Edwards Smiles at Grim Parade of Evidence

Although the state paraded its grim exhibits in a nerve-wracking effort to convince the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., jury that he had murdered Freda McKechnie to extricate himself from an amorous dilemma, Robert Allen Edwards' only change of expression was to smile confidently as in the inset above.

INDICTMENT OF HAUPTMANN IS ASKED BY JUDGE

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 8.—Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard today charged the Hunterdon county grand jury to consider evidence against Bruno Hauptmann in the Lindbergh case and to return indictments for murder "if the facts warrant."

The judge said evidence would be presented to show Hauptmann "in the course of a burglary, kidnaped Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. and caused injuries which killed the child."

The judge said a murder indictment must be found if it is found the baby had been killed accidentally or on purpose.

The state sought to establish grounds for murder charges through the testimony of Charles A. Lindbergh and Millard Whited, who said he saw Hauptmann prowling around the Lindbergh home before the kidnaping.

Appeal Rejected In Hoarding Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The supreme court today rejected the appeal of Frederick Campbell, New York city lawyer, attacking the validity of the gold hoarding regulations.

Campbell, who is under indictment for hoarding in New York federal courts, sought to raise the question last spring but failed because of improper procedure.

Two Found Safe In A Missing Plane

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho, Oct. 8.—Marshall N. Dana, Portland, Ore., editor and member of the north-west planning board, and his pilot, Boz Zimmerly, were found safe today.

The state sought to establish grounds for murder charges through the testimony of Charles A. Lindbergh and Millard Whited, who said he saw Hauptmann prowling around the Lindbergh home before the kidnaping.

WAR ON CRIME IS STARTED IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The administration today summoned all law enforcement agencies to a concerted campaign to stop criminal plundering costing the nation $1,000,000,000 annually as well as hundreds of innocent lives.

To arouse the city and state agencies and to weld their forces for a big push against crime is the goal of a national conference on crime called by Attorney General Cummings to meet here Dec. 10.

President Roosevelt will set the keynote for the offensive by addressing the opening session.

SUSPECTS ARE BEING QUIZZED IN HILLSBORO

FORT WORTH, Oct. 8.—Two men were arrested here today as suspects in the death of Walter (Money) Jones, 65-year-old professional bondsman and money lender of Cleburne.

The suspects, said by police to have prison records, were taken to Hillsboro by Sheriff J. W. Freeland of Hill county.

Police said one of the men who gave their ages as 48 and 42, had served in the New Mexico penitentiary for killing a woman.

Jones' body was found approximately 14 miles south of Hillsboro yesterday. He was last seen Friday morning. He had been dead two days, doctors estimated.

The body was so badly decomposed that it was impossible to determine if he had been shot or strangled, but officers held to the latter theory.

Officers feared he had been slain for his money. He had a habit of carrying large sums of money with him.

Officers will attempt to identify one of the men as the "stranger" seen with Jones in Cleburne last Friday.

STOPPING HOT OIL

The legislature agreed it was wise to give the railroad commission authority stop the shipment of gasoline refined from illegal oil.

Yet it was unwilling to put this power into the hands of the commission immediately, and forced a 90-day delay in the effective date of the measure.

This reflects a strange trend of legislative reasoning. The lawmakers evidently had thought they curbed traffic in the products of hot oil, as well as in the illegal oil itself; but on technicalities, the courts said not. Now, the same lawmakers say explicitly, they still regard such traffic unlawful, but that it will not be subject to control, or violations subject to punishment until Dec. 25.

A lot of hot oil can go through the stills before Christmas.

But the same set of lawmakers, who alone can declare the legislative intent will be back this month. Perhaps they will decide not to continue as sponsors and authors of such a farce.

JOHN GARLAND POLLARD, former governor of Virginia says:

"The reason I do not attach much importance to denominational differences is that after long observation, I have never been able to find a denomination whose percentage of upright adherents was comparatively preeminent.

"If I could find a sect more effective than any other in producing upright, useful lives, that is the group to which I would attach myself. I would not stop to ask its tenets "By their fruits ye shall know them."

Drouth in Texas

(Continued from page 1) every month since Jan. 1—has been going into the hands of royalty owners alone, covering their owners' one-eighth, with the money being spread over the entire state. Farmers of the state, directly affected by the drouth, aren't in such bad shape, either, the league's statistics show. Value of the state's five major crops—cotton, wheat, corn, oats, and grain sorghums—is more than

$202,000,000 greater than for 1932 and more than $140,000,000 greater than for 1931. The league produced a cheerful chorus of other figures to indicate the state's business trend. Texas retail stores reported average dollar sales increased 13.4 per cent in July, 1934, over July, 1933. Aggregate sales for the first seven months of this year were 26 per cent greater than for the same period in 1933. Net revenue for Texas railroads in the first six months of 1934 was 742.5 per cent above net revenue for the same period last year. Commercial failures in July were 59 per cent fewer than for the same month a year ago. Texas farmers received an average of 3111 in federal payments, or one-sixth as much as their average receipts from all crops in 1933. So why the calamity howling? The press league blames it on an exaggerated idea of harm done by the drouth which in turn resulted from the scramble for state and federal relief funds. Instead of counting their blessings, the various communities tabulated their ailments in order to impress relief agencies and thus get a bigger share of relief funds than they would otherwise receive. Even cattlemen, admittedly the greatest drouth sufferers, are not as bad off as vivid tales of starving cattle, dying on the ranges or being slaughtered by government agents, would indicate, the league concludes.

