Slays Husband, Buys His Coffin

Asserting that her husband attempted to kill her with a butcher knife, Mrs. Dorothy Pollak, 26, attractive wife of a Chicago real estate dealer, shot him dead while horrified witnesses looked on. Next day she went shopping for a coffin for her dead husband, who was 23 years her senior. She rode in a patrol wagon to the undertaker's.

DEAD BONUS ARMY MEMBERS BURIED TODAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Bonus expeditionary forces buried the first of its dead today with the salute of the United States army, which only five days ago had driven it from Washington. William J. Huska, of Chicago, shot to death in a battle with police Thursday afternoon, was lowered to a grave at Arlington National cemetery, there to rest among the heroes of the nation's wars. A few hours previously, the second veteran to fall in the disorders of last week, died of gunshot wounds. He was Eric Carlson, 38, a veteran with a year's service overseas. More than 1,500 people followed on the pilgrimage to Arlington in a procession many blocks long. They circled the white house. There policemen and guards, several days ago to protect the president against annoyance from the "army," of which Huska was a member, removed their hats or stood at attention as the horse passed bearing the first of the dead of the "battle of Washington." The president, at the moment, was sitting with his cabinet inside, discussing affairs of state.

Fighting Mayor Host to B. E. F.

BIDS OPENED ON FIRST WORK ON HIGHWAY 89

AUSTIN, Aug. 2.—The Texas highway commission will open bids on highway construction estimated to cost approximately $2,500,000 here today and tomorrow. Road projects provide for improvement of 395 miles of highway, including 51 miles of concrete pavement and 129 miles of surfacing. Commissioners also will discuss federal aid for highway work in this state. It has been estimated Texas could obtain about $7,000,000 from the $120,000,000 appropriated for highway aid by the federal government. Bids were to be opened today on work in McLennan, Limestone, Gonzales, Bowie, Brazoria, Fort Bend, Harrison and other counties. Among the projects upon which bids were opened this morning was the first proposed work on highway 89. Bids were taken on grading and drainage on the part of the highway in Barker county. Highway 89 is the direct route which will carry traffic west from Weatherford without going by Mineral Wells over highway 1. First contract awards will be announced late today after the engineers have calculated total costs on the unit bids submitted.

A Ringing Call For Confidence

Here's Althea Pomeroy, new chairman of the $3,800,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation, on the phone, calling up confidence! Pomeroy, Cleveland, O., attorney and former U. S. senator, accepted the appointment with a vigorous plea for a revival of confidence in the nation's business. "This country always has come back," she declared. "It's going to come back again."

BOND RELIEF FOR COUNTIES TO BE URGED

No State Salary Cuts To Come Before Short Session.

AUSTIN, Aug. 2.—State salary cutting will not be submitted to the third special session of the 42nd legislature, which Gov. Ross Sterling announced today will be held immediately after the state democratic convention at Lubbock on Sept. 13. The governor, in a prepared statement, sent here for issuance, said he felt the session should not last more than a week. He indicated the only topic will be a shifting of the obligation of counties and road districts to pay off existing road bonds. His statement in part said: "At the primary Aug. 27 a new legislature will have been nominated. It will include a large number of new members. "I would deem it unfair to ask the retiring members, after a new legislature has been chosen, coming fresh from the people with a mandate of their will to undertake to set up a new policy with respect to the readjustment of existing salaries of state institutions. That, properly, should be left, and will be left to the people's newly elected representatives, who will meet in regular session in January. The call will be limited to the one purpose of relief of highway bonds. It is my belief the work can be completed in less than a week."

Eastland Rotary Club Addressed By Earl Bender

The Rotary club enjoyed their regular meeting with noon luncheon, Monday on Connellee roof, the vice president, presided over by James Horton, and minutes taken and read by Secretary Curtis A. Hertig. The club regretted that Julius B. Krause, one of the program chairmen, failed to come up with his promised music, which he had gone to Olden to secure, but could not return in time. Earl Bender, the second program chairman, gave an informative talk on the Rotary, when first organized; the first club and where; the growth of the Rotary; the objects; the code of ethics; and results to date. The talk was emphasized by a rapid sketch on the blackboard made by the speaker, who lined, and indicated various stages of its development. President announced that the next program chairmen, will be Messrs. F. O. Hunter and Curtis A. Hertig, who will have aviation as their program subject. Guests of the club were J. C. Smith, John Thurman, H. S. Von Roeder, and Fred Yonker of Ranger, and John Mouser of Eastland. The Rotarian songs were sung lastly, to the piano accompaniment of Mrs. Ralph Kallmberger by the 18 members attending.

Eastland Woman's Father Injured in Fall Sunday

Mrs. Grady Pipkin returned home Sunday, from a visit to the bedside of her father, in the hospital at Hillsboro. Last Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock, J. M. Turk of Hillsboro, a real estate man and farmer, fell from a ladder reared against the windmill on his estate, five miles out from Hillsboro, and when he was picked up, and rushed to the hospital by ambulance hastily summoned from Hillsboro, it was found the injuries sustained were two broken vertebrae, near the ribs. And he is paralyzed from the waist down. Mrs. Pipkin stated, her father went up the ladder, to height of 20 feet, from which point he was directing the work of his farm overseer, on top of the windmill, where some adjustment to the machinery was necessary. Suddenly Mr. Turk exclaimed, "I'm dizzy; I believe I'm fainting." The helper called, "Hold on, I'm coming." Before his horrified eyes Mr. Turk fell in a crumpled heap, before he could reach him. The ambulance was immediately phoned for from the farm residence, Mr. Turk remaining unconscious through it all. Mrs. Pipkin stated her father had been despondent since the death of her mother last fall, and had always been hunting something to occupy his time. He had been in perfect health and strength, leading the life of an active man.

Danger of Disease in Bonus Camp Is Now Eliminated

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 2.—Dancer of an epidemic at the bonus army camp at Johnsonstown has ceased, Dr. Theodore Appel of the Pennsylvania health department, said today. "Everything will be in fine shape at the camp by tonight," Appel said. The state health department, under Governor Pinchot's orders, dispatched a field dispensary, sanitary engineers and doctors to Ideal Park to protect the health of the campers and of the surrounding community. Five awkward young fledglings are ready to fly away from their traveling home. The mother and father birds show no annoyance when workmen enter the closest—more than 50 times daily—and fondle the young birds. The martins are believed to be a species known as "coffee-birds," native of Brazil.

