County Democratic Nominees Now Decided

RIPINGS

By GUS
The world has happened to the Eastland city and we have carefully scanned my diary in search of a word which would express the taste and finally have returned original thought. Ripings have been reaching for several days but it would be cleared up by my taking official cognizance of the situation. I have told plaintiffs and their attorneys that they were merely their distorted versions and that nothing was with the water.

EVER, when complaints came to come in charging the water carried an obnoxious which made it difficult in the bathroom long to bathe, I was forced to someone's else word for it, my scumming apparatus was of commission when I in-1919. DHS, N. F. Aug. 29.—James A. Mollison left the airport here today at m. for Sydney, N. S., en Harbor Grace, to begin flight across the At-3,650. Hart 2,392, and the total vote for Hart was printed at 3,292.

Congress Bob

(C.) Bachrach

This may or may not be the result of the depression, but Congressman Edgar Howard of Nebraska, permits his hair to grow in this manner, as this new picture of the veteran shows. Howard was once secretary to William Jennings Bryan and his resemblance to the "great commoner" has often caused comment.

RELIEF BILL TO COME UP AT SESSION

By GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Staff Correspondent.
AUSTIN, Aug. 29.—Relief for taxpayers from the local taxes levied to pay off county and district bond issues—main topic of the special session of the Texas legislature—will take much figuring. Until it is determined what type of bill is to be passed, there is no way to make estimates.

The Brooks bill passed at the second called session of the legislature, and vetoed by Governor Ross Sterling, provided the state should take over the burden of bonds issued up to Jan. 1, 1931, if the proceeds were used on roads now a part of the state highway system. A fourth of the state gasoline tax was ordered set aside in a suspense fund for the purpose. The comptroller, state treasurer and state highway engineer were designated to ascertain the amount of such bonds each county had outstanding prior to passage of the act. They were given until Jan. 1, 1932, to complete the computations.

The county commissioners' courts, the county auditors and various other county officers possessing records and accounts of road building were required by the Brooks bill to assist the comptroller, treasurer, and engineer in their work. When these amounts had been determined, the bill directed that there be allocated to each county a portion of the suspense fund. This apportionment was made a trust fund which the county officers were obliged to use for retirement of bonds and for no other purpose. Each county was declared to be entitled to a part of the fund proportionately. This was stated to be the proportion its bonds used in state highways bears to the total of such bonds of all counties so used.

County commissioners were directed to figure the amount of money that would be necessary to meet interest and sinking funds on such road bonds for the year, submit the amount received from the state, and levy only enough tax to meet the difference. Time required to accumulate a retirement fund from the gasoline tax was given as one of the governor's reasons for veto of the Brooks bill. It has been suggested the session that difficulty may be met by a provision allowing the transfer of existing highway funds for the purpose to be refunded as the retirement fund accumulates. Brooks has announced he will offer his bill again at the special session. What the administration bill will be and how it will differ from the Brooks bill has not been announced.

A CORRECTION.

In the county election figures published early Sunday morning, a transposition of figures showed the wrong man winning in the race for tax assessor. The vote at that time stood Halley 3,650, Hart 2,392, and the total vote for Hart was printed at 3,292.

RETURNS ARE COMPLETE FOR ALL PRECINCTS

Voting Was Heavy Over the County In Run-Off Primary.

The democratic ticket composed of the nominees as decided in the primary elections will have the following candidates listed as nominees for county offices: Judge of the 88th district court, Burette W. Patterson. Judge of the 91st district court, George L. Davenport. Criminal district attorney, Grady Owen. County judge, Clyde Garrett. District clerk, Lewis Crossley. County clerk, Turner Collie. Sheriff, Virge Foster. Tax collector, T. L. Cooper. Tax assessor, Tom Haley. County treasurer, Mrs. May Harrison. Commissioner, precinct No. 1, Henry Davenport. Justice of the peace, precinct No. 1, Milton Newman. Justice of the peace, precinct No. 2, J. N. McFatter. Constable, precinct No. 1, T. A. Bandy. Constable, precinct No. 2, John Barnes.

