PARIS UNEASY AS NEW GROUP TAKES CHARGE

PARIS, France, Nov. 8.—Pierre Flaudin, 45, the republic's youngest premier, today took up the task of leading the nation through one of its gravest peace-time periods as head of a new salvation government. He did so under the watchful eyes of millions of people who demand government without party politics and who seemed ready to turn into the streets in riot if necessary to enforce their demand. There were heavy police and republican guards patrolling the central district of Paris, but the city was quiet. Flaudin and Gaston Doumergue, whom he replaced, alike appealed to the nation to be calm. Flaudin began today to draft his ministerial declaration embracing his program, for discussion at a cabinet meeting. Newspapers, including the opposition socialist papers, were favorable to Flaudin today.

High School and Cooper to Play Important Game

What will probably be the deciding game of the ward school football season will be played today between the high school freshmen and the Cooper school team, both of which are tied for first place in the percentage column. The three ward schools and the high school boys, none of whom weigh more than 115 pounds, have been playing a series of games this year, and the schools have been taking much interest in the games. The starting lineup and weights for the Cooper school in today's game will be: Russell, 112, and Cole, 75, ends; Quinn, 69, and Whitefield, 111, tackles; Burch, 99, and Watton, 88, guards; Adkins, 105, center; Gray, 76, quarterback; Savage, 112½, and Cox, 112½, halves, and McKeenan, 112½, full.

Colorado Bill Gets Approval

AUSTIN, Nov. 9.—PWA attorneys at Washington today lowered the highest barrier that stood in the way of final enactment of the Colorado river bill by the Texas legislature. "Neither public works nor myself deem Dean amendment fatal to the project," Congressman Buchanan telegraphed Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman, here today after conferences at Washington. His words removed cause of a major controversy. House members had insisted on the amendment, which subdivides water rights in the lower Colorado district to those on the upper portion of the river in West Texas. ### FRESH TRAIL FOUND IN THE URSCHELL CASE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 9.—A fresh trail of the $20 bank notes paid in the $250,000 ransom of Clyde Urschell led investigators today to announce further arrests were expected soon in one of the nation's outstanding kidnaping cases. With 17 persons already captured as members of the gang which seized and held Urschell in July of last year, the department of justice agents expect to clean up the case through new disclosures in three Oregon cities. Further development may depend on the recovery of Alvin Scott, suspect injured in a car accident and now in a serious condition in a hospital at Roseburg, Ore. Agents claimed to have found $1,360 of the ransom money in his possession and have located an additional $1,460 hidden in a house he occupied at Medford.

Fourteen Relief Projects Are Approved

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

Brainstorm Ritchie, who scribbles sports for the Breckenridge American between naps at a Breckenridge hotel, stood in the sun too long without a hat, or whatever, it is he does to get that way, and pointed out the error of our ways again. At any rate Wilson says that we are all wet. That we should claim the Bulldogs have the best team in the whole state, possibly the nation, that they can't possibly be beaten, that we should predict a 98 to 0 score for them before each game, that we should inform them that they are the best and that they need't worry about the game (any game, possibly the Breckenridge game in particular) and that everything is rosy. That we should claim Jacoby, Payton, Love, Donohwa, Wheeler, Carroway, Wardon, Bunton, Westbrook, Agnew, Hartin, Rawls, Adkins, Walsh, Anderson, Britt—aw well, you name the rest of them—should be all-state selections because they are the best and no other team has anything to compare with them. Well, not in just so many words, but he does seem to think we should get all enthused and give out the wrong dope about the team when all along we are predicting that the Brownwood Lions will go almost through the season making many a score and will then score on the Bulldogs.

What Wilson really says in answer to something we wrote a while back about Prexy Anderson writing so much about the Bulldogs one would think he was writing sports for the Ranger Times: "No, sir, he's wrong again. A person would know if he read very much about Anderson and Britt he was reading some paper other than the Ranger Times. One who had not seen the boys play would have to read some out-of-town paper to find out how good they are." He then goes on to say, "maybe we should all start writing about the pep squads. The crowd roared when the girls, natively dressed in bright red uniforms, stepped ever so lightly out onto the grass covered field."

