PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

Today Gripping Gus made a hurried trip to Ranger from the county capital before he had a chance to write any Gripping column. This played havoc with us, as we thought about out of soap and thought maybe we could get by today by using his column.

Anyway, Gus found a few minutes to spare and we watched him. He wasn't seeming to make any headway with his column and so we decided that we would have to shake off the spring fever, or pure laziness, or whatever it is that is affecting us, and write a few paragraphs.

Last night we drove around the town trying to find a place to park. Our objective was a meeting of the American Legion Rifle club, which was being held in the office of the Chamber of Commerce.

We drove the length of Main street, up and down Austin, and finally found a place to park on Pine street, which was not so far away, but recently we lost a spare tire and wheel when we parked on Marston, around the corner from Main, so we were a little uneasy about leaving the family gondola so far from the bright lights.

All along Main and the intersecting streets were places one could almost park but not quite. Cars were driven into the streets having angles, making it impossible to get in between them.

After a careful survey, we estimated that from two to three more cars could have been put in each block if the cars had been parked properly.

Now our suggestion would be that Engineer G. A. Murphy be given a bucket of white paint, a nice new brush and instructed to paint stripes along the streets which would aid the people in getting the proper angle and the proper spacing when parking their cars.

This would be a boon to some of the merchants, too, because it would allow more customers to park in their block. Often we have wanted to visit a certain store, but have been forced to park so far away that we would look for a place to park in some other store. If everyone had parked properly all along the street, in practically every instance several more cars could have squeezed in to the curb.

Maybe we are lazier than the average, but if there is one thing we hate to do it is park our car a long way from where we are going and then walk back to a store. And, too, we are so absent-minded at times that we forget where we park the bus and have to walk around town looking for it.

A hasty glance at the calendar just revealed the fact that today is our birthday, so we are going to celebrate right now by taking ourselves out to the corner and having us a drink. Excuse us, will you.

John G. Clark, of Stephenville, son of Dr. Randolph Clark of Ranger and a brother of Mrs. E. F. Holloway died Thursday afternoon.

Merchants Offer Many Bargains For Thrifty Buyers

Throughout the pages of today's Ranger Times will be found many advertisements of the merchants of the city, calling attention to the bargains they have to offer.

Prices have been lowered from time to time so that now necessities can be bought at a figure lower than at any time since the days of 1914. The thrifty shopper is taking advantage of these offerings of the merchants and than they have in many years.

Turn through the pages of today's paper and you will find that this is true in Ranger.

At the meeting of the officers and members of the American Legion Rifle club, held at the office of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night at 7 o'clock, it was voted to hold the official opening of the range on Sunday, March 20.

The public will be cordially invited to be present at the opening shoot and anyone who wishes to go so may shoot over the rifle range without cost on the first day. Five shots each with a regulation army rifle will be allowed anyone who wishes to look for a place to park in some other store. If everyone had parked properly all along the street, in practically every instance several more cars could have squeezed in to the curb.

As the admission fee has been reduced to $1 for the year, it was decided to limit the number of members to 100 and when that number of tickets have been sold the memberships will be closed and no others accepted.

Those taking out memberships will be allowed to shoot any Sunday afternoon without cost, guns, ammunition and targets being furnished free.

Mr. Jarvis said that he did not believe it was any of the boys from the school, as the one who broke in the door apparently doesn't know how it worked and all the boys in the school did.

14 PLANES OF CHINESE SHOT DOWN BY JAPS

Is Largest Aerial Encounter Since the Days of the World War.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26.—The Japanese sent a sensational armada of bombing planes against the Chinese air forces at Hangchow today.

day and claimed to have destroyed 14 enemy planes while infantry and artillery battled away at the Chinese lines between Tazang and Kiangwan.

The Japanese bombing fleet numbered 25, including heavy bombers and their fleet pursuit and battle planes.

It was a bombing fleet to rival many seen in action during the World War.

Three Chinese planes were shot down during the air battle over Hangchow airport, Japanese claimed. Eleven other Chinese planes were destroyed by bombs, they claimed.

The airport is the Chinese air base. The Japanese claimed they had destroyed the entire Chinese concentration of fighting planes.

The Japanese said their one disabled plane, forced down on a bay, was the only Japanese casualty. The plane's occupants were rescued.

Foreigners here were not familiar with the personnel of the base and it was not known whether there were Americans or other foreigners connected with the Chinese airmen.

While victory was claimed by the Japanese aerial forces, their infantry and artillery were having a more difficult time beating back the Chinese before Tazang.

The Japanese announced their casualties in Thursday's fighting at 120 dead and wounded. They claim to have counted 180 Chinese dead left on the field.

No Japanese re-enforcements have arrived today although additional troops were expected momentarily.

A Chinese news agency said Chinese officials expected the Japanese to launch the greater military offensive since the World War with half of the Japanese national air force, approximately 200 planes, concentrated at Shanghai.

The agency said the Japanese apparently intended to make a supreme effort to dislodge the Chinese before the League of Nations commission appointed to report on the Manchurian situation, reaches Shanghai, March 4.

JAP FLYERS SHOOT DOWN YANKEE PILOT IN FIGHT OVER SOOCHOW TRENCHES

Three Japanese battle planes hovered over Soochow. Robert M. Short, 27, shown above, jumped into his U. S. made biplane of the Chinese aviation section and took off for an aerial fight. Half an hour later his plane, riddled with bullets, came down to crash near the secondary defense lines around the provincial city as shown in sketch. He died in a hospital shortly after. Short, born in Steilacoom, Wash., trained as flyer during the World War, but was not commissioned. He obtained his transport license at Los Angeles in 1927. After flying 2439 hours over American airways he left for China in 1929 where he became adviser for Bureau of Aeronautics of the Chinese government.

