PRESIDENT SIGNS FARM MORATORIUM ACT

Sen. Lynn J. Frazier, a non-partisan republican of North Dakota, is largely responsible for what is known as the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage moratorium act. President Roosevelt signed the measure before his departure on his sea cruise. Rep. Marzin Jones of Texas is the chairman of the house agriculture committee. Be it known that the act provides that farmers may go into federal courts on bankruptcy proceedings, scale down their debts and reclaim possession of their property by paying only small interest charges and small payments on the principal for a five-year period.

Jones of Texas had a hand as well as a vote and a voice in putting the bill over the top. That is, he assisted in "composing some difficulties over the legislation" when it was being passed by congress. He predicts that the act will be able to serve "a useful purpose if not abused." He most emphatically stated, "there was no occasion for misgiving on the part of insurance and mortgage companies" and his prayer is that "no effort would be made to use the provisions of the measure except in cases of need." His viewpoint is that if properly used and not abused this so-called revolutionary farm mortgage moratorium act "will serve a useful purpose on both the former borrower and to the lender." Frankly he said it is not intended that there shall be any wholesale use of the new method and added "neither should a wholesale method of foreclosure be permitted under existin circumstances."

There are nine lonely old men who are known as the supreme judges of the United States. These nine say the last word. There is said to be a wide field for litigation in the new act and the court of last resort may have the privilege as well as the responsibility of saying the last word.

President Roosevelt in signing the bill gave warning that the measure "is in some respects loosely worded and will require amendment at the next session of the congress." Place it in the record that the farm moratorium proposal now a law was fought to a finish by the conservative forces and supported by the so-called "liberal elements" in and out of the halls of legislation.

Reading newspaper advertisements is not only profitable but also educational.

All public officials should be above suspicion and beyond reproach—also approach.

A state that spends less than it receives would be a wonderful place in which to live.

It is said that the man who never builds "air castles" never builds castles of any kind.

Service Stations To Display Eagles

DALLAS.—By order of the Hon. Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior and oil administrator, the new Blue Eagles for the petroleum industry will be denied any service station or other marker who violates the petroleum code, Fred M. Lege, Jr., Texas state chairman for marketing, announced yesterday. This information was contained in an official communication from E. B. Brown, compliance director. The distribution of the new emblems will be handled by the Texas planning and coordination committee under the supervision of E. B. Johnson, acting special agent in charge of the division of investigations of the Department of the Interior.

This means, Mr. Lege said, that from now on the public is assured that every concern displaying the insignia bearing the words "Petroleum Industry," a registration number and the date, 1934, is complying with the rules of the code as promulgated by President Roosevelt. It further means that the legitimate merchant, who has for many months been competing with unfair competition, will now be recognized as one who is doing his part to put more men to work, shorten hours and in general is complying with the President's plan, Mr. Lege said. The emblems will be recalled by the secretary of the interior through the division of investigations immediately upon violation of the code by the companies or persons to whom issued. The new emblems will be issued only upon applications from each individual service station, refiner, jobber and wholesaler and only after that application has been approved by the local planning and coordination committee and the division of investigations. Texas, for the purpose of impartially administering the code, has been divided into 19 districts and 37 zones.

Farmer Claims a Lion Killed Hens
By United Press
DALLAS, July 16.—Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fryman, who live near Marsalis Park zoo and know what a wild beast sounds like, were convinced a lion had escaped one recent night.
The animal's roars and growls awakened the Frymans, who hastily closed all doors and windows despite the heat.
In the morning they found the creature had devoured chicken.
Notified, Foster Jacoby, police director, made a cage-to-cage canvass of his animals, found missing.
Neither Jacoby nor the Frymans have any idea what kind of animal it was in the Fryman chicken yard.

THE END OF THE RACE! —and then he Smoked a Camel!

IT TAKES A MAN like "Bill" Horn, who won the Gold Cup in 1932, to wind a big racing hydroplane up to 3000 r.p.m. and hold her to a speed of 60 to 70 miles per hour...for mile after mile. And when he's tired Camels quickly increase his vim and energy.

YOU'LL LIKE this delightful way of "turning on" your flow of energy

A famous New York research laboratory reveals that smoking a Camel produces a definite increase in your flow of natural energy. The effect is delightful, completely natural.
Many smokers have learned of this "energizing effect" in Camels for themselves. "Bill" Horn, winner of the gruelling Gold Cup race, refers to his experience in these words:
"The man who drives a Gold Cup winner needs the last ounce of energy he's got. After a championship race I 'break out' my pack of Camels quickly, believe me! In no time at all I get a 'lift' and everything is all serene! It's a swell feeling—just to smoke a Camel and be your real self again! That's what I do whenever I feel played out, and Camels never get on my nerves."
Try this pleasant and convenient way of ironing out fatigue and increasing vibrant energy.

Italy's Planes Are Seen As Threat To Great Britain

PARIS, France. — The thin red line of Britain's communications between the homeland and the colonies and Dominions East of Suez is threatened.