And there is where Wilson B. (Brainstorm) Ritchie had his first real idea this year, other than the one about Spud Taylor is the best in the Oil Belt. Spud Taylor is the whole show, Spud Taylor will beat Ahilene, Spud Taylor will beat Ranger, etc., etc. One really should give more consideration, when writing sports, to the pep squad girls. They form an important part of a football game, though they do not score any touchdowns, and they get very little, if any, comment.

Yes, sir, Mr. W. B. Ritchie, we admit that your latest is the best yet. We really should write more about the pep squad, and even less, if possible, about Anderson and Britt, because all the customers know just exactly what those two do in every game and know just as much about them as we do, but some of them are still holding a post mortem over the first half when the pep squad performs and do not realize how natty the pep squad girls really look when they trip lightly out onto the greenward, what little there is of it on Lillard Field.

And what would poor Wilson do if it wasn't for Spud Taylor and me? He would be almost entirely out of material, it seems. And at that we have hogged most of Spud's limelight in the past few days. The Breckenridge fans, no doubt, will be looking for us in a uniform on Thanksgiving Day, thinking that we are one of the Bulldogs, or even a Buckaroo.

Patrolmen Attend First Aid School

Highway patrolmen Ernest Daniel and Morgan Myers of Eastland are in attendance at a school of first aid at Abilene. The session today will mark the close of the two-day course. Dr. W. A. V. Cash and Dallas Scarborough of Abilene made first aid addresses at the Thursday afternoon session.

PROJECTS ARE AT LOCALITIES OVER COUNTY

Administrator Driscoll Announces Project Approvals Thursday

Approval of 14 work relief projects were received this week at the Eastland county general relief office, H. E. Driscoll, county administrator, announced Thursday. The majority of them began today. The projects, number of men, and starting date, are as follows: Cleaning Lake Cisco, 62, today. Lateral road from Scranton to Dothan, 15, today. Water project at Okra, 14, today. Fish hatchery at Cisco, 42, today. Ammerman street ditches leading to railroad crossing at Eastland, 81, today. Ditches to Lake Hargaman at Ranger, 66, started Monday. Olden school grounds, 10, today. Lateral road from Ranger-Breckenridge highway intersection to Pleasant Grove, 52, today. Lateral road half mile east of Olden from Bankhead highway to Lone Cedar, 53, today. Road from Gorman to Staff, 20, Nov. 16. Morton Valley road, three miles north, leading to school, 41, today. Concrete bridge at Rising Star, 9, today.

The following have been sent to Austin for approval: Football field at Rising Star, 11 men; grading and graveling Cisco street, 50 men; road project east and south of Ranger, 51 men; Colony school repairs, 9 men. Driscoll stated: "Our monthly payroll approved to present date and only including the projects since our meeting in the county courtroom on Oct. 27 amounts to $32,892.90. This week we have forwarded applications as noted above comprising payroll of $8,759.90."

It was stated that the relief office was hopeful that repairing and manufacturing of Christmas toys would be covered by an application for work relief projects by at least Nov. 15. Eligibility of approval of work projects as shown by letter received by Mr. Driscoll from Austin was as follows: "It is necessary that they be sponsored by government organization supported by taxation. Naturally, the letter stated; this excludes churches, cemetery associations, (not municipal or county owned) Boy Scout, American Legion, Young Men's Christian associations, and other similar organizations, although financed by public contribution, they are not supported by taxation, and therefore not eligible, the letter said.

Sweetwater Gets Hospital Fund

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Public Works Administration today announced allotment of $73,100 to Sweetwater for a hospital building. The allotment was in the form of a loan and grant. It was one of 85 additional non-federal projects to cost $9,836,800 announced by the P. W. A. today.

Three Bandits Rob A Nebraska Bank

NORFOLK, Neb., Nov. 9.—Three bandits held officials of the De Lay National bank hostages for several hours today and when the time had opened the vault doors they took $23,000 and escaped.

Consolidation Is Now Important

In the matter of consolidating the Retail Merchants Association with the Chamber of Commerce, there are many things to be taken into consideration. The Times will mention a few reasons again today, why we think this consolidation should be made. First, there is quite a bit of duplication in some phases of the work of both organizations. For instance—when the merchants put on the last style show some six or eight business concerns sponsored the movement and financed it. Whereas, if we had one organization the show could have been handled by the new organization and the show put on to a greater advantage for the entire city and its business interests. Every business in Ranger either directly or indirectly profits whenever people are brought to town.

