FINGER PRINTS ON A BOTTLE MURDER CLUES

By United Press
FORT WORTH, May 26.—Fingerprints on a whiskey bottle found at the scene of the slaying of two highway patrolmen at Grapevine today were identified as those of Henry Methvin.

Finn also announced that Clyde Barrow's finger prints were found on the bottle, which was picked up at the scene of the crime and which has been saved for evidence in case the slayers of the two patrolmen were ever captured.

The identification was revealed by Barney Finn, Bertillon expert, in a habeas corpus hearing for Mrs. Billie Mace, who with Floyd Hamilton, is charged with the slaying.

Methvin reportedly was a recent associate of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, Mrs. Mace's sister.

He was liberated from the Eastham state prison farm in a bold coup credited to Barrow. One prison guard was slain in the gun battle in which Barrow's former partner, was freed. Barrow was slain Wednesday not far from the home of Methvin's father.

Finn had previously tentatively identified the prints as those of Barrow but had not made a positive identification, it was pointed out. Before Finn began testifying, William Schieffer, Grapevine farmer, had pointed out Mrs. Mace as one of the slayers.

"There is no doubt in my mind but that this is the lady," Schieffer testified, pointing to Mrs. Mace.

The hearing recessed until next Tuesday. Mrs. Mace was attempting to gain freedom to attend the funeral of her sister, Sheriff C. V. Leake took Mrs. Mace to the funeral this afternoon. She was under heavy guard.

Hamer denied the stories of killing of Clyde, Bonnie.

Hamer said he had not offered his services to the federal government in the John Dillinger hunt. He was reported to have been turned down because he is not a lawyer.

He also denied there was any friction between state and federal men in the Barrow hunt.

HAMILTON IS WOODCHOPPER AT HUNTSVILLE

By United Press
HUNTSVILLE, Texas, May 26.—Raymond Hamilton, West Dallas had boy, chopped wood today on the inside of the high walls of the Texas state penitentiary.

Hamilton entered the prison gates chained by the neck to a forger. He scowled as he looked up at the blank prison walls. The two convicts and two officers had completed a 250-mile journey from the Denton county jail.

"Well Ray," Warden W. W. Waid said, "they want you to hurry back to Eastham and finish up that crop you planted before your escape in January."

Hamilton smiled for the first time.

"I'm ready, warden," he said. "I was a good hand when I was up there before, you know."

The warden gave Hamilton his old prison number and a new striped suit to wear.

Rarest of the Old Liquors Fading

By United Press
NEW YORK.—The American stock of old pre-prohibition bonded liquors, which at the time of repeal was reported to be the largest and finest in existence, rapidly is becoming exhausted. It probably will be gone by fall.

Approximately only 500,000 gallons of this old bonded liquor remains in the United States, according to O. H. Wathen, president of the American Medicinal Spirits company, and at the present rate of sale it all soon will be in private cellars and in the hands of vintage collectors. Some brands of this old liquor already have completely disappeared, he said.

"When what now remains of the original pre-prohibition supply is exhausted," Wathen said, "it is doubtful if in our lifetimes will be able to purchase rye or bourbon of such rare excellence and age. The government, with its pressing need of revenue, likely again will make it mandatory that all liquor be withdrawn from warehouses at the age of eight years."

In order to meet medicinal needs during the dry regime, the government permitted this pre-prohibition liquor to be held beyond the accustomed eight-year legal limit.

"Naturally, each year the original stock has been drawn against, and these withdrawals have been exceptionally heavy since repeal, since which time much of the old stock has been used in blends. The result is that today only a fraction of those rare 16 and 18 year old whiskies remain."

Central Baptist Church Plans Big Revival

The annual revival of Central Baptist church will begin next Sunday. Rev. E. D. Donlap, pastor of the First Baptist church of Sweetwater, will conduct it. Rev. Donlap is one of the most able evangelist pastors and a great preacher of God's Word.

Robert L. Maddox and his orchestra will be in charge of the music, assisted by Roy Moore. Mrs. C. D. Coe will be pianist with Mrs. Frank Hicklin assisting. All departments of the church are getting ready for what is hoped will be the greatest revival in the history of the church.

There will be prayer bands for every age of the church. For the past four years the prayer bands have been a great force in the spirituality of the meetings.

