Party for Presbyterian Children Tonight.

A social for all of the members of the Sunday school class of the Presbyterian church will be given by the teachers of the Sunday school in the church classroom, tomorrow, Friday, night at 7 o'clock.

Music and games, with refreshments, will form the order of the evening's entertainment, to which every member of the Sunday school is invited by the acting hostesses, Mmes. C. W. Geus, Hubert Jones, and J. J. Tabeiman.

A Delightful Evening. The recently organized Sunday school class among the personnel of high school boys and girls, of the Methodist church, held their first party Thursday night, at the home of their class teacher, Mrs. J. E. Hickman, who was assisted in entertaining by the class co-hostess, Miss Ellen Francis.

The spacious Hickman home was thrown open to the young people who enjoyed a delightful evening. Bouquets of marigolds suggested the color note of entertainment.

The tea table was centered with a rustic scene in which the turkeys were made of pine cones. Six tables were employed in the turkey game, and tables were small paper sacks which held the cranberry awarded for each progression of players.

At close of game a table favor of jars of cranberry jelly was awarded the boy or girl whose bag contained the most berries.

Refreshments of sandwiches, potato flakes, cakes and hot chocolate were served the berry winners, Misses Hazel Harrell, Eloise Light; Jack Collins, Billy Doss, Richard White, John Hart, and others attending. Misses Lahoma Turner, Mac Taylor, Audrey Brauner, Doris Van Green, Wilma Zoe Winters, Faye Tucker, Frances Harrell, Doris Field, Mary Frances Hunter, Ellen Francis; Albert Martin, Russell Sanderson, Billy Satterwhite, Wendell Seibert, Carroll Allison, Douglas Collins, Don Mayes, Hiram Childress; Mrs.

B. E. McGlamery, and Mrs. J. E. Hickman.

Rebekah Lodge Important Meeting. The Rebekah lodge had an important business meeting followed by a buffet supper, Thursday night, with session conducted by their noble grand, Miss Dorothy Watson.

Mrs. Charles Seed was brought into membership by reinstatement. Other business included the nomination of officers, the first of three such nominations. The election is held on the third nomination at the first meeting of the lodge in December.

Names submitted at this session were Mrs. Blanche Nicols for noble grand; Mrs. Erma Parker, vice noble grand; Miss Opal Hunt, secretary; Mrs. Stella Lou Harwick, and Miss Estelle Davenport, nominated for treasurer; Mrs. Cassie Pearson, Mrs. W. C. Marlow, nominated for lodge deputy.

A buffet supper of chicken, and all accessories, salad, cake and coffee was served from a table centered with chrysanthemums, to Misses Watson, Davenport, Pauline Cook, Opal Hunt, and Mmes. Blanche Nicols, Mona Lynch, Stella Lou Harwick, Mattie Butler, Cassie Pearson, Lola Raines, Don Parker, Charles Seed, and Tom Daniels.

As next Thursday is Thanksgiving the lodge will recess until the following Thursday.

Mrs. W. S. Poe Hostess Thursday Bridge Club. The delightful home of Mrs. Galand Poe was opened to the Thursday Card club entertained by Mrs. W. S. Poe, when four tables were arranged for bridge, and the entire home was charmingly decorated with sweetpeas and other fragrant flowers.

At close of an interesting game, a dainty salad plate with second course of coffee and cakes was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Galand Poe.

Favors for high club and guests scores, cut-work kerchiefs, were awarded Mrs. Allen D. Dabney and Mrs. Joe H. Jones. Others attending were club members, Mmes. George A. Davison, W. E. Chaney, E. Roy Townsend, John M. Mouser, Oscar Chastant, and other guests, Mmes. Otis Harvey, W. H. McDonald, A. H. Johnson, Alex Clarke, F. M. Kenny, D. L. Kinnaird, M. McCarty, Milton Lawrence, and Galand Poe.

Chanyata Group. The Chanyata group of Camp Fire Girls cancelled their meeting Thursday and will announce date of next meeting later, as Thanksgiving falls on their regular meeting date.

Mr. and Mrs. Britain Tendered Many Farewell Parties. Eastland friends sincerely regret the moving of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Britain from Eastland, who have located in Kerrville, to make their home. Both young people were prominent in church and business circles, and the social life in the seven years of their Eastland residence.

Mr. Britain was associated with the Muirhead Motor company and Mrs. Britain was a popular employee of the Texas Electric Service company. Their connection with the Methodist church of this city was of a most happy nature. Many friends expressed their appreciation of these fine young people, and regret over their departure and entertained in various ways for them as an revoir.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hayes of Cisco entertained for them with a 6 o'clock dinner, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Elliott of Eastland with another charming dinner party when guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hayes of Cisco, Mr. and Mrs. Doby Sangierford of Covington, Ky., Mrs. F. A. Crowe of Fort Worth, Miss Elizabeth Jacobs, Will and Buster Elliott of Eastland. Mr. and Mrs. James Graham were numbered among the host and hostesses honoring the Britains.

'Other Woman' Named by Star

Miss Betty Hill, above, was named as "the other woman" in Eleanor Boardman's suit for divorce against King Vidor, movie director. Miss Hill, who worked as a script girl with Vidor, denies charges of the actress.