The $26,000 airplane in which Short was shot down is shown here in a test flight in the United States before it was sold to the Chinese army.

County Agents Planning Work For County Clubs

County Agent J. C. Patterson and Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent, are perfecting plans for the beginning of organization work among the Eastland county club boys and girls in the immediate future.

Last year there were 10 boys and girls 4-H clubs in the county, but due to consolidations there possibly will not be more than eight this year.

Organization of the clubs and the election of officers for each organization accomplished the clubs will begin getting ready for the annual trip to the A. & M. College for the agricultural short course, which, therefore, has been held during the last week in July, but which may be held earlier this year on account of the elections, which will take place in July. It having been pointed out that if the short course is held during the last week of July many attending could not reach their homes in time to vote if they remained at College Station for the entire program.

Mr. Patterson is very anxious that as many of the boys and girls as possible attend the short course this year. He states that $2160 is the very least two members from each club may attend the short course.

APPEAL ON MARTIAL LAW RULING NEAR

TYLER, Texas, Feb. 26.—Formal decree of the three-judge federal court declaring martial law in East Texas will be invalid and exempting properties of Eugene Constantin and J. D. Wraether from military orders, was filed here today. It provided for the issuance of writs restraining Governor Sterling, Adjutant General Sterling and Brigadier General Walters as soon as the plaintiffs posted $1,000 injunction bond required in cases of this kind.

The railroad commission, which yesterday took charge of the East Texas field, is not restrained in the ruling, its filing will have no practical effect in the conduct of the field. The ruling holds that the plaintiffs are entitled only to such relief as the conservation law, under which the commission operates, affords.

E. F. Smith, attorney for the defendants, was in the clerk's office when the decree was filed to obtain a certified copy of it and other documents in connection with the case to take to Washington in presenting the appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

Smith said the appeal would be made on the grounds the three-judge court was without jurisdiction in inquiring into an order of the governor, Smith planned to write for Washington immediately.

The state railroad commission cannot cope with the situation, the governor said, "and unless conditions change it will be necessary to re-enforce Brigadier General Jacob Walters' forces."

"The soldiers in the field are enforcing my orders," said Governor Sterling, emphasizing the "my." His production order and that issued by the railroad commission, effective today, coincide in allowing 75 barrels per well per day, but the governor said it is his order that it be enforced. The authority is going to stay with the military in anything necessary to control the field and maintain order," the governor declared.

He explained the situation thus: The military will have nothing to do with the production of the wells of the plaintiffs who secured an injunction against him, Adjutant General Sterling, General Walters, "except to protect their property if necessary."

These wells will be treated separately from the rest of the field. A proclamation for the field has been prepared by the governor and will be issued as soon as he is informed officially that a court decree enjoining military interference with the Constantin and Wraether wells has been handed.

Royal Woman To Sell Villa

MONTAINEBRAU.—Infanta Eulalie, 67-year-old aunt of King Alfonso, who lived in a Paris convent as a voluntary exile for many years before events drove the royal family from Spain, has decided to offer her beautiful villa and park at San Sebastian for sale in order to assure her of an independent income for life.

"I have few desires in this world and will be content to live on in this convent until I die, but I can not afford to keep up the taxes on my properties in Spain, so I have decided to sell the villa at San Sebastian, which I have not used for many years," Infanta Eulalie said.

Eulalie has postponed her proposed trip to Germany to visit members of her family until later.

STERLING MAY SEND MORE MEN IMMEDIATELY

Says Troops Are Enforcing His Orders, Not Those Of Commission.

AUSTIN, Feb. 26.—More troops may be sent to East Texas oil fields, Governor Sterling said today.

"The state railroad commission cannot cope with the situation," the governor said, "and unless conditions change it will be necessary to re-enforce Brigadier General Jacob Walters' forces."

"The soldiers in the field are enforcing my orders," said Governor Sterling, emphasizing the "my." His production order and that issued by the railroad commission, effective today, coincide in allowing 75 barrels per well per day, but the governor said it is his order that it be enforced. PAT HURLEY CARRIES CHIPS ON HIS SHOULDER.

In Oklahoma they call him "Fighting Pat" Hurley. He is a very pugnacious individual. He is secretary of war. He is the Jack Dempsey of the administration. Wherever there is a row he is sent in to settle it. Whatever Pat says is law and gospel. Whatever democratic office holders say is cowardly or defamatory or picking flaws in the shining armor of the distinguished engineer who is president of the United States.

Fighting Pat had his latest run-in with two senators: Cutting of New Mexico and King of Utah. Cutting is an independent republican, one of the ablest and cleanest men in public life. He is a New Englander who selected New Mexico as his home and he has made history. He has never been against the political crooks of New Mexico and the country. King is one of the able lawyers of Utah. He is a man of high ideals and distinguished ability. These senators asked questions of the lighting man from Oklahoma. He attempted to answer the questions before the senator were given time to dress their interrogatives in senatorial shape. He was told to be calm, to answer after he knew the extent of the information desired. And then "Fighting Pat" roared that he had grown weary of being called a liar and he bolted out of the committee room.

