Eastland County Election Returns Complete

ASSASSINS OF DOLFUSS GO TO TRIAL

By United Press
 VIENNA, July 30.—The new Fascist-Monarchical government of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss is stamping out rebel Nazis with a ruthless hand today. The trial of accused murderers of Chancellor Dollfuss. The first defendants were former sergeant Otto Planetta, who, police said, confessed to the actual murder of Dollfuss in revenge for having been thrown out of the army and Franz Holzweber, another Nazi accused of taking a leading part in the assassination.

After the prosecution presented its case against the two men court was adjourned to permit the defense to prepare its case. If convicted the two probably will be the first of many Nazis to be hanged, with the prospect of violent reprisals. Casualties to date in the Nazi street were estimated at 200 to 250 dead and more than 1,000 wounded.

Fights Promise Local Fans Real Scraps Tonight

Two fights are booked tonight at the Elks arena and both promise to be real scraps. Woodie Windham and Billie Parks are to fight 6 rounds. These lads will give a good fight as both are determined to win. The other fight between Bobby Reed and Joe Hooks is an 8 round event and unless a knockout occurs is likely to go the entire 8 rounds. Verne Kid Lewis and Jimmie Murphy will stretch the best two out of three falls with a two hour time limit. Lewis is hard to handle and Murphy is plenty able to take care of himself. Both these boys have a large following.

The proceeds from these fights after expenses are paid goes to relieving those in distress. A few figures from the grand lodge proceedings of the Elks will show what this institution is doing in the way of charity. The Ranger lodge for 1933 contributed $457.40 for charity. This was distributed under several classifications. While the grand lodge in its varied activities contributed one million dollars to direct relief and the total distributed was over two million dollars. The latter figure was the total of the direct relief with the general welfare added, making a grand total of over two million dollars.

National Guards to Leave for Annual Camp on Saturday

Cattle raisers of this section of the county can begin to dispose of their cattle under the government plan within the next 10 days, it was announced today by P. A. Tankley, vocational agricultural teacher of Ranger. The county agent will receive the necessary blanks sometime this week, but until these blanks and forms are received, it will not be necessary for the cattle raisers of the Ranger section to go to Eastland for the preliminary signing. Mr. Tankley will be in a position to answer questions about the plan and to help all who are interested. Those wishing to list cattle for sale can list them with him at the chamber of commerce office and they will be notified later when it is necessary to sign the government forms with the county agent.

Any person who is a producer of livestock is eligible to participate in this program and any producer can sell one or all his herd. Prices offered can be rejected by the grower if the producer wishes to do so. The thing for the grower to do, Mr. Tankley said today, is for the producer to list his cattle for sale and be ready when the program gets underway.

After Leap For Life From Falling Balloon

Major William E. Kepner, commander of the flight, (kneeling), searching the wreckage of the gondola for instruments after his flight into the stratosphere with Capt. Orvil Anderson and Capt. A. W. Stevens was halted by a rip in the bag that sent it hurtling 11 miles downward, forcing the trio to take to parachutes.

NINE CONVICTS ESCAPE FROM PRISON FARM

By United Press
 RICHMOND, Texas, July 30.—River bottom lands in this vicinity were searched today for nine white convicts who escaped from the No. 2 camp of the Harlem state prison farm in Fort Bend county. The men sawed out a barred window of a dormitory and fled into the undergrowth of Oyster creek sometime during the night. The escape was not discovered until today when the customary morning checkup was made. Bloodhounds were put on the trail. The man hunt was led by Capt. A. N. Owens and Capt. E. E. Moss. Those who escaped were Robert Thompson, 24, serving two years from Eastland county for burglary; George Houston, 24, two years for burglary from El Paso county; E. F. Houston, 34, four years for burglary from Gregg county; J. M. Frame, 39, two years for burglary from Dickens county; Paul Beadon, 21, 16 years for burglary from Harris county; Horace Durham, 27, five years for robbery from Cherokee county; Nonnie Dodds, 25, six years for arson from Kaufman county; Gus Page, 22, 25 years for robbery from Dallas county; and Lewis Carter, 30, two to 99 years for robbery from Dallas county.

