Last night I was impressed by my own helplessness. A more or less high official of a more or less important company solicited my assistance in negotiating for the purchase of some drinking liquor. I was to be a man who knew bootlegging from life insurance salesmen more than I can could figure. I arose to the occasion and said that I would help him out. We diligently for nearly an hour could find no one who would be in the liquor business on a side line or even as a main

That someone suggested that a pie of pecan pie. Now pecan pie is rather common delicacy and especially on the cuisine of the up-to-date eating establishments. First we went and called on Jimmie Nottingham, Jimmie fresh out of that variety of pie but with his customary ability and quick wittedness, fixed us up into eating some pie and coffee.

Our appetites were then really satisfied for pecan pie and some suggested that we try Breck's. . . which we did. We even had on no less influential person than the late Lowie (Bobby) Cansbell and sold the aid in locating some people. But Bobby was attired in a lounge robe and sea sandals, burning incense in a room and reading a magazine, what cared he about pecan

NEW RATE TO BE IN FORCE ON APRIL 1ST

3,000 Gallons of Water To Be Allowed On Old Minimum.

At the regular meeting of the Ranger city commission held Tuesday night at the city hall, it was voted to reduce the water rates in Ranger effective April 1 by approximately 25 per cent. This reduction is to be made temporarily to determine if expenses of the water department can be met by increasing the volume, and if it is possible the rate will be made permanent.

The reduction will be made by giving an increase in the minimum number of gallons allowed on the minimum rate and decreasing the rate per thousand gallons for all in excess of that minimum. At present the water rates call for a payment of $2 for the first 2,000 gallons with a charge of 50 cents per thousand for all in excess of the minimum. Under the new rates, 3,000 gallons will be allowed at the minimum rate of $2 and a charge of 36 cents per thousand on all water in excess of the minimum.

In announcing this reduction, it was pointed out that it would be made permanent only if the volume of water consumed was increased enough to keep up the payments of the water department. By allowing the reduction, it will now be possible for people to water gardens, flowers, lawns and trees much cheaper than under the former rates, and C. D. Hartnett was re-elected vice president.

NORRIS OF NEBRASKA MARCHING ON

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska is adding to his list of important achievements as a lawmaker of the republic. His latest is a favorable senate report on his bill providing that Muscle Shoals plant shall be operated by the government.

First he put over the lame duck constitutional amendment, which is certain to be ratified by at least 40 American commonwealths. Next he put over in the senate his bill to restrict injunctive power of federal courts in "labor and other disputes."

Chairman Summers of the house judiciary committee said that the measure "would remove from the few the power to make government contemptible in its tyranny."

Senator Norris' bill sent to the house would embrace newspaper contempt cases but the house bill is limited to those arising from labor disputes.

The Sales Tax Is an Equal Burden on Us All!

Gardner Plan Proves Aid To North Carolina

RALEIGH, N. C.—When Governor O. Max Gardner finished his speech at the opening of the general assembly in 1931, the presiding officers of the two houses appointed a committee, which was jealously called the "Committee on Changing the Government."

Everybody didn't like the change at the time, and there are still those who do not, but the legislatures of Virginia and Kentucky already have asked Governor Gardner to address them.

The Gardner road bill was the principal item in the plan. Previously, almost every township had its own road governing body, its own forces, and its own equipment.

Gas Paid Bills. The program is paid for by the six-cent gasoline tax. Before Governor Gardner took office the gas tax was four cents.

Economy and salary cutting also have been important in the Gardner program. Most state workers were paid at least 20 per cent less than they were on Jan. 1, 1931.

Under the North Carolina executive budget act, the governor has power to cut appropriations. This year the cut was 30 per cent. Governor Gardner has exercised this power every year, thus preventing a deficit.

Departments Reorganized. State departments were reorganized at the governor's demand. Divisions of personnel and purchasing were established, as was a department of labor, while the old department of labor and printing was abolished.

The strict economy which has marked the Gardner administration was necessitated by the governor's opposition to a luxury sales tax, especially on tobacco, one of the principal agricultural and industrial products of the state.

Being opposed to the only new source of revenue the legislature was disposed to tap, he successfully saved as much as the new tax would have raised.

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer. WASHINGTON.—Mr. W. Carlton Mobley, the new "baby congressman" from Georgia, is the youngest person ever to enter Congress. He is 25 years old.

After years of running hotfoot to interview each successive youngest congressman, your correspondent asked Mr. Mobley how he thought such distinguished persons should be interviewed and written about.

Wears Collar-Attached Shirts. MR. MOBLEY, who has light brown, pompadoured hair, wears tortoise-shell glasses, speaks with a soft Georgia accent and symbolizes his youth by always wearing collar-attached shirts, appeared somewhat vexed at that. He shot right back:

"If you were a new congressman and had to face a tax bill of vital importance to the country and still got all these protests from your own district—"

In one hand Mr. Mobley brandished 39 or 40 telegrams from theater men in his district who bitterly oppose an admission tax. In the other he waved almost as many from canneries which say it's unfair for their products to be included under the proposed sales tax.

Letters of similar import had heaped themselves on Mr. Mobley's desk.

Was Rutherford's Secretary. MR. MOBLEY had seen such wads of propaganda come into the office before, but not for him. He was secretary to the late Congressman Samuel Rutherford, to whose seat he has been elected.

He went back and told the voters he was the logical successor, familiar with Rutherford's work and best able to finish his district.

