patrol stood guard outside the room. Detectives held points of vantage in doorways and windows inside and on steps and trees outside the mansion to prevent the feared coup by Paul Cyr, dentist-politician, who also claims the governorship.

Verdict Awarded In Gas Suit In Eastland J. P. Court

Justice of the Peace Newman of Eastland rendered judgment by default in favor of C. F. Sheppard against the Community Natural Gas company for the sum of $1.43 and costs.

The suit was brought by Sheppard to recover $1.43 which Sheppard claimed he was overcharged on a bill for gas. Sheppard contended that his bill should have been figured on the basis of the rate in effect prior to Dec. 20, while his bill was figured on the rate put in effect at that time.

The gas company had filed a motion Saturday to transfer the case from justice court to the federal court, but Justice Newman called the case for trial this morning and rendered judgment in favor of the plaintiff.

MAN HELD IN ROBBERY CONFESSES

Harry Byars of Ranger was being held in the Eastland county jail this morning in connection with the robbery of the A. & P. grocery store in Breckenridge Saturday night.

According to Assistant District Attorney Grady Owen, Byars signed a confession which implicated another man, now being sought in connection with the robbery. It was thought today that Byars would be turned over to Stephens county authorities.

John Barnes, deputy sheriff of Ranger, captured one man, alleged to have committed a robbery at the A. & P. grocery store at Breckenridge Saturday night at 9:45. The man signed a confession, which was held by the Ranger police for delivery to the chief of police at Breckenridge. The man was taken to Eastland where, according to John Barnes, he signed a confession implicating another man. The confession was made to Assistant District Attorney Grady Owen and the man lodged in the county jail.

The two bandits hijacked the A. & P. grocery store on West Walker street, Breckenridge, Saturday night, forced eight employees to the floor and looted two cash registers of approximately $300 in cash and checks.

The two bandits walked into the store as preparations were being made of close. One of them went to the back of the store, the other remaining at the front.

Six of the eight customers were forced down behind the meat counter where they were told to remain. One of the bandits took approximately $100 from the register in the meat department.

The other obtained about $35 in cash and an undetermined amount of checks from the grocery store cash register and demanded a package of 50 $1 bills which were hidden in a box beneath the counter. He was given the money.

Approximately $100 in cash and checks, hidden just beneath the cash register of the meat department, was overlooked by the bandits.

Reports of the robbery were telephoned to Ranger and John Barnes remained on the lookout for the men, locating them about 11 o'clock. One was arrested and lodged in jail and the other escaped, but is being sought by officers.

Two Held As Suspects In The Louisville Robbery

TEXLINE, Texas, Jan. 25.—Two men who gave their names as F. B. Robbins and L. B. Varner were arrested here today as suspects in the robbery of a bank at Louisville, Colo., where approximately $21,000 was taken.

None of the loot was recovered. The men told officers they would fight extradition. They were arrested when their car broke down four miles west of here.

The officers were unable to find a machine gun which the men said they hid behind a billboard. One claimed to be a former bodyguard of Al Capone.

Long Makes Error On His First Day As A Senator

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Governor Huey P. Long, democrat, Louisiana, began his legislative career today by smashing two senate precedents.

He was escorted to the vice president's desk by Minority Leader Robinson instead of by his colleague and political enemy, Senator Broussard, democrat, Louisiana.

The other precedent was shattered when the senator entered the chamber with a lighted cigar. He left his cigar on Robinson's desk when Vice President Curtis and burned his fingers. Smoking is not permitted in the senate.

Governor of Porto Rico Worked Way Through University

AUSTIN, James R. Beverley, 37-year-old attorney general of Porto Rico who this week was named by President Hoover as governor general of the island, worked his way through the University of Texas.

"Jimmy" was known here as a writer of campus politics. While a student he lived in "B" hall, a rambling shack then the campus stronghold of democracy where student leaders gathered.

The martial music of army bugles disbanded the political "huddles" and Beverley and his colleagues went overseas during the World War. He attained the rank of first lieutenant, and his prowess in pistol shooting won him many medals in France. Today he holds a reserve commission as major.

Beverley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Beverley of Amarillo, was admitted to the Texas bar in 1925. He was practicing law in Corpus Christi when he was appointed deputy attorney general of the Porto Rican public service commission. In 1927 he was appointed second assistant attorney general and in 1928, attorney general.

Couch, who is from Pine Bluff, is president of the Arkansas Trust company. Jones is a leading financier in Texas. He is interested in several banks and has had wide experience in financial and industrial matters.

Immigration Ban Starts Dry Goods Trade In Mexico

WASHINGTON.—Creation of a dry goods manufacturing industry in Mexico is said to be the indirect culmination of United States immigration laws curtailing admission of foreigners, according to Consul Sokobin, of Saltillo, Mexico.

