VOL XVI RANGER, TEXAS, TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 20, 1934 PRICE FIVE CENTS No. 146

Corporation Spending Urged to Aid Recovery

TOY PROJECT FOR RANGER NOW APPROVED

The announcement a few days ago that a toy project could be secured if one was turned in, but that so far no one had attempted to get approval of such a project, has brought a statement from Fire Chief G. A. Murphy of Ranger to the effect that he turned in a project of this character three weeks ago and that approval has been received from Austin.

The toy project will be started in Ranger in the very near future, Murphy stated, and everyone is urged to co-operate in every way possible in order that the tots of Ranger can have a real Christmas, in spite of the financial condition of their parents.

Greens have been asked to save up their empty apple boxes, which can be used in making a large number of toys, and men will be put to work in making toys and repairing old toys.

The Child Welfare club of Ranger has started a drive for broken toys that might be repaired and an appeal has been sent out to every family in Ranger asking that they check over the toys in their homes to see if there are some that might be repaired, repainted or reconditioned in any way. If these toys are left at the fire station, or if a call is made to the fire station or to any member of the Child Welfare club someone will call for them and will deliver them to the fire station, where they will be worked over in time for distribution on Christmas eve.

It was not stated how many men or women would be employed in the project, but it was hoped that enough toys could be secured to supply every child of a needy family in Ranger with playthings for Christmas.

Each year for the past 15 years the firemen of Ranger have worked on this kind of a project, and have repaired hundreds of toys each year and in the 15 years thousands of needy children have been made happy. Under the toy project plan the firemen will have aid in making toys or in repairing those brought in, so that it will be possible, with the co-operation of the people, to cover the needs of the town more thoroughly than ever before.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

We had more than a dozen complaints from the would-be cash customers of the Ranger-Breckenridge game Thanksgiving Day because of the way in which reserved seat ticket sales are handled. The complaint was not particularly against the drug stores for selling the tickets as an accommodation, but an entire new system was urged by all, and since there are that many, maybe there is room for a complaint and need for a change. It was announced by high school officials that the tickets would go on sale this morning at the leading drug stores. This morning it was found, by those who attempted to buy tickets, that reservations had been made for all the choice seats and, though no actual sales had been made, there were no tickets to be had except around the 20 or 30 yard line.

The system advocated by all complainants was, in principle, as follows: Have the seats reserved and then make an announcement, through the columns of the daily paper, that they would go on sale at a specified time, say Tuesday morning, November 20, at 9:00 o'clock.

Then have all the tickets at one place, either the chamber of commerce office or the tax assessors office. Make all sales in cash, with no reservations whatever. Have a board or container built so that the tickets could be put in a rack with divisions to show the separations between the sections, and have the tickets placed in their proper sections and rows before the sale began.

When a customer for any number of tickets came in it would be easy to refer to the board and tell exactly what were left and which seats were sold. The same method is used in theatres where reserved seats are sold and a customer can tell at a glance what part of the house is sold out and where he can secure seats. Of course it is too late for anything to be done about it this year, because practically all the seats for the Breckenridge game, which is the last district game of the year, are sold, but this system could be followed out in the future and everyone would likely be satisfied. If anyone failed to purchase tickets early he would have no one to blame but himself. Next year all district games will likely be played away from home so that it will be 1936 before the system could be inaugurated, if adopted, and by that time everyone will have forgotten the trouble he had in securing seats this year, so it is unlikely that anything will be done about it.

WAR HERO IS HEADING DRIVE ON MOONSHINE

HARRISONBURG, Va., Nov. 20.—A sharpshooter who crawled through the mud of No Man's Land on a special mission, today was the hero of a new battle—the government's drive to crush the Franklin county whisky ring—biggest moonshine conspiracy ever disclosed.

Thomas Bailey, treasury operative and ex-lieutenant of infantry, is leader of the federal force which today was presenting evidence of the conspiracy to a federal grand jury.

