JOHN GARNER CALLED HOME BY FAMILY

THE MAVERICKS' first game will be at Fort Worth, Sept. 17, against the Polytechnic. President Coach Gibson is casting about for a home game on Oct. 7.

Arguments by opposing counsel in the Cisco football law suit now pending in the 91st district court began at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and ended at 3:30 in the afternoon.

Two officers were wounded, one fatally, and a bandit suspect was killed. The two posses who escaped injury in the exchange of more than 75 shots, rushed their wounded companion to a hospital here, organized a new posse and began pursuit of the bandit suspects.

THE FINAL arguments were under way in the 91st district court Saturday morning. Being more or less familiar with the evidence in the case and less familiar with the law, I couldn't help having a few thoughts of my own. I could have made a pretty good speech myself if they'd served those law books back into their shelves together with their heads.

VOTE TO ADOPT THE CENTENNIAL AMENDMENT

It is to be regretted that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce declared against the legislative appropriation of a single dollar for the centennial celebration proposed for the year 1936. Mrs. James E. Gardner, state president of the Colonial Dames of America, in a very noble and most exhilarating outburst in print, passed this on to the people of Texas: "It is not believable that Texas will allow 1936 to pass unhonored and unsung."

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

A meeting of the district executive committee of District 3, which is the number this year for the Sweetwater-San Angelo-Big Spring district, was to meet Saturday night at San Angelo to decide on the eligibility of several players.

The status of the case, based on articles by various sports writers is this: Sheridan is supposed to have played on a team at Sweetwater in 1928. Under the four-year ruling this would make him ineligible.

Blondy Cross of San Angelo insists that the ruling was adopted in District 3 as a direct thrust at Sweetwater and predicts that the eligibility of Sheridan and Wood will be upheld. Maybe the reason Blondy is so lenient is because the eligibility of one George Delker, San Angelo fullback, is up for trial in the eligibility court at the same time.

Coaches in the Oil Belt are watching the case closely because if Sheridan and Wood are declared ineligible Wyatt may also be declared ineligible on the same grounds. Comments on the case have been gleaned from District 3 writers as follows: On Sept. 8, Blondy Cross wrote: "The district duds pegged off a piece of legislation aimed July at Sweetwater. Four or five of Henning's outstanding athletes played with an independent football team, just as a kid club, in 1928. The district largely at instigation of Big Spring officials, ruled this year that participation with an independent team in a game with a high school team would be counted under the interscholastic league's four-year participation rule. The statute was so worded as to take in the participation of the Sweetwater boys back there in 1928. Certainly, it is unfair, in fact, ridiculous to make legislation in 1932 to punish somebody for something he did in 1928 at which time he was perfectly within the law."

And on Sept. 13 he wrote: "Curtis Bishop, the Big Spring sevier, declares the school officials and coaches of district 3 are 'going to stick to their guns and demand enforcement' of the district's new 'independent team' rule. If you are a close follower of the football situation in this section you are cognizant that during the last spring district 3 executive committee-men voted in a piece of legislation directed solely at Sweetwater to bar from interscholastic league competition this year several of the Sweetwater stars who played with the Roosters, an independent Sweetwater football team of junior classification in 1928. Contrary to assertions by various of the scribes over the district, particularly the Big Spring sports writer, this edict was not directed at Big Spring and was not introduced by Sweetwater, but was promulgated by Big Spring officials. Sweetwater officials unwittingly were roped in and voted favorably on the ruling."

Millard Cope of Sweetwater has opened the "Mustang Corral," his sports column, and opines that: "The district 3 executive committee is scheduled to meet in San Angelo this coming Saturday and thresh out all controversies that may arise before that body. It is expected that the school heads will pass upon eligibility of players, and settle once and for all protests on individuals. It is very probable that someone will casually mention Red Sheridan and Speegle Wood. And we have a sneaking suspicion that if the two players' names are brought up for an eligibility ruling, some Big Spring representative will present them. This Rooster rule that the Big Spring delegation so slyly and coyly slipped over on the unsuspecting Ben McLain and Ed Henniff at the meeting held in Big Spring (the according to some of the Steer fans who are still laughing up their sleeves) will be thoroughly fought out. He who laughs last!"