Allred Is Still Leadnig In the Governor's Race

By United Press
 DALLAS, July 30.—Returns to the Texas Election Bureau at 1 p. m. from 245 out of 254 counties in the state, including 98 complete, show the following totals for candidates in Saturday's primary election. For governor: Allred, 240,797; Hunter, 193,575; McDonald, 169,162; Small, 101,937; Witt, 51,888; Hughes, 46,035; Russell, 3,502.

Runoff Assured In Floterial Race On Callahan Returns

A runoff in the race for floterial representative from the 107th district was assured today when returns from Callahan county showed that Curry had run ahead of Lotief, to break a majority lead that Lotief held in Eastland county. Although Lotief held a majority of 450 votes over his two opponents in the complete Eastland county returns, a telephone call to Baird today revealed that he had run second in Callahan county and enough votes were cast against him to wipe out his majority in Eastland county. The Eastland county vote was Lotief 3,428; Curry 1,699 and Kinnaird, 1,279. The vote in Callahan county was Lotief 1,045; Curry 1,167 and Kinnaird 561. The total vote cast for each candidate in the two counties combined showed Lotief had 4,473; Curry 2,866, and Kinnaird 1,840, giving the two candidates 233 more votes than Lotief received.

FERGUSON HAS SAID M'DONALD WAS DEFEATED

By United Press
 AUSTIN, July 30.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson today conceded that only by a "miracle" can C. C. McDonald, whom he supported, get in the runoff campaign for governor. He said he has not decided if he will support Hunter or Allred in that campaign. He will wait to hear their plans for labor, farming, business and relief, he said. Neither Ferguson nor Mrs. Ferguson seemed discouraged by elimination of the candidate they supported. "I see we have been buried for the tenth time," said "Farmer Jim." "But we have always scratched out again," added "Ma." The result of the governor's race Ferguson said, indicated that prohibition no longer is a material factor in state politics. "People seem satisfied to leave things as they are," he said. "The only question now is whether the state shall get revenues from liquor sales, and the people do not seem to care even about that." Governor Ferguson said he saw no likelihood of a special session of the Texas legislature in August. A special session to issue more state bonds for relief and perhaps to consider the advisability of creating a new oil and gas commission has been tentatively set for September.

ENGLAND IS PREPARING FOR THE 'NEXT WAR'

By United Press
 LONDON, July 30.—Ominous preparations for "the next war" were revealed in the house of commons today when Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, announced plans for building up her air force as part of an imperial defense campaign. Baldwin started the house by making the following points: 1. The air force will be built up over four years from 844 to 1,304 planes, an increase of 460 fighting ships. 2. The civilian population will be drilled for defense against air raids.

Old Liquor Jars Now Hold Pickles

By United Press
 BERGEC, Texas.—Fruit jars and kegs formerly used by Hutchinson county moonshiners are in for some real pickling now. Sheriff Dan Hardee and his deputies have just given 35 barrels and kegs and 14 cases of jars to the seven women's home demonstration clubs. Taken in raids by the officers, the articles will be used for pickling and canning projects.

