'Ultimatum' From Oil Company Is Charged

If Junior is skeptical of Santa's delivering all the Christmas gifts, don't let him talk to the mailman. He seems to be burdened with doubts about it, too.

"HOLIDAY" IS PROPOSED FOR COTTON STATES

By United Press.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 29.—Proposals for a cotton "holiday" in 1934 and a demand to abolish the federal farm board, produced heated argument today at the opening session of the south-wide cotton conference.

The conference is meeting to obtain unified action for some plan seeking to raise the price of cotton.

Two plans were proposed. One would regulate marketing of cotton through gins. This plan provides for an estimate of world cotton demand "at a reasonable price." This amount is to be apportioned among the growers. Gin tickets would be necessary to enable the grower to have his cotton ginned, thus keeping a check on the marketing.

State Senator W. B. Roberts of Mississippi proposes a cotton holiday in 1934 when no cotton would be raised. Along with the holiday he would have congress pass legislation to permit loans to farmers to pay their taxes for the next two years and this would be followed by a moratorium on farm mortgage foreclosures.

San Angelo Branch Bank Loans Now Total One Million

By United Press.
SAN ANGELO, Dec. 29.—The San Angelo branch of the Agricultural Credit Corporation Federal Farm Loan bank, today passed the $1,000,000 in cash loans since its opening on Sept. 15.

The bank has loaned $1,013,595 to 87 borrowers. Local officers said this amount is double the loans from the other two Texas branches at Fort Worth and Houston.

Conservationists To Meet January 9

By United Press.
FORT WORTH, Dec. 29.—More than 5,000 members of the Texas Oil and Gas Conservation association have been asked to attend the first annual membership meeting here Jan. 9 "because of the urgency for concentration upon present conditions."

President Charles F. Rosser is planning the program. At present three speakers have been secured, Lowry Martin of Corsicana, president of the Texas Press association; John Kilgore, Wichita Falls oil man, and E. O. Thompson, Texas railroad commissioner.

The association has 5,118 members. At the meeting here the problem of conserving Texas' wealth in oil and gas will be discussed, and new officers, an executive committee and 18 sectional vice presidents will be named.

Panhandlers Get Tickets for Food

By United Press.
WICHITA FALLS.—The old approach, "Can you spare the price of a cuppa coffee, mister?" has been replaced here for "How about a ticket, mister?"

It was the idea of the Salvation Army.

Many business men were reluctant to give money to jobless men who approached them for fear the money would not go to buy necessary food and shelter for deserving ones.

So the Salvation Army issued tickets, redeemable in food at the Army kitchen. These were sold to the business men so those in need would be cared for.

Coupon books containing 10 tickets were sold for $1.

A dormitory has been opened for transients by the Salvation Army. There is room for 100 men in the room equipped with cots loaned by the United States army post at Fort Sill, Okla.

Model Curiosity To Art Students

By United Press.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—A young Frenchman who models for a drawing class at Harvard University has excited the curiosity of the students.

He arrives at the class with two small satchels strapped to the handlebars of his bicycle. Into one of the bags he puts his clothes. In the other he carries a small dog that guards the clothes while he masters his posing. After the class the dog jumps back into the satchel, and the model puts on his satchel, and the model puts on his clothes and pedals home.

"Next Speaker" Also Has "Working Wife"

Assuming his election as speaker of the new House, which Washington observers believe now is a foregone conclusion, Congressman Henry Thomas Rainey will be the second in succession whose wife also is his secretary. Mrs. Ella McBride Rainey, who is on the House payroll, is shown here at work with her husband. The Rainey's, when not in Washington, live on a 500-acre farm near Carrollton, Ill.

DECLINE SEEN IN PURCHASE OF CRUDE OIL

By United Press.
AUSTIN, Dec. 29.—Sharp declines in proposed oil purchases for January, February and March, 1933, was shown in nominations filed with the state railroad commission today.

For West Texas, nominations in November were 378,000 barrels a day, had calls for 304,123 barrels daily in January.

For West Central Texas the figure for January was 13,297 barrels.

Elected 9 Times Without Contest

By United Press.
AUSTIN.—Axel Philquist, clerk of the Third Court of Civil Appeals, has the remarkable record of having held one of the "best" political offices in Travis county nine terms without ever running for it.

He first was appointed district clerk to fill out an unexpired term. When the time for election came around, one man tentatively announced as a candidate against Philquist.

"He could have beaten me," Philquist admits, "but so many people told him he couldn't that he did not make the race."