And in the meantime many in district 3 and also in district 2, the Oil Belt to you, are much interested in the decision of the district committee.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer WASHINGTON—One of the most notable features of this political campaign is the circumstance with which the speakers are choosing their audience and limiting their messages to the most suitable areas.

Many of our citizens are this year possessed of a deplorable disposition to heckle and even to lend themselves to whole-hearted renditions of the lusty hoo and the Bronx cheer.

So an unprecedented number of political speeches are being made in the sheltered surroundings of rallies, clamshakes and garden parties for which invitations are limited to the faithful while the general public depends on the reports in the next day's newspapers.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT began the campaign by coming right into the convention hall to accept the nomination. Although it was a Democratic gathering and he received no razzberries he really took a chance considering the splendid boogie his cause had received at earlier sessions.

Mr Hoover accepted renomination before an exclusive audience of 4000 Republican admirers, mostly official in Constitution Hall. The bonus army which might have picked him had been carefully chased away to some of the Steer fans who are still laughing up their sleeves) will be thoroughly fought out. He who laughs last!"

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

THAT you should choose your merchandise from the stocks of the home merchants instead of from a catalogue. It is the policy of the home city merchants to keep pace with the demands of the people of the home city.

Advertisements will give you the information you should have before buying. Dollars spent in the home city work for the home city. They not only earn a good return for their owners by their service, but they continue to serve the community.

THAT if you are interested in the continued growth and prosperity of the home city, you should support the industries that make your city possible. A city divided against itself can never get ahead. In many cities a great lack of a spirit of cooperation can be seen.

Cooperation means working together in order to accomplish some definite aim. Some cities don't seem to understand the meaning of that word. There also seems to be in those cities a lack of understanding between the selling public and the buying public.

The selling public should place every inducement they have before the buying public, and the buying public should show loyalty to the home city by buying at home.

Mavericks Lose Lee Taylor From Team This Year

The season's first shock hit the Eastland Mavericks Friday afternoon with the statement by Lee Taylor to Coach Gibson that Taylor will not be eligible for interscholastic competition this year because of his being a few days past the age limit.

Taylor was captain of the team last year and was one of the best all-around ends in the district and probably the best defensive end. In addition to that he has been a conscientious student in his three years in high school, has held the reputation of being one of the best of the players to train and keep himself physically fit.

He will continue to attend school and expects to graduate this year. He will also keep in training throughout the football season working out with the team in practice scrimmages and will coach the junior players who are coming out for their first year.

In commenting on the loss of Taylor, Coach Gibson said, "Lee is one of the best men I have ever coached, taken from any standpoint. His truthfulness and honesty and evidenced by his voluntarily checking up on his age and then reporting it now so as to save his school the embarrassment of being protested and at the same time keep his coach from building a team with the thought in mind of relying upon him heavily. We naturally hate to lose him, but we appreciate his frank, open and honest attitude in the matter."

Representatives of the chambers of commerce and several citizens of the city and Mr. Ward and Kessler representing the school were present. Enchanted Scenes With the Mauler

THREE men sat at pinocle in the dressing room of a vaudeville theater. They were, respectively, a blackface, a dancer and a clown. The clown's name was William Harrison Dempsey.

He jumped up, as usual, with the old reel he always showed for newspapermen. At his side was Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter and Jack's friend in his fighting days.

Between hands, the ex-mauler freely discussed the book-busting business. He was asked what boxing needed most of all, these days.

Czar? Well, No

"MEN," was his reply. "Some men like Tex and some fighters who are willing to get in there and give the people a run for their money."

"A czar?" asked your correspondent.

"No, I wouldn't say a czar. But some man or men big enough to control the racket by their personalities and strength of character. Somebody the fans felt would give them a square shake."

Doing His Stuff

It was almost time for his act. Out on the stage pictures from some of his great fights were being run. Dempsey walked nervously back and forth in the wings. He did a little shadow-boxing.

The act consisted of a few cracks William Harrison Dempsey made with a strong sports writer from a rural newspaper. The jokes were only fair. There was a jovial reference to "the long count" that the audience seemed to like, and another jibe directed at Jack Sharkey that was applauded.

Some slapstick was provided by Dempsey giving the stooge a playful slap on the back that almost floored the man.

And so back to the pinocle game—and the entertainment of newspapermen. They still crowd the doors to see the Old Mauler, and shake his hand.

