PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE WITH BILL MAYES

Today when we counted the raw votes we found that John Garner had 12, Franklin D. Roosevelt 5, Hoover 4, Gifford Pinchot 1.

And there we are up against it, because we have one vote that we cannot classify very well because there is a notation at the bottom which says that if Bill Mayes and Chief Murphy can run as one candidate the two will receive his support.

To quote it exactly: "If it is possible for Bill M. and Chief Murphy to run as one candidate I will give my support as I would like to see this street marking business settled. If not my vote goes to Hoover."

At first we thought that Bill M. might refer to "Alfalfa Bill," who also has presidential hopes, but on second reading we knew that he would not put a plank in his platform about marking the Ranger streets, so we came to the conclusion he must have meant us.

Now we don't know about running as one candidate on the ticket with Chief Murphy. Texas once elected "two governors at the price of one" so we are not so sure that the two presidents at the price of one would be such a success. We would, if elected, be willing to let Chief Murphy do all the work and get half the salary. Or we would be willing to be a candidate for vice president on his ticket.

However, there is a serious question in that note at the bottom of the ballot. If Murphy doesn't mark those streets someone is going to.

March 14 To Be Second Monday

Monday, March 14, will be Second Monday of farmers is expected to be Monday in Ranger and a large number in town on that day, if the weather has moderated.

The same inducements that were offered at previous Second Mondays will be offered again this year. The prizes are a sack of stock, watering troughs, drinking water for the people who attend the monthly event and several other conveniences, including a riding chute, will be available.

J. B. Ainsworth has been in charge of the affairs for some time, and who has had wonderful success in entertaining the visitors and in assisting with the entertainment features, will again be in charge and promises some new features for all who attend.

For the past few months weather conditions have prevented observing Second Monday in Ranger, but with the coming of the spring months it is expected that the crowds will be even larger than before.

Attempts To Save Fruit Crop Thought To Be A Success

Several people in the Ranger community are reported to have saved some of their fruit during the freezing weather by burning oil in their orchards.

The method used was practically the same in most cases. Crankcase oil from garages was obtained and hauled to the orchards. Grass hay was spread under the trees and soaked in the oil. The fire made in this manner created a thick, heat-laden smoke that kept the trees warm enough to prevent freezing.

In all instances it was not possible to save the fruit, but many believe that they have managed to keep down much of the damage that otherwise would have been done to fruit crops.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—President W. A. Moody of the St. Louis Livestock Exchange, today accused C. B. Denman, federal farm board member, of refusing to grant drought loans to dairy-men who were not members of the cooperative organizations sponsored by the board.

"That was coercion and attempted bribery," Moody declared before the house agricultural committee.

Moody appeared in connection with the protest of livestock exchange officials and commission merchants against farm board "subsidies" to livestock cooperatives.

SNOW, SLEET COVER SOUTH TEXAS TODAY

AUSTIN, March 11.—Snow and sleet dipped into South Texas by a wintry wave, has extensively damaged tender crops, the Federal-State crop reporting service said today.

In the Corpus Christi area, cucumbers and snap beans were reported killed and tomatoes badly damaged. Freezing temperatures today probably killed bean crops in the lower Rio Grande valley and damaged tomatoes and potatoes, it was reported.

Only slight damage was reported to such hardy vegetables as onions, cabbage, spinach, beets, carrots and turnips.

Freezing temperatures were predicted for the Rio Grande Valley tonight.

Three deaths have resulted from the storm in Texas. Thousands of families of oil field workers in East Texas suffered in their inadequate houses. Charity headquarters at Kilgore and other East Texas towns were swamped with requests for aid from the hundreds out of work there. A slight snow last night added to the misery to many in their make-shift homes.

The Midland area was blanketed in snow that continued falling today. West Texas had more snow today.

Other states reporting snow today included Denison, Tyler, Palestine, Houston, Port Arthur, Del Rio, Corpus Christi, Austin and Laredo.

At many places it was the first snow in years.

