BULLDOGS ARE OIL BELT CHAMPIONS

MAVERICKS DEFEAT LIONS IN GAME WHICH ENDED SEASON IN GRAND STYLE THURSDAY

The Eastland Mavericks rounded up and caged the Brownwood Lions Thursday morning on Maverick field with a score of 34 to 7. Starting early in the first quarter the Eastland boys drove through the Brownwood defense for five touchdowns. Joe Simmons kicked for the extra point after each touchdown except the third.

After the first few plays it was plain to the fans that the team that met the Lions yesterday morning had snapped out of its lethargy and nothing was going to stop them. Most of the gaining was done through the opponents' line. Burgamy called for very few passes or end runs. The Lions attempted several passes but they were all knocked down or intercepted except one.

The Lions' lone touchdown was due to a blocked punt on Eastland's 40-yard line and a 25-yard penalty against Eastland which placed the ball on the seven-yard line. Harlow carried the ball over for the touchdown on the third attempt through the Eastland line. Thomas kicked for the extra point. The drive for the Maverick's first touchdown started on their own 45-yard line. With Burgamy and Mackall alternately carrying the ball they marched down to Brownwood's 30-yard line where Burgamy, on a play through right tackle, rambled through the entire bunch of Lions for the touchdown.

The second quarter came almost immediately after Vaughn covered a fumble on Brownwood's 20-yard line and Burgamy went over on three plunges through the line. Another marker was chalked up late in the second quarter with Mackall carrying the ball. Garrison went over in the third quarter for the fourth touchdown. Incidentally this was the first time he ever performed this feat. The fifth and last was due to a 15-yard gain by Burgamy and a line plunge by Mackall for the last two yards.

It would be hard to pick out any certain players for the Mavericks that stood out above their teammates. However, Burgamy was the individual star with Mackall and Allison close seconds. Garrison and Vaughn also deserve special mention. For Brownwood Thomas and Harlow were the outstanding players.

Former Mav Star May Be Regular For Horned Frogs

Special Correspondent.
FORT WORTH, Nov. 25.—(By Clark of Eastland, sophomore in Texas Christian university and a halfback on the Horned Frog football squad, has showed up well in the games he has participated in this season.

Since this has been his first season of varsity competition, Clark is a little inexperienced, but what the former high school star lacks in experience he makes up for in love of the game and natural ball-carrying ability. The times he has been in the game this year he has acquitted himself well.

In several of the Frogs' minor games this season he has showed exceptional ability, breaking away for long gains on several occasions and looking good on broken field running.

With the Horned Frogs' regular halves, Spearman and Oliver, leaving this year by the graduation route it is probable that Clark will see plenty of service in the backfield next year.

When They Met 15 Years Ago

The historic meeting of President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt at the White House is not their first. In the war days of 1917, when the two men looked as shown above, they met in gatherings in Washington. They may have discussed then the beginnings of problems that loom large today. They met on the same ship to Europe after the war, Roosevelt going to superintend naval demobilization, Hoover to feed the starving of Central Europe. They met last in the governors' conference last spring when President Hoover appealed to state executives for co-operation and the governor of New York was one of the first to greet him after his appeal. A touch of irony is lent to the present meeting by the fact that in 1920 some Democratic king-makers even planned to nominate Hoover for president, Roosevelt for vice president. These are the shadows that lie behind the vivid picture of the present White House conference.

HEARING ON GAS RATE IS BEING HEARD

Two Named As Candidates For Teachers' Leader

By United Press.
ABILENE, Texas, Nov. 25.—Hearing on a temporary injunction sought by the Community Natural Gas company restraining the city of Cisco from interfering with a new gas rate schedule for that city, began today in federal district court here.

The city contends the new rate is a substantial increase. The new schedule called for changing the present rate of 67 1/2 cents a thousand cubic feet, to $1.60 for the first 1,000, $1.35 for the next thousand, 85 cents for the next 3,000 and 60 cents for the next 20,000.

The city refused the company's application several weeks ago. The company, a distributing subsidiary of the Lone Star Gas company, appealed to the state railroad commission, where its proposal was denied.

Texas Rangers Close Season In Dallas Game

The Ranger Junior College Texas Rangers, playing the last game of the season, held the Terrill Prep Tigers to a 7 to 0 win at Dallas Wednesday afternoon.

The Tigers were unable to gain through the Rangers' line, failing to make a first down in the first three quarters of the game by that route. In the fourth quarter the Tigers took to the air, winning the game in the last few minutes on a 30-yard pass.

The Rangers also took to the air in the last half. Weaver doing most of the passing and making enough of them click to be a threat at all times.

Mills, Weaver, Murray and Bumpers stood out in the game and the entire line played head-up football to keep the Tigers from scoring.

Though not impressive from a scoring standpoint, the Rangers, during the season, showed that they had a wonderful defense, as they held some of the best junior college eleven in the state on even terms and held the McMurray Indians to a scoreless tie.

The record for the season follows:

- Texas Rangers 18—Cisco Lobos 0.
- 0—John Tarleton 0.
- 0—McMurray 0.
- 19—Weatherford 0.
- 0—Terrill Prep 7.

BI-DISTRICT GAME DETAILS TO BE MADE

R. F. Holloway, superintendent of the Ranger public schools, who is attending the State Teachers association meeting in Fort Worth, called by long distance this morning and stated that a meeting would be held Saturday morning at 9:30 to decide where the bi-district game would be held.

Officials of the Amarillo and Ranger High schools have met tomorrow morning at Fort Worth to work out details of the game, which will probably be played on Dec. 3, according to tentative plans.

Amarillo won the championship of District 11 Thanksgiving day by defeating Lubbock by a score of 14 to 0 and will be the next opponent of the victorious Ranger Bulldogs.

It was announced this morning on receipt of the telephone call from Mr. Holloway that a large number of Ranger fans and business men would go to Fort Worth early tomorrow morning to be present at the meeting and to help make arrangements for the game.

Coach Eck Curtis said this morning that if the game was played in Amarillo he was going to take the Bulldogs to the Panhandle city in order that they could have two or three days in which to become acclimated. In the game early this season, in which the Bulldogs played against the Sandies at Amarillo, the members of the team had difficulty in breathing because of the rarer atmosphere in the higher climate.

Filipino Is Held In "Loco" Slaying of Six People

By United Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 25.—A slender little brown man from the Philippines quivered in his cell here today, stricken with the realization that he had gone "loco" and killed six men with a razor-edged knife.

Julian Marcelino, 30, ran amuck in Chinatown, killed six probably wounded a seventh man and slashed 11 others.