It is to be regretted that James A. Reed of Missouri retired from the senate. It is to be regretted that the Missouri Hotspur was not a member of the committee when "Fighting Pat" put on his pugilistic show. Of course, later in the day a meeting of the senate territories committee was arranged in the office of Chairman Bingham, republican, of Connecticut, which resulted in an amicable settlement of "the difficulties." Chairman Bingham announced the settlement. He said: "Secretary Hurley and Senator King, meeting with Senators Pittman, democrat, Nevada, and Hawes, democrat, Missouri, had reached a thoroughly amicable understanding."

Well, "Fighting Pat" of Oklahoma made the headlines. He got on the air. He accomplished his purpose. Really, it is up to a democratic house and a coalition senate to see to it that the fighting spirit of Andrew Jackson is not dead.

Why should the donkey crawl on his knees? Democratic senators and representatives have carried over the top the relief proposals of the chief magistrate of the republic. They are doing their part. Why should they be bulldozed at every turn of the political game? A political party never wins victories by crawling on its belly in campaign or any other year.

WHERE CRIME IS BRED.

One of the commonest American beliefs is that most criminals are mentally defective, and that the crime wave would ebb to a ripple if only some way could be found of putting a serviceable mind into the head of each crook. Now, however, Dr. Amos T. Baker, psychiatrist at Sing Sing prison, comes along to tell us that we're mistaken. Addressing a session of the American Orthopsychiatric association in Baltimore the other day, he declared that the mentality of most criminals compares favorably with that of law-abiding citizens.

Most criminals, he said, go wrong because of unfavorable home conditions and not because they are mentally deficient. Heredity has little to do with filling prisons. Environment is all-important.

It would be more pleasant, possibly, to stick to the older idea and blame it all on heredity. That would relieve us of all responsibility. But we can't do it, and Dr. Baker's remarks ought to make us stop and do a bit of thinking. That expression, "unfavorable home conditions," can cover a whole lot of ground — and society as a whole has a direct responsibility in it.

It covers, for example, homes in city slums, where health conditions are bad, food is poor and the street is a child's only playground.

It covers homes in certain mining towns, where the workers are ground down by poverty, live in conditions of sickening squalor and count themselves lucky if they can just get enough to eat from day to day.

It covers homes in rotten tenements which, if we had any social conscience at all, would be torn down no matter what the cost; homes on isolated back-country farms where a child can grow up without any advantages whatsoever; homes in dull factory towns where a mill-owner is absolute czar over all his workers — homes everywhere, in short, that belong in what the sociologists call the "underprivileged" stratum.

That is where our crime stems from. As long as society is willing to let a large number of human beings live in such homes it will have a nasty "crime problem." We all share in the responsibility.

McADOO AS A POLITICAL TRAIL BLAZER.

William Gibbs McAdoo is one of the outstanding prohibitionists of the United States. Thomas Love of Texas has always been close to the former secretary of the treasury. Now that McAdoo has landed in the Garner camp where is the former senator going to land? All the old time leaders are keeping the people guessing. All this is a reminder that the old timers are passing out of the picture and the youngsters appear to be determined to take charge of the Chicago convention.

However, this is not the paramount issue away down in Texas. There is a Dawes credit reconstruction act with a $2,000,000,000 fund behind it. It would be well to remember the pledge of the president when he signed the act. His pledge was positive, that this huge sum was to be used for the smashing of frozen credits, the release of congested credits and bank deposits in closed institutions, and for the making of jobs for the jobless in city and country. A return of prosperity is much more important to all the American people than the plans and programs of ambitious statesmen who are for the most part practical politicians.

"Jack"-in-the-Box!

GRIPINGS

By GUS

This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

Egad! Here I am depending on the erstwhile knot hole peeper, Bill Mayes to let his column fill this space today on account of me being busy giving a Chinaman a music lesson. Along comes Bill and says, "Gus, I want your column to fill up my space today." Well, I don't know what we'll do about it.

However, we can't afford to let our dear public suffer. Imagine a paper coming out without a gripe column or a report from the knot hole. Maybe somebody jerked the ladder down from under Bill and he wasn't tall enough to peep without it. But thereby hangs a dirty joke and anybody wanting me to tell it may have the pleasure of listening to same on duo application, mixed crowds excepted.

You will note that I used the word "erstwhile" in speaking of Bill. There is a good word. Few indeed are the people who know its exact meaning. I'll admit I don't. It was one of the favorite words of one Stanley Bird who used to roam these parts under the autographed impression that he was an expert on electrical engineering. He must have been an expert because the electric company used to pay him an enormous salary I understand. But I digress.

Getting back to the word "erstwhile," it was also used by one Dr. Carl Wilson who used to treat the sick in dear old Ranger when the McCleskey hotel was the leading holstery of those parts and from that time on until just after the T and F, built the new depot. My memory on dates fails me, but old timers can probably supply the missing information, if any.

Re turning to the discussion of the word "erstwhile," I think it has more recently been adopted by Jack Lewis, Jr., and Dick Phillips. Now don't sound the p in Dick's last name and call him P-filippo, because he doesn't like the German pronunciation. Before we get off the subject of "erstwhile," let us remember that it is a handy word. You can use it in almost any connection. If you can't think of the correct name of anything, call it an erstwhile and probably your audience will think you are erudite, meaning educated, smart, intelligent and holy-toity.

Now to use the word "erstwhile" in its proper sense, I might say that for instance, "Gus, the erstwhile iceman has turned columnist." That would only be half correct. If I said, "Gus, the erstwhile iceman has turned alleged columnist," that would be more nearly correct.

