UNITED PRESS SERVICE BRINGS LATE NEWS OF THE WORLD TO TIMES READERS

VOL. XVI RANGER, TEXAS, SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 12, 1934 PRICE FIVE CENTS No. 62

An Oxford scientist now tells us that man is at least 16,000,000 years old, but by the childish things he does you'd think he's much older than that.

Democratic Vote is Largest in States History

PEARL LONG IS HEAD OF SHEEP, GOAT RAISERS

Pearl Long, who has taken an active part in the Oil Belt Sheep and Goat Raisers association since its organization, was elected president at a meeting held in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce Saturday afternoon. J. W. Barnes, a citizen of long standing, was elected to fill the vice president's chair, while P. A. Tanksley, the local vocational agricultural teacher, was elected to take over the duties of secretary.

There were 12 sheep and goat raisers present at the meeting, at which J. P. Donley, retiring president, presided.

Dr. Bob Hodges, who has been government appraiser and veterinarian in the Del Rio community for some time, gave a report on the sheep and goat situation in that section.

The mohair industry seems to be on an up-grade, it was pointed out, because the government has a move under way to restrict the use in the textile industry of certain products.

The shearers for the season will be Fred Tidwell and W. G. Walker. Mr. Walker explained that there will be five drops and five shearers working all the time. All producers will be served alike, it was stated, on an equality basis and no individual will be taxed a premium price because of his small flock. A charge of six and 10 cents will be made.

There will be a sales and shearing committee appointed sometime next week and shearing will start soon. Mr. Walker stated that his crew will be ready to begin work by Aug. 15. Rotting will be done and no man will be passed up if arrangements have been previously made.

Meetings of the association will be held hereafter prior to the shearing season.

There was mention of a goat barbecue sometime in September, and details of the barbecue will be worked out later.

Revival Meeting At Cross Roads Getting Interest

The revival meeting which is in progress at Cross Roads reached a high peak in interest and attendance Friday night.

After Rev. Stephens had brought a wonderful message on God's great invitation, "Come," twelve responded on professions of faith while five came on promises of letters.

Characteristic of all true revivals, prayer and organized prayer service are playing a great part in the meeting at Cross Roads. From thirty to thirty-five young people meet nightly in a prayer service under the direction of Dan Donowho. Bro. Ponder, who is in charge of the older people's group and Mrs. Eudy, who is conducting the junior and primary band, also have good attendance and interest in their respective groups.

As the pastor and so many other workers of Central Baptist church are engaged in the meeting it has been decided that the evening service at Central will be called off and the entire church strength will be given to the evening service at Cross Roads.

From the regular service of the B. T. U. opening assembly, all of the unions will go in a body to Cross Roads as ample arrangements will be made to carry all who want to go.

Prize Peach Of Arkansas

They're picking peaches in Arkansas and the prize of all was picked at Forrest City—Miss Maxine Brown, named queen of the Crowley Ridge peach festival, who poses here with her hands full of luscious fruit. This festival, greatest of its kind in the south, is attended annually by thousands.

BREAD PRICES MAY GO UP BY FIRST OF YEAR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Bread prices may go up slightly next year because of the record short 1934 wheat crop of 490,000,000 bushels, but AAA officials said today that inflation would be unwarranted.

A pound loaf of bread now costs about a cent more than last year. The price is computed as an average of 51 communities and approximates 8.2 cents.

Last year's wheat crop totaled about 527,000,000 bushels and prices rose. Increased wheat prices were reflected in the rising price of bread, which also was affected by NRA codes and the processing tax.

With an even smaller crop in prospect for this year a rise in bread prices was considered inevitable. The AAA consumer's council will seek to prevent the price from becoming too steep. It was emphasized that wheat supplies are ample to meet domestic demands and price boosting on the excuse of a shortage would be unjustifiable.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said "Prices of most farm products would necessarily be materially higher" next year as the result of the shortage.

