Things Seemed Futile
1700 Years Ago!

It might help us to face our current problems with more hope if we could only make use of the ingenious time machine described in H. G. Wells' famous novel.

This was a machine, as you remember, by which one could rove about in time as an automobile enables one to rove about in space. You could go either forward or backward—back to ancient Rome or forward to the millennium, whichever you chose.

If we could get hold of such a machine, and spin back through a few generations, we might discover that our difficulties today are only reprints of difficulties which assailed other men in times past.

A writer in the "Business Conditions Weekly," of New York, recently set out to collect a few of the doleful outcries which former depressions have drawn from discouraged men.

As far back as the time of St. Augustine, 1700 years ago, he finds a writer complaining that agriculture was decaying, purchasing power was dwindling, taxes were soaring, and commerce was collapsing; the conclusion drawn, of course, was that the world was going to the dogs for good.

He finds a distinguished French physician in 1832 voicing similar complaints, lamenting the turmoil and confusion of the times—he had seen a post chaise rattling along at five miles an hour, and he said that "this madness of speed is wearing out men"—and he felt that his newly-born son faced a life which could bring him neither prosperity nor happiness.

He finds an American editor in 1857 describing the "universal commercial prostration and panic" about him, and remarking that "it is a gloomy moment in history . . . never has the future seemed so incalculable."

In 1886 a U. S. official speaks of the depression, doubts that any revival can come up to the level of the preceding 50 years, and concludes plaintively that "the day of large profits is probably past."

It is really worth our while to mull over the dismal Jeremiahs from the past. To be sure, it doesn't make our present problems any less difficult; but it may help us to see that a troubled time such as the present is never quite as dark and hopeless as the people who are living through it often suppose.

Historians 50 years hence will probably find some of our current fears just as quaintly humorous as those of former days seem to us now.

To a man who is seeking a new city in which to live and invest, a lifeless looking city appeals to him in the same encouraging way as would a cemetery.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON
WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—One thing you didn't hear about in this fall's political campaign was the battle of mimeographs between the Republican and Democratic publicity staffs.

The answer to that is that, although the battle raged, it didn't make any difference. Nobody paid any attention.

After 1930, the theory was widely accepted that Mr. Charlie Michelson, the veteran correspondent whom the Democrats had hired—with Mr. Raskob's money—to "smear Hoover" was more than anyone else responsible for the Democratic congressional victory which signaled the complete victory of 1932.

The Republicans, meanwhile, had got themselves an able press agent and for two or three years the thousands of statements that the two press agents hurled at each other were considered a vital new development in politics which assumed almost the importance of the campaigns themselves.

But Mr. Michelson, who is now a close counsellor to Jim Farley and Emil Hurja, took the cream off the political press agenting business, which won't flourish again until the country is ripe for a change.

A POLITICAL press agent is a big success when he rides a winning horse and almost no use at all with a loser.

As the depression deepened and the country turned against Hoover, Democrats had a much easier time cashing in because Mr. Michelson had been so industriously turning out statements of their politicians which could be used in an "I told-you-so" refrain.

Of course, Mr. Roosevelt was really the one who cashed in heartily—on the money of his enemy, Mr. Raskob, and the efforts of his enemy, Mr. Joseph Shouse, who had employed Mr. Michelson.

This year the Republicans hired another able newspaperman, Warren Wheaton, who turned out reams of "hot copy" against the Democrats, who largely contented themselves with mimeographing innumerable inspirational speeches by Farley.

ATTEMPTS to "smear" the Democratic use of federal funds as a campaign chest, to expose Farley's political trickery and the president's greasing of the Guffey campaign in Pennsylvania fell rather flat.

Republicans felt much as Democrats felt in 1924 and 1928 when they tried to stir the voters to wrath against the Coolidge regime by recitations of Teapot Dome and other scandals.

The voters seemed as full of hope in Roosevelt and the New Deal bounties as once they were in Coolidge prosperity. The Republicans had nothing to offer except a good press agent, which was very far from being enough.

If everybody had been looking for a chance to pick on the administration, the press agency would have been a big help. And it's too bad more of the G. O. P. sashberries didn't get into circulation.

The mimeographed saga of Farley and his "dumb stenographers" was as amusing a thing as appeared in a relatively dumb campaign. Some gifted gent dug up and presented a veritable train of attempts by Farley to cover up his bulls—ending up with the Upton Sinclair fiasco—by blaming clerical errors.

'Dusting the Covers of Texas History' for
The Texas Centennial Celebrations of 1936

The road that stretched along the dusty highway leading out of San Luis Potosi in New Spain (Mexico) seemed endless. The journey was not ended, even when the 52 (or 54, as some historians say) men, women and children reached Saltillo. From there they must go to San Juan Bautista on the Rio Grande river, thence to the Mission San Antonio de Valero in the Province of Texas. March 27, 1750, a few more than 50 Canary Islanders waved farewell to kinsmen and home shores, and looked forward with anxiety to reaching the new presidio of San Fernando. They had been saddened at Vera Cruz by the death of one of the party, but that was inevitable anywhere, and they must go on. They were promised good homes, good food, and happiness in the presidio of San Antonio.