If I said, "Gus, the erstwhile columnist has filled up this space with a lot of tripe today," it would be totally correct and all the customers would agree with me. Therefore, if the editors, meaning me and Bill, think this is not too terrible to put in our respective dissertations, then you, my customers can see that it is not impossible for a man of my inherent ability and uncanny speed on a typewriter to write a column in exactly eight minutes' time. Erstwhile.

Nurses Training School Planning College Degrees

By United Press. PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Don't be surprised five years hence if the young woman at your sick bed starts discussing psychology, Shakespeare, or evolution, for by that time Pembroke College will be graduating trained nurses possessed of college degrees.

The new course at Pembroke, women's college of Brown University, will consist of three years of college work, two of hospital work, and two summer courses in special fields. Rhode Island Hospital will provide the practical nursing experience.

Dean Margaret S. Morris believes the course will aid in elevating nursing to a higher plane, and will lead more well-trained women into the field of medicine.

More Coyotes Than People In New West Texas County

By United Press. MENTONE, Texas.—Coyotes are more plentiful than human inhabitants in Loving county — the last of Texas 254 counties to be organized.

Last legal obstacles to organizing the county, whose affairs previously were conducted by Reeves county, have been removed. The 200 inhabitants could each have three sections of land. Coyotes exceed the human population and a herd of about 50 antelopes roams near the county's northern border, which is the same as the Texas-New Mexico line. There is not one mile of railroad within the county's border, no bank, no power or water plant, or telegraph office. The discovery of oil added another enterprise in 1925 to that of cattle raising.

PECOS—Burford Oil Co. inaugurated program of improvement at their Pecos refinery which will call for expenditures of about $200,000.

VITAMIN B IN BRAN RESEARCH REVEALS

Also Has "Bulk" to Further Assist Elimination, and Iron for Blood

One of the functions of Vitamin B is to help tone the intestinal tract and promote elimination. Now, laboratory experiments show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains this valuable vitamin.

In addition, ALL-BRAN brings plentiful supply of "bulk" — which provides the "ballast" needed to exercise the intestines.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it is different from the lettuce you see in the package. It works softly, and forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN fine, milder, more palatable.

Another healthful element brought by ALL-BRAN is iron. This shows this cereal has twice as much usable iron as the same weight of beef liver.

Check common constipation, with its frequent headaches, loss of appetite and energy — by eating this delicious cereal. How much pleasanter than taking pills or drugs — so often habit-forming.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily — sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Resolutions Are Adopted At Road Mass Meeting

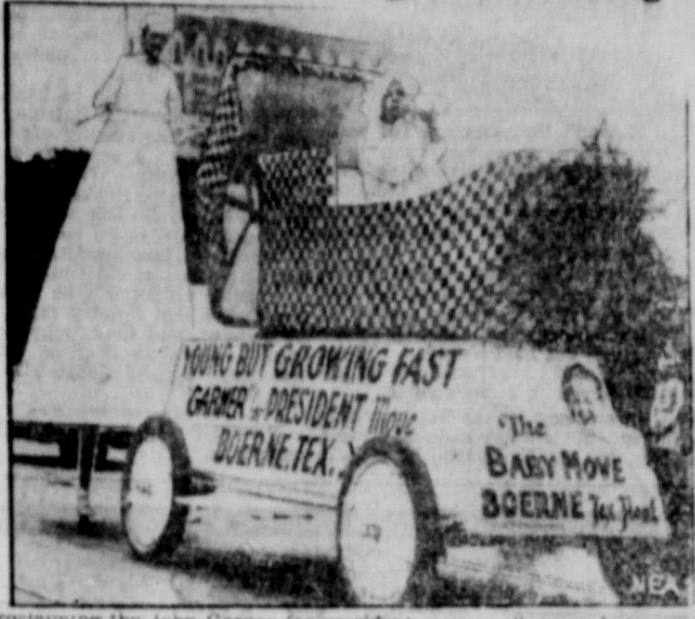

More than 100 representatives were present at the meeting in the Eastland county court room Wednesday afternoon for the discussion of the proposed cut-off highway 89 from Ranger to Weatherford.

The southern part of Palo Pinto county through which the proposed road is routed was especially well represented and the delegates expressed themselves as being heartily in favor of building the road.

The question will come up for hearing before the highway commission at a meeting Wednesday, March 2, and cities along the proposed route are urged to send delegations to the meeting. These delegates will hold a meeting at the Driskill hotel in Austin on the night previous and complete final plans for presenting their side of the case.

Opposition to building the road has been mobilized by the chambers of commerce of cities along the northern route and will probably be represented at the hearing in Austin. Milburn McCarty of Eastland said to a representative of this paper, "If we are to have the road built it will help immensely if those in favor of the construction send as many delegates to the meeting as can make the trip so as to indicate to the commission that we do want the road." Several resolutions were read before the assembly and were passed unanimously, which read: "To Governor R. S. Sterling, Eastland, Texas, this 24th day of February, 1932, resolve as follows, to-wit:

Garner Boom Young, But Growing

Proclaiming the John Garner-for-president move as "young, but growing fast," this unique float from Boerne, Texas, drew shouts of glee during the colorful parade staged by Democrats at their state convention in San Antonio. The party ended with all factions agreed on the speaker of the House for the Democratic presidential nominee, Garner is a native son of the Lone Star state.

"We, the representatives of those favoring the construction of highway No. 89, from a point on the Bankhead highway about 10 miles east of Ranger to Weatherford, in meeting assembled at Eastland, Texas, this 24th day of February, 1932, resolve as follows, to-wit:

has been attempted to be made a political issue, and an attempt has been made to induce you to become a partisan against the construction of this road.