The threat, according to French observers, comes from Italy. The Italian government has developed giant naval seaplanes for use in the Mediterranean with the main object, it is said, of hitting at Malta, Britain's second Gibraltar.

These seaplanes are capable of setting off from Italian soil in Sicily and raining bombs upon the British Mediterranean fleet in Valetta harbor, 75 kilometers away, in less than half an hour. After bombing the harbor, they can be back on Italian territory within an hour.

As French naval and aerial experts see the situation, Italy's expansion of naval and air strength will have a vital bearing on the World Naval Conference to open next year to endeavor to do with naval forces what the Geneva Disarmament Conference failed to achieve with land and air force—bring about a general scaling down of strength.

Because of British sea power, one half of which is centered almost constantly in the Mediterranean to guard the chain of communications with the Far East by way of Suez, Italy always has had a great deal of respect for Great Britain.

The Italian government realized that Italy was more or less at the mercy of the big guns of Britain's mighty battle cruisers which could steam from their anchorage at Malta to bombard Italy's coasts within a few hours.

With the development of aviation, however, Italy's outlook has changed. The Italian Mediterranean air force now is equipped with bombing plants which are capable of turning the tables on the British menace. They are capable of attacking, crippling and perhaps even wiping out the British sea giants, before even these floating fortresses can weigh an anchor and steam to the attack.

Hot Months are Boost to Slayings

FORT WORTH.—Murders and other violent crimes increase in the summer months because of the hot weather, according to Dr. E. W. McDiarmid, head of the Texas Christian University psychology department.

Or hot weather may cause the gallant Romeo to become irritated and chuck his shoe at his best girl. It may even induce him to kill her.

"People literally go crazy with the heat," Dr. McDiarmid said. "Hot weather makes people quarrel, fight and even kill."

"It is the heat that causes a mental imbalance. Eskimos die an old age because their blood runs cold, while hot-blooded natives of equatorial countries are always fighting and killing one another."

"Of course we can't be scientifically accurate in determining how much the heat contributes to conflict—but it does—greatly."

In support of his contentions, Dr. McDiarmid produced police records here for the last three years. July is consistently the year's peak murder month here.

Last year 10 persons were slain here in July. In 1932 there were eight slayings and in 1931 there were 10.

Records for the three years showed that nearly one-half the city's murders occur in July, August and September, when the heat is the greatest.

Washington Plans Tribute to Bryan

WASHINGTON.—As an added tribute to William Jennings Bryan, who fired the nation with his blazing "Cross of Gold" speech in 1896, a passage from his famous address will be inscribed on the pedestal of his statue here in Potomac Park.

Approved by the Fine Arts Commission, the inscription will read: "You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns; you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

Bryan made the speech at the Democratic convention in Chicago when he was nominated for the Presidency.

Davenport Inventor Perfects Car Sleeper

MILWAUKEE — John Bostrom, inventor of the folding davenport bed, who sold his patent for a song, has perfected a device that will enable motorists to convert their automobiles into sleeping cars by merely pushing a button.

By hitting the back of the front seat it can be let down to the level of the front and back cushions, thereby forming a comfortable bed, Bostrom found.

He believes that his invention will be a boon to motorists, who not only will be spared the trouble of pitching tents, but also will be able to dispense with needless luggage leaving more room in their automobiles.

Missouri U. Site Was Picked In 1836

COLUMBIA, Mo.—The twenty-fourth anniversary of the selection of Boone county as site of the University of Missouri.

On June 24, 1839 efforts of the as yet undeveloped community resulted in the award being made by the state legislature.

The act providing for the location of the University of Missouri was introduced into the legislature by James S. Rollins, known throughout the state as "the Father of the University."

The act provided six central Missouri counties should submit bids of land and money, the university to be located in the county submitting the highest bid. Boone county, the wealth of whose inhabitants was estimated as only $2,000,000, bid $117,921.75, of which $30,000 was in land and the rest in cash.

The first board of curators met beneath a sugar maple tree on the present site of the university in October, 1839. First classes were held in Columbia college building, across the street from the site of the present Parker Memorial hospital.

The cornerstone for the first university building was laid July 4, 1840.

Wheeler and Woolsey's New Vehicle

In this clever wash drawing Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, ace comics of the screen, are revealed as their convulsing swashbuckling "Cockeyed Cavaliers." This RKO-Radio feature comedy projects the gay duo into medieval monkeyshines with Thelma Todd and Dorothy Lee. The picture is at the Arcadia today.

C. Bains and the first five copies printed, have plates hand colored on Japanese vellum and special bindings. The edition is limited to 15 numbered and signed copies.

The piece de resistance of the volume is a group of three maps prepared by the "Father of Texas" in a facsimile. One of the maps is said to have been unknown until this publication. The volume also presents a critical study of the early cartography, listing 24 manuscript maps.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Roy Hanni, 16, is a tough guy. Struck by an automobile, he was catapulted over the hood of the car, over the top and dropped on his head. The car suffered a broken front headlight, dented radiator and numerous scratches; Roy had a slight scratch on his shoulder.