The Filipino sat on a stool at police headquarters today and said in broken English: "I just loco. I know I done wrong. I have only one mind and I strike so many down. Better for me to die now."

The Ranger High School Bulldogs annexed the Oil Belt championship on Thanksgiving day, downing the strong Breckenridge Buckaroos by a score of 3 to 0 when Aaron Anderson, kicking against the wind, booted the ball squarely between the goal posts from the 29-yard line, with but two or three minutes to play. The ball sailed from Anderson's right toe, squarely between the two uprights, going over the cross-bar with only a foot or two to spare.

Pandemonium broke out over the Ranger section of the stadium when the ball sailed between the uprights, as with Ranger kicking off to Breckenridge nothing but a miracle could snatch the game from them.

The ball was received by Ranger on their own 45-yard line when Pitzer, taking a long chance, passed on a fourth down with the line of scrimmage squarely on the 50-yard line. A five-yard penalty for the second incomplete pass put the ball on the Breckenridge 45-yard line, where a long pass, Anderson to Britt, was incomplete. Jones then plowed the line for five yards and on the next play broke through the forward wall and the secondary to carry the ball to the Breckenridge 19-yard line, where, after being hit by several tacklers, his momentum carried him forward so fast that he could not regain his feet and fell.

Jones was again leaped to carry the ball, but failed to gain on the first play, picked up one yard on the next and another short pass was incomplete. Lyon then called on Anderson to kick the field goal, which looked almost impossible from that distance with the wind against the kicker. Anderson came through the error, striking up the only score of the game.

The game had been full of thrills throughout, Breckenridge taking advantage of early breaks to get the ball down to the eight-yard line, where a bad pass from center caused Pitzer, to lose 18 yards. On the fourth down Pitzer's pass was incomplete and the ball went over to Ranger on the 28-yard line.

Ranger came back and made two first downs, Jones, Lyon and Anderson carrying the ball but on the first series of downs Lyon kicked out of bounds on the Breckenridge 10-yard line.

Throughout the game Lyon's sharpshooter punting kept the locals out of danger as he frequently kicked out of bounds within the 20-yard line.

In the Ranger line Williams and John Bray played outstanding games, smearing the Buckaroo offense after it had crashed through the much lighter Bulldog forward wall. Williams showed up well, as did the error-prone secondary, on pass defense, knocking down many of the Buckaroo passes, though a number were completed.

Ranger's most serious bid to score came in the second quarter when Lyon kicked out of bounds on the Breckenridge 14-yard line. Bobbie Woods, who had relieved Pitzer at quarter, made five yards, but the Buckaroos were penalized five yards. Gibson picked up one yard but on the next play Woods was tackled so hard he dropped the ball. Williams' error-prone kick for Ranger on the 15-yard line. Three plays gained five yards and Anderson attempted a field goal on the fourth down, his kick failing to go over the goal post.

By winning the Oil Belt championship, the Bulldogs will next play Amarillo in a bi-district game, the time and place to be decided at a conference between officials of the two schools in the near future.

Outstanding players for the Bulldogs were J. L. Jones, who on the defense and on the offense and who placed the ball in scoring position with one of the longest gains of the game; Gloyd Lyon, who played a good game at left half and who called signals from that position; Aaron Anderson, who showed up well on both the defense and offense and who accounted for the only score of the game; "Rabbit" Jones, who, though he weighs but 130 pounds, played a blocking game that made him stand out; Captain "Bunt" Williams, who played a wonderful game at guard and who was instrumental in helping to break up the Buckaroo passing attack enough to prevent a score, and John Bray, who played a good game at center and was one of the main reasons the Buckaroos could not prevent a score.

FIELD GOAL BY ANDERSON DECIDES GAME

J. L. Jones Puts Ball in Scoring Position With Long Run

BEER BILL IS BEING DRAWN UP FOR SESSION

Plumber Invents A Bridge Gadget

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Passage of a beer bill by the house before Jan. 1 was forecast today by Speaker Garner.

"I am hopeful that such prompt action will be possible," said the vice president-elect.

From other democratic leaders it was learned that a "skeleton" beer bill was in the process of being drawn up with a view of hastening prompt action immediately after congress convenes.

The hope is to have the house ways and means committee report out such a bill about Dec. 12. This would permit a vote in the house possibly before Christmas.

The most urgent problem is federal revenue. The treasury deficit promises to exceed one billion dollars and may reach twice that figure, unless a special session is to be called at least two months before the fiscal year ends June 30, and it will be necessary for the short session to find additional revenue.

Governor Roosevelt desires, above all things, a constructive agricultural bill, providing, possibly, for the extension of farm credit, and has urged congress to meet before March 1.

TWO MEN ROB CEDAR HILL BANK OF $1500

By United Press.
CEDAR HILL, Dallas County, Texas, Nov. 25.—Two roughly dressed men held up the First State bank here today and escaped with $1,500, after locking two people in the bank vault.

Carrying pistols, the two men forced R. H. Carroll, assistant cashier, and the Rev. L. B. Trone, pastor of the Cedar Hill Methodist church, into the vault, scooped up the money and fled. It was almost 15 minutes later before county officers were notified.

Carroll said he believed one of the bandits was the same that, single-handedly, robbed the bank on Oct. 8.

Patrol cars were placed on highways leading into Dallas to prevent the men, reported driving a tan-colored car, from entering any hideout there.

The exact amount of the loot will not be known until Cashier R. G. Brandenburg returns from Dallas, where he was at the time of the robbery.

Two Named As Candidates For Teachers' Leader

By United Press.
FORT WORTH, Nov. 25.—H. W. Stillwell, superintendent of Tarrant county public schools, and Wylie A. Parker, principal of Forest Avenue high school, Dallas, today were in nomination for the presidency of the Texas State Teachers' association.

Skillwell formerly was principal in the Amarillo school system. Parker was one-time editor of the Plainview News.

Abolition of the "per-pupil" system of distributing state funds to public schools was recommended today. Dr. B. E. Pittenger, University of Texas, declared the only thing the per capita basis encourages is "padding the school census."

A committee on resolutions decided "not to dodge" the liquor issue. A resolution protesting repeal of the eighteenth amendment will be presented to the convention. Another resolution asked that county superintendents be named by county school boards and the state school superintendent by the state board of education.

States Recognize Mexican Divorces

By United Press.
EL PASO.—Several of the United States such as New York and California, have recognized in definite manner Mexican divorces obtained through mutual consent or joint acceptance of Mexican court jurisdiction, according to Manuel Navarro, El Paso attorney.

Navarro cited records of decisions in the case, including Weber vs. Weber, 238 N. Y. S. 333; Stone vs. Stone, Mr. Justice Lewis, 41-29, C. C. P. 1915, and Bancroft vs. Bancroft, 178 Cal. 359.