Mexican merchants assert that immigrants, unable to enter the United States, have gone to Mexico City, in many instances, and started manufacturing enterprises there.

Fluctuations in peso exchange, and many "distress" offerings, made by Mexico City merchants, have led Saltillo retailers to buy directly from Mexico City.

GET THE FACTS!

Representative Ralph A. Horr, sent to congress from the state of Washington, fears that an active attempt is in progress to place control over the broadcasting facilities of the country into the hands of a small group of inter-related corporations.
 Congressman Horr knows what he is talking about. He owned a number of broadcasting stations in the Pacific Northwest. He has seen two-thirds of all broadcasting facilities in the state of Washington fall into the hands of the National Broadcasting company; he has seen that concern acquire all of the more powerful stations in the north-west and has watched it purchase one station after another in California. He knows that all but three of the country's super-power stations are owned or affiliated with the two national chains, and he is worried by this continuous drift toward a broadcasting monopoly.
 Representative Horr knows that Congress has consistently endeavored by specific legislation to prevent a monopoly of any phase of this new method of communication. He knows that no broadcasting station can change hands without the consent of the federal radio commission. Therefore he includes in his demand for an investigation of the alleged broadcasting monopoly an inquiry into the policies and methods of the radio commission.
 Congress should by all means authorize such an investigation speedily.

A NEW DEAL FOR NEW JERSEY.

Arthur Harry Moore, democrat, stepped back into the governorship of New Jersey with a tax-slashing plan running into millions of dollars. He asked the legislature to sweep out 94 agencies and 35 commissions and substitute a 12-man cabinet. He declared for the passing back to the taxpayers some of the money "that may be saved by postponement of all non-essential state activities." He recommended that $16,500,000 be turned back through municipalities, "many of which have found it hard to meet state tax requirements." Of this, about $13,000,000 would come from the gasoline tax and $3,000,000 from the savings on a restricted highway program.
 Speaker Jack Garner and his lieutenants promised to slash $350,000,000 from the appropriations, and there are democratic leaders who insist that there should be a salary cut in that of the president and all down the line. There are 700,000 on the federal payroll and commissions and agencies galore. It is estimated that one-third of the national income goes to defray the expense of government in nation and state and county and town. Why not face the issue? Why not lift some of the burden from the shoulders and pockets of the people?

HEALTHY CHILDREN

How to Provide Proper Food and Care at a Minimum Cost

By SISTER MARY,
 Written Especially for NEA Service and This Paper.
 In order for children to grow without incurring any of the diseases through deprivation of proper nourishment, nutrition experts have worked out the minimum amount of food that must be supplied.
 Food has been divided into five groups, each group essential to the welfare and health of children. Milk comes first, from one pint to one quart to drink and use in cooking.
 In the second group are placed bread, cereals, rice, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles and the like; one or more of these foods to be used at every meal with whole grain breads and cereals predominating.
 Group three takes care of the vegetables and fruit and recommends generous helpings of two or three vegetables including lettuce, spinach, cabbage, carrots and other leafy vegetables. Tomatoes are classed with fruit and fresh or canned may be used in place of oranges. Some other fruit such as bananas or apples should also be provided.
 Eggs, meat, fish, cheese, dried beans, peas and lentils make up the fourth group. At least one food from this group should be chosen daily with preferably an egg at least three or four times during the week and meat never more than once a day.
 The fats come in group five with some cream, butter, oleomargarine, nut butter, bacon, suet or other fat and a little cod liver oil daily suggested. On such a diet a child can grow and protect his health.
 From these groups it is comparatively easy to plan luncheon menus. Such vegetables as potatoes, carrots, cabbage, onions and spinach can be cooked in many ways that are appetizing and nourishing. Yellow turnips and dried peas and beans add variety. Cabbage, carrots and onions are all good served raw and can be used alone or in combinations. Red cabbage has more iron than the white variety and its color often appeals to children.
 Vegetable chowders and cream soups offer the maximum amount of food value for the money spent.
 It is a good idea to eat some raw fruit or raw vegetable every day. When a soft food or a liquid such as a cream soup forms the main luncheon dish the raw food is particularly valuable on account of its crisp texture.
 Day-old bread is better for children than fresh bread and costs less. Stale bread combined with dried fruit and milk, makes acceptable puddings.
 If milk, bread, one cooked vegetable and one raw vegetable, some fruit other than that used for breakfast and a dessert made of rice, or some other cereal composed of the substance a child is sure to receive his full quota of the "protective" foods and a balanced diet.
 A vegetable should be cooked as quickly as possible. When wanted for a soup the amount of water used for cooking is less important since the liquid can be utilized in the soup. But when the vegetable is to be served without its juices, the smallest amount of water possible to prevent burning should be used.

