WHAT IS IT.. and how does it improve cigarette taste?

VOU'VE heard how fruit of one variety has been crossed with fruit of another to produce a new and more pleasing flavor. The loganberry, for example, is a cross between the raspberry and the blackberry.

Chesterfield's Cross-Blend gets the same result-better tasteby a different method.

It welds together the different kinds of several varieties of tobacco. Many types of Bright tobacco, a great many types of Burley tobacco, and numerous grades of Turkish tobacco are all merged into one - Chesterfield tobacco.

This welding or Cross-Blending goes beyond ordinary blending or mixing tobaccos together. It actually makes every kind of tobacco in Chesterfield partake of the qualities of every other type.

It's the Cross-Blending of fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos that gives Chesterfields a distinctive, better taste.

They are milder. They have a flavor and aroma which, we believe, you will like.

Red Gold In Eastland County

By O. FORD, Olden, Texas.

Have you a large backyard, or better still, half an acre or more of ground that is bringing in no revenue? If so, why not try strawberries? Now is the time to set out the plants for next spring's crop. Strawberry culture in East land county is more than a theoretical money maker. It is an actual, proven success. We started three years ago with a few rows planted to the ever bearing variety, planted because we liked strawberries and preferred the fresh, ripe berries to the shipped-in berries which of necessity are picked green and accumulate more or less mold en route.

rieties. We tried three of the varieties suggested for our locality by the department—the Missionary, Klondike and Aroma. We ordered our plants from Arkansas and they came through fresh and in excellent condition. Our ground, which is a medium sandy loam, was prepared and enriched as directed and we set the plants a foot apart in the row in rows three feet apart. We found that as we had been advised by the department, these varieties are adapted to our locality, not requiring a rest period during the winter but g r o w.i n g vigorously straight through and forming fruit buds during the short days of late fall, winter and early spring.

The yield that following spring was abundant and we knew that we would not bother any more with thee ver-bearing varieties. The bearing season on the one crop plants lasted about seven weeks and the yield was so much in excess and the quality of the berries so superior to the everbearing kind, that we decided to do away entirely with our ever bearing berries.

That summer was rather hot and dry. It was necessary at several times to irrigate our strawberry plants. However, the depth suggests that strawberry culture is gests that strawberry culture is practical in our locality, when the plants are set out in the fall and the spring crop is gathered, and the plants are allowed to die down through the hot summer, more plants being set out the following fall. We had arranged an overhead irrigation system over our patch, using half-inch pipe with the spray system of irrigation, water provided from our well nearby.

That fall we had the entire patch completely covered with plants and it was necessary to thin them out to rows again. Our neighbors and friends were glad to get the plants and that fall

We carried on an extensive correspondence with the agricultural department, both in Washington and here in Texas, and obtained many valuable booklets and much practical information on strawberries, and the kinds suited to our particular soil and climate.

The following fall, in early October, we put in a much larger patch of the spring bearing varieties. We tried three of the varieties. We tried three of the varieties suggested for our locality
