This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

Now that the moving picture show situation has been disposed of and I have apologized for what I didn't say and what I did say and what I thought but didn't say, we shall go on to more or less important subjects, according to the way you look at it.

I noticed in our society column Friday that an orchestra at the Ranger Country club would feature an "accordion" player. The proper spelling of the word is "acordeon." If it hadn't occurred twice improperly spelled I would pass it up as a typographical error.

Then speaking of things and places closing up... I don't like a bit because the Ranger Post office closes on Saturday afternoons. It's the only post office I know of that does it. If you didn't get your mail Saturday morning or didn't buy your stamps or whatever business you had to transact at the post office, you can't attend to it now until Tuesday because the office will not be open Monday either.

Roy Stokes said if he just had a way of getting a little mail now and then he'd open up a post office in the neighborhood with Meroney, Uncle Sam, Incorporated.

This was Poppy Day. Meaning yesterday was... Charming young ladies were out bright and early wearing poppies on their heads and taking a piece of change from us. I didn't have anything smaller than a quarter and so I persuaded Garner to buy me one for a dime when the ladies had left. I got my quarter changed and paid him back the dime.

Incidentally the poppy sales brought in about $50. It's none of your business who gets the money nor what it's used for.

Grunt Plummer and Felix Barnes were seen around Ranger Saturday trying to buy a shirt. They invited me out to the Lone Star office Sunday morning to hear Felix play his guitar and to see his harmonica. I might go, if I don't have to walk. Last time I saw Felix, he was going to take me to Fort Worth. I forgot to ask him why we didn't go.

Steele Neely, ex-mayor of Morley Valley, drove into Eastland rather late Friday night and straightway sent me information that he would like to be interviewed. Steele has been gone for nearly six months and I found that he wanted to interview rather than be interviewed.

He asked me all about the crops and the depression and such other things as would naturally come up when a former prominent citizen returns to his native haunts.

Steele has been up in Kansas chasing jack rabbits all spring. He says the depression is all over up here... all over the state. But he says the outlook is very optimistic on account of the grasshoppers all having the jake leg.

Well... even of this trip. He'll be seeing you.

FLASH—Bill Mayes just came out to me to ask all his questions. Bill says he is thinking about going out of the columning business on account of every time he opens his mouth he puts his foot in it. Folks don't like it if he mentions some people and others don't like it because he mentions them.

I just give Bill a little advice on the subject. I told him to stay there and say whatever he thought as long as he wasn't afraid to say it and then that didn't like he said he'd write him a letter and he could print the letter. He is going to run a column as long as the boss is willing to pay a fiver to set it in type, even if I have to take back every word I've said and start all over again. Bill should look at it that same way.

WIDELESS AMATEUR
By United Press.
CHICAGO.—Aside from his duties as president of the Chicago Stock Exchange, Paul H. Dodge, a radio enthusiast, operates his own radio station W9GES from a small radio set. One of his 3,000 amateur companions is his son, Paul Jr., station W9ADU. He served as radio operator for the Arctic expedition vessel that sailed with Capt. E. H. Peckham in the summer of 1930.

Borah's Niece

Washington's younger social set has welcomed a new member from the far west—Miss Mary Borah Lueddemann, of Portland, Ore., niece of Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the senator from Idaho. Miss Lueddemann, a graduate of St. Helen's Hall, has been visiting the Borahs for several months, enjoying the gay round of capital social events.

J. H. CURTIS IS INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 28.—An indictment charging John Hughes Curtis with obstructing processes of justice in the Lindbergh kidnaping case was returned by the Hunterdon county grand jury in Flemington today.

The Norfolk boat builder, who admitted a hoax on the Lindbergh family by his story of alleged contacts with the kidnapers of their son, has been held in jail at Flemington since his arrest.

Presentation of the case to the grand jury was made last week and three witnesses testified to Curtis' hoax.

There were unconfirmed reports that Curtis would not oppose the charge, merely placing himself at the mercy of the court with a non-vult plea.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh may appear as a witness against Curtis if trial is had. He has indicated a willingness to testify should authorities deem it advisable.

Sterling Definitely In Governors Race

AUSTIN, Tex., May 28.—A formal offer to keep Governor Ross S. Sterling out of the campaign for re-election has been met by a positive declaration that he is in the race, confident he will win.

The governor's formal announcement of his platform and an opening address can be expected in a few days.

This week's meeting of the state highway commission, bringing persons to Austin from all parts of the state, made it so apparent that there was still considerable doubt about his candidacy that one very close personal friend took it up with the governor.

Today he said positively: "The governor will run." Governor Sterling was at Humble today attending a new road celebration.

Garner Defends Relief Measure

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Speaker Garner today defended his relief program as a real benefit to the "masses" and attacked President Hoover for failure to co-operate.

In a formal statement the speaker replied to the president's charges that the Garner $2,140,000,000 relief plan was "pork barrel legislation."

COMMITTEE IS GETTING MANY NAMES ON LIST

Wool Price Drop Causes Growers To Ship Today

Word was received in Ranger Saturday afternoon to the effect that the National Wool Marketing Association would reduce the advance on wool by one cent on Monday morning.

Work was immediately started to conduct the sale and ship the wool now stored in Ranger. Owners of wool were notified by telephone that the wool would be shipped on Sunday morning in order to get in on the higher advance and before the association reduction went into effect.

Land Offered for New State Park

BURNETT, Tex., May 28.—A tract of land containing the entrance to a new partially explored cavern, has been tentatively offered for state park, it was announced here today.

Dr. J. L. Williamson, Burnett, will donate the land if the state will improve it into a park and provide a highway to it. The land is located in the hill country, midway between Burnett and Marble Falls.

