PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

The South Austin Street association, unofficial and unorganized group of business men of South Austin, met on the alloy corner Saturday morning and held a busy session. Among those present were Bill McDonald, B. E. (Bleeding) Garner, W. C. Hickey, Kelley, Nath Pirkle and company of visitors, D. W. "Buzz" Jones and J. E. Meroney. All took an active part in all discussions, among them probably being the regular subject of "who had the bag."

There was considerable discussion as to whether Al Larson would be elected to membership or not. He was finally blackballed on account of having no side entrance to his establishment on Main street, but it was agreed he would be entitled to join if he could put a door in the side of the light office. Larson said the reason he voted Larson was because Swede was going to collect the month before light bill from him and if he might forget it for a day.

We have attended several sessions as a visitor and the main object of the unofficial carbuncle meetings seems to be to find someone with enough money to buy coffee for the crowd.

Our statement that a lot of fish were washed over the spillway of the Lake Hagman dam during and after the heavy rains of last week and the statement by Gus that we were all wrong because we swim up stream, has caused considerable argument around town.

We based our claim on statements made to us that groups of kids had been seeing the creek below the break in the spillway and had caught two sacks full of fish. The fish were mostly crappie and catfish, it is true, but with us it is a fish.

Gus based his argument on the fact that people had been fishing in the creek above the lake and had been catching fish there—fish that had an opportunity to swim upstream to the creek, and did.

There were at least three arguments Saturday as to which was correct and it was decided in most instances to call the controversy a draw. And we have been married just long enough to consider a draw in any argument a break and are willing to let it go at that. The draw was decided because it was proven that some fish went downstream and some up stream and as far as anyone knows, some stayed in the lake.

According to the Oil Belt Golf association schedule, today is an off day for all golf teams in the association. All Ranger golfers are at San Angelo, taking part in the West Texas golf association tournament being held there. According to reports from San Angelo three of the Ranger players won their first round matches in the championship flight. D. A. Harckrider won from B. S. H. Combe, Jr., San Angelo, 3-2; James Phillips defeated Bob Ingram, San Angelo, and Tom James Smith won from J. N. Arvin of Brownwood 4-3.

Ranger, Eastland and Breckenridge shooters have made plans for a big shoot to be held in Eastland this afternoon on the Eastland Gun Club range. Prizes are to be offered in all kinds of shooting, pistol, rifle and skeet. A large crowd of shooters from the three towns is expected to be present.

The most interesting visitor of the Times office Saturday was Lee Satterwhite of Odessa, candidate for railroad commissioner. He is running against G. V. Terrell, present chairman of the commission. Mr. Satterwhite made part of his campaign speech to us while he was here, but he spoke in such an interesting way that we did not realize he was campaigning until long after he was gone.

If he can speak as convincingly when, and if, he gets Terrell into a debate at Austin, he should do his campaign a lot of good. He showed us a letter he had written to Chairman Terrell challenging him to a joint debate at Woodlawn Park, Austin. So far he has received no reply.

Today being Sunday we hope that the usual weekly storm will pass us up and give the workers a chance to repair the damage done to the Hesston Lake dam before another rain comes along to do any more damage.

GOV. STERLING SPEAKS BEFORE WACO CROWD

By United Press.

WACO, June 11.—Gov. Ross S. Sterling offered himself to the people of Texas for re-election here tonight, opening his campaign with the declaration that his platform is the record of accomplishment and conduct of his administration. Thousands of Central Texas voters heard him speak.

The issue in the campaign, Sterling said, is "shall honest government and responsible government and business-like government be continued in Texas."

"Two years ago," Sterling recalled, "I told the people of Texas if I was elected governor I would manage the state's business on a business-like basis. The indelible record bears witness that this has been done in every phase of government over which he chief executive has a controlling interest."

Then the rugged, bearded, portly governor launched into recitation of his administration's accomplishments.