After that no one ever ran against Philquist.

He had been renominated on the democratic ticket for another term when he was tendered appointment to the clerkship of the appellate court and accepted.

Philquist's sole recipe for holding public office easily is: "I never forget I am holding a public office. I try to be an accommodating a month after election day as a month after."

Actors Claim Same Old Home Town

By United Press.
INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—Thirty motion picture actors now in Hollywood can claim Independence as their "old home town."

The actors left here recently for the movie capital via first class express, crated securely and with plenty of bread and water.

They—30 hooches and monkeys from the Horn Zoo—were sent to their owner, Sherman Horn, and soon are to make their debuts in the screen.

Woodward Against Any Tax Increase

By United Press.
DALLAS, Dec. 29.—State Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman predicted here today "somebody is going to get killed" if the 43rd legislature increases taxes.

Woodward declared against any increase in taxation, either by raising existing taxes or seeking new sources of revenue except, perhaps on golf balls and chasing gum.

FLOOD DANGER PASSES

By United Press.
EL PASO, Dec. 29.—Flood danger to New Mexico farm lands resulting from an ice jam was removed today when the ice was broken with dynamite.

HOUSE ORGANIZES NEW FARM BLOC

American farmers ran amuck Nov. 8 and they voted out of power the Hoover administration and the republican party. All the great farm belts of America voted for a change in the federal administration and placed a mandate in the hands of Roosevelt and Garner and the democrats who will control both houses of the new congress.

HOOVER WILL NAME HIS OWN COMMISSION

President Hoover is a bull-headed individual at times. He has decided to name his own commission "to revise the war debts." Democrats are said to be holding aloof. That is, senatorial and house leaders of the democracy. A vote of non-confidence in the Hoover administration was declared by the American electorate Nov. 8.

Hopes are being entertained in some places that this is the last year of the depression. It is the fervent prayer of all that these hopes will be realized.

REVOLT BY VOTE' KEY OF 1932

POLITICS, FACE TO FACE WITH GRAVEST U. S. AND WORLD CRISIS, ENTERS 'NEW ERA'

Editor's Note: This is one of three stories reviewing the world's progress of 1932 in various fields.
By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON.—Political history has had one of its most crowded, memorable years.

The nation jumped from a Hoover plurality of 6,000,000 in 1928 to a Roosevelt plurality of 7,000,000. Four years ago it elected a House of Representatives with 267 Republicans and 163 Democrats, but in 1932 it elected one of 313 Democrats and 117 Republicans. The senate lineup changes from a Republican margin of 17 to a Democratic plurality of 23.

The other momentous political development was the rush of voters and politicians from the dry side to the wet side of the prohibition issue. The year ends—as it did not begin—with the doom of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act apparently certain.