Ten witnesses were heard yesterday. About 100 more remain to complete the story of graft and corruption that sent a flood of moonshine liquor pouring down from the mountain wilds.

Tickets For Breck Game Delivered to Drug Stores Today

W. W. Jarvis, registrar of the Ranger High School, announced today that reserved seat tickets for the Ranger-Breckenridge game had been delivered to the drug stores this afternoon. All tickets which are not sold by Wednesday morning will be picked up, Mr. Jarvis said, and a complete check-up made at each of the drug stores. Any tickets which are not called for by that time will be sold at the game on Thanksgiving Day.

Present indications are, however, that no tickets will be left, as each of the three drug stores handling the sales report that the demand is larger than the supply and they expect to have all tickets sold before the end of this week.

Investigation of Relief Expenses Seems Assured

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—An investigation of relief expenditures appeared assured today after a speech by Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, listing specific instances of what he asserted was "shameless waste" in administration of relief funds. Borah, striking hard and going into more details than in any of his previous demands for an inquiry, asked a strict accounting of every dollar spent.

Borah said that in one mid-west city "of perhaps 200,000 population there are 896 administration employes in the central office at a cost of $1,500,000 a year."

Disarmament Is Urged at Meeting

CONSTITUTION REVISION IS BEING URGED

EL PASO, Nov. 20.—The El Paso Herald-Post today called editorially for a new constitution with which to launch Texas on its second hundred years as a state. "A new century, a new constitution was urged as a slogan upon forces favoring the 'junking of the old constitution and the writing of a new one.'"

The newspaper disclaimed credit for the proposal, which it said "has been advocated many years by many prominent Texans."

It was considered by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the paper continued. "Last year at the San Angelo convention it was made a definite part of the W. T. C. C.'s regular working program."

"But nothing has ever been done about it." While the federal constitution has been amended only 21 times in 147 years, the Texas constitution, the Herald-Post pointed out, has been changed 60 times in 58 years.

Addressing the bond club of New York, Shouse emphasized there was no intent to fight the president "tooth and nail." "Whenever possible," he said, explaining he spoke primarily for himself, but in expression of the general views of the league directors, "the league will endeavor to advance and to uphold measures of the administration which is an approve."

NEXT STEP IS PLANNED FOR MOVEMENT

There is also the impetus of co-operation between the white house and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Corporate spending is sought as a shot in the arm measure. It would serve to maintain the moderate business upturn expected now to develop around a good Christmas retail business. The advantages of the corporate spending plan are explained as including: 1. Quick large scale re-employment. 2. Creation of an outlet for durable goods.

CONSOLIDATION IS URGED AT A C. OF C. MEETING

Two important topics were brought before the director of the Chamber of Commerce by Dr. P. M. Kuykendall, president, at a meeting of the board held Monday night. After explaining the object of the meeting Dr. Kuykendall introduced Hall Walker, who has recently returned from Washington, and he, in turn, explained what he found out about the Ranger post-office situation. He outlined what he believed to be the best plan for securing an appropriation for a federal building in Ranger, along the lines outlined by the fourth assistant postmaster general at a conference in Washington.

Ranger at one time had an emergency appropriation made for a postoffice, but the money was transferred to the CCC, along with other postoffice appropriations. After some discussion a committee composed of Hall Walker, C. E. May and F. D. Hicks was named as a permanent postoffice committee, to work out plans and to try to secure an appropriation for a Ranger postoffice. The committee is to report to the directors from time to time on the progress it has made.

Baseball Shows How Human Japanese Are

It is an odd thing that professional baseball players should succeed where statesmen and diplomats have failed.

While Babe Ruth and his all-star crew from the American and National Leagues tour Japan and enjoy a public acclaim, a national friendliness, which is as amazing as it is sincere, the statesmen are looking ahead nervously to the coming "disarmament" conference, wondering how much longer the fabric of world peace will be able to stand the strain which conflicting American and Japanese naval rivalries are putting upon it.