The governor defended only one act, use of troops in the East Texas oil field. He defended martial law there as the only way possible to prevent waste and destruction at the expense of land owners, small producers in the state and to save many millions of dollars.

Sterling said he hoped farmers could find a constitutional way to regulate their production to consumption demands and thus stabilize their markets as have other industries. He repeated his earlier pronouncement on highway bond referendum for counties.

Ranger, Eastland and Breckenridge shooters have made plans for a big shoot to be held in Eastland this afternoon on the Eastland Gun Club range. Prizes are to be offered in all kinds of shooting, pistol, rifle and skeet. A large crowd of shooters from the three towns is expected to be present.

Ranger golfers will be idle today, according to A. Neill, president of the Ranger Country club.

It was planned to play off the tie match with Eastland today, but since several Ranger and Eastland golfers are in San Angelo taking part in the West Texas Golf Association tournament, the matches were postponed. This is an off day for all golf teams and the work will be finished just as soon as the working crews can get to them.

Doles To Be Only Bills Passed By Congress Is Claim

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—A prediction that congress would adjourn without passage of any relief legislation except "doles" was made today by house majority leader, Rainey.

Rainey termed the partial Wagner bill passed yesterday by the senate "a dole to states" because it provides $300,000,000 of reconstruction finance corporation loans to states and municipalities for unemployment relief.

"This congress will probably adjourn," Rainey said, "without having taken any constructive action to put men to work. The Garner bill is buried in the senate."

AKRONLEAVES FOR THE EAST ON SATURDAY

By United Press.

SUNNYVALE, Calif., June 11.—Moving slowly away from her West Coast mooring mast, the Akron, pride of the navy air forces, began her return cruise to Lakehurst, New Jersey, today after spending several weeks on the Pacific Coast.

She cast off at 10:18 a. m. and turned south to follow the coast line to Los Angeles.

Overscast skies and a low fog had delayed her departure.

Lieutenant Commander C. E. Rosendahl said the route to be followed would be approximately the same that over which the Akron made her first visit to the Pacific Coast several weeks ago.

Proceeding along the coast line to Los Angeles and San Pedro, she will then swing toward San Bernardino and over the Salton Sea, rather than following a more southerly route across Southern California from San Diego.

From Yuma to El Paso the big silver ship will be routed over the regular lighted airway. In the course to be followed east of El Paso will depend on weather conditions.

Commander Rosendahl did not contemplate making any stops enroute east. His craft was well stocked with provisions, fuel and helium gas and weather forecasts indicated that general conditions for the trip would be fair.

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—The U. S. Dirigible Akron flew over Los Angeles enroute from Sunnyvale to Lakehurst, N. J., at 4 p. m. PST.

Being Repaired Bridges, Culverts

V. V. Cooper, commissioner of precinct 1, announced Saturday that work on repairing bridges and culverts that were washed out or damaged by the rain last Sunday was progressing rapidly and that all roads were now open to traffic.

The seven and one-half inches of rain carried away or damaged more than 40 bridges and culverts in the precinct and three crews of men have been kept at work repairing the damage.

Some of the bridges have been repaired temporarily and at others will be completed within the next traffic can pass. These bridges detours have been made so that two or three weeks aand the work will be finished just as soon as the working crews can get to them.

Ferguson vs. Sterling
AN EDITORIAL STUDY IN CONTRAST
Ferguson told Texas Saturday that he knew what was the matter, and that his wife was equipped to save the state. Governor Sterling has done a remarkably sane job of holding the state fort against depression for two years.

There was no great talk of throwing the "vins" out and putting the "ouls" in.

Let's be very careful who we throw out and who we put in. With the re-election of Governor Sterling the state will be assured of two more years of honesty in the handling of its affairs.

Sterling appeared as a second-class master at the postoffice at Ranger, Texas, under Act of March, 1873.

THERE are three figures of primary importance in the present governor's race. They are: Sterling, Ferguson and Moody—the man who, in recent years, as made the Ferguson record clear, and who will stamp again him this year.