"It is the judgment of this meeting that you should not become a partisan to either side, and we believe you should follow the precedent heretofore established and permit the highway commission to exercise its sound judgment as it has heretofore done."

The resolution to the highway commission read:

"We, the representatives of those people living along the proposed highway No. 89, between Ranger and Weatherford, and also those living west of said proposed cutoff along the Bankhead highway, as well as those people in other sections that will be benefited by the construction of said proposed highway, in meeting assembled at Eastland, Texas, this the 24th day of February, 1932, would respectfully represent and show:

"That we heartily favor the building of said highway and insist that the construction thereof is fully warranted and justified, and in support of our position submit the following reasons:

"First. The thickly settled section of Palo Pinto county and the western portion of Parker county, through which this proposed highway is to pass, is without a surfaced highway and the construction of this road will mean much toward the development of said territory and the convenience of its people.

"Second. The people of Eastland and Callahan counties, as well as those living to the south, will be afforded a shorter and safer road to Fort Worth and Dallas, Texas, and the people living along said highway and in said towns and cities, as well as the traveling Ranger mountain direct to Weatherford, is 14.21 miles shorter than by the road as it now runs around through Mineral Wells, avoids the dangerous road through the hill country of Palo Pinto county, eliminates four railroad grade crossings, and saves from 40 to 60 minutes actual traveling time.

"Third. The people living along the Bankhead highway west of Callahan county, as well as those living to the southwest, will likewise be afforded a shorter and safer route to Dallas and Fort Worth.

"Fourth. The Bankhead highway is the main traveled road between El Paso and Fort Worth, traverses the most densely populated counties between these two cities, passes through some of the leading towns and cities of West Texas, and the people living along said highway and in said towns and cities, as well as the traveling public, are entitled to have this road maintained and kept in first class condition and improved and shortened whenever practicable, as is now proposed to be done.

"Fifth. A calculation based on an actual count of motor vehicles on the Bankhead highway shows there would be an actual saving which would, in less than two years, pay for the construction of said highway, not to mention the saving in life and limb by reason of the traveling public being given a safe road on which to travel.

"The saving of 14.21 miles over a main highway of travel by the construction of a 45.64-mile cutoff is unprecedented and emphasizes the out-of-the-way course which it is now necessary to travel. Taking into consideration the cost of the proposed cutoff, we know of no highway improvement in this state which would be of more benefit and result in greater actual saving to the traveling public, neither could there be a more propitious time has the present period of unemployment to proceed with this undertaking.

"In conclusion we request and urge that the honorable highway commission proceed with the construction of said highway and that same be completed without delay."

RANGER HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

MISS JEWELLE JUDD
Editor

George Washington Program Presented in High School

One of the most interesting and enjoyable programs ever presented in high school, was the George Washington program presented in chapel Tuesday and sponsored by Miss Gladys Pinson and the history department.

The following program was presented: "The Star-Spangled Banner," played by band, sung by student body. Other numbers by the band.

"Plans for George Washington Bicentennial," Marie Galloway. "Washington; A Man," by David Nichol.

Numbers by Melody Maids and Harmony Honeys.

Violin solo, Mary Genry, accompanied by Miss Buchanan and orchestra play. "The Star-Spangled Banner," played by band.

Those who took part in this play were: Lorene Crow, J. W. McKinney, Crestell Head and J. F. Whitefield. Everyone present enjoyed this program very much.

Editor of this column is in receipt of a letter from a former Ranger junior college student. Its contents strongly hint the interest still manifested in the college. The interest and thought is so highly appreciated by the editor that the composition follows:

"If you desire, my senior friends, to increase your wealth of knowledge, I recommend that you attend the Ranger Junior College.

"Our local economic needs are deserving of solution. So it would be wise to patronize a home-owned institution.

"If you don't like a boarding home, and have no desire to roam, just spend your time in R. J. C. And eat your meals at home."

—Horace T. Miller.

For once was a well liked pupil and a valuable member of the school. It was with deepest regret that he was lost from the midst of our students.

Musical Program Presented in High School

A delightful musical program was presented in high school chapel Thursday. The program consisted of:

Numbers by Harmony Honeys, Junior college quartet. Piano solo, Merle Stewart.

Numbers by Vera Hunt, accompanied by Merle Stewart.

This program was enjoyed very much by everyone present.

2. Fred Frame, Indianapolis 150, Detroit 20, Altoona July 4th 70, total 240.
3. Ralph Hepburn, Indianapolis 202, Detroit 70, total 272.
4. Russell Snowberger, Indianapolis 300, Detroit 30, total 330.

7. Ernie Triplett, Indianapolis 200, Detroit 90, total 290.
8. Lou Moore, Altoona July 4th 120, Syracuse 120, total 240.
9. Chet Miller, Indianapolis 38.75, Detroit 10, Altoona Sept. 7th 107.5, Syracuse 90, total 246.25.
10. Bill Cummings, Detroit 80, Altoona Sept. 7th 107.5, Syracuse 4, total 191.5.

Russell Snowberger is a little more cautious than he used to be, but when driving on mile tracks or larger is always a threat.

Third Palace At Kish Is Found By Excavations

CHICAGO—The uncovering of the third palace on the site of the ancient city of Kish by the excavators of the Field Museum-Oxford University joint expedition to Mesopotamia has disclosed a large reservoir from which water was piped, according to Stephen C. Simms, director of the Field Museum of Natural History.