Bromley Finishes New York Flight

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L. I., May 28.—Le A. Harold Bromley, completed his Dallas to New York test flight today after an overnight stop in Camden, N. J.

The flight was preliminary to an attempt to spar the Pacific in a flight to Tokyo from Seattle, with his Diesel-motored plane.

The flier was to obtain instruments here for his projected Tokyo flight. He announced complete plans for the venture, which he expected to start before June 1.

Two Aviators On Way to New York

FORT WORTH, May 28.—Departure of Jimmy Mattern and Bennett Griffin for New York to begin their world's flight will be delayed until Monday, the fliers announced.

Mattern and Griffin, who had planned to leave today, postponed their departure in order to give the motor of their Lockheed-Vega monoplane a thorough test.

5 Years for Youth in Kidnap Plot

A five-year jail term in the penalty Walter Ogborn of Kansas City must pay for an extortion and kidnaping plot foiled by police. The photo above shows Ogborn (right) as he heard his sentence pronounced by Circuit Judge Ben Ferte. Ogborn demanded $4,000 from Mrs. Laura Negbar of Kansas City, on threat of kidnaping her nephew, Hal K. Negbar, Jr. The boy, son of a wealthy Kansas City rug merchant, is pictured at the left.

MORELAND IS AGAIN TEXAS GOLF CHAMP

TEXARKANA COUNTRY CLUB, TEXARKANA, Ark., May 28.—Gus Moreland, Dallas, won his second consecutive Texas amateur golf championship today by defeating W. K. Long 10-9, in the finals of the twenty-sixth annual Texas Golf association tournament.

The champion finished the first nine holes 5-up on his shorter and stockier-built opponent. Moreland was 8-up on Long after the first 18. He lost two holes during this round, the tenth and twelfth, but rallied immediately thereafter to take the next four consecutive holes.

In the giving him trouble, but his drives were equaling Moreland's. In the afternoon even his driver failed him and it became a rout.

After the first 18 today it required no great shakes of a prophet to predict the outcome. Moreland halved or won every hole of the third nine, finishing the match on the twenty-seventh hole of the day, with 500 people looking on.

Edgar Witt to Run For Re-election

WACO, May 28.—Edgar Witt, lieutenant governor of Texas, announced today he is a candidate for re-election. He set forth a five-plank platform on which he will stand.

"I wish to express my great appreciation to the many friends who have urged that I should be a candidate this year for governor of Texas," Witt said, "but I have decided the wiser course is to run for re-election and I hereby announce for re-election."

His platform embodies the following: 1—Reduction of the cost of government. 2—Reduction of taxes, this by reduction of expenses. 3—No new taxes of any kind or character. 4—Such consolidation and abolishing of department institutions as will permit essential activities without duplication or unnecessary frills. 5—One regular session of the legislature as required by the constitution and no more.

CLAIMS COTTON STILL KING.

CHICAGO.—Cotton still is "king," according to Mrs. E. H. Miller, only woman crop expert and statistician in the United States. She asserts that despite the 50 years between the close of the Civil war and the outbreak of the World War would have been $3,000,000,000 against the United States instead of $10,000,000 in our favor.

6-STORY FALL KILLS HEAD OF PACKING CO.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Edward F. Swift, chairman of the board of Swift & Co., one of the largest packing firms in the world, died in a fall at his home today.

A statement confirming the death of one of the most prominent of mid-west industrialists was issued by his brother, Charles Henry Swift. Edward F. Swift succeeded Louis F. Swift as chairman of the board of Swift & Co. last January.

"Edward F. Swift had been in poor health for several weeks," his brother said. "On the advice of his physician he had arranged to leave Tuesday for a vacation in Europe. His affairs are in excellent condition."

Swift, who was 64 years old, fell to his death from the sixth floor window of his fashionable North State Parkway apartment, overlooking Lincoln Park.

The fall was witnessed by the packer's chauffeur, who was waiting in a car parked in front of the building to take his employer to his office.

An investigation revealed that Swift rose at 6:30 a. m., his usual hour, and had breakfast as was his custom, dressed in a bathrobe and pajamas. The maid said she noticed nothing unusual about his actions.

The window from which he fell was guarded by an eight-inch grating. The maid did not know whether the window was open when she left the room.

Swift was clothed only in pajamas when his body was recovered. Police said examination of the body showed bruises on one leg which they believed indicated the packer's magazine had fallen over the grating which guarded the window. The body fell onto a stone canopy in full view of the chauffeur, who was first to report the death.

More Than 200 In Attendance At Golf Barbecue

A chicken barbecue and Calcutta pool was held at the Ranger Country clubhouse Friday night, with more than 200 visitors present. The barbecue was one of the best that has been held in the part of the country and the visitors were well pleased with the way arrangements were made and carried out.

The meat for the meal was prepared by John Thurman and Roy Jamison, who were assisted in arranging other items in the menu.

The Calcutta pool was one of the most successful ever held in this part of the country.

Unknown Aviator Takes Off Toward 'Paris or London'

FLOYD BENNETT FIELD, LONG ISLAND, N. Y., May 28.—Flaunting the advice of seasoned ocean fliers who told him weather conditions, enough, against success, Stanley F. Hausner, picturesque amateur pilot, swept off the Long Island concrete runway here today in his flame colored Bellanca monoplane and headed non-stop, for Europe.

The smiling Pole roared out over Jamaica Bay at 4:07 EST, and disappeared into the north-east.

"London or Paris," he said a moment before he shot down the white stretch of concrete. He had refused, up to that time, to give any indication of his destination. All ships in the North Atlantic were radioed to keep a lookout for his plane.