Now it would be perfectly silly, of course, to suppose that because of Japanese enthusiasm for our game of baseball the difficult problems surrounding the clash of opposing national policies are going to be swept away. International mixups aren't straightened out so easily.

And yet there is something about Japan's welcome to the American baseball team which makes a person stop and think a little.

Ordinarily we see the Japanese in the light of their Manchurian adventure, with the shadow of great naval ambitions falling across their shoulders. They become grotesque caricatures symbolizing ruthless and pugnacious greed. Given a little bad luck, we could easily put them in that gallery labeled "the enemy."

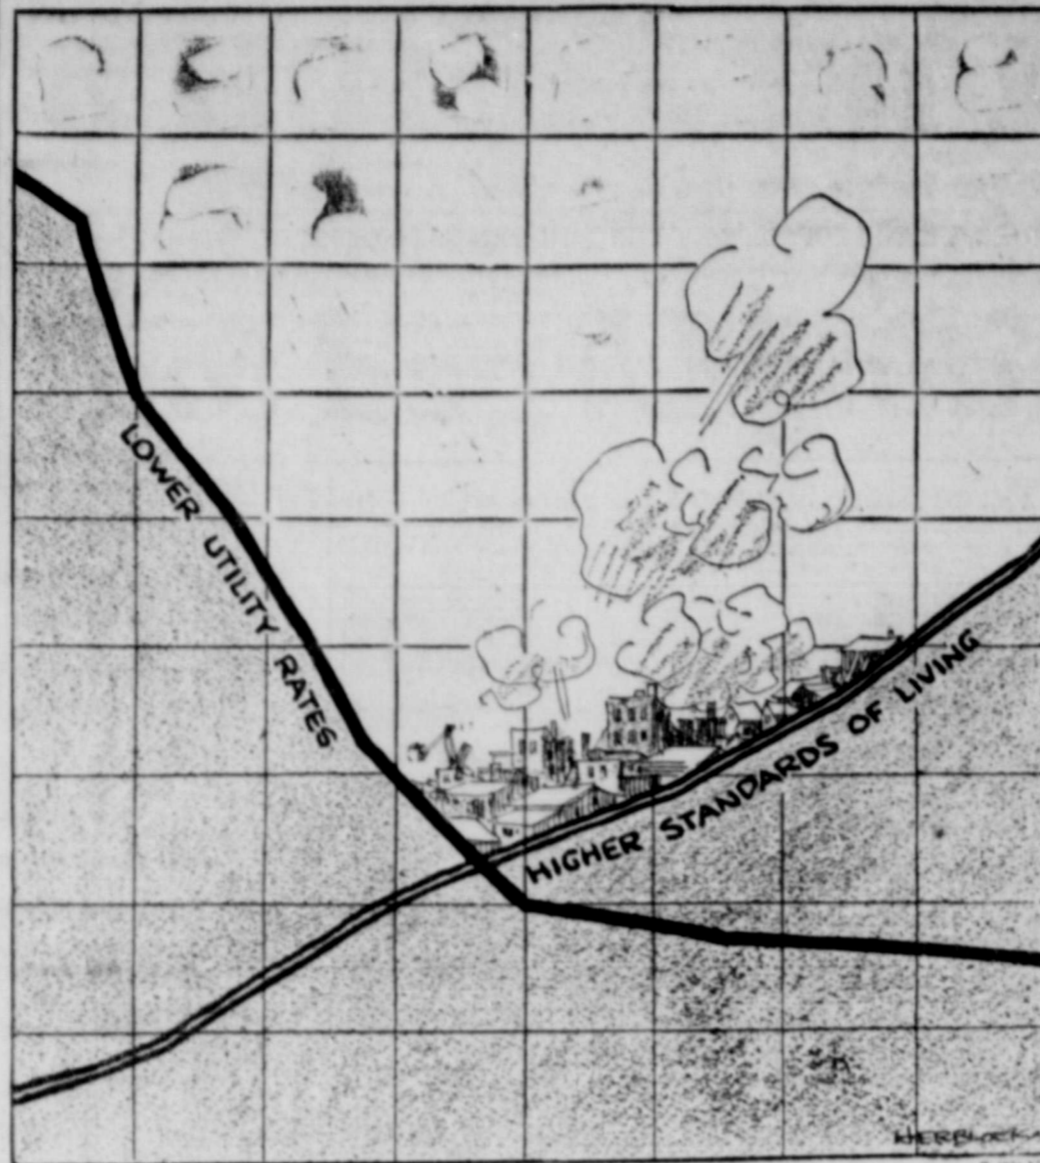

And then we read about this tour of the American baseball team; about 65,000 Japanese turning out to see a single game; about a great popularity contest to choose the 50 most beautiful waitresses in Tokio to wait on the American athletes at the dinner table; about enormous crowds clogging the streets to see and cheer the players—and, in familiar fashion, to ask for autographs.

Reading those things, we suddenly discover: Why, these folk are like ourselves. They like the same things we like; if we got to know them, we could like them first rate, and they could like us.

And that, in turn, is apt to make us wonder whether there really needs to be that mutual suspicion and jealousy which—not to mince words about it—has shoved us a dangerous distance along the road to war. If a handful of professional athletes can give us a vision of international friendship, shouldn't there be some way of translating the vision into reality?

THE TENNESSEE VALLEY

'Dusting the Covers of Texas History'

for The Texas Centennial Celebrations of 1936

San Antonio de Valero was not the only mission founded at the presidio of San Antonio. It was in February, 1720, that Captain Juan Balmes reported to Miguel de Aguayo a site had been selected for a new mission, where the water was taken from the San Antonio river for irrigation of the fields. Three leagues away was Mission Valero.