There are many things in common between the small town Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants association. Everycommunity project should be sponsored by and supported by the entire business interests of the town. The dues that are paid into the two organizations, and we are frank to say that both are "just barely getting by," or at least that is what we have been informed by those in a position to know, if they were put into one fund would be sufficient to create a surplus and have a little money to go after some new enterprise for Ranger, send some man or group of men to get some convention for the city, as it now is Ranger is not doing a thing to keep her name before the public or to attract new capital for herself.

What about a laundry—employment to some six or eight heads of families? What about a brick plant, and any number of other industries that might be induced to come here and open for business. In Eastland, some said, "we cannot have a bank." But some said "yes"—and the bank is open today. The Times believes with a consolidation of the two groups, a live secretary to take charge, that a membership campaign could be put over and bring in every business interest, whether large or small, into the new organization. There are a number of small business interests in the city that do not affiliate with either concern at present. Ranger might study her market possibilities under a new setup. By this we mean make it possible for a farmer to sell anything that he raises right here at home.

Ranger has one of the best bands in the state. The entire city is behind it. Ranger has a new building and loan association, just recently organized—has money to loan on a business basis to buy and rebuild homes or improve them. Ranger has business leaders that are plenty able to cope with any condition that might arise. The Times is again calling them to bat—let's all get behind the new movement of consolidating the Retail Merchants association with the Chamber of Commerce. Let's all tell about the new loan company and its ability to help the folks own their own homes. Let's cut out the duplication of some of the things that now exist and centralize on the things that will do the most good and accomplish the things that will make Ranger the leading town in the Oil Belt. All together for the NEW DEAL!

EVERY TEAM IN OIL BELT TO SEE ACTION OVER WEEK-END

Two games that will have much to do with the outcome of the Oil Belt football season will be played this week-end, while one that will have less bearing on the leading teams, but which will be watched with almost as much interest is scheduled, so that all teams in the district will see action. Saturday afternoon the Breckenridge Buckaroos will meet the Abilene Eagles in one of the two crucial games of the week-end. The Eagles in spite of a bad showing made against the Bulldogs, are expected to show a reversal of their earlier conference game form and to give the Buckaroos a scrap that will long be remembered.

The team which wins in this contest can still be considered a contender for the district crown. The same afternoon Eastland will be entertaining the Brownwood Lions at Welsh field. The Lions, though they have not scored a point this season, have a large number of players and some of the tallest in the district. They are expected to get to working in one of their two remaining games this season, and are hoping for a win, or even a score. The Mavericks, particularly after their impressive victory over the Lobos, are heavy favorites, as they now have on of the best teams in the Oil Belt.

Scouts Will Hold A Meeting Tonight

Ray Steele, scoutmaster of Troop 9, announced today that a meeting of the troop would be held at the Methodist church tonight at 7 o'clock. All members of the troop are urged by the scoutmaster to be present.

CENTENNIAL BILL AWAITS HOUSE ACTION

By United Press

AUSTIN, Nov. 9.—Dallas representatives sat at the foot of the speaker's desk today and waited to bring up the centennial tax bill at the first possible moment. Bills sent from the senate for approval had right of way and were eating into the short number of remaining hours in which centennial legislation can pass. Relief for future delinquent taxpayers was assured when the house adopted a committee report sending down penalties. Today's session opened with both the centennial tax bill and the centennial appropriation in the hands of the house. The tax bill can be engrossed with a majority vote. Adjournment for a few minutes can be ordered by majority vote, then the bill will be in status for final passage on the new legislative day thus provided. The appropriation bill, favorably reported by a committee, can only be taken up separately in the house by suspending a constitutional rule. This requires a four-fifths vote. As there was little prospect of such a vote the bill may be made an amendment or rider for the tax bill and be put through without it.

Meeting Called to Discuss Red Cross Annual Roll Call

Mrs. W. D. Conway, chairman of the annual Red Cross roll call for Ranger, has called a meeting of members of the Red Cross committee, business men of Ranger and all others interested in the Red Cross drive this year, to be held in the office of the Chamber of Commerce Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. J. E. Spencer of Cisco, county chairman, will be present at the meeting and will help to formulate plans for the roll call in Ranger. It is expected that the town will be divided into zones, as on previous occasions, and committees assigned to canvass each zone.