SPEAKING OF THE DEAN LAW AND ITS FUTURE

Ninety-eight members of the incoming Texas legislature are classified as newcomers under the big dome. There is a Dean law, the most drastic statute of its kind in the South or the Southwest. Senator Gus Russek of Schulenburg is a holdover statesman. His first bill of the regular session in January will call for the repeal of the bone-dry Dean law. This is the Russek viewpoint: "Repeal of the Dean statute would be in accord with the ultimate action of the repeal democratic congress sure to submit repeal of the 18th amendment and modify the Volstead act as the party platform demands." Texas has constitutional prohibition. Many states have repealed their state enforcement acts. It is said by those who claim to know that the new house of the Texas legislature will contain a majority of repealers and that a majority of the senate will declare for repeal. All this is dealing with futures. It is useless to count chickens before the eggs are hatched out.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

Gault MacGowan, managing editor of the Trinidad Guardian, Port-of-Spain (B. W. L.), Says:
"The more I see of advertising the more I am convinced that we know nothing about it.
We built up a world boom by advertising luxuries we could do without; then when the luxuries were doing all the business there was a slump in primary commodities. Naturally and logically. Everyone was buying luxuries and was learning to do without primary products.
The girls smoked cigarettes instead of eating sugar candy and chocolate; they gave up bread for rusks; they began to use artificial silk instead of wool and cotton and flannel; we use electricity instead of coal; we learned to eat canned goods instead of village produce. Thousands of people acquired a taste for canned milk instead of fresh.
What did primary products do? Instead of advertising their way to success too, they cried overproduction. Overproduction is only a child's way of saying 'no buyers.'
Look around and see who advertises least. It is the producer of primary products every time. They got the idea that they were indispensable and when they found they were not, they sat down and wept instead of taking a course in salesmanship.
Fortunes used to be made out of land and farming. The farmer was the one-man shop in the one-horse town. Everybody had to go to him or starve. Nowadays instead of going to the farmer it is easier to buy canned food; luxuries advertised by middlemen or importers. The farmer sits around and wonders where his customers have gone.
We can do without bread, cocoa, sugar, potatoes and practically all the fresh produce there is. But the producers 'kid' themselves that we can't. They blame economics and overproduction for lack of sales. If they advertised and packed and marketed like everybody else, they would not get left in the rush.
When the primary producers learn to keep pace in their advertising with the producers of luxury goods, the world will get balanced again. So long as the primary producers don't get together and advertise so long will they tell a hard luck tale. And so long will the world slump, because, though we all like luxuries, we can only buy them so long as enough of us earn the right to do it by selling the fruits of the sweat of our brow. AND THOSE WHO SWEAT MUST LEARN TO SELL!"

After all, a city is nothing more or less than an aggregation of citizens; some good, some bad and some indifferent. The civic life of a city is no higher than the average of its citizens.

The greatest assets a city can have are cleanliness, beauty, enterprise far-sightedness, an da spirit to do the greater things.

The financial assets of a city measure its prosperity. As its assets are increased, prosperity increases; as its assets decrease, prosperity shrinks.

Money spent in the home city increases its assets. Money spent away from home decreases them.

A moving, active spirit in everything that promotes the best interests of the home city makes better business.

It is a poor compliment to the science of civilization and political economy that the only way statesmen can meet loss of revenue occasioned by a trade depression is by imposition of more taxation and an attempt to curtail benefits to disabled war veterans.

PARIS STYLES

By United Press. United Press Staff Correspondent. PARIS.—Lucien Lelong and Rose Desat have gotten together on a lovely ensemble of beige and red, the former furnishing the dress and coat, and the latter the hat that sets it off at just the right degree of Parisian chic.

PARIS.—Among the interesting accessories of the hour are the new elbow length gloves. Of the softest antelope, they widen in a big pouch between the wrist and the elbow and are extremely smart with any dress or coat that has a plain, straight sleeve.

One of the new frocks, called "Cinea" and chosen from Worth by Miss Grace Moore, the Metropolitan Opera star, an afternoon model in purple satin with an original cut-out effect to the sleeves—is one of the striking characteristics of the winter collection.

She also has the dress called "Bengale," a very seductive gown made in pink rosalia with a wide red lace incrustation at the hem. The skirt forms a short train and a bit of shirring gives ample fullness in the back.

PARIS.—Those saucy little "pork pie" hats which perched daintily upon the heads of beauties of the naughty 90's are back again.

Turned up all around and often trimmed with tufts of fur, or feathers, these little hats are worn

Dixie Cities to Halt Wandering Youths

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—The plight of itinerant bands of rowing youths, comparable in a minor way to the "Wild Boys" of early Russian Soviet days, has become a real problem in the south.

These youths, some homeless and others just wanderers seeking better and easier environments, have made their appearances in increasing numbers in the south and southwest in the past 12 months. Hardships for them are increasing. Welfare groups say 200,000 are now circulating through the south.

In order to cope with the problem, fearing lack of food will make criminals of the boys who range in age from 12 to 20, groups well forward, leaving the starboard and aft of the head exposed to the cruel winds of winter. Those smart women, who do not fear the cold, probably will wear "pork pies," but for those who snifle their ears other models.

