Early Unofficial Vote Favors Mrs. Ferguson

PIPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

By BILL MAYES

We got more comments on the knothole column of Sunday than we have in many a day, and all of them were favorable, the other coming from one who gripes about writing, he can find to grip about and then, when things are pointed to him, admits he spoke for his stopped to think. As first we couldn't remember what we had written, so we had to find out why all the comment, centered around the item we had about Charles Green of Sweetwater pointing out that, according to comparative scores the Ferguson team was at least a free lunchman better team than Sweetwater team, or something of the kind. Like the story out the man marrying a widow and finally proving that he is his own grandmother. We say it is too old to repeat, in a column like this.

STUART ERBING CRO

The Nov. 11 game of last year, when Cleveland led the half by 13 to 0, was a real thriller. But we came back to tie the score the last few minutes and threatened to win, was one of the classic football games, as far as real football is concerned, we have in ages. But we imagine that are going to be more real thrillers Friday than there was last Monday. Day, though there may be quite as many thrills. There didn't be.

The Mavericks have more reverse-material than do the Bulldogs, and it is likely that more of them will see service than for the other team, which will keep a string of men on the field toward the last stages of the game, while the starting lineup for Rangers usually has to play practically an entire game, as they did against Abilene, when there was a substitution.

Small Towns To Hear Masterpieces

By United Press. CHICAGO.—Masterpieces of Beethoven, Mozart and Stravinsky will be introduced to many music-loving small towns this season by the subscription plan of the National Civic Music Association. Many of the small towns in the state have organized their own Civic Music Association, and are signing their intention of making the orchestra, including Dayton and Toledo among the cities. With fund guaranteed by the subscription plan of a community, more than 250 local towns will have their own music without worries or expenses. Gantz can bring his 25-piece orchestra to a series of appearances in the state. Gantz will appear as soloist and conductor. He has played in New York and other leading

TWO COUNTIES HAVE PARTIAL RETURNS IN

Candidates Running Even in Fort Worth in Early Count.

By United Press. HOUSTON, Nov. 8.—Incomplete returns from 90 precincts in Harris county, most populous county in Texas, today gave: For President—Hoover, 1,416; Roosevelt, 8,265. Governor—Bullington, 3,686; Ferguson, 6,997.

By United Press. EL PASO, Nov. 8.—Incomplete returns from 44 out of 51 precincts in El Paso county this afternoon gave: For President—Roosevelt, 1,357; Hoover, 320. For Governor—Ferguson, 993; Bullington, 642.

By United Press. DALLAS, Nov. 8.—Unofficial returns this afternoon showed Bullington leading Mrs. Ferguson narrowly and Roosevelt far ahead. Only about 50 per cent of the voters in Dallas county were marking the constitutional amendments.

By United Press. DALLAS, Nov. 8.—Crisp fall weather greeted Texans today as they tramped to the polls in what may be a record balloting.

By United Press. DALLAS, Nov. 8.—Crisp fall weather greeted Texans today as they tramped to the polls in what may be a record balloting. The weather man said the day would be clear throughout Texas and that the north which swept off snow-covered middle-western plains would, nevertheless, keep the temperature above the freezing mark. Early unofficial reports from the largest Texas cities gave Roosevelt an 8 to 1 lead over President Hoover. Unofficial returns from Fort Worth indicated Mrs. Miaman A. Ferguson and Orville Bullington, candidates for governor, were running an even race.

Famous "Lost" Gold Mine Is Found

By United Press. WORLAND, Wyo.—Two Worland men believe they may have rediscovered the celebrated Lost Cabin mine, one of the most famous "lost" gold mines in the history of the West.

M. C. Burt and M. R. Newinger while hunting in the Tenseen Mountains found evidences of old gold mining activity. The tale of the Lost Cabin mine dates back to 1864 when two men whose names have long since been forgotten appeared at Fort Laramie with $7,000 in dust and nuggets and related how they had found an enormously rich deposit. Two years later they announced their intention to go back to the mine. They disappeared and were never seen again.

Since that time there has been almost a constant search by prospectors for the mine, but it never has been rediscovered. The Times circulation, drive is meeting with much success. The following names have either been renewed on the circulation books or have been added in the past week: T. D. (High) Collins, Roy Speed, S. C. Mahoney, C. R. Byars, C. G. Russell, H. L. Barkin, W. O. Cox, Dee Long, Mrs. Alderson, C. W. Donley, A. A. Doyle, J. W. Carver, W. W. Carlin, Mrs. Roy Earnest, Sarah P. Johnston, J. W. Hooks, Mrs. Murie, Mr. McNabb, J. O. Calvert, Bill Lawson, F. D. Townsend, Everett Smith, B. A. Benton, Mrs. W. M. Nichols.

The Times is proud of its circulation. The Times gives the news day by day as it happens. The Times maintains a payroll of approximately $2,500 a month in the city. The Times boasts every worthy enterprise starting in the city. There is no substitute for circulation.

Duce Decries Debts

Black-shirted Benito Mussolini was talking about war debts, especially the ones owed to America, when he was snapped in this vigorous pose during a speech before 150,000 Fascists at Turin. The Italian Premier urged the importance of debt cancellation by the U. S.

Baptist Workers Conference Will Meet In Ranger

The workers conference of the Ciesco Baptist association will be held in Ranger on Wednesday of this week at the Central Baptist church. The conference was originally scheduled for today, but was postponed until tomorrow.

Merchants Asked To Cooperate In Getting In Copy

The merchants of Ranger are requested to cooperate with the Times in turning in their advertising copy for Friday's paper as early as possible on Thursday. The truck will leave early Friday morning for Strawn, Mingis, Thurber, Gordon, Granttown, Ida and Eastland, delivering copies of the paper over a radius of approximately 50 miles. In addition, the entire city of Ranger will be covered, just as it is on every Sunday morning and Staff, Gorman, Deedemona and other towns in the trade territory will be reached by the rural carriers.

The Eastland football game Friday will draw a large crowd to Ranger. The Times has broadcast news of this game over the territory. The rodeo on Saturday and Sunday will bring other large crowds to the city. The news of the rodeo has also been carried in the paper and people will come to town from long distances. The Times circulation, drive is meeting with much success. The following names have either been renewed on the circulation books or have been added in the past week: T. D. (High) Collins, Roy Speed, S. C. Mahoney, C. R. Byars, C. G. Russell, H. L. Barkin, W. O. Cox, Dee Long, Mrs. Alderson, C. W. Donley, A. A. Doyle, J. W. Carver, W. W. ### Bethany Has Free Football Games

By United Press. BETHANY, W. Va.—Hard times have nobody away from Bethany College athletic contests this year. The Bethany athletic department announced at the beginning of the football season that no admission charges would be made at Bethany's home games. The result has been record-breaking crowds at all of Bethany's games.

The proposal to admit spectators "free" was made by Dr. W. H. Bramblet, school treasurer, who conceived it as a means of advertising Bethany to more outsiders. He said the school had been losing money on athletic contests anyway. The Bethany board of control will meet again in December to determine if the same policy shall be observed during the basketball season.

Rancher Is Gored By An Angered Cow

By United Press. BIG SPRING, Nov. 8.—J. H. Fippett, prominent West Texas rancher, rushed here by airplane yesterday, is in a critical condition at a hospital, suffering from injuries received when he was gored by an angered cow.

FERGUSON IS STILL VEXED AT DAN MOODY

By United Press. AUSTIN, Nov. 8.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson today charged former Governor Dan Moody with "political cowardice" and with "holding the door open" so that he can later claim he did not vote for the republican candidate for governor. Moody had said he would vote for Roosevelt and Garner but would not vote to put "Jim Ferguson" in power. "I am not a candidate," said Ferguson today. "Why doesn't he say whether he will vote for my wife or if he will vote for Bullington?" Ferguson then charged newspaper men at Austin with "protecting" former Governor Moody. "If that had been me the newspapers would have insisted that I say directly what I meant," Ferguson declared.

Bullington Says He Is Sure To Win

By United Press. WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 8.—Orville Bullington, republican nominee for governor, will vote this afternoon. He was busy throughout the earlier part of the day catching up on correspondence and other work at his law office. "I am confident of a big majority and not worried in the least about the outcome of the election," he said.

Memphis Leads As A Mule Market

By United Press. MEMPHIS, Nov. 8.—Stockmen declare Memphis has passed St. Louis and Kansas City as a mule market. "Mule town," where the center of the mule market is held, is located at the west end of McLemore Street and consists of more than two solid blocks of huge brick barns on both sides of the street. Nearly everybody on the streets of "mule town" carries a whip or a stick. Monday and Tuesday are auction days and then the little town is astir as the animals are sold on the block.