He contends that the former Mexican divorce laws are "absolutely unquestionable and beyond attack and mutual consent divorces are recognized in every state of the union, notwithstanding that there does not exist particular decisions of them by the respective courts."

The divorce laws of the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, afford greater facilities than those of any other Mexican state, Navarro said, and are better adjusted to the principles of American legislation.

Officers Renewing Search For Floyd

Chinese Practice Birth Control

By United Press.
SAN FRANCISCO.—Practice of birth control has become a definite social institution in China, Dr. Peter Weischer, German medical figure at Tsingtau for the past 22 years, declared here.

The largest mass of people as well as the educated and traveled classes have adopted the practice.

One reason for this condition, Dr. Weischer said, is the widely spread knowledge in China that the Protestant Episcopal Church approves birth control under certain conditions.

Patman Denounces Congress Lobbyists

By United Press.
TEXARKANA, Ark., Nov. 25.—Congressman Wright Patman, leaving for Washington today, announced he would launch a campaign to expose and eliminate paid lobbying during the short session of congress.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

Well, the Ranger Bulldogs put over a narrow win in an exciting game Thanksgiving day to win the championship of the Oil Belt for the first time since 1926. It was a wonderful game that ended in a wonderful way, but since practically everyone in town saw as much as we did we will make few comments, but will give a summary of what we took down during the exciting period between 2:30 and 5 o'clock.

The Bulldogs made 55 plays from scrimmage and gained a total of 162 yards, Jones making 125 and losing 15, in 31 attempts. Lyon gained 18 yards in 13 attempts and Anderson made 19 yards in 11 attempts. Ranger attempted 10 passes, completed none, had one intercepted and nine incomplete. Lyon punted 13 times for a total of 499 yards; most of his kicks going out of bounds inside the 20-yard line.

Breckenridge gained 217 yards from scrimmage, Pitzer gaining 106 and losing 42, Wolford gaining 18 yards in seven attempts, Gibson gaining 17 yards in nine attempts, Hodges gaining 59 yards in 15 attempts and Ennis gaining 17 yards in six attempts. Breckenridge attempted 30 passes, completed 12 for a total gain of 144 yards, had four intercepted and 14 incomplete. Pitzer punter eight times for a total of 345 yards.

Ranger was penalized 40 yards during the game, Breckenridge being penalized a total of 95 yards during the contest.

There was considerable mix-up in the press box as to the number of first downs. Boyce House counted 19 for Breckenridge and 17 for Ranger while we counted 17 for the Buckaroos and eight for the Bulldogs, which does not matter much because we won. In our excitement we probably forgot to mark down at least three, maybe more. A little thing like a first down wasn't worrying us as that big three points counted much more. As far as we are concerned the Buckaroos can have all the first downs.

The next game for the Bulldogs will be with Amarillo in a bi-district game. Some are under the impression that since the Bulldogs played in Amarillo in the early part of the season the Sandies must come to Ranger for the bi-district game, but O. G. Lanier informs us that in the contract with Amarillo it was agreed that should the two teams win in their districts the game would not be played on a return basis but that negotiations would be entered into and a coin tossed to determine where the game should be played. So Ranger may play in Ranger or in Amarillo.

We tried to get in touch with Mr. Lanier this morning to find out if he knew anything about when the game would be played, but were informed he was in Fort Worth. Our impression is that district contests must be completed by Dec. 3 and that bi-district contests must be played on or before Dec. 7. It is possible that the game will be played on the weekend of Dec. 3 or Dec. 7, but your guess is as good as ours.

Early in the week we promised that in a few days we would tell about one or two predictions. Here's one:

On Oct. 28, if our memory is correct, Gripping Gus Coleman, erstwhile columnist of Eastland, Ranger and other points to the east and west, said that the winner of the Eastland-Breckenridge game that day would be the champion of the Oil Belt this season, and anyone who did not believe him would look in the papers of Friday after Thanksgiving. The Bulldogs have crossed Gus somewhat and made his prediction somewhat haywire. As soon as we can remember to bring a clipping to the office we can give you the other prediction, which was made way back last January or February sometime. We will try to remember to bring it to the office with us tomorrow and give it a little space.

But, to get back to the game Thursday, the Bulldogs showed remarkable defensive strength inside the 10-yard line as Breckenridge got the ball twice inside the eight-yard line on a first down. Once they ended their series of downs on the 28-yard line and the other time showed up with a loss of three yards.

The Texas Rangers finished their season at Dallas with the Terrill Prep Tigers Wednesday, losing by a score of 7 to 0. A pass gave the Tigers their only score and the Terrill school eleven failed to make a first down through the line in the first three quarters, according to reports we received of the game.

BRID LODGE, Mont.—A bear before breakfast was the hunting trophy gained by John Helgeson, of Missoula, Mont., on a recent trip near here. Helgeson shot a 200-pound brown bear at 6:30 a. m., after leaving Missoula half an hour earlier, and was back in Missoula ready for his daily work by 8:30 a. m.

— THIS CURIOUS WORLD —

The TURKEY'S NAME, ACCORDING TO THE MOST WIDELY ACCEPTED EXPLANATION, WAS GIVEN IT BECAUSE OF ITS "TURK-TURK TURK."

SOME WRITERS insist that the turkey got its name from the resemblance of the bird's curious head adornments to the fez, a head-piece worn by Turkish citizens. Wild turkeys were plentiful in colonial days, and even at the beginning of the 19th century they could be bought for 6 cents each in Massachusetts. When Cortez visited Mexico he found great droves of turkeys kept as a food supply for the eagles and vultures of the royal aviaries.

WILDERNESS RESERVED. MISSOULA, Mont.—Preservation of 230,000 acres of Montana's most primitive land, in the Bear-tooth range, has been approved by the secretary of agriculture, and the region will be set aside. Forestry officials recently announced. Four other wilderness areas are to be reserved under present plans of the department. They include sections of the Flathead and Black-foot forests, a district in the Madison range, and another region near the 230,000-acre plot in the Bear-tooth.

ESTABLISH NEW BUSINESS. ELGIN, Neb.—Mrs. W. W. Perry, farm woman, has found a new source of profit from her husband's corn field.

Mrs. Perry discovered an old-fashioned recipe for making corn yeast cakes. She experimented and perfected a yeast that will make good bread. Her product passed the pure food laws and now she has developed a ready market in several nearby towns for her yeast.

WISH OF THIS IRISHMAN HAZLETON, Pa.—Martin Gallagher's birthday wish, on his 105th birthday, was for an airplane ride, although he dislikes riding in automobiles. Gallagher, native of Ireland, resides in White Haven, near here. His most recent birthday was marked by a visit by the Methuselah club, Wilkes-Barre, headed by Major Dan Hart.