There is one in particular which covers quite a bit of scalp. It really is a combination of two smaller skullcaps, such as women have been wearing. One fits over the front of the head and the other overlaps and covers the back of the head.

One nice feature of the coming winter is that no woman will be forced to wear a hat just because her neighbor does. There will be fashions for all.

"Central" sends help to a Frantic Mother

Jimmy Ratliff, 12 years old, went fishing with his chum. They took the little .410-gauge shotgun saying "Gonna kill us a rabbit for bait."

There was a report from the gun at the pond, a quarter of a mile from the house. Jimmy was shot . . . hurt badly. A frantic mother ran to the telephone . . .

"Central! A doctor quick!" Lucy Adams, at the switchboard, called the doctor's office. He wasn't in. She rang the telephone at his home and he wasn't there. She tried the cafe, and located the doctor within five minutes the doctor was speeding toward the Ratliff home.

The little boy was weak when the doctor arrived. He dressed the wound . . . sent Jimmy to the hospital. The boy is out playing again now.

Twenty-four hours of each day the telephone is ready for your calls. Whether it be for the doctor, get the price for eggs or cream, to order a part for your machine, or to visit a neighbor . . . the telephone is its way. You can buy few things which cost so little and are worth so much.

Brownwood Scores Early In See-Saw Game At Lillard Field.

Brownwood Lions invaded Lillard field Friday afternoon and, after a long and hard battle, came behind on two occasions to tie the score and halve the game with Ranger with the final score being 14 to 14.

The Bulldogs started off fast, kicking the ball on their own 40-yard line and scoring on four plays, the first a one-yard gain by Anderson, the second an eight-yard gain by Jones, the third a 41-yard run through right tackle and fourth a lateral pass. Anderson kicked to Jones for the score.

After Record Frenchmen Plan Non-Stop Hop to Brazil

Lucien Holmoutrot, above, and Jean Mermoz, crack French pilots, are ready for their planned non-stop flight from Paris to Brazil, seeking to break the distance record held by Russell Boardman and John Polando of the United States.

The Frenchmen's flight would take them along the African coast, thence across the South Atlantic. Anderson kicked goal for the extra point.

Brownwood came back in the second quarter to score when Adcock, Lion right end, jumped high between Lyon and Jones to snatch a lateral pass and race 67 yards to a touchdown. Lyon made an effort to overtake the fleet Adcock, lacking but a few yards of catching him before he crossed the goal line. Whitehead kicked the extra point to even the score.

In the third quarter the Bulldogs came back to take the lead again when Lyon kicked to the three-yard line, where the ball was kicked. Whitehead, standing far behind his goal line, got off a weak punt which carried only to the 20-yard line. Lyon ran out of bounds on the 11-yard line on the first play from scrimmage, then picked up eight more and Anderson went over for the touchdown and kicked the extra point.

The Lions, taking to the air in a desperate effort to overtake the Bulldogs, accomplished the feat when Whitehead got off a series of neat passes, the first to Galloway for 32 yards, which carried the ball down to the Ranger 45-yard line. Another pass, this time to Thomas, was good for 17 yards and a first down and then Thomas ripped off 11 yards for one of the two first downs made by the Lions on running plays.

Another pass from Whitehead to Harlow was completed, though Harlow was thrown for a three-yard loss and then Whitehead passed to Adcock over the goal line for the second 7 Brownwood touchdown. Whitehead kicked the goal, tying the score.

The Bulldogs came back with determination to win and carried the ball from their own 30-yard line to the Brownwood 13-yard line, where with but three seconds to play, Anderson attempted a field goal from a difficult angle, but the kick was wild. The ball was brought back to the 20-yard line where it was the final whistle was blown.

The Bulldogs outplayed the Lions in every department of the game except in passing as the Lions completed five out of 10 attempts for a gain of 80 yards and a touchdown, and had none intercepted, while the Bulldogs completed but one out of seven tries for a gain of 14 yards.

Lyon clearly outpunched Whitehead, who had trouble getting the ball off and made several weak kicks that carried but little beyond the line of scrimmage.

The Lions gained but little through the line, while the Bulldogs made practically four times as much yardage in this way as did the Lions.

The starting lineup: Ranger, Britt and E. Bray, ends; Standard and Atkins, tackles; Love and Williams, guards; J. Bray, center; R. Jones, quarter; Lyon and Anderson, halves; Jones, full. Substitutes, Cole, Mitchell and Briley. Brownwood—Galloway and Adcock, ends; Dodge and Hutson, tackles; Barber and Trammell, guards; Pierson, center; Whitehead, quarter; Teague and Thomas, halves; Harlow, full. Substitutes, Crane for Harlow.

First downs: Ranger 14, Brownwood 4.

Meanwhile, prohibition agents are being shot down in cold blood and the machine gun business prospers. It is hardly safe for children to play on the sidewalks of the cities of glorious America with cartridges of gangsters spinning about. It doesn't seem fair that cotton heads and freckled noses and childish hands should be swept away with one spurt of fire from some fiend's fatal weapon.