Fatigue from travel and the heat, and loneliness had full possession of the travelers when they reached San Juan. With pack animals dying from the heavy loads, it was necessary to leave them, and many supplies brought from the Islands. The company must go on as best they could, hoping to find the good things at the end of the trail. In April, 1751, seven months after leaving Mexico City, the Islanders finally came within sight of the tower of Mission San Antonio de Valero.

All went well in the new presidio until the settlers tried to get their horses and supplies from San Juan. They invoked the disfavor of the Viceroy, and he forbade them to set foot outside the colony. They became virtual slaves, but the villa flourished under the strict discipline. Indians and Spaniards came in, and the villa became a permanent settlement.

The original villa disappeared long ago among the tall buildings of the present town of San Antonio. In 1936, those who celebrate Texas' Centennial will remember that brown adobe huts inhabited by lonely folk from the Canary Islands were the beginnings of the city and of a state.

Depression, according to medical scientists, is caused by a lack of magnetism. That being the medical term, probably, for money.

Eugene Everett Boston, 52, died Sunday morning at Harris sanitarium, Fort Worth, following an illness of two years' duration. Funeral services were held at the residence Monday afternoon conducted by Rev. W. H. Rucker, pastor of Strawn Baptist church, and Rev. W. E. Anderson, pastor of the Methodist church here. Burial was in the Thurber cemetery. Mr.

Boston was born in Missouri on Sept. 17, 1882, coming to Texas in early manhood. He was married to Miss Grace Abbott in 1910. To this union three children were born, Flogene, Ernestine and Charles. Ernestine preceded her father in death. Survivors other than his wife and children are his father, A. L. Boston of San Angelo; two sisters, Mrs. Hall of Dallas, Mrs. Tullie of Cleburne; two brothers, Tom Boston of Stamford and Jack Boston of Angleton. For a number of years he was employed by the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company and was honored and respected by everyone who knew him.

The ladies of the Methodist W. M. S. held a business meeting and social at the home of Mrs. C. H. Martin last Tuesday afternoon. After the business meeting a pleasant social hour was enjoyed. Cake and punch was served to Misses W. M. Brown, H. L. Foster, Ben Robinson, Will Eyley, O. C. Callaway, H. M. Brown, Will Oyler, Miss Lavada Fenner, and the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Bridges had as recent visitors Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Bridges and daughter of Graham and Oren Bridges of Bradford.

Joe Bailey Callaway of Fort Worth spent the week-end with homefolks.

The Epworth league meeting was held at the church Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The leader, W. C. Bridges, gave an interesting talk on "What is the Christian Church." All of the young people are invited to attend these meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Willett of Fort Worth spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Minnie Hale. Rev. W. E. Anderson had as visitors Friday Newton Anderson and family of Pioneer and Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Jacobs of Rising Star.

Mrs. Sharp and children and Miss Estelle Hammit attended trades day at Strawn Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Masters of Spokane, Wash., visited several days with Mrs. Maggie Masters.

M. M. Miller is on the sick list this week.

Rev. W. E. Anderson attended the annual Central Texas conference at Fort Worth this week. He will go to Abilene Wednesday to attend Northwest Texas conference.

OLDEN

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Munn and daughters, Erlene, Unita and Pat, spent Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. Maxwell in Gatesville, returning to their home in Olden late Sunday night.

Robert Crawford, who was quite a last week, is able to be up and going now.

Little Billie Crone has been quite with chickenpox but is much improved at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Crawford's children have been ill with chickenpox.

Mrs. J. H. Munn, Mrs. James and Mrs. C. B. Croft went to Desdemona Tuesday, Nov. 13, to attend the Baptist workers' conference.

Joey Adams celebrated her sixteenth birthday Sunday, Nov. 11, and was born on Nov. 11, 1918, 11 minutes after 11 o'clock, the day the armistice was signed. A small, informal party was given at Saturday night in her honor at her home. Bridge, "hearts" and other games were played. At 9:30 a group enjoyed refreshments in the dining room. The table was prettily arranged in crystal glassware and a centerpiece of roses and chrysanthemums. Sandwiches, chocolate, fruit salad and birthday cake were served. Those present were Misses Eloise Morton, Therine Stanton, Mary Ford and an Adams, and Meses. Cordell, Baldrige Crawford, and an Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude LeClaire and daughters, Eula Mae and Christine, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Sam Newcomb to Fort Griffin Saturday, where they visited Newcomb's brother, Mr. Art Newcomb.

A large number of Olden football fans attended both the East and Ranger games Saturday and Monday.

Mrs. E. B. Miller left the first week for her home in Baton Rouge, La., following an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and L. Russell here.

