SAM CONNER TAKES EASTLAND TOURNAMENT TITLE BY 3-2 WIN FROM DOUG JONES, MEDALIST

Oklahoma Boy Faces Grim Trial
By United Press
NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 4.—Neal Myers, with his father and mother at his side, faced his accusers as the final chapter in Oklahoma's most tragic love affair was started in the Cleveland county courthouse.
A jury will send him from the courthouse free or convict him of killing his campus sweetheart, Marian Mills, in an attempt to thwart motherhood. Life imprisonment probably will be the punishment if he is found guilty.
Through the day the 21-year-old University of Oklahoma student sat with arms folded or hands on his knees staring ahead as state and defense attorneys selected jurors.

Farm Properties Benefit By Act

Benefits of the National Housing Act with respect to property improvement, apply to both farm and rural properties and city homes and buildings, it is pointed out by James A. Moffett, Federal Housing Administrator.
Success of the Modernization Program is believed by Mr. Moffett to depend fully as much upon the response and cooperation of the farmer and citizen of the small community as upon those who live in metropolitan areas.

Former Instructor Visits Ranger Folk

As trees from little acorns grow, so often do visits and journeys into a far state result from a single or series of letters.
Such was the case when several months ago Mrs. Garvin Chastain of Ranger wrote her one time instructor in English, Dr. T. E. Rankin, in regard to some matters that she had seen in a newspaper relative to her Alma Mater, the University of Michigan.
Several letters were exchanged. An invitation to come to Texas on a visit was extended, and on Monday, Dr. Rankin, who now holds the chair of English at Carlton College, Northfield, Minn., arrived in Ranger and is now a guest at the Chastain home.
Not to many students is given the pleasure of entertaining a beloved "prof" in their homes, but to Mrs. Chastain has come this pleasure, and to Dr. Rankin has come the opportunity to see a former pupil, to know her family, and to see the great Lone Star state.

Religious Service Well Attended

Reports from the services held last night on the community lot, corner Pine and Austin streets, are that the meeting was well attended. Rev. Johnnie Lovell preached to a great number of people who in the words of the reporter, "listened in perfect stillness to the word of God" as he talked.
Mr. Lovell announced that he will be in Ranger Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights of this week and asked that those who are interested in these services watch the paper for further announcements.

Cadet Officers at Tarleton Named

By United Press
STEPHENVILLE, Tex. — The three high-ranking student officers in the John Tarleton College Cadet Corps have been named for the 1934-35 session as follows: MacField McDaniel, May, lieutenant colonel; Harold Burke Horton, Bartlett, first major, and Ben Blanton, Clarksville, second major.

Grand Jury For 88th Empaneled

Empanelling of a grand jury was made Monday for the September session of the 88th District Court.
District Attorney Grady Owen said that investigations of the recent Clarence D. Herring and F. P. Threlkott alleged murders would "very likely" be made.

Rug Made By Great, Great Grandmother

A knitted rug is not news when its made by a young or a middle-aged woman, but it should break into headlines when it is completed by a woman who now is in her 102nd year.
Such a rug was yesterday given to little Marion Faye Crowley, year and a half old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crossley of Ranger, who on her mother's side of the family, is the great-great-granddaughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Curry of Weatherford.
Mrs. Curry on Aug. 19, at Buffalo Gap, celebrated her 101st birthday, which celebration was attended by a large number of her descendants.
The rug, as large as a good-sized throw rug, was knitted after Mrs. Curry was 101 years old. The colors are all perfectly blended and the handwork shows the craftsmanship of one who early in life was taught to sew a fine seam, and whose fingers have not forgotten their cunning.
Mrs. Curry lived for over a half century in Stephens county.

Elks Arena Fight Nite Draws Crowd

A crowd with a holiday spirit assembled at the Elks arena Monday night to enjoy the weekly fight and they got plenty of thrills for their money.
Doug Henderson beat Rod Rodgers, Rodgers being disqualified for unnecessary roughness.
Curley Stringer and Charles Lay wrestled to a draw and "Doc" Pool beat Bobby Davidson. The latter match was changed from the way it appeared on program, due to the fact that Blacksmith Smith, who was scheduled to meet Pool, was under suspension and could not appear.
Referees were Charles Lay; Bobby Davidson and Benny Wilson.

Lad May Live After Rescue From Faith Cult

His life in danger while his parents refused medical aid for his infected leg and tried to heal it by prayer, Wallace Doyle Sharp, 8, is shown above, just before he was rendered by his parents. His leg was amputated and he was given a fair chance to live. The boy was spirited to a hideout in the Dark Sand mountains near Ft. Payne, Ala., where members of the Holiness cult held a long prayer service in a healing attempt before consenting to medical attention. Three cultists were arrested on an abduction charge. They are Homer Elrod, the Rev. Jim Miller, Holiness preacher, and Eulus Peek. All were freed on bond.

SENATE WOULD FIX AN EARLY ADJOURNMENT

AUSTIN, Sept. 4.—Texas representatives today voted down a proposal of the state senate to fix Saturday night as time for adjourning the special relief session of the legislature.
Before being killed, the senate proposal was ridiculed before the house. Representative Joe Great-house said "the senate is proposing to fix adjournment time when it hasn't even presented a bill of relief, the purpose for which the session was called."