His plane, powered with a Wright Whirlwind engine of 220 horsepower, carried 550 gallons of gasoline, enough, he believed, to keep him going 50 hours.

He flew toward the night, almost as much of an enigma as he was when he first reached the airport four days ago. Little is known of him. He is 32 years old, a native of Poland and a naturalized American citizen. He smiles all the time.

When he first reached the airport from Newcastle, Del., he refused to discuss his plans with anyone.

"I'll surprise you all," he would say. He spurned suggestions that he give his ship a name. "I don't believe in that sort of stuff," he said.

Singer Is Bride of Tobacco Heir

"That's the kind of man needs the kind of woman like me," sang Edna Reynolds (above) in the song that first won her success on Broadway. Now, the lyric seems to apply to Edna Reynolds, 20-year-old heir to tobacco millions. For the two were married secretly some months ago, it is revealed. The ceremony is said to have followed soon after Reynolds and her first wife, Anne Cannon, were divorced. When Reynolds recently arrived at Seattle on a trip around the world, he said he wasn't in love, but his bride disclosed the secret a few days later in New York.

ART GOEBEL IS INJURED IN PLANE CRASH

MCKINNEY, Texas, May 28.—Art Goebel, famous Pacific flier, was injured and his mechanic, R. L. Ries, 31, Dallas, was killed when a gust of wind tossed their plane into a tall tree as they were taking off in the rain here today.

Goebel was at first believed injured seriously, but after examination at the city hospital, Dr. W. S. Wypson said the flier's most serious hurt was a clean fracture of the right femur, four inches above the knee. He also had a bruised left shin and bruised jaw.

An X-ray revealed no fracture of the jaw. The flier called his mother, Mrs. Emma Goebel, in Los Angeles by telephone to tell her he was not seriously hurt before allowing physicians to set his broken leg.

"We had successfully taken off to the southwest of the field and were about 35 feet off the ground when a gust of wind caused the plane to crash into a tree in the corner of the field," said Goebel. "Rain on my goggles impaired vision."

One wing of the plane was torn completely away. The motor was pushed back into the cockpit.

Several persons, including A. H. Eubank, McKinney banker, and Dawson Smith, Dallas, witnessed the accident.

The mechanic's skull was fractured. Witnesses said the plane, an open Waco, soared 35 feet and was swept into the tree. The field, an area in the bottom a mile east of here, is overflow land and the fliers took off in an effort to prevent possible miring of the ship.

They planned to return to Dallas Saturday night, where Ries lived and where Goebel has been employed for several weeks by the Goiberson Diesel Engine company. They had been here two days making exhibition flights.

Ries was born in Chicago and during the World War was a machinist at Love Field, Dallas. He is survived by his wife, his father, Thomas Ries, Ennis; two brothers, William, Venice, Calif., and Leonard, Ennis; and three sisters, Miss Angeline Ries, Mrs. Alice Martin and Mrs. Lillian Martin, all of Dallas.

His body was sent to Dallas.

BASE-RELIEF PLAQUE OF LINDY ADDED TO TROPHIES

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—A has-relief plaque of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the work of Frederick Giorgi, Hollywood, has been added to the extensive collection of Lindbergh trophies here. A replica of the plaque was given to Miss Helen Keller, blind genius, whose room was dedicated to Colonel Lindbergh inspired the work.

Pressure Cooker Demonstration A Big Success

The following letter from H. J. Barham, local manager of the Montgomery Ward store, tells of the wonderful success of the pressure cooker demonstration put on in Ranger, Texas, Saturday afternoon.

The demonstration of Winsor Pressure Cookers which has been in progress the past week at our store has again demonstrated to us the value of publicity in the Ranger Times.

Mr. DeVitt, demonstrator, is a authority for the statement that more women had attended here than in any Texas city, not even excepting the Fort Worth store.

He has given demonstrations in Ward store in several Texas cities including Fort Worth, Beaumont, Temple and others. Actual sales of pressure cookers during the week have been larger in Ranger than in any other Texas city.

At the close of business Saturday night more cookers had been sold during the week of his demonstration than had been sold in any Ward store in Texas during demonstration week. We feel that this speaks well for Ranger.

We feel that our advertising in the Times has played an important part in the success of the demonstration.

Yours truly,
H. J. Barham, Manager,
Montgomery Ward & Co.,
Ranger, Texas.

SMITH WINS TWO STATE DELEGATIONS.
Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City is the democratic boss of the state of New Jersey. He is one of the ablest political strategists in the Eastern group of stoppers. He is brilliant but never showy. Young declared himself out of the game. His first choice was Owen D. Young. Now the 32 national delegates from New Jersey will go to Smith on the second ballot. On the first, they will vote for Governor Moore. Then they will go where they are ordered by the kings of the stoppers. Connecticut has instructed 15 delegates to vote for the Happy Warrior. A minority of the delegation favoring Franklin D. Roosevelt "will be allowed to vote as it chooses on other convention questions."

New Mexico's six delegates to the Chicago convention will go pledged to the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Next week a horde of delegates will be elected to the two major conventions. As for Herbert Hoover, he will be given a second nomination by acclamation. As for the democratic choice, God only knows who will win the coveted prize and it is doubtful if He is on speaking terms with the practical politicians of America.