Howell has purchased a tract in northwest Olden, which was originally part of the Harris survey.

Mrs. T. M. Maxwell received an announcement from Mr. and Mrs. George Belcher in Oklahehoma City the arrival of a baby son to them there last week. Mr. and Mrs. Belcher formerly lived in Atland where they managed the Amlee theatre and have many friends here who wish to extend their heartiest congratulations upon the arrival of their son.

The general election in this county was held last Tuesday, Nov. 14, and 54 voters exercised their right to vote although almost 200 were eligible through poll tax payment or exemption.

Olden school now is equipped with each room with radio loud speakers. The radio room is completely equipped and has facilities whereby any one or all of the rooms may be tuned in or out, thereby permitting those programs of educational merit to be heard in the grades to which they are best fitted. The large radio was donated to the school by A. H. Henderson, superintendent of the Magnolia Petroleum company here.

And while we are on that subject, Olden owes a vote of thanks to Mr. Henderson and the company who represents for the lights at the quiet ground which are furnished free. Many people here enjoy croquet games each night and greatly appreciate the adequate lights which were made possible by Mr. Henderson.

Mae Edna Ward celebrated her thirteenth birthday Sunday, Nov. 11. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ward and a talented little violinist.

Jack Stephens visited his mother, Mrs. Will Stephens, in Stephenville Saturday.

Miss Maxine Francis of Eastland, teacher of tap, ballet and acrobatic dancing, was in Olden last week to give a class in dancing, which to meet every Friday at the den hotel.

A. E. Abbott of Austin was an old business visitor Thursday of last week.

Preserving the peace by means arms may be possible in some quarters, but whoever heard of preserving anything in gunpowder?

WATCH KIDNEYS
THE SAME AS BOWELS

Look Out Your 70,000 Feet of Kidney Tubes
Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestine, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 times as much. If you have a kidney trouble, you have 70,000 feet of kidney tubes to worry about. It is just as important to watch a kidney as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are Nature's chief organs of excretion. They filter out of the blood all the waste and poisonous matter that enters the body. If you pass less than this amount, your 70,000 feet of kidney tubes are clogged with poisonous waste. This is the danger signal and may be the beginning of a kidney trouble. You may feel pain, loss of energy, backache, leg pains, loss of sleep and vitality, getting up at night, lumpy, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatism, and other ailments.

Kidneys should be watched closely and cleaned out at least once a week. Ask your doctor for DOAN'S PILLS, an old-fashioned, reliable kidney medicine. It is used by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief that is permanent. It is the only medicine that cleans out the "dross" or "sludge" from the kidneys. WHAT the sauce for the pudding varies so greatly according to the pudding itself that I can't help feeling the beginning of the hot dessert season to be an appropriate time for a piece on the whole subject.

The mission of sauce is to enhance and supply any lacks in the pudding. It follows then, that a baked pudding with a tendency to dryness should be served with a liquid garnish. Standard cream is an excellent liquid sauce of moderate richness that is suitable for puddings of pronounced flavor. Cooked sauces thickened with eggs supply food value and are usually served with chilled desserts.

Hard sauce, that rich concoction made of creamed butter and either white or brown sugar, is good with hot puddings if they are not too rich. "Nun's Butter" is a form of hard sauce, less rich and heavy because less butter is used and cream is added for fluffiness.

Rich sweet puddings are best served with liquid sauces and a little whipped cream.

Flavorings should be added to hot sauces after they are thoroughly cooked and just before serving so that none of the taste is lost.

Remember, too, that the rule for thorough cooking of starches holds good in pudding sauces. If a sauce is thickened with flour or cornstarch, it must be well cooked to make it palatable and digestible.

Lemon Sauce
This is good with hot puddings

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: figs, cereal, cream, toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Scalloped macaroni and oysters, celery, graham-baked apples with cream, milk, tea.
DINNER: Steamed fish with parsley sauce, eggplant, baked grapefruit and cranberry, Cumberland pudding, hard sauce, milk, coffee.

of cake-like consistency a cup of pudding. Two cups granulated tablespoon cornstarch, 1 boiling water, 2 tablespoons lemon, few grains of salt. Mix sugar and cornstarch boiling water slowly, stir constantly. Bring to the boil and stir and cook for five minutes. Remove from fire. Add egg well beaten over hot water until foam move from heat and beat until. Serve at once.

Foamy Sauce
This always is good steamed puddings. One-half cup butter, 1 dredged sugar, 1 egg, 1 vanilla. Cream butter in top of boiler over warm water, add sugar, beating lightly. Add egg well beaten over hot water until foam move from heat and beat until. Serve at once.

HELPS WHOLE FAMILIES

Attention, MOTHERS, to what every doctor knows to be a fact, and what they say to avoid

If you have children who are occasionally constipated, you should know this.

If you are "not yourself" because of a constipated condition, don't blame it on your blood condition, or your age, but first try this treatment that safely relieves sluggishness in children or adults.