Low temperatures today included Midland, 18; Amarillo, 12; Abilene and Dallas, 12; Palestine, 24; Austin and San Antonio, 20; Houston, 28; Corpus Christi and Del Rio, 20; Galveston, 32 and Port Arthur, 32.

Burglar Is Held After Try to Rob Ranger House

A man who gave his name as John Englerhardt of Chicago was captured Thursday afternoon in Ranger as he was leaving an unoccupied house.

The man obtained entrance to the house belonging to Mrs. Slack, formerly occupied by Wilson Connell. He broke the lock from a window, entered the house and left by a front door. As he was leaving, C. C. Cross and John Daniels were waiting at the front door.

"Could I do anything for you gentlemen?" he asked, attempting to appear to be the occupant of the house, which was completely furnished.

"Yes, you can come to the police station with us," Daniel answered.

The man was turned over to Chief of Police Jim Ingram, who entered a charge of burglary against him in Justice of the Peace J. N. McFatter's court and turned him over to county officers at Eastland.

Nothing was reported missing from the house and it was thought that the burglar saw the two men and was afraid to attempt to carry anything away.

SPITALE AND BITZ GET TIP ON KIDNAPERS

Public Notices in New York Paper Contain Messages.

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 11.—The trail of the kidnapers of Baby Lindbergh turned today toward Detroit.

It developed that Col. Lindbergh's underworld go-between, Salvatore Spitalo and Irving Bitz, have "leads" which will take them soon to the Michigan city.

Spitalo and Bitz are among a group of 10 indicted on liquor conspiracy charges in Brooklyn. They are listed under fictitious names but the defense counsel confirmed today the pair are listed and that they "planned to go to Detroit as soon as this matter (the liquor case) is disposed of."

Both Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh slept well last night at their mountain home, according to word of visitors there and both were up and around the house early this morning.

All signs of brisk activity have disappeared from the Lindbergh residence and a general atmosphere of quiet prevails.

Meanwhile the Lindberghs and the authorities continued efforts at restoration of the baby with nothing positive to show there had been any real contact between the kidnapers and the Lindberghs or police.

The liaison officer at the Lindbergh home decided today to abolish the previous system of "questions and answers" for newspaper men, but agree to give two press announcements today on developments.

The first statement revealed that at Miami, Fla., John Norman Brett, reported to have been a friend of Lindbergh's servants, had been arrested and questioned. He offered an alibi, which is being further checked and denied knowing the servants.

A "public notice" in the New York American Tuesday and Wednesday caused some speculation concerning efforts of the Lindberghs to communicate with the kidnapers in that manner. It read: "Letter received at new address. Will follow instructions. I also received letter mailed to me March 4 and was ready since then. Please hurry on account of mother. Address me to the address you mentioned in letter. Signed Father."

Today this notice appeared: "Money is ready—Jafa." "The American said it had learned through checking addresses that both messages referred to the Lindbergh kidnaping.

MIAMI, Fla., March 11.—John Norman Brett, wanted for questioning in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, occupied the attention of authorities today, but the officers of the federal attorney and of the Miami detective chief did not say what disposition would be made of him.

Brett was said to have surrendered. He was questioned about his possible knowledge of servants in the Lindbergh household and denied any knowledge of them.

A NATION'S SYMPATHY

Probably no parents ever received such universal sympathy as the world is according its most famous young couple today. The Lindbergh baby has been kidnapped. And while the public is always eager to help a lost child find its way home again, somehow this case is different. It is Lindbergh's baby that is gone this time. And anything that happens to his household is very personal to millions of Americans.

People who applauded enthusiastically when the famous aviator reached Le Bourget on his famous flight to Paris in 1927, are suffering with him now. They aren't thinking of him as a daring explorer of far skies this time. Just as a young father whose little boy has been kidnapped. They aren't remembering Anne as the fearless girl who matches her husband danger for danger. Quite suddenly she is only a young mother who is afraid that her baby is crying for her.