FEE CONTROL UPHELD BY THE HIGH COURT

A ruling of the supreme court of Texas should be of more than passing interest to district judges, county officials, the state comptroller and all concerned. As interpreted by a very clear headed correspondent of the Associated Press with headquarters under the big dome, another angle of Texas' troublesome system of remunerating certain public officials with fees of office has been clarified. This was done when the court held the state comptroller is empowered to withhold his approval from claims of fees of office even though a district judge certified them as correct, should the comptroller be in doubt about their legality. A former county attorney of the Blackland section received a knock on the nose and he took it standing. To the sane thinker entirely without prejudice this latest decision is a warning that excessive fee grabbing has had its day under the skies of Texas. Judge Richard Critz of the supreme court commission announced the ruling. Now it is for the state comptroller, whenever he is in doubt, to go all the way in safeguarding the rights as well as the pockets of the Texas taxpayer.

KANSAS DEMOCRATS INSTRUCT FOR ROOSEVELT

Kansas democrats in state convention pledged their 20 national convention votes to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for the presidential nomination and refused to favor repeal of the 18th amendment but made concessions in both instances. Moreover, the resolution for the New York governor made the instruction binding only until the votes "are released by a majority vote of the delegation." As for the prohibition issue, a resolution was adopted which recognized "the right of any citizen, or group of citizens, to advocate changes in our fundamental laws by orderly processes designed to determine and give effect to the will of a majority of our people." Kansas democrats in adopting the resolution gave evidence of a democratic recognition of the right of the minority and against the theory that delegates to a national convention should be instructed for any ambitious personage "first and last and all the time." A majority of the national convention should rule. As for the national leaders of the party, they haven't the courage to declare for the abrogation of the two-thirds monstrosity. Thus they ever invite defeat at the polls.

STATE-WIDE BOND PROPOSAL DEAD ISSUE

A proposal to amend the state constitution to permit issuance of state highway bonds will not be a burning issue in the campaign this year. Gov. Ross Sterling is responsible for the removal of the issue. This is his attitude: "The taxpayers are being called on to pay more taxes than they can afford and we must cooperate to make this burden lighter. This is not a time for the issuance of new obligations by any branch of the government, state or national or local." Governor Sterling is not in favor of an increase in the gasoline tax. Moreover, the governor is going to advocate the diversion of a portion of the four cent gasoline tax to a fund to be used to pay interest and retire the principal on debts incurred by counties to build state highways. This should clarify the political atmosphere, as well as afford relief in counties where property owners have been burdened with heavy bond issues for the construction of highways in by gone days.

CONSOLIDATION OF UNITS THE ONLY HOPE

Oklahoma officials will be up in arms later along. A plan for reduction in the number of counties in that state from 77 to 20 through mergers with the result in saving of $24,900,000 annually in taxes has been outlined by the State Chamber of Commerce, and is said to have formidable backing the state over. According to the author of the proposal, consolidation of counties and townships and school districts offer the only permanent method for tax relief. Well, if the people are the masters, they may put the proposal over by constitutional amendment or legislative enactment. If they are not the masters, they will drift along as usual bitter in their complaints of the cost of government and indifferent as to the use of a very effective ballot on election day.

A RULING IMPORTANT TO OIL PRODUCERS

Let us forget, the supreme court of the United States in its opinion in the Oklahoma oil proration case "thrust aside claims that the conservation laws tended to price fixing and were a burden on interstate commerce." It upheld the arrangement under which inspectors of the commission were paid by oil operators as the legislature of Oklahoma had failed to appropriate money to pay the inspectors. Justice Pierce Butler of Minnesota also said "he found no evidence there had been discrimination in enforcement." Now where do we go from here?

Most everybody believes in respect being shown for old age. The sentiment is right and a useful one, although many go to the extent that the younger party recognizes the merits of the older party in adding and to the extent that the respect rendered is also a recognition of the inability with which the youth of one day is the old age tomorrow.

The New Trojan Horse

Eastland High School Commencement Held On Thursday Evening

The Eastland High school auditorium was filled with overflowing Thursday night with parents, relatives and friends at the commencement exercises of the Eastland High school, which was presented in a floral setting of unique beauty.

Program opened with the professional, by Mrs. Joe Gibson, followed by invocation by Dr. J. T. Wilson.

The salutator, by Annie Laura Rosenquest, was delightfully presented, and brought hearty applause.

Voice, Joyce Gilmer's beautiful "Trees," set to music by Basbach, was charmingly sung by Mrs. Joe R. Leonard with Mrs. Donald Kincaid at piano.

The valedictorian, Melrose Henderson, held her audience in a well delivered address.

Misses Rosenquest and Henderson were honor graduates of Eastland High School. Supt. P. B. Hill presented the speaker of the evening, Burette W. Patterson.

The address by Judge B. W. Patterson held his audience in intense interest. Speaker dwelt on the commencement of life's struggles, that the Great Creator provided, each individual should accomplish that which was intended; and gave man fowls of air and beasts of fields. Man was told to do certain things, be fruitful and multiply and replenish the world and subdue the earth. That conflict means exertion of power against obstacles. If you go out to accomplish, you will meet resistance. The world is being overcome though all nations are the same as when created. Animals and birds have wings, and man has a mind. Man was told to do certain things, be fruitful and multiply and replenish the world and subdue the earth. That conflict means exertion of power against obstacles. If you go out to accomplish, you will meet resistance. The world is being overcome though all nations are the same as when created. Animals and birds have wings, and man has a mind. Man was told to do certain things, be fruitful and multiply and replenish the world and subdue the earth. That conflict means exertion of power against obstacles. If you go out to accomplish, you will meet resistance. The world is being overcome though all nations are the same as when created. Animals and birds have wings, and man has a mind.