The number of mules sold here annually depends, of course, upon business and farm conditions. The range is from 20,000 to 60,000. Average price of a mule is from $45 to $70. The mule season opens in September, and during the harvest months, fall off in the winter, comes back strong in the spring when planting begins, and ends June 1. Mules to be sold are shipped Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Illinois.

Ranger Elks To Have Open House At Election Party

The Ranger Elks Club will hold open house tonight at which time an entertainment program with local talent dancing, singing and an orchestra will be featured, along with election returns from over the nation and state. One of the features of the program will be the electrical transcription of an address by the Grand Exalted Ruler of Elks, which is short, but which will be of interest to all. The public is cordially invited to be present as guests of the Elks.

Garner Votes Early, Then Goes Fishing

By United Press. UVALDE, Texas, Nov. 8.—John Nance Garner, democratic vice-presidential candidate, cast ballot No. 3 here today, walking from his home one mile to the courthouse. Garner was unaccompanied. He marked his ballot in less than five minutes and went immediately, presumably to arrange a fishing trip on which he is expected to leave later today.

AUSTIN—Bids received for construction of Austin bayou bridge.

Burlap Motif In Dime Frock

A couple of burlap sacks, a little yellow dye, some braid and nimble fingers and presto—a new frock. Helen Carson of Wichita, Kan., heard about various kinds of inexpensive frocks and decided on the burlap outfit which cost her a total of 10 cents and a little time. Here she is, wearing her burlap ensemble.

A POINT OF ORDER HALTS OIL ACTION

AUSTIN, Nov. 8.—A point of order today halted progress on the bill before the Texas legislature to limit oil production to market demand. The bill had been reported favorably by the house committee. A motion to consider it was blocked by Representative C. E. Farmer of Fort Worth. He declared house rules require bills to be on the desks of members for 24 hours before action. Farmer pointed out that the bill is a substitute for the one originally offered and demanded time to study it. The point of order was sustained.

An effort to pass a resolution for final adjournment Friday was also blocked and the house adjourned to Wednesday shortly before noon. No senate session was held.

Ranger Scouts To Meet on Thursday

B. S. Lemma, scoutmaster of Troop 10, Boy Scouts of Ranger, announced today that the regular meeting of the troop, which is scheduled for Friday night, Nov. 11, would be held on Thursday night, Nov. 10. This change in date is for this week only and was made because of the fact that Nov. 11 is a holiday and many of the members of the troop might have other things they wish to do. All members of troop 10 have been urged to remember the change in date and to be present on Thursday night, Nov. 10 at 7 o'clock at the Masonic hall.

Guard Officers To Meet In Abilene

A national guard officers' conference will be held at the Wooten hotel in Abilene on Saturday, Nov. 12, with officers from all over the state taking part. Captain Wayne C. Hickey of Ranger, Lieut. Lenon Bethel of Ranger and Lieut. Joe Kraemer of Eastland, all officers in Company I, 142nd Infantry, are expected to make the trip to Abilene to attend the meeting. After the conference, which is to be held in the afternoon, a banquet will be held at the hotel at 7:30 that night.

PROGRAM FOR RODEO IS NOW COMPLETED

At a meeting of the rodeo committee of the Carl Barnes post of the American Legion, of which Sig Faircloth is general chairman and W. N. McDonald is co-chairman, plans for the two-day rodeo to be held in Ranger on Nov. 12 and 13 were discussed. The program was worked out for the two days, and includes many novelty numbers that should appeal to the fans, in addition to the regular rodeo features. The program will start at 2 o'clock each afternoon with goat roping contests. It is expected that this feature will take approximately 45 minutes. After the goat roping a specialty will be presented, followed by the calf roping, steer riding and another specialty. A barrel race will be staged, in which five or six barrels are placed at one end of the field and the riders must ride down the field, circle each barrel and return to the starting point. The one making the best time without knocking over a barrel will be the winner. A wild cow milking contest will be staged, but it will be different from some. A team will consist of two men, one to be the "mugger" and the other the milker. The mugger will catch a cow, which will have a short rope around her neck, and hold her while his teammate milks her and returns to the starting point with the milk. Following the cow milking will be another specialty number that has been worked out for the entertainment of the rodeo fans. An old clothes race will then be staged. The riders will be placed at one end of the field and an equal number of bundles of clothing placed at the other. The rider must ride down the field, untie his bundle and put on whatever clothing he finds and ride back to the starting point. Various kinds of clothing will be in the bundles, which will add much to the attraction. A "Hoot Gibson" polo match will be played, in which the contestants will use brooms, with the straw cut off at the braided section, for mallets. The ball will be a large inflated rubber ball and cowponies will be used in the contest. Following the polo game a broncho riding contest will be staged, followed by the grand finale. A big parade will be held on Saturday from 12 to 12:30, in which all the entries in the rodeo will take part. One of the features of the rodeo will be John Lindsey, famous rodeo clown, who has appeared in most of the largest rodeos in the state. Lindsey is one of the outstanding figures in rodeo circles and he will add much to the amusement of the crowd with his trick mule. He will perform throughout the day and between events.

Horsewhipped By Students

In a street fight C. K. Secret, above, of Madison, Wis., is reported to have broken the nose of Frank Lloyd Wright, famed architect. Shortly thereafter four students at Wright's trade and craft school at Taliesin, Wis., drove to Secret's home and horsewhipped him until he drove them off with a butcher knife. The students were arrested and pleaded guilty.

Horace Oldham Is High At Eastland Gun Club Shoot

Horace Oldham turned in the high rifle score at the American Legion Gun club yesterday afternoon. Shooting off hand at 100 yards he turned in nine direct hits out of ten tries on the buck deer target. Many hunters were there trying out their deer rifles in preparation for the hunting season that opens Nov. 16th. W. J. Peters stated that his deer targets are getting pretty well shot up but he could patch them up for some more shoot. He invites all interested to come out next Sunday afternoon as it will be the last shoot of the year. The range will then be closed until next spring. Rifle scores are as follows: Horace Oldham 43x50 Jim Horton 40x50 Russ Perrine 35x50 Roy Horton 33x50 Roy Welch 30x50 Joe Goffman 25x50 K. B. Tanner 23x50 Horace Oldham 23x50 W. J. ### Two Are Sought In Attempt to Blow Up Hoover Train

By United Press. ELKA, Nev., Nov. 8.—In the rough, sparsely settled country of Nevada, authorities today sought two men who were believed to have planned to dynamite a Southern Pacific trestle a short time before the special train bearing President Hoover passed over the bridge. P. E. Fish, special railroad guard posted at the trestle, reported the men fled when he engaged them in a gun battle in which he received a flesh wound in the hand. He found 22 sticks of dynamite after the men escaped, he said.

Eastland Red Cross Distributes Cloth

The Eastland Chamber of Commerce rooms housed a miscellaneous gathering of men and women Monday afternoon, applicants for the materials being issued by the local Red Cross. Two dresses for children were made and 229 yards of material given out. Helpers Monday afternoon were Mrs. D. E. Sloan and Mrs. Fred Hale. A much larger corps of assistants is needed, Mrs. Stalter was notified.

BOTH PARTIES CONFIDENT OF EASY VICTORY

By United Press. FORT WORTH, Nov. 8.—President Hoover held a slight lead over his Democratic opponent in one of the 100th voting precincts in Tarrant county this afternoon. In Precinct 86, near the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Hoover was leading along with Orville Bullington. All other polling places gave Roosevelt and Garner huge leads.

First Small-Town Boxes Go To Roosevelt Over Hoover

By United Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt held a lead over President Hoover today in the first scattered returns from the Eastern, Southern and Mid-Western States. The southern returns gave the Democratic candidate the greater part of his lead, but he also appeared to be running strongly in Kansas.

WILL L. CLAYTON GIVES EXPERT TESTIMONY

William L. Clayton of Houston is one of the most prominent figures in the cotton world. He summed up the application of the Burlington-Rock Island railroad for a readjustment of rates on uncompressed cotton shipped to Gulf ports. He supported vigorously the proposed change against contentions of interior compress, warehouse and other interests that the alteration would ruin the structure of the inland market setup. He asserted the proposed new rate would change the compress business from a sort of monopoly to open competition between the interior and Gulf ports to the ultimate advantage of the grower. He expressed his belief that interior compresses would be on a par with those at the ports if the application was granted. He said his firm had been forced into the trucking business to meet the rates, plus compression charges now in effect on the railroad, but it was his opinion "trucking was unsafe and full of annoyances" and his firm, with other cotton merchants, would prefer to carry cotton by rail. Clayton is one of the best informed men in the cotton industry. He is one of the wisest. He knows the cotton business from A to Z. All this is not an argument for the rate or for any rate, but it is a tribute to the ability and the knowledge and the integrity of the man.