Much of the attraction of Dempsey's personality is built up on friendships the old boy refuses to forget. Many of them are expensive loyalties. Dempsey is one of the most "touched" men in public life.

Downs and out characters he used to know "in the days when" continually are coming to him for aid.

Meeting the Girls

THEN, also among his visitors are the ladies. In almost every city, Jack must arrange his schedule so that he can give them an audience and answer their questions.

"Most of the girls I talk to," said Jack, "want me to fight again."

"Would he?"

"Well, let's not go 1610 that right now," was his parting word.

S-Bar Dude Ranch of Eastland County New Institution

Probably the newest recreation resort in Eastland county is the S-Bar Dude Ranch, located 16 miles north of Cisco on the Brock-Enridge highway.

In charge of the ranch is Clarence Keen who comes to Cisco with an experience in horsemanship that dates from babyhood. His people were all ranchmen and his father and mother, Ursi and Maude Keen each held roping championships in New Mexico while an uncle, J. E. Ellison-Carroll, was for many years the champion steer roper of the world. Another uncle, Oval Keen, was for several years manager of the old "69" ranch.

Mrs. Keen is herself a rider and will assist her husband in the management of the S-Bar ranch and in taking care of the guests when this resort is already attracting Mr. Keen's previous experience with ranch life includes service on the LFD, "69," Yellow House, HVN and other ranches. He is an expert roper, rider and voice performer. His father owned several ranches.

He will be on hand at the ranch to load saddle parties through the trails that have been laid out among the hills and canyons of the section and to insure their convenience and comfort. There are 14 horses, well-groomed for general riding. Some saddles, which can be regulated to individual requirements are provided.

In planning the ranch four trails through natural hill scenery, wooded and picturesque, have been laid out. There is a one-hour trail, a two-hour trail, a three-hour trail, and a half day (six-hour) trail. Picnic grounds have been provided together with a barbecue pit and other conveniences for an outdoor setting. The ranch includes a modern home, with running water and all conveniences.

Only 115 acres of the tract are in cultivation. The remainder is wooded and broken into hills and valleys that provides a charming prospect for the rider seeking a topick recreation and an escape from the ordinary routine of life. The ranch is open at all hours. Prices for riding are moderate.

MELLOWED A HUNDRED MILLION YEARS

While Tyrannosaurs stalked their prey in PENNSYLVANIA

NATURE did many useful as well as useless things in prehistoric times. In the Devonian Age, a hundred million years ago, she hid away in the Pennsylvania District the raw materials for the Bradford-Allegheny crude oil which Sinclair now refines into Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil. Then, while these materials were mellowing and filtering their way to the lubricating perfection for which Bradford-Allegheny crude is famous today, she went into an ugly mood and created those frightful brutes, the Tyrannosaurs. Nothing but fossils remain of the Tyrannosaurs today—but Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil, refined 100% from Bradford-Allegheny crude, is known everywhere for its exceptionally high quality. Try a crankcaseful of Sinclair Pennsylvania, made 100% from Pennsylvania's costliest crude.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY, N.R.S. Lima beans come into market in abundance in late August and early September. These beans are a heartier food than the green beans of summer, and, according to the manner of serving, add many calories to the diet. Lima beans are almost four times richer in calories than string beans, but the vitamin content of the green beans is much higher than that of limas. Green beans are classed with the leafy vegetables as a "protective food."

There are several varieties of lima beans, tiny green ones, large green ones, but they must all be gathered for immediate use before the milk becomes firm inside the tender shell-like covering. As the beans ripen, they become harder and difficult to digest and the creamy center becomes dry and unpalatable. No matter how long the beans are cooked, these conditions cannot be altered nor the vegetable improved.

Tomorrow's Menu BREAKFAST Casaba melon, cereal, corn omelet, blueberry muffins, milk, coffee. LUNCHEON Open tomato and bacon sandwiches, minted apples with whipped cream, cookies, milk, tea. DINNER Fried spring chicken, cream gravy, mashed potatoes, lima beans in cream, onion and cucumber salad, peach parfait, coconut macaroons, milk, coffee.