Rain Brings Relief Over Nine States

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Rain over nine mid-western states, with sharply lowered temperatures in its wake, brought surcease today from a heat wave and drought which has killed hundreds of persons and has cost more than $100,000,000 in damaged crops in the past week.

Substantial rains fell in Ohio, Indiana, southern Michigan, Illinois, southern Wisconsin, southern Iowa, northern Missouri, eastern Kansas and central Nebraska.

Relief Clients to Be Contacted at Homes—Driscoll

Since close of the Carbon relief zone office July 31 and that of Desdemona Aug. 2, Gorman office clients of the Carbon-Desdemona district are not compelled to contact Gorman offices for their issues, as same are made by the case worker directly in the home, H. E. Driscoll, county administrator, advised relief clients this week.

LAST RITES FRIDAY FOR MISS TERRY

Funeral services were held at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning at the First Methodist church in Rising Star for Miss Mary Elizabeth Terry, daughter of the late Dr. B. F. Terry and wife of Rising Star, and who died Thursday, Aug. 9, at 9:07 a. m., at a Gorman hospital, to which place she had been taken Wednesday for an emergency operation but where it was found her condition would not permit of the operation. She had first become ill Tuesday.

The services were conducted by Rev. B. B. Byers, pastor of the Rising Star Methodist church, and were very beautiful. Songs were sung by the choir of which the deceased was a member. "Abide With Me," and "Lead, Kindly Light," favorite songs of the deceased, were rendered.

Miss Vivian Johnson and Mrs. Ollie Cochran sang "Whispering Hope," as a duet, at the request of the deceased before her death. The Eastern Star, of which the deceased was a member, had a part in the services and had charge of the service at the cemetery.

Miss Terry was born Dec. 15, 1888, and had lived all her life at Rising Star. Early in life she united with the Methodist church. She graduated in piano from the Texas Female seminary at Weatherford when a young lady and later received her B. A. degree from the North Texas State Teachers college at Denton and taught school a number of years.

She belonged to one of the best families and a pioneer family of Rising Star, was a devoted Christian and until the time of her death was very active in all lines of church work, giving special attention to Sunday school, young people's work and the woman's missionary society. She was always ready and willing to do what she could for the betterment of the people of her town and community.

Consistent to just a few minutes before her death, Miss Terry expressed a desire to live to see her little twin nephews, children of a widowed sister, educated and prepared for their life's work. She had been very devoted to her sister and mother, with whom she made her home.

Survivors are her mother, Mrs. B. F. Terry, of Rising Star; sisters, Mrs. Mabel Patterson of Rising Star, Mrs. D. J. Jobe of Eastland, and Mrs. O. H. Clarke of Tullia; one brother, Briggs Terry of Rising Star, and her two nephews, Dwight and Terry Patterson.

Other relatives include Mrs. Alice Northup of Sweetwater and her two daughters, Frances and Katherine; Mrs. Thomas Johnson of McKinney; Mrs. Jennie Statham of Gorman; Mrs. Warren Kirkland and daughter, Dorothy, of Sweetwater; Miss Addie Haley of Gorman T. J. Haley, wife and son, Thomas, of Eastland, and Q. C. Haley of Franklin, all, with the exception of Miss Addie Haley and Q. C. Haley, attended the funeral.

WOODEN PISTOL RUSE FAILS TO WORK AS THREE CONVICTS DIE IN LOUISIANA PEN BREAK

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 11.—The wooden pistol ruse lost its effect today and two convicts were killed and six wounded in a wholesale break by the Angola Prison farms "Red Hat" gang.

There was an unlucky 13 at Camp E where the incorrigibles are worked and forced to wear red hats so they will be better targets for the guards in event of an outbreak.

The toughest men in prison were picking oak at the convict garden as they make the break. Four guards watched them one at each corner of the field.