First downs: Ranger 14, Brownwood 4.

Back in the days when Africa was a name, and a very vague name at that, explorers began dipping around in various sections of the continent trying to find a sea route to India. The hips of such a passage became a reality 455 years ago today when Vasco de Gama sailed around the Cape of Good Hope and pushed his vessel over to Calcut, a location on the west coast of India. The fearless navigator, as this adventurer became known, gave Portugal something to expand her little chest over. He came sailing back to his homeland with colorful tales of wealth in India, and was named viceroy of the nation while prosperity still reigned; died and was buried with honors in Lisbon long before the day of depressions.

Recently I sat in a beauty salon not many miles from Ranger and watched a brown-eyed, golden-haired little lady of 18 months suck her thumb and get a permanent wave. Her pink dress and white boots were all chocolate-covered; from the candy she had been given and half eaten, half smeared upon herself; her cheeks were tear-stained from much weeping when the operator accidentally pulled her soft, baby hair; and she was completely shaken when, at the end of an hour or two, she emerged from wrappings, soakings, and twistings... with golden ringlets all over her tiny head. Looking at her chubby hands clutching a bar of sticky candy, I wondered how long it would be before they began mauling her nails... and her eyelashes, how long before they would be plucked to a thin, inexpressive line? What price beauty? Baby tears, wracked nerves, and panic tones.

EAGLES PROVE TOO MUCH FOR EASTLANDITES

Ester Burgamy Slips Over 70-Yard Run For Score At Abilene.

ABILENE, Nov. 19.—Yesterday's show at Eagle stadium was marked by an almost incessant flow of substitutes from both benches, a 70-yard run for Eastland's only touchdown by Ester Burgamy, the enemy's fighting and talented little quarterback.

The Abilene club played just well enough to win. It scored the game with two touchdowns in the second period, and played its sharpest offensive game in a drive for the third touchdown in the third quarter.

Burgamy's spectacular dash to 'touchdown' was made on the first play from scrimmage in the second half. Garrison ran the kickoff back to the Eastland 30-yard line, and Burgamy called himself for a run around the Abilene left end. He broke ground until fully 10 yards back of the line of scrimmage. Then he turned straight ahead, pulling away from tacklers. Burgamy slipped by the secondary that closed in close for the play, and was in the clear with a screen of five red-jerseyed players protecting him. Joe Simmons, a guard, went in and place-kicked goal for the point that left the score 14 to 7.

The Eagles lost little time in regaining their margin of 14 points. After running back the kickoff to its 40-yard line, the Abilene team shoved the Mavericks back across the goal in 11 plays for the last touchdown of the game.

Two of the Abilene touchdowns and all of its extra points were credited to the husky Middle-ton. Wyatt was responsible for the first counter, made early in the second period.

The longest sustained offensive of Joe Gibson's team was in the third quarter, following the final score. Taking great liberties with the domestic left guard and tackle, Mackell and Burgamy tore off the yard, one to 12 at a flip, starting at their own 25 stripe and ending at Abilene's 27.

Until Burgamy was removed on account of injury in the third quarter, his playing was the highlight for Eastland. Other all-guns stars of the visitors were Carroll Allison, undoubtedly the greatest center that has showed up to rival Stanley Smith for all-district honors and defense; Mackell, full.

ARCADIA THEATRE
Has Good Pictures For Coming Week

Excellent pictures have been arranged for the Arcadia theatre, Ranger, during Thanksgiving week, according to R. E. Garner, manager of the Pasehall-Texas theatre, yesterday.

The theatre is offering Norma Shearer and Frederic March today in "Smilin' Through," which is expected to be one of the best 10 pictures produced last year, the management stated.

The Arcadia Tuesday will offer Edmond Lowe in "Chandu, the Magician," a Fox picture which will be followed by the king of all comedians, Joe K. Brown, who comes to Ranger in the first showing in the state of his newest picture, "You Said a Mouthful." A midnight preview will be held of this picture Wednesday night at 11 p. m., which is the day before Thanksgiving and the film will begin its regular theatrical run Thursday. Garner stated some difficulty was experienced in getting the Brown film out for Thanksgiving due to the fact it is not nationally released until the following Sunday. Saturday the Arcadia gets Frank Buck's famous "Bring 'Em Back Alive" and the theatre will have a couple of real live lions in front of the theatre in connection with the picture.

Garner stated he has been booking pictures for the past few days and has secured the greatest lineup of films for the month that has ever been brought to Ranger in one month. Among the coming attractions include: "Air Mail," "Rockabye," Marie Dressler and Polly Moran in "Prosperity," Will Rogers in "Too Busy to Work," Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor in "Tess of the Storm Country," Richard Dix in "Hell's Highway," and many other outstanding attractions.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

A summary of the Brownwood-Ranger game gives the following figures, which should prove interesting:

Brownwood carried the ball 55 times on running plays, gained a total of 85 yards, lost five and was held without gain nine times for an average gain of 2 3-7 yards.

Ranger carried the ball 78 times on running plays, gained a total of 356 yards, lost 15 and was held without gain 11 times for an average gain of 4 22-33 yards.