A TEXAS DEMOCRAT SENDS IN $10,000

Mgr. Roy Miller reports that a Texas democrat, name unknown to the public, contributed $10,000 to the state quota of $150,000 and that the same person had previously given $2500. He withheld the name of the donor. That man must be a real democrat; he must have real money in his bank or in his deposit vault. He came across in the pick of time. Now vote for the Centennial amendment and remind Col. Wilbur C. Hawks of Amarillo that the Kansas viewpoint on Texas shrines is not acceptable to the people of Texas who know that Sam Houston won at San Jacinto and added a vast territory reaching from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific ocean to the republic of George Washington. All the people who vote should cast ballots for the adoption of the centennial amendment.

"WHEREVER THERE IS OIL, THERE IS HELL"

"Wherever there is oil, there is hell" was a verdict returned in the long ago by an American prospector under the skies of Mexico. Well, petroleum has been responsible for a lot of hell-raising the world over ever since. Not petroleum, but the conditions which appear to surround the development of oil fields and the remarkable evolution of this gigantic industry. Now the guardsmen and the rangers are in the East Texas fields. Court decisions are the order of the day. All the master minds, as well as the lesser minds, appear to be up in the air. Petroleum production is a great copy maker. Ida Tarbell, a famous woman writer, invaded the field decades ago and lesser lights in the literary and newspaper world have been kept busy writing ever since.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

Economists and statesmen who have pronounced upon economic subjects can only receive in silence the allegation that as a whole they have preached differing and confusing doctrines. To educated people who combine with an ability to understand the openness of mind by which understanding is possible, a general trend of truth has nevertheless been discernible and fairly easy to pick out from the super-abundance of information and advice.

With all knowledge of the limitations of economists and the undoubted fact that their prognostications have been and are still being proved wrong, the principal obstacle in the path of world economic reform is not the failure of information on the subject of either cause or effect, but rather unreadiness of an unprepared and insufficiently-instructed public, in all countries, to believe what is the nearest approach to the whole truth attainable.

The broad truth, without going into financial, technical and administrative detail, as to the world's economic ills, is told with regularity but, to a great extent, it is a matter of bringing the righteous to repentance. The sinners keep outside the audiences of the better economists and, what is worse, not only do they fail to take note of the facts, but, by their preconceived notions, often held with much heat and passion, they bully their own public men into remaining silent on points which should be made, and acquiescent in matters they know to be wrong.

Lady Astor Back

Gay as ever and bubbling over with comment on current affairs, Lady Nancy Astor, the American who became the first woman member of the English parliament, is shown as she arrived in New York en route to her old home in Virginia for a visit. Of her 14-year-old Jackie (John Jacob Astor), her youngest child, who remained in England, she said: "You would think he was brought up in the gutter. I'm proud of him."

Wyoming Crops Will Be Greater Than In 1931

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—The 1932 harvest in Wyoming will be heavier than that of 1931. The total acreage planted to crops and the average yield an acre are expected to be larger than last year, according to preliminary estimates made by A. J. King, state-federal statistician. Exact calculations of Wyoming's total crop acreage and production will not be made until answers have been received from approximately 20,000 inquiries to farmers throughout the state. Then thousands of inquiries have been distributed along the rural mail routes of the state through co-operation with the Postal Department and an additional 10,000 have been sent out on a special list. When all of the replies have been returned, officials of the Wyoming division of the U. S. Bureau of Crops and Livestock Estimates will check the lists against each other and against information gathered from additional sources. The total acreage harvested last year declined from 2,657,000 acres in 1930 to 1,798,800. The sharp decline last year was due principally to the extended dry spell throughout the state. This year conditions generally are better, although southeastern and parts of northeastern Wyoming have received little rain. The abandonment of crop last year took place principally in the grain acreage. This year the only extensive abandonment was reported in the potato acreage due to blight. Producer Daniel Frohman urges that everybody write a play. But it seems that lately everybody has been writing a play, and the same one at that—about gangsters.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

IT IS A VERY UNUSUAL OCCURRENCE FOR RAIN TO FALL IN EVERY STATE IN THE UNION ON THE SAME DAY. THIS IS BELIEVED TO HAVE HAPPENED ON JANUARY 14, 1930. BEARS GET A NEW SET OF SHOES EVERY SPRING WHEN BRUIN COMES OUT OF HIS WINTER HIBERNATION, A THICK SOLE PEELS FROM THE FEET, AND A NEW, SOFT, RUBBERY LAYER IS EXPOSED. A LOAF OF BREAD DOES NOT CONTINUE TO INCREASE IN TEMPERATURE AS IT BAKES. IT HEATS RAPIDLY AT FIRST, AND THEN REMAINS AT AN EVEN TEMPERATURE.

"IT'S MURDER"

LINDA AVERILL was sure her cousin had been murdered. What happened when she tried to learn the truth about his strange death is told in the exciting new serial, "Week-End Murder."

Smaller Colleges Are Benefitted By Recent Depression

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the way Texas youth and its parents have of late pinched pocket-books in obtaining college education during the depression. It expands the rather obvious reason for previously outlined increased enrollment at smaller institutions.

By SAM D. HALES, United Press Staff Correspondent. DALLAS—Lower attendance charges or lower local living costs prevail at all of a dozen Texas colleges, both state and denominational, where enrollment is greater than last year.

Some of the institutions reported both items of expense lower than last year and all had a remarkably high percentage of working students a survey of the United Press revealed. This high percentage would indicate, if nothing else did, that student bodies are made up mostly of home-town boys and girls.

Parents and students are taking advantage of the lower costs at home colleges and the opportunity for part-time work to help pay the bills. Rural youths have found methods—some new and novel—to make their way. Cost of transportation to and from school and for holiday excursions is less at nearby schools.

At San Angelo, room and board at the junior college costs one-fourth less than last year; boys' clothing costs 35 per cent less and that of co-eds 40 per cent less. Board at Lamar college, Beaumont, costs 30 per cent less than in 1931, clothing 10 per cent and books, 5 per cent less.

At Wichita Falls junior college, tuition is 16 per cent less than last year. Half the student body has part time work.

Howard Payne college students at Brownwood are paying this year 30 per cent less for room and board, 25 per cent less for football tickets and 35 per cent less for books and clothing. One hundred of the 534 enrolled found part time work.

Texas Technological college, state school at Lubbock, has 750 working students in an enrollment approximating 1,900. Fees and board are about the same as at the University of Texas or A. & M. college, but transportation costs to and from the Panhandle South Plains are considerable items.

At Abilene Christian college, tuition, board and room cost only $334.50 this year—a 10 per cent reduction from last year; the enrollment increased 100. Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, where costs were unchanged from last year's $506, lost 125 students. Two state junior agricultural colleges made gains this fall while the four-year A. & M. college lost 145 students.

John Tarleton Agricultural college, Stephenville, gained 96 students, or about 12 per cent. Board, room and books cost an average of 10 per cent less than last year. Three hundred of the 869 students have part time work.

North Texas Agricultural college, Arlington, has a 20 per cent greater student body than last year, with a 25 per cent larger freshman class.

Other schools reporting larger enrollment included Texas College of Arts and Industries, Texarkana Junior College, Baylor at Belton and McCurry college, Abilene. They reported lower costs of tuition or other items averaging 10 per cent.

Bing! Kate! Vince! Arthur! Fame Was a They Just Clicked

Found One profession which does not demand years of sacrifice before it condescends to confer success upon its neophytes!

That profession is radio, and the discovery was made as a result of a survey of the various roads to fame followed by the royalty of the air assembled for featured roles in Paramount's "The Big Broadcast," which comes to the Arcadia Theatre today.

Take, for example, Bing Crosby, who with Stuart Erwin, Lella Hymas and Sharon Lynne of the films, heads the cast of the picture. Few have equalled Crosby's popularity on the air, and yet, far from fighting for his place of eminence, he was invited to it. His career as an entertainer began while he was still a college student, and he gave up the idea of law, quit college and joined an orchestra.

Kate Smith passed the "mike fright" period with small local broadcasts. One day, while making records at the Columbia Phonograph company, she met her present manager. Four weeks later, she was put into the seven o'clock spot—the preferred hour on the program.

The Hoswell Sisters began their radio careers as the winner of a contest sponsored by the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Their triumphal journey to greater success in Chicago ended in bitter disappointment. They did, however, get a vaudeville engagement which took them westward. In Los Angeles, they had their first chance at a big network.

Cab Calloway, who is featured, along with his band, in "The Big Broadcast," did his first radio work as announcer for WSBC, Chicago.