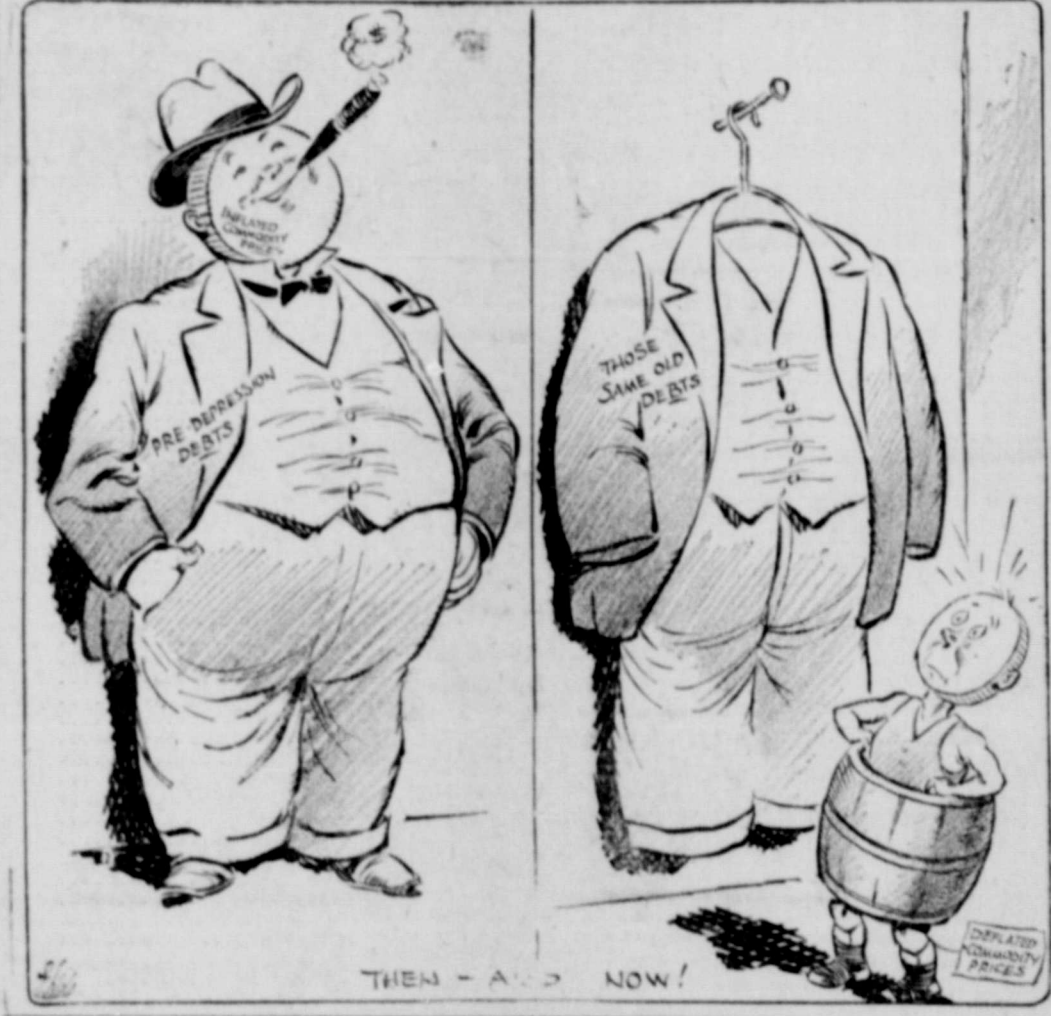

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was created to bolster banks, railroads and insurance companies. It was first authorized to lend up to $2,000,000,000, then allowed $1,500,000,000 to lend for self-liquidating public works and $300,000,000 which it might lend to states and cities for unemployment relief.

Congress also authorized $325,000,000 for emergency public works, and extended facilities for farm credit. It passed the Glass-Steagall bill liberalizing the gold reserve provisions of the Federal Reserve act and the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction bill, long sought by organized labor.

Franklin D. Roosevelt had been edging nearer the Democratic nomination since his overwhelming re-election as governor of New York in 1930. A dramatic personal struggle developed when his old friend Al Smith, incensed at something or other, branded him as a "demagogue," and finally went to Chicago in a desperate attempt to defeat him.

Roosevelt had gathered in most of the southern and western delegates with the conspicuous exception of the Garner delegations from Texas and California. He was close to the required two-thirds majority—770. The chorus of his enemies was that "Roosevelt can't be elected."

But He's Still Paying for the Suit!

eral troops who tear-gassed and drove the 8000 veterans of the "bonus army" out of Washington. That action stands as one of the most serious political blunders of all time. By the president sent out 8000 propagandists, violently embittered, out to campaign against him. Whatever its appeal to the conservative, propertied classes, the incident enraged countless veterans and poor citizens.

The Republican campaign leadership proved woefully inept. Cabinet members, led by Secretary of the Treasury Mills and Secretary of War Hurley, made few converts on an electoral map. By the political observers that it cost Hoover upwards of a million votes.

ribbed Republican state but Pennsylvania, Vermont and Maine, carrying only those and New Hampshire, Connecticut and Delaware. The Republican "Old Guard" in the Senate was wiped out, with such celebrities as Senators Smoot, Watson and Moses passing into disarray.

The failure of this present Congress, previously dry, to vote for repeal by a mere six votes on the opening day of this session indicates how amazingly the old republicans adopted resubmission after a hot repeal fight, and the enormous Democratic convention vote of 934 to 213 for straight repeal and quick modification.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

We aren't the best of friends, but he turned out to be just the tonic I needed yesterday. He didn't know I had the blues . . . I hardly knew I had them, myself. I just knew that I felt like the world was on its back and kicking all the helpless inhabitants around at an awful rate. Anyhow, he laughed and said some nice little something that didn't cost him a thing . . . not even a great amount of energy. And I laughed back for etiquette's sake and suddenly discovered I felt better for the smile. And he went on his way never knowing how he had helped me with his careless and friendly word. We, we aren't the best of friends, but I think a lot of him . . . and his smile. Try it sometime. It's much better than a capsule.

last lap of a still somewhat popular loveless love and milkless milk, how about the disputes the anti-war student leaders are getting themselves into. They might adopt the slogan, "We approve of no war except among ourselves while trying to establish peace." It looks like the world is trying to run itself negatively. And, since that's the way scientists fool around and discover things, I guess it's a pretty good idea.