Thomas of Brownwood carried the ball 25 times, gained a total of 60 yards, lost two and was held without gain six times for an average of 2 2-5 yards.

Jones of Ranger carried the ball 26 times, gained a total of 143 yards, lost one yard and was held without gain twice for an average gain of 5 1-2 yards.

Lyon carried the ball 35 times, gained a total of 161 yards, lost 14, was held without gain four times for an average of 4 21-33 yards.

Anderson carried the ball 16 times, gained a total of 50 yards, lost none and was held without gain five times for an average of 3 1-4 yards in addition to catching a pass which gained 14 yards and which was not counted as a running play.

Brownwood attempted 10 passes, completed five for a gain of 80 yards, lost three on one pass with five incomplete and none intercepted.

Ranger attempted seven passes, completed one for a total of 14 yards, had four incomplete and two intercepted in addition to having a lateral intercepted for a touchdown and one recovered by Brownwood.

Whitehead of Brownwood punted 14 times for a total of 407 yards for an average punting of 28 5-7 yards.

Lyon of Ranger punted five times for a total of 195 yards or an average of 39 1-5 yards.

Brownwood accounted for four first downs, Ranger 14.

The Lions were penalized 40 yards, the Bulldogs 20.

In tying the score, Brownwood did not eliminate the Bulldogs from the district title race, as a win from Breckenridge would leave them half a game in the lead and winner of the district title. A loss to Breckenridge would eliminate the Bulldogs and would throw the Buckaroos and Eagles

EXPERTS URGE TUNG OIL INDUSTRY DEVELOPMENT

NEW ORLEANS—Development of the tung oil industry in Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida urged here recently by a group of tung oil production experts who surveyed the area. Their group was headed by Dr. H. A. Gardin, director of scientific research at the National Paint and Varnish Association.

Dr. Gardin proposed that some lands now being used for growing cotton be turned over to tung production of tung oil trees, it giving southern farmers an additional source of revenue. Tung oil, used in the manufacture of paints and varnishes, is now shipped to the United States from Japan.

What

SAIL or STEAM?

AN OLD SEA CAPTAIN once said "Any windjammer can ride out a storm with the hatches battened down and the sails clewed up; but it takes a steamship to ride out a dead calm."

Too many business men today are trying to meet a dead calm with hurricane-warning tactics. Huddling below decks, they've clewed up their advertising appropriations with stout ropes of prejudice, battened down the hatches on their better judgment. One of these days they'll come on deck and wonder why they're so far from shore.

The steamship captain doesn't wait for trade winds to blow him into the Port of Profits. He musters those trade winds with the driving power of LIVE STEAM . . . piles fuel under his advertising boilers . . . starts his craft towards Profits and usually reaches port before the old-fashioned skippers have spread their sails for an occasional buying breeze.

WE HAVE just passed over a becalmed glassy sea and again business is being favored with a buying breeze. Lets keep the powerful engines of cooperation at an even governed velocity and success is surely ours. HERE... AND THERE

By ELVIE B. JACKSON

Many of us are planning our Thanksgiving day with the thought of feasting, with a vision of a big browned turkey, flanked by platters of smoking hot delicious foods and all topped off with a rich plum pudding and coffee, that will linger on the palate in pungent aroma.

But that isn't all that is back of Thanksgiving day, by any means. Practically, Thanksgiving is a national harvest festival, fixed by the president of the United States, and state governors, and is a legal holiday.

The earliest harvest thanksgiving in our country was kept by the pilgrim fathers at Plymouth, in 1621.

Read the "Romance of America" and thrill to the exciting scenes when relief came to those pilgrims on that special date in that year.

To such an extent was the impression from this experience handed down through their children's children that congress recommended Thanksgiving day, during the Revolution, and had a Thanksgiving day observed in 1874, for the return of peace, an example followed by President Madison in 1815.

The father of our country, George Washington, had such a Thanksgiving day in 1789, after the adoption of our constitution, and another in 1795, a special recognition for the general benefit and welfare of our nation.

Our regular proclamations for Thanksgiving days have since been issued by successive presidents, since 1863.

Some of us are giving a thought to Mr. Hoover, our retiring president, who fought for pacifism, and to our incoming president, Mr. Roosevelt, who pledged for industrialism.

Interest is aroused over the proclamation of the president for this Thanksgiving year, and wonder as to just what its content will be.

Each and every one who has a sound mind and a good body has ample reason to celebrate Thanksgiving day whether their table groans under the weight of the browned turkey, and generous foods, or whether the table holds simply a rose in a vase of water, a slice of bread, and a glass of milk.

Turkey Luncheon Entertains Child Welfare Club at Acorn Acres. Child Welfare club members were entertained Friday at Acorn Acres Tea Room with a prettily appointed 1 o'clock turkey luncheon which comes as one of the most outstanding social happenings of the last week.

This attractive and popular tea-room hosted by Mrs. Martha Slack and daughter, Mrs. Katherine Potts, again proved a hospitable place of entertainment decorated with touches of autumn colors about the comfortable rooms. At this pleasant occasion, Mrs. O. L. Philips and Mrs. Frank Champion were invited guests.