Mrs. Frank Hicklin will be in charge of the young people, assisted by Mrs. Stephens. Mrs. Brink will take charge of the Booster band, composed of primary and beginner children. There will also be a men's prayer service and one for the ladies of the church.

The pastor urges every member of Central to get ready during this next week, and let nothing hinder you from being in all the services.

"Let nothing hinder the membership of the church from putting their best in this great harvesting of the many souls around Ranger that meet to be won for Christ," Rev. Stephens said. "Those of other churches are cordially invited to be with us and those of no church preference and those who know not Christ are urged to come and worship with us."

BONNIE PARKER WAS BURIED ON SATURDAY

By United Press
DALLAS, May 26.—Bonnie Parker, daring gun girl whose career of murder and robbery was brought to a violent end by police bullets, received her last rites here today.

A few members of her family and her most intimate friends in the days when she was a West Dallas waitress mourned at her bier while thrill-seekers gathered outside the funeral home in hope of seeing her casket carried out.

The last rites for the cigar-smoking woman who was killed with the notorious Clyde Barrow, were held at 2 o'clock.

Funeral services were at the chapel where the body was taken on its return from Louisiana. Burial was at a West Dallas cemetery where other members of her family lie.

The Rev. Clifford Andrews, who officiated at Barrow's funeral yesterday, was in charge of Bonnie's. Only members of the family and close friends were admitted to the services. Because of the demand for passes, Bonnie's mother gave them out personally.

In the awarding of prizes, the appearance, horsemanship and riding apparel of the girl, and the appearance, performance and equipment of the mount will be considered by the judges. The judging will take place in the rodeo arena of the reunion grounds on the morning of the first day. Winners of prizes in past years will not be eligible for awards at the 1934 reunion.

Sponsors are required to furnish their own mounts and equipment, but grooms and forage will be provided by the reunion.

The girls will ride in the parade to be held during the reunion, and will be guests at a round of social affairs in their honor, including dances, teas and receptions.

Mrs. W. B. Harrison of Stamford has been selected as hostess to the sponsors. Miss Dorothy Bunkley, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. E. F. Bunkley of this city, has been chosen as Stamford sponsor.

Paraguay estimated Bolivian losses at 2,000 killed and 3,000 wounded. Bolivia said its own losses were low and Paraguay said its losses were less than half the number announced by Bolivia.

Announcements will be made by K. F. Holloway, superintendent of the Ranger public schools and president of the junior college, after which Dr. Smith will deliver the commencement sermon.

His sermons always prove to be an inspiration to his entire congregation and the sermon tonight is expected to be even better than usual and one that will linger long in the minds of the graduates and the entire assembly.

AMERICAN LAWYERS ACCEPT CHALLENGE OF ROOSEVELT AND HUGHES

President Roosevelt and Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes appearing before the American Law institute last week threw their challenges into the teeth of American lawyers. Now the American Bar association has accepted the challenge by declaring war on organized crime and promising its attack "would be no flash in the pan."

Earl W. Evans is president of the association. He has named committees of lawyers and laymen for a three-year campaign for the extermination of the crime problem. This is the viewpoint of Mr. Evans: "There cannot be the slightest doubt of the lawyer's responsibility to improve the administration of justice, particularly criminal justice. We know the staggering cost of crime and we know that we are not adequately meeting the situation in regard to it at the present time." State and local bar associations in all American commonwealths are directed to unite their efforts "so that they would be more successful than scattered and sporadic attempts to solve the problem in the past."

There will be a nation-wide election this year. Away down here in Texas attention should be given by the voters to the intellectual capacity, the moral integrity and the minor qualifications of those who offer for place in senate and house of the 44th legislature. Talk is cheap. It has been going on for 50 years. Why not lawmakers all along the line who will accept the challenges of President Roosevelt and Chief Justice Hughes—men who will revise or remodel the criminal statutes of the commonwealth. The place to strike is at the ballot box. There will be a primary in July and a runoff in August. Why shouldn't the laymen as well as the lawyers plan war on crime in Texas?

ANOTHER HIGHBROW PROPHET OF DISASTER

Francis B. Sayre is assistant secretary of state—or rather the under secretary of the Hon. Cordell Hull. In an international broadcast. Prophet Sayre sounded the warning that another World War would mean "the end of civilization."