Martins Made a Home On Traveling Crane Three Years

LONGVIEW, Wash.—For three successive years two martins have made their nest and raised their families of young birds in a cleft on a hammer crane on the Long-Bell Lumber Co. dock, totally disregarding the fact that the crane travels up and down the dock a distance of a half-mile a day. Five awkward young fledglings are ready to fly away from their traveling home. The mother and father birds show no annoyance when workmen enter the closest—more than 50 times daily—and fondle the young birds. The martins are believed to be a species known as "coffee-birds," native of Brazil. And then parents at the "drunk tank" of the county jail moved Dusty to a solitary cell, where his non-realistic dreams of the prize ring wouldn't endanger fellow prisoners, one of whom nursed a swollen jaw.

'Dusty's' Dream of Ring Realistic

FESNO, Calif.—A bell changed "Dusty" Miller, one-time heavyweight, left his chair and charged forward, throwing blows at the man he saw before him. Another bell changed, sweet music to the cauliflower ears of Dusty, who, by that time, was somewhat weary. He returned to his chair. Another bell, and another swift dash to the fray. Then something hit him. He went down. Dingly, he saw someone bending over him, heard him counting. Dusty shook his head, arose slowly, and at the count of nine, swung back into action viciously. One of his blows struck the "referee," who went down for a long count. And then parents at the "drunk tank" of the county jail moved Dusty to a solitary cell, where his non-realistic dreams of the prize ring wouldn't endanger fellow prisoners, one of whom nursed a swollen jaw.

SWAINS WERE IDLE FOR CRIMINALS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—That it may be possible before long to recognize and classify criminals by their facial peculiarities and shape of their bodies has been indicated by research conducted by Prof. Ernest A. Hooten, Harvard anthropologist, whose studies of 16,000 inmates of penal institutions and insane asylums throughout the country disclosed that certain physical features tend to be associated with specific types of crime.

Chickens Saved Many From Poison

WOODLAND, Calif.—Thirty chickens owned by Albert Groh were claimed as heroes today. Groh and his brother, V. R. Groh, and his brother, V. R. Groh, upon their return they invited 16 relatives to a clam dinner. But the clams had a peculiar taste, and Albert Groh fed them to his chickens. The 30 chickens died of clam poisoning.

PARAGUAYAN CADETS MARCH OFF TO WAR

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Aug. 2.—Young cadets of the national military academy marched to the war drums that called them to a war against Bolivia today after congress authorized general mobilization. Women wept in the streets. Men cheered wildly and boys in their teens joined veterans in the rush to recruiting stations after the cadets marched through the capital streets for the last time before starting for the Gran Chaco region. The sudden call to the colors electrified the population. There was a general rush to recruiting offices.

Albino Sparrow Caught

CLARENDON, Ark.—Lon Evans, farmer, recently exhibited an albino sparrow. The bird is snow white and has pink feet and bill. Its eyes are red-colored, similar to those of a white rabbit.

W. K. Jackson Should be Named for Tax

There was a big crowd in Eastland yesterday attending trades day. They had horse racing, horse riding and horse talking. One had to get home and a horse and rider was ready to start at the courthouse this morning. It's known just how many trades were made trades day, but there were enough old plugs down there to make many a horse swap. W. K. Jackson should be named as a candidate for tax collector. He told me yesterday that there are some 200,000 acres of land in Eastland county which are on the tax rolls. There are about 600,000 acres in the county, which would mean that only two-thirds of the real estate in the county is assessed. There's a talking point for both John Hart and Tom Haley and the one who I tell us where the most of the 80,000 acres is and how he can get on the tax roll has a good chance of being elected. . . . or maybe defeated, if the land is divided up into enough owners.

Board Approves of Ritchies Decision

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 2.—The board of county commissioners of Anne Arundel county today passed resolutions approving the announcement of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie against establishment of a bonus army colony near Waterbury Station. The site of the new colony is in Anne Arundel county.

Two Boys Released To Sheriff By Ranger Officers

R. M. McCollum, 19, and Ed McCollum 18, arrested in Ranger for Mineral Wells officers, were turned over to the sheriff, according to records in the Ranger police station. The two youths were arrested in Ranger at the request of Mineral Wells officers and no charges were filed against them in Ranger. Through an error in reading the police records the two boys were reported to be negroes, when in fact they were white. In booking the two the desk sergeant put a letter "W" in the column headed "Color" and the last stroke of the "W" was not complete, making it look like an "N" on the records. The two boys were working out a sentence of 18 days for driving a car without a license, according to word received here.

Olden Revival Is Draws Big Crowd

The revival meeting being conducted at the Olden Baptist church by Rev. K. C. Edmonds of Ranger, will continue throughout this week, according to an announcement made today by Rev. Edmonds. Large crowds are attending the revival services at the Olden church, many coming from neighboring towns each night. A total of 35 additions to the church have been made since the revival started a week ago, and it is anticipated that many more will be added to the church rolls before the meeting is over.

City Commission Of Eastland Meets

The Eastland city commissioners met in regular session at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, in the city hall, with Alex Clarke, chairman, presiding, and all members present. Approved: Frank Castleberry, T. M. Johnson, Neal Moore, W. L. Kessler, W. C. Marlow, city manager, also attended. The two or three hour conference was given to discussion of city affairs of various kinds, and the tax situation. They stated the equalization board will be in session all the balance of this week, and that there will be a 50 per cent reduction over last year's average map in tax situations. The commissioners voted to buy 12 metal street signs, one to be placed at each intersecting corner of the square, and two for each zone. These will replace the former rubbish signs, with which trouble was always had. The new signs will hold a reflector with red light, will be oval in shape and set in the middle of the street.

Advertisements In Times Confuses Some of Readers

An advertisement appearing in the columns of the Ranger Times of Sunday, July 31, has been somewhat confusing to many of the readers of the paper. The advertisement was for automobile loans and was inserted by W. C. Hamilton, who gave his address as being at the Morris Plan bank. Mr. Hamilton has no connection with the Morris Plan bank and did not intend to convey this impression on the public, intending, instead, to give his telephone number the same as that used by the bank. Mr. D. E. Fuller, who has been agent for the Morris Plan bank since the agency was established here, is continuing the agency, which has no connection with the automobile loans being made by Mr. Hamilton. Saving accounts are accepted by Mr. Fuller for the Morris Plan bank and loans against salaries are made, but no automobile loans are made by the bank at any time.