Indian chiefs, friars, and the entire exploration party claimed possession of the site selected. Weeds were pulled, stones thrown, and branches cut from the hillside, water lifted out of the stream, and sand was sifted through the fingers, all to denote the land and water rights of the company. Besides the land for grazing purposes, the fertile fields, and river, there was ample room for a church and public quarters for the soldiers, a hospital, convent, and cemetery. San Joseph de San Miguel de Aguayo de Buena Vista thus had its beginning. Later it was called simply San Jose.

The Indians who came to inhabit the Mission San Jose were quickly influenced by Spanish culture. Spanish visitors coming to the pueblo were probably surprised to find some of them playing guitars, violins, crude harps, and flutes. They appreciated the beauty and melody of the savages singing in "four voices." Their dances were as skilled and beautiful as the European dances.

While the young women carded and untangled wool, spun, and made blankets and sheets, the old women spent their time fishing in the San Antonio river. For the holy fathers they must get fish—large, delicious fish that would please them. Indian men cultivated the soil, reaped the harvests, and saw that the good things to eat never ran low. Old men made arrows for the soldiers and warriors from the flint rock they found beside the river and up in the hills. Boys and girls attended school, and daily went to their prayers.

Life was peaceful and profitable at the pueblo those days. There was an occasional disturbance, when some Indian slipped off into the woods to join his tribesmen in their native war dances. Punishment was rather severe for such a sin, and it was not often that one dared take the risk of being caught.

The mission proper had not been erected immediately, and after the adobe were built, and the Indians accustomed to living in the pueblo, then steps were taken to build the mission church that remains standing today in San Antonio. Building the church and subsequent civilization at San Jose is another story in the chapter of permanent culture of Texas.

Real Life Saver Is Teaching First Aid

AUSTIN, Tex.—One who really knows whereof he speaks is teaching University of Texas engineering students the science of first aid this year. He is J. B. Hynal, representative of the United States Bureau of Mines, who is credited with saving more than 300 lives in mine disasters, fires, cyclones, floods and rail accidents. Using artificial respiration, oxygen and hard work, Hynal on several occasions has revived persons given up for dead, and his 'tricks' have been used in cases ranging from asthma to electric shock.