Francis B. Sayre married the accomplished daughter of Woodrow Wilson, war president of the United States. Is he a fanciful dreamer? Or is his hat on crooked? This is his awful forecast: "Unless we crush modern warfare out of our civilization our present civilization will go under." Which civilization—the dead one that passed out with Herbert Hoover or the new civilization that came in with the inauguration of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Why not let the dead rest in peace? Why not battle for the success of the new civilization of today? Man has been fighting for millions of years. For thousands of years he has been fighting for trade conquest and market control and the lust of power. Trade rivalry of nations precipitated the World War. Trade rivalry and lust of land and sea controlled possessions will result in future wars.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, today.

The Golden Text is: "The very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Thes. 5:23).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And be ye not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind..." (Rom. 12:2).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Paul said, 'Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh.' Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in soul, in matter instead of in spirit" (page 223).

DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNIER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DONNA GABRIEL, circus performer, falls from the trapeze and is injured. To please her partner, MADRELIN SIDDAL, Donna goes to Madelin's home to recuperate, pretending to be the other girl, who is abandoned by her partner. Madelin keeps it up, even when BILL SIDDAL, Madelin's brother, makes her to marry him. AMOS SIDDAL, Madelin's grandfather who owns the circus, is killed. MISS PLANTER, housekeeper discharged by Donna, is her enemy. Donna and Bill are married. Meanwhile Madelin has married CON DAVID, circus animal trainer, and takes part in the subsequent act.

Amos Sidal has a stroke. In New Orleans Madelin goes into the cage alone with the Bengal tiger. The tiger springs and she is killed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVII

AT daybreak Con stumbled into the little office of the hotel. The stark tragedy written in his hag-gard face and sunken eyes robbed his appearance—in circus costume—of its bizarre effect.

The clerk was asleep under a green-shaded hanging lamp, his feet resting on the desk, his chair tilted against the wall. He started up sleepily when Con asked for his key, "you're Mr. David, ain't you? There's been a man hanging around here waiting to see you, Mr.—Mr.—" he consulted a card on the desk. "Mr. Renfro. He stayed until two o'clock. Then he left and said you was to get in touch with him at the St. Charles as soon as you came in."

"Yes," Con took the key and started towards the stairway. "You better phone him," the other continued, his eyes wide with curiosity as they took in the details of yellow trousers and purple coat. "He seemed upset when he didn't find you here. There's a telephone booth over there."

"Thanks," Lurching as one under the influence of liquor, Con moved towards the booth. At the door he fumbled in his pocket and produced a coin. He was unable to focus his eyes on the telephone directory, and asked the operator to get the number for him. After several seconds he heard Renfro's voice over the wire.

"Where've you been?" the circus owner demanded when he understood that it was Con who was talking. "This is a nice howdy-do — walking out and leaving everything for me to attend to." "Sorry," Con said thickly. "Guess I went haywire. Well?"

"The doctor got an undertaker and Madelin has been sent to the funeral parlors but the rest is up to you. What are you going to do?"

"Send her to her grandfather's, I suppose," Con answered. "Thanks for doing what you did."

"Someone had to," Renfro answered brusquely and hung up the receiver.

But later, in a quieter frame of mind, Con decided against sending Madelin's body back to her home. And so little Madelin Sidal, whose greatest sin had been her great love for him, was lowered into a grave in an old cemetery in New Orleans while members of the circus (though few had really cared for her) wept aloud and then went back to the grounds to thrill

Paris Is Planning Intellectual Center

By United Press

PARIS.—Paris is planning an international center of the Arts and Thought, for the benefit of all intellectual workers.

A group of prominent philanthropists and leaders in literary, theatrical, artistic, political and scientific circles are agitating the movement. It is to be called the Cite des Arts et de la Pensee, and the head of the crusade is Jean Jose Frappa, writer. Within the confines of the Elysian city will be laboratories, art museums, libraries, schools, theaters and gardens.

Tentative plans call for the construction of the city somewhere between the Cite universitaire and the Montparnasse quarter, the buildings to cover a kilometer of ground for a width of 200 meters. Here will be found everything to facilitate the life of the artist and intellectual.

"So you ain't goin' to speak to me!" Mrs. Planter said.