LIQUOR REVENUES BRING GOVERNMENT HALF BILLION ANNUALLY

By United Press
 WASHINGTON.—Mounting beer and liquor revenues, which promise to reach the $500,000,000 a year mark, are supplying the federal government with one out of every eight dollars of its $4,000,000,000 income. Internal Revenue Bureau statistics showed today. Government revenue from the liquor traffic in June rose to a new post-prohibition record of $36,251,672, or at the rate of nearly $500,000,000 a year. The highest previous revenue collected by the government from liquor was in the year ended June 30, 1916, when $444,810,000 was paid. Since April 7, 1933, when low-power beer was legalized, and on Dec. 5, 1933, when repeal became effective, beer and liquor revenues have been climbing steadily, diverting hundreds of millions of dollars into the federal treasury

BATTLE FEARED BETWEEN NAZIS AND LOYALS

By United Press
 RABENSTEIN, Austria, July 30.—A battle is imminent between Nazis in control of this frontier village and loyal Austrian troops, a United Press correspondent found on his arrival today. The Nazis were barricaded in the railroad station and customs buildings. Sixteen truck loads of soldiers waited a short distance from town ready to open fire. But they had to wait. The outcome of the negotiations between Austrian and Jugo-Slavian authorities over the prospect of permitting the rebels to retreat across the border. Jugo-Slav frontier guards had provided food for the embattled Nazis until last night. A protest from Austrian officials forced them to cease further aid.

Blanton Wins

Thomas L. Blanton, veteran congressman from the 17th district, who Saturday outdistanced his two opponents and was nominated for re-election without necessity of a run-off.

Cattle Buying By Government to be Started in Ranger

Co. I, 142nd Infantry, Texas National Guards, will entrain next Saturday morning for the annual encampment at Palacios, according to a train schedule received in Ranger today. Capt. Wayne C. Hickey stated today that some of the members were uncertain as to whether or not their jobs would permit them to attend the camp, but he was certain that the full complement of men would be on hand before time to leave, which would mean that 45 men and three officers will make the trip. This will be the seventh annual summer encampment of the local national guard unit has attended, and since the company made an excellent showing at the last federal inspection recently, it is expected that it will make an equally good showing at the camp. The company will be in camp for two weeks, probably returning to Ranger on Sunday, Aug. 19 or Saturday night, Aug. 18.

Chases Longhorn For Several Years To Obtain Horns

By United Press
 FORT WORTH.—It took C. E. Autrey the better part of 20 years and a chase half way around the world to get a prize pair of horns from a steer, but he finally was successful. Autrey, who makes his business collecting horns from Texas Longhorns, now is busy polishing and mounting the set. As he went about the task, he related the story. This set of horns was well worth a long chase, Autrey believes. They measured eight feet from tip to tip, a rare trophy since the Longhorn steer is disappearing rapidly from the plains of the Southwest. In 1915, Autrey heard of a promising young steer in the herd of the Dun Bar Ranch on the Mexican border. He investigated. The report was true. The steer's horns were outstanding for a three-year-old. The collector carefully noted the animal's markings for future references—red in color, one white foot, a white spot on the flank. Autrey made this notation for he intended to camp on that steer's trail until it died—and then obtain the horns. That is his regular procedure, he explained. Because of the scarcity of Longhorn steers, collectors trail a steer something like a book collector pursuing a rare volume. A set of six-foot horns, polished and mounted, sells for $45 to $50, making the chase remunerative as well as adventurous. In 1918 the Dun Bar steer was sold to the San Antonio Park Board. At intervals Autrey checked to see if the animal was there. A few years later it was sent to Florida and then to Spain for exhibit. The horns by now had reached eight feet. Autrey then lost trace of the steer. Equally through many letters he learned the animal had died in Spain and its carcass placed in a museum. He bought the horns and had them sent to Fort Worth. His chase around the world—all by mail—cost him $5, he said.