Loan Applicants Asked to Furnish More Information

Officers of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Ranger are desirous of having those who make applications for loans to bring all information in regard to their property with them when they make the applications for loans. C. E. May, secretary of the association, stated today that several loans were now pending because of lack of information in regard to the property that is being offered as security. It was said that if all the information was furnished with the application it would greatly facilitate the completion of loans.

All Stores In the City Will Close On Monday, Nov. 12th

All stores of Ranger will be closed all day Monday in celebration of Armistice Day, as well as the Commercial State bank and the Times Publishing company office. No issue of the Ranger Daily Times will be issued on Monday as the entire personnel will be given an all-day holiday. Everyone is warned to purchase enough for their needs through Sunday and Monday when they make their week-end purchases Saturday, as everything in town, with the exception of drug stores, cafes and filling stations will be closed and most of these will be closed during the hours for the Ranger-Cisco game.

Cooper Children Presented Program On Armistice Day

A very pretty program was presented to the student body of Cooper school Friday morning at the chapel hour when a group of students gave an Armistice Day program under the direction of Miss Rose McCrever. The first number on the program was a musical reading, "Blue Plus Gray Makes Khaki," by Billy Smith, dressed in the khaki of the Boy Scout uniform. The beauty of the scene was enhanced by two boys in the background, at attention and holding flags, Glenn Pointer, the flag of the north, our United States flag, and Sonny Smith holding the flag of the Confederacy, the south.

Second came the "peace pageant," consisting of a group of children representing each of the nations that took part in the World war. The country each child represented was designated by the flag carried. A song by the entire student body, "Our Country for Peace," brought the program to a close. The stage was beautifully decorated with poppies which have become through the years so symbolic of the World war.

RACE TRACK BETTING MAY BE CLEANED UP

AUSTIN, Nov. 9.—Race track fans are at bitter warfare among themselves. Representative Pat Dwyer of San Antonio, who boasts that he presented the original bill to legalize the return of race track betting to Texas, is leading the assault on the present pari-mutuel system. He said the betting public is not getting a fair deal. He offered an amendment to the centennial tax bill which would require every track to use a "totalizer." This, he explained, is an automatic device that records the amounts of bets and assures the better the proper share of his winnings. At one track, he said, the total amount bet was "divided with a stick."

Plans Completed For Armistice Day Here

Members of the Armistice Day committee met in the office of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night to complete details of the celebration in Ranger on Monday. All committeemen reported that the plans had been completed for all the various phases of the celebration and every detail has been re-checked so that a smoothly working program is expected for the entire day.

Police Chief Warns Of Speeding Near The Public Schools

Because so many complaints have been received about speeding on Young street, in the vicinity of the Young school, Chief of Police Jim Ingram has issued a warning that unless the speeding is stopped officers will be placed near the school and all violators will be given traffic violation tickets. Many complaints have been received, it was said, that motorists have a habit of passing the school at high speeds, even during the recess periods or during the noon hour, which is a very dangerous practice as there are many young children going to and from the school building who must cross the streets. Even at the recess period it is dangerous to drive fast near the school, because some of the younger children might run out into the street and be run over. It is impossible for the teachers to keep all the children off the street, though a careful watch is kept, and a serious accident might be averted if the car drivers are a little more careful. "Unless the speed of these cars is cut down considerably," Chief Ingram said, "I will have to place officers near the school and have them give traffic tickets to all offenders and fines will be assessed against them."

JURY AGREES AFTER FURTHER DELIBERATIONS

When Reporting Earlier In Morning Had Ballotted 7 to 5.

Mrs. May King of Desdemona, charged with the murder of Leon Robinson, Gorman night watchman on the night of Nov. 13, 1933, was today found guilty by a 91st district court jury and her punishment fixed at two years in the penitentiary. First reports from the jury said that they stood 7 to 5 for conviction after deliberating since Thursday. The verdict was reached Friday at noon, after they reported to Judge Davenport earlier that they were hopelessly deadlocked, but were asked to continue their deliberations longer. Mrs. King was tried in the district court in February of this year, at which time the jury was hung and, after failing to reach an agreement, were dismissed. It was not announced whether defense attorneys would make a motion for a new trial, or if an appeal would be filed from the findings of the petit court jury.