Since the democratic nomination is equivalent to election in this county, the ticket named above will in all probability constitute the next complement of county officers, subject in some instances, however, to the canvassing of the returns by the county executive committee and the certification of election. Races for precinct offices in two cases were too close to be comfortable. In precinct No. 1, Thomas A. Bandy appears winner over Marlon Seabourn by a three-vote margin. Justice of the peace, precinct No. 2, J. N. McFatter appears to be winner over Pony Harrison for justice of the peace of precinct No. 2 by a margin of six votes.

HOW TO WATCH THE ECLIPSE WITHOUT PERIL TO EYES

Jeanne Andre . . . shows how to watch the eclipse through smoked glass.

The thousands of eyes that will be turned skyward on Aug. 31, when Old Sol does his disappearing act, had better take a dark view of the celestial spectacle. That's the timely warning from Miss Eleanor Brown, secretary of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, who says that vision may be seriously weakened by looking at an eclipse with the naked eye. Miss Brown does not recommend the use of ordinary lightly-tinted motoring glasses. "A test for any glass, colored or smoked," she says, "is to glance at the sun through it. If you find you must squint to maintain your gaze, the glass is not dark enough." The best way of smoking glass, she says, is to hold it over a candle flame, moving it along to get an even coating. Hold the smoked glass away from the face, while using it, so it won't be brushed off. A photographic film or plate is satisfactory for this purpose if it has been uniformly exposed. But you should try the squint test to be sure it is dark enough.

BRIDGEPORT BANK ROBBED BY BANDITS

By United Press.
BRIDGEPORT, Wise County, Texas, Aug. 29.—Three men robbed the Bridgeport State bank here today of approximately $2,000, kidnaped the assistant cashier, Roger Ray, and escaped in a car driven by an accomplice who waited at the bank door. Ray, who said he succeeded in concealing $4,000, was released, unharmed, a mile from town. The assistant cashier was forced to collect between $2,000 and $3,000 in currency and place it in a paper sack when the three bandits entered. One bandit guarded the door, a second forced Miss Mona Lee Cox, teller; D. A. Campbell, cashier, President Frank Turner, and T. J. McAfee into the vault and locked the door. Ray was placed in the car as a shield when the bandits raced away in a coupe. They carried me about one mile north of here, then dumped me out," Ray said. "The men were not masked and appeared to be middle-aged." A posse went in pursuit.

Collie Winner of Senatorial Race

With returns complete from six of the 12 counties in the 24th senatorial district of Texas and only a few small boxes unreported from each of the others, Wilbourne R. Collie of Eastland won a lead of 2,748 votes over Oliver Cunningham of Abilene, incumbent. Collie apparently is the victor. Collie's vote was 20,115 and Cunningham's 17,367. Cunningham was seeking renomination to his second term. Collie had a lead in every county except two, Taylor and Mitchell, and in the latter Cunningham's majority was only six votes on the basis of returns complete except for two small boxes. Cunningham's home county, Taylor, gave him a heavy vote, 4,541 to Collie's 2,233. Collie also garnered a heavy vote, 4,617 in Eastland county, while Cunningham's vote there was 1,825. Leads "Godless" In Soviet Russia

Emilian Yaroslavsky, above, head of the "Godless Society" in Soviet Russia, recently told American tourists in Moscow that his group now has more than 5,500,000 members and that these represent only a fraction of the atheists in that country. Yaroslavsky stated, however, that there are still 100,000,000 Russians who profess religion, and said that "some children are still being given religious training at home in spite of the efforts of our public schools to prevent it."

Brashier Elected Member Ranger School Board

At a meeting of the Ranger School board Felton Brashier was elected as a member to fill the vacancy made by the death of John M. Gholson, who died the latter part of July. At the same meeting a budget for the year was outlined which calls for an expenditure of $81,082.09 for the school year 1932-1933 as compared with $90,749 for the school year 1931-1932. A meeting is to be called in the near future at which the taxpayers will be invited to be present and offer suggestions or criticisms of the budget in order that they may know just how appropriations will be made and for what the money is to be spent. No rates for this meeting have been set, as yet.

STERLING SURE OF ELECTION; JIM SILENT

AUSTIN, Aug. 29.—Governor Ross S. Sterling today expressed confidence that the 3,434-vote lead announced for him in his race for re-election will not be overcome. He appeared the picture of health.