That those who have overcome the world are those with a fixed purpose in life, and the most important thing is to know our God. That many today never think of the responsibilities of life. Appealed to the young people facing him to decide on which side of life they would battle. That two things are necessary, knowing the Creator, and a personal decision of their life work. That those bodies were given us for a purpose, and it behooved us to preserve these bodies in health and purity. The purpose in life is imperative. One might be a versatile person, but that that person would not conquer the world. Set your mind on one thing and accomplish it. That many a man had been lost to the world because of a lack of decision. That it was said a man with seven trades can not take care of himself and seven children, but a man with one trade can take care of seven children and himself. That sewing by hand was now accomplished by airplane over thousand and thousands of acres in 24 hours, and that with so many modern methods and mechanical devices, there would soon be nothing left for them to do, as machinery was accomplishing the power of the world. If there were no obstacles there would be no progress. That exercise and resistance develops the mind. To be grateful that God gives us opposition and struggle with adversity, which is the making of strong men and women physically and mentally. Conquer or die, and over come the world. That to accomplish these things lies within your own heart, for nature always pays her reward.

Awarding of medals was an interesting moment. South Ward school P. T. A. awarded a gold medal for best all-round student in that school to Mildred McGlamery, medals presented by Judge Sparks, in a forceful talk of appreciation of the work of this

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Night life in the national capital, of which there is never very much in the metropolitan sense, expands when the Senate has evening sessions.

Thousands who can't spare time otherwise ascend Capitol Hill to observe the upper house doing its stuff under the bright lights. The night crowds lately have exceeded the day crowds and usually there are lines outside the gallery doors still waiting to get in at recess.

For after-supper parties the Senate often takes the place of a theater and beautiful evening dresses and dinner coats are frequently seen in the galleries.

There's always a prospect of more excitement at night. Tired and sore after long warm days, members are more likely to blow up. And some of them are more likely to have been drinking. Although, one observes, some of the most conspicuous senatorial drinkers of the last Congress are no longer here.

"Depression Divorces" are no joke. The idea may sound like a funny newspaper story, but 50 or 40 women in the government service actually have visited the National Woman's Party headquarters in the last two or three weeks and declared their intention of getting legal separations from their husbands.

The woman's party recently boycotted a railroad which began to fire married women from its clerical force as a matter of policy, after showering its president with telegrams from members over the country. A competitor would hasten to assure that it would adopt no such policy and meanwhile would be glad to get their business.

More Huey. MORE about Senator Huey Long: The Senate's "bad boy" moves around in the Senate like young student and the influence she exerted. R. E. Sikes, on behalf of West Ward P. T. A., presented the best all-round student gold medal for that school, to Nan Mickle, a wee girl. Mr. Sikes made a charming and earnest talk to the youth of today.

The best all-round gold medal to student in Junior High awarded by the Rotary club was presented Clara June Kimble by Sid Pitzer. Best all-round gold medal for student in high school, awarded by the Lions club, was presented by Superintendent of Schools McGlamery to George McWilliams.

The oath of allegiance, given to the class by J. Frank Sparks, was a solemn and touching moment. In earnest phrase, Mr. Sparks expressed the meaning of the oath and the beauty of good citizenship.

The graduation class arose in mass and responded in unison with the dignified and sacred oath. The presentation of diplomas by Mr. K. B. Tanner was made as each graduate arose and marched in line up the steps, across the stage, to receive his or her diploma.

R. P. Palm, principal of school, introduced Rev. Moore, who pronounced the benediction. The high school graduates for 1932, include: Truett Beem, D. L. TEXAS TOPICS

Slighting disregard for state rights, and the ultimate death blow to the state banking systems of the nation are seen by Texas Banking Commissioner James Shaw in the Glass bill before the United States senate—a bill, he does not believe will be permitted to become a law.

The bill would allow federal reserve banks to establish branches, even in states whose laws forbid branch banking, and across state lines.

Texas prohibits branch banking, and the wisdom of its course has been fully sustained.

Then the bill would tend to spread federal supervision to all banking, and thus centralize and dominate the banking of the nation in the hands of a small group in Washington.

If Mr. Shaw doesn't blame the federal reserve system with destroying the values of American land, livestock and property, there are plenty of Texans who will do it for him.

National banking has not made as much progress as state banking in recent years, according to figures Commissioner Shaw quoted: In March, 1931, the 15,865 state banks had combined capital accounts of $5,950,000,000, while the 6935 national banks had $3,778,000,000. The combined deposits of the state banks were $24,268,000,000, against $22,344,000,000 for the national banks.

The records show that from June 30, 1919, to March 25, 1931, the total assets of state banks in the United States increased by $16,721,000,000, and during the same period, the assets of national banks increased $7,327,000,000. "It is therefore apparent," he said, "that the public of the United States has complete confidence in the state banks of this country."

Gov. Ross Sterling's brief re-announcement for office meant a great deal more, this late in the season, than merely one man's political ambitions.

It fenced the rest of the political pasture. It defined the field, and made its decisions so clear that voters may not get into their respective groups.

It took out the doubt and uncertainty which have been disturbing elements so far.

And it killed off the flourishing crop of rumors, all tending, if not designed, to break his supporters into as many cross-current groups as possible. It removed further cause of building up straw-man candidacies out of the tending following.

Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls is busily campaigning. Some other candidates have said they are in the race. Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and Governor Sterling, the candidates between whom naturally the keenest competition and the greatest degree of interest will lie, have now taken charge of the principal sides of campaign opposition.

There remained a slight chance that Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt may prefer running now against this line-up than to wait until this coming two-year term has been served. Attorney Gen. James V. Allred was already out of the governorship race. Senator Clint C. Small indicated he will not oppose Mr. Sterling, and Senator Walter C. Woodward's staying out was assured.