Ringleaders were William Bryant, leader in the 1933 Angola riot and Lucas Badoeux, charged with murdering another convict last week, allegedly for turning stool pigeon.

The two desperadoes made for Riley Strother and Henry Clark, two of the guards, brandishing wooden pistols that were painted black.

"Throw down your guns," the convicts ordered. The guards replied with a burst of fire and ten of the 13 red hats scattered and fled.

Clark shot Bryan seven times, killing him instantly. Strother wounded Badoeux seriously. Raymond Candler, another convict, fell dead.

Scouts Will Attend Church This Morning

Scoutmaster R. A. Steele has requested that all members of Troop 9 of Ranger meet at the Methodist church this morning at 11 o'clock to attend the morning services at that church in a body.

All members of the troop have been urged to be present and to wear their neckerchiefs. After gathering in front of the church they will go to the services in a group, headed by the scoutmaster.

GAINED 18 LBS. IN 3 HOURS

HARTFORD, Conn.—Sealer of Weights and Measures Anthony A. Angelo, testing 18 weighing machines within three hours, computed he had gained 11 pounds. He ordered the machines adjusted under threat of removal.

COTTON TAX CERTIFICATES BEING SIGNED BY FARMERS; GIN READY TO HANDLE CROP

Farmers of this section of the county are busily engaged in signing up their applications for cotton allotments and tax exemption certificates, so that when the 1934 crop is ready to pick and gin they will be able to have their cotton, or as much of it as goes tax free, ginned.

To date some 20 applications have been signed for allotments, which entitle the farmers to gin a certain percentage of their cotton without paying a tax under the Bankhead cotton act passed by the last session of congress. A recent government cotton production estimate showed that the cotton production over the majority of the cotton states would be well within the Bankhead act provisions, so that many farmers will probably be able to gin all their cotton without having to pay the tax.

Aug. 26-Sept. 1 Qualifying Time In Golf Tourney

Aug. 26-Sept. 1 was set Friday night by Eastland Golf and Country club directors as the period for qualifying in the annual Eastland Golf Tourney which begins Sept. 1 and ends Sept. 3.

Tournament Chairman W. E. Storey said Saturday that invitations were being sent linksters and indications, players believe, point to a large attendance.

EXPERTS FIGHT AT BIG BRIDGE TOURNAMENT

ASHBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 11.—Two of America's outstanding bridge experts, F. Hal Sims and Oswald Jacoby, settled a dispute in a fist fight here today, with 400 persons participating in and watching the master's pair event of the American Bridge League summer tournament as spectators.

The encounter was short lived, but threatened to disrupt play for the gold cup which Sims and Waldemar von Zedwitz won in 1930. Sims was eliminated from the Ashbury Park event yesterday.

According to witnesses, the argument started when Sims approached David Burnstine and Jacoby and told them their laughter disturbed other players. Then, bystanders said, Sims related a story involving Jacoby. The latter was insulted and termed the story a falsehood. Sims became offended.

According to those close by Sims struck Jacoby in the face and held his arms.

William McKenney, secretary of the league, separated the combatants. Jacoby was still furious. He shouted he would withdraw from the tournament but Burnstine prevailed upon him to continue.

Bear Springs Will Have Cemetery Working Aug. 15

The Bear Springs Cemetery association will hold its annual meeting and cemetery working Aug. 15, according to J. A. Neely, president of the association. Other officers of the association include Ed Allison of the Bear Springs community, who is secretary.

Oldtimers, especially those having relatives and friends buried in the Bear Springs cemetery, have for some years been meeting there once each year and working the grounds and putting them in first class condition. Those attending are requested to bring their lunch as an old fashioned basket dinner will be spread on the ground. Those attending are also requested to bring tools with which to work the grounds.

Aluminum Co. Officials Defy the 8,500 Striking Men

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Aug. 11.—The Aluminum Company of America today defied its 8,500 striking employees in the nationwide strike which has strangled operations in four of the company's largest plants.

