POLICE ON TRAIL OF BABY'S SLAYERS

GRIPINGS

By GUS
This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

Friday the 13th and here I am with a broken toe. I'm not sure whether a horse stepped on it or whether I got it caught in the throom door, but it makes walking painful and a limp is noticeable as I wend my way about the place. Next time we have a Friday the 13th I shall not make my legs about not believing it's unlucky. It's had enough to have a purple as a damson plum, but when you forget how you did it, it's bad. Bad. That's the unlucky part... not being able to link up a believable story.

I didn't notice it myself until I pitched crackalack for the links with a gang of Ranger's siding chislers. And as I pitched naturally put my left foot forward and suddenly a pain shot through it and it threw me off balance that my nickel missed the mark and then rolled on its side about 10 feet. Needless to say there were four more chislers into the game after seeing my ch go wild and it cost me 35 cents, much to the gleeful satisfaction of the participants and the Sargent in particular as he obligingly put my money in the pot. Bad break number 2 for today the 13th.

Bad break number 3 is that I've got to stop and turn in this night. I just happened to remember a guy that told me yesterday that he would want a 30 cent ad in today's paper. And it would be indeed unlucky to get a bad break number 3 for today the 13th.

Note to the printer:
If you need more junk to put up space with you can put this otherwise you can throw it away.

Note to my customers:
Well, seeing as to how I was successful in my quest of the advertisement I was about to get rid of forgetting, I'll try to do a little more for you multitudes who are breathlessly awaiting this here column.

Yes! I was speaking of Friday the 13th. And my sore toe, this bunch of Ranger chislers, well, I'm cured of the gambles, instant on account of that 35 cents, I could have bought two cups of coffee, a hamburger and a dish which is exactly how many dollars I have had to postpone on account of losing the 35 cents in crackalack game. And when a man goes to pitching his money out the floor that way he ought to go to go hungry, especially when he has done it to buy Squeakin' Garner a coke.

He-he... and a couple of I've just been interviewed. Mayes came over to where I was working and wanted to interview me as to the Monterey Vacation Contest. If there's anybody that ought to know about the contest it's me. Excuse my pun, I mean it is I. And so you read that story and Bill interviewed me and tries to off as if he got it up himself, you may know that the boy's doing me right.

Excuse me now while I go down my sore toe.

Two Pigeons Are Problem For Town
By United Press.
ENTERVILLE, Ia.—The city well was faced with a problem because pigeons insist on sitting on the big hands of the clock. When three or four alight on a hand, the clock stops, or the hand is retarded. A score of suggestions have been offered the council. But all suggestions were turned down by council. For the clock's face cannot be reached without building a special scaffold.

It was announced today by A. N. Larson, president of the Lions club. Roy Gilbreath, chairman, H. J. Barham, R. V. Galloway, D. W. Nichol and Saul Perlistin compose the committee which is making an inspection of the pool and which has reported to the club. Opening of the pool will depend on rates on water and power and several incidental expenses, it was announced today, and it was thought that these arrangements could be made.

POLITICS TAKE SECOND PLACE AT CONVENTION

SWEETWATER, May 13.—Politics became a second issue on the program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting today when two nationally prominent business leaders spoke on trade conditions. H. Gervish Smith, president of the National Council of American Shipbuilders and James S. Carson, vice president of the American and Foreign Power company, both of New York City, were the speakers. The convention was called to order by President Houston Harter, Texas newspaper publisher. A prayer for the bereaved parents of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was offered by the Rev. Gary Smith, pastor of the Sweetwater First Presbyterian church.

PORT WORTH, May 13.—Randall Blackmond of Ranger, a member of the Texas Christian University Horned Frog band, attended the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Sweetwater May 12-14. En route to Sweetwater the band played brief concerts at Weatherford, Ranger, Eastland, Cisco, Baird and Abilene. The band traveled to Sweetwater on the official Fort Worth special train which carried the Chamber of Commerce delegation of 100 persons.

Attempts to Moor Akron Abandoned

SUNNYVALE, Calif., May 13.—Attempts to moor the giant naval air liner, Akron, to her mast here were abandoned temporarily today when 200 Marines were unable to snub her into her high dock. Hot sun rays, which expanded the Akron's helium, gave her so much buoyancy the ground crew could not control her.