Dan Moody, it is considered certain, would have made the race had Mr. Sterling been unable to give his time and effort to another and another two-year term in office. Mr. Moody will support Governor Sterling to the limit. The chief joy that "Fighting Dan" gets out of life seems to have been in scrapping former Gov. Jim Ferguson out of political power and scrapping to keep him out.

Rain in West Texas usually is accounted a blessing. But like all other blessings, it has its drawbacks, particularly when it comes in too plentiful portions.

Rain kept scores from getting to Sweetwater for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. It practically isolated San Angelo from three-fourths of the state. It blocked highways and endangered travelers in many West Texas counties.

Amarillo and Potter county have chosen other cities and counties the way to economy in respect to united health work, cutting out duplications. Their budget is run at a cost of $20,740 to the city, and a smaller amount to the rest of the county, for a county-wide full-time health unit including a director, a city-county physician, a chemist, a veterinarian, a milk inspector, two or more food inspectors, a county nurse, a laboratory technician and a secretary, and school nurses. A $500,000 annual "state" contribution comes to this city-county unit from the Rockefeller foundation.

Other cities duplicate work of counties; and what is worse, both cover some spots, and each, looking to the other, leaves some needful work undone entirely.

The TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"The Scrub-a-dubs were tickled pink and one of them said, 'Gee! To think that we are getting lots of help from all you Tinymites!'"

"We know you'll help us do it slick and we'll be finished very quick. Then, maybe we can tell you where to see some thrilling sights."

"It must be fun to travel 'round the world and see what can be found. We're glad you stopped to call on us, 'cause you are very kind."

"Don't work so hard you cannot stand, or you'll regret you lent a hand. When you begin to get tired out, just quit. We will not mind."

"Then Scouty said, 'Oh, this is fun. We'll work until the task is done.' Wee Duncy interrupted him. 'I'm getting tired,' said he."

"Besides, I guess I've done my share and, if the Scrub-a-dubs don't care, I'm going to flop down for a nap beneath that big oak tree."

Before the Scrub-a-dubs could

"Oh, you have done enough today," wee Copy cried. "He lazy. Hard work disagrees with him."

"Just let him snooze. He'll be all right. He loves to sleep a day or night. The rest of us will keep right on 'cause we all feel trim."

"I'n 'bout an hour one Tinymite said, 'The outside's gone. Let's go inside. We'll sweep the house from front to back. 'Twill not look just like new.'"

Then, when the bunch had reached the door, a bushel basket with a roar, came running out. It shouted to the Tinies, "How do!"

And then it ran on down a hill "it's filled with cans, and the will spill," yelled Windy. "Com let's follow it. 'Twill be a thrilling race." A Scrub-a-dub chimed in and said, "Sure, Tinymites, right ahead." And so the Tinies one and all, took up the chase.

FISH are able to maintain their balance of life only because of the ability to produce eggs in astonishing numbers. FOR CENTURIES, the light of the firefly has been utilized in numerous ways by the peoples of many lands. Not only have these insects served as lanterns and flashlights, but as ornaments for the hair ladies.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

I HAVE noticed in my recent journeys to various cities that in the cities proper men and women talk with a quiet. For the most part they are anxious-eyed and seem to be in a big hurry to get some place, while in the small places they do not hurry, but walk with an air of opulence.

I also noticed that the larger cities seem to possess sounds of their own, and this fact is very interesting. In imagination, we think most people are able to recall certain places, not for their ugliness or their beauty, but for certain other associations which we can only describe as atmosphere; sounds, for instance, and smells. Some of them have a variety of smells.

It reminds me that a lot of cities, as well as small places, need a little cleaning up. In fact, some of them need a long delayed cleaning.

Those, who at the beginning of the year, turned their binoculars on the cloud of depression in the hope of covering even a vestige of the silver lining, will have put them away again if the opinions expressed by many of our leading politicians can be believed.

In the meantime, it looks as though it is just a case of taking in another hole in our belts and living in the hope that this economy wave will die a natural death. When doing, attention will be turned to increasing business, increasing more payrolls and markets so people will again be able to work, make a living and have something to spend.

Directly the government will benefit most when money is kept circulating. What would please the people most is to be able to make enough to pay an income tax.

CHERRY PHILLIPS, pretty, 28, is her mother who is going to a club meeting but instead meets DAN PHILLIPS, reporter on the Wellington News. Cherry has few friends because her wealthy parents consider most of the other young people of the town socially inferior, she has become acquainted with Phillips without her parents' knowledge.

as the two older points: Dan making up a story. Dan Phillips, reporter on the Wellington News, Cherry has few friends because her wealthy parents consider most of the other young people of the town socially inferior, she has become acquainted with Phillips without her parents' knowledge.

WHAT IS IT, DAN? Cherry demanded. "What's happened?" "Oh, nothing much. Bates says the Sentinel's fourth Inez Malloy. Already have an extra out." "Then what are you to do?" Phillips smile was not wretched. "The Boss gave me some instructions," he said. "but, lady, I wouldn't soil your pretty pink ears by repeating 'em! I'm not very popular right now with Hiram J. Bates. Well, shall we push along?"

He extracted a wallet from his pocket and handed Dr. Ryland a bill. A moment later Cherry and Phillips were out on the street. The sunshine had disappeared and the wind was sharper. The girl drew her coat about her closely when she was seated in the roadster.

There was a fireplace at the opposite side of the long room they entered. Yellow, dancing flames flickered on the grate. There was a bowl of red tulips on a table. Standing near the table was a small, slender woman dressed in gray. She was very much like Cherry. Brown eyes—the same oval face—and yet there was a difference. More than the difference between age and youth.