HOOVER KNOWS HOW TO SHIFT RESPONSIBILITY

There is a Reconstruction Finance corporation which will have the handling of billions. As originally constructed there were four republicans and three democrats with the federal reserve board executives said to be dominating every act and very movement of this huge relief organization created by congress. Jesse Jones of Texas is one of the three democrats named. Couch of Arkansas was another and McCarty of Utah won the third prize. He had the back of Senator King, Mormon and democrat of Utah, and his nomination was given approval by Senator Reed Smoot, spokesman of the Mormon church and chief of the reactionary senators who backed the administration at all times in his high tariff wall policies and everything else. Charles G. Dawes, republican, was the first president of this corporation. He served for a time and then retired. All the wise reporters of the East declared the chairmanship of the corporation was of a dummy nature and that the entire show was run and business directed by Eugene Meyer of the federal reserve board.

Dawes got out and saved his big Chicago bank. He was wise. Any man is wise who retires from political life or office-holding life if his personal fortune is threatened and may be swept away. Now Dawes, republican, has a successor. President Hoover has appointed Atlee Pomerene, former democratic senator from Ohio, as the director of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Pomerene was special prosecutor in the oil scandals which developed during the Harding administration. By order of the president this Buckeye lawyer and democrat is to be president of the board, thus giving the four democrats a majority and the responsibility on the surface of things. Really the republicans use their brains. They turned this trick very adroitly at an opportune time. Pomerene will be president. There are four democrats, counting the president, and three republican members of this very important board. Will the democrats run it? Not on your life. Eugene Meyer is out of the picture, on the surface of things, but is still the big voice of the federal reserve board. He is close to Hoover. He is closer to Secretary Ogden L. Mills, successor of Andrew W. Mellon, and the three democrats with their new president a democrat will add the Jeffersonian color to the proceedings and shoulder the responsibility for all the mistakes should mistakes take place that will be made while the campaign is on for political control of the federal government. Yes, republican leaders, regardless of personal or factional differences, know how to make use of their brains and their leadership. When a battle royal is on they do not use tomahawks or knives or poison gas to put out of commission partisans of their own school of political faith.

CAHILL IS A RAIL EXECUTIVE OPTIMIST

Well, regardless of the yowling of the pessimists and a lot of practical as well as demagoguist politicians under the skies of Texas, the sun continues to shine. President M. H. Cahill of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas line is very hopeful for the outlook of traffic and earnings in the territory served by that system. He anticipates a substantial increase in both items as the crops of the season move more freely. There was a decided increase in June in the movement of grain and grain products and in cotton and livestock. This improvement continued in July in livestock and cotton, but there had been a falling off in grain and grain production due to the inclination of farmers to hold for better prices.

There are many signs of improvement in the business world. Stocks have advanced. Bonds are in demand, and British financiers or investors are said to have been heavy purchasers in the American market since the beginning of July.

God bless the constitutionalists and the optimists. This would be a sad old world if it were made up of pessimists ever predicting that the nations of the earth are hell bound, and the demagogues and their followers ever predicting the constitution of the republic a dead document, democracy a failure, those who reap individual rewards for individual effort and initiative, enemies of the people and ever bent on inflaming the mind against social order of those who have not the time nor the inclination or the capacity to think and act for themselves.

Blazoned on the walls of a filling station are the words, "Free Air." This is about the only commodity which is free in this sweet world of ours. All, or nearly all of the economists cite air as a commodity which, being so abundant, possesses no value. It is so universal that nobody wants to buy it when they can have all they want for nothing.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

After all, what is the price and what are the spoils of war?

Centuries before the dawn of Christianity, Chinese philosophers had come to the conclusion that military victory only impoverished the nation and wars of aggression did not pay.

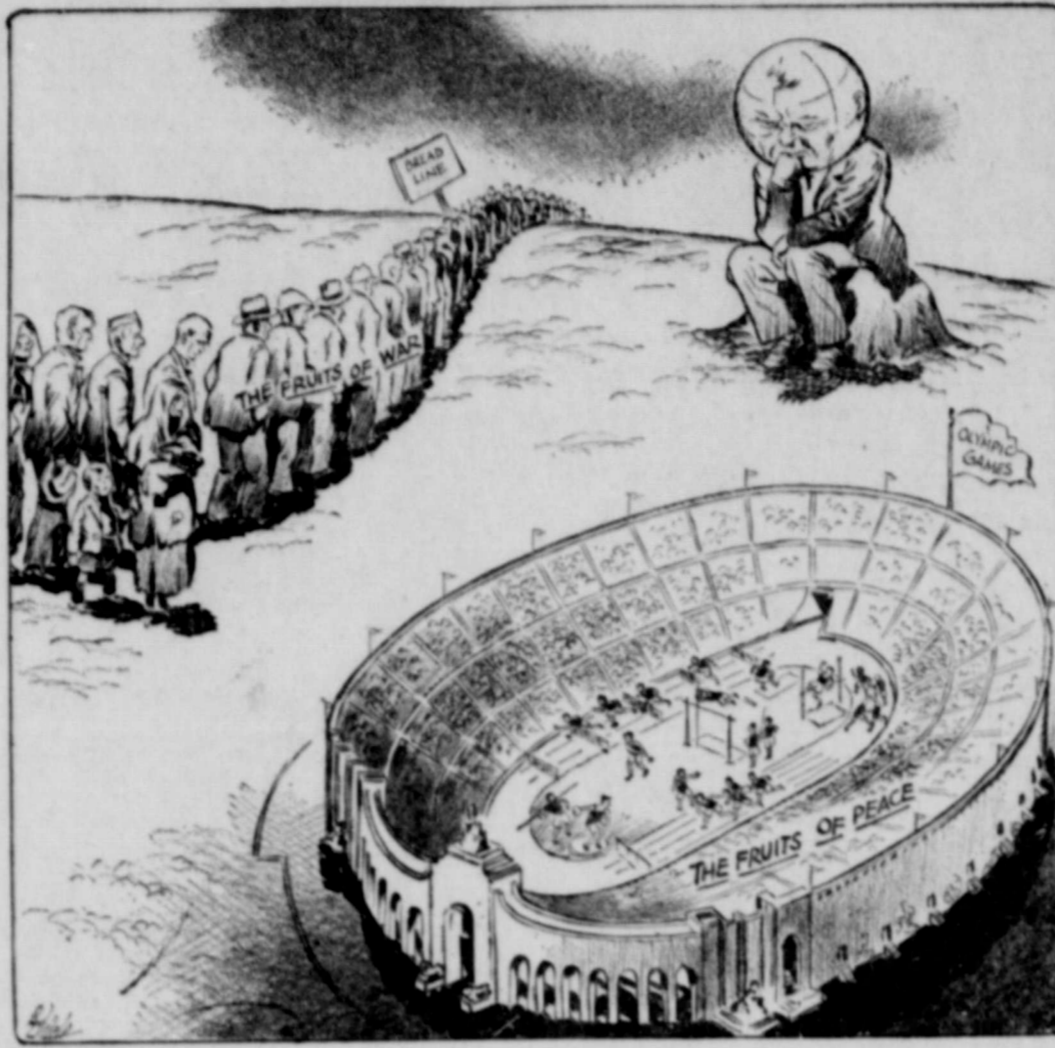

Take the recent World War, for example. The fruits of victory and the fruits of defeat are almost identical. The countries formerly comprising the allies are not much better off today than those which comprised the central powers, not only in a financial way but in loss of life and leaving in its wake its disabled war veterans, many of whom are neglected and looked down upon by the countries they served so well.

