Individual producers will be required to submit to committees their applications for individual allotments. Blanks for this purpose will be set out in a few days. YOUTH HELD IN ATTACK ON NEWTON GIRL

NEWTON, Texas, June 22.—A 25-year-old Newton, Texas, youth, who was the escort of a 17-year-old white girl Tuesday night when she allegedly was attacked by a negro, was to be placed under charges today as an aftermath of the lynching of the negro near here Wednesday night.

District Attorney Hollis Tinard of Orange, who ordered the youth held pending filing of charges, was to come here today and take charge of the case. No indication was given as to the nature of the charges to be filed against the youth.

Both the boy and girl are members of prominent families.

Sheriff T. S. Hughes said his investigation showed the youth and the girl had been drinking and the youth wandered off after he had taken the girl to a box factory on the outskirts of town.

Seeks Court Place

JUDGE JOHN H. SHARP
Ellis County jurist seeks promotion to high court position.

John H. Sharp Is Visitor In City

Judge John H. Sharp was in the city today in behalf of his candidacy for associate justice of the supreme court to succeed Judge Thomas E. Greenwood, who is not a candidate. He was born in Robertson county and educated in the public schools of this state, and Southwestern university, Georgetown, where he graduated. He has two opponents.

Judge Sharp moved to Ellis county and for more than 25 years was actively engaged in the practice of law. He was first appointed a member of the commission of appeals by the governor in 1929. When the law was amended in 1930, so as to make the judges of the commission appointive by the supreme court, Judge Sharp was re-appointed by the court for a term of six years. He still holds that position.

Judge Sharp believes that cases should be disposed of without undue delay and at the least expense to litigants.

Evangelist Has Interesting Sermon On "Conversion"

Rev. G. Robert Forrester, Evangelist, who is leading the revival of First Christian church, preached Thursday night on "Conversion or Turning to the Lord." He said in opening his sermon that the world is afflicted with the awful malediction of sin. Humanity is soul sick unto death, and Jesus Christ taught that before healing could come there must be conversion. All rational, thinking men and women want to gain admission at last into the Kingdom of Heaven. But Jesus declared that such admission could not be gained unless men were converted and became like little children. The great need of the hour is that men should have their sins blotted out that there might come seasons of refreshing from the presence of the Lord, but before this felt need can be met, according to the Apostle Peter, men must repent and be converted.

It is essential, therefore, that men should understand what this important experience is; for through the years of evangelical christianity there have been two opposing views as to what constitutes genuine conversion. One view is that legalistic conception that conversion is purely a turning to God on the part of the individual, while the other is the mystical view or that which takes the position that conversion is some mystical change wrought upon the individual by a divine power above and beyond himself. The truth in this, as in all other cases, said the evangelist, lies in the happy medium between two extremes.

Conversion, from the standpoint of the etymology of the word, literally means a turning or a change. A change from one form to another, or from one state to another, or from one use to another, is a conversion. The individual may, therefore, experience many changes or conversions without becoming a Christian. One may be converted politically, socially or religiously and still be out of Christ for there are many historic religions in the world, and a turning of oneself to any of them would be in the literal sense a conversion.

In being converted from the world to Christ every one must experience a three-fold change. There must be first of all a change of heart, and without this there could be no genuine conversion. There must be next a change of life or conduct, and that too is vital. Then last of all there must be a change of state or relationship. The Bible heart of man, the minister said, consisted of intellect, emotional nature and volitional nature, and that these constituted the whole inner man. Aside from this man has a physical being, and the whole of man must be changed in conversion. If any man be in Christ he is a new creature. Old things have passed away. Behold all things have become new. Jesus provided for this change in the great commission that He gave to men. The intellect is changed by preaching the Gospel. The emotions by the love of Christ revealed in the Gospel and the will brought into subjection by the power of this love. Thus a man's life is changed. Then when he enters into Christ by submitting to His command of baptism he is completely changed in heart, life, and in state or relationship. He is no longer an alien but a fellow citizen with the saints and of the household of God.

Small Home Owner Will Be Benefited By Housing Plan

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The small home owner of the working men who wants to become one will benefit most under the Housing bill, according to those who participated in drafting the measure. While final details of procedure for those who wish to obtain the benefits of the act must wait administrative machinery now being set up, it will operate after this fashion:

The home owner who wishes to improve his property by a new roof, new plumbing, new heating equipment or other repairs to make it more habitable will be able to finance the work.