Panel Hid Whisky

By United Press.
KEYSTONE, Va.—After examining a kitchen shelf here three times, prohibition officers were about to give up discovery of whiskies when they discovered a "secret panel." Behind the panel 162 pints of whisky were removed.

LINDBERGH BABY AND SCENE NEAR WHERE FOUND

The above scene shows the country near the Lindbergh estate close to where the baby's skeleton was found Thursday afternoon by a negro timber hauler. The other picture is one of the last taken of the baby before he was kidnaped and slain.

20 SHILLINGS NOW WORTH 32 IN ENGLAND

LONDON.—Being off the gold standard has its advantages as well as disadvantages, for some people, at least. The considerable body of British people who have saved their gold pounds or sovereigns since the world war now are discovering that, comparatively speaking, 20 shillings is now worth 32 shillings and six pence in some places here, but where else in the world, or in the United States, they ask, can one get $7.50 for £3? Signs in grocery stores and other shop windows in British cities now are announcing attractive revaluations of the gold pound as part of the "gold rush" now gripping the nation. One store announces that "we accept sovereigns at worth 32 shillings and six pence in payment for goods."

Bar Association Meets May 19 At Mineral Wells

MINERAL WELLS.—The Texas Bar association will hold its fifty-first annual meeting at Mineral Wells on May 19, 20 and 21, and many prominent lawyers and judges of the state will be in attendance. Among the attractive program features are addresses to be made by Hon. Martin W. Littleton of the New York bar and Hon. Guy A. Thompson of St. Louis, president of the American Bar association. Mr. Littleton will speak at the convention hall Thursday night, May 19, at 8:30, and Mr. Thompson Saturday morning, May 21, at 10 o'clock.

W. O. Gross, committee chairman of the Palo Pinto County Bar association, announces that the public is invited to attend these addresses, and it is thought that Mr. Littleton's address on the subject "What Price Progress" will be especially interesting to the citizens of Palo Pinto and Parker counties, due to the fact that he was rearer at Weatherford and has many friends and acquaintances in this section, who will remember him as a railroad section hand, and a young lawyer at Weatherford.

Prosecutor Says Proof Furnished 'Jafsie' Ring Had Stolen 'Lindy' Jr.

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 13.—New Jersey authorities, backed by the mighty police power of the federal government, were apparently on the direct trail of the Lindbergh kidnapers today. Shortly after President Hoover had called on the government heads to make the murder of the baby "a live and never-to-be-forgotten case." It was dramatically revealed that Lindbergh's emeralds had been in actual contact with the men believed, without question, to be the kidnapers. His call came within a brief time of announcement from State Police headquarters that they had gathered from "Jafsie"; Dr. John F. Condon and John Hughes Curtis, negotiators for kidnaping contact, information of value, which was being carried through in the hope of arresting those who murdered the infant and tossed its body on Rose Hill, where it was found yesterday.

Lindbergh Extra Was Appreciated By The Citizens

The Times' extra, which was printed Thursday afternoon and which gave all the details concerning the finding of the body of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., met with a ready response from the public. Hundreds of copies of the extra were sold by newsboys in Eastland and Ranger. Although the revenue received from an extra seldom meets the expense of publishing the edition, the management of the Times decided to go to the additional expense in order to serve the public. Co-operation of several of the employees of the Times force made it possible after the full details could be received from the United Press over long-distance telephone.

GASTON B. MEANS IN A NEW ROLE

Gaston B. Means is a North Carolinian, scion of one of the oldest families of the Tar Heel state. He was born a democrat and lived a democrat for a number of years. He became a chum of Harry Daugherty and other prominent members of the Harding clan. They made him a special investigator for the department of justice. Gaston has been making history for years. He has a lucid reputation as a doer of things. He has been the publisher of books and played his part in the Washington Merry-Go-Round literature. Now he is under arrest on a charge of "larceny after trust." He is accused of taking $100,000 from Mrs. Edward B. McLean of Washington on the promise that he would recover Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. Of course, Means entered a plea of not guilty. But a United States commissioner set his bail at $100,000 over the vigorous protest of the attorneys for Means.