Ferguson was ousted from office on a SINGLE issue—that of improperly receiving money while governor.

Moody was elected governor largely on a SINGLE issue—the American Road company litigation, in which the name of Ferguson appeared.

Sterling was elected governor largely on a SINGLE issue—the belief that he was the best candidate in the race to keep Ferguson from returning to the state capitol. And when Sterling has given way to the promises of his honest administration, he will stamp again him this year.

Ferguson was ousted from office on a SINGLE issue—that of improperly receiving money while governor.

The financial condition of our state government is perhaps the sounder than that of any state in the union.

Things are tight; things may even get tougher. Can we turn to the Ferguson record with any confidence for improvement?

WE have a vast difference between promise and performance? Ferguson Saturday promised much as an honest administrator, full time on the job and special favors to no one. Sterling has given way to the promises of his honest administration.

Ferguson failed to save this state from a tremendous financial collapse. When the East Texas over supply came to seven cents a barrel, and oil prices and oil wells ran, coming to a standstill, with utter and helpless ruin, coming to a standstill, with a red rose (the red rose of courtesy) from her garden, she placed it in her husband's buttonhole, put him on the back and said, "Rose, go tell him what you think best."

And Rose, arriving at the governor's office, called in a few friends and said, "I know the folks would rather for me to say in favor of turning the state over to Ferguson."

And so the die is cast.

The advertisements have caused the British people to dig out old jewelry and pieces and rash to those who are buying gold. The reason for this is that British paper currency is based on credit, which has fallen with the fall of gold standard and thus more currency is received for the metal.

In this connection it is stated by British newspapers that not only economists, but the people generally are delighted. It is also stated that it has brightened trade conditions. It has tempted the hoarders to place their money where they would get some return. It has caused a revival of interests in stocks and bonds, encouraged production, and this in turn promotes confidence, which is the foundation of prosperous times.

The gold which they have sold finds a ready sale in gold standard countries such as France and the United States, which is paid for in currency of those countries who are keen to acquire gold for their vaults.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
BY EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

One of the most curious outcomes of Britain going off the gold standard is the large number of personal advertisements in the papers of England, they being filled with advertisements from jewelers offering to buy anything made of gold.

The advertisements have caused the British people to dig out old jewelry and gold pieces and rash to those who are buying gold. The reason for this is that British paper currency is based on credit, which has fallen with the fall of gold standard and thus more currency is received for the metal.

Miss Sharp and her sister, Emily, who left the United States four days after Dr. John F. Condon paid her the sum of $15,000, came to New York to wait to see if she could make reservations to come back to America.

Emily was a servant, and then a maid, shortly afterwards, in the home of Mrs. Dorothy W. Morrow, while her mother-in-law, Mrs. George Calver, was a widow.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
SEA Service Writer

MANY a June bride will find that the planning of meals becomes an alarming problem. The food budget refuses to balance, "his" favorite dishes have lost their charm and left-overs have a way of accumulating that is most disconcerting.

There are a number of important factors that enter into meal planning. The age and occupations of the persons you are planning for must be considered. The amount of money you can afford to spend naturally influences the choice of foods to a great degree.

The ability of the cook—whether he can cook for someone else—and the amount of help in the kitchen also determine what you can have for dinner.

Over and above this, the needs of the body must be supplied in every meal of the day. The well-balanced menu is imperative and must contain three distinct food classes. First, fuel foods for furnish heat and energy for the activation of the body. Foods rich in sugar, starch and fat come under this head. Second, growing foods to provide material for the building and repairing of body tissues.

Third, "protective" foods, containing mineral constituents and vitamins and adding bulk. Vegetables, fruits, milk, and whole grains make up this group.

When it comes to actually making out menus in terms of meat and potatoes, variety, economy and personal likes and dislikes enter into the problem.