The Proper Treatment
You can't safely relieve the bowels with any medicine if you can't regulate the dose. To regulate dosage, you should have a liquid laxative. When necessary to repeat, you can gradually reduce the dose. And that is the secret of safe relief from a sluggish, constipated condition at any age.

A liquid laxative can be measured. Its action can be thus controlled. If properly made, of such natural laxative elements as senna and cascara, it forms no habit—even in the youngest child. And such a laxative will help the bowels to help themselves.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative containing

BE CAREFUL

- IF any laxative is dipetic (makes you thirsty).
- IF it affects your appetite.
- IF you need more today than the first time you took it.
- IF it drains the system (by too watery a movement).
- IF a bad "burning" is felt.
- IF there is severe griping.

herbs, active senna, and cascara, and is the one widely used. You can always obtain it at any drug store. Why not make the "liquid test" which has attracted so much attention of late? It helps nearly everyone who tries it. It may make you feel better overnight. The children will like it, too; Syrup Pepsin has a delightful taste.

If you will risk sixty cents to discover the safe, pleasant action of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, we believe bowel worries will be over for your household.

Selected Men, Trained and Supervised to Give You Service That You'll Like

Many Humble customers have commented on the uniformity of Humble service at all Humble Service Stations, from Dallas to Brownsville and from Marshall to Midland. Such uniformity is not an accident; it comes about through the selection of good men, uniform training and constant supervision. Humble station men go to schools for theory; home study supplements class work and Humble Service Station supervisors finish these service lessons with practical, driveway demonstrations. Frequent inspections keep all Humble men on their toes. So, wherever you travel in Texas, you find the same kind of Humble service: spotless restrooms; clean driveways; polished bright-work; ice water; free air and battery water; first aid kits and fire extinguishers; prompt, courteous, helpful attention.

We make no advertising claims for the Humble products you will find at Humble Service Stations. But we promise this: You will always find Humble products second to none. Humble Motor Fuel and Humble 397 Motor Oil have received the unqualified approval of literally thousands of users all over Texas. Test these two products in your own automobile; experience tells us that you'll come back for more. Other consumer-tested Humble products at Humble Service Stations include: Esso, the world's leading premium fuel, more powerful than any gasoline; Velvet Motor Oil, a first class, medium price product; special lubricants of all kinds; and a full line of petroleum specialties—Humble Household Lubricant; Humble Cedar Oil Polish; Flit and Flit Lotion; Humble Flashlike Lighter Fluid; Trim and Nu-Trim; Tri-Rad Radiator Rust Preventive, Radiator Stop-Leak, and Anti-Freeze; Extane Cleaner and Extane Spot Remover. College Freshmen Make Prize 'Boners'

By United Press
FORT WORTH.—First year students at Texas Christian university here have added some new slants on word meanings.
 Prize "boners" by freshmen have been listed by English instructors.
 "One student, impressed with the school song at a football game, wrote in a theme: "And we all stood and sang the Armada."
 A freshman penned this one: "I was so tired I went to my room and there sank in the arms of metamorphosis."
 Other boners were:
 "An aluminate is an ex-student."
 "A hobby is a boy friend."
 "Girls are known as fair sex."
 "Homily means not exactly beautiful."
 "A gargyle is a throat rinse."

WHO WAS FIRST? IN AMERICA

By Joseph Nathan Kane
 Author of "Famous First Facts"

DR. ZARDEL BOYLSTON PERFORMED FIRST VACCINATION AGAINST SMALLPOX, 1721.

FIRST RAILROAD APPRENTICE SCHOOL ESTABLISHED AT ELKHART, INDIANA, 1872.

MANILA PAPER FIRST MANUFACTURED AT SOUTH BRAintree, MASS., 1843.

DR. BOYLSTON vaccinated his 6-year-old son and two negro servants, after which the idea of inoculation was spread largely through the efforts of Cotton Mather. The New York Central Railroad set up its school to train mechanics for railroad purposes. J. M. and L. Hollingsworth manufactured the first Manila paper from hemp sails, canvas, and rope.

RELIGIOUS SERVICE FIRST BROADCAST BY RADIO JAN. 2, 1921.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS FOUNDED IN WASHINGTON, D.C., FEB. 19, 1864.

ELIZABETH PEABODY STARTED FIRST ENGLISH SPEAKING KINDERGARTEN.

THE Calvary Episcopal Church of Pittsburgh, Pa., over a local station, inaugurated radio broadcasting of religious services. Justus Henry Rathbone and four associates organized the K. of P. brotherhood which was founded on the classical story of Damon and Pythias. Opened in Boston, Mass., in 1868, Miss Peabody's English-speaking kindergarten was operated under the Froebel system of education as used in Germany.

PETER PELHAM WAS FIRST ENGRAVER.

FIRST WINDOW ENVELOPE PATENTED BY THOMAS CALLAHAN, 1902.