Convicted of the Murder of Negro; Given Two Years

Sam Grubner, Brownsfield, was given a two-year suspended sentence in 91st district court Thursday afternoon after pleading guilty to the murder of Ira Lashley, negro of Romney, on Dec. 20, of 1933. The jury is reported to have been out less than 15 minutes until they reported to the court.

JAKE HODGES SUCCUMBS IN BRECK TODAY

Jake Hodges, Radford grocery salesman, died in a Breckenridge hospital this morning, a representative of the company at Cisco stated in a telephone conversation today. It is reported the death of Hodges resulted from an automobile accident about three-quarters of the distance to Breckenridge from Eastland. The company's representative was unable to give details of the fatal accident. Hodges was a familiar figure in Eastland and Ranger. He periodically visited grocerymen in both cities.

have been to the expedition! With the horses tired from buffalo-chasing, corn almost gone, miles and miles from the little group of Indians at Tigues, the explorers once more met with defeat. It would be foolish for the entire force to continue to Quivira. Thirty must be selected, and the others sent back to the old headquarters on the Rio Grande. It is probable that Coronado parted with his men somewhere along the north fork of the Canadian river, due west of the Pecos. May 1, 1541 the group of explorers slowly began their trek back to Tigues.

FAMOUS FOOTBALL FEATS!

FOOTBALL is replete with Notre Dame classic feats. Marcy Schwartz's touchdown jaunt against Army in Chicago, 1930, was one.

The game was nip and tuck for three quarters. In the fourth period, just before Schwartz cut off on his run, Notre Dame called in Johnny O'Brien, pass catching expert, at left end. The play following was a pass, but the Irishman was held illegally in the line.

Carideo again called a formation similar to the O'Brien pass play. Johnny cut through the Army secondary, but instead of passing to O'Brien, Schwartz followed him through Army's left tackle and dashed 54 yards for a counter. Carideo kicked the point that won the game, 7-6.

Try a WANT-AD!

The trend, already inaugurated, is being heightened by the influence of hairdresses worn by Claudette Colbert, Claudia Dell, Gertrude Michael and others of the feminine principals in Cecil B. DeMille's "Cleopatra," coming Monday to the Arcadia theatre, in which Miss Colbert is featured with Warren William and Henry Wilcoxon.

The Roman headdress worn by Claudia Dell as Octavia consists of double bangs of stylized curls, giving a lacquered effect which is further carried out by more rows of flat curls across the top of the coiffure. High on the back of the head is a bunch of cork-crew curls confined by a jeweled ornament which matches the ear rings.

The gowns, jewelry, shoes and other articles of apparel worn by the principals in DeMille's pageant of the life and loves of one of history's most famous queens, are also expected to furnish a highlight in the forthcoming season's fashion. The influence of the Cleopatra styles are definitely to be seen in the advance fashions now showing in metropolitan centers.

It was a mad Halloween crowd the Chicago World Fair drew on its last night, although not so mad as the concessionaries were later.

The point in controversy was this: If a hunter intended to hunt only in his own county and purchased one of the $1 stamps, and later bought a hunting license in order that he might legally hunt in other counties of the state, would he be required to purchase another duck stamp?

The post office gave an opinion that another stamp would have to be purchased and stuck on the back of the hunting license, as provided in the duck stamp act. The Game, Fish and Oyster commission, in an opinion, said no other stamp would be required.

In the letter Mr. Bollinger said that while the law said the stamp would be placed on the back of a card, where hunting in one's own county, and on the back of the hunting license, while hunting in another county, that the possession of both the stamp and the hunting license would be sufficient to keep one from running afoul of the law and the game wardens. But one should be careful, when hunting out of his home county, to have both his hunting license nd the duck stamp with him at all times, or he is liable to a fine.

Galatians 5:13-26
Paul wrote Galatians in A. D. 57 while in Corinth where he spent the last three months closing his third missionary journey.

He warned them of fighting among themselves and its fearful consequences. "But I say, walk by the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh.

In a grand sweep of words he calls to them, "For ye brethren were called to freedom." He reminded them of what real freedom was.