"Of course I am. I—how are you? Have you another position?" Mrs. Planter nodded. "Yes, and a better one. If you want to know it. One where I ain't beholden to no one. How's your husband?" Mrs. Planter stressed the last word with an insistent inflection.

"He's well, thank you."

"And Amos?"

"As well as can be expected." Donna pushed the revolving doors and hastened to the mail chute, where she dropped the letter.

Mrs. Planter looked after her, shrugged her shoulders and muttered, "Up to something—that sly one. Yes, she's up to something!" (To Be Continued)

Huge Metal Ball To Carry Couple Into Stratosphere

By United Press
MIDLAND, Mich.—A metal ball in which two army balloonists will set up stratospheric lighthouse keeping nearly 15 miles above the earth, is nearing completion here.

The silvery, downward sphere being made from brine here will be the home of Major William E. ... and Captain Albert W. ... while they study conditions and collect scientific data on their stratospheric jaunt this summer.

Air-Tight Ball
The air-tight ball will be the control cabin, pilot house and air-borne laboratory for the expedition, sponsored by the National Geographic Society-U. S. Army Air Corps, and will be lifted by the world's largest free balloon.

The alloy used in building the gondola is 25 per cent pure magnesium. Aluminum is half again as heavy, and steel is nearly four and a half times as heavy.

The gondola is a huge hollow ball, eight feet, four inches in diameter. It has been built by welding together eight sections shaped like pieces of orange peel. The shell is slightly less than three-sixteenths of an inch thick. The shell, as it stands weighs 450 pounds.

Manholes
The two largest openings in the gondola, are manholes—one each for Major Kepner and Capt. Stevens. They are being fitted with covers which will be clamped down until airtight by a heavy bolt, easily tightened or loosened from within.

Numerous small port holes have been cut in the shell and more will be provided. Some will be covered with glass and will serve as observation windows; in some lenses of cameras will be mounted with air-tight fittings; and in others scientific instruments will be placed.

The opening in the bottom of the metal ball will be reserved for a large aerial camera which will make photographs of the earth.

Shot for Ballast
Another important opening will be only an inch in diameter. It will be near the bottom of the gondola and through it will pass more than three tons of lead shot—ballast that must be released in navigating the balloon.

Soon the gondola, with all its ports securely closed will be filled with water under a pressure of 40 pounds to the square inch to see that all walls, seams and fittings hold. This is four times the greatest pressure experienced. When this has been passed the sphere will be filled with air at a pressure of 20 pounds to the square inch and left for 24 hours to find whether there is any slow leakage.

Metal Floor
Then will come the final equipment of the interior for the gondola's twelve hour trip aloft. Across the bottom will be built a metal floor five feet in diameter. From points around the edge of the floor eight tubular posts will rise to the shell above. They will be connected by other metal tubes and so will form a rigid skeleton.

The big ball is to be attached to the balloon by a sort of sling, or cradle. The bottom member of this cradle will be a broad metal hoop fitting closely against the shell. To this will be riveted ten metal bands extending upward, and also fitting close to the shell.

Well above the equator line a second hoop will circle the gondola, this time a metal tube. The bands will pass under the tube and end in loops to which will be attached ropes from the balloon.

Congressman Urges Enlarging The United States Army and Arming More Men With Rifles and Bayonets

By HARRY W. FRANTZ

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Machines can occupy territory but men must hold it, hence rifles and bayonets still are the decisive factors in military strength, according to Rep. Clark V. Thompson, democrat, Texas, author of a bill to enlarge the United States army. He is a former officer in the marine corps, and now a major in the reserves.

Conceding the tactical utility of motorized "cavalry," aircraft, and other military machines, Representative Thompson holds that mechanization does not reduce the need for human combatants.

"War is never won without holding territory, and you cannot hold territory with machines alone," he said in a United Press review. "It is men with cold steel that win wars, and for every new military machine some device is invented to counteract its effect. Anti-aircraft guns are becoming highly effective and for every combat plane there is another to shoot down. There are tank-traps for the tanks, and guns that can penetrate tank armor."

"I am not opposed to mechanization, but would oppose machines beyond adequate strength for their management. In the Chinese-Japanese clashes last year the Japanese had all the latest machinery and inventions, but they made their real advances by infantry on the march."