"The strike will not change the company's attitude toward a closed shop or other demands," an official statement said today. "Our position is the same."

Held in Financier Extortion Plot

Charged with attempting to extort $10,000 from Colonel Henry H. Rogers, wealthy Standard Oil company executive, on threat of kidnapping his wife, John Cvaniger (above), is shown after his arraignment in New York. A former employe in the Rogers family, Cvaniger was seized as he walked into a tailor shop to collect the money, a trap set by Rogers himself.

Martial Law In Minneapolis Is Upheld By Court

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 11.—Martial law in Minneapolis was upheld by three federal court judges in a decision filed in United States district court here today.

The decision, a victory for striking truck drivers, denied a petition of two groups of employers for a temporary injunction to restrain Gov. Floyd Olson from enforcing martial law. The petitioners protested that military rule was unwarranted and was paralyzing business.

Chinese Railway Sabotage Reported

MOSCOW, Aug. 11.—Wholesale murder and sabotage along the right-of-way of the Chinese Eastern railway, subject of a long-standing quarrel between Soviet Russia and Japan, was charged today in the report of the Russian director of the lines.

He declared a reign of terror centering in the region divided by the railroad had resulted this year in the deaths of 46 persons, including nine officials of the road, and the wounding of 102.

Henry Davenport Spent a Total of $203.40 In Race

In the listing of expenditures of candidates in the first democratic primary, as listed by the candidates, the name of Henry Davenport, successful candidate for commissioner of precinct 1, was left off.

Mr. Davenport spent a total of $203.40 in his campaign, in which he defeated his two opponents by a majority and who will not be a run-off candidate.

EASTLAND IS ONLY COUNTY NOT REPORTED

AUSTIN, Aug. 11.—More votes were cast in the democratic primary of July 28 than ever before in Texas, official returns canvassed by the state democratic executive committee here revealed today. The total was 1,012,366.

Baylor county returns arrived after an initial tabulation had been made and caused a revision of totals in state races. Eastland county returns did not arrive and the committee adopted totals without that county.

Official returns resulted in no changes in the races from the standings based on unofficial returns. Fred W. Davis, who would have been in a runoff for commissioner of agriculture with Commissioner J. E. McDonald, submitted his withdrawal, eliminating a runoff in that race.

State runoffs will be between James V. Allred and Tom F. Hunter for governor; between Walter Woodul and Joe Moore for lieutenant governor; between Walter Woodward and William McCraw for attorney general; between Lon Smith and John Pundt for state railroad commissioner; and between Judges John Sharp and Hal S. Lattimore for justice of the supreme court.

Prices of Grains Show Big Decrease

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Prices of the four major grains fell to the lowest point possible under trading restrictions today. The market closed with an avalanche of selling orders unexecuted.

The normal bedlam of the board of trade pits became a riot as stop loss orders poured in over flooded wires. Even with wheat and rye off 5 cents from yesterday's close, corn off the permissible limit of 4 cents a bushel, and oats down 3 cents, there were few buyers.

Olden Schools Will Open September 10

Announcement has been made in Olden that the Olden public schools would open on Monday, Sept. 10, which is the same date on which the Eastland and Ranger schools will be opened.

No announcement has been made as to when registration for the classes will be begun.

ARCHIE, "DUKE OF DUVAL," IN A RUN-OFF

Archie Parr of Duval is the dean of the Senate. He was acclaimed years ago as "the Duke of Duval county." He will have to make a runoff campaign for renomination. There are 10 counties in the 27th senatorial district. Former Rep. F. A. Seabury of Cameron county led the fight against the duke in the lower valley. Seabury was hopeful of winning the nomination. Big Jim Neal of Webb county threw his hat in the ring. This made a three-cornered contest. More than 55,000 votes were cast. Fifty thousand had been counted. The Duke of Duval was the leader, Big Jim, the runner up, Seabury ran third.

