PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

Sunday night, in the lobby of the Gholson Hotel, just prior to the banquet in honor of the Ranger Bulldogs, we had a very painful, but necessary duty to perform. We informed Rankin Britt that he might as well turn in his suit and quit practicing because he would be of no use to the Bulldogs in their annual clash with the Breckenridge Buckaroos.

Britt took it like a man when we told him that he was doomed to utter failure and that he might as well turn in his suit and let someone else carry on in his place. The facts set forth by Ritchie concerning Britt, and Anderson, too, for that matter, read as follows, for the first of which we have used before but are repeating, in order that everyone can see how useless it will be for Britt to play in that game.

"Anderson and Britt can be stopped and it is probable that they will have been stopped when the shades of evening begin to fall on Lillard field on Thanksgiving Day."

Then the next day he said: "Of one thing Breck fans are certain, the 200-pound Rankin Britt will not circle the Buckaroo end the way he has in several of the Bulldog games this season."

So anyone can see that if he is going to be stopped, could he will be of little use to the Bulldogs and he might as well let someone else do the job.

Ritchie also admits, modestly, that the Buckaroo ends are better than those of Ranger's Bulldogs. About the ends he says: "At the present time the district's best ends appear to be Collins and Ranger's Mellinger Jacoby. Jacoby is Cudd's better only slightly, however and Cudd has a chance on Thanksgiving Day to nudge the Ranger end of all-district honors. The fight between those two ends should rival for interest that between the quarterbacks, Spud Taylor and Aaron Anderson."

However, according to the dope we heard last night, Spud will no doubt win out. We have it on fairly reliable information that Spud has said that Anderson will not be able to remain in the Breckenridge-Ranger game after the first play. Which, if true, means that Aaron is going to have to do a whole lot of playing in that one play to look as good as Taylor.

Seeking Owner of $100 Bill Bookmark

AUSTIN.—University of Texas library is finding the owner of a $100 bill. It was found between the leaves of a book last year by a federal relief worker.

The book had belonged to the Gilmer estate. Until the Gilmer heirs are heard from Bibliographer E. W. Winkler can do nothing about the bill. Two of the heirs reside in foreign countries.

Dated 1864, the bill was issued from the National Bank of Cincinnati, Ohio. Local bankers say it can be redeemed for $100 in gold. E. Max Mehl, coin collector in Fort Worth, has offered $150 for it.

SEATS ADDED AT FIELD FOR ANNUAL GAME

A change in the seating arrangements at Lillard field was decided upon by the athletic committee Monday morning in order to take care of more reserve seat customers, a total of 116 seats between the 20 and 30-yard lines being added, 108 on each side of the field.

W. W. Jarvis, registrar of the school, issued the following statement after the meeting in order that everyone might know just how the crowd will be handled Thursday afternoon: "In order that the people may understand a change that has been made at the football field, this announcement is made. One hundred eight additional reserve seats will be available in section 9 on the Ranger side of the field and on the Breckenridge side of the field in section 16. These additional tickets are made possible by this arrangement: The bands are to be moved out in front of the pep squad, thereby creating the possibility of selling 108 more tickets in the above sections. This procedure was decided upon this morning by a meeting of the athletic committee at the football field. There has been a great demand for tickets that we have been unable to satisfy, and the committee feels that this will take care of a few of those who have been unable to secure good tickets heretofore."

"These tickets are between the 20 and 27-yard line. These tickets, on the Ranger side, will be sold at the registrar's office, beginning in the morning, Tuesday, at 10:30 to 12, and from 1 to 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. No reservations will be made, but the tickets will be sold for cash to the first callers. "Notice has just come from Breckenridge that all reserved seats on the east side of the field have been sold. The additional 108 tickets to be printed for the Breckenridge side will be sent to that town this afternoon."