The voters saw the point, disregarding scuffs of opponents who urged them not to send a "Boy Scout" or an "errand boy" to Washington. They gave him more votes than all the other five candidates combined.

Athletic Districts Of Texas May Be Divided Differently

AUSTIN.—Plans for re-dividing athletic districts of the Texas Interscholastic league will be submitted to high school coaches and athletic directors here May 5, 6 and 7, Secretary Roy Henderson said today.

Proposals for redivision would create 64 basketball districts and would separate the state into two divisions for class A football play. Tom Dennis, of Fort Arthur, F. E. Shotwell of Breckenridge and C. H. Kellam of San Antonio are investigating re-districting for basketball. Under the new plan, bi-district contests would reduce the 64 district title-holders of 32 teams, which would then play regional tournaments, reducing the field to 16 teams for the state tournament.

Under the present plan, 13 teams enter state tournament play. The new plan is favored because it eliminates first round byes, criticized by coaches. In crowded districts, it also reduces the strain of playing several games a week. Additional income from regional contests is regarded a favorable factor.

Re-alignment of football districts would create a northern and southern division by drawing an imaginary line from a point in Southwest Texas to the northeast corner of the state. Division championships would play a final game for the state title.

And He's a Bachelor

MOBLEY lives in a hotel. He likes to play golf and to dance. He was born on a farm and later learned about politics from his stepfather, Joe Ben Jackson, a state senator. He graduated from law at Mercer University with honors, entered Rutherford's law office and soon became his secretary.

He is a Democrat, like nearly everyone else in the south. He says the people down there are generally well satisfied with the party and denies that the situation would be any healthier if both major parties were strong.

"They argue that if we had two parties we would get more plums and handouts and that's the only argument they have," Mobley says. "That seems a rather selfish viewpoint."

Doesn't Mourn Orators. THE level of southern statesmanship, as the newest, youngest congressman sees it, has risen rather than declined.

"He doesn't have the picturesque, old-time orators we used to have," he admits, "but that's because people don't fall for flowery words and beautiful bellowsings as they once did. The really smart men stood out more than they do now, because they were comparatively few."

The general run of voters are better informed, and old-time politics don't work so well. The progress of the Democratic party in the next few years of its control will demonstrate the high level of statesmanship among southern leaders.

Mobley has been trying to get assigned to the House committee on which Rutherford served—Immigration, Pensions, Elections among them. Just before he died, Rutherford, as chairman of the Elections Committee, had reported out the "lame duck" amendment resolution later passed by the House. He had also introduced a restrictive immigration bill, in which Mobley is now interested.

As "baby congressman," Mobley succeeds Fred Allen Hartley of New Jersey, who was elected in 1928 at the age of 25, but was 26 when he took office.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE Shawnee, Okla.

Floyd B. Rigon, editor and publisher of the Maud, Okla., Daily Enterprise, says: "A town has no place for the knocker; a knocker is always a man without a country, but his country, his town, or his community has little use for him."

"There are all kinds of knockers—as many as there are kinds of people. The thriving city is filled with boosters; boosters who so outnumber the knockers that their knocking does not count for much."

"We like the boosters. Sometimes they are super-enthusiastic, or, rather, over-enthusiastic is the better word. But they are always enthusiastic for their home town, or the cause in which they are interested, and they are never to be found hanging around somewhere knocking this and knocking that. No, a booster is not built that way."

"We must have the boosters; they are just as necessary to the successful enterprise as daylight is to the earth."

"Knockers are found everywhere just the same as the boosters, but let us all be thankful for the boosters, for they are always far away in the lead; usually the knockers can be found in the rear, where it is safer for them, perhaps. They flock together, but even then they fail to make a crowd, as a rule."

"But the greatest booster is he who converts the knocker into a booster—'makes him see the light'—so that both play the game as team-mates ever after."

"A town has no place for the knocker—it matters not whether he knocks the town, its enterprises or its citizens. Show us a man who knocks his fellow-citizens and we will show you the poorest excuse for a citizen extant."

Motion Picture Is Rather Realistic

ODESSA.—Motion picture fans who attended a showing of "The Fourth Alarm Fire" at the Lyric theatre here received some thrills not in the film.

Half way through the feature a fire from a stove filled the structure with real smoke and sent the audience rushing through the exits into the streets without waiting to see if the hero rescued the heroine trapped in a room on the 14th floor.

State Legislature To Vote On Change Of Terms In 1933

AUSTIN.—The Texas legislature will not act upon the proposed amendment to the federal constitution, changing the dates of the Congressional sessions and presidential terms, until January, 1933.

There is little prospect of a special session of the Texas legislature at any time this year. Gov. Ross S. Sterling has repeatedly said he sees no need for one.

Copies of the proposed amendment have been received from the state department at Washington. This will be submitted to the legislature. When legislatures of 36 states ratify the change it will become effective. The amendment eliminates the "lame duck" session of Congress and permits the President and congressman to take office Jan. 1 following November elections.

NERVOUS, FUNCTIONAL DISTURBANCES

San Antonio, Texas.—"For a long time I suffered with headache and was tired all the time, had functional disturbances, was thin, and had no appetite. I was nervous all the time," said Miss Audrey Longoria of 2924 W. Commerce. "A friend advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I have taken about four bottles and now I am so happy to say I do not have headaches any more. I just feel good and want to eat all the time. I have gained in weight."