Different committee rendered summarized reports of work completed with splendid accomplishments made. Visits made among the sick and needy families of Ranger also covered a fine record. Approximately 200 garments have been distributed by the used clothing department.

Mrs. H. Anderson and chairman, Mrs. W. D. Conway, each made interesting talks on the Red Cross work room, and expressed their appreciation for the most excellent cooperation given by ladies of the church societies of the city.

Mrs. E. L. McMullen and Mrs. E. E. Crawford were appointed as a committee to collect pledges for the month of December. Much interest was shown regarding the Christmas Cheer fund, and the following ladies were appointed to cooperate with other organizations in the work of getting funds. This committee is composed of Mrs. Saule Perlestein, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Kilgore and Mrs. Robinson.

The public is asked to reserve all discarded toys and a member of the club will call for them. This Child Welfare club is indeed grateful to members of the Ranger Fire Department for the repainting and repairing of toys freely distributed to Ranger's needy each Christmas. The remodeling of these toys has been a pre-holiday custom which the fire department has followed several years, through the courtesy of their chief, George Murphy. Anyone having such toys and desirous to make some child's Christmas a happy one are urged to keep this suggestion in mind.

Another important feature of this meeting was the voting of $5.00 to be used each month for services of the public health nurse and for supplies in the P. T. A. organizations.

This was by far one of the most interesting, profitable and pleasant meetings the club has held for several months.

Dorothy Perkins Representative To Demonstrate Creams at Hassens This Week. Miss Edna Frye, popular representative with Dorothy Perkins Cosmetic company, who paid an interesting visit to Ranger several months ago and who was the guest of Hassens Company, will again be here Monday to demonstrate the wonderful value of Dorothy Perkins cosmetics.

Every woman in the city should consult Miss Frye on the analysis of your skin and take the proper care of the tender tissues throughout the winter and fall months. Ladies may have this splendid opportunity without any obligation, by calling on the Hassens store, and make an early appointment. Every visitor will find Miss Frye very pleasing in manner and truly sincere in her analysis.

Eucelion Class Meets With Mrs. Anderson. A pretty combination of chrysanthemums and autumn leaves afforded a rich color note in the decorations at the home of Mrs. T. J. Anderson, 610 Blundell street, the latter part of last week, when the hostess entertained in compliment to the Eucelion Sunday school class of the Central Baptist Church, with an attractively appointed high noon luncheon.

The dining table laid with white maderia linens and centered with a high mound of the chosen fall blossoms, places were designated for 15 members. An interesting business session occupied the early part of the afternoon hour at which time the class president, Mrs. O. R. Ervin, appointed new group captains, Mrs. F. E. Brynes and Mrs. Paul Hodges, were appointed to carry out the scheduled work for the teams of which they will supervise.

This pleasant occasion was attended by Misses W. R. Clardy, L. H. Taylor, J. L. Reed, Paul Dodge, R. N. Tadlock, F. Turner, C. B. Hutchinson, N. O. White, Joe Dennis, Alex. Robinson, C. W. Blacklock, O. R. Ervin, Clint Jones, F. E. Brynes and hostess.

Adolphians Are Entertained With Pretty Buffet Luncheon. A lovely profusion of red chrysanthemums embedded in runners of their own foliage, were arranged in an effectively artistic manner about the home of Mrs. E. A. Grigollet, Sinclair camp, Thursday at noon, when she complimented the Adolphian Sunday school class of the First Christian Church with a buffet luncheon.

A complete plate with the last course of ice cream and angel food cake proved very delicious and was made attractive through the luncheon appointments. This delightful affair was attended by the following members: Misses O. E. Samms, Mickey Sloan, C. G. King, B. S. Dudley, J. G. Kilgore, H. B. Wagner, N. L. Perry, John Sacks, Jordan, H. S. Von Roeder, Lonnie Herring, and Miss Norda Hestell.

A meeting of this class will be held at the home of Mrs. Perry at the usual hour Monday afternoon.

Week-end MURDER by GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The story opens with a prologue in which a murder is committed by a homicidal maniac. Linda boards a train for Long Island thinking of the pleasant week-end she is to have. The name of the murderer is not disclosed. The scene shifts to the Long Island home of LINDA and TOM AVERILL, married three years and much in love. The Averills have five guests for the week-end: COUSIN AMOS PEABODY, elderly cousin relative of Linda's; FAY TAIN DE, Mrs. Anderson's Belgian representative; a European perfume manufacturer; and two unknown persons to do business; MR. STATLANDER, former partner of Linda's; and LEO SHAUGHNESSY, Mrs. Ervin's writer on a lecture tour. Cousin Amos immediately makes trouble. He quarrels with Shaughnessy because the Irishman holds liberal political views; plans golf with the perfume manufacturer and infuriates the European; and finally, he quarrels with the unknown persons. It is finally agreed that Cousin Amos is to leave early the next morning.

The others go to the Country Club. Just before leaving, Mrs. Tain De goes to Cousin Amos' room and they are heard talking. The door is unlocked, but when the others are ready to leave Shaughnessy can not get into the room.

WHAT could have become of Shaughnessy? Linda frowned. "No, he hasn't been with us," she said. "We thought you had him."