Here comes Winnie Ruth Judd back into banners and headlines again. She is one morsel ever which newspapers lick their chops and beam, knowing she will sell the paper for the day herself. Of course there isn't any news about her today . . . she just merely appeared before the grand jury and that's all we know, but her name is there . . . and the public is there to lap the story up. Mr. Brisbane says the suicide or murder or whatever it was that ended the lives of the two young persons in a tourist camp in Colorado is a silent witness to the fact that prohibition has worked perfectly even in Colorado—two bottles were found beside them, one empty, one containing liquor. And while we're being sarcastic, Mrs. Judd is another "silent" witness that the murder laws have worked perfectly, too. I still maintain: do away with all laws. They don't work, they aren't efficient, so why keep them? You see, I'm an anti . . . insane along with all the rest.

It is alarming to note that most of the great and successful men are succumbing to one or another of nature's fatal diseases. While the fact is undoubtedly saddening, it is an outlet to those who would be something but are forever waiting that there aren't any places open. With each death another space is left empty . . . for you. So as long as there is death there's hope . . . for someone. The trouble is, it's so much easier to step into the alley rat's place than climb the shaky ladder to the top where we cast longing eyes. But even the rat's gutter is shaky these days, so that's no excuse.

Delightful Christmas Tea

Mrs. John W. Turner, Hostess
The attractive home of Mrs. John W. Turner was aglow with Christmas lights Wednesday afternoon, when a number of guests were received in compliment to Mrs. Thomas Butler, son of Eastland; Mrs. Curtis Scovell of Sealdon; Mrs. and Mrs. R. L. Nelson of Abilene.

The entire home was a bower in artistic reflection of the holiday season, in decorations of graceful tracteries of holly, wreathes in windows; mantels masked in mistletoe, interlaced with red lighted tapers in silver stocks, and dominating the mistletoe wreathed buffet.

The tea table was a charming arrangement in silver, scarlet and green. A silver basket filled with red carnations, centered the silver rimmed mirror reflector and was further emphasized by the four green lighted candles in silver holders that covered the arrangement. Silver trays of fruit cake, nut cakes, stuffed dates, Christmas candies, and toasted nuts, interspersed the madonia covered table, and were daintily served to room guests by little Misses Helen Butler and Kathleen Cottingham, in pretty party frocks.

The handsome silver tea service was presided over by Mrs. T. F. Galbraith of Seymour, Ind., the house guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Armstrong.

Callers thronged the house during the receiving hours from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Turner was assisted throughout the afternoon by Mrs. Carl Springer, Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, Mrs. W. K. Hyer, Mrs. W. E. Chaney, Mrs. Virgil T. Seabery and Mrs. L. V. Witcher, who were informally assigned various hospitable duties.

The honorees, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Scovell and Mrs. Nelson received with the hostess.

The tea list embraced: Misses Harry Taylor, Homer Brelsford, Sr., O. C. Funderburk, J. E. Hickman, W. E. Jackson, B. W. Patterson, J. R. McLaughlin, George A. Davidson, Earl Conner, W. T. Garrett, Bryan Brelsford, H. S. Howard, Neal Day, Alex Clarke, Phillips, Homer Brelsford, Jr., L. E. Edwards, Scott W. Key, J. E. Lewis, Walter L. Clark, McCurdy, James Horton, J. M. Peckham, George M. Weaver, Millburn McCarty, C. U. Connelley, P. G. Russell, George L. Davenport, Joe H. Jones, Oscar F. Chastain, Charles Tarrell, Elsie Johnson, Jack Williamson, K. R. Tanner, Grady Williams, James H. Heathman, Sr., Harry Porter, E. E. Trenchard, Frank Weaver, W. B. Collins, Atry Bendy, W. B. McDonald, Leslie Gray, D. L. Childers, W. P. Leslie, A. H. Johnson, Curtis A. Hertz, James A. Jarbo, John D. McKee, B. M. Collier, Mrs. Newberry of Gorman, Mrs. Herbert Aid and Mrs. W. L. Gorton of Fort Worth, and Mrs. W. W. Waan of Washington, D. C., Misses Cecelia Haas, Merle Ticer, Jessie Lee Ligon, the members of the house party, and the honorees.