You will find that greater variety will be achieved and you will do your planning and ordering more completely if you will first outline your menu for several days or a week in advance.

One way to do this is to decide on the meats for a week. Then fill in with potatoes cooked in various ways and other seasonal cooked vegetables.

H Encampment Is Big Success

The city park echoed with laughter and song of 156 club members and 38 visitors who spent Friday and Saturday in the programmed hours, occupations and amusements, arranged by county home demonstration agent, Miss Ruth Anne, in charge of the encampment, assisted by J. C. Patterson, county agent; Guy M. Quill, executive director of the Comanche Trail Council; Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, Eastland County Club, resident T. F. W. C., and Joseph A. Perkins, Boy Scout executive.

Friday, group organizations in head, heart, hand and health, were formed with an equal number in each group. Contests and other entertainments were exciting features and as each winning group received a point for success in a contest, points were scored on a large blackboard.

Cheers and groans expressed the sentiments of the various groups. At the end of the encampment Saturday, a prize was awarded to the winning group, and each member participated in the award.

The election of officers of the groups, an engrossing feature, resulted as follows: Head—Captain B. Blackwell, Alameda club;

Eastland Revival To Close Tonight

There was a fine and interesting congregation Friday night that filled the open air tabernacle for the Methodist revival services at Eastland that have been conducted all week by Rev. George W. Shearer, pastor of the Methodist Church of Eastland.

The sermons have grown more and more forceful with each succeeding evening service.

Friday night a group of hymns rang heartily to the accompaniment of six violins, flute and piano.

A touching solo, by A. E. Herling, song leader, "Face To Face" had violin obligato by Will Drago, and a tender piano interpretation by Mrs. Joe Gibson, accompanist for the evening services.

The speaker announced revival services for Sunday morning and evening.

His subject was taken from portions of XVI chapter of Luke, and IX chapter of Mark. The theme, "What will become of us when we pass out?" developed these salient points; God gave all, and demands all.

Hell is not preached on any more, but there is a hell. People make for themselves a distinct atmosphere. A good man seeks good associates. A bad man seeks the opposite. If a good man went to hell he would seek to establish a church, first of all. If a bad man went to heaven, what could he try to establish. If there is an eternal punishment, in the life to come, how long will it last. Is it something of a temporary nature? No, punishment is eternal just as glory is eternal. When those men killed an elderly woman for 80 cents, there was no place for them in heaven.

Unless you work for something that you get you do not enjoy that something. Just so it is for those who work for God, the more you labor in His vineyard, the more dearly you love your work and your Heavenly Father. The sin of indifference is the greatest sin. Why will you lose the glory of God through indifference? God gave all and God demands all.

The services tonight will open at 8 o'clock. Dr. Searer's message will be poignant and the appeal will be given in his personal, simple and sincere way. Everyone invited.

British Circus Has Hangman's Act

By United Press.

LONDON.—The world's most grotesque circus act, that of an actual hanging on the gallows, is being featured by a traveling show throughout Britain.

The spectacle is made the more authentic by the fact that the demonstrator was a former public hangman. With the gallows and a "dummy" body, he goes through the motions of throwing the trap. Gasp of horror greet him everywhere.

Attention of the government has been called to the act, but the home minister, Sir Herbert Samuel, said there was no means so far as he was aware to prevent such a display.

Sentiment appears to be against the act but a few, with humor, suggest that this sort of an exhibition might prevent serious crime.

BLUE HILL, Neb.—When Mrs. Alfred Fraher killed a hen the other day, she found an egg that measured 16 inches around one way and 22 inches the other. The egg was covered with a tough skin. No yolk had formed yet. The egg weighed about one sixth the entire weight of the hen.

Picking On a Poet

THOSE White Sox who moved in more formation after the Memorial Day doubleheader in Cleveland should have taken pause. Mr. Moriarty is a poet.

