ANOTHER TEXAS DEMOCRAT PLACED

Archie Price of Waco was secretary of the first Roosevelt-for-President club formed in Texas. He was secretary-treasurer and organizer of the state set-up.

Archie has been given recognition. He has been appointed as senior attorney in the public works administration. He had been urged to make the race for congress against Rep. O. H. Cross of Waco. He turned a deaf ear to the appeal.

Sens. Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally backed him for the post for which he has been named. 'Tis well. First and last and all the time he was for F. D. R., now skipper of the ship of state and the Moses who led the American people out of a republican wilderness of "stagnation and destitution and perhaps anarchy."

TEXAS LABORITES CALL FOR REPEAL VOTE

Trade unions of Texas affiliated with the state federation of labor before adjournment of the Dallas convention went on record with a militant request that the legislature set a definite date for repeal of state prohibition.

All of which is a reminder that the 43rd legislature in regular session refused to take action or to submit a constitutional amendment to the voters of the commonwealth.

Indeed, the state administration opposed submission. There is a way for direct action. One hundred and fifty representatives will be nominated and elected this year. Sixteen senators will be elected. It requires a two-thirds vote in senate and house to submit a repeal amendment to the people. Hence, the place for direct action is the primary ballot box.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

Now is the time for everyone to enlist in the service of the home city.

New ideas in city planning are always beneficial to any community.

There is plenty of room for them in every city.

Better business is the basis for prosperity.

When business stops or is seriously checked, disaster is inevitable.

No matter how perfect a city is as a place to live it can't stay perfect long when sand is put in the wheels of progress.

In order for the wheels of progress to move, they must be oiled with good-will, faith, confidence, energy, and a spirit of cooperation. When this is done, business follows.

Our politicians seem to be quite busy right now abusing the other fellow.

By HARRY GRAYSON

McGillicuddy would have peddled Grove, Walberg, Bishop, and Earnshaw even if the bankers hadn't demanded their money.

It is just as important for a manager to realize when an athlete has run his course with an outfit as to know a prospect when he sees one. So Connie Mack took the $125,000 for Grove, the $100,000 for Cochran, the $35,000 for Walberg and Bishop, and the $20,000 for Earnshaw, and paid off the mortgage on the old homestead, as writers wrote and admirers talked of the lean leader's courage in starting anew in his 71st year.

But as though it realized that there was no time for delay, Fate apparently has smiled on Mack. Joe McCarthy, who yanks those Yankee pitchers, predicts the venerable pilot's 1934 edition will finish third. Jimmy Foxx ventures the opinion that an American League pennant again will wave over Shibe Park in four years.

Built for Wear and Tear Mack has no question that Mack has the foundation of another big, rugged, hard-bitting club. Outside of batterymen, not a few critics consider the AAAA-AAA's the most formidable array in the junior loop this season.

Of necessity, Mack's rebuilding had to be done inexpensively, and the story of his pitching replacements is the most interesting. Three of them came from what perhaps were two of the worst clubs in the history of the sport—the Oklahoma City and Jersey City outfits of 1933.

Ira Thomas, renowned Philadelphia catcher of another era, journeyed out to Oklahoma City and purchased practically the entire staff of the Texas League's wooden Indians. One, Vernon Kennedy was shipped back understanding, but the other two, Benton and Harry Matuzak, already have made it plain that they intend to stick around for a spell.

After farming him out for four years, the Yankees decided that as a pitcher little Joe Cascarella was the sweetest tenor in baseball. So one of Mack's agents picked him out from amid a slovenly lot of Skeeters.

The curve ball type, Cascarella has obtained a flying start. He twice trimmed the Yanks with heroic rescue feats, and shut out the champion Senators with three hits.

Regulars Can't Get Back

FROM Louisville came John Marcum, who sort of starts a slide ball from behind one of the two biggest feet in baseball. Gigantic Bob Kline couldn't get anybody out as a member of the Red Sox, but has been fully as formidable as he appears in finishing games for the AAAA's.