FIRST ESCALATOR MANUFACTURED IN NEW YORK CITY IN 1900.

Pelham was first engraver of record to practice his art in the American colonies. In 1727 he produced the first mezzotint engraving, a picture of Cotton Mather. Patented on June 19, 1902, the outlook or window envelope was first manufactured in July of the same year by the U. S. Envelope Co., of Springfield, Mass. The first escalator, manufactured by the Otis Elevator Co., was exhibited at the Paris Exposition, then installed in a Philadelphia department store.

CROW MOTHERED CHICKENS
By United Press
BLOOMSBURG, Pa.—Norman Shelter, of Alameda, near here, has a tame crow which has been taught to watch over a flock of chickens. The crow has been mothering the chickens since they were young, carrying food to them and putting it through a wire fence. When the chickens are allowed freedom the crow keeps them in the yard and away from the road.

Only a few more days to Thanksgiving, and the republicans haven't found anything yet to be thankful for.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 When CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for the Blade, is found dead DAN BLEEKER, publisher, employs SIDNEY GRIFF, famous criminologist, to solve the murder. Morden had been investigating the affairs of FRANK B. CATHAY, wealthy and prominent, following the arrest of an impostor claiming to be Cathay and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIGGS.

The day following Morden's death Cathay dies of poisoning. Griff learns Morden had visited the apartment of ALICE LORTON, secretary and unemployed. He confronts Alice with KENNETH BOONE, accuses the pair of killing Morden, and they are arrested. MRS. BLANCHETTE MALONE, the widow of MORDEN, and CHARLES FISHER, detective in her employ, have been searching, is located but refuses to talk.

Griff and Bleeker go to the house where Mary Briggs, now known as Stella Morkley, is staying. They find CHARLES FISHER, Cathay's lawyer, there. Fisher questions the girl.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVII

FISHER'S voice rose belligerently. "Go on!" he said. "Come clean—who was that friend?"

"All I know," the girl said, "is that it was someone who was called Frank."

"You're lying," Fisher told her. "You know more than that. Who was that friend?"

"Just Frank."

He refused to meet those of the attorney.

"Who was that . . . that . . . friend?" Fisher said with slow insistence.

She raised her eyes to his, said desperately, "I can tell you this much, but he told me that he'd find me and kill me if I ever told anyone."

"Never mind that," Fisher said. "What is it you're going to tell me?"

"I can tell you," she said, "that Frank lived at Riverview."

"That he lived in Riverview?"

"Yes."

"How do you know?"

"Because of the telephone calls."

"What telephone calls?"

"A telephone call that the man put through from my room here in the hotel."

"When did he put it through?"

"Just last night."

"And he called this person in Riverview?"

"Yes."

"Do you know the number?"

"Yes," she said in a voice that was almost inaudible.

"What was that number?"

"The number," she said, "was the number of Mr. Cathay's residence. I took occasion to look it up in the book. Then after I found it out I got frightened. I thought that perhaps it was something that was a lot more serious than I had at first thought. I didn't know what to do. I was commencing to get suspicious of this man."

"He didn't continue to go under the name of Cathay after you found out about the impersonation?" Fisher asked.

"No," she said in a weak voice. "What was his name?"

"Malone," she said.

"His first name?"

"Pete."

"Who else did he call besides Frank? Did he seem to have any other person here in the city that he was reporting to?"

"Yes."

"Who was it?"

"A woman."

"Who was the woman?"

"I think," she said, "it was his wife."

"What was her first name?"

"Her first name was Blanche."

She gave a slight, dropped forward in the chair and put her hands to her face.

The lawyer continued his aggressive cross-examination.

"Where did this woman live?" he asked.

"I don't know," she said.

"None of that," he told her, "or it's going to be just too bad."

She dropped her hands from her face, jumped to her feet, screamed at him. "I don't know! I don't know! I don't know! I tell you I don't know! Don't you stand there and tell me I lie!"

Fisher stepped forward, put a heavy hand on her shoulder, pushed her back into the chair.

"Sit down," he said, "and tell me where this woman lives."

The girl pressed her lips together in stony silence.

"Go on," the lawyer said. "I'm waiting."

"I told you I don't know," she said doggedly.

"You're either going to tell us where that woman lives," said Fisher, "or you're going to go to jail."

"I think," Bleeker interrupted, "we may be able to . . ."

Griff whirled and clamped his hand on the publisher's arm.

"Keep out of it," he said.

"Go on," Fisher said, staring steadily at Stella Morkley. "You've got your chance—either take it or leave it."

"I've already told you," she said. "I don't know."

Fisher strode across the room to the telephone, jerked the receiver off the hook with an air of brisk finality.

"I want," he said, "to talk with police headquarters."

The girl gave a half scream, stared at him with eyes that were wide and round.

"Out on Elm street," she said. "222 East Elm street."

The attorney spoke suavely into the telephone.