"I am in better shape than I was 10 years ago," said the 57-year-old governor. "The campaign agreed with me. I had a good cause and a clear conscience." Sitting at his desk in his shirt sleeves, he began his message to the legislature, which will meet in special session tomorrow.

AUSTIN, Aug. 29.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson remained silent today on the possible outcome of the gubernatorial democratic run-off election between his wife and Governor Ross S. Sterling.

"I have nothing to say," Ferguson said when questioned, both as to the status of the race and as to whether he would ask an investigation of voting by a non-partisan legislative committee, if his wife is beaten. His aides, supervised by Ferguson himself, were making a careful check of returns at Ferguson's office.

GRAND OLD MAN OF TEXAS OUT OF PICTURE

The "Grand Old Man of Texas," Dr. Oscar Henry Cooper, slipped out of the picture at his home in Abilene. He was a native Texan. He was 79. He was known as the father of the public school system of Texas. He was known and recognized for his creative genius in establishing a sound educational system while state superintendent of education. He had been president of two Texas institutions of higher learning. Baylor of Waco and Simmons of Abilene. He was born on a plantation near Carthage nine years before the war between the states. It was his contention that war between the States influenced his education greatly, inasmuch as it freed him from the routine study of classroom and allowed him to delve, independent of instructors, into books dealing with poetry and drama. His father was a product of the University of Pennsylvania, his mother was the daughter of Col. John Arthur who migrated from Virginia before the middle of the 19th century. He was educated at private schools; at Marshall university, one of the pioneer schools of Texas; he entered Yale when 15 and was graduated with honors with the class of 1873. It is said that the victory of the friends of higher education in establishing the University of Texas bill was his in two ways. His name was a household word in Texas wherever the rudiments of education had obtained a foothold or recognition. He was a modest man; he was a manly man; he was an honest man, and one of the greatest of the sons of Texas in civic life and everywhere that the influence of high integrity and high ideals and noble patriotism counted. He built his monument as he came along. He battled for the education of the children of the alleys and the cities and the barefooted youngsters of tenant farmers in the rural world. He lived a long life well. He did not accumulate a great fortune. He was never money-mad. He placed honor and integrity and love of humanity above the glitter of yellow gold. Texas lost a public benefactor when the face of Dr. Oscar Henry Cooper disappeared from the living picture.

CHAIRMAN ELY TELLS IT STRAIGHT

Chairman Ely of the state highway commission has given positive assurance to the people of Texas that the highway department will have ample funds on hand Jan. 1 FOR PAYMENT OF ALL COUNTY MATURITY ON BONDS VOTED FOR STATE HIGHWAYS, IN EVENT THE LEGISLATURE ENACTS REMISSION LEGISLATION IN ITS SPECIAL SESSION IN SEPTEMBER. Thus branding as a malicious fabrication the proxy charge that the department was without funds to complete this plan if enacted by the legislature. He shot the facts and figures straight into the teeth of the fabricators.

First, the department has in cash more than $13,000,000 and has contracts outstanding aggregating not more than one-half that amount. Second, income of the department in the gasoline taxes is nearly $2,000,000 per month. Third, should the legislature desire to do it, it can take three or four, or even five million dollars of cash now on hand and one cent of the gasoline tax and have sufficient funds in January, 1933, to pay the interest and sinking fund of the outstanding county bonds issued for state highway purposes.

This for the voters of Eastland and all adjoining counties where the people voted bonds for state highway purposes. Think of the load that will be lifted from the shoulders and the pockets of taxpayers by this splendid proposal of the administration headed by Sterling.