The Apostles and their successors were sent to try and get all to become members of this church. Others hold that this parable refers to the institution of the Blessed Sacrament or the Last Supper whereby Christ's body and blood were offered up for all. There are others who think that this parable refers to the universal love of all man for one another, which means that we should all love one another and do unto others as we would wish they would do unto us.

ALAMEDA NEWS

A nice shower came Tuesday evening. The club garden and field crops will grow now.

School closed Friday, May 20. All of the teachers were re-elected for the next term. Mr. Rodgers and Miss Blackwell were married Friday at 6 p. m. The teachers got along so nicely this last term but these two got along too nicely. Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers were coaches for the boys and girls this year. This community hopes them happiness.

There were three interesting programs presented for the close of school. Wednesday and Friday nights were two plays but Thursday night was the grammar school program and exercises. There were seven that graduated from grammar school. They were Junior Hart, Florence Rodgers, Juanita McGee, Edith Weeks, Imogene Cooper, Dorothy King and Lorraine Simms. Mr. Bert McGlamery, county superintendent, made an interesting talk, then Junior Hart made a talk on "School Work." Junior was the only boy that graduated and he had the highest average of the class. Florence Rodgers delivered a class prophecy. This means that these seven students have finished seven years of work.

The Parent-Teacher association met Friday evening for the business of electing officers for another term. After they adjourned Mrs. Blanton served pineapple ice cream to them.

Rev. Lanier of Ranger preached at the Church of Christ Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonzo Melton were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Melton Sunday.

Ad Brings In Shoes But More Are Still Needed
Bob Robinson of the Robinson Auto Supply company advertised last week that he would allow a discount of 25 cents on a purchase of one dollar or more as an inducement for people to bring a pair of old shoes to be given to the poor. In response to his ad, several pairs of shoes were collected.

"There were nearly as many requests for shoes as there were shoes brought in," said Mr. Robinson. "It is not necessary for anyone to purchase anything to leave their old shoes here, we are merely offering them a discount as an inducement. However, we'll be glad to get as many old shoes as people will bring us. There is a need for them now and the need will be even greater this fall," he continued.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
PARIS.—Pique evening gowns in almost every conceivable color are the apparent piece de resistance of the Chanel collection. Rather warm for a hot climate—but then—Paris for the last two years at least, has not been a hot climate. These cotton frocks are moulded to the body from the shoulders to the knees where they begin to flare widely to the floor. As part and parcel of the outfit are garlands of pique flowers worn like Hawaiian leis.

Another interesting feature of diversity here is a slit up the side over-lapping skirt worn over a pair of beach pajamas. It buttons on one side with three buttons and hangs unevenly because it is a perfectly square piece of material. It has also another use which is that of a cape. Taken off and folded cornerwise the skirt makes a shoulder cape with the point down the back and the front corners crossed and tucked in at the belt of the trousers.

MELLOWED A HUNDRED MILLION YEARS

While long-tailed monsters lived in PENNSYLVANIA

THE Devonian Age of a hundred million years ago was the source of two wonders: vast inland seas—and the crude oil found in the Bradford-Allegheny District of the Pennsylvania field. Sinclair today refines this crude into Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil. Bradford-Allegheny crude is so old that it had already undergone millions of years of its mellowing and filtering process when dinosaurs lived in Pennsylvania. Today it is Pennsylvania's costliest crude—a product of the perfect oil-forming conditions in the Devonian Age plus a hundred million years of Nature's priceless treatment. Ask for Sinclair Pennsylvania—the year-round Pennsylvania grade motor oil.

Walker Supplants Schaff In Contender's Place.

Signing of Mickey Walker as challenger for the 1933 heavyweight championship bout didn't come as an abiding surprise to boxing writers of the east. Especially in this so when it is remembered that Walker is managed by the astute Jack Kearns, once manager of Jack Dempsey.

Walker is an unfathomable fighter. Lots of us believed the one-time middleweight champion was all washed up a year or so back. Then he began improving and has made the improvement constant. He tangled with Jack Sharkey in an outdoor bout last summer and astounded at least 75 per cent of the spectators by holding the Bostonian to a draw.

He went to Chicago a couple of weeks ago and outpointed that unusual young heavyweight, Kink Lepinsky, much to the surprise of fist-fanciers of the midway.

Kearns then brought his charge back to New York, convinced Jimmy Johnston and the other Madison Garden officials that Mickey should be paired with the Sharkey-Schmeling winner, and they signed a contract.

Walker has agreed to sign a subsequent contract, six months hence, the latter agreement to be dependent upon his condition at that time.

The Walker development must have been a terrific blow to Ernie Schaff, who, until a few weeks ago, was almost universally regarded as next in line for a title bout.

Schaff blew his chances, for the time being at least, by a miserable showing in that meeting with Jack Gross, Philadelphia southpaw.

AUTO TOURNEY WINNERS BACK FOR NEW TRY

By United Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Seven race drivers, who gained undying fame in the auto world by winning the 500-mile Memorial Day race at Indianapolis, have lost their lives in pursuit of the adoring and dangerous sport.

Five of the former winners will be attempting to duplicate Tommy Milton's feat of repeating in a 500-mile race, when the 20th annual American Grand Prix is run this year. Four hung up their goggles to become business men, and three will be awaiting news of the race in faraway lands.

Previous winners seeking another championship this year are: Louis Schneider, defending champion; Billy Arnold, winner in 1930; Louis Meyer, victor in 1928; L. L. Corum, co-winner with Joe Boyer in 1924; and the immortal Ralph De Palma, following in a survey of the 19 winners.

Ray Harroun, who won the first race in 1911, lives in Miami, Fla., on royalties of a carburetor he invented.