Rock Pile For Booze Spenders

AUSTIN, Sept. 4.—State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson today recommended the sledge hammer and rock pile for men on relief rolls who spend money given them by the Texas relief commission for liquor instead of providing food and clothing for their families.
"We have received complaints from all of the larger cities that a large percentage of the drunks picked up from the streets are relief roll clients," Johnson said.
"I don't believe these men have a right to spend their money that way when they have families at home who are in need of food and clothing. Besides, they owe a debt to society for having provided them with means of sustenance. Cities and counties could stop many such cases by establishing a bull pen, handing sledge hammers to these lawbreakers and letting them work out their fines at 50 cents a day on short rations."

Cheaney Revival Starts Tomorrow

The revival at Cheaney will begin tomorrow, Wednesday, and will continue for 12 days. This meeting is sponsored by the Church of Christ of that place and the public is given an urgent invitation to attend.
The preaching will be done by Rev. J. D. Tant of San Benito, a minister of the Church of Christ for more than 50 years.
The day service will be held in the church building and the night worship will be on the north side of the building where lights have been installed and seats placed to accommodate as many as care to attend.

Rain and Cool Winds Feature Week-End

DALLAS, Sept. 4.—Rain and cool weather were reported in widely different sections of the state today, with precipitation varying from one-tenth inch of rain at Abilene to 1.94 inches at Pierce.
The lowest minimum temperature was 40 degrees at Llano. Temperatures generally were below normal over the north and west part of the state.

Ranger Police Arrest Two Men

Two shoplifters were arrested in Ranger today by Chief Jim Ingram. Both were men. One favored socks, as when searched he was found to have 22 pairs of high grade socks, taken from the Globe. The other had two pocket knives, which were taken from Killingsworth, Cox & Co. Both men are in jail, awaiting filing of charges tomorrow.

What Is Meant By Rehabilitation

By rehabilitation is meant the creating of an opportunity for people to satisfy that desire in every human heart to become an acknowledged part in the operations of their respective community, to be self sustaining and contribute their part to the upkeep of their country.
Both the Federal and State Governments are now presenting this opportunity, but our Government alone cannot carry the worthy program to a successful conclusion without the unselfish help of the land owners.
The Rehabilitation Program as set up clearly illustrates that it is as beneficial to the land owners as to those who will be placed on the land. It affords the land owner an opportunity to improve and make productive, to a profitable extent, that of his property which is now a burden to himself and his government.
Through our rights as granted by our Government to accumulate without restriction, and our greed to concentrate for our own use, as much of the natural resources as possible, we have overlooked the fact that the people of this country are dependent upon one another for subsistence and at some time those who have been more fortunate than others will be called on in some way to assist those unfortunate. It now appears, that time is here.
Through the Rehabilitation plan the land owners are given the opportunity to retain their accumulations, enhance the value, and at the same time make the second opportunity for those less fortunate to acquire, at least, an existence from sources other than charity.
Mr. Land Owner, study the Rehabilitation plan, make use of it. Its to your advantage. If you own or know of a place suitable for one or more families, contact your local Rehabilitation Supervisor.

Youth Who Allegedly Hit Cars Is Charged With Drunkenness

Pearl Boyett who it is alleged drove while intoxicated on streets in Eastland and struck several cars was charged by officers in the Justice of Peace Court at Eastland Monday with drunkenness.
Officers said that the youth who gave his age as 20 was being held in the Eastland county jail.

Alston Johnson To Be Speaker Rotary Luncheon

Announcement was made in Ranger today that Mr. Alston W. Johnson of Fort Worth will be the principal speaker at the Rotary luncheon tomorrow. Mr. Johnson comes instead of Mr. Robert Stuart who has been called out of the state.
All business men and property owners of Ranger and territory are urged to attend this meeting as the National Housing Act will be explained in detail. There was a group of business men that met some few days ago and formed a temporary organization, with L. H. Flewelling as chairman, and out of this meeting the federal government was asked to send a man to Ranger to explain how to take advantage of this movement sponsored by the government.
The Lions club at their weekly luncheon meeting last Thursday urged all their members who could do so to attend this meeting. All property owners are urged to come and hear this explanation. The letter follows:
"Mr. W. Alston Johnson, Executive Assistant, will be in Ranger Wednesday to address your joint meeting of the clubs.
"I regret that business calls me to another point at this time; however, I feel sure that Mr. Johnson will not disappoint you as he is thoroughly familiar with the work and will make an interesting talk to your people as well as assist you in any way necessary.
"Very truly yours,
"R. A. STUART,
"Director, West Texas District."