BURLINGTON, N. C.—Alamance County grew enough wheat this year, despite crop curtailments, to more than supply its citizens with bread for a year. Funny that Andrew Mellon should be indignant over the government's suit for $2,000,000 back taxes, when most of us would feel highly complimented.

Hospitalization Is Not Available For Relief Clients

A letter has been received by H. E. Driscoll, county administrator, from Adam R. Johnson, state relief director, stating that under provisions of Section 25, House Bill No. 1, hospitalization for relief clients is not available in counties or cities that maintain a city or county hospital...

The letter from Johnson says: "To County Administrators and Case Supervisors: "Section 25, House Bill No. 1 of the legislative act under which the Texas relief division of the state board of control is now functioning reads as follows:

"The board of control is hereby directed to use two and one-half per cent (2 1/2%) or so much thereof as may be necessary, of the proceeds of the Texas relief bonds herein authorized for the payment of hospital services, and such services shall be available to persons who are eligible for relief under the terms of this act, in need of hospital services and who are unable to bear such expense. Provided, however, that the amount authorized to be expended for such purposes shall not exceed two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) per day per patient. Such hospitalization shall be authorized only in cases where special care is essential to the preservation of life and health, and the same cannot be otherwise adequately secured. And provided further, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to cities and counties having, owning or operating county or municipally supported hospitals.

"Beginning on date of receipt of this letter you are not to authorize payment of hospital bills for county residents providing your county owns or operates a hospital, or for residents of any city which owns or operates a hospital in which city residents are not admitted and have no city hospital you may provide hospitalization for persons on your relief rolls where special care is essential to the preservation of life and health.

"You will note that you may not exceed the two dollar and fifty cent ($2.50) per day per patient fee which is the same amount authorized previously, and that you may use two and one-half per cent (2 1/2%) or so much thereof as may be necessary of state funds for hospitalization (no federal funds may be used for hospitalization).

"Yours very truly, (Signed) "ADAM R. JOHNSON, "Director."

Famous Book By Martin Luther Is Owned By Texan

By United Press SAN ANTONIO—While devout adherents over the world were still celebrating the 451st anniversary of Martin Luther's birth recently, there came to light here a rare book written by the noted reformer and giving a graphic account of his personal adventures with the devil.

The book is a first folio of Aischendren, or "Tabletalk" and is one of the two known copies in the United States. It is one of the few copies in existence in the world as most of them were hunted out and destroyed during the counter reformation.

The book is owned by E. Raba, a local photographer and collector who learned from correspondence with Dr. Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard that that institution also possesses a copy of the book. It contains much that is not in William Hazlitt's translation and describes Luther's encounters with frightful devils of Poltergeisten.

In the famous Warburg castle where Luther wrote the first German translation of the Bible, the book describes Luther's experience as follows: "As I traveled away from Worms and was taken prisoner at Eisenach, and conveyed to the Warburg castle in Pathmo, I was in a room far removed from everyone, and no one came to me except two noble lads who daily brought me meat and drink.

"They had purchased a sack of hazelnuts for me, of which I ate daily, and had them locked in a chest. As I went to bed one night, I went into the room, put out the light, and lay down to sleep. Hazelnuts began to strike on the balcony and on the bed, but I did not inquire into the cause.

"Just as I went to sleep again, such a noise was heard on the steps as if one were throwing casks, and although I knew full well that the stairs were guarded with chains and iron, still the cask rolled down.

"I sprang up, went to the stair and looked—then I spoke: "Is it you, so be it, and commended myself to Christ, of whom it is written: Omnia aurescista pedibus eius, and Palm VIII says, and returned to bed. "*That is the best way to drive away the devil; when one calls on Christ and holds the evil one in contempt, he cannot beat it."