The Thompson bill, already subject of extensive hearings before the house military committee, proposes that the commissioned strength of the active list of the regular army be fixed at an annual average of 14,063, and the enlisted personnel at 165,000 exclusive of Philippine scouts. Present strength is approximately 118,000 enlisted, including the scouts, and 12,000 officers. Increase in the army was endorsed by General John J. Pershing, war-time commander of the American expeditionary forces, and by General Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff.

"I know of no military expert who does not contend that the lowest possible safe point for the American army is 165,000 men," Representative Thompson said to the United Press. "That is the smallest number that could adequately man the defensive and offensive machinery of the army in event we were attacked. Our present entire combat force could be seated in one large stadium, as the Yankee baseball park in New York."

"There are 87,000 troops within the continental limits of the United States, including engineers, quartermaster corps, medical corps and other non-combatants. In a sudden national emergency we would have only 55,000 rifles

By United Press

CHICAGO.—Discovery of a large coral reef in Lake Michigan, only two miles south of the Century of Progress, is interpreted by scientists as definite proof that the entire lake at one time was a vast salt water basin and that a tropical climate ruled the region. The reef was found by geological students.

The coral was located in water six to eight feet deep and the exposed section was several feet long.

Prof. James M. Glasgow, head of a department of geology, said that "coral is undoubtedly proof that this was tropics at one time, and this entire region was probably a vast sea of salt water."

"These coral specimens may easily be 400,000 years old, covered by sand or other deposits, and perhaps only recently exposed by the washing of the water."

ABOUT AUTOMATIC REFRIGERATORS

Before you buy - Not afterward

WHAT ADVICE is not entirely unselfish. We have discovered that most folks who take the time to dig out the facts become Electrolux owners.

And it's not hard to see why. For, frankly, the New Air-Cooled Electrolux has them all beaten on the things that really count in automatic refrigeration.

It costs less to run. Just figure what that means in money saved every day... every month... every year!

Electrolux has no moving parts to wear and need costly repairing. And that's another neat little saving!

It's permanently silent, too. That's not a financial saving, but it's something to consider pleasantly. So is this—Electrolux is backed and given prompt willing service by your own gas company.

Those are big things. But Electrolux has not forgotten the "little" conveniences that make every woman's life more enjoyable.

If you're even mildly interested in automatic refrigeration, please come in. See the other refrigerators, too. And the more you know, the nearer you are to owning an Electrolux—the modern gas refrigerator.

STARGAS STILL IN LEAD AFTER 18-2 VICTORY

Stargas made it four wins in a row Friday afternoon when they swamped the Times 18 to 2 to continue their streak of wins, while the Times made it two games in a row when they had a decided slump both in fielding and batting, gathering in only five hits in the seven innings and making nine errors. Their total hits for the two games is now seven, while the errors have piled up to 16.

The entire Times lineup was shifted for the game and played no better, if not worse, than on Tuesday when the team was white-washed by the Lone Star by a score of 11 to 0.

R. O. King, Stargas right fielder, led in the hitting for the day, getting to long triples in five times at bat while Birdsong, Brown and Thompson of the Times each connected with a double, only to die on base.

Stargas got one run in the first inning and five in the second to take a lead that was never topped, while the Times scored only in the second inning, when they made their two tallies. From the second inning on Stargas made a merry-go-round of the game, scoring in every inning except the fifth, on Times' errors mixed with timely base hits, some of which should have been fielded.

"Would you send your son, if you had one, to the University of Pennsylvania?"

"What is your favorite newspaper?"

"Who is your favorite actress?"

"How much income do you think you need to get married?"

Chance For Oil Is Good In Texas

By United Press
 AUSTIN — Three-fourths of Texas' 170,000,000 acres have possibilities of oil, according to the bureau of economic geology of the University of Texas, but striking oil still is a gamble.

After the best efforts to pick places where the oil should be, a third of the wells turn out to be "dry holes."

Drilling records have been kept by the state railroad commission since 1925. These show 26,168 dry wells and 29,712 plugged wells during that period. In the same time 81,110 permits to drill were issued.

How many of the plugged wells would have been profitable producers is not known.

Since the discovery of the East Texas oil field, where oil is almost sure to be struck wherever a well is placed, the proportion of dry holes has dropped. In 1933 there were 7,757 permits to drill and only 1,834 dry holes.