Funeral Services for Train Victim Held

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Smith of Odessa, who was killed Saturday morning when struck by a freight train while crossing the railroad tracks in the Odessa yards, were held Monday afternoon at the First Baptist church, Ranger. Rev. G. W. Thomas, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. H. H. Stephens, pastor of the Central Baptist church, conducted the funeral services. Interment was in the family burying plot at Merriman church yard.
The decedent was a Ranger girl. She was born in Eastland county on Jan. 10, 1915, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Tankersley. She received her entire education in the public schools of Ranger, graduating in 1932.
She joined the First Baptist church about two years ago and was a happy Christian character all the days of her church membership.
On July 27, this year, she was married to Earl Smith, also formerly of Ranger, and the couple had been making their home in Odessa since that time. There Mr. Smith plays in the "Lucky Lindy" night club orchestra, and at the time of the accident he was asleep in their home across the tracks. From this sleep, he was awakened Saturday morning with the shocking news that his wife had met a tragic death.
Mrs. Smith, as was her habit, had gone across the T. & P. tracks to a store to do her week-end shopping, and had been away from home about an hour. She was returning home when the accident that snapped off her young life occurred.
Immediate survivors of the decedent are her husband, Earl Smith; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Tankersley, and a sister, Lawtana Tankersley.
Palbearers were A. L. Stiles, Morris Jefferies, Walter Lumpkin, Marion Hunt, George Tidwell and Ed Dixon.

COTTON PRICE DROP IS NOT DUE TO STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Developments in the NRA dispute within the past 48 hours indicated today that the ax is waiting for Gen. Hugh S. Johnson if he insists on opposing re-organization of other new dealers.
If Johnson insists upon continuing his one man control of the Cotton Textile Institute, said incomplete reports to him showed the result about 50 per cent effective.
A United Press survey in representative mill towns from Alabama to Maine showed that more than 200,000 workers were out, making the strike 50 per cent effective in the surveyed areas, where various factories were operating on full force and others on skeleton shifts.
Out of the south came reports of violence in Georgia and disturbances in the Carolinas.
Connecticut was claimed by union leaders as having responded to a 98 per cent.
Between 35 and 40 per cent of the textile workers went out in the south.
NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The 50,000 workers in the cotton garment industry are ready to strike if necessary to enforce President Roosevelt's order to reduce working hours in the industry, the president of the International Garment Workers union said here today.

Workers Join In Nation-Wide Shutdown

Community interest in Ranger tonight will center about a mass meeting that is to be held on the lot opposite the city hall, called for the purpose of discussing ways and means for chatting the roads and walks around various schoolhouses in the city.
This meeting will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and every business man in the city is urged to be present and to take part in the plans that will be formulated. A special invitation has been extended the city commission to be present.
A chairman will be elected and after the matter of street chatting has been disposed of, other community plans will be brought to the attention of the assembly.
There will be plenty of seating space as this is the lot on which the community religious services are held each Thursday night.

Workers Join In Nation-Wide Shutdown

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Textile leaders said that more than 50 per cent of the union workers had responded to the nation-wide strike order and that by tomorrow 300,000 men will have left their jobs. The strike is a tremendous success already, the strike leaders claim.
Francis Gorman, strike chief, predicted that 300,000 non-union workers would join in the walkout by the end of the week, bringing the entire industry to a shutdown.
While Gorman indicated optimism as the result of the strike order, George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, said incomplete reports to him showed the result about 50 per cent effective.

Workers Join In Nation-Wide Shutdown

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Textile leaders said that more than 50 per cent of the union workers had responded to the nation-wide strike order and that by tomorrow 300,000 men will have left their jobs. The strike is a tremendous success already, the strike leaders claim.
Francis Gorman, strike chief, predicted that 300,000 non-union workers would join in the walkout by the end of the week, bringing the entire industry to a shutdown.
While Gorman indicated optimism as the result of the strike order, George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, said incomplete reports to him showed the result about 50 per cent effective.
A United Press survey in representative mill towns from Alabama to Maine showed that more than 200,000 workers were out, making the strike 50 per cent effective in the surveyed areas, where various factories were operating on full force and others on skeleton shifts.
Out of the south came reports of violence in Georgia and disturbances in the Carolinas.
Connecticut was claimed by union leaders as having responded to a 98 per cent.
Between 35 and 40 per cent of the textile workers went out in the south.
NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The 50,000 workers in the cotton garment industry are ready to strike if necessary to enforce President Roosevelt's order to reduce working hours in the industry, the president of the International Garment Workers union said here today.

WHARTON RICE GROWERS FACE PROSPERITY

In the county of Wharton the rice harvest will place a million dollars in the pockets of the growers. They bought the needed precious fluid from the operators of the Brownwood dam 500 miles away. They won in the face of the terrific drouth. They say the purchased water saved three-fourth of their crop.

Now they are facing the future with strong hearts and ready hands. Preparations are under way for the planting of 18,000 acres of rice in Brazoria county, "contingent on the possibility of the completion of a rice canal in the northern part of that county in time for irrigation of the 1935 crop."

Just now the big guns of powerful newspapers in the leading cities of America are thundering against government aid for the completion of projects the country over—including the Buchanan dam. The Chicago Daily Tribune is in the field for the Western section. There is a demand for trained newspaper and magazine propaganda writers and this crusade will continue until the big event, meaning the presidential election of 1936, takes place in the nationwide balloting of a presidential year.

To be forewarned is to be forearmed and the friends of these huge projects for the harnessing of rivers and the storage of flood waters for the needs of the tillers of the soil should be on their guard at all times.