More Rivers at Low Levels Than In Past 75 Years

By United Press
 WASHINGTON.—More rivers have shrunk to abnormally low levels this month than in any other July since the U. S. Weather Bureau started its records of river stages nearly 75 years ago. One or two rivers in other years may have been as low, or even lower, but never before has there been such a general drying up of streams in July from the Rocky Mountains to the crest of the Appalachians. The streams of the west and middle west, says M. W. Hayes of the Weather Bureau, got off to a start because of the exceptionally light snowfall last winter. And with no heavy, continuous rains to make up the early deficiency, the rivers of the great Mississippi system have gone from bad to worse. For example, the Mississippi at St. Louis has had record-breaking low stages for every month but one so far this year. A river stage, Mr. Hayes explains, is the level of the river above or below the zero mark (usually arbitrary) on the river gages installed by the Weather Bureau at various points along the country's waterways. Normally the Mississippi river at St. Louis reaches its highest stage from April to July. July, however, was the high-water month in 1865, 1869, 1879, 1880, 1882, 1891, 1902, 1905, 1907, 1909 and 1924. The lowest stages usually occur in winter, when low temperatures freeze the tributary streams to great depths, cutting off the water supply. Below-zero stages have been common in winter, but previous to August, 1921, when the stage dropped to 0.4 on account of the dry weather, there had never been a below-zero stage in any but a winter month. The Mississippi River at St. Louis drains 691,096 square miles of territory to the north and northwest of the city and St. Louis stages, except in the winter, reflect precipitation conditions over this area. Low water levels have prevailed there since 1930. In June, 1929, the river reached a bankful stage of 30.8 feet. Since that time, it has not been bankful, although in May, 1933, it reached a stage of 27.0, which is within 3 feet of the bank top at St. Louis. Unprecedentedly low stages have prevailed since December, 1933. The lowest of record—4.6 feet below zero and in February it was 1.5 below zero, while in March it was 2.4 below zero. These low water readings, Mr. Hayes explains, were due largely to low temperatures. The usual "June rise" however, failed to materialize and the stage since April 1 have been lower than they ever were for corresponding dates in the last 75 years. This month the water level has fallen 0.6 foot at St. Louis. The previous low record for July was 2.0 feet in 1931. Before this the low record for July was 5.8 feet in 1926. The low stages of the Mississippi and its tributaries are particularly serious, Mr. Hayes says, because the normal season of heavy rains in the valleys of these rivers—April, May, June, and July—is now past. Only a protracted period of heavy rains could bring conditions back to normal and even were these rains to come continued wet weather would be necessary to keep the rivers at their normal stages as the added water would soon go to replenish the low water table of the surrounding country. The Colorado river, emptying into the Gulf of California, and watering the Imperial Valley by diversion, is exceptionally low now, and the water shortage along its lower course is becoming more acute every day. The season of heaviest rains in the lower Colorado basin, however, is just beginning, so that some relief may be expected here, if past performance is any guide to what will happen this year.

Complete returns from Eastland county today showed that Tom Hunter carried the county in the governor's race, with Allred, who is leading over the state, running second, more than 500 votes behind Hunter. In the other state races Connally lead by more than 1500 votes over Bailey, his nearest opponent; Woodul carried in the race for lieutenant governor; Woodward carried the county for attorney general; Sheppard had a big majority in the comptroller's race; Lockhart was running far ahead for treasurer; McDonald was far in the lead as commissioner of agriculture; Walker carried the county for land commissioner, Smith was far out in front as railroad commissioner and Lattimore was leading for justice of the supreme court. In the county races the vote showed Lotief had a majority as floterial representative and Ringold was leading Davison for representative from the 106th district by 29 votes votes with Cox in third place, only 71 votes behind Davison. County Judge Clyde Garrett was re-elected easily, having nearly 3,000 votes more than W. D. E. Owen, while Virge Foster was leading Brad Poe for sheriff by about 1500 votes. Grady Owen, criminal district attorney, was assured of re-election over Milton Lawrence, his opponent. Mrs. Frances Thornton Cooper lead in the race for county treasurer, with John White in the runoff with her, White being only 18 votes ahead of Mrs. Mae Harrison in the final count. R. E. McGlamery was left far behind in the three-cornered race for county school superintendent, with Eldridge leading and Williams about 400 votes behind the leader. McGlamery was about 400 votes behind the second place candidate. Henry Davenport had a majority over his two opponents in the race for county commissioner from precinct 1, with L. Y. Morris running second, and V. V. Cooper third. Davenport's majority over his two opponents was 152, assuring him of re-election. STATES RIGHTS AND "THE NEW DEAL"

"Texas is at the crossroads." Texans—or four-fifths—are for the New Deal idea to date. Four out of five are for the rights of the state—as provided by the constitution.