History proves that a war of aggression seldom pays, although a war of defense frequently does.

We should keep prepared for defense, no matter what it costs. We should take proper care of our disabled war veterans, no matter what it costs.

National defense and care for its disabled veterans should be the first duty of the government. These duties cannot be passed by in the name of economy or any other reason, for only through them can the safety of the nation be preserved.

The World May Choose!

Flays Uncle Sam For Farm Plight

The farm depression was blamed on "the dog-gone interference of government in business" by Mrs. Ida Watkins (above), Kansas "what queen," when she appeared at Kansas City before the congressional committee probing Uncle Sam's alleged business intrusions. Mrs. Watkins, who seeds 4500 acres of wheat annually, said she had been "talking like a sailor" to keep bankers from foreclosing mortgages on her lands and would "just like to kick the devil out of the Farm Board."

"The Miracle Man" Opens Today At Arcadia, Ranger

Who is "The Miracle Man" in Paramount's new version of that celebrated picture opening today for two days at the Arcadia Theatre? Who is he, and what is he—the mysterious, impressive figure who changes the lives of crooks and cripples, and teaches wisecrackers wisdom?

Meadville citizens can tell you. Everyone in Meadville—that picturesque, peaceful town, tree-shaded and rose-hedged—knows and loves the "Patriarch." "We don't us doctors in Meadville," the hotel clerk tells strangers. "The Patriarch, he cures folks by faith."

Sounds like something to investigate? Go with the cynical realist from the city (he left in a hurry, for a reason) when, following directions, he walks over the sandy road to the Patriarch's cottage by the sea. The old man is there, as always, watching the waves as they break on the shore. He will smile and answer if you speak to him; he's a simple, friendly soul. Surely there is no deceit in this gentle face, no witchcraft in this warm sunshine. But how else are you to explain the marvelous cure—the healing of twisted bodies and sick souls that takes place before your eyes in the Patriarch's flower-filled garden?

It would spoil the story to tell the healer's secret—and the other secrets he sees through his kind, observant old eyes. It's enough to say that in his own quiet way he is powerful enough to upset the plans of four clever schemers who want to turn his religion into a racket. Not only does he hold his own with them, he bests them decisively in the struggle—and then forgets to punish.

Forgot to Mail Letter for 27 Years

By United Press.
CRETE, Neb.—Here's a case of dad's forgetfulness:
Mrs. E. Kinney, of Crete, has received a letter written her 25 years ago from Kanschew, Ill., by her sister, Mrs. Philip Henzel.
A niece found the letter, when she sorted over some of Henzel's clothing. He had failed to mail it. The letter was written July 13, 1907.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON.—Just as Congressman Sol Bloom, the shrinking violet of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, was being given up for lost, he was discovered romping through the Congressional Record.
Nobody had been hearing much about Sol since Congress cut his 1932 budget for the commission from $400,000 to $200,000 and because of the contrast with his previous gigantic effort of ballyhoo—although perhaps that isn't exactly the word—that Sol had broken down under the strain and had been tucked away for a couple of years of rest.

Busy as a Beaver
BUT Sol blooms forth in all his glory in the final appendix of the Congressional Record, on which $15,500 has been spent since Congress adjourned so that members might get their little after-thoughts in at government expense.

Of 56 speeches in the last appendix, aside from the innumerable little tributes to departed members, 11 are speeches of Sol's about George Washington.
It appears that Sol has been working heavily at the commission's big headquarters and one thing that he saw to was that more than a score of his Washington speeches were printed so that copies might be bought cheap from the government printer and mailed out to an avaricious public.

Just Plugging Away
THE commission has been plugging along in its quiet way, even if half of its 135 employees did have to be released when appropriations were cut and although most

The fight picture shows the most interesting parts of all the fights Dempsey, Schmelling, Tunney, and Stribling have participated in.

SNAKE DARKENS 15 TOWNS
MARLIN, Tex.—A snake disrupted electric light service to 15 towns for several hours, recently. Trouble-shooters found a long snake dangling across the wires on the crossarm of a pole, shorting the circuit. A sparrow in the electrocuted snake's stomach indicated it had climbed the pole for a catch and had come in contact with the live wires.

FIREMEN ANGLERS
CAIRO, Neb.—"Fire laddies" here are doing their bit to alleviate poverty and the effects of the depression. Fourteen members of the Cairo Volunteer Fire Department went fishing and brought back 280 pounds of fish, which they distributed to the sick and needy of the community.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

We went over to the bowling alley to try out our skill and found that we had little, if any. We were glad there were none of the Ranger experts along to see the showing we made. Our score was either 75 or 76, we forgot which. If it had been somewhere about 175 or 176 we would have remembered it and bragged about it.
That was the first time we had tried it and for the first two or three innings, or chukkers, or frames, or sets, or whatever it is you call one round in bowling, we thought we were pretty good, because the ball went straight to the middle pin and once we made a strike, which is about equivalent to a home run in baseball or a touchdown in football or a hole-in-one at golf, or something. But from there on out we began to throw curves and our percentage dropped considerably. Maybe we got tired or lost our horseshoe.

Anyway, we did not win a berth on the Ranger team, which upset the dope and sent out the Breckenridge bowlers when they were supposed to take it on the nose, instead. The score, as far as we know, was nothing to write home about but a win in any game, regardless of the score.

The many Ranger friends of J. W. Stewart, who was for some time an advertising man on the Ranger Times and was later in the produce business here, will be interested in a letter he has written to Roy Gilbreath from Port Jervis, N. J., where he is manager of the Port Jervis Credit Bureau.