To do so he will first obtain a low bid from a responsible contractor. He will take this to his banker or to a recognized building and loan association. If the work and contract is approved the job will be completed and the contractor will receive his pay from the financing agency.

The home owner then will pay the debt off on the installment plan over a period up to five years, paying interest at 5 per cent. The government enters the picture by guaranteeing the loan.

If the homeowner wishes more extensive work, such as building an addition or additional buildings such as a garage he will proceed in the same manner. The largest amount of work he may have done will be $2,000.

In event he already has a mortgage on his home it may be necessary to adjust this mortgage. Or he may be obliged to put up collateral. If the house is mortgage free he may be obliged to take one out. The lending institution may be allowed considerable latitude on this score.

Another section of the bill is designed to help those whose mortgages fall due and are unable to pay them. He may apply to the organization holding his mortgage for a new mortgage which is insured by the government.

This new mortgage will run up to 20 years and the interest rate will be fixed at a nominal sum. In addition to interest and amortization he will pay a small sum each month which will go into a mortgage insurance fund.

This fund is expected to be ample to protect the insurer of the mortgage against loss.

The man who does not own his home but wishes to do so draws up his plans and applies to a member bank of the federal reserve system for a construction loan with which to meet the cost of building.

When the home is completed he may apply for an insured mortgage which will be payable over a longer period of time than is usual or up to 20 years.

The persons holding the mortgage can refinance it with the Home Owners Loan Corporation if a member or sell it to any of the proposed national mortgage association to be permitted to organize for dealing in mortgages.

NEW BANK TO BE OPENED BY 15TH OF JULY

CISCO, Texas, June 22.—Chasing three years of persistent efforts to reorganize and reopen the Cisco Banking company, which closed its doors in September, 1931, the state banking board at Austin has granted the Cisco State bank a charter, contingent upon a loan of $140,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, it was announced here today.

That loan was approved by the RFC some time ago, conditioned upon certain requirements. These requirements, said Guy Dabney, vice president of the bank, have practically all been met and most of the depositors in the closed bank have signed the agreement which was required. Under terms of the loan, the bank will make available immediately upon opening 60 per cent of Cisco Banking company deposits in cash. The remainder will be paid off as conditions warrant.

Mr. Dabney said that the bank hopes to be open for business not later than July 15.

The new bank will have a capital stock of $50,000 and a surplus of $10,000. Its reopening will release to the community assets that the time of its closing were estimated at a quarter of a million dollars.

"A great amount of preparatory work is still to be done before we can fix a definite date for the opening of the new bank," said Mr. Dabney, who directed the three-year efforts of the bank to work out of its difficulties, reorganize, and secure a RFC loan and state charter.

LONE STAR IS WINNER FIRST HALF SEASON

Lone Star had little trouble winning the playoff from Sinclair to cop the first half championship in the Twilight league, the score being 12 to 1 at the end of the seven innings.

Lone Star played good ball throughout the game, making but one error, which came in the fourth inning, but did no harm, as only three men were up in that inning, a double play cutting down the Sinclair players in order to retire the side.

Only four hits were made by Sinclair and only nine men reached first, three of these got to second safely and one made the circuit to score. The lone Sinclair score came when Horton walked after one was out, Murray singled, Curry was down at first, scoring Horton. Richmond then walked and Anderson flew out to left field for the third out of the inning.

Lee, Sinclair pitcher, was wild throughout the five innings he pitched, allowing seven walks, which got him into serious trouble on three occasions when the bases were filled with only one out. In every inning he pitched he got into a hole, while Robinson, Lone Star twirler, had no trouble throughout the game, having air-tight support behind him at all times.

In the third inning, with two out and one man on first, Foy, Lone Star left shortstop, went back into foul territory between third base and left field to snatch a high pop foul. He got his hands on the ball, juggled it momentarily, almost dropped it and finally sucked it in as he ran at top speed, retiring the side.

Booth, Sinclair first baseman, played the best game in the field for Sinclair, handling all chances cleanly and making one beautiful leaping catch of a hotly hit line drive that looked like it was a sure hit. His catch retired the side in the third after four runs had already been scored.