The world has always given the Lindberghs applause. Now it is giving sympathy. Swift, Warm, Genuine. It has watched for them in dangers many times. Now it is watching with them. The Wall Streets and Main Streets and all the other streets that make their criss-cross way up and down the nation echo with voices that wish that they could say some consoling word. Little boys who almost have come to believe that Lindy's adventurous wings are their own, and their fathers and mothers and sisters are hoping desperately and prayerfully that Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., will come home soon, unharmed and well.

Every man and woman who has paused outside a nursery door and listened to the soft breathing of a little child understands how frightening unreal an empty crib must be. Nurseries are such familiar places. But the world is so strange to a little boy or girl. The trees are so tall. The roads run so far.

Economic conditions and warfare in the streets of Shanghai aren't half as momentous as the fate of a little lost boy. If sympathy and interest and a desire to be of service add courage in a time such as this, Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh have the satisfaction of knowing that the heart of a whole nation are suffering their sorrow pangs with them.

COLONEL CAPONE TO THE RESCUE

Colonel Alphonse Capone, on his way to the Leavenworth penitentiary for 11 years, offered a reward of $10,000 for the safe return of the Lindbergh baby and the capture of his kidnapers. Colonel Capone knows the value of publicity. He is very indignant. He has children of his own. This is his lament, "It's the most outrageous thing I ever heard of. . . I know how Mrs. Capone and I would feel if our son was kidnaped and I sympathize with the Lindberghs. I will give $10,000 for information that will lead to the recovery of the child unharmed and the capture of his kidnapers. If I were out for jail I could lend assistance. I have friends all over the country who could aid in running this thing down." In this instance the heart of Colonel Capone is in the right place. Kidnaping of a child is an infamous crime; there is no penalty too severe, and this regardless of the social position of a family. There is no difference in the enormity of the offense—whether the victim be the child of the powerful and the opulent or the poorest ditch digger in the land. Imprisonment would be like slapping a heavyweight pugilist on the cheek. New York lawmakers now in session are going to enact a statute which would make kidnaping children a capital offense punishable by death in the electric chair. Virginia is to enact a similar statute. Why not the legislature of all the 48 states?

W. H. McDonald For District Clerk

To the Citizens of Eastland County: I am taking this opportunity and method of announcing my candidacy for re-election to the office of district clerk of Eastland county.

First, I wish to heartily thank everyone who made it possible for me to have the honor of serving during the time I have been in office. OREGON LEADS LUMBER STATES

By United Press. CORVALLIS, Ore. — Oregon leads the nation with one-fifth of the merchantable timber in the United States, said G. W. Peavey, dean of forestry at Oregon State College. The three Pacific Coast states have more than one-half of the remaining standing timber in the country. Oregon has about 40 per cent of this amount.

The Oregon man who plowed up a $20 gold piece probably is laughing at the saying that there is no money in tilling the soil.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

ing to go republican on us and vote for Hoover. Now if the chief wants to keep in the good graces of the democratic element in this city, he had better mark those streets—Main street at least—or he will be accused of throwing over the party.

Knowing how hard it is to convince Murphy that something should be done about the streets at times, we are rather doubtful if he will come to the aid of the party by having those stripes painted in time to have the voter swing away from his determination to vote for Hoover. On second thought, however, it might be claimed by some that the chief was buying a vote at the expense of the city and the taxpayers, but he could get around that by claiming—as he always does—that he was going to mark the street anyway and had no intention of using that as a means of buying a vote. We believe it might be counted as a vote for Hoover, because as we've mentioned before, he has been longer than November to get the street lines painted.

Which reminds us that yesterday we saw the chief making about 10 miles an hour down the streets in his little red fire wagon. Not having heard a fire siren, we doubted if he was rushing to a fire to find out how well the boys had gotten along toward saving the well in the back yard, so we flagged him down.

He stopped and before we had a chance to say anything to him, he rolled down the window on our side, poked his head out and yelled, "I know it. That street hasn't been fixed yet and it needs it." He must have had a mighty guilty conscience or he would never have thought about the street business, as we haven't mentioned it for several days.