"I have the pleasure of getting the Ranger Times occasionally and kinder keep up with the bunch. However, I often wish to be associated with the many who I called friends once upon a time.
"Things are unusually quiet here in the east, and the tourist season is about over. Some mills started up, about 800 men and women being put to work this week in the various mills and factories, but at greatly reduced wages.

"Every republican you meet swears he is voting democratic this fall. I think it will take more than a change in administration to bring business back to normal, the psychological effect on the minds of the people won't hold things steady any great length of time and nothing short of definite action will relieve the situation here in the east.

"Would love to breeze through the store and shake hands with the bunch."
"J. W. STEWART."

Just as we were wondering what we could use to complete this column J. E. Brady came to our rescue.

Mr. Brady had an Elberta peach that he grew at his place at 417 North Lusk street. Mr. Brady grew more than one peach but one was all he brought around for us to see. It weighed 10 1/2 ounces, was about as perfect in shape and coloring as we ever saw, but we had to guess as to the flavor, as he didn't leave it. Maybe he took it along because we bragged about the peaches we got this year and he thought we had a plenty.

He said that his wife put up a bushel or more of the same tree and that he had more at his place. This has been a fine year for fruit in spite of the fact that hail early in the season bruised some of the fruit, making it specked in places.

The national guardsmen are busy getting their equipment ready for the annual encampment, which starts this week-end.

The local unit will entrain on Friday morning, arriving in the camp at Palacios Saturday morning. The usual hustle and bustle of preparation, setting tents, cooking equipment, rifles, and other necessities ready is keeping the officers and some of the men busy these days.

Malt Plant Is Awaiting Repeal

PHILADELPHIA.—Waiting for the repeal of national prohibition, the oldest business firm in America is preparing its plant to resume operation.

Founded in 1887, the firm of Francis Perot's Sons has made malt from that early day until the approval of the eighteenth amendment halted their business.

Although the malt plant of the company is now located in Buffalo, the offices of the company still are maintained here where the firm was started.

In the long history of the firm, one important event stands out. The company, back in 1698, shared its malt plant with the Baptist church. The company, established before the organization of the Bank of England, has descended from father to son for eight generations.

The founder of the house was born in England in 1654. In 1682 he came to America and settled at Burlington, N. J.

Four years later he came to Philadelphia and purchased a piece of ground near the Dock creek and the Delaware river, in what now is the old section of the city.

It was this building that was used by not only the Baptists but also by the early Presbyterian church.

The TINY MITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

To Mister Balloon Man Scouty said, "We'll help you if you'll help us." Wee Duncy found long one. When 'twas blown away my! My throat is getting very dry. I've blown so much that it has given me an awful thirst.

"All I can see is balloons galore. It's puzzling, what you want us for. Perhaps it's just to use our breath and blow the balloons up high."
"You're right," replied the man. "You see, they must be perfect as can be. If there are any holes in them, I throw the things away."

"If you will think the task is fun, it won't be long till it is done. I have at least two hundred that I must test out today."

"LET'S go, then," Duncy loudly cried. "Just pile balloons right by my side. My lungs are good and strong and I can blow them up real fast."
"Give me the ones in colors bright. I think they make a pretty sight. I'd like to blow one 'way up high, to see how long 'twill last."

And so it wasn't long until each Tiny started in to fill the big balloons with air. It seemed like every one would burst.

Soon Windy shouted, "Me, at last! My throat is getting very dry. I've blown so much that it has given me an awful thirst."

The balloon man, with a friendly smile, said, "Well, lads, why don't you rest a while. I'll give you all a drink of milk. That ought to taste real good."
He brought it forth and then the bunch enjoyed it, with a bit of W. E. lunch. Their new friend waited till they all had eaten all they could.

The others then heard Scouty cry, "There still are lots of balloons to try." Wee Duncy found long one. When 'twas blown away my! My throat is getting very dry. I've blown so much that it has given me an awful thirst.

"Oh, look," he shouted, "Just look here. The one I have is very queer. The others gazed and saw a very funny, fat giraffe."
"The Tines ride some balloons animals in the next story."

Silica Mine Opens Up New Industry
By United Press.
M'COOK, Neb.—A new industry silica mining—has sprung up in the south part of Red Willow county.

Silica, in a raw state, is mined at the Joe Haag farm near Danbury and shipped out. A refining plant may be established.

The silica deposits were discovered after a company had been organized to prospect for gold. The silica was found in quantities sufficient to pay for mining operations.

U. S. Troops Command Bonus Camp Ruins

The smoldering ruins of Camp Anacostia, one-time stronghold of the bonus army across the river from Washington, D. C., are shown above as they appeared from a plane flying low over the Anacostia river the day after troops had routed the veterans in a mass attack with gas bombs and drawn sabers. The deserted and smoking rows of shacks are seen at the left, while at the right is the picket line of the Third U. S. cavalry from Fort Myer, Va., with supply wagons drawn up to take care of the troops. A close guard was maintained at the camp to prevent return of the fleeing veterans.

HUGE INDIAN SKELETON FOUND

GROVELAND, Mass.—The skull and bones of an Indian nearly seven feet tall and about 18 years old when he died, approximately 300 years ago, recently was found in a sitting position inside a stone vault under a gravel bed near here by Dr. Elmer Bagwell and Fred A. Luce, of the Haverhill Historical Society.

PAINT ROCK—Construction of Baptist church, representing expenditure of $10,000, under way.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—This heat's a good thing—for your glands, according to Dr. J. E. Bathurst, Birmingham-Southern College gland specialist.

"It may make you feel uncomfortable now," said Dr. Bathurst, "while the thermometer hovers about the 100 mark, but it's conditioning your glands for the strenuous winter period."

Dr. Bathurst disagrees with those who say "it's too hot to do much work" in the summer time.

ANGLERS CAUGHT WILDCATS

CARLTON, Ore.—G. K. McDaniel and Walter Geldard went fishing on Elkhorn River, in the Coast Range, and returned with two five-pound-wildcat kittens. They took the kittens away from their mother after a battle. It required 30 minutes to tie the kittens and place them in a large fishing basket.

Just no wit seems that both major political parties make a grave error by not coming out flatly for milder summers.

Dry Head Claims Buyers To Blame

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Colonel Amos W. Woodcock, federal director of prohibition, on his recent visit to New Orleans blamed the purchasers of illicit liquor as the real culprits in the struggle to enforce the prohibition laws.

"The buyer is the person to blame," Colonel Woodcock said. "He is the one who causes so many people to be sent to the penitentiary. The demand for drink could be decreased by proper educational methods."