Snake was HITCH-HIKER

TEMPLE, Texas.—Railroad Engineer J. B. Pruitt and Fireman J. C. McCoy will tell you about a "hitch-hiking" snake. The cabman stopped their freight train on a siding at Heidenheimer. Again opening the throttle, Pruitt looked out his cab window and into the eyes of a serpent. It crawled up the running board and over the airpump housing. The two men slammed and locked the window to keep the serpent out. It fell off as the locomotive swerved around a curve.

REVIEW OF QUARTER BOOK OF MATTHEW

"Thou art Christ, the son of the living God," are the words of the opening golden text of this quarter. Christ, the most wonderful character in the history of time. Christ, the mighty counselor, teacher and friend of the people, came to seek and to save that which was lost and to give His life in service for all.

Christ in a humble, unassuming way taught His disciples the great truths of life in this series of lessons. They began to follow Him with the beginning of understanding in faith.

From that time on His footsteps began the journey to Calvary. As He journeyed and left the footprints that shine in the sands of time today, His courtesy and mercy was evidence of His divinity.

As the shadows of the cross deepened He taught, "Suffer Little children, and forbid them not, to come unto Me, for of such is the Kingdom of God."

Of this great kingdom He taught that simplicity of faith likened to that of child was necessary, to enter into its joy and peace. He condemned selfish ambition and blessed the children giving them a place and value in this Kingdom of God.

This teaching of grace made many teachings of the law look hard and severe. We must forgive if we expect forgiveness; take more joy in giving than receiving; love God first of all and our neighbor as ourself.

"Wherefore God hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a name which is above every name."

His suffering on Golgotha's hill did not dim His courtesy or love. He commended His mother to John, opened the door of paradise to a hardened criminal, and yielded up His spirit in humility and suffering for mankind while all nature sympathized with great and fearful demonstrations.

"He is risen" was the glad cry that rings through time in the hearts of men bringing comfort and strength to carry on.

Women were privileged to carry the glad news, and to see Him first of all. That knowledge is a precious heritage for women forever.

Is Christ a real personality to you today or just some person to be read about in history? His gentle "fear not" and "peace be unto you" can gladden your heart if He is a welcome guest in your life today.

He has need of you and your services in the carrying on of His kingdom today. A willing obedience, "Master, at thy word I will let down the net."

Great worldly wealth is not promised but spiritual compensations of infinite lasting value, lasting throughout eternity.

A blessed peace of soul, a wider purser vision and a growth of soul that enriches life and lays up treasures in our own heavenly home.

Christ, divine, of infinite understanding and mercy; we remember His tears, great drops of blood, patience, courtesy; not brilliant wit and humor and timely jokes but love; the greatest love ever given to man.

For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

This Christ who will comfort all that mourn; "give unto them beauty for ashes; the oil of joy for mourning; the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness." In the words of the closing Golden Text "Of His kingdom there shall be no end."

OAK GROVE

Tom Bryant had the misfortune to lose a good horse last Thursday night.

A light rain visited this community last Saturday night and about one-fourth inch precipitation wet the ground some four or five inches deep. Another shower fell Sunday afternoon but not enough moisture has fallen to be of material aid to early corn. A high wind preceded the rain Saturday night which caused some damage to fruit trees by breaking the heavily loaded limbs.

J. E. Cannaday attended services in a revival meeting at the Baptist church at Moran last Monday night, where the pastor, Rev. A. A. Davis, is doing the preaching.

A. H. Lockhart and wife of Pleasant Hill were calling in this community Sunday afternoon on their way home from a visit with relatives at New Hope.

Miss Willie Joy May of Mangum was a Sunday visitor to Miss Frankie Bee Hall and attended a birthday fete at the home of Miss Rebecca Cox.

Mrs. Pierce Murphy enjoyed a brief visit by her sister, Mrs. Fox, who lives near Eastland, Saturday night and Sunday.

Experiments Show Vitamin A Needed To Preserve Sight

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—Lack of Vitamin A may cause weak or defective eyes in babies, scientists at the Texas agricultural experiment station have suggested after experiments with pigs.

Two litters of pigs, all blind, were born in one week to sows that had rations deficient in Vitamin A.