Talaki Group

Due to the holidays the membership of the Talaki group has become so scattered that there was no meeting held this week.

Mrs. Tom Harrell, their guardian, announces a regular meeting for next Tuesday, 7:30 p. m., at Eastland High school.

Special License Gift

For Ninetieth Birthday.
Henry S. Schmick, Eastland pioneer, had his ninetieth birthday celebrated in a novel and interesting way on Wednesday evening when in addition to a delicious birthday dinner at the family home of Mr. and Mrs. Schmick, the aged pioneer was presented a duplicate of the license received by his niece, Mrs. Agnes Harwood Doyle, which had just been awarded her as a licensed pilot by the government inspector, Mr. Delaney of Dallas, in Eastland, Wednesday to conduct her test.

Mr. Schmick is proud of the fact that his niece is the only woman pilot between Fort Worth and Abilene, and the first one in Eastland county.

In addition Dr. E. Roy Townsend presented Uncle Henry, as he is affectionately known, and who had struggled through the hardships of the primitive days of the county, by presenting a fur-lined and waterproof overgarment Dr. Townsend had used during the World-war, to Mrs. Doyle for use in had or cold flying weather.

This pioneer considered a contrast to the days when he was wrapped in wolf skins and defying the rigors of an unbroken wintery country during the war months.

The government official pleased Mr. Schmick with his instruction to Mrs. Doyle, to get in touch with the proper authorities in Washington concerning a license for the Eastland aviation field, and then secure the backing of the local citizens, endorsing the plan, and in this way he was confident a hangar would be assured as Eastland was, in his opinion, the logical center for an aviation field, with proper equipment.

Mr. Schmick's pleasure was completed since the delicious turkey dinner with his brother, Jim with evergreen and real holly, sprinkled with snow.

The lovely scene was further Schmick, who was the second sheriff of Eastland county, as an honor guest, and other places at the family table having the happy presence of Mrs. Schmick, or Aunt Sine and his niece Agnes.

Uncle Henry, the first sheriff of Eastland county, told many interesting tales of early adventures in the county history.

Surprise Dinner For

W. J. Herrington
Mrs. W. J. Herrington planned a delightful old fashioned noon dinner with friends to share the hospitable board, for Wednesday as a surprise for her husband, W. J., who was modestly celebrating his birthday.

One large and two small tables were arranged with places indicated for guests, by hand painted New Year's Day bells, the handiwork of the hostess, and in keeping with the pink flowers in small pots with pink and green frilly covers that centered the tables.

The menu of fruit cocktail was followed by second course of moulded tomato aspic on lettuce, with mayonnaise topping.

The dinner plate of turkey, rich accessories, green beans, beet pickles, and sweet potatoes, with marshmallow had last course of roast cake with whipped cream topping and coffee.

Deft little waitresses were Ruth Hearn and Faynette Campbell, who assisted the hostess.

Stories, jokes, and smokes for the men kept the little party at the table for this most enjoyable event, attended by Mrs. A. J. Campbell and daughter Faynette, Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Williams, and son, Milan, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hearn and daughter, Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Layton and son, Charles, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. R. Owen, Mrs. Tompkins, the mother of the hostess, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Herrington.

Circle Four Has

Infernal Session
Mrs. J. Tucker was an informal hostess to the session of Circle 4 of the Women's Missionary society, which met at her home Wednesday afternoon for a short program.

Several members of the Circle are ill, including the chairman, Mrs. R. L. Young, who has influenza.

Mrs. Carl Springer was co-hostess, joining the little group later in the afternoon.

An inspirational devotional from the 91st Psalm was conducted by Mrs. Tucker and prayer by Mrs. W. A. Owen, closed this period.

Mrs. J. P. Truly presented a fine personal service report, on behalf of chairman, absent on account of illness.

The closing chapter of "Pioneer Women," had a splendid interpretation presented by Mrs. A. J. Campbell.

The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Lewallen. The circle will hold its regular meeting the fourth Monday in January at the home of Mrs. Lily Herndon.

Dainty refreshments of fruit cake with whipped cream topping and tea with lemon were served.

Circle 2 Session

Called Off
Due to the illness of many members of the Circle 2 Women's Missionary society of the Baptist Church, the meeting announced for Wednesday afternoon was cancelled by the chairman, Mrs. W. P. Palm.

The circle will not meet under their regular date in January.

Charming Dinner

W. P. Palm Birthday
Mrs. W. P. Palm honored her husband's birthday with a very beautifully arranged dinner party at the family residence on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, when four small tables with combination score and place card designs in Santa Claus figures, indicated covers for the 16 guests, who helped the honor guest to enjoy the celebration of the anniversary of the not too many fruitful and useful years that have passed over his head.