Texas Woman May Own Valuable Violin

is now believed to be a genuine Strad. Mrs. Self's father paid $35 for the "fiddle" at the auction and later gave it to his daughter. Not long ago Sam Peacock, owner of a barber shop and one of the best fiddlers in town, saw the violin and offered to swap his shop for it. He was convinced it was a Strad.

Mrs. Self became interested and had a Fort Worth violin dealer look at it. He said it was a fine violin and if not actually a Strad was a very good imitation of one. Mrs. Self has refused all offers for the instrument and has locked it up in a vault until she can find out its true value.

The Claw of the Forgotten Murder

BEGIN HERE TODAY WHEN CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for The Blade, is found lead DAN BLEEKER, publisher, employs SIDNEY GRIFF, famous criminologist, to solve the murder Morden had been investigating. Following the arrest of one important witness, the partner of FRANK B. CATHAY was called and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIDGE.

The day following Morden's death Cathay dies of poisoning. GRIFF leaves Morden and enters the apartment of ALICE LOFTON, pretty and unemployed. He confronts ALICE with KENNETH BOONE, accused the partner of killing Morden, and they are arrested. MRS. BLANCHÉ MALONE, for whom MRS. CATHAY and CHARLES MORDEN, detective in her employ, have been searching is located but refuses to talk.

GRIFF and Bleeker go to the hotel where Mary Bridge, now known as Stella Mockley, is staying. They find CHARLES FISHER, Cathay's lawyer there. The girl tells them the man who impersonated Cathay was PETE MALONE and that he frequently telephoned FRANK B. BLAKE, Cathay's chauffeur.

Fisher leaves in question Mrs. Malone and GRIFF and Bleeker go to the office of EDWARD SHILLINGBY, killed on the night of the impostor's arrest. SHILLINGBY's secretary tells them the man who hired SHILLINGBY in shadow "CIN-CIN" NATE BIRD, LAFFSON, gangster was Cathay.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXI AS the two men climbed into the taxicab Bleeker poured forth sager questions which, for the most part, the criminologist answered in short, terse sentences.

"What was Cathay's interest in Lampton?" "I doubt if he had any."

"Why was he poisoned then?" "He took the dose of poison deliberately," the criminologist remarked.

"Why?" "So that he would have an alibi." "An alibi for what?" "Why, for his whereabouts when Morden was murdered."

"He knew then that Morden was to be murdered?" "Yes."

"But why did he take poison to give himself an alibi?" "He wanted to be ill in bed. He got an overdose of the drug he took."

"You mean it was administered to him purposely?" "Yes."

"By whom?" "That," GRIFF said, "remains to be determined."

"What are your plans?" "We are going to try to prevent another murder."

"Mrs. Malone?" "No."

"Oh, you mean the chauffeur?" "No."

"Who then?" "The young woman, Stella Mockley."

"Why should she be murdered?" "Because she is too dangerous a witness to leave at large."

Personals
 Miss Vonciel Strong resigned today from the junior college dramas play as she is physically unable to be in it after being in a car wreck Sunday.

Mussolini's idea about starting military training at the age of 8 must be that no self-respecting soldier would dare hit a fellow not his size.

L. L. Bruce, the superintendent of the Sunday School, acted as toastmaster who introduced the pastor. The pastor introduced the main speaker, Dr. Taylor, president of Howard Payne College, who is called the second Will Rogers. Dr. Taylor brought a very uplifting message with an underlying current of humor.

Mrs. C. D. Coe, Mrs. Phyllis Rogers and Miss Lockwood rendered a special number in a Negro spiritual which was very entertaining. This occasion was enjoyed by some seventy-five or more workers and guests who expressed their appreciation to Rev. and Mrs. Stephens for a pleasant and enjoyable evening.