Joe Dawson, 1912 victor, is service manager for an auto firm and will be present at the 1932 event as a spectator.

Jules Goux, of France, winner in 1912, retired from racing three years ago and is now connected with an auto firm in France.

Rene Thomas, also of France, who won in 1914, is connected with a shock absorber concern in his native land.

Ralph De Palma won in 1915 and is still trying. Of late years he has been prevented from qualifying by mechanical trouble.

Dario Resta, the last successful foreign invader, took the title to Europe in 1916. He was killed testing a car on the Brooklands track in England in 1924.

Howard Wilcox, winner in 1919 after the event was abandoned two years because of the war, was killed at Altoona, Pa., in 1923.

Gaston Chevrolet won in 1920 but was killed a short while later at Beverly Hills, Cal.

Tommy Milton, won his first race in 1921, and repeated in 1923. He is the only driver to accomplish this feat. He now is retired and is consulting engineer in Detroit.

Jimmy Murphy won in 1922 following his victory at the French Grand Prix at Le Mans in 1921. He was the only American ever to win the foreign race. He was killed in 1924 at Syracuse, N. Y.

L. L. Corum, who, with Joe Boyer, won in 1924, has been a persistent challenger since, and is entered this year.

Peter de Paolo, who set the track record when he won in 1925, will be in the pits this year.

Frank Lockhart, the young unknown, who skyrocketed to fame in 1925, was killed at Daytona Beach, Fla., in 1928, attempting to bring the straightaway record back to America.

George Souders won in 1927 but retired after a serious injury at Detroit in 1928. He will be a spectator again this year.

Louis Meyer has made an attempt each year to duplicate his winning feat of 1928. Last year he finished fourth.

Ray Kewin was killed at Altoona, Pa., two weeks after he won the 1929 race. He formerly held the straight track record.

Billy Arnold, 1930 winner, led last year until past the 400 mile mark. He will be a favorite again this year.

Derogatory Notes on Alligator Hunting

THIS dissertation is intended to warn you, gentle reader. You may one day come across a piece of this newspaper relating how Joe Soandoo shot for himself a precious nine-foot alligator lurking in the Florida swamps. Don't exclaim, "Why, the great big hoo!" For alligator hunting is among our lowest forms of sport.

Babe Ruth shot a nine-foot alligator last winter in St. Petersburg. But the Babe himself broke down and confessed to your correspondent that he was ashamed of himself for doing it, and couldn't sleep soundly for a week after the cruel massacre.

How It Started

A WAVE of alligator hunting that resulted in a virtual pogrom was begun innocently enough early in the winter at St. Petersburg. A bunch of the boys, including some ex-Governor Trumbull, Nickols, Macys, and other very good people, simply got tired of the brand of whooping that was being consisted of sitting on the front porch of the Vinoy Park hotel and having pointed out to them the exact spot on the terrace where Calvin Coolidge often used to sit and think and sometimes sit.

Major Maitland "it by remarking he had a gun. It was natural enough for the other boys to want to see it go off. So something had to be found to shoot. The hotel management was consulted. After some research, the executive board of the hotel announced that there were alligators in Florida. So all hands turned forth in search of the vicious creatures.

Maybe the Accent Helped

FINALLY it was demonstrated that alligators can even be slain by bow and arrow. A young man from Newton, Mass., named G. Grandon Woolley, of the noted Newton Archers, entered his trusty bow and arrow and Harvard accent in the chase.

Woolley buried a shaft deep in one of the brutes, after good old Larry Nash had delivered it to the kill. This young man, having injected a new note into the racket, was interviewed by this prying correspondent.

Woolley's description of the alligator hunt was dramatic and to the point. Clearly and simply he stated:

"It was just like shooting a log."

Wherever you have the noble sport of alligator hunting completely debunked.

TEXAS HUB FOR NATIONS AIR TRAVEL

By W. W. COPELAND

United Press Staff Correspondent.

PORT WORTH, Tex.—The Southwest is destined to become one of the most fertile fields of aviation in the United States, officials of air-travel companies predict, with Texas to become the hub of the travel-wheel.

Part of the enthusiasm aroused in aviation experts was due to the selection of Port Worth as Southern headquarters for American Airways and the contracted construction of a $150,000 plant to house shops and personnel.

American Airways will concentrate its shops and most of its personnel from other points along the route from Los Angeles to Atlanta, at Port Worth. More than 400 employees, with an annual payroll of half a million dollars, will be stationed here.

In 1927 the first air mail landed in Texas. A year later the first passenger route was established, locally owned and operated in the Southwest. Five years later at least four major trunk lines have cut across the region and dozens of local companies operate short-line.

London Men View Fashions

By United Press.

LONDON.—Present-day color fashions in the clothing of both men and women were illustrated at the private view recently held at Burlington House, the Royal Academy art exhibition which marks the opening of the London season.

Gray suits with pale blue shirts and collars (Englishmen prefer the "detached" variety) were in favor among the younger men. Black, blue, and dark brown were the predominant colors among the ladies.

In addition to grays, blues and a few browns were much in evidence for men's lounge suits; flashes of brilliant color accentuated the comparatively somber drabs of the women.

The great majority of distinguishing features and conventional attire, though some of the artists themselves were traditionally unconventional. One man appeared in an outfit which, from the point of view of fashion experts, was sensational. With silk hat, morning coat and trousers, he ventured forth in a soft collar and shirt of ultramarine, fastened his black satin cravat with a pearl pin, and topped the whole thing off with a navy blue handkerchief with white spots.

Now that vacation time is here, the resort native sons had better start looking up figures to prove that any given day is the hottest they have ever had.