Mrs. McLean is the wife of Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post and the Cincinnati Inquirer. She is the daughter of a Colorado multi-millionaire. Her husband is in France. Mrs. McLean continues to reside on this side of the ocean. They gave the noble experiment of matrimony the acid test for years. Then they parted and have been in the courts ever since.

As a contact man the North Carolina playboy appears to have invaded a rich field. It is said that he got the money. Likewise it is said that Mrs. McLean engaged Gaston to work on the kidnaping case with the full approval of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. What has happened to Dr. J. F. Condon of New York? He was handed $50,000 to give to the kidnapers of the Lindbergh boy. He handed it out but the kidnapers failed to return the little chap. They kept the money. It must be true that the worlds owes a living to many daring men and women and they go out to get the living with the least possible effort on their part. Again, where is the Lindbergh baby? Was it a case of revenge? Was he stolen by a maniac? Is he in the land of the living—or the land of the dead?

WARRIOR BILL CALLS OUT HIS TROOPS

Warrior-Gov. William H. Murray ordered out his troops in his crusade to regulate oil operations in his adopted state. His sweeping mandate of martial law applicable to oil activities within the Oklahoma City limits halted all drilling. Moreover, restricted zones were declared and in addition a great area of Capitol Hill, south suburban district of the city, where most of the activity is located, was declared closed to oil development.

There are 225 wells located within the Oklahoma City limits. Certain groups and oil companies persistently have attempted to advance activities further into the metropolitan area. Geologists have reported that perhaps the richest part of the vast Oklahoma City oil fields lies under city streets and skyscrapers.

Publicity is the thing in this game of politics in a presidential year. Warrior Bill is a presidential candidate. After taming the wild animals in the oil area of his capital, Governor Bill is going to New York and promises to take the hide off all his critics and "to let the light shine in dark places." As the second Andrew Jackson produced on this continent in 150 years he is going to tell the down Easterners just where to head in and while he's talking of the heading act he is going to let the grass rooters of the American world know that their "Moses is on the march." Well, this is the season for open sports and Warrior Bill is not only a scientific but a very noisy player of the game.

HEFLIN GIVEN A REPUBLICAN CRUMB

Former Senator James Thomas Heflin of Alabama is a republican nominee for justice of the peace for Beat Four in Chilton county in the Alabama state. Heflin had been a representative for many years. He had bolted in 1928. He had been shut out of democratic primaries. He had made the race as a candidate against John H. Bankhead, regular democrat, and had gone down in defeat. He had carried his case to Washington where all the democrats of the Senate and many Republicans hit him on the nose and voted that Bankhead was the legitimate winner of the toga.

Beat Four is a political subdivision with approximately 200 republican voters. It is entitled to two justices and J. L. Wilson was nominated for the other candidacy along with the former democratic senator. President Hoover should be appreciative. He should give Heflin, a lame duck, an easy job in the city of Washington. In the campaign of 1928 Heflin led his followers in five Southern states into the republican camp. They voted for the republican camp. They voted for the republican electors in all five states and they made history for themselves as well as for the republican leaders and party. There should be a reward coming to Heflin. Will President Hoover decorate him with a fat job? He may need the Heflin followers on November election day.

STATE EDUCATORS AND THE INCOME TAX

According to the press correspondents there are 15 Texas educational institutions affected by a decision at Washington handed down by the board of tax appeals, holding that compensation of instructors in state universities and colleges is not subject to income tax. Furthermore it is said that the decision does not apply to denominational schools and the secondary colleges. Who are the favored ones? Why instructors in the University of Texas, A. & M. college, Texas Tech, State College for Women known as C. I. A., College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville, seven teachers' colleges, and the two junior colleges at Stephenville and Arlington, besides the negro school at Prairie View. It is said that the Texas attorney general, joined by the attorneys general of 17 other commonwealths, joined in asking this tax exemption and their plea, was granted. Why not the teachers of denominational institutions? Why not the teachers in the public schools of the commonwealth? Why a privileged class?