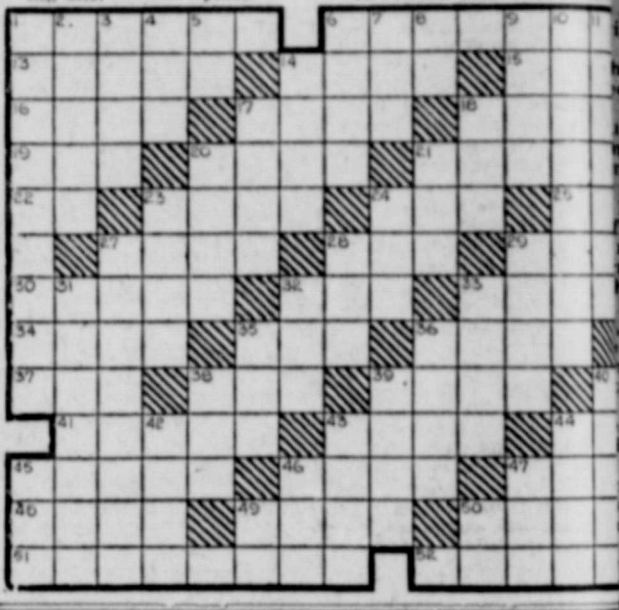

The Mills Brothers agree that no one could have had an easier time reaching the top. A Cincinnati orchestra leader was accorded a radio audition, and took the Mills boys along to help put over his orchestra. The station turned down the orchestra, but took the Mills.

A mild sort of siege was required before one of the studios first recognized Arthur Tracy (The Street Singer.) At least officials let him fill in open time, and in no time at all, he became a regular feature.

Vincent Lopez has been a consistent air headliner for the last nine years. Known the world over for his "Lopez speaking," he confessed recently the real origin of the phrase. It was due, he says, entirely to "mike fright." For on the day nine years ago, when he faced his first microphone, he couldn't think of anything else to say or do.

Burns and Allen, the president of the radio station and the reception clerk in "The Big Broadcast," made their radio debut in London.

Not for one of them was the road to the heights particularly thorny. Stuart Erwin and the other movie favorites who appear with the radio stars in "The Big Broadcast" can each show a much harder struggle toward success.

Brewing Company In Fuel Business

By United Press. CARSON CITY, Nev.—The Carson Brewing Company, once wholesale producers of real beer, has entered the fuel business and inserts advertisements in the local newspapers reading:

"Cold weather is coming. Buy your wood and coal from the Carson Brewing Company." Meantime preparations have been made to re-enter the real beer business at a moment's notice if manufacture of it is legalized.

They've Never Tasted a Ton

THESE are not patent medicine children. Their appetite never coaxes. Their tongues are never coated, cheeks never pale. And their bowels move just like clockwork, because they have never been given a habit-forming laxative. You can have children like this—and be as healthy yourself—if you follow the advice of a famous family physician. Stimulate the vital organs. The strongest of them need help at times. If they don't get it, they grow sluggish. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin is a mild, safe stimulant. When a youngster doesn't do well at school, it may be the liver that's lary. Often the bowels hold enough poisonous waste to dull the senses! A spoonful of delicious syrup pepsin once or twice a week will protect your family from bilious days, frequent colds and coughs. Keep a bottle of medicine chest instead of that so often bringing constipation. Dr. Caldwell's pepsin can always be relied upon to give sluggish bowels a cleansing, with none of the gripping or burning found in other laxatives. It isn't expensive.

THE WORLD'S HARDEST JOB - TODAY'S PRIZE

MAN-KILLING TASKS AWAIT THE WINNER AT POLLS

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The toughest job in the world the presidency of the United States. The man chosen to be the leader of 120,000,000 Americans faces a job that is almost literally a man-killer. Yet no man offered a chance at the job ever has turned it down.

Even aside from paralyzing responsibility for the welfare of 120,000,000 people, aside from urgent problems of day, the mere routine of the presidency has piled up to a point where just going through the motions makes the president one of the hardest-working men in the world.

to great industrial corporation and saddle its head with the tens of millions of the back of president. Imagine President on Taylor of U. S. Steel personally signing requisitions for pencils, or President Alfred of General Motors personally entertaining in his office a G-M stockholder who happened to come to Detroit.

to meet that is the kind of service to expect from the president of the United States, who is head of the biggest business than either, a new spending between four and five billions a year and ending around a million people in and military branches.

But in the kind of business we set our president to run today, very different it is from the one George Washington knew, there were five federal departments with fewer than 200 employees.

1,900,000 Laws to Enforce of course, Washington was, and man we elect today will be, to enforce the laws. But

Washington did not have 1,900,000 laws to enforce. Today we have and thousands on thousands each year.

and the president's duties are daily increasing. He not only the regular constitutional of enforcing the laws, compelling the army and navy, making treaties and appointments, one of which is a huge responsibility. But Congress may, does, create new commissions bureaus responsible to him, add to the burden. Merely these executive commissions bureaus, and their officers some 60 pages in the Congressional Directory; the Veterans Bureau, Shipping Board, Alcoholic Beverage, Custodian, Tariff Commission, Budget Bureau, Railroad Administration, Interstate Commerce Commission, and the which are responsible directly to the executive. All the regular departments make regular reports to him, too, but through his officers have access to

to the schedule of appointments which is placed before him morning, postponing out of a minute of his working day, must be available to 435 representatives and 96 senators at any time.

must personally sign in a as many as 50,000 commissions and nominations for post-offices; he often signs 150 memos a day in addition to personal mail, which may run into the thousands.

SPORTS ODDITIES - - By Laufer

erved that it is becoming literally a killing job. The first six presidents averaged 79.6 years of life, the next 10 68.5, and the most recent 10 61.9 years. Yet the life span in general is lengthening. Roosevelt, despite his strenuous vitality, died at 61.

A Killing Job
The presidency undoubtedly killed Wilson and Harding before their times. Coolidge got out unscathed, but did not choose to run again. President Hoover, by dint of having three secretaries and an administrative assistant, has stood up extraordinarily well.

As far back as Roosevelt, proposals were made for a sort of assistant president, who should take much of this routine off the president's mind, leaving him free for more thorough consideration of the real problems of state.

The intrusion of small details into the presidential mind even at the most critical times is illustrated by a story of Lincoln. It is said that a friend came upon him in the White House one day in one of the dark periods of the Civil War when reverse after reverse was striking the northern armies. Touched, the friend said, "I wish I could relieve you of your burdens, Mr. President. The news from the northern armies is most discouraging."

"I am not thinking just now of the northern armies," replied the president with his sad, whimsical smile. "I am wondering whom I shall appoint as postmaster at Shelbyville, Ky."

HERE--- AND THERE

By ELVIE H. JACKSON

She was just a cunning little year-old, yellow-haired girl, singing a careless leg in a blue overall, and with an unbuttoned blouse, gaping for want of a steener.

"I'm helping the man put leaves in the tub," she called, as she sang carelessly into the big tin, and down, and patted the pile of leaves with a grubby little hand.

The man raking the yard looked at her with a grin. "I see you're helping him, but I'm afraid you'll shirk your share." "Oh, no," cried the little girl, "I ain't got a button on 'cause I've got a new other, and they ain't got no time to pay 'tention to me."

An air of bravado sat wickedly on her little yellow head, but her eyes had a wistful look. Children observe things more keenly than grown-ups realize.

In a recent story, carried, of a meeting of a little church society, in which one small girl's name was accidentally omitted, a child stepped up to one of the members, and said, "Ain't I big enough to be put in with the other children? I didn't see my name on the paper." She couldn't read.

Two little boys in the neighborhood are working silently and strenuously, hours at a time, in a family garage loft, on miniature airplanes, which they now are almost completed. They were enthusiasts that they invited opinion of Agnes Harwood, an expert in aviation, and their heroine in their boyish scheme.

Our aviator's decision must have been favorable, for Gilbert Clark

CHAPTER XLVIII

THERE was no holding Dona the next day. She insisted upon being taken to Stan Hall's side just as soon as possible. Asper and the doctor delayed as long as they dared and finally gave in, after breakfast.

Asper carried Dona into the sick room and set her chair beside Stan's bed. The young adventurer was asleep but he was pale and his face had lost much of its strength.

The doctor left the room quietly and Asper followed. Dona sat looking down at the man she had so nearly killed. Her gaze may have carried a message or he may not have been so soundly asleep as he seemed. At any rate, his eyes opened and he looked up at her.

She smiled and murmured softly. "I came to see if there was anything you wanted." Stan surveyed the pillows propped behind her and a grin spread over his face. "Your father says I get what I want around here. Do it," he asked by way of greeting.