BRONZE MEMORIAL DEDICATED

EAST TAWAS, Mich.—A $50,000 bronze memorial to Michigan's pioneer lumbermen was dedicated here, July 16. The memorial, three nine-foot figures, depicts a land-lubber consulting his charts, a riverman with his peavey, and a woodsman with an ax and cross-cut saw.

Safety Stressed By Goodrich Dealers

In making a drive for greater safety on the highways the Goodrich dealers in Eastland and Ranger are making special offers for unsafe tires. Lucas Service station in Eastland and Sinclair Service Station in Ranger are offering trade-in allowances as high as $22 per tire during their drive.

"Over half the cars on the highways today are equipped with unsafe tires . . . tires that invite disaster. To help clear the roads of this menace to life and limb, we are shooting the works," said these dealers this morning.

YOUTHFUL THIEF CONFESSES

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.—A confession that he stole eight automobiles and participated in a series of burglaries and robberies was credited to a 17-year-old youth, Howard Owens. He was arrested near Red Hook by Deputy Sheriff Von Klobauch, who charged he had a stolen machine in his possession.

Texans Will See Total Eclipse of Sun At Quebec

FORT WORTH.—When the day turns black in mid-afternoon in Quebec, Aug. 31, a group of Texans will be on hand to witness the total eclipse of the sun.

Oscar Monnig, Fort Worth astronomy enthusiast, will lead a group to Magog, Quebec, which is in the 60-mile-wide path of the total eclipse. James Logan of Dallas will join the group in New York city, and Sterling Bunch, formerly of Fort Worth, will go with them from Knoxville, Tenn.

The eclipse probably will not be noticeable in Texas unless dark instruments, such as smoked glass or photographic films are held over the eyes, Monnig said.

The eclipse will start at 12:44 and end at 5:22 E. S. T. The path of total eclipse will pass through New England, Canada, and into the Arctic circle. A partial eclipse will be visible from all points in Texas.

Bermuda Getting American Tourists

NEW YORK.—"American recreation seekers have built up a solid prosperity in Bermuda and are coming in ever-increasing numbers both in winter and summer," according to Joseph J. Outerbridge, secretary of the Bermuda Trade Development board, who is en route to Toronto, where he will direct his colony's exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibition, Aug. 26 to Sept. 10.

"American visitors to Bermuda for the six months ending June 30, 1932, reached a total of 35,989, an increase even in these times of more than 500 over the similar period last year," Outerbridge said.

"These figures take no account of the many American semi-permanent residents in Bermuda."

There were 253 arrivals of passenger ships in Bermuda during this period, an increase of about 20 per cent over the arrivals in the first six months of last year. Thirty-nine of these were cruise ships, which accounted for large increases in bookings to Bermuda, particularly in February and March.

Bermuda's exhibit in the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto will be principally of agricultural products. Since the enactment of the Hawley-Smoot tariff, Canada has been the chief market for Bermuda produce, and trade between the two colonies has more than doubled in the last several years. Preferential tariff dominion try has become a flourishing one, and Bermuda, and as a result, the Bermudian agricultural industry has become a flourishing one.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass.—While hitch-hiking to New York recently, Samuel Geller made the mistake of hailing a police automobile here, and when he was taken to police headquarters for questioning he was found to have $100 in cash and 50 shares of stock in his pockets.

Harvard Students Strong For Rowing

CAMBRIDGE.—Harvard students, from the graduate school as well as freshmen and upperclassmen, have taken to rowing as their favorite exercise.

The Weld boathouse on the Charles River reported through Blake Dennison, official checker for the Harvard A. A. at the boathouse, that 8,874 calls for wherries, broad compromises, narrow compromises and singles shells were received during the Spring season.

So great was the demand this year that a time limit was placed on the number of minutes each shell could be used by an individual.

PRESIDENT DOUMER'S ASSASSIN, WHO BEGGED DEATH, NOW ASKS FOR MERCY AS TRIAL OPENS

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS

PARIS.—Paul Gorguloff, Russian assassin of President Doumer, has decided that he doesn't want to die yet a while. He wants to endure, as he expresses it, until after the birth of his son, which he anticipates in September or October. This is the man's only hope.

Does not expect to escape the guillotine, although his lawyer, the famous Henri Geraud, plans to fight hard for his life in the course of the trial, due to open today. The expected son has given Gorguloff a new interest in life, and the prospect of becoming a father has softened him. He at first was anxious to die.

In the meantime an appeal for mercy may be made to the president of the republic. So the slayer stands a chance of getting news of his child before the end comes, which is all he asks now. He always speaks of the expected child as his son, confident that it will not be a girl.

Gorguloff's Swiss wife, Anne Geng, who is 37, is standing by him and writes to him tenderly, trying to give him encouragement. She is convinced that he was insane when he committed his act, and she seems to have forgotten the brutal treatment which she often experienced at his hands.

MONROE, Wis.—A grand champion brown Swiss bull raised by N. O. Schmid, breeder, has been sold to lead a herd of grade cattle on a ranch near Alexandria, Cape Province, South Africa.

any logical motive. His exaltation and his transports have given way to a profound despondency. "Oh, the fatal date," he wrote to his wife, who is in the south of France. "My soul is sad almost to the point of death. My darling, poor Annie. You have not forgotten, and I am grateful. I love you, but do you understand now?"

"Destiny has been stronger than we. God gave me this political idea. God gave me the mission to save my Russian people. I am like an apostle of this political idea which is rearer to me than my life and therefore I had to struggle for this idea just to the death."

Then in the same letter he softens towards his wife. "Farewell, my darling," he writes, "farewell forever. I pray for you to bring up our child as a good patriot and a good Christian. And tell our child, 'Your father died as an apostle for his patriotic idea, as the chief of a national Russian democratic political party.'"

United States Ranks Second Among Nations Investing In Industries

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY, United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The United States government has invested in American business, industry and agriculture or has available for such investment an aggregate sum equal to 27 per cent of the amount that Russia has put so far into its entire "five year plan."

It has invested in the last year or is ready to invest this year probably 60 per cent as much as Russia is investing in the same period. The United States is second only to Russia among the nations when it comes to public investment in business, industry and agriculture.

Figures compiled by the United Press show this country has already invested $3,096,329,687.01 in American business and has available a potential sum of $4,368,185,514. This has been made possible through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Farm Loan Board and other agencies loaning to agriculture, the homes Loans Banks and small government enterprises. The total already invested or authorized for investment amounts to $7,664,515,201.01.