One of the sows, which had not been given any Vitamin A, gave birth to ten pigs without any eyes. The other sow, supplied with Vitamin A before the birth of the pigs but not during the period when the eyes were forming, had a litter of 14 pigs with various combinations of eyes, but all blind. Some had only one eye, some had eyes smaller than usual, and some had normal eyes, but all were sightless.

Mrs. Arnold Rothstein Pens Dramatic Story

Things millions of men and women want to know will be revealed in Fox Film's latest release, "Now I'll Tell You" by Mrs. Arnold Rothstein, which will make its appearance on the screen of the Columbia Theatre on Sunday. The film stars Spencer Tracy. Advance reports indicate that Tracy is an absolute sensation in a role that perfectly suits his talents.

The screen play reveals a woman's sensational story—told for the first time with all its love and beauty, passion and heart-aches.

The film is kaleidoscopic in its revelation of the romance, drama, comedy, night life and sporting events of New York City during the past twenty years.

Helen Twelvemtree and Alice Faye head the cast in support of Spencer Tracy.

BLACK-DRAUGHT

"Such a Good Laxative," Says Nurse

Writing from her home in Festus, Mo., Mrs. Anna LaPlante says: "I am a practical nurse and I recommend to some of my patients that they take Black-Draught, for it is such a good laxative. I took it for constipation, headache and a dull feeling that I had so much. A few doses of Black-Draught—and I felt just fine."

Because so many people know from having used it that Theodor's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, millions of packages of it are sold every year.

JAMES EMORY FOX is positive he will wreck Babe Ruth's home run record of 60.

"All other marks go, so why shouldn't that one? If I don't better it this season, I'll do it in the next real good one I enjoy," he says.

The Fox ran home runs home 55 times in 1922, and led major league macesmen with 43 last year.

"It would be well for someone to top Ruth's total. Something like that is required to bring out the trade. It is the long-range hitters who keep the fans on the edge of their seats."

"Interest in baseball hasn't waned. The game obtained a flying start in the matter of attendance this spring in all cities except St. Louis and Washington. But some of us will have to do the unusual if we are to keep the customers coming. They simply haven't got the money, and won't turn out for anything ordinary."

There was a difference of $15,960 between the Fox and Connie Mack when they opened negotiations in February, and the Athletics' big first baseman merits more than the $17,500 he obtained in a compromise.

There are several players whose salaries exceed that of the Fox, more than one by a surplus of $10,000. The American League's leading batsman says Mack frankly told him that under current conditions the Philadelphia club could not afford to pay him what he's worth.

Golden Days Gone Forever

WHILE the foremost right-handed hitting home run summerer of all time is confident that the left-handed Ruth's maximum will not stand, he agrees with those who do not believe like Bambino's fattest contract—for $20,000 in 1930—ever will be approached again.

The story of the Fox reads like a scenario. A champion home run hitter discovered a champion horse runner, for it was J. Franklin Baker who recommended his husky young neighbor down there in Maryland to his old mentor, Mack.

Baker earned the sobriquet, Home Run, on the strength of nine in 1911 and two more against the giants in the world series that fall. He led the junior loop procession with the staggering aggregate of 12 in 1912, long before they stuffed the sphere with cork and rubber.

"The ball certainly must have been dead then, for Frank could smack one as hard as anybody I ever saw," beams his protege.

Followed Dad's Footsteps

THE Fox, who harassed six-time horse teams on his father's farm at the age of 5, grew up in a baseball atmosphere. His dad, Dell Fox, was a catcher, and father and son were teammates in many games.

The Fox was a remarkable all-around athlete in high school, where he twice ran the century under 14 seconds. His 22 1/2 in 1921 remains the high school record for the 220 in the Old Line State. The young Fox high jumped 5 feet 10 inches, and scintillated in basketball and soccer. The only reason he did not play football is that it was not played in the small rural schools down yonder.

Rogers Hornsby and Harry Heilmann were his boyhood idols, and he speaks with all the assurance of Hornsby.

Ruth's mark of 60 home runs isn't at all safe with an eye and wrist action like that of the former ployboy playing around the plate. Not as long as there is a pair of jackrabbits in each ball, at least.

Jelly Making
Jellies are made by cooking together certain fruit juices and sugar in the proper proportions.