SISTER MARY'S LUNCHEON MENUS

Suggested menu:
 Cream of tomato soup, whole wheat toast sticks, carrot straws, jellied prunes with custard sauce.
 Milk is not needed as a drink for children in this menu since both the soup and custard sauce contain good amounts of it.
 The next luncheon menu suggests a vegetable chowder:
 Vegetable chowder, crisp crackers, shredded raw red cabbage and apple salad, bread, rice pudding, milk for children.
 Since less milk is used for cooking in this menu it is imperative that a child shall have a cup of milk to drink.
 When the noon meal is the heartiest meal of the day such dishes as macaroni and cheese, meat stew and baked beans may be introduced.
 The noon meal is an excellent time to serve eggs in some form. In main dishes such as scalloped potatoes and eggs, in desserts and in custard sauce for a plain dessert eggs can be used to good advantage.
 In the accompanying luncheon menu a well-balanced diet is provided.

Tomorrow: Dinner Menus.

"The Open Door"

TARIFF MAY MAKE LONDON STYLE CENTER

By United Press.
 LONDON.—British semi-tariff walls may be the means of transferring the home of women's fashions from Paris to London.
 Already the virtual exclusion of all foreign cloth and clothing imports by the Alnormal Importations Act, has led to an increase in popularity of British goods, while the "Buy British" campaign has seen manufacturers attempting to emulate foreign styles to an extent never before tried.
Glove and Stocking Trade
 The cheap fancy glove and silk stocking market, hitherto almost exclusively handled by the foreigner, is now made worth while for the attention of the British producer.
 Indications that the time may come when the decision regarding the length of a skirt, or the angle of a hat, will come from London, instead of Paris, are given by the announcement of 1932 women's fashions by many leading British houses, who have not waited to see what Paris dictates.
 London stylists predict a demure era. The evening-dress fashion of three months ago, when little or nothing was worn above the waistline, when slender suspenders at the back held up a small front bib, which did duty for a bodice, is no longer correct. Dress designers say are larger broad sleeves are to be that up-to-the-shoulders necklines wear.
Velvet Popular
 Another change will be the wearing of velvet, formerly a mid-winter fabric, in the spring and early summer. This is just another angle of the "Buy British" drive, which has produced an exceptionally lightweight cotton velvet that not only is washable but suitable for all-weather wear. There also is an uncrushable artificial silk, as delicate in texture as swan-down, and more durable.
 Some of the new shades predicted by London houses include: "Lava" green, "Cactus" green, "Blossom" pink, "Madonna" blue, "Tudor" brown.

West Texas Towns Have No Killings

By United Press.
 MUNDAY, Texas.—Munday and Goree, adjoining towns, refute the belief that "Wild West" shootings take a heavy toll of life.
 The two towns, whose populations total 2,000, are well into the second quarter of a century of their existence with the record of never having had a homicide in which a white person has been the victim.
 Making the record even more impressive is the fact that each town came into existence when this territory was in its transition between the old West and the new—when ranches were being cut up into farms and farms into town lots.
 Despite the fact that the combined negro population of the two communities probably has never exceeded 100, there have been seven homicides among members of that race.
 Both Munday and Goree were founded in anticipation of the building of the Wichita Valley railroad which links Wichita Falls and Abilene. The first train to be operated into Munday pulled in over the newly completed Wichita Valley tracks on June 1, 1906, and into Goree not long after.

UNITED STATES AUTOS IN CANARY ISLANDS

By United Press.
 WASHINGTON.—Ninety-five per cent of the automobiles sold in the Canary Islands are made in the United States, according to surveys conducted by the department of commerce. During the third quarter of 1931, 140 automobiles were placed in operation in the Canary Islands.

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—What's all this talk about the "right to work" that you hear so much about?

If people have any such right it appears that about 7,000,000 of them are being cheated—deprived, that is, of the right. And yet there appears to be an overwhelming preponderance of opinion that such a human being is born with such a right.
 Diligent research fails to discover the recognition of any such right in the Constitution, in the acts of Congress or in the old common law. Federal Judge Wilkerson of Chicago 10 years ago laid down from the bench the dictum that "The right to work is not an absolute right," as he granted a labor injunction.
 That little crack of Wilkerson's, however, is one of the things that will be used against him when progressive members of the Senate try to prevent confirmation of his promotion to the federal Circuit Court of Appeals. They contend that, although the law books do not mention it, there is an absolute moral right to work which no one dares dispute. Their theory is that when society denies a man the right to work—or a chance to work—it is, in effect, sentencing him to death by starvation or to a life of crime.
BUT probably the first attempt to make a legal provision of "the right to work" is advanced by Congressman David John Lewis of Maryland, who was working in the coal mines at the age of nine and is now recognized as one of the most able members of the House. Lewis has introduced a bill for a national system based on the Gerard Swope plan for employment stabilization backed by results of the congressman's studies in this country and Europe. He points out that where the "swope program would control such benefits as old age pensions, life and disability insurance and unemployment insurance on

This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

Diek Phillips has promised to write some poetry for this column. He is said to be talented with the ability to write on any subject, provided someone will suggest the subject. His first contribution will appear whenever he gets it written and will be entitled, "Eating Crackers in Bed."