The survey quoted from the magazine "Farm and Ranch" to show that much of the slaughtering was primarily to eradicate tuberculosis and Bang's disease. It was a health measure carried out with funds appropriated long before the drouth, the magazine stated. That so many Texas counties went on the federal "emergency drouth relief" lists, according to the magazine, "is evidence that alert farmers sensed the opportunity to cull their herds of unprofitable animals. 'In no sense can 'drouth relief' be interpreted to mean suffering and want.' 'The cattlemen are accustomed to playing long shots,' the league comments. 'In the dryer areas the cattlemen has never 'hit' more than once in three years.'

For this reason the drouth in many instances was a disguised blessing. It brought with it federal payments that helped the ranchman to sustain his loss whereas in other years he would have had to bear it alone. Drouth also brought higher prices for farm products in its wake, so that in a large measure reduced production was offset by higher returns for what crops were salvaged.

The public utilities are for light and more light, although not so much on the trial of Samuel Insull.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

BEGIN HERE TODAY CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for The Blade, telephoned the newspaper a report of the death of EDWARD SHILLINGRY, private detective, believed to have been killed by "CINCINNATI RED" LAMPSON, gangster. The same night an investigator, pretending to be FRANK B. CATHAY of Riverview, wealthy and prominent, is brought to police headquarters on suspicion of driving while intoxicated. With him is a girl who says she is MARY BRIGGS, hitch-hiker. Both are released.

MORDEN telephoned the facts to his newspaper. Next day the real Cathay calls on HENRY KENNEY, city editor of The Blade. Cathay claims his reputation has been injured, and demands damages and a retraction. DAN BLEEKER, junior publisher of The Blade, brags the story from Kenney and Morden. Bleeker says, "There's something fishy about this," and sends Morden to Riverview to learn all he can about Cathay.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IV DAN BLEEKER, junior partner and publisher of The Blade, turned to Morden, his police reporter. "I'm putting someone else at your desk down at headquarters," he said. "You get busy and chase down every lead you can get on Frank B. Cathay. Dig into Cathay's life with a spade, and dig deep. There'll be plenty there that he won't want to have brought out—there always is. The trouble with mer of his type is that they pose as being altogether too perfect. They put up a front that isn't human. When you get back of that front you find a lot of stuff that nobody knows about. You get busy and find out."

"You know," Mrs. Cathay said, "husbands would very frequently make fools of themselves were it not for the restraining hand of a wife." "Thank you," she said in a voice that was neither cordial nor grateful. She remained standing. Ethel West strode into Dan Bleeker's private office. "Mrs. Cathay is out there," she said. Bleeker looked up at her with a swift frown. "Alone?" "Yes." "What does she want?" "She won't tell me." "What does she look like?" "She's about 30. She has lots of money and she's spent a lot of it on her appearance. She's got one of those schoolgirl complexions. She hardly ever moves her facial muscles. Her eyes are nervous. She's trying to make a good impression. She's wearing a fur coat with a big collar; she looks better in it when she's standing up. She started to sit down and then changed her mind. She thinks perhaps you might come out to see her. Instead of letting her come in to see you she's standing up so she can make a good impression." "Fat?" asked Bleeker. "No, she's got a perfect figure and the coat displays it to advantage." "Show her in," said Bleeker.

"WHATEVER you do, don't be sneaky. Don't get to skulking around corners, listening at key holes, peering through windows. Just right in. You've got a job—it's a legitimate job. Frank B. Cathay is going to claim that his reputation is worth something and that we've damaged it. All right, he's going to get a fight. Tell him so! Stand up and look him in the eyes and tell him that."

MRS. CATHAY entered the office with short, quick steps. From the moment she reached a point from which she could command a view of Dan Bleeker's desk her eyes were wide, showing to advantage the long lashes. Her hand was held slightly to one side against the big collar of the coat. Her lips were curved in a perfectly arched smile. "Mr. Bleeker!" she exclaimed. "It was so nice of you to see me and so nice of you to see me so promptly, I know what a busy man you are." Dan Bleeker didn't get up

Appetizing Foods —prepared in less time, with less work and less fuel expense!