"I'll be nice to you, too. That's what I came to see about. You might want something special that I could fix." Dona suddenly decided that she was getting into a dangerous corner.

"Soup is all the doc will let me have. You might fix me a steak and some baked potatoes and pie." His eyes were twinkling.

"See your young fire eater?" she asked. "Yes, thank you," Dona smiled down upon her parent.

Asper looked at her for a long minute, then shook a heavy finger. "Now look here, young lady, none of your woman's wiles with Stan. I'm making him timber boss of this cutting, and I don't want to have him ruined."

Dona settled back and smiled into the night. Malloy was a real friend, one she could call on again for anything she needed that he might have. Her thoughts were with Stan a second later. She had seen little of him alone. He had been on the porch and in the office of her father but the main building was now a beehive of activity and they had not had a chance to be alone.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

This column is used as a feature and should not be construed as representing the editorial views of the paper. The expressions contained in the column are the views of one individual and do not reflect the policy of the paper.

It is almost over! Soon there will be nothing else to talk about, and we'll all sit around inserting proud thumbs beneath our respective suspenders or moaning sadly about what might have been. Yes, the mud-slinging and sarcasm will be made into oblivion, and America will find herself possessing a first gentleman of the land, and making plans for your years to come.

Well, I'm glad, aren't you? The subject of politics is quite interesting until you have your first nervous breakdown over it all. After that it becomes monotonous.

There is something definitely sad in the severing of relationships. To walk again some old familiar path and fail to see a kindly smile or feel the touch of a friendly hand is to experience that more lonely of all emotions.

Have faith in yourself. Do not be afraid someone will say you are egotistical and self-satisfied. If you do not boost yourself you need not expect the world to step in and drink a toast to you. It just doesn't play that way: the other fellow is too busy mixing his own toast. Success is the ultimate result of hope, self-confidence, and work. No man who chants an eternal theme song of "I can't," if ever he worthy the admiration of a worm. This thing we term inferiority complex is not only a treacherous mental condition, but it has the tendency to detract from one's physical well-being, too. I have seen people actually drop from nervousness resulting from a sort of fear of others.

Economy and The Disabled War Veterans

By D. W. JOHNSON

Assistant Executive Committee member, Department of Texas, American Legion

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles written by members of the American Legion in an effort to aid those who were disabled in the World War and who have no means of making a living for themselves. These articles are being prepared from time to time by members of the Legion and may not necessarily be the views of this paper.

The word "economy," seeming to prevail above all others at this writing, the National Economy League performed a master stroke when it adopted this word in its title.

The writer presumes that most everyone is familiar with the title, "National Economy League," but feels that everyone is not familiar with its purposes and objectives. Its guiding members number among the foremost citizens of the nation and names that are on every tongue. Its purpose, if the title means anything at all, is to economize on federal expenditures. Up to the present writing no effort has been made by the league to effect reduced expenditures in federal government except to attack and deliver body blows to the veterans of all wars, hence, entre, "The American Legion."

The American Legion exists solely for the purpose of aiding the disabled veteran. For no other purpose do they defend them at this time than to see that all veterans are given a fair hearing before the jury of all the people and that both sides of the story shall be written. It is a self-evident that the subsidized press of the east does not intend to present the veterans' side in this controversy and with the aid of millions of dollars behind them it is no little wonder that they are able to present propaganda that would in time convince the public that an enormous steal has been perpetrated on the American people.

Ranger High School Notes

JEWELLE JUDD, Editor

Larry Fischer Addresses High School Student Body. Larry Fischer was a visitor in Ranger high school Monday afternoon and this morning. Mr. Fischer delivered a splendid address, choosing as his subject "German Schools."

This talk given in the form of an informal speech, emphasized the valuable facts made interesting and outstanding. His pleasing and smooth manner added much to this interesting talk.

Mr. Fischer presented several piano numbers which, like his talk were received enthusiastically by the students and faculty members.

Advisories Meet. All high school advisories met today at 2 o'clock in their respective rooms.

Pep Meeting Today. A meeting of the high school pep squad was held today at 3:30. The pep squad is now working on a formation for the Eastland-Ranger game.

"Nature in the Raw" is seldom MILD

THE PILGRIM'S FIRST WINTER
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Herbert Rose, celebrated painter... inspired by the bitter hardships endured by America's first settlers in their conflict with raw, wild nature in 1620. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"

That package of mild Luckies

The world's greatest optimist has been discovered. He is that Nebraskan who set himself up in business with a miniature golf course.

Early Rush Indicates Large Vote

Early Unofficial Vote Favors Mrs. Ferguson

WE got more comments on the whole column of Sunday than have in many a day, and all were favorable, the other coming from one who gripes about what he can find to grip about and then, when things are said to him, admits he spoke as he felt.

At first we couldn't remember what we had written, so we had to find out why all the comment centered around the item we wrote about Charles Green of Sweetwater, who, according to the comparative scores, the Sweetwater team was at least a touchdown better team than Sweetwater team, or some of the kind. Like the story at the man marrying a widow his father marrying her daughter and finally proving that he was her grandfather. We let the story go, and way it is too old to repeat, in a column like this.

One man did jump on us for saying that Breckenridge had a chance of winning the district. He said, and a good chance he had at it, and found the Bull-terrier, in fact everyone but the Bull-terrier, and it would be possible for them to tie for the championship, we suppose, though that was an idea of nothing to worry about.

Now we are worrying about whether we are or not the Bull-terrier can defeat the Mavericks. Yes, yes, some say so, some say no, and some just shake their heads in a puzzled way. It is a puzzle, but we are not worried about it. We are worried about the Bull-terrier, or what we want to call it, and the Bull-terrier going on their paces. The gate was closed, but we sneaked in behind J. Smith before we could get in. We stood around and chattered, but didn't find anything to worry us any more or anything to cheer us up and anyway wind was getting cold and so we went home.

At Mavericks, according to our best information we have had through the medium of our ears and hearsay, are all peopled up to defeat the Bulldogs and to be one of the tightest in the district on Nov. 11. The Mavericks always play at the top of their game, and are being either Ranger or Cisco, since they can't play Cisco this year they are sure to be at the top Friday afternoon from 4-7, or thereabouts.

Mr. May, I name of last year, in Cisco, led the district with a score of 13 to 0 and the Bulls came back to tie the score in just few minutes and threatened to win, was one of the classic football games, as far as real is concerned, we have in our minds. With the more real ball Friday that there was last week, though there may be quite as many thrills. There is no doubt.

The Mavericks have more real material than do the Bulls. With the more real ball Friday that there was last week, though there may be quite as many thrills. There is no doubt.

The Mavericks have more real material than do the Bulls. With the more real ball Friday that there was last week, though there may be quite as many thrills. There is no doubt.

TWO COUNTIES HAVE PARTIAL RETURNS IN

Candidates Running Even In Fort Worth In Early Count.

By United Press.

HOUSTON, Nov. 8.—Incomplete returns from 90 precincts in Harris county, most populous county in Texas, today gave:

For President—Hoover, 1,416; Roosevelt, 8,265.

Governor—Bullington, 3,686; Ferguson, 6,097.

By United Press.

EL PASO, Nov. 8.—Incomplete returns from 44 out of 51 precincts in El Paso county this afternoon gave:

For President—Roosevelt, 1,357; Hoover, 320.

For Governor—Ferguson, 993; Bullington, 642.

By United Press.

DALLAS, Nov. 8.—Unofficial returns this afternoon showed Bullington leading Mrs. Ferguson narrowly and Roosevelt far ahead. Only about 50 per cent of the voters in Dallas county were marking the constitutional amendments.

By United Press.

DALLAS, Nov. 8.—Crisp fall weather greeted Texans today as they tramped to the polls in what may be a record balloting.

The weather man said the day would be clear throughout Texas and that the northern which swept off snow-covered middle-western plains would, nevertheless, keep the temperature above the freezing mark.

Early unofficial reports from the largest Texas cities gave Roosevelt an 8 to 1 lead over President Hoover.

Unofficial returns from Fort Worth indicated Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and Bullington, candidates for governor, were running an even race.

From Harris county, came reports that incomplete counts gave Mrs. Ferguson an early lead.

At Austin Mrs. Ferguson received the reports with smiles. "Everything looks fine," she remarked. "Just fine."

She and James E. Ferguson, her husband and former governor, will walk to a grocery store a few blocks from their home and cast their ballots this afternoon. Former Governor Dan Moody also will vote at the same box.

Duce Decries Debts

Black-shirted Benito Mussolini was talking about war debts, especially the ones owed to America, when he was snapped in this vigorous pose during a speech before 150,000 Fascists at Turin. The Italian Premier urged the importance of debt cancellation by the U. S.

FERGUSON IS STILL VEXED AT DAN MOODY

By United Press.