Four years ago Big Jim and the Duke went to the bat for the nomination. Big Jim gave the Duke the race of his life, but the Duke nosed in. Now there is to be another spectacular contest between the dean of the senate and Big Jim, the hustling ranchman of Webb county. As for the Duke he has more political lives than a cat. He has faced many bitter contests in the long years of his dukedom and his deanship. He is perhaps the best known among the survivors of the old guard politicians of Texas who were all powerful when James B. Wells was the boss of the lower Rio Grande county and C. E. Kelley boss of the upper Rio Grande. Now there is a new boss in the upper Rio Grande country. Wells and Kelley are in their graves. Ewing Thomason is the congressional representative of the upper stretch while Milton West, who was a law student in the office of Wells, appears to be the political idol of the lower Rio Grande. Youth must have its fling in the political world as well as all other fields of endeavor in this vale of tears.

What will happen to the Duke Duval will be told the morning after Aug. 25, when the finals will be given and the politically slain will be sent to that grave of defeat and retirement for those who carry a pitcher to the well once too often. There is a new Texas and the primary balloting results showed that there is a New Deal coming in the governmental affairs of the Lone Star commonwealth.

GALVESTON AS THE COTTON EXPORT CITY OF AMERICA

On the last day of July Galveston laid claim to the title of America's greatest cotton export city as the 1933-1934 season were 2,278,724 bales, 18,000 more than those of the second port and 47,000 more than the total last season. Coastwise exports were 2,030,442 bales, an increase of 6000 over last season. Coastwise and rail shipments were 2,201,708 bales, an increase of 43,000 bales.

Rexford G. Tugwell is the acting secretary of agriculture. Speaking for Wallace, his chief, he made the announcement that the cotton processing tax of 4.2 cents per pound would be continued into the 1934-35 marketing year. All this after a conference with George A. Sloan, president of the cotton textile institute, who urged that a compensatory tax be placed on rayon to prevent a shift of consumption away from cotton products. Sen. John H. Bankhead, author of the cotton control act, recorded with Secretary Wallace vigorous opposition to suspension of any part of the act. He declared that agitation for suspension "originated among persons failing to cooperate." The ruling of the department of agriculture upheld the author of the cotton control act, who claimed to have the backing as well as the hearty co-operation of 90 per cent of the cotton growers of America.

Two Wrestling, One Boxing Bout On Elks Program

Tiger Billy McEuin, whom all wrestling fans in this section know as a rough, tough, aggressive fighter from the time he enters the ring until the last fall of the mat he will be pitted Monday night against Jack Fields, who is said to be a match for the Tiger. Holds used in the famous Japanese wrestling art, ju-jitsu, will be demonstrated throughout the match, which should please the fans as it brings one of the most popular wrestlers to the Ranger arena.

The second match will be between Bobby Davidson, known as the strongest man ever to enter the Ranger ring, and Doc Pool, who is expected to prove a good opponent for the strong boy.

Jumping Jodie Cason will fight a 10-round bout with Eddie Burke. Jumping Jodie beat Bobby Reed in the local ring recently and proved to be the kind of fighter the fans want to see, so he has been booked for Monday night.

The net proceeds from the fights will go to the Elks charity fund, which is used to aid the needy of Ranger.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 12. The Golden Text is: "This is the word of the Lord . . . saying, Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts" (Zechariah 4:6). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: ". . . his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness . . . that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature . . ." (II Peter 1:3, 4). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit blesses man, but man cannot 'tell whence it cometh.' By it the sick are healed, the sorrowing are comforted, and the sinning are reformed. These are the effects of one universal God, the invisible good dwelling in eternal Science" (page 78).

BEACH CLUB GIRL MABEL McELLIOTT

WHO was that brought you home? Mrs. Raeburn, established in a deep chair on the porch, with her endless knitting, asked mildly as the girl came up the steps.