"Never mind," he said. "I wanted to try and find out about a porking tag I received, but I guess I had better call in person."

He dropped the receiver back on its hook and turned to the girl.

"That's better," he said. "Now I want you to understand one thing. If you hold out on me on anything—I don't care how little it is or how trivial it is—you're going to go right to jail. Do you understand that?"

"Yes," she said, "I do now."

"I want to know," he told her, "who this Peter Malone talked with in the Cathay residence?"

"With Frank Bliss, the chauffeur," she said.

"Was there any conversation about medicine or sickness or poison?"

"No," she said. "They talked about things that you couldn't understand. Pete would say, 'Did you do what I suggested, Frank?' and then Frank would evidently say 'yes or no' and Pete would say 'Where's the party we were talking about yesterday?' and Frank would make some reply, and then Pete would say 'Do you think that any suspicion has been aroused?' or something like that. The conversations were just like that. I'm not trying to tell you exactly what they were because I can't remember, but it was something like that—things that no one could understand that had been listening in."

Fisher scowled at her moodily.

"I'm wondering if you're telling the truth about that," he said.

"Yes," she said in a tone of voice that indicated all of the resistance had left her. "I'm telling you the truth about everything now. It doesn't stand to reason that they'd be on their secrets. I've done my part of it. Now it's up to you to do yours, or something like that and then he packed his suitcase."

"Now, did these telephone calls take place from your room here?" Fisher asked.

"Some of them did."

"How about the others?"

"They were from other places. Pete didn't seem to want to call from any one telephone too much. We'd be out to dinner in restaurants and he'd put in calls from the restaurants. Or sometime he'd stop in drug stores and put through the calls."

"Are you holding out anything on us?" asked Fisher. "Is there anything else that you know that you haven't told us?"

"I've told you every single thing," she said, raising her eyes mournfully, "and when Pete finds it out he's going to kill me."

"Evidently," Fisher said, "you think that this man, Pete, wouldn't stop at murder to get what he wanted?"

"He wouldn't stop at anything," she said.

"Why did you keep on with him?"

"I don't know," she said. "There was some fascination that he had for me. I don't know what it was. Something that pulled me to him. It was an attraction at first and after that it was fear."

(To Be Continued)

A $50 check takes on sudden importance in the murder mystery in the next installment.

Honest Man Is Found In Dallas

By United Press
DALLAS.—Roy Jordan of Greenville is convinced that there is at least one honest man in Dallas.

While on a visit here recently, Jordan lost a purse containing $410. He inserted an ad in a paper, but had little hopes of ever seeing his money again.

He failed, however, to reckon with the honesty of J. E. Easley. A little more than a year later, city water department employee, who found the money. Easley made a report to the district attorney who saw that the money was returned.

 Easley was given a $30 reward.

Texas Boasts of Her Earthquakes

By United Press
AUSTIN.—Texas does not hide her earthquakes—she boasts of them. Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the bureau of economic geology, University of Texas, has issued a bulletin on them.

There have been four in the past 10 years. On July 30, 1925, one centered about Amarillo. It was felt over the Texas Panhandle and in parts of Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

Aug. 16, 1926, a "severe" quake occurred at Valentine. Considerable damage was done there. Small earthquakes were felt locally at Mexia, April 9, 1932, and at Paris, Texas, on April 11, 1934.

Do Not Bother With Truants

By United Press
ST. LOUIS.—Truant officers no longer are concerned with seeing that children attend school, according to William L. Bodine, of the National League of Compulsory Education. "Their chief duties now," he explained, "are combating influence of liquor peddlers, obscene picture salesmen and distributors of salacious literature."

The New WATERLESS WAY

While the New Utility Cooker brings to you the possibilities of enjoying old-fashioned meals in addition, it permits you to prepare foods by the newer methods of cooking without water.

However, after we have cooked our foods we have poured off the excess water and with it we have poured the bone-forming, teeth-building minerals; the iron, calcium and phosphorus that constitute the essential elements which the human system must have. With the new perfected Utility Cooker you can prepare foods deliciously tender and full of these health-building elements. The Utility Cooker is ideal for the housewife who wishes to practice this modern, more healthful and more economical way of cooking.

Science has discovered that there is so much natural moisture in all meats, vegetables and fruits that it is entirely feasible to cook them with little or no water.

About the only reason why we have cooked with water was to avoid burning. Water distributes the heat evenly, conducting it away from the point nearest the fire.

Pretty Compliment Honors Birthday

Every day rounding out a calendar of 365 days in a year, means happiness for someone, yesterday marking the month of November as the fourteenth day, Miss Offie Ware, popular Ranger girl, was tendered a delightful surprise in the form of a perfectly planned birthday party given in the colonial room of the Gholson hotel at 8 o'clock, with Webb Grubbs, host, and pleasingly assisted by Miss Winnifred Dunkle as hostess.