AUSTIN, Nov. 8.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson today charged former Governor Dan Moody with "political cowardice" and with "holding the door open" so that he can later claim he did not vote for the republican candidate for governor.

Moody had said he would vote for Roosevelt and Garner but would not vote to put "Jim Ferguson" in power.

"I am not a candidate," said Ferguson today. "Why doesn't he say whether he will vote for my wife or if he will vote for Bullington?"

Ferguson then charged newspaper men at Austin with "protecting" former Governor Moody. "If that had been me the newspapers would have insisted that I say directly what I meant," Ferguson declared.

PROGRAM FOR RODEO IS NOW COMPLETED

At a meeting of the rodeo committee of the Carl Barnes post of the American Legion, of which Sig Faincloth is general chairman and W. N. McDonald is co-chairman, plans for the two-day rodeo to be held in Ranger on Nov. 12 and 13 were discussed.

The program was worked out for the two days, and includes many novelty numbers that should appeal to the fans, in addition to the regular rodeo features.

The program will start at 2 o'clock each afternoon with goat roping contests. It is expected that this feature will take approximately 45 minutes.

After the goat roping a specialty will be presented, followed by the calf roping, steer riding and another specialty.

A barrel race will be staged, in which five or six barrels are placed at one end of the field and the riders must ride down the field, circle each barrel and return to the starting point. The one making the best time without knocking over a barrel will be the winner.

A wild cow milking contest will be staged, but it will be different from some. A team will consist of two men, one to be the "mugger" and the other the milker. The mugger will catch a cow, which will have a short rope around her neck, and hold her while his teammate milks her and returns to the starting point with the milk.

Following the cow milking will be another specialty number that has been worked out for the entertainment of the rodeo fans.

An old clothes race will then be staged. The riders will be placed at one end of the field and an equal number of bundles of clothing placed at the other. The rider must ride down the field, untie his bundle and put on whatever clothing he finds and ride back to the starting point. Various kinds of clothing will be in the bundles, which will add much to the attraction.

A "Hoot Gibson" polo match will be played, in which the contestants will use brooms, with the straw cut off at the bristled section, for mallets. The ball will be a large inflated rubber ball and cowponies will be used in the contest.

Following the polo game a broncho riding contest will be staged, followed by the grand finale.

A big parade will be held on Saturday from 12 to 12:30, in which all the entries in the rodeo will take part.

One of the features of the rodeo will be John Lindsey, famous rodeo clown, who has appeared in most of the largest rodeos in the state. Lindsey is one of the outstanding figures in rodeo circles and he will add much to the amusement of the crowd with his trick mule. He will perform throughout the day and between events.

Horsewhipped By Students

In a street fight C. K. Secret, shoe, of Madison, Wis., is reported to have broken the nose of Frank Lloyd Wright, famed architect. Shortly thereafter four students at Wright's trade and craft school at Taliesin, Wis., drove to Secret's home and horsewhipped him until he drove them off with a butcher knife. The students were arrested and pleaded guilty.

BOTH PARTIES CONFIDENT OF EASY VICTORY

Fort Worth, Nov. 8.—President Hoover held a slight lead over his Democratic opponent in one of the 106th voting precincts in Tarrant county this afternoon.

By United Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt held a lead over President Hoover today in the first scattered returns from the Eastern, Southern and Mid-Western States.

The southern returns gave the Democratic candidate the greater part of his lead, but he also appeared to be running strongly in Kansas.

By United Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—An early rush to the polls was reported from throughout the country today, indicating that more than 40,000,000 voters may be cast in the momentous presidential election.

President Hoover, racing toward his California home, expected to arrive in Palo Alto late today to cast his ballot.

Governor Roosevelt cast his ballot in the little yellow frame booth at Hyde Park this afternoon.

The decision may be known before midnight, although there is some chance of delay because of the unusually heavy vote expected.

Within a few hours the results in the most vigorously fought presidential campaign in years will be revealed through returns trickling in from 123,000 election districts throughout the country.

The thunder of campaign guns of both republican and democratic parties died away only at midnight.

While election was in previous years had found most candidates resting from their campaigns, this year Mr. Hoover addressed the nation from the little town of Elko, Nev., and Governor Roosevelt spoke to the country from Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The president urged the electorate to face the facts "through eyes uncolored by political interests" and to trust in the leadership of the republican party.

The governor, in a brief address, pledged that "with your help and your patience and your generous good will we will do what we can to mend the torn fabric of our common life."

Although Roosevelt was a heavy favorite in early returns the republican management refused to concede the possibility of "his election, having their optimism on what they termed "a turn of the tide" toward Mr. Hoover.

Famous "Lost" Gold Mine Is Found

By United Press.

WORLD, Wyo.—Two World men believe they may have re-discovered the celebrated Lost Cabin mine one of the most famous "lost" gold mines in the history of the West.

M. C. Bart and M. R. Newinger while hunting in the Tensile Mountains found evidences of old gold mining activity.

The tale of the Lost Cabin mine dates back to 1864 when two men whose names have long since been forgotten appeared at Fort Laramie with $7,000 in dust and nuggets and related how they had found an enormously rich deposit. Two years later they announced their intention to go back to the mine. They disappeared and were never seen again.

Since that time there has been almost a constant search by prospectors for the mine, but it never has been re-discovered.

Baptist Workers Conference Will Meet In Ranger

The workers conference of the Cisco Baptist association will be held in Ranger on Wednesday of this week at the Central Baptist church.

The conference was originally scheduled for today, but was postponed until tomorrow.

The general subject of the conference will be "God's Plan for Man is Promoting Christ's Kingdom."

The conference will open at 10 o'clock in the morning with lunch at 12:15, a board meeting at 1:30 and the W. M. U. program at the same time.

Every president and chairman of a committee is requested to be present.

SCREAMS SCARE THIEVES.

FALL RIVER, Mass.—Eudolph Udovick's practice of sewing his money in his pockets en route home from his variety store at night saved him $100 when thieves seized him recently. His screams drove them away before they could get at the cash.

Memphis Leads As A Mule Market

By United Press.

MEMPHIS.—Memphis now claims to be the world's largest mule market.

Stockmen declare Memphis has passed St. Louis and Kansas City as a mule market.

"Mule town," where the center of the mule market is held, is located at the west end of McLemore Street and consists of more than 100 solid blocks of huge brick barns on both sides of the street.

Nearly everybody on the streets of "mule town" carries a whip or a stick. Monday and Tuesday are auction days and then the little town is alive as the animals are sold on the block.

The number of mules sold here annually depends, of course, upon business and farm conditions. The range is from 30,000 to 60,000. Average price of a mule is from $65 to $70.

Each season opens in September, is brisk during the harvest months, falls off in the winter, comes back strong in the spring when planting begins, and ends June 1.

Mules to be sold are shipped Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Illinois.

A POINT OF ORDER HALTS OIL ACTION

By United Press.

AUSTIN, Nov. 8.—A point of order today halted progress of the bill before the Texas legislature to limit oil production to market demand. The bill had been reported favorably by the house committee.

A motion to consider it was blocked by Representative C. E. Farmer of Fort Worth. He declared house rules require bills to be on the desks of members for 24 hours before action.

Farmer pointed out that the bill is a substitute for the one originally offered and demanded time to study it. The point of order was sustained.

An effort to pass a resolution for final adjournment Friday was also blocked and the house adjourned to Wednesday shortly before noon. No senate session was held.

Ranger Elks To Have Open House At Election Party

The Ranger Elks Club will hold open house tonight at which time an entertainment program with local talent dancing, singing and an orchestra will be featured, along with election returns from over the nation and state.

One of the features of the program will be the electrical transcription of an address by the Grand Exalted Ruler of Elks, which is short, but which will be of interest to all.

The public is cordially invited to be present as guests of the Elks.

Two Are Sought In Attempt to Blow Up Hoover Train

By United Press.

ELKA, Nev., Nov. 8.—In the rough, sparsely settled country of Nevada, authorities today sought two men who were believed to have planned to dynamite a Southern Pacific trestle a short time before the special train bearing President Hoover passed over the bridge.

P. E. Fish, special railroad guard posted at the trestle, reported the men fled when he engaged them in a gun battle in which he received a flesh wound in the hand. He found 22 sticks of dynamite after the men escaped, he said.

Hens Eat 20 Times Weight In Food

By United Press.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Hens participating in the first annual state egg-laying contest consumed 20 times their own weight in food during the ten-month contest period, the State Agriculture Department reported.

Departmental statisticians estimated that the average cost of feeding the hens was 9.2 cents for each dozen of eggs produced.