"Oh, just nobody at all. The man who teaches the youngsters swimming at the club."

Mrs. Raeburn pursed up her thin lips ever so slightly and, although she made no further comment, her daughter knew the incident had displeased her. Dinty Adrian was all very well; everyone knew him. But Larchneck's inner circle was a little closed corporation. New comers were looked upon with the darkest suspicion. Although a scant 50 minutes from the spires of Manhattan, the small, complacent suburban town had the tightness and narrowness of spirit which might have belonged to some provincial village far removed from any center of sophistication.

Boots went on into the house nodding to Linda, who was setting the table on the side porch. This morning everything had been lovely. Birds, sunshine, flowers, even the smell of suds as Linda sang over her wash—all had contributed to Boots' sense of well-being. But now a cloud hung over all. Those girls who pretended to be her friends had laughed at her openly, cruelly. Well, she would go to the party tonight. She would show them how much—or how little—she cared.

"Not hungry?" She came back from her dreams to toy listlessly with the salad "Too hot, I guess."

"Did he have a good swim?" Her cheeks flamed with the memory of it. "It was all right."

"I declare, Barbara," her mother's fretful voice came to her from a distance. "I declare I don't know what on earth Daddy renewed his membership in that club this year for, anyhow. You act sometimes as though you didn't care about it, and we could ill afford it."

Familiar words. Familiar set ting Boots scarcely listened, occupied with her own thoughts her own misery she let her mother drone on.

"To make matters worse you tell even Tom, Dick and Harry drive you home when I was a girl."

It didn't matter it would be over soon.

"No more spinach. Heads almost stopped to the surprised lands who with a rather battered apron tied on haphazardly, was handing around the dish again.

Spinach, indeed, when her heart was breaking!

BUT later to the cool of dusk when, bathed, powdered and powdered, she presented herself at the living room door for her mother's approval. Boots spirit had lifted a little. After all it was midnight, she was young, and somewhere along the shore violins were tuning up for the movement of the dance.

"Looks nice!" Mrs. Raeburn said, of the crisp, billowing organdie Boots kissed her.

"I'll just run you down, dear and stop to meet the 7:10 as I come back," said Mrs. Raeburn, capably. This was one of her "good days," her daughter observed, with quiet satisfaction. Mrs. Raeburn she often said, with a certain melancholy air of quiet pride, "was subject to bad headaches."

The two women spoke little, threading their way through streets shaded by the rays of the late sun. Everywhere lawn sprinklers played and small children, kept up beyond their usual bedtime hour because of the heat and "daylight saving," played deliciously in side yards. It was all very pleasant, very domestic and peaceful.

"Have a good time, dear," Boots clutched her brief wrap of brown chiffon velvet around her and went swiftly up the flagged walk in the club. The doorman smiled at her.

"Evening, Miss Boots."

Mrs. Waterman, a dowager with crisply marcelled silver hair and a dynamic air of being equal to any situation, trailed her mauve chiffon toward the young girl.

"Now nice you could come, my dear. Ours is the table in the west window. I always like to be in the west window . . . one sees the sun set."

Boots, who knew the younger set always chose the east room, because the long, recently dyed silk, the sound making it possible for red less flirtations to be carried on under cover of twilight and the lapping waves smiled brightly in return.

It was even as she had expected. Not a soul at Mrs. Waterman's table was under 50. Miss Florida nodded coolly and the boys said "Hello, Boots," as she danced and dated past them. She could feel the sting of Sylvia's calm, disdainful, unseeing smile as she passed.

Someone it was the elder African who fancied himself as a man of a master of ceremonies as in affairs, silenced the orchestra for a moment and announced a "change partners' interval."

BOOT'S slipped out of Mr. Halli-han's arms as the music stopped and the drum's "t-x-t-r-r-r-r" filled the air. She still held her head gallantly but with all her soul she was wishing to be out of this warm crowded room with its trailing hunting, its confetti, its tables to a confusion of waiting ice and cooling coffee cups. The gaiety at Sylvia's table had more her realize what she was missing. And they were laughing at her, all of them—all but Hardy who was not, for the moment, visible.