Gulf Now Producing 100-Mile-an-Hour Oil Which Stands Tests

The attention of readers is called to an advertisement of the Gulf Refining company appearing in this issue featuring Gulf Supreme motor oil. The theme of the Gulf advertising is "the 100-mile-an-hour oil" and its ability to take super-punishment under all driving conditions.

B. C. Morgan, local representative of the Gulf Refining company, says: "That the test made on the Indianapolis speedway last August under the supervision of the A. A. A. officials proved conclusively the claim made for Supreme motor oil quality and supremacy in the field of 25-cent motor oils."

Lou Moore, a well known race driver with his Dusenbery drove 100 miles in less than one hour using Supreme motor oil for lubrication. When checked by the A. A. A. officials there was no perceptible change in the color or quality of the oil. Mr. Moore said it was the first time he had ever driven a racing car lubricated with mineral oil and that he was greatly pleased to note that his pressure gauge did not vary during the run.

Live Lions To Be Displayed At The Arcadia In Ranger

B. E. Garner, manager of the Arcadia theatre in Ranger, announced today that two African Lions would be on display in front of the Arcadia on Saturday in connection with the showing of Frank Buck's famous picture, "Bring 'Em Back Alive," which will show at the theatre on Saturday only.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the Lions will be fed in front of the theatre and everyone is invited to be present. The two beasts will consume 40 pounds of raw beef at their noon meal, according to the management of the theatre.

He is one of a great army of smokers who have learned that Chesterfield's claim... "They're milder and they taste better"... means just exactly what it says.

Chesterfields are milder for the simple reason that they are made of milder, riper tobaccos, blended and cross-blended, and seasoned with just enough Turkish to make them taste right.

One more thing. Chesterfields are pure... just as pure as the water you drink.

All along the line Chesterfield's mildness and better taste are clicking.

THURBER NEWS

Special Correspondent.
THURBER, Nov. 25—Our town was shocked Thursday when a message from Fort Worth to M. W. Miller stated that Mrs. Ellen Guthrie had passed suddenly away. She was the widow of the late Thomas Guthrie, who years ago was postmaster of Thurber. Mrs. Ellen Guthrie was born July 10, 1858, and died at her home in Fort Worth Nov. 17, 1932, age 64 years, four months and seven days. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. F. Snodgrass of Fort Worth and Mrs. Edgar Boyd of Tulsa, Okla., 10 grandchildren and two nephews. Mrs. Guthrie was a devoted Christian and was always found at her post of duty. About 11 years ago while visiting here she fell and broke her hip and too before her death she fell and broke it again and it is thought the pain visited here and by her kind and sweet disposition will be missed by a host of friends. The two daughters lovingly known as Gertrude and Mackie, with the rest of the family, have the sympathy of all their friends in the loss of their mother. Funeral services were held at Mount Marion cemetery, Strawn, at 2 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, Nov. 19.

Monday afternoon the ladies of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society met in the home of Mrs. Ed Keith where a missionary program was rendered. The subject was "Broadcasting Our Prayers and Money Around the World." It was ably discussed by different ladies and all seemed to have received an inspiration by having heard it. After the program No. 1 Circle having lost the contest in singing members entertained No. 2 Circle. A very enjoyable hour was spent after which cake and hot chocolate was served the following ladies: Mmes. L. T. Hobbs, Edna Autrey, Bill Havens, Cecil W. W. Mitchell, Clint Kimball, Frank Arrendale, Duncan Caldwell, Lel Keith, M. N. Singleton, Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Robinson, Miss Fern Fargard and Mrs. T. E. Hale.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

GOD LOVES THE GOOD: Truly God is good to Israel, even to such as are of a clean heart.—Psalm 73: 1.

GOVERNOR WHITE OF OHIO IN PICTURE

Gov. George D. White of Ohio is one of the leading democratic leaders. He is a dry and a regular. He is one of the most popular men in the camp of the Mid-West democracy. Ohio landed in the democratic column by a huge majority. Its voters declared overwhelmingly against dry laws. Governor White is a courageous and upstanding individual. He has declared this attitude: "Any change of the Ohio legislature may make in the state prohibition laws prior to the repeal of an amendment to the federal laws will be vetoed and this very promptly." He is opposed to any change in the Crabbe act, the state enforcement statute, until such time as the federal constitution and its enforcing act is changed. Regardless of all this, the Ohio governor placed this in the record: "THERE IS NO QUESTION THAT OHIO IS OPPOSED TO THE SALOON."

David S. Ingalls was the republican nominee for governor. He went down in the landslide. He is one of the brilliant young men of the republican party. He inherited large wealth. He is not an idler nor a trifler. He has been widely acclaimed as a doer of things and a very forward moving personage. Before the landslide came, many of the leaders of the Ohio electorate, regardless of political preference, predicted the election of Ingalls. Well, the rural voters had another viewpoint. They rallied to the call of White. They put him over by a large majority.

ASHURST OF ARIZONA A REPEALER

Senator Ashurst of Arizona has ever been a dry. Now he has changed front. Asserting that "honest and good faith require that platform pledges be kept," the veteran from Arizona has announced he will vote to submit a prohibition repeal amendment. This is his alibi: "The demagogues would make themselves embezzlers of power if they refused to live up to their own political platform promises." He reminded his fellow citizens that the people of Arizona at the recent election changed their organic law and repealed state prohibition, and that his plain duty required that he vote to carry out their mandate on this subject. In other words he bows to the will of the people of Arizona as expressed by the ballot box verdict and will vote accordingly should the pro issue bob up at the December session of a very lame duck congress. Well, the people are said to be the masters. If they are not the masters, when American democracy is a failure.

HENRY FORD CLOSES HIS IRISH PLANT

Henry Ford has closed the plant of the Ford Motor Company in Cork, Ireland, for an indefinite period. Incidentally the Ford plant had been making tractors for export to every country in Europe. Indeed, the business was of such importance that in 1930, shortly after the plant started, the Free State started making its own commercial treaties with European countries in order to facilitate the exporting of tractors. In an Irish village not far from the city of Cork there is a cemetery where the forebears of the wizard of Michigan sleep the last sleep of mortals. President De Valera appears to be playing havoc with the industries and the foreign commerce of the Irish Free State. This old world appears to be upside down, and the Free Staters had to be in the huddle.