Seattle Hooverville Has Own College

SEATTLE, Wash.—Hooverville, a small village of shacks built by unemployed men near the railroad tracks in South Seattle, will have an Alma Mater.

The Hooverville Workers college, established by Stephen A. Erings, who claims several degrees, is free to all unemployed and workers.

The college opened July 2. The curriculum includes social science, economics, government legislation, labor movement, current industrial situation, international affairs, social psychology and English classes.

Mayor Charles Smith endorsed the plan. There are four buildings, including a library and teachers' building. The Seattle Tent & Awning company donated one tent, and Camp Lewis Tent & Awning company two.

Eight teachers consented to work gratis for the first three months or more. Erings expects "students" from other communities below the tracks. Approximately 1,800 can be taken care of.

Rain Followed After Prayers of Farmers

NORTH HORNELL, N. Y.—A humorous touch in the recent disastrous drought:

Farmers hereabouts gathered at the North Hornell church to pray for rain. They raised their voices in prayer, pleading for moisture to save their crops.

Nearby, Mayor Philip Rockwell and other business men and officials tried to concentrate on their work.

LIGHTNING SHOCKED MAN

BARNESVILLE, O.—Paul Trimble, a florist, is recovering from effects of a shock sustained while taking a bath during a severe thunderstorm. He was unconscious for a time.

Shakespeare or Mendelssohn?

Her ambition to lead a Shakespearean company has taken second place in the thoughts of Evelyn Venable, winsome film actress, above, and matrimony is the immediate goal, if Hollywood rumor is to be credited. Hal Mohr, cameraman, is reported to be the man who'll march to the altar with the Cincinnati beauty.

Finally, the executive sent over word to the church asking them to "desist from shouting," so that the regular affairs of the municipality could continue.

DROVE BALL IN POCKET

NORFOLK, Neb.—Karl Woodward drove a hard-hit golf ball down the Norfolk golf course. It headed for Woodward's companion, Ole Olson. Olson ducked. The ball struck his golf bag, disappeared. Five men joined in a search for the ball. Olson found it—in his pocket, where it had ricocheted after striking the golf bag.

EXHAUSTED PIGEON FOUND

AUSTIN.—Tom Walling of Austin found an exhausted carrier pigeon in his yard, which he declared he will keep until the owner communicates with him. The bird's band number was AU335-3014.

SALEM CONSTRUCTION INCREASED

SALEM, Ore.—Construction here during the first half of 1934, totaling $150,600.60, was 106.7 per cent greater than in the corresponding period last year, a survey of building permits revealed today. The increase was 44.4 per cent more than the same period of 1932.

Dog Walks 157 Miles To Return Home

LAREDO.—In May, 1933, A. R. Rutherford of Laredo gave a pair of German police dogs to his friend J. C. Blunzler of Corpus Christi, 157 miles away.

One morning recently Mrs. Rutherford saw a familiar-looking police dog in the yard. It looked at her when she called, pricked up its ears and leaped forward with every manifestation of delight.

It was the female of the pair Rutherford had given to his Corpus Christi friend.

The dog was fast and almost exhausted from the long jaunt back home but otherwise showed no ill effects.

Republican Committee Chairman Fletcher gave us some tall figures about the cost of the New Deal, perhaps to make the $1,000,000 campaign fun he's seeking look to the prospects like a dime.

"I GOT THE RECIPE FROM AN ADVERTISEMENT IN YESTERDAY'S PAPER"

COOKING is a science in which discoveries are constantly being made. Even the most colorless food staple is liable to have the spotlight turned upon it. Take salt pork for example—wouldn't it surprise you to know that it is a wonderful basic ingredient for a savory tomato sauce?

It is not necessary to buy cook-books to keep up with new culinary secrets and recipes. By means of newspaper advertisements, they come to you regularly from the kitchens of food manufacturers and distributors. And because these recipes are tested over and over again before they are released to the public, you can follow their instructions with complete confidence.

As you study these recipes you will be impressed by these facts—they are appropriate for the time of the year in which they appear; they call for inexpensive ingredients; they are in harmony with modern rules of health and nutrition; and finally, they are not difficult to follow.

Yes, it pays to read food advertisements for the facts they contain. It pays to read the recipes for new ideas. You'll be wise if you cut them out for your recipe file. But above all you'll be delighted if you try one of those recipes right away.

GOLF BALLS
HAVE AN INTERNAL PRESSURE OF ABOUT ONE AND ONE-HALF TONS!

OWLS
ARE TEN TIMES BETTER MOUNTERS THAN CATS!

WHALES,
ALTHOUGH WEIGHING MANY TONS, ARE ABLE TO THROW THEMSELVES CLEAR, OUT OF WATER.

OWLS have a remarkably quick-acting digestive system. A young bird can eat more than its own weight in a single night. It is an easy matter to check up on the food bills of owls because of their curious habit of regurgitating the skull and fur of each victim.