As Rabbit Warstler has kept Dibs Williams off second base, when given a chance due to the latter's injury, Frank Hayes, a 19-year-old lad from Pennington Academy, of New Jersey, may take the regular catching position from Charley Berry, who was hurt on opening day. Built like a boxer, Hayes awaits the ball to the far corners.

Eric McNair and Warstler are attracting attention as a double-play combination, and Frank Higgins is the best third baseman in the junior wheel. An outfield composed of Doc Cramer, Bob Johnson, Ed Coleman, and Bing Miller is good enough to take the club any distance. And don't overlook the fact that Mr. Mack will out-think every manager in the league except Rogers Hornsby by 10 games.

Earl Conner, Jr. Heads Eastland County Democrats

At a meeting of the Eastland county democratic executive committee at the county courthouse Monday afternoon, May 27, County Chairman Ed T. Cox Sr. tendered his resignation, which was accepted by the committee.

Following the acceptance of Chairman Cox's resignation Earl Conner Jr. of Eastland was elected chairman to fill out Cox's unexpired term.

Chairman Conner announced that a meeting of the committee would be held June 17 at which time the matter of assessments for candidates in the coming democratic primaries and other business properly coming before the committee will be attended to.

The county democratic executive committee is composed of 27 precinct chairmen and the county chairman.

West Wheat Area May Become Desert Experts Now Fear

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright 1934 by United Press) WASHINGTON, May 31.—A Sahara-like desert—lacking only the pyramids and the camels—may be the destiny of the western wheat country. Congress, the forestry service and the emergency reclamation agencies are exerting all efforts to forestall such a cumulative tragedy. It has been creeping upon the west for 25 years, threatening to ravage millions of fertile acres, as other areas of the earth's surface have been ruined in ages past. "Unless something is done, and done quickly, history is going to repeat itself and in a few more generations the western plains will be as arid as the Arabian desert or the Sahara," E. A. Sherman, associate chieftain of the forestry service, explained. Since the early days of the century he has watched apprehensively the spread of the western desert.

BEULAH POYNTER DONNA of the BIG TOP

BEGIN HERE TODAY DONNA GABRIEL, circus performer, falls from the trapeze and is injured. To please her partner, MADAME SIDDAL, Donna goes to Madeline's home to recuperate, pretending to be the other girl. She is ashamed of this deception but keeps it up, even when BILL SIDDAL, Madeline's cousin, asks her to marry him. AMOS SIDDAL, Madeline's grandfather who plans the farm, is blind. MR. PLANTER, housekeeper discharged by Donna, is her enemy. Donna and BILL are married. Meanwhile Madeline has married CON DAVID, circus animal trainer, and takes part in the animal act. Amos Sidhal has a stroke. In New Orleans Madeline goes into the cage alone with the Bengal tiger and kills it. Doctor discharges Bill. Unable to get work, Con decides to go to the Wild West. Bill and Donna go to a movie. They have a misunderstanding that increases Bill's jealousy. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXI GRANDPATER WAS sleeping when Bill and Donna arrived home and they did not have to make any explanations about their early return. Donna went upstairs and undressed, but it was almost an hour later before Bill joined her. Bill removed his clothes without turning on the light and Donna lay perfectly still, pretending that she was asleep. A long time they lay there, Donna's eyes burning, her lids heavy from the tears she had shed. At last she could endure it no longer. She touched his shoulder timidly. "Bill," she said, "are you asleep?" "No." "You aren't thinking that I went to pieces because of—Con David?" "No." "Then—" "I'm facing the facts. I've been so happy that I suppose I've been a blind fool. I should have realized I had nothing to offer to take the place of all you've accustomed to. I'd forgotten that you ran away once to escape the farm—and that if it was unbearable then it would be more so now that you've seen the world." Donna was silent, not knowing how to answer, since obviously she had not believed her protests that she was absolutely happy here. "I know you've done your best to be satisfied. No man could have asked for a better wife. Perhaps that's why haven't understood as I should have before this. I'm not altogether selfish, Madeline. I love you. I love you so much that, sooner than see you go on getting paler and thinner every day, I'd rather give you up. Send you back to the life you love." "BILL!" she cried. She rested her weight on one elbow and tried to see his face in the shadow. "I believe—there's nothing else I can believe—that you've brooded and thought so much over what I used to be that you put a wrong construction on everything I do. I know they say show business gets under your skin. It does with some, but my accident and others I've seen drove away all the glamour the circus may have held