ANOTHER JOB FOR LAME DUCK CHARLES CURTIS

Davis W. Mulvane, a noted republican leader of congress, died the other day. He had been a member of the national committee of his party for many years. Now Kansas republicans are planning to elect Vice President Charles Curtis as successor of Mulvane on and after March 4 of the coming year. Mulvane was a famous lawyer, a clever political strategist, a man of wealth and high social position, and he played the game of politics because he loved the game. President Hoover snubbed him. Hoover selected William Allen White and Henry J. Allen as his advisers in the Sunflower State. What happened to the advisers as well as the president and his administration in Kansas on general election day is ancient history. THEY WERE STAMPEDED.

JOHN BULL AND CHICAGO WORLD EXPOSITION

John Bull, representing the British Empire, had made his plans for a huge British exhibit at the coming Chicago exposition. Now he has declared it off "due to the high cost involved." All of which is a reminder that the British Empire and others of the European nations spend $1,500,000,000 annually for the upkeep of their costly armies and navies. And yet the most powerful of these nations admit their inability to pay their war loans to the United States.

Ability plus tact, plus cleverness, plus honesty make success, and that is what we are all striving for.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson
STEWARDSHIP OF MONEY

Text: Mark 1:16-20; Acts 26:12-19

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 27.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist.

While this lesson on the stewardship of life succeeds that on the stewardship of money, it should really be first, because if the life is light in its elemental motives and purposes all else should follow. A man who has consecrated his life to a high or holy cause will not be found wanting in the consecration of his possessions.

But it means a great deal to consecrate one's life to a cause—more than most of us realize. We are all born into certain environments, and with many of us these environments determine at least the outward circumstances of our lives. We are thrown into a particular way of living or into a particular business, and the thought of life apart from that way or that particular position is full of adventurous, if not of disrupting, circumstances.

In some, the spirit of adventure lies deep. The things that bind them to the ordinary routine of life and the relationships of family and community are slight, or they are even bonds that chafe and that are quickly and rudely broken.

It is interesting to study the types of people who heard the call and followed Jesus. It was a very exacting call. It is true that he suggested to some who would follow him that they ought to go and attend to the duties at home, but those whom he welcomed into the inner circle of discipleship were as definitely taken out of their ordinary environment.

When the disciple said, "We have left all and followed thee," he was speaking the literal truth, for it was nothing less than this that Jesus had commanded.

The interesting thing is that among these disciples we find, apparently, both type of people—both the adventurous spirits, ambitious and ready for anything, and the quieter, guileless souls whose renunciation of every thing to follow Jesus meant an intense wrench in their lives, something that they could only have accepted after the most conscientious thought.

Religion needs both types today, and Christian consecration in its ultimate nature and its effect means much the same for both. The significance of Jesus is to

to be ashamed of either their manners or their speech.

Lord Chesterfield said in a letter to his son: "Know then, that as learning, honor, and virtue are absolutely necessary to gain you the esteem and admiration of mankind; politeness and good breeding are equally necessary to make you welcome and agreeable in conversation and common life. Great talents, such as honor, virtue, learning, and parts, are above the generality of the world; who neither possess them, themselves nor judge of them rightly in others; but all people are judges of the lesser talents such as civility, affability, and an obliging agreeable address and manner; because they feel the good effects of them, as making society easy and pleasing."

Pray For Defeat Of Beer Measure

By United Press.

AUSTIN.—A concerted effort by brewers to prevent the return of beer is planned as a part of a statewide W. C. T. U. campaign. Mrs. Claude De Van Watts, state president, has issued a call for such prayers Dec. 5.

To Gain, a Child must

EAT

Mothers, it is not the stomach, but a bowel condition that keeps so many children from eating.

Parents shouldn't coax a child to eat. Nature knows best. Healthy children are hungry. If pale, listless and without appetite, they have stasis. Not to correct this sluggishness is inexcusable. Read what the "California treatment" is doing for ailing, sickly children all over the United States!

Nature provides a simple remedy for stasis. The only "medicine" required is some pure California syrup of figs. It stimulates a sluggish child's colon muscles and has no effect whatever on the twenty feet of intestines which strong purgatives paralyze.

Start this wonderful treatment today. Any druggist has California syrup of figs, all bottled, with full directions. Use enough at first to cleanse the clogged colon of every bit of poison and hard waste. Then just a little twice a week until the child's appetite, color, weight and spirits tell you the stasis is gone. It may take four weeks if a child is all run down, but isn't it well worth it, to have constipation conquered?

CAUTION

Some stores will try to sell a substitute, even when it is for a child! Be sure you get the real California Syrup of Figs.

JUDGE FINES MAN $20.
By United Press.
PUEBLO, Colo.—A cold, and not liquor, caused him to act a bit unusual, Claude Young testified in police court in answer to drunkenness charges. The judge listened to the story, but apparently decided that maybe it was the cold cure instead of the cold that was responsible, for he fined Young $20.

HITCH-HIKERS REACH GOAL... NOBLESVILLE, Ind.—A young couple who were married here last month and spent their honeymoon hitch-hiking to their future home in Hoquiam, Wash., have reached their destination safely, relatives here were informed. They were Miss Dorothy Vorvor, Noblesville, and W. L. Beckover, Tipton. They started the trip the day after they were married. They secured rides three-fourths of the distance to their new home, their message said. The journey required two weeks.

FIRE RAZES HISTORIC BARN.

FREEPORT, Pa.—A century-old building, said to be the second oldest structure in Freeport and once used as a stable for the historic Pennsylvania canal, was destroyed by fire recently. The structure, used as a dwelling in recent years, was built in March, 1832, it was said.

LABORATORY TESTS CHECK EFFICACY OF KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Show Why This Delicious Cereal Overcomes Common Constipation

There are scientific reasons for the success of All-Bran in preventing and relieving common constipation. Laboratory investigations show that it supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines; and vitamin B to promote appetite, and help tone the intestinal tract.

These two important food-elements aid regular habits, and help do away with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy, so often the result of constipation.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is lettuce in action—much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using pills and drugs—so often habit-forming!

Just eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's daily—enough for most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Besides, ALL-BRAN brings your body twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Huge Gar Stops Waterworks Plant

M'ALLEN, Texas.—He may have been the "kingfish" or garfish, but when he tackled the giant centrifugal pumps of the Pharr water district at Hidalgo, he met far more than his match. And that's why this particular gar was displaced from a truck in McAllen, later.

The pumps of the water plant became clogged. Workmen seeking to clear the turbines found the gar caught between the sides of the intake pipe and the turbine blade. He weighed 250 pounds and was seven feet, four inches in length, one of the largest of his kind ever caught in this vicinity.