The New WATERLESS WAY

While the New Utility Cooker brings to you the possibilities of enjoying old-fashioned meals in addition, it permits you to prepare foods by the newer methods of cooking without water. Science has discovered that there is so much natural moisture in all meats, vegetables and fruits that it is entirely feasible to cook them with little or no water. About the only reason why we have cooked with water was to avoid burning. Water distributes the heat evenly, conducting it away from the point nearest the fire. However, after we have cooked our foods we have poured off the excess water and with it we have poured the bone-forming, teeth-building minerals; the iron, calcium and phosphorus that constitute the essential elements which the human system must have. With the new perfected Utility Cooker you can prepare foods deliciously tender and full of these health-building elements. The Utility Cooker is ideal for the housewife who wishes to practice this modern, more healthful and more economical way of cooking.

Lloyd Returns to Screen in "The Cat's Paw" at Arcadia

"The Cat's Paw," which opens today at the Arcadia Theatre, is the original title of the Clarence Budington Kelland novel, which supplied the plot for the first comedy Harold Lloyd has brought to the screen in two years. Like the main points of the Kelland story, Lloyd decided to retain the original title, for it conveys definitely the part he portrays in the picture.

Lloyd appears first in "The Cat's Paw" as the son of an American missionary, who has spent virtually all his life with his father in the interior of China. At twenty-seven, his folk feel it is time for him to return to his native land, and seek himself a wife. He thus is thrown into the maelstrom of life in an American city of 400,000 at first like a fish out of water. He unknowingly becomes the tool of unscrupulous politicians, but, when he becomes mayor of the city, through accident, he tries to apply Chinese philosophy to his operations of the government. His refusal to become "The Cat's Paw" of the defeated gang, and, in turn, they frame him. How he extricates himself from an unenviable position, forms the basis of the finest story the comedian has ever filmed, and carries an audience through a sweeping change of comedy, drama and thrilling adventure.

In his efforts to clean up the town, he has the caustic support of a cigar counter girl, played by Ina Merkel, and a loveable political rogue, portrayed by George Barbier. Neither has ever given a finer performance nor been cast in a more acceptable part. Others in support are Nat Pendleton, Grace Bradley, Alan Dinehart, Grant Mitchell, Fred Warren, Warren Hymer, J. Farrell, MacDonald, James Donlan, Edwin Maxwell, Frank Sheridan, Puzzy Knight and Vince Barnett.

The president talks to the people at the bedside, but when he talks to congress it may have to be in the woodshed.

Problems of NRA
Are Surveyed By Recovery Board

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—President Roosevelt surveyed problems of NRA reorganization today in a conference with the new national industry recovery board which took over administration of NRA after resignation of General Hugh Johnson.

It was his first meeting with the board, headed by S. Clay Williams, North Carolina tobacco manufacturer. Williams said the conference was devoted entirely to generalities, "and was just a general survey of problems facing NRA." Asked if any changes in NRA policy or personnel were likely as a result of the conference, Williams said, "None whatever."

Eastland, after being defeated by Stephenville, a Class B team which was later held to a scoreless tie by Straw, was not supposed to have any time with the strong Class B Olney team, and barely nosed out a victory by the margin of two goals, the score being 14 to 12.

ahead until now they are one of the leading contenders for the Oil Belt crown.
 The Ranger Bulldogs, playing their third game of the season, and their second night game, went down before the powerful Central High School Panthers, after making a bid for fame in the last quarter by outclassing their opponents and scoring two quick touchdowns, while holding the Panthers scoreless. The Panther lead was too large to overcome, however, and they lost by a score of 26 to 19, which was much closer than was expected, since Central is doped as one of the three leading teams of the state.

This week-end a more concrete comparison can be made as the Bulldogs play San Angelo and Eastland plays at Breckenridge in the first conference game of the season. The following week Abilene plays at Lubbock, while Eastland takes on Ranger in the third took their third straight Class A conference game of the season. Brownwood will meet the Lobos at Cisco on Saturday of this week.
 A parallel between Eastland, Cisco, Abilene and Ranger teams can be drawn from the San Angelo scrap, as all four teams will have played the Babrats by this week-end.

The Bulldogs still have one open date on their schedule, which is Nov. 3. An attempt has been made to get a game with Waco, but so far no arrangements have been made, as far as we have heard.

Who remembers Turkey Hinman, formerly of the Ranger Bulldogs in the days gone by? The following clipping from a Weatherford paper gives the information that he is now making good at Hobbs, N. M.:

"T. E. (Turkey) Hinman, formerly of this city, is now engaged as athletic director and promoter at Hobbs, N. M., where he has been employed by an oil company since he moved from Weatherford. Only well known wrestlers are engaged and when the card is not filled, Turkey meets all unattached wrestlers. The wrestling public of Hobbs is eagerly looking forward to plenty of good matches and are giving loyal support to the sport."