Always cook limas in as little water as possible and cook uncovered. Let the water cook away or use it in the sauce. If you add salt when the beans are put on to cook, there's danger of toughening the covering, but they have a better flavor if the salt is "cooked in" for half the cooking period. Allow thirty to forty minutes for beans to cook and form the habit of shaking the pan in which they are cooking. The fatness of lima beans often causes them to stick to the bottom of the pan and scorch even when there is plenty of water over them. Shaking the pan prevents this without crushing the beans, as stirring would.

their destination. It was also decided that the Nettop group will sell candy on the streets during the days of the fair. A group of mothers will meet with Mrs. Harrell and plan for this venture.

Those attending the meeting were Joanne Johnston, Doris Lawrence, Alice Jones, Katrina Lovelace, Mary Jane Harrell, Ruby Lee Pritchard, Katherine Garrett, Mildred McGlamery, and Edna Clarke, a guest of the group. Pythian Sisters Temple Will Consider Invitation The Pythian Sisters held a pleasant meeting at K. P. hall, Thursday night, with the average attendance, and session opened by Mrs. Abbie Slaughter, most excellent chief. Fine reports of all the work were submitted and a letter received from grand chief, Mrs. Elizabeth Pitts of Dallas was read.

When the real "party" hour came, the children enjoyed the birthday cake in the dining room. A big round cake, white iced, and topped with four pink tapes, set in rosebuds. About the table were scattered silver dishes, holding were sticks of candy and small cakes, that speed the madeira covered surface. Overhead, gay balloons dangled from the chandelier, and swayed about the cake, balloons in all colors of the rainbow. Ice cream was enjoyed with the birthday cake. Little Mary Lou received many lovely gifts from her friends, Betty Brelsford, Julia Brown, Paty Sparks, Betty Cheatham, Sue Bender, Cathleen Collie, Mary Jo Collie; Donald Hudson, Jimmy Armstrong, Harry Porter, Ben Sparks, Come Johnson, and Dick Brogdon. Mrs. Cheatham was assisted by Mrs. James H. Cheatham, Sr., throughout the delightful afternoon.

Delightful Club Meeting. Mrs. Carl Garner Hostess The Clover Leaf club enjoyed a delightful afternoon Thursday at the home of Mrs. Carl Garner on East Sadon street. Hospitality was noted in the pretty arrangements of roses used in decoration on mantel and tables. The two tables employed in bride were occupied by club members only. At close of an interesting game, high score favor an etched wall plaque, was awarded Mrs. Braschier. A delicious 5 o'clock tea plate was served of salad, wafers, olives, potato flakes, and pineapple whip with whipped cream topping, and iced fruited arch. The club will meet two weeks hence with Mrs. M. C. Mays. Those attending; Mrs. J. J. Coffman, Mrs. E. L. Perkins, Mrs. M. C. Haves, Mrs. W. E. Braschier, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mrs. V. A. Camp Fire Girls Will Sell Candy The Nettop group of Camp Fire Girls enjoys their first meeting held at the Junior High school, where the group assembled in Room 4, at 3:25 o'clock and where they were met by their guardian, Mrs. Tom Harrell. The session was opened by Katrina Lovelace, second vice president. Following the roll call, an estimated dinner was held as the weather or not this group would continue their swimming lessons. It was finally decided that following their meeting at 3 p. m., next Friday, the girls will swim in Lake Tramm, Okla., at 4 p. m., for a swim. Cars will be provided to take them to and from sick, to whom 21 visits had been made. Following the business session, the members gathered about the quilting frame, where the quilt pieces were set together. "Will you put that in a letter, please?" The busy executive wants the facts about the proposition but often he hasn't time to listen to the spoken word. So he makes this request of the salesman or informer—"If you will put that in a letter, I can read it when I have more time." The wise manufacturer who has a story to tell knows that it is physically impossible for the merchant or his assistants to tell the facts about his product, even though they knew them all, and even though they were willing to undertake the job. Furthermore, the manufacturer knows that you—the customer—haven't always, time to listen. So the manufacturer puts his story "in a letter"—an advertisement—usually in a series of them, addressed to you, his prospect. As they appear in the daily paper, you can read them at leisure, and make up your mind whether you want the product he describes. Before you go to the store and see the product, you can learn about it in detail. At the store there is no need for prolonged questioning, no need for wasting your valuable time. You know the merits of the article because its producer was smart enough to tell you about them in "his letter" to you. You can judge products better, and save time in the bargain, by reading the advertisements. IMPORTANT When you ask for a product by name, as a result of advertising, do not accept a substitute—substitutes are offered not as a service to you, but for other reasons.