The hens consumed 10 tons of laying mash, 18 tons of scratch grain, nine tons of fleshing mash, two tons of oyster shells, several thousand heads of cabbage, 92 gallons of cod liver oil, and one-half ton of grit.

HELENA, Mont.—Organizations throughout Lewis and Clark county have been formed to distribute surplus crops produced on local ranches to the unemployed and destitute. Poultry and eggs also will be available to those without food or money, it was said.

Bethany Has Free Football Games

By United Press.

BETHANY, W. Va.—Hard times will keep nobody away from Bethany College athletic contests this year.

The Bethany athletic department announced at the beginning of the football season that no admission charges would be made at Bethany's home games. The result has been record-breaking crowds at all of Bethany's games.

The proposal to admit spectators "free" was made by Dr. W. H. Gramble, school treasurer, who conceived it as a means of advertising Bethany to more outsiders. He said the school had been losing money on athletic contests anyway.

The Bethany board of control will meet again in December to determine if the same policy shall be observed during the basketball season.

Guard Officers To Meet In Abilene

By United Press.

A national guard officers' conference will be held at the Wooten hotel in Abilene on Saturday, Nov. 12, with officers from all over the state taking part.

Captain Wayne C. Hickey of Ranger, Lieut. Lenson Bethel of Ranger and Lieut. Joe Krueger of Eastland, all officers in Company I, 142nd Infantry, are expected to make the trip to Abilene to attend the meeting.

After the conference, which is to be held in the afternoon, a banquet will be held at the hotel at 7:30 that night.

Eastland Red Cross Distributes Cloth

The Eastland Chamber of Commerce rooms housed a miscellaneous gathering of men and women Monday afternoon, applicants for the materials being issued by the local Red Cross.

Two dresses for children were made and 229 yards of material given out.

Helpers Monday afternoon were Mrs. D. E. Sloan and Mrs. Fred Hale. A much larger corps of assistants is needed, Mrs. Stalter stated.

WILL L. CLAYTON GIVES EXPERT TESTIMONY

William L. Clayton of Houston is one of the most prominent figures in the cotton world. He summed up the application of the Burlington-Rock Island railroad for a readjustment of rates on uncompacted cotton shipped to Gulf ports. He supported vigorously the proposed change against contentions of interior compress, warehouse and other interests that the alteration would ruin the structure of the inland market setup.

A TEXAS DEMOCRAT SENDS IN $10,000

Mgr. Roy Miller reports that a Texas democrat, name unknown to the public, contributed $10,000 to the state quota of $150,000 and that the same person had previously given $2500. He withheld the name of the donor. That man must be a real democrat; he must have real money in his bank or in his deposit vault.

Not petroleum, but the conditions which appear to surround the development of oil fields and the remarkable evolution of this gigantic industry.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

Economists and statesmen who have pronounced upon economic subjects can only receive in silence the allegation that as a whole they have preached differing and confusing doctrines. To educated people who combine with an ability to understand the openness of mind by which understanding is possible, a general trend of truth has nevertheless been discernible and fairly easy to pick out from the super-abundance of information and advice.

With all knowledge of the limitations of economists and the undoubted fact that their prognostications have been and are still being proved wrong, the principal obstacle in the path of world economic reform is not the failure of information on the subject of either cause or effect, but rather unreadiness of an unprepared and insufficiently instructed public, in all countries, to believe what is the nearest approach to the whole truth attainable.

The broad truth, without going into financial, technical and administrative detail, as to the world's economic ills, is told with regularity but, to a great extent, it is a matter of bringing the righteous to repentance. The sinners keep outside the audiences of the better economists and, what is worse, not only do they fail to take note of the facts, but, by their preconceived notions, often held with much heat and passion, they bully their own public men into remaining silent on points which should be made, and acquiescent in matters they know to be wrong.

Wyoming Crops Will Be Greater Than In 1931

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—The 1932 harvest in Wyoming will be heavier than that of 1931.

The total acreage planted to crops and the average yield an acre are expected to be larger than last year, according to preliminary estimates made by A. J. King, state-federal statistician.

Exact calculations of Wyoming's total crop acreage and production will not be made until answers have been received from approximately 20,000 inquiries to farmers throughout the state.

Then thousand inquiries have been distributed along the rural mail routes of the state through co-operation with the Postal Department and an additional 10,000 have been sent out on a special list.

When all of the replies have been returned, officials of the Wyoming division of the U. S. Bureau of Crops and Livestock Estimates will check the lists against each other and against information gathered from additional sources.

The total acreage harvested last year declined from 2,957,000 acres in 1930 to 1,798,800.

The sharp decline last year was due principally to the extended dry spell throughout the state. This year conditions generally are better, although southeastern and parts of northeastern Wyoming have received little rain.

The abandonment of crop last year took place principally in the grain acreage. This year the only extensive abandonment was reported in the potato acreage due to blight.

Smaller Colleges Are Benefitted By Recent Depression

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the way Texas youth and its parents have offset pinched pocketbooks in obtaining college education during the depression. It expands the rather obvious reason for previously outlined increased enrollment at smaller institutions.

By SAM D. HALES, United Press Staff Correspondent. DALLAS.—Lower attendance charges or lower local living costs prevail at all of a dozen Texas colleges, both state and denominational, where enrollment is greater than last year.

Some of the institutions reported both items of expense lower than last year and all had a remarkably high percentage of working students a survey of the United Press revealed. This high percentage would indicate, if nothing else did, that student bodies are made up mostly of home-town boys and girls.

Parents and students are taking advantage of the lower costs at home colleges and the opportunity for part-time work to help pay the bills. Rural youths have found methods—some new and novel—to make their way. Cost of transportation to and from school and for holiday excursions is less at nearby schools.

As for other costs, here are some examples: At San Angelo, room and board at the junior college costs one-fourth less than last year; boys' clothing costs 35 per cent less and that of co-eds 40 per cent less.

Board at Lamar college, Beaumont, costs 20 per cent less than in 1931, clothing 10 per cent and books, 5 per cent less. At Wichita Falls junior college, tuition is 16 per cent less than last year. Half the student body has part time work.

Howard Payne college students at Brownwood are paying this year 30 per cent less for room and board, 25 per cent less for football tickets and 35 per cent less for books and clothing. One hundred of the 534 enrolled found part time work.

Texas Technological college, state school at Lubbock, has 750 working students in an enrollment approximating 1,900. Fees and board are about the same as at the University of Texas or A. & M. college, but transportation costs to and from the Panhandle South Plains are considerable items.

At Abilene Christian college, tuition, board and room cost only $314.50 this year—a 10 per cent reduction from last year; the enrollment increased 100. Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, where costs were unchanged from last year's $506, lost 125 students.

Two state junior agricultural colleges made gains this fall while the four-year A. & M. college lost 145 students.

John Tarleton Agricultural college, Stephenville, gained 96 students, or about 12 per cent. Board, room and books cost an average of 10 per cent less than last year. Three hundred of the 869 students have part time work.

North Texas Agricultural college, Arlington, has a 20 per cent greater student body than last year, with a 25 per cent larger freshman class.

Other schools reporting larger enrollment included Texas College of Arts and Industries, Texarkana Junior College, Baylor at Abilene and McCurry college, Abilene. They reported lower costs of tuition or other items averaging 10 per cent.

Bing! Kate! Vince! Arthur! Fame Was a They Just Clicked

Found One profession which does not demand years of sacrifice before it condescends to confer success upon its neophytes!

That profession is radio, and the discovery was made as a result of a survey of the various roads to fame followed by the royalty of the air assembled for featured roles in Paramount's "The Big Broadcast," which comes to the Arcadia Theatre today.

Take, for example, Bing Crosby, who with Stuart Erwin, Leila Hymas and Sharon Lynne of the films, heads the cast of the picture. Few have equalled Crosby's popularity on the air, and yet, far from fighting for his place of eminence, he was invited to it. His career as an entertainer began while he was still a college student, and he gave up the idea of law, quit college and joined an orchestra.

Kate Smith passed the "mike fright" period with small local broadcasts. One day, while making records at the Columbia Phonograph company, she met her present manager. Four weeks later, she was put into the seven o'clock spot—the preferred hour on the program.

The Boswell Sisters began their radio careers as the winner of a contest sponsored by the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

THE WORLD'S HARDEST JOB - TODAY'S PRIZE

AN KILLING TASKS AWAIT THE WINNER AT POLLS

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The toughest job in the world is the presidency of the United States. The man chosen to be the leader of 120,000,000 Americans faces a job which is almost literally a man-killer. Yet no man offered a chance at the job ever has turned it down.

Men aside from paralyzing responsibility for the welfare of 120,000,000 people, aside from urgent problems of the day, the mere routine of the presidency has piled up to a mountain where just going through the motions makes the president one of the hardest-working men in the world.