There are more than 150,000 persons in Texas directly affected. That is, they would be directly affected if the rights of the people's servants to develop and conserve this most valuable of all mineral wealth should be handled at the capital of the republic and not by the chosen servants of the people here at home.

This should be placed in the record of the hour for all concerned: "If the government following the New Deal idea of restricted production should see fit to restrict oil production to 2,000,000 barrels a day it should be able to arrange that 2,000,000 barrels to the best general advantage—But the government should stop at the state line.

Petroleum is the largest industry in Texas for Texans. It has supplanted the cotton industry, for 50 years the chief industry of the tillers of the soil. Now petroleum leads all other basic industries. Cotton is a poor second.

One thing we can be sure of besides death—and that is the tax collector is always waiting around the corner, or perhaps at the front door.

Houston Residents Are Canvassed On Centennial Views

By United Press

HOUSTON—The Citizens Centennial Committee here is making a canvass of Houston residents to determine their sentiment with regard to the City's bid for the Texas Centennial celebration in 1936.

Petitions are in circulation calling for a special centennial bond issue election. If enough signatures are obtained, the bond issue will be submitted at the second primary in August.

A bond issue would be necessary were the city to make a serious bid for the celebration. No specific amount has yet been suggested.

"It is the opinion of everyone who has considered it that we cannot get the centennial unless we vote a bond issue," said Clarence Wharton, member of the committee.

"The question should be put before the people for quick determination, and it should be determined not later than Aug. 26, when

Home Run King Of Texas League Colorful Figure

By United Press

FORT WORTH—Now that Rudy York, Fort Worth's promising rookie outfielder, has become a contender for the Texas league home run leadership, there are many interesting stories going the rounds regarding him.

One such story emanates from a game between Dallas and Fort Worth. It was York's fifth time at bat. He had three singles and a walk to show for his first four appearances.

Gliatto, the Dallas pitcher, tried a change of pace on York. York cuffed it over the infield for a hit.

"Why didn't you hit that ball right, big boy?" Gliatto asked, resenting York's reaching out for the change of pace.

"Why don't you pitch 'em right?" York replied. "Put something on the ball and I'll hit one right."

On York's sixth trip to the plate, Gliatto took York at his word and tried a fast one. York kept his word. When the ball landed it was beyond the center field fence for a home run.

Montgomery Ward Producing New Electric Washer

Montgomery Ward & company today announced that large scale production will begin immediately on a new type electrical washing machine, designed to combine simplicity of line and mechanical utility. The machine represents a radical change in washing machine design. Intended to match the most modern refrigerator and other household appliances in beauty, the new washer was designed by Lurelle Guild, noted industrial designer, and is the product of more than a year of testing and research in Ward laboratories. A square, white lacquer cabinet encloses all mechanical parts except the wringer, thus serving the three-fold purpose of improving appearance, facilitating cleaning and providing a greater degree of safety. A simple, smoothness of line is achieved by rounded corners of chromium on the cabinet. One push-button, located at the front of the cabinet, starts a tri-vane agitator which swirls sopping water through clothes 128 times a minute, washing a tubful in less than five minutes. Another control, the drain, a lever at the side of the wringer sends the ball-rolls in forward or backward motion, as desired. Distribution of the machines to the 500 Ward retail stores located throughout the country will begin next month.