PARIS STYLES

PARIS.—It is cold enough today to devote this discussion entirely to fur, the thicker and fluffier the better. Let's start then, with silver fox, applied to a winter coat in the Revidon manner. This well known Parisian furrier starts off with a black cloth coat, moulds it neatly to the figure, omitting a belt of any kind and placing the button that fastens it rather high on the left side, giving it an Empire suggestion. The sleeves are straight and narrow. The collar is the focal point, which is why the rest of the coat is so utterly and completely simple. The shape of it is pelerine—capish—with wide bands of fox bordering in both at the neck and all the way around the lower edge.

LONDON POLICE FIGHT RIOTERS

When thousands of hunger marchers advanced on Hyde Park, London, Oct. 27, they were joined by mobs from the slum districts of London who stoned and attacked a police guard near the Marble Arch. Bitter fighting followed in which 77 were injured, including a score of police. The hunger armies, did not participate in the rioting. Franchon swinging police finally subdued the rioters and in this cabled picture of the rioting mounted and foot police may be seen driving back the attacking groups.

After all, what right has a critic to say a thing is good or bad or excellent? Is he a genius with a great foresight into the selection of an undying of this world? Somehow, the critic never agrees, and that's no compliment to the writer. In fact, it is a compliment to his I. Q. I find myself in a show, laughing, loving, suffering with the stars and come away dejected it was a marvelous production and having for days over my head the light and costume and suddenly discover that the thing has been given one star or half a star or a dozen half-stars, determining that I shall be more merciful, I go forth to do my own criticizing. The thing is rotten, there is no plot, it is without merit, and, with a hopeful smile, I sit back to read the critic's review of it all. According to him, it was a success; the heroine stood the right moment and the hero's suffering was a marvelous bit of acting. Critics? I know it's a good thing we have them, without their deep thought and wise interpretation it should all be misjudging every thing from politics to love and back again.

university, with all the trimmings that go along with a degree, but somehow I'm afraid he'll never be a success. Already he's in business, thanks to his dad, but he doesn't seem to know how to be nice to people. . . his sales appeal is all wrong. I've talked with him a number of times and was surprised to find his mind glued to the rut of love and life. A man with a college degree behind him, a business with him, and a confident hope for the future before him should develop a normal conversational habit, at least. When I think of him I often wonder what his professors would think if they might see him now. . . perhaps they would nod knowingly and say "We knew it. A school can't make a man if there's nothing there to build on."

Lamapasas is scheduled to hold their first scout rally of the year Saturday, Nov. 26, where troops will compete in scout activities, relay races, and first aid.

Brownwood Pow-Wow.

The Brownwood district scoutmasters' pow-wow was held in Blanket Monday night with O. E. Winebrinner, chairman, in charge of the program. Topics for discussion were good turns that the troops might be able to do during Christmas and Thanksgiving. The 10-year program which starts off with the president's award during Anniversary week, the eagle scout camp which is to be held at Camp Billy Gibbons during the week after Christmas, and others.

A nice supper was given to all attending. The next pow-wow will be held in Brownwood the third Monday in December.

Week-end MURDER

By GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH

© 1932 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Amos Peabody, elderly cousin of Linda Averill, falls to his death from the second floor balcony of the Averills' Long Island home. Linda reaches him just before he dies, in time to hear him gasp, "He pushed me—!"

There are four guests in the house and all become suspects of the murder. All are strong physically, have violent tempers and all have quarreled with Cousin Amos. The four are: Mr. Statlander, mid-western manager of the firm Averill works for; Marvin Pratt, former suitor of Linda's; Captain DeVos, handsome Belgian representing a European perfume manufacturer; and Lian Shaughnessy, Irish writer and lecturer.

Linda, realizing her cousin had tried to tell her he was murdered, rushes up the stairs to the balcony. Someone steps behind her, tries to strangle her and she falls in a faint.

She regains consciousness several hours later. It is assumed the death was accidental and that Linda fainted from shock. When she is finally able to tell Tom what happened Linda insists they must keep the four guests with them until they discover which is the murderer. There is no evidence on which to arrest any one of the four. Tom hesitates, finally agrees.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XV

Linda glanced again at the clock. After half-past 10—how the time sped by! Tom was still to be convinced and some plan to be agreed upon to hold the house party together.

"We must think of some way of keeping them here," she went on, "without giving everything away. Tell them—well, I thought perhaps I could appeal to them. I could say—and it's true, Tom—that this was partly a business conference and therefore it would hurt you at the office if you didn't put it through. That would apply to Mr. Statlander and Mr. DeVos. You do have to talk to them, don't you? I could appeal to Marvin—if I could get him alone—"

Her husband's face hardened but Linda hurried ahead; "I'd ask him as an old friend to stand by me because you had to be occupied a good deal with business. As for Mr. Shaughnessy—well, he's a sponge, anyhow. A graceful, charming sponge, but the sort that's all for himself and probably has planned to spend a week or so in our garage at our expense. He won't need to be coaxed."

"That sounds plausible," Tom considered it while she anxiously studied his face. Would he agree? No, he wouldn't—yes, he might—no! "But Binks, it just won't work. Put yourself in their places—a death in the family—"

"But Tom, we can tell them we hardly knew Cousin Amos—"

"Even so."

"And all the festivities planned for the Fourth of July week-end! Perhaps we can't go to dinners and bridge parties, but they could."

"But if they did stay, Binks, what could we possibly do?"

She breathed more easily. At least he was taking her seriously—considering this desperate suggestion.

"Talk to each one separately and notice how they answer, as well as what they say. They'll talk about the accident perfectly naturally with us. We can ask leading questions without seeming to and then meet and analyze what we've found out and go back and talk with them more. Oh, Tom, don't you see it's the only way! The one who did it is sure to give himself away by some perfectly unconscious slip. But it needs time—and so they simply mustn't go, they mustn't!"

He nodded slowly.

"I see that, all right. It's a crazy stunt—but it's that or nothing."

She cut in eagerly. "Then let's go right away, Tom, and find them. I'm ready—"

"New wait, Binks. Don't be in too much of a hurry."

Although she knew of old that his common sense decisions were slower but also more thorough than her quicker impulses, his caution infuriated her, so highly was she keyed for action.

"Tom! It's 11 o'clock. In an hour—in an hour they'll be gone for good, especially if we fumble it. I want to think how to go about this. First we must persuade them to stay, then get together for our first conference and decide on the story of what happened to you—"

"I fainted—"

"That's easy," she interrupted, "Not so easy as that. Remember, one of them knows."

"Yes. Their eyes met."

"Binks," said Tom quietly, "I shouldn't consider this for one moment."

"But you've agreed to it!"

"Yes. But I'm going to make one condition."

"What's that?"