A geological map showing dry holes in a territory approximately 100 by 140 miles has just been completed by Keith A. Spitznagel, Tyler, co-operating with the University of Texas and the U. S. geological survey. It represents five months' work.

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—Most golf clubs haven't been any too particular about members since the depression let down the bars, but the staid Garden City Golf Club, out on Long Island, has traveled along in the sacro conservative and serene stride.

In many respects, this club resembles ancient British clubs more than does any other in this country.

There is the same air of lavender and old lace. The same hoary traditions are rigorously upheld. There is the same aspect of gentility and the same devotion to the sport that characterizes St. Andrews, Troon, Prestwick, Glen Eagles, and other old country groups of ancient and patrician lineage.

Garden City Golf Club members for the most part are wealthy. A majority belong to many other organizations. But when they come out to the old building on Stewart avenue, they come to play golf, to enjoy its atmosphere, to maintain its traditions.

Idle conversation is not barred in the comfortable lounge, but one will find member-listeners adorning their chairs unless the talk quickly veers to golf.

Garden City Golf Club's walls are covered with decorations, but they are from the links. A fine collection of old golf prints predominate. But at one side of the room, a used in a glass case, one finds the famous Schenectady putter with which Walter J. Travis won the British Amateur in 1904.

Travis was the first American to carry off that exclusive championship.

Yardon's Hands Perpetuated
 Just beyond is a plaster cast of the tremendous hands of Harry Yardon, generously admitted to have been the greatest master of the "loose" ball. It was said of him that if he struck a ball he was walking with a bunch of bananas dangling from his neck.

Each year since the dawn when golf was an obscure impertinence upon the other side of the Garden

March 7 Joe Carr, 29, of Chicago, was instantly killed and Ray Sands, of Kansas City, his companion, was injured when a car, said to have been stolen, overturned at Olden after the two had stopped in Ranger for sandwiches. Sands was held in the Eastland jail but was later released.

March 9 Howard R. Gholson was elected exalted ruler of the B. P. O. Elks.

March 17 two men wanted in Peacock and Jayton for robbery and car theft were arrested in Ranger by the local police and were turned over to officers from Jayton for transportation back to that town to stand trial.

March 20 Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Landers of Ranger were struck by a "Ringling" railroad train at the crossing at the city limits of Eastland on the Bankhead highway and both were slightly injured.

On May 21 the county track meet was held in Ranger for the first time in several years, with schools from all over the county being represented. The winning teams were Ranger, with 57 points, Eastland with 40 points and Cisco with 34 points.

March 23 the Ranger Rifle Range was formally opened with a big shoot, at which more than 150 were present, all visitors being allowed five free shots at the targets with the large-bore rifles. Skeet and trap matches were also held.

March 24 Marjorie Ruth Grabb, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Grabb was instantly killed and Mrs. Grabb and her sister, Mrs. Fred Williams, were seriously injured when struck by a train at the Prairie Crossing, within the city limits of Ranger.

March 25 Gus Kelly, fireman for the Texas & Pacific railroad, was painfully injured when two freight trains collided head-on at Mose Curve three miles south of Ranger. The engines and several cars of both trains were badly damaged and wreckers from Fort Worth and crews from Eastland, Ranger and Olden assisted in removing the wreckage.

The same day the Chamber of Commerce directors met and criticized the bus schedule through Ranger as being detrimental to the welfare of the town and some time later the schedules were changed, two new buses being added.

April 2 J. E. Lewis, district manager of Texas Electric Service company and A. N. Larson, local manager, announced a reduction in electric rates for the city. The reduction was effective April 10.

April 5 Dr. Walter Jackson, John M. Gholson and Dr. L. C. G. Buchanan were elected to the Ranger school board.

April 7 J. T. Hughes, manager of the Arcadia Theatre, was transferred to Paris, Texas, and Arthur Swanke was named to take his place. The same day the home of E. L. Rogers, Spring road, was robbed, the burglar reaching in a window, taking Mr. Rogers' trousers, which contained $18 in cash, $38 in checks and his watch.

April 8 the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company Parraack went over the top after being drilled to 3,240 feet.

April 10 C. S. Looney, 61, veteran Cisco peace officer, died in Ranger.

April 12 the Bulldogs won the district track meet, getting 33 points, Stephenville getting 27 1/2 and Eastland 23 1/2.