The federal farm board has decided to sell 650,000 pounds of cotton at 16 cents a pound. That ought to prove that the bottom of the market has been reached.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS . . . By Laufer

FOUR HOMERS IN ONE GAME

The champions won out easily in the afternoon game by virtue of Lowe's work with the stick was unparalleled. He four times ran making a long drive and his total of bases equaled Larry Twitchell's famous achievement. Every one of these hits went so far over the left field fence that no fielder could have kept him from making the circuit had they been in the open field. Two of the home runs were made in the third inning. Attendance, 1550. The score: Boston 2-0 015 214-29 Cincinnati 0-0 010 005-11

Firestone

HUNDREDS OF THESE TIRES ARE PROVING THEIR OWNERS THE TRUTH OF OUR STATEMENTS

Firestones are certainly backing up the many good things we've been saying about them. When we tell a prospective tire buyer about "gum-dipped" tires and 8-ply fabrics and extra thick treads we can read the expression on his face and know that he is hoping we are telling the truth.

When he drives a Firestone a few thousand miles and comes in and tells us he made a good buy, it makes us have even more confidence in our tire.

the MAN HUNTERS

BY MABEL McELLIOTT

HEALTH CAREER, 30 and beautiful, has become engaged to marry ROSE HEATH, her former employer. She is secretly in love with BOB DUNBAR, who is said to have "an understanding" with ELSIE ACKROYD, a girl of his own set. Health's wife has just given a Reno divorce. Susan's chief motive in promising to marry Health is the desire to provide for the future of her ALVIN, who has cared for her since childhood. Her aunt is ill and Health has arranged to send her south. Susan is staying with MILTON, an old friend, who is Health's one night in a life of pleasure, but the affair is hushed up. Susan tries to tell Health she does not love him enough to marry him but does not succeed. Health takes her to the theater where she sees Dunbar for the first time in months. Bob has tried to find her without success. He is annoyed at seeing her with Health.

HOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXIX

"HELLO!" It was Jack Waring. Susan smiled with pleasure. She had not seen him for several weeks. She was a little embarrassed, though, by the man's air of being a stranger.

"You are a stranger," he commented, taking her arm and steering her through the noonday crowd. "Come and have a soda. I want to talk to you."

Susan followed him into the adjoining drug palace and they sat down on high stools facing a disconcertingly bright mirror.

"I'll just have a glass of milk," she said, having lunch with Rose in half an hour," the girl explained.

That matter disposed of, Waring began to question her briskly.

"What's all this I hear about you? You certainly stole a march on me." His tone was agreeable enough, but Susan thought she detected an undercurrent of sarcasm.

"I'm flushed, answering the challenge."

"What do you know?" she asked.

"Everything," he smiled at her. "I must admit I was surprised. In a manner changed, became suddenly grave. 'You don't mind if I talk to you like a Dutch uncle, do you?'"

Susan said no, she didn't.

"Well, it's this way," the man went on confidentially. "I hope you're perfectly sure what you're doing before you go into this, because it's awfully easy to make a mistake that needs a lot of undoing."

"I know that," answered Susan truthfully, puzzled at his implication. "I don't want to barge in where I'm not wanted," Waring pursued of them, at least. But there's all the difference between heaven and hell in some of them. Ready?" He helped Susan down from her stool. "Forgive me for being a meddling old busybody," he said at parting. "But think over what I've told you."

Susan promised, glad to escape. She would not admit even to herself how excited she was at the idea that Bob had been looking for her. That explained, then, the abrupt transition from eagerness to coldness in his glance the night before. Seeing her with Health, knowing she had left the office—what would his reactions be? She was angry at him, nevertheless, for having come to the conclusion he had undoubtedly reached. He might have had more faith in her.

"Are you shopping this afternoon?" Rose wanted to know 10 minutes later over the luncheon table.

"No, I'm not."

SUSAN picked up a spoon and laid it down again. She had no appetite.

"I don't know what on earth is the matter with you," Rose remarked, attacking her chicken a la king with relish. "Charge accounts opened for you, and all, and you're too bored to use them."

"I said I wouldn't," Susan reminded her. "All those things will have to wait until afterward. I haven't any money and Ernest knows that. He'll just have to take me as I am."

"I never heard anything so silly," said Rose. "Even Mamma thought it was perfectly proper for you to take these things. After all, they'll be yours in a few weeks anyhow."

Susan was stubbornly silent.

"Well, I wish I had the chance. That's all I've got to say," Rose told her. "You come up to the third floor this afternoon and see the new French lingerie and I'm sure you'll change your mind."