Ellis Mondell turned uncertainly and it was at that moment that Tom, looking intently toward the thinning row of cars, shouted: "That must be he! Oh—Shaughnessy!"

A high border of fir trees marked the edge of the club line. At the extreme end a dark figure could barely be seen. The figure turned at the hall, passed a moment, raised a negligent hand and strolled toward them.

"'Twas lost entirely I was! Sure to me every car of the lot looks like another."

"You were going the wrong way for most of them," said Tom dryly. "Hop in—in front, Shaughnessy. We're all here now."

The Irishman muttered something which Linda did not catch. Evidently he was on the verge of being quarrelsome, inquisitive or plaintive, according to what circumstances suggested.

At the wheel of her own little car, she waited for the other to lead off. Without giving too apparent assistance, Tom was steadily following Shaughnessy's climb into place and, as that broad back was presented to her, Linda saw that it was amazingly dusty and covered with the fine brown needles which the fir trees so liberally shed. Over toward their house, those balsams grew. The path from her back door to the club was thick with them. No cushions had eased that comfort-loving back, if he had chosen the pine grove as a retreat. She wondered more than ever what dainty chiffon or soft, summery crepe had shared his company—or what group of couples. Just then the sedan started with a jerk. Tom was evidently no more pleased than she with the behavior of their guests.

LINDA had chosen Mr. Statlander as her companion partly to help make up for her unfortunate error at the dinner table the night before. His glum silences had proved difficult for her ever since he had arrived but after the discovery of their mutual fondness for dancing perhaps he would be a little more responsive. As the little car started after the larger one Statlander began to shoot at her an astonishing series of questions.

"'Twas lost entirely I was!" said Shaughnessy. "Sure to me every car of the lot looked like another."

"Your little boy did not come up today to see you, did he, Mrs. Averill?"

"No. The old dog was a great pet of his and we didn't want to tell him about her. It would have been hard, with guests in the house, and he not even staying home so we could lead up gently. Mr. Averill telephoned his mother and asked her to keep Bingo there all day."

"From the presence of some toys in the closet of the room I turned, I thought perhaps I had turned him out to make room for me."

"Oh, heavens, no! I'm sorry about the toys—Rosie shall move them in the morning. No, Bingo and Nanna sleep across the hall from you."

"That is the room I've heard you speak of as the nursery? It faces the water?"

"Yes. We're not using it this week-end—the ceiling and walls were ruined by water from an overflowing tub upstairs. That's why we had to put Mr. Shaughnessy in the garage."

"Oh, then that is the room which opens on the small white porch over the central front of the house?"

Linda wondered at such persistent interest in the architecture of White Haven.

"Yes."

"THAT little balcony connects also with a room on the other side? I've observed it from the front lawn."

"One of the guest rooms—yes. 'Where Mr. Peabody is?'"

"Yes—over the center of the house."

"You also have rooms in the garage—may I ask—" on the balcony makes the horrid noise and having this one shut muffled it, at least. You have everything you want? Well—good-night. You can all sleep late tomorrow morning!"

WHEN Tom finally succeeded in escaping Shaughnessy's garrulous friendliness and returned, tired and out of sorts, he found Linda sitting by the window toward the Sound. On the bed lay her corn-yellow velvet wrap, on the floor her slip of a frock, and her high-heeled pumps had been kicked off beside it. She seemed to have lacked energy to proceed further with the business of undressing and when he came in simply rolled her eyes at him eloquently and made no further move. He sank into a chair by another window and for a moment weary silence reigned.

"Did you ever know such a night?" Linda gathered her energies to speak first. "Never—never in all my born days—was I so hot and cross and disgusted. As a house party, this is the biggest washout I've ever had!"

"You're tired, Binka," her husband observed dispassionately. "I think they all had a good time."

"They may have for all we know anything about it—I hardly laid eyes on one of them all evening."

"Well, didn't you plan to turn them over to the female contingent?"

"Yes, of course—and I wanted them to enjoy themselves. And you're still the best dancer in the world, my Thomas."

"Thanks—same to you, Goeb, this heat is appalling! Not a bit cooler at night."

"Morning—getting lighter every minute. That means it'll start in hot and get worse instead of better. Why does Fourth of July always mean such ghastly weather? And on top of it, every darned one of those men had been drinking—"

"Even your beloved Marvin?"

"Linda suddenly snapped from complete inertia to militant uprightness. "He was too queer all evening—implying he wasn't welcome—nasty way of talking without coming right out with what was on his mind."

"Well, look, Binka—what was the matter with him before we started? When he came downstairs he looked black enough to kill. I sort of hated to drive off with the others and leave you. Then everything seemed all right when we got there so I forgot about it till now. Anybody step on his toes before we left?"

"Hamp! Who specializes in toe-stepping around here?"

"Don't glare at me—he's not my cousin!"

"Oh, Tom, that's cruel! I can't help it. Why is Cousin Amos such a pest? I fished around a bit but I couldn't find out what it was he did or said. Every time I led back to it, Marvin got sulky. He was that way on and off all evening. I'd rather have all sorts of an explosion—made me feel queer and quailish, just wondering. You see, I know his temper of old. He holds in too much and when he does let go—well, I wouldn't want to be in the way!"