Terrible Turk And Austrian Giant Wrestling Winners

Wrestling fans were given a treat last night at the Elks arena when Coach Simmons and the Terrible Turk locked horns in a draw that lasted an hour, each winning one fall. The Turk is some tough bird and kept the referee busy. Coach Simmons was tired at the end of the match but both wrestlers were in fair condition.

Lew Kodrick, the Austrian Giant, and "Horsehoe" McIver, the Fighting Scotchman, were plenty full of thrills, especially when the Scot would attempt to throw the Austrian over his head. It seems this feat is impossible so far as Lew is concerned. They do not throw Lew this way. The bout was a good one, Lew winning both falls in some 35 minutes.

It was announced at the close of the bouts that Gorilla Pogue would meet the Terrible Turk next Monday night in a finish match. The fans expressed themselves as looking forward with much interest to a match of this kind.

The time has been changed to begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

Consolidation—

was brought up and discussed. Everyone present expressed the belief that economies could be effected and the two organizations would be more efficient under one head.

Upon motion of John Hansen it was voted that the chair appoint a committee, to meet with a similar committee from the Retail Merchants association, if that organization was interested in the movement, in order that many of the details of the consolidation could be worked out and the committees report back to their respective boards in the near future.

Dr. Kuykendall withheld appointment of the committee in order that he could give it further consideration before announcing his appointments.

A brief financial statement of the Chamber of Commerce was read to the directors and explained, which showed that though there was not much money taken in during the past year obligations had been met in such a way that with the coming of a new year the organization should be out of debt entirely, and might have a small balance on hand.

Some discussion was heard as to a new location for the office, but this matter was not acted upon as there still remains eight months under the present lease, which expires on July 1, 1935.

Very Much Improved After Taking Cardui
 "I have suffered a great deal from cramping," writes Mrs. W. A. Sewell, Sr., of Waco, Texas. "I would chill and have to go to bed for about three days at a time. I would have a dull, tired, sleepy feeling. A friend told me to try Cardui, thinking it would help me—and it did. I am very much improved and do not spend the time in bed. I certainly can recommend Cardui to other sufferers."

Thousands of women, weary Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

tions for the Brownwood game, so the first to arrive at the field will have the choice of seats.

It has been told around town on a number of occasions that Coach "Jew" Keeling of Brownwood, whose Lions have not made a score this year, has stated that unless they score he would not issue any football sweaters this year.

To some that seems to be a penalty on the players, when it is likely that the coach might be partly to blame. The boys have been playing their best, and if they are unable to score it is not their fault, because they have been trying just as hard as teams that have been winning.

Some have even suggested that, if such is the case, the Bulldogs try to run up a safe score, then, at a given signal, intentionally let the Lions score.

Rut, they may be unnecessary. The Lions may prove a jinx to the Bulldogs, as they have in the past, and it may be necessary for the Bulldogs to do some good work to keep the Lions from actually winning a game. Such a thing has happened before. In 1932 the Lions finished the season with a win in district competition, but tied the pennant winning Bulldogs to keep from being entirely blanked in the district play. Personally we wouldn't be too sure about being able to intentionally let the Lions score, unless it should happen that they are trailing by an overwhelming score. No telling what they would do should they be inspired by their first touchdown of the year.

Personally Speaking
 R. G. Berry of the Gulf camp, who has been seriously ill with flu is reported much improved.

Happy Harrison is confined to his home, Pine street, suffering from an attack of flu.

New Battery Has Design as Modern As Young Beauty Who Adorns Its Top

There is no danger of any short circuit with this combination. This charming young miss is showing how the new "Electro-Pak" automobile storage battery just announced by The B. F. Goodrich Company, Akron, Ohio, can be used as a comfortable seat, should the occasion require one. This is made possible by the hard rubber cover which completely encases the battery. This is the first time any battery has incorporated this feature, which transforms this formerly homely and unimpressive product into a thing of beauty as well as utility, with lines as modern as the young woman here.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can usually get rid of common constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with every meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Jattle Creek.