The dinner was served buffet from the large dining table, arranged with a mirror representing a frozen lake, centered with Santa in his sleigh and with lake edged enhanced by tiny voices and dogs scampering around the lake shore, and the entire pageant lighted with red candles in green sticks. The outer edge of table bore the silver trays of sliced turkey with dressing; boats of gravy, sliced pickles, celery, cranberries in sauce; vegetable salad, hot rolls, and old-fashioned ambrosia with angel food cake, with whipped cream topping for the last course.

Laws May Suppress

Newspaper Stories
NEW ORLEANS.—Laws requiring newspapers to suppress stories of juvenile delinquents, and providing physical examination for children who repeat a grade in school more than once, were included in recommendations to the Children's Code Commission, at a sectional meeting of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher Association here.

Mrs. Edward Fowler, chairman of the legislative committee of the assembly, said that a law is necessary because even though a child may be acquitted of a charge made against him, the accusation and notoriety are apt to cling to him and cause further distress and delinquency.

Arcadia Has Sensational Hit in "I Am A Fugitive From A Chain Gang"

Paul Muni and Glenda Farrell, who are appearing in the new Warner Bros. dramatic sensation, "I Am A Fugitive From A Chain Gang." The film, which, according to reports, is one of the most unusual of the talkies has presented, is based on the autobiographical novel of Robert E. Burns, who twice escaped from a Southern chain gang, Mervyn LeRoy, known for the direction of such his as "Little Caesar" and, more recently, "Five Star Final," is credited with this hit as well. The picture opened Wednesday at the Arcadia to one of the largest houses for several months. It closes its local run today.

Modern Utopia Is Now a Reality in Texas Village

By United Press.
FORT WORTH.—No unemployed, depressions or hitch-hikers disturb the peace of Kristentad, tiny economic kingdom sheltered from the world by a pine-mile bend of the Brazos River, 45 miles from here.

Over the prosperous principality rules John B. Christensen with gentle hand. The blue-eyed farmer-lawyer once dreamed of a model community where people were self-sustaining, unwarred by surpluses or manipulations of world markets.

Kristentad, a "village" that sprawls over 6,000 acres of land, is the fulfillment of his dream.

Thirty families now live happily on the fertile, timbered land in the De Cordova bend of the Brazos. Kristentad bought the land in 1928 from former Postmaster General Albert Burleson.

Character and courage, as well as ability, were required of colonists. The acceptable settler was allowed to select a farm site at $40 per acre, 20 years allowed for payment, at 6 per cent.

Each colonist did things for himself, provided food for his own family before he produced a commodity for sale, for that is the unwritten law of the land.

From the start, Kristentad enforced a rule of "no waste." Scrap wood from the sawmill went to a charcoal plant, and later was sold to railroads and makers of chicken feed.

Discarded lumber was converted into chairs and other furniture. Hides from slaughtered beaver made chair seats. Today an old Ford engine powers the 10x15 job press that prints "The Interpreter," A Magazine of Good Things, for the people of Kristentad.

Time kills along the river front, a cement plant and other factories increase the self-dependence of the community. As the dairy herd grew, a cheese factory was planned.

There is no crime in Kristentad. Once two men disputed in the fields. A blow was struck. The quiet founder of the colony summoned a juror, the blame was fixed, the guilty man exiled.

Within a radius of 100 miles from the colony, 856,000 people toil in shops and offices, discuss prohibition and war debts, pray for prosperity.

But in the tiny kingdom of Kristentad there is peace, plenty and happiness.

Gold Nugget Is Found In Duck

By United Press.
EL PASO.—Finding of a cousin to a game that laid the golden eggs is no less unusual than the honesty of the man who made the discovery.

Oscar Johnson, sportsman here, killed eight wild ducks recently and gave them all away—only to a penniless young couple he never saw but of whom his landlady had told him.

A few days later a stranger walked up to Johnson, thanked him for the duck and offered Johnson a gold nugget valued at about $12, saying it had been found in the duck.

"Keep it," said Johnson, "that was part of the duck."

LIVESTOCK SHOW TO BE HELD

LAMAR, Colo.—The Southeast Colorado Livestock and Poultry show will be held here in January. It will be the 12th consecutive time the show has been held in Lamar.

State will maintain military highway from 3.5 miles east of Progress to Brownsville.