Pectin is the essential jelly-making substance found in fruit juices. Pectin belongs to a group of substances known as carbohydrates.

Test the juice for pectin, and see if there is considerable pectin present. Pour into a glass one tablespoon of the fruit juice and add to it the same amount of alcohol.

Note: Alcohol is poison and care should be taken in its use.

Making Jelly At Home

Jelly making is no trouble at all and I know that I am to have a good product when I follow the method given at one of the club meetings.

Grape Catsup

The grape crop for the county promises to be large and the following recipe may be helpful to those who want to preserve grapes in many ways.

- 5 pounds grapes
1 tablespoon cinnamon
3-4 tablespoon pepper
1-2 tablespoon salt
2 1-2 cups sugar
1 tablespoon allspice
1-2 tablespoon cloves
1 pint vinegar

Stew grapes over slow fire until soft, strain through sieve, add sugar, cinnamon, allspice, pepper, salt, cloves and vinegar. Boil until thick like jelly and bottle. This makes two pints.

Famous Bible Is Property of Dallas

DALLAS, Tex.—A Bible that once belonged to George Mifflin Dallas, vice president of the United States when Texas was admitted to the Union, and the man for whom the city of Dallas was named, has become the property of the Dallas Historical Society.

Dr. E. G. Eberle of Washington, editor of the Journal of the American Pharmaceutical Association, gave the Bible to the society.

Dr. Eberle, a former Dallasite, is recognized as a leading collector of objects connected with the Dallas family.

He donated the rare volume to the society through the G. R. Dealey, of the Dallas News and Journal, president of the society.

The Bible is an octavo volume, bound in calfskin and printed in London in 1810.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE IN TEXAS—AND CRIMINAL LAWYERS

Criminal procedure in Texas courts will remain slow and costly to taxpayers as long as legislative committees on criminal jurisprudence are made up of criminal lawyers, remarked Atty. Gen. James V. Alford facing an audience at Ranger. This is the finish: "There is an imperative need for reform. It should be taken as quickly as possible." He pointed out that for a long time the attorney general, judges of Texas courts, the state bar association and leading citizens have been urging reform in criminal procedure. His verdict: "Almost without exception their proposals have been pigeonholed in the dusty files of our state capital. The people of Texas should send to the legislature only those men who will pledge themselves unequivocally to support actively and make into law the progressive reforms which will make justice swifter, surer and less costly to the taxpayers."

Well, the lawmakers are not jurors. Reform in criminal procedure should come. But many criminals are turned loose by jurors who are either in ignorance of the law or the evidence or are sympathetic with the criminal on trial. It is important that criminals should be run down first and captured by the agents of the law; that they should be sent to trial; that if guilty they should be convicted and if innocent given their liberty. As for the high court of criminal appeals, the record shows that a large percentage of those who appeal from the trial courts are given scant sympathy unless there has been a miscarriage of justice "down below."

High class men should be sent to the legislature. Lawmakers enact laws. If they are weak and faulty, the courts of the state interpret the laws and toss them aside because they are unconstitutional or contain other grave defects—without the force of logic or based on common sense. There are many problems awaiting the lawmakers to be nominated and elected this year. The people are said to be the masters. If they haven't sufficient sense to pick the right men for state senators and representatives, then it will be their funeral and they will continue to pay the freight—speaking of the cost of government and the cost of crime in this commonwealth.

Your Chamber of Commerce has the facts about your city and its condition. If you are not posted, get posted. Don't be a dumb-bell.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY "STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