Prospects For A New National Bank Are Good EASTLAND, Texas, May 31.—The depositors' committee for the defunct Texas State bank this week opened headquarters in the Conner building on the southwest corner of the square where members of the committee may be found during the day and where they will furnish information regarding the plans for liquidating the assets of the old banking institution and the organization of a new national bank for Eastland.

Albert Taylor of Austin, who is interested in organizing a new bank in Eastland and who has met with the depositors' committee here on numerous occasions when the proposed new bank was discussed, is spending this week in Eastland and working with the committee which is composed of Jess Williams, P. L. Parker and James A. Beard.

The proposed plans for liquidating the assets of the old bank and organizing a new one is meeting with the approval of virtually every creditor and depositor of the old bank who has had an opportunity to discuss the matter with the committee. In fact not one person has turned the plan down to date.

The committee expects to keep its temporary headquarters open for a few days yet in order to give everyone an opportunity to come in in person and have the plan explained. Those creditors and depositors who do not live in Eastland are being notified by mail and satisfactory replies are being received from these.

The committee asks that those who have had the plan explained to them in turn explain it to others in order that the work may be expedited. The committee gets no compensation for their services and while they are willing still to contribute their time, they have their own affairs to look after and have been working at this business many weeks.

Smartly Appointed Luncheon Held in Subbrook Gardens

Last two weeks of the month of May brought a round of unusually smart luncheons, dinners, and a variety of miscellaneous entertainments marking the last "get-together" of club members before fall reassembly sessions.

Note in the series was of more attractive arrangements than was the luncheon held yesterday in the Subbrook garden, Bland street, by members of the New Era club.

Pourous tables daintily laid carried place-cards of unique design together with small clusters of pantries serving as favors. The lovely gold and purple color note, the club's motif, has been featured most effectively in decorations throughout the year.

After luncheon the club went into an interesting session, presided over by the outgoing president, Mrs. O. E. Denny, who graciously thanked the personnel for their loyal co-operation given her throughout the year, which has been one of unusual success. Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, a past president, gave the response in her usual pleasing manner.

Summarized reports were heard from the following chairmen of committees: Mrs. C. A. Smith, chairman of yearbook committee; Miss Mary Dalmont, chairman of membership committee; Mrs. L. L. Bruce, civic committee, and Mrs. O. E. Samms, chairman of hospitality.

Places were designated for Mrs. C. A. Smith, Lloyd Bruce, J. J. Kelly, Carl Hill, O. E. Denny, Frank Ford, P. E. Moore, Ray Fenimore, J. L. Turner, Charles Subbrook, O. L. Phillips, Lonnie Herwig, E. Honoring her guest, Mrs. Harry Miller of San Antonio, Miss May Moffet entertained with a picnic supper Tuesday evening at Eastland park. The evening's entertainment and courtesy was rounded out most pleasantly since the park is an ideal place for such an occasion.

The Senator (left), whose complaints of the NRA trends brought the Darrow board into being, is here shown discussing the report with Darrow.

Better THAN YOU CLAIMED

"Your claims for it were very modest," writes Harold R. Boles of Davenport, Iowa, about his 1934 Pontiac Eight Sedan. "I find that the car more than fulfills all of those motor smoothness, ease of operation, speed, riding comfort and economy (I am getting 16 miles to the gallon)." . . . Mr. Boles is but one of hundreds who have written their praises of the new Pontiac Eight. Read what others say!