"The agreement is dissolved at any moment if I think I'm justified. Think, dearest," as she began to protest, "you haven't really taken in yet what it means. It means—"

(as he spoke his words seemed to reach her through some shell that had not been penetrated before) "it means that here, right in our house, there is a killer—a man without mercy and, possibly, insane. A homicidal maniac! And that sort is insane only until he kills. Then he's as cool and clever and as sane, or more so, than most of us. One of these four men—Pratt, Shaughnessy, Statlander, DeVos—is certainly a murderer and may be a homicidal maniac. Do you take it in now?"

"Yes," she answered in a whisper.

"And you don't want to call the police and have them all questioned?"

"No. Again the faintest breath of sound. Then, more strongly, as he passed, perplexed, "It wouldn't do any good, Tom. That—that sort of man would get away. We mustn't alarm him—"

"But you know we are doing a risky—a crazy—thing. That either of us—you or I—may be—"

"Stop!" She put her hand over his mouth. "I can't hear you say that, Tom! I know—I realize—now. But we must—wait! To-day's Saturday. We'll find some way to keep them until Monday morning. That, you see, will give us the rest of today and all tomorrow—Sunday. Everything we find or guess or even imagine we'll report to each other. We'll get something, I know that, Tom. But I promise this. If by, say, after dinner tomorrow night, we haven't a thing, not a ghost of an idea, or anything stronger, you can do whatever you want—call up Tom Hanahan or go get him or—"

"Him?" Tom was contemptuous of the local policeman's aid.

"Binks, to capture a man like this you'll need a squad—and then watch every move you make!"

"That's for you to take care of. Whom to call and how to do it. Whether we locate him or whether we give it up and call for help, that's your job, Tom—to bring it off. My job's to keep them here and happy and unsuspecting."

"And we're both to find out what we can—if we can."

"And compare notes. Often!"

"Agreed!"

They shook hands on it solemnly. And there came a tap at the door.

Rosie stood on the threshold and her eyes were troubled.

"Please sit," she said, "it's Tom Hanahan. He's very urgent, sir. He says he must see you at once, sir—and Madame, too, if she's able—which I told him she was not."

Rosie spoke with a sudden access of asperity that suggested her tone to the young village policeman who had the misfortune—so far as authority in that household went—to have married Rosie's sister Tessie, her predecessor in the Averills' service.

There was conscious guilt in the glances the two conspirators exchanged, but Linda quickly covered her surprise.

"Certainly I'm able, Rosie—though thank you for trying to save me the bother. Will Tom come up here?"

Again Rosie tossed her head, but she was reluctantly compelled to pass on the commands of the

"He will not, ma'am. He says, will the master be so good as to step downstairs at once, and if you cannot come too, then he will come up later. And already he has made so free as to use the tillphone without asking your permission and has called Dr. Parsons. I heard him give the number and well I know it myself."

Linda rallied first.

"Tell Tom we'll be right down, Rosie," she said almost sharply. "But of us."

And as the girl hesitated she added, "I'm feeling quite myself now, thank you, Rosie. And we won't keep him waiting." The dismissal was definite and the girl moved off slowly. She was not going to hurry for brother-in-law Tom Hanahan.

Linda grasped Tom's arm as much for physical support as to whisper anxiously to him, "Tom—do they know?"

"It looks queer, Binks. Phoning for Parsons—"

"Was Tom here—before?"

"No. Parsons reported the accident. He tried the police station when he was hunting for Boyle, but he took it for granted it was an accident and of course so did Tom."

"Especially in our house."

"Yes. Tom's entirely too much one of the family—even if it's only by adoption—to suspect us of anything so ungentle as murder."

"But something has happened!"

"Yes—something—"

"Well, come on, Tom. We won't find out this way."

"Be careful what you say, Binks. Let him do the talking."

She flashed him a glance of mingled scorn and agreement and together they went down the short hall, down the graceful winding stairs and into the central living room, still redolent of flowers and open to every passing whisper of air that might stir on that hot July day. Here, hat in hand, obviously embarrassed, perspiring apologetically in his official uniform, stood honest Tom Hanahan, dreading as much as they the approaching interview in which he must assume the position of authority.

They had hardly greeted him when there was a furious spurt of gravel from the roadway and the doctor's little roadster swung dangerously around the curving drive and came to a violent stop before their open door. From the roadster, as though catapulted by the arrested momentum of the car, shot the doctor himself, as red-faced as Tom and far more agitated.

"What's this—what's all this nonsense?" he burst out before he was fairly in the door.

(To Be Continued)

At the Chicago World's Fair in 1933, a building made of paper will be exhibited. And that's a pretty good use for some of the paper we've heard of during the last few years.

"I'm a 30-mile-an-hour driver... but I want the 100-mile-an-hour oil!"

MAYBE YOU SAY, "Thirty miles-an-hour is fast enough for me. I don't speed and probably never will!" . . . Yet the oil you use should be the 100-mile-an-hour motor oil—GULF SUPREME! Why? Because the oil that is good at 100 miles an hour is a far better, safer oil at any speed—high or low! It is better able to conquer engine heat! Better able to halt wear! Better able to forestall repairs and cut lubrication bills!

Gulf Supreme has proved its ability to take super-punishment! Proved it in two of the most gruelling tests an oil could get. . . In a great testing laboratory, Gulf Supreme successfully lubricated a roaring motor under nearly twice the heat of the normal speeding engine for 14 solid hours! And on August 8, 1932, it amazed racing drivers by out-performing specially-made "racing oils" on the famous Indianapolis Speedway! Under Official AAA Supervision, it lubricated a thundering Duesenberg racer for a non-stop one-hour run—at an average speed greater than 100 miles-an-hour! A speed which frequently reached nearly two miles a minute!

Take this advice. . . Switch to Gulf Supreme! Prove its ability to take super-punishment—cost repair and lubrication costs—in your motor!

WARNING!

Thanksgiving Day in Eastland

For the first time in several social seasons in Eastland, Thanksgiving day passed without being marked by some big social function of some kind.

But the day was passed quietly with morning services at two churches, and a brilliant pageant and elaborate mid-prayer week service in the evening, with the usual run of family dinner parties. These formed the schedule of activities of Thanksgiving day in Eastland.

An early 7 o'clock morning service was held in the First Christian church when a program of songs and praise formed the service, led by Rev. C. W. Lipse, the pastor, with Mrs. James A. Beard as accompanist for the song service.

The union services held at the Church of God at 10 a. m. was opened by Rev. J. W. Batdorf, pastor of the church, with prayer led by Rev. C. W. Lipse, the pastor, with Mrs. James A. Beard as accompanist for the song service.