He is required by law to counteract the wills of Indians, who are not citizens, but wards of the nation. Until the administration of President Coolidge every federal land grant had to carry his signature. Coolidge balked on this, and empowered Mrs. Vile B. Pugh of the Land Grant office to sign his name on these.

The president must preside over cabinet meetings, regularly, and hear reports regularly from these officers, and the heads of the executive bureaus and commissions. Then there are little matters like reviewing troops, laying cornerstones, unveiling monuments, joining lodges, opening conventions, pushing buttons, posing for pictures with delegations, tap dancers, opera singers, or anybody else an enterprising press agent leads to the White House door.

The American president has no Prince of Wales to attend to these matters. Of course he doesn't have to write speeches for such of these affairs as require them. But he has to read them. That is enough.

Distribution of patronage and appointment of thousands of minor officials district his mind. Thoughts of reelection or at least of the continuance of his party in power, are always in the background, fences to mend, insurgents to placate, leadership in an often hostile Congress to be maintained.

Socially the president is spared much; he needn't accept invitations. But he must personally receive all foreign envoys and give at least four formal receptions at the White House each year, shaking hands through a long, dull evening with thousands of people.

Even in his daily routine he is not spared from this. Every visitor to Washington wants to meet and shake hands with the president. So at noon there is usually a little informal reception when visitors file through the executive offices and grasp the president's hand, sometimes as many as 400 of them.

The people furnish the president a house to live in, but they retain the right to tramp through a great part of it at certain hours. Even when he seeks relaxation he is not alone, for the Secret Service, charged with his safety, has always from three to a dozen men at his heels. President Roosevelt chafed at this constant guard, but the memory of Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley keeps the Secret Service vigilant. Roosevelt himself was shot once by an assassin, following which he never escaped his Secret Service men again, nor has any president since. The president gets about as much privacy as a canary, and about as much relaxation as a clock spring.

SPORTS ODDITIES - - By Laufer

...served that it is becoming literally a killing job. The first six presidents averaged 79.6 years of life, the next 10 68.5, and the most recent 10 61.9 years. Yet the life span in general is lengthening. Roosevelt, despite his strenuous vitality, died at 61.

A Killing Job
The presidency undoubtedly killed Wilson and Harding before their times. Coolidge got out unscathed, but "did not choose to run" again. President Hoover, by dint of having three secretaries and an administrative assistant, has stood up extraordinarily well.

And No Privacy
The intrusion of small details into the presidential mind even at the most critical times is illustrated by a story of Lincoln. It is said that a friend came upon him in the White House one day in one of the dark periods of the Civil War when reverse after reverse was striking the northern armies. Touched, the friend said, "I wish I could relieve you of your burdens. Mr. President. The news from the northern armies is most discouraging."

PROSECUTOR STRIKES

King of Gem Thieves Recaptured

Though dying his hair red, growing a moustache and wearing shell-rimmed glasses enabled Arthur Barry to play hide-and-seek with the police for more than three years, the notorious jewel thief—whose loot is said to total about $2,000,000—is shown here (center) in the hands of the law again. Two Newark, N. J., detectives, Howard A. Fallon (left) and Frank Carr, are seen grilling Barry after his capture in a farm house near Sparta, N. J. Barry, who, with three companions, shot his way out of the Auburn, N. Y., prison in 1929, has denied having any connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

The city which does not seek something better than it now has is going to lose out.

PLANES START FOR BRAZIL
By United Press
SEATTLE—The last of 14 Boeing Airplane company pursuit planes has been sent via New York to Brazil, for use in the Brazilian army. It was part of a $1,500,000 order for planes, engines and propellers called for in contracts negotiated by United Aircraft and Transport Corporation and the governments of Brazil and Peru.

CALL of the WEST

BY R. G. MONTGOMERY

CHAPTER XLVIII THERE was no holding Dona the next day. She insisted upon being taken to Stan Hall's side just as soon as possible. Asper and the doctor delayed as long as they dared and finally gave in, after breakfast. Asper carried Dona into the sick room and set her chair before Stan's bed. The young adventurer was alone but he stirred as she bent toward him. He was pale and his face had lost much of its strength but he was the same Stan Hall. It seemed his lips were ready to smile at any moment. The doctor left the room noiselessly and Asper followed. Dona sat looking down at the man she had so nearly killed. Her gaze may have carried a message or he may not have been as soundly asleep as he seemed. At any rate, his eyes opened and he looked up at her. She smiled and murmured softly. "I came to see if there was anything you wanted." Stan surveyed the pillows propped behind her and a grin spread over his face. "Your father says I get what I want around here. Do I?" he asked by way of greeting. His voice was weak, but he was as sure of himself as he had ever been. Dona blushed. "I am sure he will do a lot for you," she said. "And you?" He was still holding her with his grave eyes. "I'll be nice to you, too. That's what I came to see about. You might want something special that I could fix." Dona suddenly decided that she was getting into a dangerous corner. "Soup is all the doc will let me have. You might fix me a steak and some baked potatoes and a pie." His eyes were twinkling. "You shall have your steak and baked potatoes and pie," Dona promised. SHE was wondering if he knew about Dudley. "And if winter comes?" Stan paraphrased the title of a book he had seen her reading on one of his

This column is used as a feature and should not be construed as representing the editorial views of the paper. The expressions contained in the column are the views of one individual and do not reflect the policy of the paper.

It is almost over! Soon there will be nothing else to talk about, and we'll all sit around inserting proud thumbs beneath our respective suspenders or moaning sadly about what might have been. Yes, the mud-slinging and sarcasm will be made into oblivion, and America will find herself possessing a first gentleman of the land, and making plans for your years to come.

There is something definitely sad in the severing of relationships which aren't yours. The subject of politics is quite interesting until you have your first nervous breakdown over it. After that it becomes monotonous. What a break for the weather, bringing it into the limelight of conversation again. At that, it is just about as uncertain as the election. No wonder the world is a bundle of nerves. There isn't a thing to depend on.

The word "economy," seeming to prevail above all others at this writing, the National Economy League performed a master stroke when it adopted this word in its title.

The writer presumes that most everyone is familiar with the title, "National Economy League," but feels that everyone is not familiar with its purposes and objectives. Its guiding member number among the foremost citizens of the nation and names that are on every tongue. Its purpose, if the title means anything at all, is to economize on federal expenditures. Up to the present writing no effort has been made by the league to effect reduced expenditures in federal government except to attack and deliver body blows to the veterans of all wars, hence, entre, "The American Legion."

The American Legion exists solely for the purpose of aiding the disabled veteran. For no other purpose do they defend them at this time than to see that all veterans are given a fair hearing before the jury of all the people and that both sides of the story shall be written. It is a self-evident fact that the subsidized press of the east does not intend to present the veterans' side in this controversy and with the aid of millions of dollars behind them it is no little wonder that they are able to present propaganda that would in some measure convince the public that an enormous steal has been perpetrated on the American people.

It is not the purpose of the Legion to defend unjustifiable inequalities of veterans' legislation nor is it their purpose to defend deliberate false claims of veterans such as has been exposed recently within the veterans' administration. The defense maintained in the past and to be doubly so in the future lies in honest effort to procure and maintain legislation beneficial to all veterans with equal consideration of the burdens of the people.

The National Economy League through its speaker, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, in a recent address stated flatly that the main burden of the "small taxpayer" today was the part that present benefits of veterans played in national expenditures. This particular statement shall be dealt with in a succeeding article and shall be exposed as a flagrant misquoting of the truth. These state-

"HAD CONSTIPATION SINCE BIRTH OF MY FIRST CHILD" Then Mrs. King Discovered ALL-BRAN We quote from her voluntary letter: "I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child—9 years ago! I have tried everything and nothing had any lasting results. Very reluctantly I tried your 'ALL-BRAN' with no faith in it at all. Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN, 4 months ago."—Mrs. Doris Eyre King, 16 Abbey Road, Oxford, England.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the Intestines; vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Certainly this is more natural than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoonsful daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red and green packages. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Lone Star Ladies Club To Entertain With Party

Members of the Lone Star Club, composed of a group of ladies, will entertain with one of the largest parties of the week, when they compliment members and their families with a "tacky" party to be held at the American Legion clubrooms, Wednesday evening at 7:30.
According to the announcement and invitations, those attending without "tacky" costume will be subject to a fine.
This affair promises a very happy evening for all and every detail has been carefully taken into consideration to make it a success.

"Nature in the Raw" is seldom MILD

THE PILGRIM'S FIRST WINTER
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Herbert Ross, celebrated painter... inspired by the bitter hardships endured by America's first settlers in their conflict with raw wild nature (1620). "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"

That package of mild Luckies