BEGIN HERE TODAY When JANE TERRY and AMY LOWE see an attractive young man, a stranger, in Marburg, the small middle-western town where they live, they speculate about who he may be. Both girls are young. Jane, a real beauty, is less popular than Amy. Jane, who is an orphan, lives with her aunt, MISS ROSA TERRY, Amy's father is a professor. Jane hastily invents an excuse to leave her friend. A little later Amy learns from EDGAR MORELAND that the young man she and Jane saw is calling at the Terry home. Amy knows that is the reason for Jane's hurried departure. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER II JANE had known the stranger was like Capes, even at a distance, and it gave her the feeling of long acquaintance with him. She almost called him Mr. Capes though Miss Rosa had introduced him as Howard Jackson, son of a distant and practically forgotten relative. "You must stay and have dinner with us this evening," Miss Rosa said, cordially. "You're not going out anywhere, are you Jane? Neither am I. It won't be a bit of trouble." "Then I will, and thank you very much." He had an engaging frank smile, and Miss Rosa warmed to it. "You go change your dress, Jane," she said, "and take Howard—I can't call you Mister, you are really too young—for a walk around the campus before dinner. It looks its best along about sun set." Jane flew to obey, thinking as she ran upstairs: "I'll put on my new black and red. No, that won't do for him. My white swims with the orange sash, my white coral beads—" She dropped her tennis shoes anywhere, and the shower dripping, dressed in a shorter time than she had believed possible. But she came down lightly, leisurely, one hand on the banister, made an effective entrance as the perfect ingenuite. "I hope she keeps 'hat up," thought Miss Rosa, watching them walk off together. Meanwhile Jane was asking Howard Jackson friendly, girlish little questions. It was something of a shock when she discovered that he wasn't anything very strange, a mere instructor in geology in a western university, for she didn't know that this university had a renowned School of Mines and that geology was distinguished there. Nor did Howard Jackson mention that fact. Presently, however, he said that he was going to study all summer with Professor Elliott for a thesis he had to do. Jane pounced on this. "That's wonderful! Have you met him yet? You'll love him!" she paused and said an arresting sally on Howard Jackson's arm. "Look at our class—I always stop here to see them. They stand there so grandly and then stude's so light and free, instead of stude like the maples. They're like some, somehow. Like a husband's Papillons." Howard looked at her in surprise which was a touch ironic. "Are you as fond of trees as all that?" "It's Mrs. Hobart," she said, "I left a message for her to call me." Jane smiled over at Howard again, sharing the secret of youth's indulgence to fuzzy mid die age. "Could we go somewhere tonight—a motion picture, maybe." "Oh, I'd love a motion picture," said Jane. "There's one in Rivers Hall." "It's Mrs. Hobart, where we're going," Jane rang the bell. "We'll say hello and leave the book and run along." "Edgar Moreland and Vanny Hough were both there, listening Jane made her introductions very casually, but she felt important and triumphant when she saw Amy's face of surprise. "And here's the book you wanted—we can't stay," said Jane. "We must stay to hear the end of that Debussy thing," said Howard. "Jane didn't mind showing off Howard a little longer. He made Edgar and Vanny look simple kids." ON their way to the movie Howard was saying: "Your friend plays remarkably well—is she going to be a professional?" "Amy'd never think of such a thing, she's perfectly contented in her own commonplace sphere—you can imagine, the good daughter, the nice popular small town girl with several beaux, and you saw what they were like! Pres only she'll marry one of them and settle down to be a good wife and mother." "You don't approve?" Jane shrugged: "If she likes it, why not? But it's stodge, don't you think?" "Miss Amy Lowe didn't look like a stodge person to me," said Howard. Something in her tone warned Jane that she was making a mistake. "Amy isn't a bit stodge herself, that's why I'm sorry to see her so sort of marked out for a stodge life," she explained. She thought they'd better stop talking about Amy. "I do hope you're not going to spend all your time working while you're here—" At that moment a cautious thought came to her. Perhaps Howard Jackson was married; Capes was married, that was what made his love for Ann Veronica at once glorious and frightening. And at first Ann Veronica hadn't known, hadn't even suspected, but Jane did not intend to copy her heroine so far. "By the way," she asked, "are you going to bring your wife—" "My wife! I'm not married. What made you think so?" "Why, I understood, when you were talking to Aunt Rosa about the apartment—there's no special reason why you shouldn't be married, you know. It's not a crime." "No, not exactly. But I don't happen to be—I'm not even engaged—and you made me jump when you asked like that." Jane laughed at this. "I was sure you said something to Aunt Rosa—" "Please tell her I didn't when you get home." He felt her small deceit, he was stiff and annoyed. "They didn't speak of it until they were at her door, saying good night." "I've had such a lovely evening," said Jane. "You do forgive me about thinking you were married?" She was not acting, she was sincere and simple, and the night gave a shadow of mystery and enchantment to her face, her slim whiteness. Howard Jackson spoke before he thought: "You're like the music we heard this evening—" Only as he walked down to his hotel did it occur to him that the music had been played by another girl, more lovely than Jane, and he surmised, much less exacting. It was Amy he thought about as he went on. (Copyright 1934, by Sophie Kerr) (To Be Continued)