EIGHT-CENT COTTON AS A GLOOM CHASER

This newspaper ever stands for the bright side of life. This newspaper believes in going forward. This newspaper believes in courageous and intelligent and honest action at all times. Cotton is moving upward and onward. Middling cotton sold for 8 cents here Wednesday, in fact spot sales ran as high as 8 1/2 cents a pound, the highest since August, 1931. New York wired on that date that a spectacular advance of $2.75 to nearly $3 per bale in cotton was contributed to heavy general buying promoted by expectations of a sharp reduction in crop estimates and encouraging reports from the cotton goods trade. On the New York stock exchange rails led stocks higher in the closing hour of activity. Fear is being driven from the minds and the hearts of the people. This has been the history of all depressions. It has been the world history of civilizations and nations and people now sleeping beneath the dust of time. Tillers of the soil are reminded that they have ever been the first to come back. And why? Because with the restoration of the purchasing power of the tillers of the soil buying movements followed, restoration of confidence followed and the blue devils were driven from the souls of the people then on earth. All this is happening to the souls of the people now on earth. There is no telling. Cotton the dethroned king may remount his throne in the future.

DEATH OF RICHEST WOMAN IN THE WORLD

Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, the younger daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., is dead. She was 69. She had been the leader of Chicago society many years. She was recognized "as the richest woman in the world." She died of a cancerous infection. She had all that immense wealth could buy. She had all the art treasures gold could purchase. She had the finest country homes and town houses in America. And yet her life had been unhappy and her social achievements never added to her peace of mind. In this democracy all are equal at the hour of birth. All are said to be equal at the ballot box, and the eternal law which is not man made sees to it that all are equal at the grave side. George M. Cohan was right, "Life is a queer proposition after all." It is. We are here today and gone on the morrow. Peace of mind cannot be bought by gold. Happiness CANNOT be drawn from the bargain counter. Poverty may have its handicaps, but it is a matter of world history that the sons and daughters of poverty get just as much out of life as those who have received the golden showers and tributes of Midas.

I have always noticed that officers and employees of public service companies are real "go-getters." You can always find them performing a true double service; serving the companies they represent and serving their home city well.

Pentecostal Church Holding Revival

A revival is now in progress at the Pentecostal Church of Ranger on the Cadon highway. The evangelist is Mrs. Maggie Frank of Merryville, La. She is accompanied by her daughter, Miss Mildred Frank, who is a very talented pianist. The evangelist's subject last night was "God's Pattern," how a way of escape had been provided for all people in every dispensation or age, from Noah down to the present time, and was enjoyed by a large audience. Her subject tonight will be "The message of the Kingdom." You are invited to attend these services.

Cost of Living Below 1906 Level

AUSTIN.—Cost of living is down below the 1906 level, Adrian Pool, member of the State Board of Control, has demonstrated. In 1906, Pool ran the University of Texas student table at B Hall. Going through his files, he came across a grocery order furnished by an Austin wholesaler on May 19, 1906. Pool sent the same firm a request for prices on a list of goods duplicating the 1906 order. The 1906 bill was $521.97. He found the same order duplicated this year would cost $429.67. Meats were higher this year, but staple groceries much lower. Bread and coffee were the same. Flour that cost $51.25 in 1906 was $41 this year. Potatoes that cost $26.97 then can be bought for $22.48 now. Ten bags of sugar cost $50 then and $40 now. Greatly lower prices were quoted on vegetables.

Leads Men in Air Derby

Pretty Helen MacCloskey, 22-year-old Pittsburgh amateur flyer, was leading most of the men in the Atlantic division of the Cord Cup Transcontinental Handicap Air Derby as the race reached the half-way mark at Bartlesville, Okla. The TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Of course the Tinies gathered round when Duncy was knocked to the ground. The punch the monkey gave him took him right off of his feet. The monkey, in the meantime, stood nearby. He knew that he was nearby. Poor Duncy looked around a bit and said, "That blow was neat. 'I saw it coming rather fast and hoped that it would sail right past. The next thing that I knew, I did a flip-top in the air.' The monkey's trained to fight. I guess, 'cause out of me he made a mess. I lost my first real boxing match, but shucks, I do not care." THEN to the winning monk the bunch exclaimed, "You have a real stiff punch. Some other time we'll come again and then we'll try some more. 'Right now we're going to look around, and trust that new sights will be found. You'd better stop your fighting for today, or you'll be sore.' The monkey chattered long and loud and waved to all the Tiny crowd. And then he scampered up a tree and soon fell fast asleep. "He's all tired out," one Tiny said. "That's why he rests his weary head. I'll bet he'll snooze for hours and hours and never even peep." And so they left the beast behind and walked until they chanced to find a funny little railroad train that ran all through play park. "Gee, but that's cute," weo Genty cried. "Let's see if we can have a ride. There's room enough for all of us and it will be a lark." The monkey engineer said, "Yes, you all can hop right in, I guess. I'll make my little train go fast, so you must hang on tight." So, as the Tinies hopped right in, on each one's face there was a grin. The engine then began to puff, which filled them with delight. (The Tinies leave Monkey Land in the next story.)