Two of the palaces were uncovered last year. All three are of the Sasanian dynasty of Persians dating from A. D. 226 to 627. Kish is believed to have been the site of the world's earliest civilization, materials found there dating back as far as 5,500 years ago.

Big Hatchery Is Now Operating For Custom Hatching

It won't be necessary for poultry raisers to order their baby chicks for commercial stock from far away hatcheries, for the Dudley hatchery in Ranger has started again and is now in position to make deliveries.

More than 700 baby Rhode Island Reds are just now hatched and ready with another section of the 25,000-egg incubator ready for hatching out next Tuesday. These are offered to the public in an advertisement in today's paper.

In starting up the hatchery this spring, Mr. Dudley is doing custom hatching for those who have their own eggs and is buying and trading for eggs and hatching out the chicks either for sale or he will trade the chicks for almost any kind of farm produce.

The incubator will be kept running throughout the hatching season with chicks coming off weekly. Tuesday a section will be started off with White Leghorn eggs and these chicks will hatch off on March 22. Due to his policy of trading for eggs, he will have at various times practically every popular breed of chicken.

Surplus chicks will be taken to the Oak Ridge Poultry farm, east of Ranger, and they may be obtained there as well as at the hatchery at 105 South Marston, Ranger.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

play will be changed but little by this rule.

FOUR. SUBSTITUTIONS: This rule change allows a player to return to the game in any successive period. Thus a player who starts the game may be taken out in the first period, returned in the second, taken out in the second, returned in the third, etc. Some athletic purists will object to this change on the ground that it will provide for further side-line coaching. But the team's trainer will welcome it, for he will be able to revise momentarily articles on the player's fitness to continue in the game, and all much more readily than before. The game may be slowed slightly because of an expected increase in substitution.

FIVE. DEAD BALL: Play will stop when the ball-carrier's body, except feet and hands, touches the ground. The spectators will be affected by this rule change more than any other. They will, that is, if it is rigidly enforced. The change is aimed to prevent piling on, and more importantly to check crawling. Many boys have been hurt by creeping goalward after having been downed. Rivals have pounced upon them with no ceremony and little regard of risks.

SIX. USE OF HANDS: Defensive players are now forbidden to strike an opponent on head, neck or face. This will alter the aspect of play, and, it would seem, will constitute an advantage for the offensive side. It's easier for a player to move forward without use of hands than it is for the defensive player to halt the advance without using his hands.

The rule changes were generally favorably received. Most coaches and other authorities approved of each change. There were, however, some words of protest.

Italy Enters Buy At Home Campaign Half Heartedly

ROME.—The campaign for national products proceeds here rather half-heartedly. There are a number of posters exhorting the public "not to take the bread from the mouths of Italian children" by spending their money on imported goods when equally good Italian articles can be obtained for the same price. Similar advertisements also appear in the press, but not in abundance.

The National Fascist Institute of Copenhagen and the Fascist Federation of Co-operative Societies have issued instructions requesting co-operative societies to abstain from selling foreign products when national products of similar price and quality are available.

The National Institute also has requested all co-operative stores to show in their window placards with the inscription, "Here only national products are sold."

BAMBOO FOR NEWS PRINT. HAVANA.—Cuban manufacturers are planning to plant large areas in bamboo to produce pulp to be used in the manufacture of newspaper.

SHOTGUN SHELL BURNS. JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Sara Finberg, 8, was burned severely when a shotgun shell she was biting exploded in her mouth.

KEMMERER, Wyo.—Instead of sitting by the fireside and toasting his toes on his 74th birthday, Dan Sullivan donned a pair of ice skates, and enjoyed an hour's figure-eighting on the ice rink with the young people.

New Football Rules

1. The Changes Made. The national football rules committee has reworked existing regulations with a view to making the game safer.

It is interesting to observe what the changes will have on the game itself. Here are the changes and comment on them:

ONE. EQUIPMENT: The committee has ordered that all hard places be padded on the outer side with a soft material. Comment: This legislation is almost superfluous. Many coaches have held more minor hurts were caused by striking composition hip pads, pads and the like than by any other means.

TWO. KICKOFF: At least five feet must line up within 15 feet of the restraining side of kicking side. This rule, of course, was a move to eliminate the flying wedge. It's true the five forwards will be able to return to join their backs and to form a wedge, but it won't be an effective wedge. The forwards, were they to re-advance, would have to stop, turn, and start forward again, and no clearly defined wedge could be formed.

THREE. FLYING BLOCKS AND TACKLES: A player may now leave his feet until after moment of impact. The flying block and the flying tackle are every well for the standouts of extraordinary physique. Too many brave but weaker tried to emulate the stars, and the result. The style of

The 'Big Ten' Race Drivers Unanimously Chose Firestone

Here's Louis Schneider in his car that won him the official title of 1931 champion by the A. A. A. Yes, he used Firestones.

Chuck Meyers broke all existing records for the Pike's Peak climb last year when he made it in 17 minutes, 10.3 seconds. He, too, used Firestones.

On the race track and off—the first 10 of the 1931 speed artists as rated by the A. A. A. used Firestone Tires.

Firestones will give you equally as good service on your personal car or truck. You probably won't call on your Firestones for such a gruelling test, but if you need the quality, it's built in.

BABY FRETFUL, RESTLESS?