"Oh, well," said Rose, accepting this as a temporary dismissal, "come tomorrow then while the things are fresh."

The two girls parted a few moments later, Rose returning to her post with eagerness. Susan wandered down Michigan avenue rather aimlessly. It was queer, this feeling of not having anything definite to do. Now that the novelty had worn off she was not sure that she liked it. At first it had been fun. Fun to dawdle past the shop windows and stare at the lovely things behind glass. Fun to play with the idea that all these things would be hers for the taking one day soon. Now the whole thing had lost its appeal. She had occasionally a sensation of sheer panic as she visualized her life to come. She would be a rich man's wife. She was not at all sure she would fit into the picture Health had sketched for her. Of course they would travel for a while but the return would be inevitable and then what? She had never learned to do the charming, useless things at which rich women spend their time. All her life Susan had been a worker. She might have golf lessons. She might study French. She might even in time discover the mysteries of the bridge table. All these would be merely devices for killing time. At the prospect she shuddered. Life should have more meaning than that.

"SHE could catch an occasional glimpse of herself in shop mirrors as she passed. A tall girl in last year's blue suit that just escaped being definitely shabby. This time next year she would own dozens of costumes. She would have a new house, cars, servants at her disposal. The thought tired her. 'I'd better go home,' she decided suddenly. 'It's stupid to wander about like this with nothing to do.'"

Mrs. Milton looked up in surprise as Susan entered the house.

"Why, lovely, I thought you were going to stay downtown till supper time!"

"I was," Susan said listlessly, "but I changed my mind. I got tired. Do you know," she went on childishly, "I've discovered I like home best. I used to think when I went downtown to work that I enjoyed all that glitter. Now I think it would be wonderful if Aunt Jessie and I could be back in the little house together, poor as we were."

"Scoldings, and all?" Mrs. Milton teased.

"Scoldings, and all," said Susan quietly.

"Well, I must say that doesn't sound quite right from a very lucky girl who's about to be married," opined her listener. "Don't let anyone else hear you say that. They might misunderstand and think you weren't happy."

Susan stared at her. The misery which had been threatening all day to engulf her flooded over her now.

"That's just it," she whispered. "I'm not happy and I'm afraid I never shall be!"

NOW SCIENCE TELLS WHY BRAN IS SO GOOD FOR HEALTH

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Has "Bulk" and Vitamin B; Also Healthful Iron

By using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, millions of people have overcome constipation, and the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so frequently result.

New laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN supplies two things needed to overcome temporary and recurring constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently it clears the intestines of wastes.

Further experiments prove ALL-BRAN provides twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Eat this delicious cereal and avoid pills and drugs. They cause artificial action, and often lead to harmful habits.

Try two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily—sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN has a delicious, nut-sweet flavor. Enjoy as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in making fluffy bran muffins, breads, omelets, etc. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Massachusetts Conducts Town Planning Contest

BOSTON.—A town planning contest for New England boys and girls under 18 is being conducted by the Massachusetts George Washington Bicentennial commission.

The competitors must describe conditions in their own communities as they are today, and as they think they should be in the future. In addition they must draw "The Ideal Town."

The town in which the winning plan is made will be given a bust of George Washington, and the governor of the state will dedicate a tree there.

Tibbett's 99 Decibels in E Flat Exceed Boiler Factory in Volume

Lawrence Tibbett measuring voice as Harvey S. Firestone Jr., watches

WITH Lawrence Tibbett, noted singer, as the subject of the test, science has now proven that the soothing tinkle of gold in the human voice has greater sound volume than the jarring crash of iron and steel in the familiar discords of modern life. In other words the music of Tibbett's singing exceeds in volume the din of a boiler factory, a riveting machine, or the streets of New York in their most violent moments.

This test is believed to be the first ever made of determining the exact volume of a famous singer's voice. It took place when Lawrence Tibbett was in Akron the other day as the guest of Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., vice president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, sponsors of the Monday night radio programs of which the Metropolitan grand opera and talking picture star is the regular artist.