One hears much about Russia and the five year plan, under which the government has taken over, developed and expanded Russia's industry and agriculture. The Soviet information Bureau gives the total Russian investment in the five year plan at approximately $27,500,000,000.

that aggregate figure having been $31,016,000,000.

These figures show the youngest partner in America's business has already acquired a lusty interest. Future possibilities are even more striking. The $7,664,515,201.01 invested or authorized for investment is seven times the market value of all American railroad stocks listed on the New York stock exchange June 1, 1932. It is a sum sufficient to acquire almost twice over at present market prices, all the railroad bonds listed on the New York stock exchange. It is equal to one fourth of the total loans of all the banks in the United States. It is equivalent to one-eighth of the aggregate income of every man, woman, child, corporation or business enterprise, large or small in the United States for 1930.

Such potentialities in the hands of a business partner—even though he be just a silent partner who furnishes the money while you run the business—gives cause to wonder whether the course will lead. The Rockefeller interests controlled—and probably still control—the Standard Oil company of Indiana with only 14 per cent of the stock scattered among many members of the family, trusts, foundations and charities. There is a sharp difference which should be pointed out, however, between the method of the Rockefeller investment and that of the government. The Rockefellers own outright certain shares of stock. They vote and elect directors.

The governments entry into business is as a finance company. Its method of operation is much the same as that of the finance

Why not a Superiority Complex

WE HAVE all heard much about "inferiority complex." Perhaps that is what business is suffering from—too much emphasis on the negative side of the picture. Why not emphasize the other side for a change? Why not have a superiority complex?

A true superiority complex is not snobbish or high brow. It is expressed in a wholesome and honest pride, a cheerful attitude, a confident outlook.

Notice how much better a person feels when his home is kept clean and well painted—when his home grounds are neat and well cared for—when his personal appearance reflects careful attention.

You will agree that cheerful surroundings have a great influence on your work—in fact, on your whole life.

The idea can easily, and with real benefit, be extended to each one's everyday life—right now. Buy the things you need—things which you may have been doing without—and see how much it improves your self-confidence. Clean up, paint up, and dress up—all around.

Today's advertising is full of attractive buying opportunities. And you can depend upon the value of any well advertised product.

Make advertising the guide in all your purchasing, and your dollars will go farther and bring you more real, lasting satisfaction.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS—By Blosser

for LOVE or MONEY by H.W. CORLEY

MONA MORAN, receptionist in a Wall Street law office, grows with her childhood sweetheart, STEVE SACERELLI, to a popular supper resort, the Halcyon Club. Mona supports her invalid father, mother, little sister, KITTY, and never-do-well brother, BUD. Steve has been mysteriously absent for three years. He has returned, well dressed and prosperous. With no thought of impropriety, he has ordered a gown and wrap sent to Mona which, after much indecision, she wears. At the office that day Mona has met BARRY TOWNSEND, rich and socially prominent, but refused his invitation to dine with him. Bud Moran comes to the Halcyon Club to see BUCK HARKINS, the proprietor, who has underworld connections. Mona sees her brother and fears he is associating with gangsters. Steve quits her fears. LOTTIE CARR, fashion model, dismisses her escort and joins Mona and Steve. These Steve's business partner arrives. He proves to be Barry Townsend. Barry tells Mona how Steve years before had befriended him, how together they sailed for South America and have been operating a diamond mine that Townsend inherited. After Mona and her friends leave the supper club Harkins tells his henchman that Steve has a huge diamond, known as 'The Empress of Peru.' The gangsters plan to steal this diamond. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XII The next few days passed swiftly for Mona. She was relieved about Bud, had persuaded herself that the boy she had seen that night at the Halcyon Club was someone else. Bud was working regularly now, had turned over $20 to Ma on Saturday. Kitty was doing well in school. Steve, braving good-natured little Ma's indignation, called Mona on the telephone. Barry Townsend haunted the office. Finally, breaking her vow not to indulge in social engagements with anyone met through the office, Mona went to lunch with Barry. "After all, Steve introduced me," she eased her conscience. Later she went to tea with him at a smart downtown tea place while Mollie Drury relieved her at the reception desk. Little by little, piece by piece, Mona gleaned the story of Barry's business in South America. Steve's connection with it, and the friendship between these two. "Park and Third avenues never meet, no matter how far they go," she had told Barry significantly. Steve had been born on Third. "You little snob!" Barry teased. "Don't you like me? Won't you forgive me for living on Park avenue?" "Do you wish to be forgiven?" "There's no Third avenue and no Park where Steve and I belong, Mona." He noted her look of inquiry. "Sure. We belong there. We're going back when we've tied up a few matters of business." "It must be wonderful," Mona said wistfully. "No subways, no crowds, no—" "They'd make you queen!" Barry put in. SHE told Lottie what she had learned when the girls were spending a cozy evening together in Lottie's apartment a few evenings later, "Cooking in," as they expressed it, and having a feminine hour of chat. It seemed that Barry Townsend's mother had been first engaged to the Mr. Townsend who was Barry's uncle and Mr. Garrison's friend. She was half Spanish, this beautiful mother of Barry's. Wealthy and of excellent family. After being engaged to one brother she married the other. Not the elder one who had the most money, but Barry's father who was the younger. The jilted fiancée never recovered from this blow and the girl's father refused to forgive her for it. She belonged to an honorable family and had failed to keep her word. The father gave his daughter her dowry, of course, but he never spoke to her again. As a wedding gift he gave her some land in Brazil—land that had not been productive in hundreds of years. "Maybe you'll find a diamond mine on it," the father had said. He meant it as a bitter jest but the land was, after all, in the diamond country. Then came the amazing part. An old negro, crossing the land one day, picked up a shiny stone. It was a diamond! Barry's father had worked the mine, had organized a syndicate for this purpose, but it had always been a joke in the Townsend family for the mine had been a source of expense instead of gain. When Barry's father died he left his entire estate to his son. It was Steve who had helped Barry make something of this property. Steve was diplomatic in deal-

We Recommend THESE PURCHASES In this issue you will find a number of advertisements of real interest to you. They offer for sale a variety of products that are often enough vital necessities. Sooner or later you will have to buy many of them anyway. You will undoubtedly buy some of those we advertise. We recommend these heartily because we know from long experience that when a product bears the name of its maker and finds a friendly market throughout the country it must have survived the most exacting tests as to quality, desirability, and VALUE! In this day when a manufacturer or merchant reaches the point where he is willing to offer his wares for sale through the advertising columns of the press, you can depend upon it that it must be worth purchasing... because otherwise the business wouldn't last long! IMPORTANT When you ask for a product by name, as a result of advertising, do not accept a substitute—substitutes are offered not as a service to you, but for other reasons.