Yesterday afternoon Mayor Marshall McCullough from Eastland stopped by to see us for a few minutes, the first time we have seen him since we had a little argument with him about whether or not the gas rates the city commission of Eastland was threatening to allow to someone who was going to put in a plant over there were better than the ones they had. At the time we interpreted the rates different from what the commission intended and he called our hand on it.

Anyway, he was distributing some circulars calling attention to the fact that Joe Burkett was going to open his campaign for congressman-at-large in Eastland Saturday afternoon and he said he was expecting a large crowd.

After the mayor left we tried to get in touch with Jess Meroney to find out who is supposed to sweep out the entrance to the postoffice, if anyone, but we found him busy showing books to someone, and we presumed that it was some post-official and that he wouldn't have time to talk to us about it. The last time we said anything about something that should be done at the postoffice one of our clients thought we should have told Jess instead of writing about the Christmas signs in this column.

Anyway, there were enough circulars, newspapers and other trash in the entrance yesterday to start a good-size fire and we were just curious to know who should sweep them out. We didn't want the job, but thought someone should have it. The entrance may be cleaned by now, we haven't been by today, so we are not going to try to lay the blame on anyone in the post-office right now.

A "Red" Neill calls attention to the annual meeting of members of the Ranger Country club on Tuesday, March 15, at which time officers will be elected.

Officers in this county have been on the alert recently thinking that possibly the Lindbergh baby might be found here. Yes indeed. In fact four men were arrested in Ranger not long ago and held a few hours. They had a little kid with them who answered the description of the Lindbergh baby except for dark hair and it is possible that the boy's hair could have been dyed. Upon finding that the language used by the captive child was not becoming to a Lindbergh on account of its being Greek, the police turned the party loose and let them go on their way.

Then, the theory has been advanced in Rising Star that possibly Belle Dresler may have had something to do with it. The green car mentioned in the news stories answers the description of the green car which was more or less grossly presented her. Will Tyler is reported as saying that anybody who could talk him out of money could just as easily kidnap the Lindbergh child.

A large maroon automobile driven by a chauffeur and said to contain a countess and some high powered folks from the East visited Eastland this week. The driver of the car filled it up with gas and oil and then went into the kitchen

Flood Isolates Farms in Midwest

Swollen waters of the Big Sioux river, a tributary of the Missouri, have flooded thousands of acres of farm lands and isolated many homes in South Dakota. Above is a typical flood scene with one of the farms surrounded by water. It is a few miles across the state line from Sioux City, Ia.

of the Connelley hotel and asked for a pitcher of water to fill the radiator. That looked suspicious. Wouldn't that be something if we were to be the smart folks to solve the mystery? The hoaxed frog story would have to take a back seat.

And so Joe Burkett will be in Eastland to speak to the home town folks tomorrow afternoon. Joe's got a lot of friends around these parts and a few who are not so friendly. Home town boy makes good. Goes into far off land to make better. Folks back home jealous. Boy comes back to make political speech furthering his own candidacy. Is welcomed with open arms. Mayor makes speech. Hatchet is buried. Joe not bad guy after all. Hooray!

Who broke the lock on the hen house door? Who broke the handle off the lock on the post-office door? Postmaster looks daggers at me yesterday afternoon. Makes nasty remarks. Says his postoffice is a good one. If it wasn't it never would have lasted so long without falling to pieces. If Tom Blanton doesn't promise us a post office soon, Joe Jones will beat him to it and get all the votes. We probably won't get the post office anyway. But we could get the fixtures in our present one all cleaned up for Easter or Fourth of July or maybe Christmas.

I never like to cause the railroads no trouble. But the T. P. has been advertising rates of a cent and three-quarters a mile. Well, the only charged me one quarter, one dime and one cent to ride from Ranger to Eastland last Saturday. How in the heck does one get in on those bargain rates? And the crossing where the E. W. F. & G. crosses the highway between Eastland and Ranger is getting a little rough for comfort. It ought to be repaired. Maybe it's the railroad's place and maybe the highway department's at any rate both parties are hereby notified that their crossing is not in good shape. My fliover bounces too hard every time I cross it.