The entire room had been transformed into setting which sounded color notes of orange and gold. At intervals about the colorfully clad ballroom stood baskets and floor vases filled with pretty shaggy-headed chrysanthemums. The profusion of blossoms, the sole floral note, were quite effective, nestled in their own leafy foliage.

Diversion, bridge and "42," was played at tables appointed in complete accessories, the two-tone motif faintly repeated. At close of play Mrs. Morris Bendis was winner of high score in bridge, for staffles and P. E. Moore, high for men. Mrs. A. J. Lowe won the cut.

Just after an array of lovely gifts had been presented the honoree, who was charmingly frocked in a black dinner gown, and wore a shower corsage of dahlias intermingled with tiny clusters of daisy chrysanthemums, which elung to the streamers of satin ribbon with sea-clips, a white cake inscribed with greetings brought the climax to the perfect surprise affair.

Delicious refreshments were served the honoree, Miss Ware, and guests, Messrs. and Meses. P. E. Moore, C. A. Smith, A. J. Lowe, T. O. Rawls, E. M. Glander, Morris Bendis, Homer Hodges, Clyde Davis, Frank Markwood, Jimmie Gray, J. N. McFatter, F. E. Langston, J. S. Reynolds, Charles Surbrook, O. E. Denney; Mrs. H. Bearden, Miss E. Maffett, E. G. Pirkle, Miss Frances Higginbotham, Miss Agnes Higginbotham, Mrs. Mammie Ruth Hamrick, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Urhan, Mr. and Mrs. John Hassen, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Pughall, Mrs. John Barnes, Mrs. Myrtle Smith. Present from Eastland were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brasher, Mrs. F. Grubbs, Mrs. G. Webb, and Miss Beatrice Webb.

Honored Rev. D. W. Nichol, pastor of the Church of Christ, of this place, was paid honor last night as the prayer service was drawn to a close, when the membership of the church presented to him a number of personal gifts in recognition of his birthday.

The interesting Bible lesson was led during the hour by J. G. Kim, who has long been a member of the Ranger church. Rounding out the hour, one very pleasant, serving of the Bible class served cake and coffee to the pastor and family, together with a group of some 64 persons.

W. M. S. to Observe Clean-Up Day

The Women's Missionary society of the First Baptist church will observe clean-up day Friday. This campaign comes as an annual event and every woman of the church is urged to take part in the day's program of work.

Mrs. J. G. McGee will serve as chairman of the auditorium, while Mrs. Lee Mitchell is chairman of the balcony. Mrs. H. D. Satterwhite will be in charge of the junior department, and Mrs. W. M. Wheeler will supervise the kitchen. Women may choose their particular departments and are asked to get in touch with the above chairmen.

It is also announced at this time the car will be in Ranger Friday to pick up the donations from this church to be carried to Buckner Orphan's home, at Dallas. This an annual project sponsored by the church comes as the Thanksgiving gift. Those yet not having made their donations are urged to get in touch with Mrs. Bob Hodges or other members of the W. M. S.

Woodman Circle Interesting Session Members of the Julia Alexander Grove No. 1954, Woodman Circle chapter, gathered at the hall Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock and spent the day in quilting and drill practice.

Time was taken at the noon hour for the serving of a covered dish luncheon.

Mrs. Ruby Greer, guardian, presided at the regular budget period. Business new and old was given discussion.

Mrs. C. C. Cash, captain of the team put the members through a complete test, and much was accomplished during the hour.

The penny cash prize, won by Mrs. L. C. Keel, was furnished by Mrs. Cash.

The captain wishes the members those present and those who were unable to be present to keep in mind that practice is to be held each Friday afternoon at exactly 2 o'clock.

Those present were Meses. Greer, Sallie Lee, Luetta Bray, Lula Lyons, Hazel Smoot, Lattie Lester, Minnie Shields, Bonnie Keeler, Mammie Limbacker, Exa Niver, Fresh Fowler of Mineral Wells, Melba Dooley, Claude Barney Christine Yerton, Verna Ringold Agnes Keener, Alta Norris, Viola Cash, Ona Keel, and Laverne Howard.

Resting Well Clayton Glenn, employe of the Lone Star Gasoline company, is resting well at the West Texas Clinic and Hospital, following an operation performed yesterday morning for removal of appendix.

Year-Books Presented Club Personnel Special interest was manifested at the meeting of Child Study Association No. 1, Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. John Holmes hostess at her Strawn highway home, when the president, Mrs. Joe Thompson, presented the club personnel with the lovely year-books carrying the club colors, blue and gold.

After the books had been carefully inspected the lesson offering the subject, "The Home Start," was presented under the able arrangement of Mrs. W. W. Jarvis Jr., whose talent as a reader added greatly to the manner in which she conveyed the summarized points.

New business matters were discussed during the business session including the election of a delegate and alternate to the state convention of Texas Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations which convenes at Corpus Christi, this coming week. Mrs. Edwin George Jr. will serve as delegate while Mrs. Jewel Summers will accompany her as alternate. According to present plans they are scheduled to leave Ranger Sunday morning.