An uplifting song service was led by Prof. Barnard of Warner college. The voice solo, "The Shepherd Boy," was wonderfully given by the leader, with Mrs. Barnard as accompanist. The service closed with prayer by Judge Clyde L. Garrett of the Baptist church.

A collection for the fund for associated charities was taken.

An interesting program was presented as a part of the prayer meeting service in the Baptist church.

Mrs. S. C. Walker, president of the Women's Missionary society, presented a Bible reading, and a playlet was given by members of the Royal Ambassadors and Girls' Auxiliary of the Junior Missionary society of the church.

This little act was directed by Mrs. J. P. Truly and Mrs. Lee Bishop.

The Methodist church presented a pageant on colonial days, that drew a crowded house.

Thanksgiving Dinners

Of the many quiet and happy Thanksgiving celebrations held in Eastland that of the family gathering at the H. P. Brelsford home proved most happy to ex-Senator Brelsford, whose sons gathered to do him honor at the family table.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brelsford of Tyler, Homer Brelsford of Tyler, who joined his wife here, and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Brelsford of Eastland, and Senator and Mrs. H. P. Brelsford. On account of business, Harry Brelsford of Fort Worth was unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Mouser had as their Thanksgiving dinner guests Mrs. J. M. Armstrong and her two children. The table was laid for host and hostess, their son John Mouser Jr., and their guests, Mr. Armstrong is in West Texas and will return Sunday after a week's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Satterwhite entertained at noon Thanksgiving dinner Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Johnson, Mrs. Ted Warner of Marshall, their sister, who is visiting Mrs. Satterwhite, but returns home tomorrow, and son, Billy Satterwhite.

Prof. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell's table seated their son Jack, home from college for the Thanksgiving holidays; their daughter Faynette and guests, Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Williams, and son Milan Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Perkins entertained with a 1 o'clock dinner, Judge and Mrs. J. E. Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. James Horton and Horace Horton, other places being laid for Betty Dorothy and Bobby Perkins.

Mrs. Bula B. Connelley had as her guests Thanksgiving day, her daughter Jane, who is here from College of Industrial Arts in Denton, for the holidays; her son, James Whittington, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Chastain.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Collins and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Eppler of Abilene, here for the week-end, were dinner guests on Thanksgiving day in Gorman.

Mrs. Bessie Chastain Terrell left Wednesday for Birmingham, Ala., to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her husband, Charles E. Terrell, of that city.

Mrs. R. W. Patterson, who has spent several months with her daughter, Mrs. M. L. Keasler, left for Midland in time to be with Mrs. C. E. Patterson and family on Thanksgiving day, the beginning of a visit with her daughter-in-law, whose husband passed away a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Conley had as their guests for Thanksgiving dinner Mrs. Conley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bunkley, and family, of Breckenridge.

Talahi Group Busy Girls. The Talahi Camp Fire Girls had a splendid meeting, conducted by their president, Kathleen Cottingham, when much enthusiasm was expressed over the project of selling pretty Christmas cards from which receipts they will secure money for their treasury.

They decided to pay their $1 dues at their meeting next Tuesday afternoon.

Saturday, tomorrow, afternoon, the girls will sell candy, downtown, and all those going to sell are asked to meet at the Cottingham home at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Tom Harrell, guardian, attended the meeting, and members present were Lurline Brawner, Margaret Frye, May Gates, Edith Brock, Helen Butler, Audrey Faye Taylor, Joyce Newman, and Elizabeth Ann Harrell.

Boys' Literary Society

The Boys' Literary society of the Eastland high school held an interesting meeting Tuesday that was called to order by the president, Keith McLaughlin.

The roll was checked and the minutes of the preceding meeting were adopted as read.

The study of "Famous Men" brought extremely interesting sketches. Sam Butler told of Charles Beard, the historian, and Miss Ward, the club sponsor, sketched the life and history of Harry Fostick, theologian.

Home Canning In County Is Decided Success

By J. C. ALLISON
During the growing season of this year Eastland county probably yielded the greatest crop of produce in its history. The problem of many people became that of securing means of saving this produce for future use. Due to the continued depression and the prevailing low price of commodities many families were not able to purchase containers for these fruits and vegetables.

In order to relieve this condition Miss Ruth Ramey, Home Demonstration Agent for the county, suggested to the Commissioners' Court that the county buy the cans and jars and furnish them to these people for a half of the products in containers after they had been filled. This idea met the approval of the court and was adopted.

As a result of this plan the county issued cans, bought from the various dealers over the county, for a period of two and one-half months during the vegetable season to these needy families. This was done in connection with the extension program which was in progress at that time. There are about 1920 farms in this county, and this program was inaugurated in an effort of the demonstration department to reach and benefit at least eighty-five percent of the families on these farms.

In the distribution of these cans and other containers, Miss Ramey was assisted by club members in various parts of the county. Mrs. Burkhead, member of the North Star club as Rising Star and chairman of the County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs, acquired the honor of distributing more of these containers than any other member. She distributed them to 122 families.

Other members helping were: Mrs. N. J. Lewis, Orla; Mrs. E. E. Todd, Gorman; Mrs. Sadie Garner, Cook; Mrs. Roy Allen, Nimrod; Mrs. Louis Pitcock, Ranger.

Through the efforts of these ladies 47,075 cans were distributed to needy families over the county and 25,537 were returned filled to the Commissioners' Court. There have been stored in the Highway Department of the court house and there, stacked tier upon tier, make an imposing sight. The contents will be used at the jail in feeding the prisoners, at the county home in feeding the inmates, at the city-county hospital for the patients and distributed to destitute families at various places in the county during the winter months. This will enable the court to render assistance to a larger number of people at less cost than possible to do so by other means.

The contents of these jars and cans represent a large variety of products; in fact nearly every fruit and vegetable produced in the county. In the assortment are found apples, peaches, cranberries, melons, peas, corn, okra, squash, greens, beans, potatoes, pumpkins and cucumbers. Contrary to the belief of some people, these containers are well filled and the percentage of spoiling has been very small, in fact not to exceed one per cent. This is a low figure for even the average family that does a great deal of canning.

It is just a bit interesting to do a little figuring as to values involved in this venture. The 47,075 cans issued were valued at $1,825.37 and the 25,537 returned filled are valued at $5,328.90. The difference in these two figures shows a net value to the county of $3,503.53. This is no small matter when it is considered how much relief these canned products will give to the families thus aided, how much it will save in the operating expense of the different institutions that will benefit therefrom, and the assistance it will enable the county to render to needy people.

Going beyond the activities of the commissioners' court in canning we find some general facts of interest concerning the county. The 228 club members in the county have put on 110,500 containers of fruits and vegetables, an average of 480 to the family. Most are