When the embattled umpire offered to take on all the White Sox alive, there but one he may have been dreaming of Thermopylae, or something like that. Anyway, when Pitcher Milt Gaston essayed to be the first of the Sox Moriarty had to tick. George pulled a punch from the very depths of his poetic soul and knocked Gaston colder than four aces.

Tough Bard, Too

HOW many of the White Sox George could have taken down if one is just guesswork, of course, but I'd say a conservative number would be between 40 and 50. If you could write and peddle such poetry as George has written and peddled, you could tick the White Sox too.

George finally went down fighting like a true poet. Infuriated the Sox practiced hook sliding with George's head for a base. But even in his hour of travail Moriarty lived up to the Moriarty tradition. Bill Dineen, fellow-ump, moved over as if to interfere, but George told him to lay off. Macduff.

Here's a Sample

But to forget the fight and get back to the poetry. Looking through an old scrapbook, I chanced upon a bit of verse by Moriarty, entitled, "Don't Get Cheesy." Here it is:

Lee Satterwhite Is Ranger Visitor

Lee Satterwhite of Odessa, former speaker of the house of representatives and candidate for the office of railroad commissioner, was a visitor in Ranger Saturday.

While in the city Mr. Satterwhite visited the business houses of the town, meeting many of the citizens. He said that he was sorry that his itinerary did not permit him to make a speaking engagement in Ranger, but that he was glad to be able to stop over and meet the people.

Old Time Stables Are Now Garages

By United Press.

LONDON.—Since the motorized horsemen of modern life has so greatly replaced the old four-footed variety, English inns, no matter how ancient, have had to keep up the same pace.

The inns, in fact, now within reach of all the large cities by automobile or public bus, have sprung to new life. Superficially they are the same as in stagecoach days: huge timbered buildings with interiors lofty, raftered, and cool; but their tables today are garages, and living conveniences and cooking have changed to the style of the modern hotel.

One company now controls no less than 180 of these inns.

Print Shop Worker Wins $200 Award

SAN ANTONIO.—Self-control, good character and loyalty over a three-year period won a $200 award for Arthur B. Chafetz, 18-year-old print shop employee here.

The Leopold Schepp Foundation presented the southwest district award to Chafetz, who is believed to be the first Texas youth ever to hold it.

Effective Sunday the Columbia will have John Barrymore's newest picture, "State's Attorney."

This is said to be the best thing Barrymore has done on the screen since his famous "Moby Dick" released some two years ago. This film runs two days only, Sunday and Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday the local playhouse will have Charley Murry and George Sidney in "The Coahs and Kellys in Hollywood," and this is followed Thursday and Friday by "The Silver Linings," which stars Maureen O'Sullivan and Betty Compson. Saturday of each week will find the Columbia with its regular "horse opera" and the serial,

"The Strange Case of Clara Deané," a Garinmont picture.

*Is it
"JUST AS GOOD"?*

WHEN someone offers you a product that —think twice before you accept it.

IS it "just as good"?

What do you know of the product? If the substitute merchandise is lower in price, is it because of inferior workmanship and materials?

In business, as in life, a successful product invites a host of imitators. Many of them trade on the demand and good will created by saying "We don't spend money advertising this article and therefore can sell it for less."

In every case this reasoning is unsound.

Honest advertising protects you, as a consumer, by telling you exactly what a product is or will do.

A manufacturer can, by advertising, sell goods to you at a lower price.

Advertising creates a market of hundreds of thousands of consumers, making large scale production possible. With mass production, the unit cost of each article is lowered. You as a consumer, then, can buy it for less money.

If a man makes a mouse trap that is good, he can be, and is, proud to tell you about it, with advertising.

If it is a cheaper mouse trap, or an inferior imitation of the mouse trap you picture as ideal for you, he may seek to throw you off the track by saying, "This is just as good, but we don't advertise it."

Buy the brands that are honestly advertised. For, with advertising, a manufacturer or merchant publicly guarantees his merchandise to be as represented.