Battle Between "Home" Insurance Companies and Out-of-State Life Companies Is Again Looming

AUSTIN, Aug. 29.—A furious battle between "home" life insurance companies and outside companies including those that quit Texas when the Robertson insurance law was passed in 1907 is one of the probabilities of the special session of the Texas legislature. The major feature of that law is a requirement that life insurance companies operating in the state keep 75 per cent of their legal reserve invested in Texas securities and Texas real estate. Governor Ross S. Sterling's call for the special session to open Aug. 30, submits to the legislature amending the laws governing the investments of life insurance companies. In the submission, it is declared to be for the purpose of allowing them to invest in stock of the federal home loan banks. But, it has been held, when a subject is submitted, the legislature is free to legislate as it pleases under that topic and is not limited to the type of law suggested in the governor's call. Efforts to modify the Robertson law have been unsuccessful since 1909. In that year, minor amendments to the new act were made. A state association for the purpose has been organized. H. L. Kokernot of San Antonio is chairman and C. S. Fowler brother of a former member of the state highway commission, its executive secretary. Home insurance companies, under leadership of Harry Seay of Dallas, have been active in defense of the law. Those urging its repeal assert if the 75 per cent investment feature is done away with, big foreign insurance companies will secure Texas permits and they will make loans on Texas properties. It will be an "encouragement" to capital to come into Texas say the advocates of the Robertson law. They indignantly contradict a reported address of Harry Seay that efforts to obtain repeal were "part of a scheme to defraud the state of $10,000,000 in back taxes due the state by foreign insurance companies. The back taxes are only $2,500,000 says Secretary Fowler, and past bills offered for Robertson law change have provided the validity of any debt for back taxes shall not be affected. "It's the only way the back taxes can be collected," said Fowler. Prominent names in the directory and advisory board of the association for modification of the Robertson law are: J. M. West, Houston; A. J. Douglas, Gonzales; C. M. Caldwell, Abilene; William H. Folts, Austin; H. W. Galbraith, Amarillo; J. E. Garrett, Corpus Christi; Charles M. Harbey, El Paso; E. M. Hubbard, New Boston; W. W. Jones, Corpus Christi; H. G. Lucas, Brownwood; I. B. McFarland, Houston; Sol Mayer, San Angelo, and Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sevier, Corpus Christi, national democratic committee-woman from Texas. Khaki Shirts to Be Organized In State of Texas

DALLAS.—Organization of a Texas branch of the Khaki Shirts of America is awaiting receipt of information from R. B. Ellison, national organizer in Washington, J. W. Wilford, state organizer here. Wilford bears credentials from Walter W. Waters, commander-in-chief of the Bonus Expeditionary Force, and Ellison. The information awaited from Ellison will definitely outline aims and purposes of the proposed group. The Khaki Shirts organization has been incorporated in Washington and approved by heads of ex-service men gathering there, Wilford said. According to his understanding, every citizen over 18 is eligible for membership regardless of sex, religion, service connection or social position. Dues will be $2 per year, half of which will be sent to national headquarters, 30 cents to state headquarters, and the rest retained by the local chapter. Bonus Expeditionary Force members are entitled to lifetime memberships. An organization insignia is now being designed in New York, Wilford asserted. This insignia, although its shape and size is still indeterminate, will doubtless be some variation of the letters K. S. A. Several large shirt manufacturers have been approached and asked for bids on a number of shirts which will be of ordinary material. They will be worn only on occasions of ceremony, the state organizer said. A short pledge outlined for temporary use by the Khaki Shirts follows: I do hereby pledge myself to support the constitution of the United States, and to support the work and principles of the Khaki Shirts of America, which is the only organization of its kind having the indorsement of Walter W. Waters, commander-in-chief of the Bonus Expeditionary Force. The organization's sole initial aim will be support of legislation for benefit of unemployed and ex-service men. Wilford said leaders had no thought of organizing a third party, and no promises have been made to throw strength to either of the two political parties. An independent attitude will be maintained, Wilford asserted. The Khaki Shirts have acquired a 40-acre farm near Arlington, and this will be the center of all state activities. Use of a printing press on the property is expected to aid materially in organization work. Wilford said he thought 250,000 will be recruited in Texas during the first year. Its potential membership is the entire population of Texas over 18 years old, he asserted. Wilford was in charge of the Bonus Army sixth regiment in Washington. He was quoted in the Washington News as charging the Bonus Army riots were started and aggravated by government agents who wanted an excuse to evict the veterans. He said none in his command took part in the riots.