Texasans are vitally interested. There is the greatest of all agricultural states. There is an annual rainfall in Texas if caught and stored for irrigation purposes that would make possible the prevention of drouth losses and add hundreds of millions of dollars to the assessed wealth of the commonwealth. Exhibit No. 1 (or exhibit A) is the story of the Texas coast rice growers who were saved from financial disaster this year by the flood water that had been stored as a reserve in a lake and its dam 500 miles up the river in the huge watershed of the Colorado.

Politics is one thing and business is another. All the rivers of Texas should be harnessed in future, there should be huge storage basins in order that the elements shall be conquered and old Sol high in the heavens denied the pleasure of wrecking the fortunes of the tillers of the soil and the producers of the meatstuffs and wool and mohair of the vast Southwest.

In all lines there is good merchandise and merchandise not so good. Advertise merchandise is usually the best kind to buy.

Diversification Makes Farm Pay

SCHULENBERG, Tex.—Diversified farming is expected to feed a family of 10 and pay off the farm mortgage on the farm of Henry J. Petrasch, two miles south of here.
Petrasch bought 108 acres at the high 1924 prices—$185 an acre—and when the cotton, peanuts, potatoes and truck is market this fall he expects to call the farm his own.

Diversification, excluding only ducks and geese which Petrasch said, aren't worth their keep, is the rule on this farm.
"I believe I have a little of everything," he said. He pointed to his truck patch which four of his eight children were clearing of spring plants and vines that had ceased to produce.
Petrasch has 12 milch cows, and a drove of Duroc hogs on the farm.

Six of his children assist in picking 24 acres of cotton. Already six bales have been ginned from the acreage.
Two acres of peanuts are growing well despite the drouth.
Petrasch claimed that his system of changing the crops to a different acreage every year has made the crops on his farm good despite the drouth. He explained he has 30 acres of corn that will give him half a crop while most corn fields have burned to the ground in the dry weather.

Petrasch has 325 peach trees in his orchard but there are also pear plum apple and other fruit trees including berries.
There is not a rooster in a flock of 350 hens that supply infertile eggs to buyers from miles around for which now a three-cent premium is being paid.
A check-up of the Petrasch farms showed besides the above mentioned crops 14 acres of he-gira, 15 acres in Sudan grass, nine pure-bred hogs, three acres for truck and garden, a dozen sheep, two teams of work stock, a pit silo for a dairy ensilage, a spacious home in a grove of trees and sufficient pasture for livestock.

Gulf Coast Farms Should Profit On Winter Vegetables

By THOMAS O. HURST

United Press Staff Correspondent HOUSTON, Tex.—Texas gulf coast farmers should grow prosperous from sale of fall and winter vegetables to cities of the drouth-stricken Midwest, where farmers will not be able to spare gardens, J. C. McDowell, agricultural agent for federal rural rehabilitation, said here.

"Prospects have never been brighter for the gulf coast farmer to raise vegetables for shipment," McDowell said. "There will be a ready market for as much of the crop as the farmer wishes to sell."

McDowell said he based his opinion upon a recent survey made by his office of the drouth area as far north as Canada and as far south as the Rio Grande.

"Texas vegetable farmers also are especially favored on account of the adequate transportation enabling them to get their crops to market quickly," he added.

"Midwest farmers simply will not be able to raise vegetables this fall and winter. They are going to look elsewhere for a supply. Vegetables are an essential food, and now is the chance the gulf coast farmer has been waiting for."

McDowell said the gulf coast area and as far as Harris county and eastward have enough moisture and rainfall at present to produce green vegetables, and there should be a quick move to get in as many acres of this type of planting as possible for Northern and Eastern shipping.

"I firmly believe the farmers will profit from such a move," he said. "There ought to be a campaign put on immediately to encourage the farmers to raise vegetables."

He suggested the establishment of a co-operative shipping center and a state-wide advertising campaign to promote the growing of vegetables in the gulf coast area.

"I believe such a campaign would mean that Texas farmers would get a money crop this fall, and at the same time assist materially in getting hundreds of people of the relief rolls in South Texas," McDowell said.

"If for no other reason, there should be a move made to raise vegetables by the relief agencies to be sent and distributed to the needy of other sections, thus cutting down the general cost of maintaining and care of the destitute throughout the United States."

"South Texas and the gulf coast section are especially adapted to growing of vegetables and has enough rainfall to practically guarantee growth to maturity," he added. "Vegetables can be grown the year round in these sections."

PENNY IN POTATO HILL

Highways Proving Popular In Mexico

By United Press

EAGLE PASS, Tex.—Finding its program of highway promotion meeting with an enthusiastic reception among Coahuila people, the recently-formed international Traffic Commission met in called session to plan enlargement of its monthly magazine, "Coahuila."

Started with 16 pages three months ago, the magazine was increased to 24 pages for the July and August issues. The September issue will contain between 28 and 36 pages, the Commission stated.

The magazine is not sold on the news stands, but is distributed to all persons who favor the Commission's purpose of constructing a paved highway from Piedras Negras to a point south of Saltillo to connect with the Pan-American Highway. The Commission is endeavoring to concentrate State and Federal funds on the extensive project so that it can be completed in 1935, the year of the Texas Centennial Celebration. The Celebration is expected to attract thousands of visitors to Texas, many of whom will go on to Mexico City over the Pan-American highway.