She felt a light touch on her arm. A lazy, confident voice said easily, "Well, this is a break. I've been looking for you."

She felt her heart pound, her pulses quicken. The young man in flannels, with the dark blue double-breasted jacket, the crest of waving hair, angrily ironed down, was Hardy Whitmore.

She managed to say idly, "Oh, have you, honestly?"

Then they were dancing, swinging along together lightly and gracefully to the tune of that sweetest and oldest of waltzes, "The Blue Danube." Boots had not known dancing could be like this. She, herself, danced as naturally as she walked. It was in her blood, but she had never danced, before with anyone whose step fitted her own so perfectly.

Almost before she realized what was happening Hardy had danced her out of one of the long French windows and onto the veranda. It was cool here. A light wind beat the sails that swung at anchor behind the point. One or two pale blue stars pricked the blue darkness.

Hardy held her arm very tightly in his. "Let's grab ourselves a boat," he said quickly. "Let's go for a buzz. It's too hot in there."

Boots was tempted. To walk Hardy away from the crowd, to which she did not, tonight, belong would be a grim triumph. Mrs. Waterman's stern frowns rose before her and she wavered.

"Ah, come along! Be a sport!" His face, flushed and handsome, was close to her own. The thrum of the music came to her through the breeze-cooled but hot cheeks.

"I—I think I'd better not."

"Ah—don't be silly!" He had her arm now and, almost without knowing what it was she did, followed him down the broad flight of shallow steps toward the landing.

The Search for VALUE

THE gold or silver miner does much work before his mine is on a paying basis. That's "development work." He carries on in the hope that soon he will come to the pay-streak and will have his reward.

Compare this miner to your reading of the advertisements. Not every thing you read is of vital interest to you at the moment. But many thousands of others are reading. One finds a well-recommended suit or dress at an attractive price. That's a pay streak for him. Another rejoices to find a sales announcement of dry goods, groceries or furniture. Another wants the latest automobile or radio, and is mightily pleased to find the advertisement that tells all about it.

The advertisements carried in this newspaper are helpful to the business of living. They tell of equipment, appliances, things for personal and household needs. Take a note of the things you now have in regular use. What first called them to your attention? It's likely that you first read about them in an advertisement. Other good values await your choosing in the advertisements in this issue.

Jellied Consomme
1 can consomme, add to this enough water to make 2 cups of liquid
2 1/2 tbsps. gelatine
4 tbsps. water
Seasoning to taste.
Heat consomme and add gelatine dissolved in water and seasonings. Pour into mold and then place in refrigerator to congeal. To serve whip with fork until light and pile in chilled consomme cups.

1 cup mayonnaise
1 tbsps. gelatine
4 tbsps. water
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cups flaked tuna fish

2 tbsps. lemon juice

Dissolve gelatine in water, add and melt over steam. Add to mayonnaise. Add all other ingredients and mix well. Pour into mold and store in refrigerator to congeal. Serve on bed of lettuce and decorate with hard cooked eggs.

Peppermint Mousse
1 large can evaporated milk
1/2 lb. peppermint stick candy
1/2 cup sweet milk

1 cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup scalded milk
1 tsp. butter with scalded milk

1/4 tsp. salt
Beat eggs thoroughly and add sugar. Continue beating until creamy. Add vanilla. Sift flour and measure, add baking powder and sift four times. Add to egg mixture, beating well. Add butter to milk and heat to boiling. Add quickly, mixing well. Pour into well greased pan, 8 by 8 inches. Bake 25 to 30 minutes at 375 degrees. While still hot, add the following frosting:

Frosting for Lazy Daisy Cake
5 tbsps. brown sugar
2 tbsps. soft butter
2 tbsps. cream