Children's Story Hour
At Library Planned

Next Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m. at the library the boys and girls of Ranger are invited to begin a journey to many lands and places through a story travel hour. There will be two groups—the little children, and the older boys and girls. The tours will be conducted by Misses Winnifred Dunke and Dorothy Billingsley, experienced story tellers. They will travel to Canada, India, England, Russia, etc., by the magic carpet of stories from these countries. Be sure to be at the library Wednesday afternoon to be on the first airplane full of adventurers into other lands.

The books upon the subjects of geology and evolution requested by certain patrons of the library have arrived and may be obtained by calling for them.

The books received from the state library are proving very popular with the men and women as well as the boys and girls of Ranger. Do not miss this opportunity to enjoy good books this summer, absolutely free of charge. The library is open each morning from 9 to 12, and on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 2 to 5:30, and on Tuesday and Thursdays from 5 to 8 p. m.

Children's Books

A book for the little children is "The Little Lost Pigs," by Helen Fuller Orton.

All children love stories of pigs from the first time they hear "This little piggy went to market." Here is a new, and different, pig story, about Rosaline and Piggy Joe, two as naive and interesting little pigs as ever squeezed under the fence to go adventuring in the big, big world. It is a story with a dramatic plot—for pigs you know, can think up just as many things to do as any boy or girl—and Rosaline and Piggy Joe keep you guessing to see what will happen next.

A story older boys and girls will enjoy, Cornelia James Cannon, "The Pueblo Boy."

Tyami of the Pueblo Arcoma lived nearly 400 years ago in the days of Coronado's search for the seven cities of Cibola. While herding turkeys for the Indians he hears the rumor of men dressed in shining armor, and is sent to the nearest Pueblos to give warning of the coming invaders. How he meets and talks with Coronado.

Shower Names

Mrs. Love Honoree

A pretty compliment was paid Mrs. G. C. Love at the home of Mrs. D. W. Nichol, Elm street, Thursday afternoon in the form of a shower which carried a pastel color note.

Featured in entertainment was that of the solving of individual cross-word puzzles. Just before the serving of a refreshing plate of chilled punch and ice box cookies, the hostess, presented the honoree with a basket of lovely gifts.

The enjoyable courtesy was attended by some 80 guests.

How Are Your Recipes For Summer?

What a satisfaction it must be to have at least a weeks calendar of meals planned so that you may spend less time figuring over your menus, and attempting to appease the appetite of every member of your family.

How are your recipes for summer, the same as they were last summer—or do you strike to keep your preparations of foods up to the minute and in keeping with the season. At this time of the year we are inclined to resort to foods easier prepared evading the fried and heavier meals.

At the cooking demonstrations to begin at Montgomery Ward & Co. store Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, every recipe given you by the factory representative, Mr. Elmore, and prepared for you has been tested and approved by food authorities.

Mr. Elmore, who will again be pleasingly assisted by his wife, is going to demonstrate pressure cookers, and their value in a large number of ways. If you have a cooker there are new suggestions for you, if you haven't, then there is a delightful surprise for you.

SHE ATE ALL-BRAN TWELVE YEARS WITH FINE RESULTS

Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Read this very enthusiastic letter:

"Something like eleven or twelve years ago, I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. When I started, it was called simply Kellogg's Bran, and I believe it was one of the first products of the kind on the market.

"My friends often laugh at my fondness for ALL-BRAN. It gives such a clean taste in the mouth, and I do not feel satisfied until I have had my ALL-BRAN.

"If the Kellogg Company should ever stop manufacturing ALL-BRAN, here is one who would be greatly disappointed."—Miss Amy Person, University Park, Iowa.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further regularity. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is made like that of leafy vegetables. How much safer than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Just eat two tablespoons daily for most types of constipation. For serious cases, try it three times daily. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

and how he saves his people from Spanish attack, is a story which is sure to interest boys and girls.

It was a strange life that was lived in the Indian Pueblos of the old southwest, and in this thrilling story it is described with a vividness and complete accuracy that will give pleasure to every child of 8 to 14.