Younger Set Has Delightful Party

Alfred Martin was a fine young host Monday night at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Martin, 1301 South Mulberry street.
The commodious house and lovely grounds were thrown open to the young friends of the host, who entertained with games on the brightly lighted lawn, set with tables and chairs for the evening and illumined by electric lights among tree branches.
Young Martin was assisted by his mother, Mrs. Martin. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

The merry gathering included Mary Frances Hunter, Faynette Campbell, Elizabeth Garrett, Jean Kitley, Carolyn Doss, Verna Ray Knight, Firis Harkhead, Johnny Fehl, Bobbie Hart, Don Mayes, Harry Bill Brodson, Dick Mayes, I. J. Lambert Jr., Curtis Terrell, and host, Alfred Martin.

Judge and Mrs. Funderburk Entertain

A very beautiful lawn fete Monday night at the residence of Judge and Mrs. O. C. Funderburk, entertained the younger friends of this hospitable couple, who opened their house and grounds to 40 or more of the young society set.
Chairs and tables scattered over the lawn, stands of marigolds and azaleas the bright blooms, mingling with the verdure of the shrubbery, formed a pretty background to the scene and enhanced the beauty of appointments.

Dancing to victrola and radio music in the large rooms, where rugs had been rolled back, was enjoyed, and informal games of auction were indulged in on the lawn, about the softly lighted tables.
Host and hostess were assisted throughout the evening by Mrs. Tina Moore, and Mrs. Scott Key.
At close of a delightful time.

Colorful Slumber Party Honors Young Miss Ringold of Shaw, Miss.

Soon after the assembly of the party members, they each reported to pajama suits, displaying to a pretty and colorful advantage many gay colors blending in harmony, under the rays of red and green electric lights dotting the smooth green lawn where the slumber and frolic was enjoyed.

A refreshing course of ice cream was served in early evening prior to the usual merry games arranged for such delightful party.

After only a few hours of light slumber the group were served this morning with a 7 o'clock lawn breakfast, followed with a swim at Trianan pool in Olden.

Miss Ringold was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Ringold. This gala compliment was thoroughly enjoyed by the honor guest and small friends: Camille Hunt, Talnadge and Elouise Carter, Sammie Ruth Matthews, Marie Conway, Fanny Dell Swaney, and Cecelia McDowell.

The writer of this column wishes to express her appreciation for the invitation and delightful visit spent with the slumber party chaperones in early evening.

Alathean Class Showers Departing Member, Mrs. Mitchell

The entire group of Alathean of the Central Baptist Church, assembled in a body and motored to the home of Mrs. W. W. Mitchell in the Tee Fee camp, Monday afternoon, and filled the hour of the impromptu visit in the form of a surprise shower, which shortly preceded the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, who are moving to Turbur to make their home.

The high point as well as most impressive feature of the occasion was that of the address given by the class teacher, Mrs. R. J. Taylor, dedicated to the honoree, who has doubly proven her value as an active and dependable member of the class since her residency here, which numbers several years.

The response to the devotional was made by Mrs. D. J. Fiensy. The program was led by Mrs. N. L. Smith, her introductory talk, opening the subject, "Facing the Future in Indian Missions," ably handled by Mrs. J. R. Gilbreath.

"Many Moons Ago and Now," was the interesting subject of Mrs. T. L. Cooper.
"Young Buffalo Hunter," a splendid story by Mrs. T. A. Bandy.

"Three Arrows," was a fine symbolic talk by Mrs. M. C. Franklin.
The announcement was made that the next meeting would be held in the church Monday, Sept. 15, with Mrs. E. R. Johnston, as devotional leader, and Mrs. D. J. Fiensy, leader of program.

Musical Program Church Is Enjoyable Entertainment

The miscellaneous musical program presented at the First Christian Church last evening under the arrangement of the young boys' class, taught by Mrs. Lotie Davenport, was quite entertaining and again introduced a group of Ranger's choice musicians.

Each number and entertainer was introduced by Mrs. Davenport and drew warm rounds of applause approving the audience appreciation of talent and musical technique.

Those providing the selections composing the program accompanied by Miss Belva Dixon at the piano were: Mrs. G. C. Barkley, Miss Juanita Smith, Miss Sammie Ruth Matthews, Mrs. Pauline Fry, Miss Cecelia McDowell, and Messrs. Gaston Dixon, Arthur DeFebach, and Norman Davenport.

A free will offering was taken at the close of the program the proceeds to be used by the class of boys for future developments.

Club To Meet For Days Canning

The canning club of the Church of Christ will meet at the high school in the home economics room Thursday morning, at 8 o'clock, for the day to be spent in canning fruits and vegetables.

This group of ladies who have proven their success in this project and a most commendable one, are composed of members from all churches and any one wishing to take part is cordially invited to be present Thursday morning.

Ranger Boys To Sponsor Dance At Country Club Aug. 11

Lewis Gregg and Nicol Crawford, popular Ranger boys, will entertain with a dance which promises to be one of the most choice affairs of its kind to have been given this season, on the evening of Aug. 11, at the Ranger Country Club. Music for the evening of dance will be furnished by the highly sought after Blue Boys orchestra of the Baker hotel at Mineral Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lewis announce the arrival of a nine-pound son, at the City-County hospital, Saturday afternoon, July 30. The young son has been named William Anthony.

Mr. Lewis is an employee of the Gholson Hotel Barber shop.

Shoppe Moderne Displays Latest Backgrounds For Window Showings

The artistic inclination of the owners of Shoppe Moderne, Mrs. Howard R. Gholson and Mrs. C. C. Craig, are once again emphasized through the unusually smart and latest window backgrounds for the showing of their choice merchandise.

The display windows already so arranged that each daintily and carefully selected garment proves inticing and appealing to each passerby, are now made even more striking through the backgrounds, touched with neat lines and designs of white.

The lovely lingerie in soft-pastel colors, together with a display of sheer hose, and many other chic suggestions certainly present a picture equal to that in any city many times the size of our own.

'HOPPERS INVADE TOWN'

BURKE, S. D.—A veritable black cloud of grasshoppers invaded this town. So numerous were the pests that pelting themselves against the street lights, walls of the buildings and windows of houses, that the street lights were extinguished.