The measuring of Tibbett's "golden voice" was done under the personal supervision of Roy W. Brown, noted Firestone research engineer and member of the Society of Automotive Engineers Research Committee. One of the instruments in the Firestone research laboratory is an audiometer, an extremely sensitive piece of mechanism, which is part of the extensive equipment used in detecting, photographing and eliminating sound from lives in motion. With Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., watching the recording of the audiometer, Tibbett went through his first experience of singing in a factory. Instead of a fashionable Metropolitan Opera House audience, his background was the machinery and tools used in the development by Firestone of silent tires.

Sound is measured in units known as decibels. With a long sustained note in E flat, Tibbett sent the needle of the audiometer spinning to 99 decibels. Brown, familiar with the readings of the delicate instrument, looked startled. He had known that Tibbett possessed one of the most powerful voices of modern times but he had not believed it capable of surpassing the terrific volume created by some of the most violent of everyday noises.

Checking up against computation tables, it was found that the 99 decibels registered by Tibbett were in comparison to the decibel ratings of the following: riveter 98; boiler factory 95; maximum New York street noise 92; roaring lion 88; police whistle 58; noisy New York street 50; street car 70; piano practice 50 and purring of cat 20. The only sound of greater volume which the chart listed was that of an airplane, 110 decibels.

Ranger High School Notes

MISS JEWELLE JUDD Editor

As the school year draws to a close members of the Home Economics club have briefly summarized the work of this club this semester.

The Home Economics club which is under the supervision of Miss Adrian Hagaman, has accomplished a great deal this semester. They have had many interesting programs, among which were health talks, correct dress and shopping courtesies. They gave a very interesting program in chapel, "The Hen-Peck Holler Society."

Each member of this club feels that they have gained a great deal through this club. They have found it most educational but very interesting.

In the way of entertainment the club has had two parties. A Hal-lou-wen party and a leap year party at the home of the sponsor. A tea was given the club in the dining room of the high school.

Members of the Home Economics club have also taken two layettes from the Red Cross. These layettes have been made by those members to be contributed to the poor of the city.

The faculty members of high school held a meeting in high school Wednesday night. "Cause and Remedies for Failure" was discussed. Refreshments were served later in the evening by members of the Home Economics club.

Eastland High Plays Practice Football Game

The boys on the Black team defeated the Reds 6 to 0 yesterday afternoon on West Ward field. The teams were evenly matched and looked as if no score would be made until Heath ran 70 yards to the four yard line. From there, Muckall carried the ball over. The Reds' shining lights were Burgamy and Daniel with Myers calling a good game at quarter.

It was agreed that the losing team would give an ice cream feast to the winners. So they are inviting all the members of both teams. The coaches and teachers and fans in town to come out to night at 7:15 and enjoy a good ice cream feed with them in the high school cafeteria.

Next year's captain will be elected tonight, and medals will be given to the hardest worker in spring training. The boys are looking forward to the best team Eastland ever produced next fall.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

JACOB AT BETHEL

Text: Gen. 28:10-17.
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 15.
By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist.

The story of Jacob's experience at Bethel derives much of its real meaning and significance from the whole story of Jacob's previous life.

Jacob's career had been rather checkered. He was not one of those characters whose life experiences move steadily and whose character and action had been uniformly good and prompted by high motives. On the contrary, there was a great deal, both in the man himself and in his outward conduct, that was at variance with the reputation that he has come to have in religious history.

If this reputation of Jacob be deserved, it is because in spite of the fact that there was much in his record that is unworthy, there were also scenes and experiences that showed him capable of religious feeling and of religious response.

We forget, sometimes, that men are to be judged by the best that is in them as well as by the worst. No judgment of a man is quite valid unless it takes into account what the man was capable of becoming. Not one of us would like to be judged by his manifestations of weakness and failure.

We like to think that even when we yielded to temptation there was a better man somewhere within us than the man who yielded. We like to think that our aspirations speak more truly of what we are than our shortcomings and our failures.

It is perhaps significant that

JACOB IN THE FIRST DREAM WHOSE LIFE HAS BEEN CHANGED THROUGH A DREAM.