Fred Blatt is asking for mercy. He pleads with me not to make him a party to my proposed suit against John Mouser and him. He says that if it is to be a joint suit, I should also make Jack Lewis one of the defendants. He says a suit for 94 cents would run their credit and a lot of other hooley. Jack Lewis is trying to make a detective out of me. He wants to know who stole his pecans. I don't think he ever had any pecans. I think he lost his money in some sort of a card game and told his wife he went it for pecans and somebody stole the pecans.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

Text: John 14:1-18.
International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 13.
W. M. E. GILROY, D. D.,
Pastor of The Congregationalist

In the last lesson we saw the Master washing the disciples' feet, teaching them through his act the lesson of humility, and rebuking the selfish ambitions that led them to quarrel about matters of place and preference.

A very different atmosphere surrounds this lesson. Here Jesus is the minister of comfort to those whose trouble and disappointment he foresees. The very lack of spiritual discernment on the part of the disciples was bound to make more perplexing and trying the experiences through which they were about to pass.

They had staked their faith upon the establishment of an earthly kingdom, in which they anticipated that they were going to have places of power and responsibility. That dream was about to find its crucial disappointment. Whether or not Jesus in his earthly consciousness had known from the beginning what was to be the climax of his earthly ministry on Calvary, it seems evident that at this time the clear consciousness of his impending sacrifice was ever present with him.

Under these conditions Jesus gave all the power of his utterance for strengthening the disciples for the crisis. He did this, not through warning and appeal, but by seeking to create in them the sort of faith and the quality of vision that would sustain them in their hour of need.

Here he brings the ministry to the troubled into the atmosphere of the eternal and abiding. The one great reason why we may rise above our perplexities and our troubles is the assurance that, no matter what comes, God's love and God's care abide with us.

Jesus does not argue about this. He does not present facts and reasonings to uphold or prove it, he takes it rather as an assumption of spiritual reality. "If it were not so, I would have told you," he says. There are things, he suggests, that are at the very foundation of life and of goodness.

He is equally specific in defining the effect of this faith upon himself and upon his mission. He is going to prepare a place for the disciples, but he will not be separated from them. He is seeking to lead them in the way that he himself is going.

We must read these words in the light of the declaration of Jesus, "I am the Way, and the Truth, and the Life." He personifies in his personality and presence the divine realities which every reader of the Old Testament associated with the Eternal God.

Our lesson expresses the fact of the incarnation as a practical, rather than a theoretical, doctrine. This relationship of the disciple to God, through the earthly Jesus, who is leading the way, as associated with the practical manifestation of religion in good works.

Faith and communion are expressed in prevailing prayer, and in the prevailing power of righteous living. If we live in close communion with Jesus we become the sharers of his holiness and his power.

Rev. Thomas Delivers Talk in High School Chapel

Rev. G. W. Thomas delivered a very interesting talk in high school chapel Thursday. The subject of his talk was "A Good Name is Better Than Great Riches."

The student body and faculty of high school enjoyed Rev. Thomas' talk very much.

The biology classes in high school are now taking spelling tests with their weekly tests. The first test, which was taken today, showed these spelling lessons are not wasting time.

Western Produce Company Is Opened

J. M. Dunn, Jr., has opened the Western Produce company in the building formerly occupied by the Farmers Exchange grocery. Mr. Dunn announces that he will buy produce from the local farmers and will do as much local business with them as possible.

Mr. Dunn hopes to have his place completely overhauled and invites the public to pay him a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Ward are visiting in Wichita Falls and Vernon over the week-end.

Miss Frances Thorn is spending the week-end in Fort Worth visiting her parents.

Mr. Howard Gholson and Mrs. C. C. Craig returned home today from a business visit to Dallas.

"ALL-BRAN LIVES UP TO REPUTATION"

Her Constipation Overcome by This Delicious Cereal

If you are troubled with constipation, read Miss Bundy's enthusiastic letter:

"I would like to congratulate the one who discovered ALL-BRAN. It really does live up to its reputation when it is said to 'relieve constipation.'"