System Makes Sun Dials Accurate

By United Press

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. — A simple system for making the readings of an ordinary sun dial as accurate as those of a synchroized clock has been perfected by Prof. Leland S. Rhodes, Department of Engineering, Pennsylvania State College.

To eliminate the sun dial error, which may be as much as 50 minutes, Professor Rhodes inscribed several half circles on the dial instead of the customary one, spacing them for the different seasons of the year. Across the ends of the half circles he marked the months and dates to which several semicircles apply in computing the shadow reading in terms of standard time on a given day.

Miss Williams Climaxes Two-Day Hostess School In Perfect Fashion

Miss Miss Thelma Williams, authority on cooking coming from the Kelvinator kitchen in Detroit, Mich., brought her two-day hostess school to a perfect and fitting climax Friday afternoon before an assembly of Ranger housewives and guests who were really eager to take advantage of all the new hints for 1934. Using as her favored theme throughout the hostess school, "Art in entertaining is the proper preparation of foods prior to arrival of guests."

Extra minutes in your kitchen count, and you might as well save yourself all the kitchen hours you can this summer. Spend a few minutes each day, plan your menus, select your foods and then properly prepare them. Every woman attending the school was more than enthusiastic over the unique suggestions Miss Williams offered.

fancy cakes topped with pecans, and Basic ice cream served individually in small and attractive little plates by assistant hostesses, Misses Helen Goforth and Verna Castleberry.

Pretty and useful prizes were given away each afternoon to lucky members of the audience.

The charming hostess, a graduate of C. I. A., Denton, and a native Texan, is at present living at Dallas. So favorably impressed with Ranger and her hospitable people she anticipates a return visit sometime in the near future.

This school brings another red letter day to happenings sponsored by active and wide-awake merchants of the city, who are sincerely interested in further developments serving as an advantage to all.

Columbia Club Adds Important Social Function as Season Ends

The club party calendar which has been marked with numerous and elaborate affairs during the month of May takes on another important club function, when the Columbia Study club entertained members and guests with a smartly appointed luncheon Saturday at Acorns Acres tea room, at the favored 1 o'clock hour.

Foursome tables were arranged about the tearooms which were gaily decked with summer flowers. Large clusters were reserved for most fitting places bringing out a colorfully fashioned background of lovely color hues. Tables were overlaid with dainty linens and centered with small bouquets lending pastel tints, where the enticing courses were served.

Each member was privileged to have one or more guests, for the hour, solely devoted to only two outstanding program features. Mrs. O. L. Phillips cleverly gave a playlet, "Bitter-Sweet," by Noel Coward, which was warmly and enjoyably received by the luncheon personnel. Drawing of the books came after the serving of luncheon, which occupied an interesting period.

Covers were laid with places attractively designated for Misses W. D. Conway, E. L. McMillen, Garvin Chastain, John M. Ghoslin, Saunders Gregg, E. E. Crawford, Leslie Hagaman, Howdeshell of Waco, Roy Jameson, Alton Cherry of Corpus Christi, Armour, Herbert Stafford, John Thurman, Lula Riddle, Grimm of Kilgore, O. L. Phillips, L. B. Fieweller, J. E. Matthews, C. D. Woods, Ross Hodges, Stanley McAnelly, Eddie Horrigan of Dallas, M. H. Hagaman, L. R. Pearson, Jake Ralston, and Robert Stafford.

Saves His Cash From Dillinger

Kirk Roland, cigar store owner, above, showed rare presence of mind when bandits, believed to be the Dillinger gang, robbed a Flint, Mich., bank of $25,000 and fled. Roland, cashing checks, shoved the money back to a teller when the outlaws entered, then lay on the floor, his checks safe, as the bandit leader stood on his ankles. Roland was positive the leader was Dillinger.

B. E. Garner, manager of the Arcadia Theatre, announced Saturday that he would have films showing scenes at the place where Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker were killed, which would be exhibited at the theatre next Wednesday and Thursday in addition to the regular feature.

A cameraman was rushed to the scene and the films he took were actually made where the killings took place. The picture shows the bullet-riddled car and the bodies of Clyde and Bonnie after they were taken from the car.

"This is a special film, not just a short," Garner said Saturday. "The film opened at Houston and thousands were turned away because they were unable to gain admission."

He also stated that this film would be shown in addition to the regular program, at regular prices.