Refreshments of sandwiches, nice meat pie with cheese and coffee were served Meses. O. E. Lanier, Edwin George Jr., E. E. Martin, E. L. Fontaine, W. W.

Marriage Not Bliss For Some Women

DALLAS, Nov. 13.—Marriage may be bliss for thousands of people, but it is stark tragedy for 1,600 women in Dallas county.

That is the number of wives in the county who have been deserted by their husbands. They were left to provide for 2,200 children, although often the mothers themselves have no means of support, according to Miss Mildred Douglas, legal advisor for the city of Dallas.

A great boon, Miss Douglas believes, would be the creation of a special domestic relations court, not attached with any other court, which would have as its sole duty the looking after of unfortunate families which have been deserted by unfaithful husbands.

Such a court would be cheaper, she believes, and would do much to bring order and some measure of justice to this neglected field.

Rangers to Face Stiff Competition In Game This Week

Ranger Junior College's Rangers will meet some mighty stiff competition when they take on the N. T. A. C. aggregation next Saturday at Lillard field, as N. T. A. C. has defeated some mighty good teams this season and has a record that many a senior college would like to have.

N. T. A. C. has scored 145 points in the eight games played to date, while on the defense they have looked strong, too, allowing but 28 points, 12 of the points being made by Wesley, nine by Paris and seven by A. & L.

Ranger Record for the season table with columns for teams and points scored/allowed.

The Rangers, on the other hand, have accounted but for 22 points in their five games, while their opponents have scored 74 in the same number of games.

The Ranger record for the season reads as follows: Rangers 7-Ablene C. C. Frosh 0; 2-Schwimer 0; 3-Decatur 0; 4-Weatherford 13; 2-T. M. C. 10; 22-145. A good game is anticipated, however, as the Rangers have strengthened their defense considerably by some changes in the line, and the backfield is now working smoother than ever before.

ANTIQUE COLLECTION

ALFRED, Mo.—York county jail has one of the most interesting antique collections in Maine. The latest addition is an old pewter teapot from the Sir Ferdinand Georges manor house, oldest house in York. It bears the inscription, "1644, Fer. Gor." and was found by Frank Ellis when he removed an old chimney.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE

HEA Service, Miss Walter? A CHOP dinner doesn't stick to the hackneyed fried meat-baked potato-lettuce salad motif unless you insist.

There are two ways to accomplish interesting dishes without extra strain on the food budget. One is to have a complete assortment of seasonings handy and use them; the other is to try unusual methods of cooking.

A pinch of this and a sprinkle of that works wonders with everyday foods and you don't have to overload with condiments, either. Again, if we see food that usually is served on a platter come to the table in a baking dish, our interest is aroused. Moreover, meat baked with clever seasoning has an entirely different flavor than the same fried or even broiled.

For another variation, serve well-seasoned boiled rice with pork chops instead of potatoes, and parsnips—if you like parsnips.

A crisp salad of cabbage and green pepper and an apple dessert with this cream rounds out a fine pork chop dinner that's different yet offers no expensive, out-of-season foods.

Baked Pork Chops Six pork chops, 2 cups tiny white onions, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, yolks 2 eggs, 1 lemon, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup coarse buttered crumbs.

Apple Rollapola Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons butter or butter substitute, milk, 4 apples, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon butter.

Monday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Halves of grape fruit, cereal, cream, cold-fish balls, Johnny cake, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Stuffed baked peppers, creamed celery, grape juice cookies.

DINNER: Baked pork chops, buttered rice, parsnip patty cakes, cabbage and green pepper salad, apple rollapola, milk, coffee.

lemon juice, parsley, salt and pepper and pour over onions. Cover with chops lightly seasoned with salt and pepper. Sprinkle thickly with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) until well browned and very tender. It will take about 1 hour.

Cut in shortening and when well blended cut in milk to make a soft dough. Roll out to 1-2 inch thickness on a floured board and covered generously with coarsely chopped apples. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon and dot with bits of butter. Roll up like a jelly roll and bake thirty minutes in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.). Cut in slices and serve warm with sugar and cream.

Cow Produces a Third Set of Twins

CLEBURNE, Texas, Nov. 13.—If all cows were as industrious as one belonging to Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Milstead of the Sand Flat community, the government's cattle reduction program would be of little avail.

The cow has just produced her third consecutive set of twin calves. And what is more, five of the calves were heifers.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food doesn't get enough. Our digestive system isn't working. That makes the food decay in the bowels. Well, when we eat too much, our bile doesn't digest it. What the bile does is to help our digestive juices in our body. Unless it gets it, it is flowing from the liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and it is of our food decays in our bowels.

When our friends tell us we had breath that we don't use a mouthwash or take a powder, cut at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the liver to pump bile. But if "something" is ailing you, don't buy it, for it may be a salubrious (merciful) pill, which means death. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you want.