Jacob's experience at Bethel was in a dream. Modern psychology is teaching that our real longings and desires are often experiences in dream life. A tendency of modern psychology has been to associate dreams chiefly with suppressed desires, largely downward and evil in their tendency, but a sounder interpretation would evidently relate our dream life to our better impulses and longings as well. The very fact that there was in Jacob the struggle of his elemental ambition and selfishness with the consciousness of something better to which he had not yet quite yielded his life, would account for the dream. Jacob evidently had been suppressing something finer in himself than had come to light in his words or his actions.

In the dream at Bethel Jacob had a vision of God. The critic may quibble about that statement and suggest that Jacob had not a very high conception of God, that it was more a tribal deity with whom he conversed. But the God who came to Jacob in his dream represented the noblest being of whom he could conceive; and is not that what God is to teach one of us?

The important thing is that the experience at Bethel, though it began in a dream, did not end there. Following the dream came the reality. Jacob awakened out of his sleep a new and a better man. He is not the first man whose life has been changed through the power of a dream becoming true.

SAINT VALERY EN CAUX, France.—A monument to the aviators, Dieudonne Costes and Maurice Bellonte, whose east-to-west flight across the Atlantic in the Question Mark carried them over the French coastline here, will be unveiled on the second anniversary of the flight, Sept. 2, 1930.

The monument will be unveiled in the presence of a number of distinguished officials and guests of both French and American nationality. The picturesque resort of Saint Valery en Caux presents an unusual background. In the 19th Century, after the creation of the Duchy of Normandy, the town took on an air of importance, having previously consisted chiefly of a church and priory built in 620 by a monk now known as St. Valery.

The port was built between 1227 and 1239. St. Valery was taken and retaken by the English. When Henry IV went to Dieppe and Fecamp, he stayed at St. Valery, in a house which is still standing and bears the date of 1540. During the 19th Century a number of privateers were armed here, and later the port sent out large fishing boats to the banks of Newfoundland.

Napoleon and Empress Marie-Louise admired the view from the rugged cliffs when they visited this quaint old town, for, on a

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT, United Press Staff Correspondent.
PARIS.—Fashion is beginning to paint the town red. Maybe it is because spring, taking an early leap, found it too chilly to stay and ran back under cover and left Dame Fashion to find some other way of trying to warm things up! Red has become much more affable in recent times, getting along much more harmoniously with a larger number of other colors than ever before. It is fine with grey, beige, greige, those rare pinks inspired by Vionnet, and adopted by many others recently; combinations of white and blue with red are all the rage, and red commands new admiration.

Theft of Wasps Simple Case For Sherlock Holmes

MERCED, Calif.—If Sherlock Holmes solved this case, he probably would say: "My dear Watson, this was really a simple case. All I did was look for a man who was stung."
And, he, no doubt, would be stung. For he stole 2,000,000 wasps from the ranch of J. H. C. Moore, near here.
The wasps were valuable. Fruit growers said they were necessary for culture of Calymna figs.

Eiffel Tower Is Being Repainted

By United Press.
PARIS.—The Eiffel Tower is 45 tons heavier than it was last year.

That is the amount of paint that 45 painters are applying to the giant steel skeleton, still the third highest structure in the world. Only the Empire State and Chrysler buildings are taller.

Paris engineers went over the tower on an annual inspection and found it in good shape. Several engineers say that it can stand for another century before it will have been worn out by the elements, but most engineers agree that it may become a menace in another 20 years.

By 1950 Eiffel Tower may have to be torn down or rebuilt, the process of rebuilding being such a costly and difficult task that Paris may easily lose the most visible feature of its skyline. The base of the great tower is stronger than its top and this is explained by the fact that the top weays in high winds and twists the metal.

The tower is being painted yellow and brown, which all Parisians agree is not pretty. Engineers say that the tower has a better chance of a longer life with paint of those two colors than any others.

One American firm offered to paint the tower with aluminum paint, so that it would sparkle like silver, just for the publicity concerned, but this was opposed.

Chess Gives British M. P.'s Relaxation

By United Press.

LONDON.—Politicians may gamble with governments, and there is even an unofficial lottery in the house of commons in connection with private bills, but officially, gambling for a parliament member is taboo.

In fact no games at all are allowed, if one excludes chess, which enthusiasts call a science rather than a pastime.

Thus M. P.'s, weary of a long and boring debate on the floor, may retire for a "peppy" game of chess.

It is not recorded that many do it or who is the political champion.