Look to this cause

When your baby fusses, tosses and seems unable to sleep restfully, look for one common cause, doctors say. Constipation. To get rid quickly of the accumulated wastes which cause restlessness and discomfort, give a cleansing dose of Castoria. Castoria, you know, is made specially for children's delicate needs. It is a pure vegetable preparation; contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. It is so mild and gentle you can give it to a young infant to relieve colic. Yet it is as effective for older children. Castoria's regulative help will bring relaxed comfort and peaceful sleep to young baby. Keep a bottle on hand. Genuine Castoria always has the name:

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS By Blosser

others had nothing to do with her. She knew well enough that a scandalous inference could and probably would be drawn from her sudden rise in the world but she would not think of that. Nothing should be permitted to spoil her pleasure. What the others said could not affect her.

It could, of course. But not then.

Turning away from the counter, her arms full of her small possessions, Ellen walked straight into someone.

"I beg your pardon," she said quickly.

"Aren't you even going to give me a glance?" Larry Harrowgate exclaimed.

For a second she was bewildered. Then her face lighted and her heart leaped upward.

"Larry!"

"I've been hanging around for 15 minutes," he was saying excitedly. "I thought you'd never come. Here—lend me help!"

He attempted to relieve her of the jumped assortment in her arms. Conscious of Jenny's open mouth and equally open curiosity, Ellen flushed and shook her head. "You shouldn't have come here," she said quietly, moving away.

"Aren't you glad to see me?" "Of course I am, silly," she told him with a confused laugh.

"How handsome he was! She loved the way he kept in step with her. She loved his calm obliviousness to the stir they were causing on the floor. They did look a trifle odd—the handsome youth in flannels and the girl in workaday dress—costume with neat paper cuffs and sensible shoes. Ellen knew that. But she felt a delicious flutter as she explained that he had learned from Salomon where she worked day times. That meant near some-done a tale on any of them. But I was glad enough to take time off. "Maybe you're better able to take time off," she replied somberly.

The elevator descended and the doors opened. Early shoppers straggled inside. Ellen said a stiff goodby. For a moment she thought he meant to say something further, then he bowed coldly and moved away.

Larry had destroyed her pleasure in the new job. The afternoon seemed long and dull and profitless. Lorene's chatter and constant references to Steven Barclay grew disproportionately irksome. Ellen vaguely realized that she wanted to love Steven and to hate Larry and that much of her discontent and dissatisfaction with the world was due to her double failure. The realization did not better matters.

That night at Dreamland she did not expect Larry. All the afternoon she had tried to make herself understand that it was entirely possible she might never see him again. So the evening was stale and flat to her the dancing boring and her own popularity boring. She hated dancing with the men who frequented Dreamland, hated the pink and gilt hall, the tinny, mechanical music. But it was her job—even if it was to lead only a short time now—and she set herself resolutely at it.

Toward 10 o'clock she was dancing with a blank-faced, blue-eyed chap and attempting to ignore his soiled collar and dubious conversation, when she happened to glance toward the stairway to see Larry entering. Her heart missed a beat; her feet missed a step. Larry caught her eye. The two young people smiled contentedly and to Ellen the night burst into bloom. She could hardly contain herself until the dance was over and she could rush to the table where Larry was impatiently awaiting her.

"I'm awfully sorry about this morning," he said immediately.

"That's all right," she told him, feeling irrationally, idiotically happy.

"No, it isn't all right. There's more to it than that," he said suddenly after they were both sitting. "I'm very much afraid that you and I had better watch our step."

His expression was odd and constrained. He leaned over and began to play with a bangle she wore on her arm. She watched him expectantly.

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"What do you mean?" he echoed foolishly.

Ellen looked at him sharply. She wondered for a moment if he had been drinking. The lights had been dimmed for a moonlight walk. The single shaft of light from the artificial moon fell across the table but his face was in the shadow.

"I just wanted to know," what he meant by saying that we'd have to watch our step?"

"Oh, that!"

He laughed. The lights came up as the music stopped and she saw that his mysterious confusion had left him. She saw too that he had not been drinking. He was simple

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

JESUS RAISES LAZARUS

Text: John 11:32-44.
 The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Feb. 28.
 By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
 Editor of The Congregationalist.

What I have said formerly in this column concerning miracles applies with even greater force to this miracle of the raising of Lazarus from the dead. If we could explain it, it would not be a miracle.

In the presence of the miraculous there will always be those who find it easy to believe and those for whom belief is difficult. Discussion of belief and unbelief in relation to such matters can help very little.

Fortunately the miracles recorded in the New Testament take us very quickly beyond the miracle to the spiritual truth and the wonderful working power of the new life in Jesus.

If these miracles were simply and only stories of magic, we should have little reason to dwell upon them for the enrichment of our religious lives. It is the fact that they are associated with the life and teaching of Jesus that gives them their significance.

The power of Jesus to give new life to dead bodies would be little if we had no faith in his power to bring life to dead souls.

Our own age reveals strange and intense contrasts in the reaction of various minds to the miracles. Apart from the two extremes of those who take the literal and traditional view and the so-called "modernists" who believe that the realities of Christian faith and teaching do not depend upon the literal acceptance of the stories of miracles, we find two attitudes of temper.

There are those whose attitude might be called that of material science, who see everything in the world operating within the realm of law, and of laws, the effect of which can be measured and in material terms.

But we see, also, intelligent women who believe the laws of the universe are not limited to material effects that can be measured. They believe there are in a world of spirit, phenomena quite as remarkable as the miracles described in the Testament are happening world today.

The conflict between the attitudes and tempers is exceedingly keen, but it cannot be wholly upon one side.