To Lay Pipe Line Across Iraq Desert

HOUSTON.—The case of 70 Houstonians who were suddenly dispatched to the Garden of Eden to lay a pipeline should be considered by cynics who believe glamour is dead and high adventure on the wane. The 70 are employees of the Humble Oil & Refining company. Because they are experts, they were chosen by the Near East Development Corporation to lay a 1,200-mile pipeline across the desert of Iraq from Kirkuk to Haifa and Tripoli. Iraq, bordering on Persia, is a British possession. It is popularly supposed to be the site of the Garden of Eden. The Houstonians will need courage to accomplish the task, according to H. M. Stevenson, chief mechanical engineer of the Humble company, who returned recently from a four-month inspection of the Iraq project. Stevenson said the heat there averages around 120 degrees in the shade and often ranges as high as 180 degrees.

TEXAS GETS HELEN OF TROY VASE

AUSTIN.—Two vases circumstantially accredited with being from the boudoir of Helen of Troy have been placed in the archives of the University of Texas here. They are the gift of the late A. W. Terrell, former U. S. Minister to Turkey. Minister Terrell received them from Consular Agent Frank Calvert, who owns the site of the ancient city of Troy. HERE--- AND THERE

By ELVIE H. JACKSON

"Give us this day our daily bread." This familiar line is repeated by countless thousands over the world every day.
Perhaps we fail to realize the wide-spread meaning of that one simple sentence. For one thing we are not to borrow trouble, but are to meet each day's needs with each day's strength. For the meaning of that sentence is, "Give us the strength for this one day, and let this day take care of itself."
Bread is the staff of life, and the strength giving food for the body. The Lord did not ask us to pay or bread for tomorrow, or to promise for next week, but He told it all in that one sentence, which said, "this day."

Seasons change, tree and flowers, rest in the fall, building up strength storing new sap for strength and health through the winter, to blossom anew in the spring.
The Lord's Prayer gives us the sap, stored for each day's use, in the daily voicing of the plea, "Give us this day our daily bread."
And the Christian can conserve his strength and rely upon the daily promise to this daily plea, the storing of the sap, for the strengthening revival after cold months of perhaps longing, privation and in action.
For the moral needs the strengthening sap of the daily bread, as well as the body and the spirit.

"Strength for today is all that we need. As there never will be a tomorrow, for tomorrow will prove but another today. With its measure of joy and sorrow. What you forecast the trials of life. With such sad and grave persistence. And watch and wait for crowd of ills. That as yet have no existence? Strength for today."

Storm Alarm Is Planned for Texas Gulf Coast Area

HOUSTON.—Profiting by the experience of the Aug. 13 hurricane, which claimed many lives and caused great property damage the United States weather bureau here has begun work on an alarm system to be used in such cases.
Lawrence Dingerfield, government meteorologist, proposed to equip army airplanes with sirens so they can fly over the danger area and warn residents to seek places of safety.
In the recent hurricane many residents and visitors along the Gulf coast and in isolated places failed to receive news of the approaching storm in time to evacuate.
Warnings sent out by telephone, telegraph and over radio stations failed to reach many sections.
Dingerfield believes the strengthened plane will solve the problem. However, the plan will have to be approved by the War department before it can be adopted. It will also become necessary to pass a state law prohibiting other planes from using sirens.