Lone Star Celebration Eagerly Awaited

Tomorrow afternoon is to be a busy and gay hour for Lone Star company personnel, their families and friends when the program opens in the afternoon to be climaxed with a dance at the Ranger Country Club at 9 o'clock.

All attractions are to be centered around the Country club and its attractive surroundings. At 2:30 a ladies bridge tournament will be staged with contract and auction played. Guests are courteously urged to be present at the named hour since those entering late will not be eligible to compete for prizes.

Entertainment committee names Mrs. E. K. Smith, Mrs. Felix McCurdy, Mrs. Mayo, Mrs. A. J. Lowe, and Mrs. Sam Gamble.

Tom Maloy of New Orleans, La., arrived in town this afternoon for a brief business visit. He was accompanied by the chief purchasing agent of Magnolia Petroleum company.

Mrs. E. K. Smith visited in Graham yesterday.

Judge and Mrs. J. N. McPatter are entertaining at home today their sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McPatter of Rotan and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. McPatter of Archer City, who were included among those attending the druggists' convention which met in Mineral Wells this week.

Mrs. Jim Head of Granbury is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bill Barnett and family.

Homer McKee of Los Angeles, Calif., arrived in Ranger Thursday to visit his mother, Mrs. D. C. McKee, who we are happy to say is improving from a major operation.

The quickest and most satisfactory way to prepare your fruits in a cooker. What is nicer than to resort to your pantry next winter and bring forth gleaming glasses of jelly, jam and various other fruits and vegetables just as fresh as they were the day you canned them.

The school will be conducted on the second floor. Everything for your comfort will be given consideration and you are cordially invited to be present every afternoon. Prizes will be given and a different program for each day has been carefully outlined.

Personally Speaking

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Sloum and children of Kountze, Texas, are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eudaley, 625 Hill avenue.

Frank Matheny, special representative with Ell Lilly company, was a Ranger visitor Thursday afternoon en route to his home in San Angelo after having attended the druggists' convention held in Mineral Wells this week. Mr. Matheny, formerly of this place, has a host of friends who were extending congratulations upon his marriage of June 14, which took place in San Angelo. Mrs. Matheny is the former Miss Fannie Bob Taylor, one of San Angelo's most attractive and charming young ladies.

A six-round bout between Bill Donowho, 140-pounder, of Ranger, and Brownie King, tough 138-pounder from Olden, will be on the boxing card.

Monday will be ladies' night again at the arena, with ladies admitted free with each paid, ring-side admission. Ring-side seats are in the first four rows, with the remainder of the seats going at 25 cents and general admission at 15 cents.

Science has gone to bat for the farmers of the country in a general war against the chinch bug—and it will be no sinch, either.

Fights On Monday Will Have Action

Pat Swanson, 180-pound grappler from Fort Worth, will return to Ranger Monday night to swap holds with Curley Bishop, 180-pounder from Waxahachie, who is no newcomer to the Elks arena. The bout will be for a two-hour time limit.

In the other wrestling event Si Holt, 140-pounder from Fort Worth, will mix it in a one-hour time limit bout with Red Rogers, 138 pounds, from Dallas. This promises to be a good, short bout, with lots of action.

Third Attack Group Will Be Inspected

GALVESTON, June 21.—Tactical inspection of the Third Attack group by a committee of representatives of the Eighth Corps Army area will be held here Friday, June 22, at Fort Crockett.

The inspection is an annual affair and is considered the most vigorous inspection on the year's calendar for the group men. The inspection will require nine hours. Tactical efficiency of the group men in the air and on the ground will be surveyed. Flying and drill demonstrations and other military maneuvers will be rehearsed to show the proficiency of the unit. In the air pilots will exhibit their flying prowess with a six-plane aerial review during which they will lay a chemical smoke screen, using simulated gas.

Officials at Fort Crockett said the public was invited to view the demonstrations.

PRaised MURPHYS
WORCESTER, Mass.—The Murphys reigned supreme at the home of Attorney Charles S. Murphy, who is candidate for the Democratic nomination for district attorney, for an outing. The big event of the day was the talk by Adrian Cousins, a Frenchman, who spoke of fine qualities and virtues of the Murphys.