Already some four hundred laborers are at work along the 332-mile route, widening the right of way and laying gravel. This work will be speeded in 1935 by an appropriation of 800,000 pesos that the Federal government has promised the state of Coahuila. Additional funds from an 8 centavos gasoline tax and from a 2 per cent import tax are expected to go far toward financing the state's road-building campaign.

The International Highway Commission was organized in June of this year by the Eagle Pass and Chambers of Commerce. "A paved highway by 1936," is the slogan it is sounding in extending its organization to include six other towns along the route, besides Saltillo. They are Morelos, Altamira, Mazquiza, Monclova, Sabinas and Rosita.

The magazine published by the Commission serves to inform the towns of progress being made in Coahuila highway construction. Also, it contains articles of interest to tourists, describing the places of scenic beauty, exhibiting maps of the state, and detailing changes in hunting and fishing regulations. The Commission maintains its headquarters in the Piedras Negras Chamber of Commerce.

Letter From The Stratosphere Seen

By United Press

PHILADELPHIA.—A letter designated as "stratosphere mail" and carried aloft more than 60,000 feet in the gondola of the National Geographic Society Army Air Corps balloon, is on display in the physics section of the Franklin Institute Museum.

The document was sent to Dr. W. F. G. Swann, director of the Bartol Research Foundation of the Franklin Institute, who supervised the construction of instruments used in the stratosphere trip made recently from North Dakota.

It is signed by the three air-men, Major W. E. Kepner, pilot; Captain A. W. Stevens, scientific observer, and Captain O. A. Anderson, alternate pilot.

The letter to Dr. Swann follows: "This letter brings you cordial greetings from the stratosphere. It was carried aloft by us in the airtight gondola attached to the largest free balloon ever built and upon our descent was dispatched to the post office nearest to our point of landing to be forwarded to you by air mail. The altitude attained on the flight, which will be determined officially by the National Bureau of Standards, also was attained by this cover."

"This letter conveys to you the sincere greetings and good wishes of the National Geographic Society and the United States Army Air Corps, and our own personal salutations."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE

Do you know how to get a good dinner in thirty minutes? If you don't, now is the moment to learn. Ordinarily, dishes that can be cooked on top of the stove or broiled in a broiler are the quickest to prepare. However, any concoction that can be made while the oven is heating and baked in individual molds demands less attention than foods cooked over a hot fire.

At first thought, chops and steaks seem to be the only quick cooking meats, but a little concentration on the meat question reveals a fairly wide variety. Liver, link sausages, pork tenderloin, beef tenderloin, broiled hamburger, thinly sliced veal, and the smoked pork products that can be pan-broiled all can be quickly prepared.

Fish Also Available
The way fish is packed and shipped nowadays makes it possible to cook it with practically no preliminary preparations. Oysters are a standby for last-minute dinners. In steaks, scalloped, creamed on toast, en brochette, baked with macaroni and mushrooms, or done as pigs in blankets—oysters are always delicious and with the exception of the macaroni mixture may be prepared and cooked in thirty minutes or less.

Small fish, fish steaks and fillets of fish may be baked, pan-fried or deep-fat fried, pan-broiled or broiled in a broiler in the minimum of time.

First courses for quick dinners are easy. Soups need only reheating and seasoning. Vegetable soups come in bottles ready to be served. Only remember to get the bottle in the refrigerator in the morning to insure a well-chilled cocktail. Halves of grapefruit and fruit cups make good appetizers, too, and take little time. Chill the fruit all day in the icebox, though, to save frantic last-minute efforts.

What to Avoid
Easy-to-prepare vegetables are essential for the quick dinner—of you may use canned ones. Cauliflower, brussels sprouts and broccoli, which must be soaked in salt water for thirty minutes before cooking, do not lend themselves to hurry-up meals, but celery, tomatoes and carrots that can be used without cooking are a boon to the business woman who cooks.

Salads are not difficult, although their choice is rather limited for last-minute preparation. Lettuce, endive (both French and curly), romaine, Chinese cabbage and plain cabbage can be used alone with a variety of dressings or as the base for fruit and vegetable salads.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Cubed fresh pineapple, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, raisin muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Tomato bouillon, salad of fresh fruits in halves of cantaloupe, rolled cheese sandwiches toasted, milk, tea.

DINNER: Veal birds with brown sauce, scalloped macaroni and tomatoes, baked corn, celery hearts and carrot straws with home-made relishes, grape bavarian cream, milk, coffee.

The New WATERLESS WAY

While the New Utility Cooker brings to you the possibilities of enjoying old-fashioned meals in addition, it permits you to prepare foods by the newer methods of cooking without water.

Science has discovered that there is so much natural moisture in all meats, vegetables and fruits that it is entirely feasible to cook them with little or no water.

About the only reason why we have cooked with water was to avoid burning. Water distributes the heat evenly, conducting it away from the point nearest the fire.

However, after we have cooked our foods we have poured off the excess water and with it we have poured the bone-forming, teeth-building minerals; the iron, calcium and phosphorus that constitute the essential elements which the human system must have. With the new perfected Utility Cooker you can prepare foods deliciously tender and full of these health-building elements. The Utility Cooker is ideal for the housewife who wishes to practice this modern, more healthful and more economical way of cooking.