Those on the program being unable to attend, the leader substituted a history of the centuries of American songs, through the story of the Pilgrims and Puritans; a sketch of Benjamin Franklin, William Billings, and historical sketch of patriots of Revolutionary days, showing many cuts and pictures with these epochs in history.
A wonderful piano number by an early American composer was played by Wanda Dragoo Beall of San Angelo.

High School P. T. A.
Interesting Session.
The recent meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher association brought a goodly crowd, all things considered, as there were many affairs going on that afternoon.
The session was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. M. Perkins and minutes by recording secretary, Mrs. J. Leroy Arnold were approved as read.
The report of the reconstruction Finance corporation fund for Eastland and amount approximately that would go toward high school, Bill grounds, etc., was presented and request made that materials be solicited in paint, plaster, varnish, etc., as the money could be paid only for actual labor, and all materials for same must be furnished or contributed.
The association voted to give $5 to this fund for materials.
An art exhibit was announced for March 22, with handsome display made by the Practical Drawing company of Dallas, which was favorably voted on.
Full arrangements will be made later for this exhibit.
The next meeting to be held in December was discussed. School will be dismissed Wednesday preceding Christmas. The P. T. A. voted to entertain the teachers with an evening banquet in the cafeteria Friday preceding Christmas.

A benefit picture show was left to be arranged by the ways and means committee with Mrs. G. A. Stire as chairman.
The Saturday morning show at the Lyric theatre, when clothing was accepted as admittance to this charity benefit was announced. Also that this clothing and any other articles donated would be distributed among the needy.
The request of the chairman for Eastland Red Cross relief work, Mrs. W. E. Stalter, for assistance was responded to by several volunteering to help with the work next week, open on Tuesday and Saturday.
The committee in charge of the banquet for the teachers was then announced by Mrs. L. C. Brown, chairman of hospitality: Meat committee, Mrs. Stover; salad committee, Mrs. J. Leroy Arnold, Mrs. Eddie Johnston, and Mrs. D. L. Childress; vegetables committee, Mmes. W. E. Coleman, B. C. Mackall and L. J. Lambert; table committee, Mmes. W. C. Marlow, Pearson, and Bond; coffee committee, Mmes. G. A. Stire, Street, and Pitzer; dessert committee, Mmes. R. E. Sikes, M. H. Kelly, and Gates.
At close of business and announcement the program was introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. W. P. Palm, who presented Miss Mary Frances Hunter in Booth Tarlington's reading, "The Land of Beginning Again," a splendid interpretation.
Edward E. Layton, principal of Junior High school, presented a thoughtful and keen analysis of the birth of the free public school, the 26,000,000 children attending; the public school as a great physician, and system of public education that was now struggling for continuation.
The gradual development into the public school was traced from monastery teaching to denominational schools, to private schools, which in turn, through needs of those who could not afford this mode of education, gave birth to the great public school system.
The effect of the exemption of certain taxes was given, and the result, should county and state taxes be cancelled.
Those present, Mmes. W. L. Lane, D. L. Childress, J. Leroy Arnold, A. J. Campbell, W. P. Palm, G. A. Stire, J. Frank Sparks, F. O. Hunter, W. C. Marlow, Robert Pearson, Ora B. Jones, L. C. Brown, J. M. Perkins, W. K. Jackson, L. J. Lambert, Miss Powell, Miss Mary Frances Hunter, W. P. Palm, and Edward E. Layton.
A pleasant social hour was spent in the cafeteria, and a delicious refreshment of pumpkin pie, with orange topping and tea with lemon, served by Mrs. J. Frank Sparks and Mrs. L. C. Brown.
The request sent by High School P. T. A. to Eastland city commissioners is appended:
To the City Commissioners: In view of the fact that the city of Eastland is to receive a portion of the funds of the reconstruction finance corporation in the near future, the members of the High School and Junior High School Parent-Teacher association urge that part of the money be spent for improvements of the high school hill, for the following reasons:
The grounds around the athletic field are in such a condition that attendance at all games are materially lowered. The ruts and rocks around the school buildings are unsuited for play and all forms of outdoor physical training. The roads leading to the buildings are extremely rough at all times and are hard on tires and shoes. The roads are also unsafe in wet weather as many of the cars are driven by inexperienced drivers.
This constitutes a hazard to the children and we feel that it is wiser to prevent serious accidents than to suffer penalties of them.
We consider that the expenditure of money on this project would be of greater benefit to the citizens of our town than any other way in which it could be spent.
Respectfully submitted by: Mrs. J. M. Perkins, president; Mrs. J. Leroy Arnold, secretary; Mrs. B. E. McGlamery; Mrs. A. J. Campbell.

Smith County Tax
Renditions Grow
By United Press.
TYLER, Texas.—Tax renditions in Smith county mounted $5,430, 554 in 1932 over the 1931 figures, because of oil development, according to Tax Assessor Henry Allen.
The increase enabled the commissioners' court temporarily to reduce the tax rate from $1.40 to $1.23 per $100 valuation. The court also has reduced the rate on all farms not touching paved highways by 25 cents per $100.
Taxable valuations now total $23,450,234.