They're in Love

Cary Grant and Randolph Scott, Hollywood's "Damon and Pythias," are both in love with the same girl, Nancy Carroll, in "Hot Saturday." The picture comes to the Arcadia Friday.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Johnson returned home yesterday afternoon from Fort Worth, where they spent Christmas as guests of Mr. Johnson's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnson.

Dr. Ross Hodges is improving from several days' illness at his home, Hodges Oak Park addition.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rich returned to their home at Kyle this morning following a visit at the home of Mrs. M. Maddocks home, 700 Sixth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bendix and family entertained at their home this week. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burgover and children of Dallas, who were accompanied home yesterday by Miss Emilie Bendix, who will remain at the Burgover home for several days visit.

A. B. (Art) Conway of Mineral Wells, who is a patient at the West Texas Clinic and Hospital, was reported this morning as unimproved. The many friends of Mr. Conway regret very much his serious condition.

Mrs. Leo Miller and young son, Leo Jr., of Thurber, visited Mrs. Miller's sister, Miss Kate Kramer, yesterday afternoon.

PARIS STYLES

By United Press.
PARIS.—The younger generation will have to run in the dictionary, for the "bustle" is back. It was to have been expected, after the return of the Empress Eugenie hats a few months ago and the leg-of-mutton sleeves.

Mrs. Madam Schiaparelli is the culprit for she stopped in where other style creators feared to tread and put bustles back where they once were flouted. Here are not the same old bustle-like fillets of horsehair and canvas, but make her bustles out of pleats and folds.

The Hon. Mrs. Reginald Fellowes was one of the first of the best dressed women of the Paris smart-set to have the nerve to wear the rejuvenated bustle, but she wears it on an all-gold gown so that the eye is diverted.

This golden dress and jacket are the sensation of the hour in Paris. The cloth resembles pure gold, being thick and draping easily. The dress, severely plain, is beltless, very close and fastened beneath the left arm by a row of small triangular metal clips.

The bustle on the jacket, made of straight pleats, an example of Madame Schiaparelli's favorite feature of the moment.

Surprise Party Honors

Birthday of Mrs. McFatter.
A delightful birthday complimentary named Mrs. J. N. McFatter, honoree, at her home, Marston apartments, Wednesday evening, when her friends, Mrs. Leon Jaker of Oklahoma City, who is the guest of her parents, invited friends to call by in early evening for a well arranged party, which proved a thoroughly agreeable surprise and most pleasant entertainment for all.

The honoree was the happy recipient of a beautiful and carefully chosen selection of useful gifts, each neatly and daintily wrapped in white tissue.

The pleasing hostess, Mrs. Julius served a plate of hot chocolate and cake to the following party group of close friends: Mrs. Wesley Hodges, Mattie Cox, Lena McDonough, E. V. Reynolds, B. A. Kirk, Nannie Walker, Joe Calder, Henry A. Yerton, F. W. Hummel, Lottie Davenport, J. D. McGee, T. P. Bray, H. G. Adams, and Miss Ringold, and Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Thomas and daughters.

Pretty Kitchen Shower

Honored Mrs. McFatter.
Miss Myrtle McGee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. McGee, and employe of Scott store, who became the bride of Wilson Simpson, on Dec. 24, with the Rev. H. H. Stephens reading the ring ceremony, was honored last evening at the home of her sister, Miss Ora Mae McGee, with one of the prettiest affairs of the week, in the form of a kitchen shower.

The rooms of the McGee home were brightly decorated with Yuletide foliage, affording an attractive background for the delightful occasion. Games had been arranged for the entertainment of the friends in keeping with the compliment of the hour. Gifts were encased in wrappings to repeat the chosen two-tone color notes of red and green.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, who attended high school in Ranger, are now at 517 South Austin street. Mr. Simpson operates one of the local Sinclair filling stations where he has acquired many friends.

Refreshments of fruited punch and cake were served to the following guests: Misses Velma Brown, Lee Oia Young, Jessie Jaid, Tommie Strong, Norma Rose, Faye Knott, Opaldell Brown, Lillie Sheppard, May Sheppard, Anna Lee Witt, Crystal Rogers, Wynne Witt, Lola Sue McGee, and Mrs. Eugene Jenkins. Mrs. R. H. West, and Messrs. William Williams, Joe Bailey, Harper, J. E. Barker, Ernest McGee, Buford Wright, Robert Barr, Marvin Witt, and Camell Hanks of Abilene.