Twenty-one Papers In Texas Printed Over Fifty Years

By United Press
Twenty-one newspapers in Texas have been published more than 50 years, according to statistics compiled by the Editor and Publisher, newspaper magazine.

The Galveston News, along with the Dallas News, heads the list as the oldest publications in the state, according to the magazine. They were established in 1842.

In addition to the 21 papers in Texas which have been published more than 50 years, the list also included six papers in Louisiana.

Other papers and the year of their beginning are: Austin Statesman, 1871; Brenham Banner-Press, 1875; Bryan Eagle, 1876; Corpus Christi Caller, 1883; Dallas Times-Herald, 1879; El Paso Herald-Post, 1880; El Paso Times, 1879; Gainesville Register, 1884; Galveston Tribune, 1880; Laredo Times, 1881; Marshall Messenger, 1887; Paris News, 1869; San Angelo Standard, 1884; San Antonio Express, 1865; San Antonio Light, 1881; Texarkana Gazette, 1875; Tyler Courier-Times, 1877; and Beaumont Enterprise, 1880.

The neighboring state of Louisiana has six newspapers that have passed the 50-year mark. The oldest is the New Orleans Times-Picayune, established 97 years ago. Others are the Alexandria Town Talk, 1883; Baton Rouge Advocate, 1842; New Orleans Item, 1877, and the Shreveport Times, 1872.

Prickly Pear to Be Made Into a Feed For Cattle

AUSTIN, Tex.—The wide cactus-covered expanses known to the Southwest Texas ranchmen as pear flats, may be invaded this winter by relief roll clients seeking sustenance for drought-stricken livestock.

The prickly pear, rid of its small sharp stickers, is a choice bit of vegetation upon which ranchmen have been known to fatten their herds during winter for many years.

Relief commission officials are considering a plan whereby an army of relief roll clients will go into the flats with pear burning machines, snipe the stickers from the plants, and make the pears safe for consumption by the hungry herds.

Meanwhile officials are seeking thousands of acres of pasturage for cattle in acute need, most of them in the extreme western part of the state. Federal Surplus Relief corporation has urged that up to 200,000 head of cattle be pastured but it is doubtful that sufficient acreage for that number can be found in the state, according to C. Z. Crain, head of the surplus commodities department, in charge of the cattle program.

"I want it made clear," Crain said, "that the Relief Commission will not go into competition with the ranchmen in the matter of leasing land. If there is available sufficient pasturage at a price we know to be right, we will take it, but if owners begin to raise prices in anticipation of competition between the government and the private livestock owner also seeking pasturage, then we will get out of this program."

Many counties have been reluctant to offer pasturage because they are in the emergency drought classification and fear they will lose such designation if land is leased for grazing purposes within their borders.

Crain explained that leasing for pastures will in no case have any bearing on the county's drought classification. The leasing program also has been made difficult because of lack of grass in North and West Texas. Although there is some grass in South and West Texas, tick quarantine covering many counties will prevent movement of cattle into much of that area.

SCHOOL HILL

We are having some dry, windy weather at the present.

Grandpa Brock is on the sick list this week. We hope he is soon on the road to recovery.

School days are back again. Some of the children of this place went to Desdemona to register on Saturday, and school began Monday, Sept. 3.

Everybody is picking cotton at present. Cotton is sorry on account of the dry weather.

There was a musical at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wells last Wednesday night. A large crowd was present and lots of good music. The music was made by Elmer Abernathy, Loy Hare, Jack Hare and Marshall Reeves.

There will be another revival meeting at this place, beginning Sept. 3.

Mrs. T. J. Wells, Miss Pauline Wells and Rudolph Wells spent

Saturday afternoon with Mrs. S. Brock.

Max Brock spent the past three weeks with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, near Desdemona.

Cattlemen to Be In On Movement Of Cattle Buying

AUSTIN.—Cattlemen of the state will have a large share in the buying and movement of cattle in the government's Texas program, it was announced here by Adam R. Johnson, state relief director, after the appointment of a co-ordinating committee at Houston, last week.

The committee includes Dolph Briscoe, Uvalde, past president of the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers association; E. J. Spiller, Fort Worth, secretary-manager of the same association; Grover B. Hill, Amarillo, regional drought relief director in Texas; Dr. H. L. Darby, inspector in charge, bureau of animal industry; R. D. McCrum, cattle movement supervisor, Texas relief commission, and J. C. Weaver, livestock agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

This committee, Johnson said, will study and approve all contemplated changes in the quota buying program, adopted last week to prevent congestion at pens and processing plants. The new committee already has approved a plan whereby counties where government canneries are located will not ship purchased cattle out of the county but will process them at the home cannery.

This arrangement will allow for additional shipments above the 450 per week quota from counties where cattle are in a more distressed condition than in other parts of the state. In all such cases, this committee will have the final word in determining what areas will be designated for the additional shipments, Johnson said.

COWBOYS RIDE PORPOISES
CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex.—This Gulf of Mexico port has a new stunt for the rodeo boys. It's riding porpoises. The porpoise is a large slippery fish that delights to dash along at the prow of a ship, occasionally turning belly-up, as it leaps out of the water. Prizes will go to the rider who stays on one the longest.