Such men as the late Dr. Doyle, and Sir Oliver Lodge had implicit faith in spiritual forces and forces that operate quite as remarkable ways as raising of Lazarus from the Moderate men who take account both sides of such may feel that these questions are not settled. It is that we are on the eve of things and discoveries in relation to the spiritual universe which change our ideas as much as have been changed in recent years by discoveries in the world, such as radio activity.

It is a truism to say that physical things that are happening today, and that are common in our lives, would have been miraculous in the time of the miracles described in the New Testament.

In the midst of all such we are driven back upon spiritual interpretation of Scriptures and the profound significance of Jesus as the spiritual life that he gives, and his unbelief about a life has little importance.

Spotlight is Focused On Brilliant Bicentennial Dream Tea
Ranger's society spotlight was focused on one of the loveliest functions ever to have been gazed upon. Thursday afternoon, when the 1920 club observed Friendship Day, honoring the Thursday club of Eastland with a bicentennial tea given at the Ranger Country club.

try club for an unusually impressive purpose. The picturesque setting and appropriate background afforded by the surrounding lake and its clear blue waters, and little Jane Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Matthews, and George, was none other than little Francis Gholson, pretty blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Gholson.

Receiving in lovely colonial costumes in all colors of the tinted rainbow stood Mrs. A. H. Allison, president of the club; Mrs. Mills Davenport, vice president, and Mrs. M. P. Kuykendall, Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, Mrs. M. L. Hullern and Mrs. O. L. Phillips.

At intervals the walls were hung with American flags forming swirling curtains of the patriotic strips. Console tables tinted with pastel rays from shaded lamps, were centered with snappers and vari-colored sweetpeas, entwined in fern sprays. Franking either side of the round stood tall slender tapers burning in silver and crystal sticks. With these harmonizing tones there was created a beautiful setting for the bicentennial "Dream" presented and composed by Mrs. Ed Williams, of Eastland, accomplished composer and writer.

Characters for this unique yet highly appropriate colonial skit in keeping with the bicentennial celebration of the birth of George Washington were: George Washington, Mrs. M. C. Hayes, Martha Washington, Mrs. W. P. Leslie, Four dancers, Nelly Curtis, Mrs. W. B. Collier, Sally Fairfax, Mrs. J. Hapeman, Francis Bassett, Mrs. Charles Fage, Betty Morris, Mrs. W. T. Root.

In addition to this delightful and colorful presentation the presented the following topics further stressing the occasion and Washington idea.

"Travels of Washington," Mrs. Charles M. Perkins; "Social Life of Washington's Day," Mrs. James Horton; "Washington, the Citizen," Mrs. Carl Springer; "The Ideal Clubwoman," Mrs. O. E. Harvey, and ballads, Mrs. Gladys Pipkin, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," and "Annie Laura."

Another interesting feature throughout the hours was that of a spinning wheel demonstration given by Mrs. I. J. Cole, who is the owner of an attractive wheel. Mrs. Cole demonstrated in a pleasing way the operation of the antique highly prized. Strands of thread were spun for the entertainment of the guests. To carry the scene to further perfection, Mrs. Cole wore a colonial costume in keeping with the time which the wheel was invented.

At a table arranged nearer the fireplace, with its mantel graced at either end with clusters of pink flowers filling blue bowls and flanked with cathedral candles in silver candle holders, Mrs. Allison and Mrs. Davenport poured tea. The exquisitely appointed table at which they presided was one of rare beauty, laid with a lace cloth over canary yellow. A lovely mixed bouquet, embedded with ferns, formed the mound, dotted with two tiny flags. Encircling these fragrant blossoms were miniature Martha and George Washington dolls in pastel colors. Red, white and blue confections filled nut cups. The silver and crystal service and appointments used displayed choice and authentic taste of its owners. Lending a finishing touch to the scene stood fleecy white candles casting soft flickering rays over the setting and colonial gowns worn by the president and vice president.

The delicious plates served with tea, repeated the color theme. Just as tea had been poured Edmond Meredith, popular vocal teacher of the city, favored the gracious and enthusiastic audience by singing "A Toast To Washington," by Francis Hopkinson and "Roses and You," by Walker. Mr. Meredith was accompanied by Carl Brumbelev, wonderful pianist, who closely followed by playing "Minuet in G," "Minuet" and "Two Larkes" by Leschetizky. These numbers were given rounds of applause as were pretty vocal and piano sections played and sung by Mrs. Walter Harwell.

Suddenly appearing on the scene of color came a darling couple none other than Martha and George, attired in striking costumes dancing a minuet, accompanied by Mrs. Harwell at the

Where Does She Get Her "Pep?"

SHE doesn't look seventy. Nor does she feel that old. The woman who stimulates her organs can have energy that women half her age will envy!

At middle-age your vital organs begin to slow down. You may not be sick, simply sluggish. But why endure a condition of half-health when there's a stimulant that will stir a stagnant system to new life and energy in a week's time?

This remarkable stimulant is perfectly harmless. It is, in fact, a family doctor's prescription. So, if you're tired of trying every patent medicine that comes along, tell the druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a bit of this delicious syrup every day or so, until you know by the way you feel that your lazy liver is again active, and your bowels are poison-free.

Men, women, and children who are run-down, who tire easily, get bilious spells or have frequent headaches, are soon straightened out when they get this prescriptional preparation of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh laxative herbs. (Syrup pepsin is all the help the bowels need, and you do not form the very bad habit of always taking cathartics.)

Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin in the house, and take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. It is all that a great many people ever take to keep strong and vigorous, and absolutely free from constipation.