Nations need these stirring words of Paul. The armistice which ended the World war was signed at Senlis, Nov. 11, 1918.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

Who CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for the Blade, is found dead in BLEEKER's publisher's employe MARY GRIF's room, criminologist, to solve the murder. MORDEN had been investigating the affairs of FRANK B. CATHAY, wealthy and prominent.

The day following MORDEN's death Cathay was at the apartment occupied by KENNETH HOME, "friend of Alice's."

GRIF and Bleeker go to the apartment occupied by KENNETH HOME. "Friend of Alice's."

MRS. CATHAY stood perfectly still, her head thrown back, her chin in the air. Her manner was that of having steeled herself against showing any emotion.

The woman who had given her name as Blanche Stanway strode toward Griff.

"You lie!" she screamed. "You're a dirty liar!"

Racine had tiptoed to the door of the room. He jerked it open, said to Mrs. Cathay, "Come on. Let's get out of here. He's trying to keep us here. He's stalling for time."

Blanche Stanway stopped within a couple of feet of Griff. Her face was twisting with emotion. The corners of her hard, defiant mouth turned down. Tears came to her eyes. She broke into harsh sobs.

Mrs. Cathay swept toward the door which Racine was holding open, but the detective did not wait for her to join him. He turned toward the corridor, took half a dozen rapid steps and then broke into a run.

Griff said in a low voice to Mrs. Stanway, "I'm sorry."

She looked at him through tearful eyes, took a groping step toward him, dropped her head to his shoulder and clung to his coat with the work-worn fingers of seamy hands.

Griff patted her shoulders reassuringly. "There, there," he said, "it's going to be all right."

"Damn you!" she sobbed. "See my lawyer. . . you cheap heel!"

IN the taxicab Griff seemed to high spirits. "Observe, Bleeker," he said, "what an interesting thing the truth is. Falsehoods may be built up which seem to have the appearance of truth, but they have no foundation to back them. They are like mirages, like the fronts of structures which are used in motion picture sets. They look all right when viewed from one angle, but have nothing back of them. If one will take pains to view them from all sides."

A woman driver in Kansas City collided with four cars at one time. Women generally are good drivers, but when they're not, they make it worth while.

"No," Griff told him. "There will be none of that. I am waiting in order to get all of the facts in my hands before I make a move. And it is dangerous for you to have information which can, at the present time, lead only to suspicious suspicions which we can, perhaps, prove with an absolute certainty, but suspicions that must not be voiced."

"I am not only telling you of those suspicions, I'm even trying not to think of them. We never know just how this strange phenomenon that we call mental telepathy acts."

"How many times have you known of some secret and Miller told that secret to a friend only to have the information leak out, not because of something the friend said or because of something you yourself said, but because you allowed your thoughts upon the matter to crystallize in words, and those thoughts were picked up by another?"

"The wise inventor takes no note into his confidence until his idea is perfected and patented. The man who discusses his incomplete plans with a friend is likely to find that some other inventor, acting independently and in an entirely different part of the country, suddenly pounces upon the basic idea, perhaps in a more advanced form than the first inventor even contemplated, and rushes it through to a patent."

"I," said Bleeker grimly, "don't believe in all that stuff."

"Griff's smile was irritating. 'My friend,' he said, 'I do not ask you to. I am telling you only what I believe, and it is my belief that must govern.'"

"Why wouldn't Blanche Stanway make any statement?" asked Bleeker abruptly. "Why couldn't you get her to talk?"

"She smiled faded from Griff's face. 'Show is beyond doubt,' he agreed. 'A woman of great determination, but you, too, my friend, would have determination if you had scrubbed floors for years. There is nothing, perhaps, that makes more for determination, so far as one's rights are concerned, than kneeling and scrubbing, scrubbing and kneeling, forever scrubbing through a routine of drudgery. She was, perhaps, at one time beautiful. In fact, I think we may safely assume that she was beautiful. Her beauty was not the fragile, aristocratic beauty of Mrs. Cathay, but it was perhaps warmer, more vital beauty; a beauty that was filled with fire and spirit; a beauty which lured men away from the realm of thought and into the emotional realm of this sense.'"

"I suppose," Bleeker said, "that you're intimating she was his wife, perhaps an unmarried wife, but nevertheless the mother of his girl?"