Cattle Shipments Will Be Largest In Nation's History

WASHINGTON.—Shipments of cattle and calves from the States in the western cattle area extending from North Dakota to Texas and westward during the first month August to December, 1934, will be 100 percent larger than last year, and will be the largest ever made during these months, according to the report issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

It is impossible at this time to forecast with much certainty the number of cattle and calves that will be shipped from these states by the Federal Relief Agency, partly because the total that will be bought is not yet definitely determined and partly because the proportion of those bought that will have to be condemned and killed cannot now be foreseen. On the basis of present feed conditions in the different drought states and the number and character of the cattle purchased to the middle of August and the disposition of these, it seems probable that between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 cattle and calves will be shipped by the relief agency.

The feed situation in the 17 States covered by the report is the most serious ever known. With the exception of the Pacific Coast States, all or nearly all the counties in all the states have been designated as emergency drought counties, in which purchases of cattle for relief purposes can be made. If weather during the next two months should be exceptionally favorable for the production of late feed crops and improvement of winter pastures and ranges, the sales to the government agency might be smaller than now seems probable, especially in the states in the southern half of the area; on the other hand if no improvement in feed prospects occurs and if early winter rains is severe, purchases and shipments of cattle by the Government may largely exceed the number now estimated.

Consumption Of Lumber Was Low In Year 1932

WASHINGTON.—The estimated consumption of lumber in the United States in 1932 decreased to a new low point unprecedented since 1869, the forest service, U. S. department of agriculture, reports. "There is reason to believe, however," it was stated, "that this low point marked the bottom of the depression curve in the lumber industry, as the preliminary figures for 1933 show an increase in production of approximately 30 per cent over 1932."

The forest service's latest biennial study of lumber distribution and consumption, just completed with the co-operation of the U. S. census bureau and the dominion bureau of statistics of Canada, showed an apparent U. S. consumption of lumber for 1932 totaling 11,677,624 M feet, board measure. This compares with a total consumption of 23,342,708 M feet for 1930 and of 35,380,901 M feet for 1928. Of the total lumber consumption in 1932, softwoods accounted for more than nine billion feet, and hardwoods for a little less than two billion.

California showed the largest total consumption, 1,457,010 M board feet, followed by New York with 1,047,748 M feet. Highest per capita consumption rates were in Oregon and Washington, with 649 and 477 feet of lumber per capita consumed, respectively. A number of these states were at one time leading lumber producing states of the country. New York cut more than a billion feet at its peak, and Michigan cut more than five billion.

BOOTS RAEBERN, 18 and pretty, is snatched by wealthy SYLVIA RIVERS. Due to Sylvia's gossip, Boots is forced to resign from the Juniors. Boots goes live in Larchbrook, fashionable New York suburb.

of her manful efforts her eyes swam in a mist. Her voice thickened. "I haven't really—dared," she said. "Daddy's so mad at me I wrote her twice. She didn't answer."

She shook off the sick fancy. Russ would do fine things, make something big of himself. Then she wouldn't be ashamed to go back home, face everybody. She had been foolish, hadn't given her marriage sufficient consideration beforehand. But she would show some time that it had all been for the best.

UP in Larchbrook, at this time of year, leaves were heaped in great piles for burning. Her mother, in her old gray sweater and a well-worn tweed skirt, would be raking, to, in the lower garden.

It was Monday again. Half past eight. The doors of the big store would presently be swung open and women from Brooklyn, Staten Island, from Westchester, from up town, Park Avenue, from the Bronx, from Chelsea and Queens and Tenack would rush in. Five parts of this, six of that. Is this woolen suit? How much do I need for a change lounge slip cost? My change come back yet? Here is the china department now?

WELL, that was over now; a physical wrench of parting with Russ was over. She had been a bride a few short months ago. Now she was completely alone. In her heart she still confidently expected Russ to send for her.

THE rush began. It seemed to Boots she did not really draw breath until 11:30. She had been so busy she had actually forgotten the 15 minute relief which was due her. This last customer tendered a $10 bill.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXII

IT was too late now for Boots to pretend she hadn't seen Isabel. The other girl's warm, welcoming hand was in hers. Her bright eyes were full of friendly interest. It was as if the months between their last meeting did not exist.

"You'd tell them all about it, I know," supplied Isabel, trying to restore a more cheerful atmosphere. "But you know what I'd do if I were in your place? I'd go up there some day, see my mother and fix everything up. Just don't pay any attention to him, advised Isabel gaily. "And once your mother sees you—why, she misses you frightfully, you can imagine—everything will be all right."

"I could kill myself when I think of hurting her that way," Boots said youthfully. Isabel patted her hand. "You take the things up there some morning when your father is safely out of the house," she said. "Everything will be simply fine. See if it isn't."

They clung to each other on parting, Boots a girlish jumble of warnings and whispered affection. Boots as a drowning man who sees his proverbial last straw fast disappearing.

"No. Not very." Boots hesitated over the words—"I met an old friend. She took me to lunch." Gloria's eyes lighted avidly. "The Ritz, huh? Guess you can't see our—sisters." Her face looked mean, looked—she was in the bright glare of the overhead fixture.