"I used to feel poor all the time—just down and out—and after reading an advertisement in a magazine about ALL-BRAN I got a box. It has evermore helped me, and it is not hard at all to eat."—Miss Mary Bundy, Bennettsville, S. C.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN brings two things needed to correct common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes.

How much safer than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

INDIGESTION

Take a Pinch of Black-Draught After Meals

If bothered with indigestion after meals, try taking a pinch of Black-Draught just after you leave the table.

Many people do this to avoid indigestion. Mrs. H. A. Golf writes from Sherman, Texas, to say: "I suffered with indigestion for a full year—feeling full, bloated, and my food would not digest."

"I began taking a pinch of Black-Draught after each meal, and I found that was the best way. I soon was relieved of my much gas, and the smothering spells did not come on so bad. I soon began to feel much better. Since then, my health is much improved."

Sold at drug stores.

PIPKIN BROS. HAVE MODERN RANGER STORE

New Location Provides Ample Space For Customers in New Store.

Pipkin Brothers, operators of Piggly Wiggly stores in Ranger, Eastland, Breckenridge and Graham, today announce the formal opening of their Ranger store on Saturday, March 12, at the new location at the corner of Main and Austin streets.

The store has been operating in the new location for the past week, during which time the stock has been arranged in an attractive manner, leaving plenty of room for customers and making the display of their merchandise more attractive. With plenty of parking space on two sides of the store, more room has been provided for customers' automobiles than at the former location in the middle of the block.

Joe and Grady Pipkin, who comprise the company operating the Piggly Wiggly stores, are Eastland county men, having been in the grocery business in Eastland for 13 years. The Ranger store was opened about six years ago in the building occupied by the Ranger telephone exchange. After about two years in that location the store was moved to Main street, where it remained until the present move to the corner location.

The company now operates five stores, one in Ranger, one in Eastland, two in Breckenridge and one in Graham. It is a home-owned institution as the owners have made their home in Eastland county for a number of years.

"As much produce as is possible for us to handle is bought locally," Mr. Grady Pipkin said today in talking about the store. "All produce from the farms of this section that we can obtain is purchased and sold through our stores. We buy all our milk, as much country butter as we can sell and other farm products are bought direct from the farmers. Other items of merchandise are bought from the local wholesale grocers, thereby keeping as much of the money spent by our customers in the community as possible."

In commenting on the movement to the new location, Mr. Pipkin stated that he had much confidence in the future of Ranger, of the company would not have spent the money to move at this time. Though no statement was made as to the cost of improvements to the building and the amount involved in moving the store, the total was said to be rather large.

"If I did not have all the confidence in the world in Ranger and the future of business in the town," Mr. Pipkin said, "we would never have made the move at this time. We believe that by moving now we are able to supply groceries to the public in a way that will be appreciated and we believe that business in the future will be better than it has been for the past few years. We are looking to the future and are confident that the patronage we will receive in the near future will justify the expenditures we have made to improve our service to our customers, old and new."

The Piggly Wiggly store in Ranger is now one of the most modern and up-to-date establishments of its kind to be found anywhere in this section of the country and is on a par with many to be found in larger cities.

Ranger Country Club To Entertain With Personally Arranged Dance Affair Celebrating St. Patrick's Day.

Every guest who attended the last Country Club dance will be delighted with this announcement, made by A. Neill yesterday afternoon, who is one of the most enthusiastic and prominent members of the Ranger club.

Roy Costlow and his rhythm rustlers who successfully scored an immense hit at the club during the dance season for the past few months, will again be presented on Thursday evening for a dance celebrating St. Patrick's Day.

A highly popular member of Mr. Costlow's orchestra is that of an accordion player who displays skill and talent on this musical producing instrument. This player will also be numbered among the musicians. General comment from the last dance rather pointed him out as an outstanding attraction to the exceptionally good orchestra.

Invitations for this occasion will