Girl Scouts Enjoy Short Hike

The Girl Scouts enjoyed a short hike and supper out in the open Wednesday, Nov. 7. They met at the Presbyterian church at 4:30 and from there they hiked to Ranger Heights.

When the girls found an ideal spot to cook their meals a number of small fires were built and each girl cooked her own supper. Eggs and bacon were fried, weiners were roasted and last they toasted marshmallows.

The girls are showing much interest in the scout organization, and for next week they are planning to take their tenderfoot tests, which each girl must pass before she may be recognized as a scout. The next meeting which will be held Friday, Nov. 16, will be at the Presbyterian Annex, at 4:30. This meeting will be for the girls to learn to tie the many kinds of knots that scouts are supposed to know, and each girl is requested to bring a short piece of cotton rope to use.

Those that enjoyed the outing Wednesday evening are: Jane Lauderdale, Doris Dudley, Jean Moore, Doris May, Jane Matthews, Eloise Packwood, Polly Seymour, Mary Claude Blacklock, Dorothy Jean Bruce, Claude Jarvis, Noma Louise Dilworth, Helen Jacobs, Lois Higdon, Lois Bragg, Annie Sue Austin, Fanne Doll Swaney, Electra Pearson, Royce June, Reba Hutchinson, Mozell Crews, Reba Moore, Alice Louise Henry, and Dorothy Byas.

Famous Animal Trainer Is With Circus Here Today

By CAPTAIN KOHLER

"What do you think of the intelligence of elephants, Captain Kohler?" And here is my answer. The elephant is the first in animal brains and first in training and intelligence. When my father trained elephants with many of the leading European circuses, he started me on my way and career as an elephant trainer. His advice was "Learn the ways of an elephant and teach them what you want them to do with kindness and patience." Today, I remember the advice that has given me the pleasure of training the smallest elephant in the world, which is Baby Bolo, the outstanding member of Schell Bros. two herds of elephants. Bolo, still a baby as far as years are reckoned, has learned to walk a wire, add, subtract and multiply. In fact, he knows as much as the children of 12 or 14 years of age. Teaching him required six hours daily of constant attention, for he, like all youngsters, cared more for play than schooling, and in training this wonderful prodigy of the jungle, it has required four solid years, so I feel like I am well repaid, because Baby Bolo has learned and today all honors that can be accorded an elephant are his. That is, he really knows it all.

"Well Captain, are the elephants all healthy or do they sometimes get sick?" They are no different than a human being. Our herds now are in fine shape. Their ailments are small when properly cared for, and we treat them when sick with the same remedies that you or I take. Schell Brothers Circus, which will exhibit here for two performances, afternoon and night, Friday, Nov. 9, take great pride in their exhibition of wild animals on display in the menagerie, and in fact is nothing more than a traveling university of natural history. # Big Attractions to Be At Arcadia This Week

MAE WEST TO BE HERE IN LATEST FILM

A week of unusual attractions has been booked for the Arcadia Theatre by B. E. Garner, manager, for the week beginning Saturday and Sunday, including in the bookings are some of the most talked of pictures of the year, pictures that everyone has been waiting to see.

For Saturday and Sunday Mae West's latest picture, "Belle of the Nineties," will be the presentation at the Arcadia. In her latest, and possibly her best picture, Miss West sings a number of songs, including "My Old Flame," "Troubled Waters," "When a St. Louis Woman Comes Down to New Orleans," "Memphis Blues" and "My American Beauty." The cast includes Roger Pryor, John Mack Brown and features Duke Ellington's orchestra.

At the Columbia Saturday will be seen Tom Tyler in "Mystery Ranch," while on Sunday "Inside Information" will be presented.

Starting Monday, Nov. 12, one of the most spectacular pictures of all time will be presented when Cecil B. DeMille's "Cleopatra" will start a two-day run. The most gorgeous scenes and costumes ever assembled for a picture of this kind were worked out for the picture, which is historical in nature, as it portrays one of the most vivid and impressive periods in all history, as well as one of the most famous love affairs of all time. Claudette Colbert, Warren William and Henry Wilcoxon head the great cast in this picture.