From the Cisco News comes a story that ought to be in some column this week, so we'll just proceed to put it here:

Cisco has given national publicity when Bob Newhall, sports announcer, related an anecdote from the visit of the Cincinnati Reds to this city in 1919 or 1920.

"When the Reds were training at Cisco, a West Texas town, a tall, swarthy, rookier whose name I shall not call, was the shiek of the outfit," related Mr. Newhall. "Cisco exerted itself to entertain the boys and there were numerous functions in their honor.
 "At that time it was customary for the man to place a handkerchief over his hand to keep from soiling the gown of his dancing partner if the weather was warm.
 "The rookie had a large evening with a charming young woman in a beautiful white satin gown as his partner. The night was warm. After one dance and just as another began the young lady requested of the rookie: 'I'll ask you to use a handkerchief, if you don't mind.'
 "The rookie flushed. 'Well,' he said, 'I aim to please the ladies. I don't need it, but, just as you say.'
 "And he blew his nose."

Rebellion

Baseball players all along the line have broken into rebellion at pay cuts which total $1,000,000. The "bad news" seems to be more prevalent in the National League than in the American, where few disturbances have been reported. Three of the Giants, Bill Terry, Mel Ott and Fred Fitzsimmons, have declared their unwillingness to accept drastic slashes. There will be especially loud walls from Brooklyn and Pittsburgh, too. The magnates are going to have plenty of trouble.

A. R. Lawerson Dies Enroute To Ranger Hospital

A. R. Lawerson, who lived a mile and a half east of Ranger on the Strawn highway, died en route to a Ranger hospital this morning.
 Mr. Lawerson, who had been ill, was found by the side of the highway by Wash Woods and was brought to Ranger, dying before he reached the hospital. It was apparent that Mr. Lawerson had attempted to walk to Ranger and had been overcome. He was found about 50 yards beyond the Country Club cafe on the side of the road where he had fallen.
 Doctors attributed his death to natural causes. Funeral arrangements had not been completed early this afternoon.

HOW AND SLIDE

Henry L. Farrell

Oh, Is That All?
 BARNEY OLDFIELD suggests that America can smash the world automobile speed record, set by Britisher Malcolm Campbell at 245 miles an hour last year.
 The record was set with a 1400-horsepower machine. Oldfield suggests an automobile with two engines, 1200 horsepower each; four-wheel drive; automatic accelerator and release, and telescopic sights. In such a car, says Old Barney, all a fellow would have to do would be to sit there and hold it on the line, Ahem!

Baseball Economies
 UNIFORMS for ball players average $20 apiece. By buying all the uniforms for the Cardinal chain store teams, Branch Rickey has cut the cost of each uniform in half.
 Baseballs cost $1.25 to $1.50 apiece. It is Rickey's idea for organized baseball to build its own baseball factory and make the balls at a cost of about 35 cents apiece.
 Further, Rickey suggests that one man do all the buying of uniforms for each league, forcing competitive bidding by the sports goods companies. Mr. Rickey is not a bad hand at figures.

Wilson's Value
 HACK WILSON still worth $15,000 a week if he could be bought. He is worth $250, says Max Carey of the Flock. He will draw players for at least another year. Hack has been the champion in Brooklyn and is visiting cities. Many say if he still is as hot with the Cubs, he will be bought and change some crowd. That is even in times of depression has a definite market.

How About the Judge?
 DURING all the drastic pay cuts and the hunt for new nothing has been said of governing the Landis' salary is $45,000 and his secretary is $10,000. And in the old days the Commission worked 45 feet at a speed of 20 miles per hour.
 The officers will mark off the distance at some convenient location on the highway and test the brakes on the cars as they come.

At lunch today with Roy Speed, Ranger baker, we talked about the bread business and the lack thereof. Also commented on how many people there are now who bake their own biscuits or corn bread instead of buying bakers' bread. I never did see how a bakery could make money with only a fraction of a cent profit to the loaf of bread. Some of them haven't made money. Others seem to permit their owners riding in a good car. I guess it's mostly in the management.