Lookout Castoff Is Making Good In Texas League

DALLAS.—Presumably the Chattanooga Lookouts didn't think much of Stanley Schino's prowess, either in the outfield or at the plate—so they sold him to the Dallas Steers for less than $2,000. Getting out of Chattanooga must have pleased Stanley, for in his first 24 appearances at bat in Texas League games he collected 16 clean blows for a batting average of .667. In six games he batted in 12 runs. When the Steers were preparing for a tour of South Texas, the Galveston, San Antonio, Houston and Beaumont clubs wired Manager Fred Brainard: "Please leave Mr. Schino at home. Thanks for past favors." Schino, 25, mammoth-shouldered, dark-haired and weighing 189 pounds, started the 1934 season the property of Washington. He had played in the Pacific Coast League and the Western and American associations. Washington farmed him to Kansas City where he warmed benches until Clark Griffith decided to demote him further to the Chattanooga chain gang. There he polished a few more benches. Since his arrival in the Texas League Schino has improved to the point where it seems certain he will equal or surpass his best year, 1931, when he hit .354 for Omaha and Wichita. In 1932 he batted .330 for Tulsa. Sports observers expect him to finish the season with the Steers at .375 or 400. Manager Brainard is just as impressed with Schino's fielding as with his batting. "On two occasions," Brainard said after a recent game, "he went far into right center to bring down a couple of hard hit balls that were labeled sure doubles and possible triples. "Another time he hustled on a well-hit bingle over first base and threw out the batter at second. "He uses wonderful judgement in the field, and has proved he has a deadly arm." Schino has been in professional baseball only five years. He is 5 feet 11 inches of bone and muscle. The majors will get him if the Steers don't watch out.

Mrs. Warren To Open
Electrical Cooking
School in Colonial Room
Tuesday Morning, 9:30 o'Clock Since every summer requires different foods from that of winter, and since summers like this one makes housewives want to forget about the preparation of foods and cook stoves, we think no words when we say you are going to miss the treat of your lives if you miss attending the electrical cooking school, which opens Tuesday morning in the Colonial room, Gholson hotel, under the pleasing supervision of Mrs.
Ethyl J. Warren, and sponsored by the local Texas Electric company.

Appetizing and substantial foods easily prepared after one knows the secret are sure to prove appealing to the eye as well as to the whole family's appetite. Mrs.
Warren, who devotes her entire time to cooking problems and who comes to Ranger prepared to tell the women the short-cuts she has learned from intensive study and practice. Mrs. Warren says,
"Think of doing no more than taking dinner out of the refrigerator on a hot blistery day!" What could possibly be more refreshing to the hostess? Sounds too good to be true, doesn't it? But it can be if you know the value of refrigeration.

There are just oodles of valuable hints to be derived from attending these two days of entertainment. Mrs. Warren has a personal message for each home maker and invites every woman in Ranger and surrounding territory to attend Tuesday and Wednesday mornings of this week, at 9:30 o'clock.

Geo. White Scandals
At Arcadia Today

At the Arcadia theatre today, Fox Film will have the distinction of presenting the first and only motion picture edition of the famous George White's "Scandals." The entire production was conceived and staged by George White himself. The film is reported to be as elaborate and as spectacular as any of White's previous successes on the Broadway stage. With the advantages offered by recent developments in talking pictures, White was able to produce a film that he says he could not possibly contemplate duplicating on the stage.
When White left for Hollywood, he took with him his staff of song writers, dance directors and technicians. He also transported his gorgeous galaxy of original "Scandals" girls. The staff had been associated with White in his previous successes, and it was from them he anticipated the success that the film is said to be.
The song writers, Jack Yellen, Irving Caesar, and Ray Henderson, all hit composers, have created 10 melodic songs for this production.
The dazzling dances in the eight revue numbers were directed by George Hale, past master at creating ultra-modern routines. Besides the song hits and revues, the film is enriched with 15 comedy blackouts that give promise of being the high points of the production.
Interspersed with the song numbers, revues and blackouts is a romantic story involving the principals of the show. At one time, the romance threatens to ruin the show, but the clear think-