"Case of Howling Dog" Has a Large Cast of Film Stars

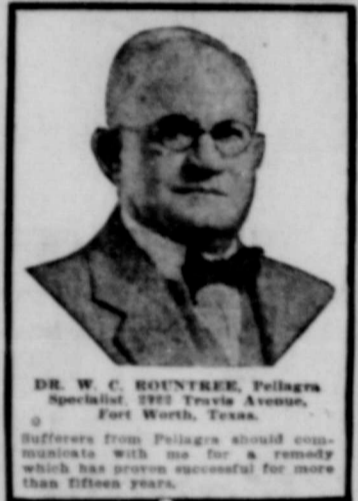

An unusually large and capable cast will be seen in the Warner Bros. production of "The Case of the Howling Dog," which comes to the Arcadia theatre on Friday. Warren William and Mary Astor have the stellar roles.

William portrays a famous criminal lawyer and investigator who solves the mystery of a series of murders. This is the second time he plays the part of a detective and the second time that of a criminal lawyer.

Just recently he was cast as Philo Vance in "The Dragon Murder Case," and some time ago was the lawyer in "The Mouthpiece."

Mary Astor, recently seen in "The Man With Two Faces," and "The Return of the Terror," both mystery murder stories, now appears as a beautiful society woman accused of the murder of her husband.

The picture is based on the magazine story by E. L. Stanley Gardner and dramatized for the screen by Ben Markson, Alan Crossland directed.

Everybody Is Going West After Famous Film Siren's Picture

If Mae West, Paramount's blonde siren, were to accept the invitations to join every one of the organizations which have asked her to enroll during the past year, Miss West would have to devote 40 hours of each day to her social duties alone.

Miss West, who returns to the scene of her former triumphs, the burlesque show of the "Gay Nineties" in her newest Paramount picture, "Belle of the Nineties," coming Saturday to the Arcadia theatre, has received bids for honorary membership from over 500 organizations in less than a year.

A born "joiner," as she terms herself, Miss West started out by piling up memberships in every organization that invited her, until Paramount suddenly found its star devoting more than half her day to those affiliations, and a halt had to be called.

It all started about six months ago when the vast regiment of Kentucky colonels voted to place a spread eagle on the star's shoulder. A week after this feat was reported, Miss West could have become an honorary member in a dozen other societies, and it has grown steadily ever since.

Within two weeks time after it became known that the locale of "Belle of the Nineties" would be in New Orleans, Miss West was extended membership in 32 New Orleans groups, clubs and social orders.

Not only has her popularity caught the fancy of association committees but of commodity manufacturers as well. With a few exceptions, however, she had to decline on the pretext of their commercial enterprise.

Clothes shops, beauty parlors, delicatessens and ice cream parlors throughout the land would be bearing the legend "Mae West" on their windows if proprietors could get clearance on the name.

Her name isn't immune even from men's shaving soaps, of which one manufacturer sent Mae West a glowing prospectus of what it would look like on a colorful label.

An Illinois flower conservatory named a rose after her. Requests for the name on dolls, hand mirrors, face-powder boxes and perfumes have been received.

City Dump Salvage Brings High Price

DALLAS.—For the past year the city has sold the privilege of salvaging material from the city garbage dumps for $250 a month.

On Nov. 14 when the bids for next year's contract are to be let, the city council will try to obtain a still better offer, it was said.

The present salvager has done well with the contract for the past 11 months, council members said. His contract expires Nov. 30.

Tom Tyler at Columbia

SHE ATE ALL-BRAN TWELVE YEARS WITH FINE RESULTS

Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Read this very enthusiastic letter: "Something like eleven or twelve years ago, I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. When I started, it was called simply Kellogg's Bran, and I believe it was one of the first products of the kind on the market."

"My friends often laugh at my fondness for ALL-BRAN. It gives such a clean taste in the mouth, and I do not feel satisfied until I have had my ALL-BRAN."

"If the Kellogg Company should ever stop manufacturing ALL-BRAN, here is one who would be greatly disappointed."—Miss Amy Ferson, University Park, Iowa.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" in exercise the intestine, and vitamin B to further aid regularly. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. How much safer than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Just eat two tablespoons daily for most types of constipation. For serious cases, try it three times daily. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

The studio guest had just seen Tarzan go through a particularly difficult scene and she was unquestionably impressed. "Does he know any other tricks?" she asked Matt McHugh, the dog's trainer.