It was Monday again. Half past eight. The doors of the big store would presently be swung open and women from Brooklyn, Staten Island, from Westchester, from up town, Park Avenue, from the Bronx, from Chelsea and Queens and Tenack would rush in. Five parts of this, six of that. Is this woolen suit? How much do I need for a change lounge slip cost? My change come back yet? Here is the china department now?

"We were to have gone to Florida before this," Boots offered vaguely, walking along beside her, "but we're still out on Long Island." "Out on Long Island" sounded rather better, on the whole, than "Astoria." Isabel was polite; Isabel did not ask where she was living. Boots blessed her for the omission.

Spanish Artist

"Will you have lunch with me?" Isabel bubbled. "Here I was, hating to eat alone—you know me of old!—and practically starving to death and all that!" "I was just about to stop for luncheon myself," Boots said brightly. "But I forgot about it, shopping."

Spanish Artist

"It was a lie. Of course it was a lie. But she couldn't tell Isabel the truth; couldn't say she had been looking for a job in Lacy's." "This old suit," she said with a rippling laugh she hoped fervently was convincing, "is positively moldy. I had to get something to wear to—and things for the south, too, although they're not showing much in that line yet. Too early."

SO it was Isabel's party after all. Over their heaped plates the two girls reviewed, explained, murmured. "You haven't seen your mother?" at last Isabel asked with gravity. Boots shook her head. In spite of her manful efforts her eyes swam in a mist. Her voice thickened. "I haven't really—dared," she said. "Daddy's so mad at me I wrote her twice. She didn't answer."

CONFUSION ENDED ON BRAN
New Ruling Makes Labels Accurate

To protect the buying public, the United States Food and Drug Administration has advised that every package of cereal labeled "Bran" state on the label exactly what it contains.

Before this ruling, even part-bran products were sometimes mistakenly referred to as "Bran." It was not easy for the purchaser to distinguish between a cereal that was entirely bran, or all bran with flavoring, and another that was mostly wheat.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is labeled "ALL-BRAN Deliciously Flavored with Malt, Sugar and Salt," a statement which describes the product fairly and honestly.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has won millions of friends because it corrects most types of common constipation safely and pleasantly. It furnishes generous "bulk"—needed to promote normal elimination.

However, ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all." Certain types of intestinal disorders should be treated only on a physician's advice.

When you buy a bran cereal, for the relief of constipation, read the wording on the package. The facts are there! Make sure by asking for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It furnishes "bulk" in a form for satisfactory results.

At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

AVOID ACCIDENTS

BY KEEPING YOUR CAR READY FOR EMERGENCIES

THE PENALTY OF CARELESSNESS
Accidents are caused by carelessness and neglect. There are many parts in your car which can wear dangerously thin when lubrication is neglected. See that your car is lubricated correctly. Bargain grease jobs only lead you into a false feeling of security.

MAGNOLIA SPECIALIZED LUBRICATION

Guard against dangerous unseen wear with . . .

ACCIDENTS happen quickly and without notice. To avoid them your car must respond instantly . . . perhaps a sudden turn to the left or right . . . a quick spurt ahead . . . an instant stop!

Worn parts can't stand this strain. If lubrication has been neglected a vital part might snap when you need it most. When you have your car lubricated at a Magnolia Station, error and neglect are eliminated as far as it is humanly possible. The man who lubricates your car works from a detailed chart of your car and applies exactly the right amount of the special Mobilgrease as recommended by your car manufacturer. Not a single grease fitting is slighted and your car is lubricated as it should be.

The difference in cost between Magnolia Lubrication and the average "hit-or-miss" grease job is negligible. For your own protection and the safety of your family and friends who ride with you, have your car lubricated at Magnolia Stations and Dealers.

- Be Sure You Get ALL 4 SAFETY FACTORS
- 1—PROPER TRAINING . . . Magnolia Men are thoroughly schooled in the responsibility and application of correct lubrication. They know their business!
 - 2—ACCURATE CHARTS . . . The Charts used in Magnolia Stations are prepared in cooperation with the engineers who built your automobile.
 - 3—CORRECT EQUIPMENT . . . Every Station has complete modern equipment, selected after extensive research by Magnolia Engineers.
 - 4—RIGHT GREASES . . . Several different Mobilgreases are used to meet heat-water-pressure. Mobilgrease stays on the job!

175 MILLION DOLLARS Paid to Texas People

THE LEGAL RESERVE life insurance companies of Texas have paid to Texas people $175,000,000.00 in cash . . . as death claims, surrender values, endowments and annuities. The amount so paid out increases each year. Such payments in 1933 amounted to $20,000,000.00.

These Texas companies make it easy and convenient for the people of Texas to practice thrift and thereby provide for their own future needs. That the people of Texas appreciate this service is evidenced by the fact that 1,200,000 are policyholders, owning insurance in the amount of $1,150,000,000.00.

Texas legal reserve life insurance companies have assets of $184,000,000.00 so invested as to safeguard the interests of policyholders as well as to contribute largely to the progress of Texas.

When you buy life insurance in a Texas legal reserve company you become a participant in the program to make Texas a better state in which to live and make a living.