Club Dance to Entertain Guests

Doors will be opened and guests will be cordially greeted by the club president Friday evening at 9 o'clock when Clayton Hunt and his orchestra, assembled to furnish music for the annual holiday entertainment, at the Ranger Country club. Not only will Ranger friends be present for this promisingly delightful affair but a large number of guests from surrounding towns are expected to attend. It will be during these hours of dance, many brilliant and lovely gowns will be in full evidence, many purchased for this particular dance date.

Friends look forward from year to year to this event which also serves as a place of "get-together" for the college bunch, who are home enjoying the holidays.

Dog Saves Snowbound Trio

Snowbound for 48 hours in the mountains above San Bernardino, Calif., Charles A. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fippinger faced death by freezing. But King, their big dog, saved them by the heat of his body. They took turns clasping the warm, sagged dog. When the crew of a snowplow discovered them they were still alive, thanks to King. Mr. and Mrs. Fippinger are shown above with King.

Magnificent Krueger Folly Is For Sale

By United Press.
PARIS.—The "Krueger Folly" is for sale. An $8,000,000 franc general European headquarters which workmen have just finished in Paris and which was destined to become Ivor Krueger's own home and the central offices of his $800,000,000 enterprises.

For his headquarters, Krueger chose the most costly piece of ground in France, once corner of the famed Place Vendome where the morning sun cast a long shadow of Napoleon over the Krueger doorway from the great bronze pillar atop which rests the Roman Napoleon in toga and laurel-leaves.

This famed spot and the two great buildings which close it in from four sides, are French national property and the government forbids tampering with the exterior of the buildings, classed as national monuments. Krueger however, had expensive ideas of what his central offices should look like. It cost him a fortune to respect the law and yet to meet his own tastes.

To meet the government's requirements he left the street wall standing and tore out the old buildings from behind, then built on a palace behind the old gray facade. The beauty of the 17th Century architectural gem is unbroken.

Hard Bargainers Both Lose
There were several tenants in the old buildings who had long leases and refused to move. One, in particular, asked 12,000,000 francs (half a million dollars) damages to give up the site for the three years remaining under the lease. The price was excessive so Krueger refused.

He built his building around the store room of the recalcitrant tenant at an extra cost of 1,000,000 francs. Anxious to get his flat for himself, Krueger then started negotiations. At a cost of 8,000,000 francs he bought up the tenant's lease but immediately sold the tenant 8,000,000 francs of stock in Krueger and Toll interests, which is worth little today.

Now the great palace is completed but empty. There is no longer any need of a general office building and its construction was so luxurious that few tenants care to rent it. The building cost 80,000,000 francs to build, but could be had today for less than half that.

Texas Roads Are Built Entirely of Texas Materials

By United Press.
HOUSTON.—Ordinarily every dollar spent on highway work is divided into 90 cents for labor and 10 cents for materials, but in Texas the road dollar is almost 100 per cent labor because all materials are produced within the state. W. O. Huggins, president of the Texas Good Roads association pointed out yesterday.

Road work thus has as high a value in relieving unemployment as any pursuit, the statement said. Earth, rock, sand and gravel, shell from which cement is made and numerous other minerals all lie beneath the surface of Texas soil and are useless until mined or produced by human hands. Re-inforcing bars, a comparatively trifling item, are the only out-of-state materials required.

That with 20,000 men now on the payrolls of the highway department and the contractors doing the work, with thousands more producing road materials and with some 30,000 additional persons at work in associated lines of endeavor, the association estimates that the food and shelter of 1,000,000 men, women and children of the state depend chiefly upon the highway program. It added the plea that gasoline tax revenue now going to roads be retained for that purpose only.

JUMPING FISH REPORTED

By United Press.
ASTORIA, Ore.—Several autoists reported seeing fish jumping in the Wilson River, which flows into the highway near Tillamook.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
More elaborate ones are made with combinations of materials, caviar is, of course, the first choice for the perfect canape, but there are many other delicious tid-bits to serve in its place. Anchovy paste softened with creamed cheese, smoked salmon combined with minced chutney sauce—these are delicious and unique combinations.

Canapes are much like the French hors d'oeuvre, especially the type that is served on a toothpick. One of the most popular of these is made of stuffed olives and bacon. A stuffed olive is wrapped in a partially cooked slice of bacon and a toothpick is thrust through it to hold it in place. Then it is put into a hot oven long enough to crisp the bacon. They must be served immediately.

Cooks who have a discriminating taste and an eye for color will find much pleasure in the preparation of these tiny open sandwiches that add so much interest to company meals.