"Please note that all tickets at the drug stores will be picked up Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Anyone desiring a ticket at the drug stores must purchase the ticket before that time. "The following changes are being made at the ball park. The pass gate is being moved to the northwest corner of the field. All Ranger general admissions, both adults and students, will purchase a ticket and enter the northeast gate. All Ranger reserve seats will enter the southwest gate. All Breckenridge reserve seats will be honored at the southeast gate. All Breckenridge general admissions, both adults and students, will be honored only at the middle south gate. Signs will be placed above these gates to simplify matters. It is the earnest desire to serve the public with as little friction as possible, and the help of the public is solicited in order that all may enjoy the game. "All seats on the sides of the field are reserved. All general admissions will occupy the end zones."

Mrs. Melmer Coppepeteleis, wife of George Coppepeteleis, proprietor of George's Cafe, died at her home at 3 o'clock Sunday morning after a long illness. BULLDOGS ARE BANQUETED ON SUNDAY NIGHT

The Ranger Bulldogs were given a banquet at the Gholson hotel Sunday night through the courtesy of Wilson Connell, with the cooperation of a number of Ranger fans. The banquet was staged at this time primarily because Wilson Connell had recently returned from a deer hunt with more venison than he knew what to do with, and he donated it toward the big feed.

Dr. Harry A. Logsdon presided as toastmaster and called upon most of the fans and Bulldogs present for short, impromptu talks, the tenor of which were to the effect that the Bulldogs had stiff opposition in their game with Breckenridge, but that if they put out as the fans knew they could they should come out victor in the contest. Connell, when called upon by the toastmaster to tell why he had thought of the banquet at this time, explained that in previous years he had gone deer hunting later in the season, but that this year the Bulldogs seemed to be getting along so well that he went early in order to be back in time for the crucial games.

The Bulldogs who made talks all promised to be giving the best they could in the game here Thursday and that they would win if it was humanly possible for them to do so.

Those who co-operated in helping to make the banquet a success by helping to defray the expenses were Wade Swift, Doss Moats, W. R. Swaney, L. E. Gray, H. J. Stafford, Bill Gorman, E. Northrup, John Kendall, A. N. Larson, Pat Downing, Sidney Smith, Hoyt Agnew, Jack Mooney, W. N. McDonald, Bob Norman, B. E. Garner, George Murphy, Harry Wheldon, Dr. H. A. Logsdon, J. C. Playing Cards For Fun Draws Fine EL PASO.—Fun or no fun, it's against the law to play cards whenever Justice M. V. Ward is around. "That's $14 apiece for playing cards in a public place," the justice said.

MYSTERY OF THREE DEATHS IS UNSOLVED

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 26.—The mystery of three young girls found dead beneath a blanket in the south mountains appeared near solution today with circumstances pointing dramatically to a second tragedy 100 miles away—the death of an unidentified woman near Altoona, Pa.

Paul White, bus driver, identified a photograph of the woman, who apparently was the victim of a murder-suicide pact, as a passenger who rode with three children resembling the girls found dead Saturday, from New York into Harrisburg on Wednesday, Nov. 21. Their tickets, he said, called for transportation to Pittsburgh.

A second bus driver remembered carrying the four passengers along on their journey to Pittsburgh and said he believed they left his bus near Altoona. Labels on the children's coats were traced to New York city.

Another report of the possible wanderings of the family was received from Boston, where it was said a woman and three children purchased steamship passage to New York. This report said, however, that the passage was purchased Wednesday afternoon, which would be in conflict with the bus drivers' stories.

Breck Man Misses Death From Razor By Quarter Inches

BRECKENRIDGE, Nov. 26.—To the thickness of a jugular vein is attributed the reason why her husband lives, Mrs. Edgar Davis said Sunday.

Davis, employe of the Breckenridge post office, was cut across the throat by apparently a razor Saturday. He, after treatment in a Breckenridge hospital, from his bed Sunday, said that the wound was inflicted by one of two men who hopped on his car and ordered him to do as they said. Twelve stitches were taken in his neck.

Davis told the sheriff's department one man hopped on his car as he left the postoffice. He drove toward the new postoffice where another man hopped on the running board. He drove the two to Wheeler street at their orders, where they cut his throat. He was cut in the street after he jumped out, Davis said.

The automobile was found about an hour later near the postoffice. Davis and wife discounted that the injury was inflicted by enemies, as he had none, they said. Some in Breckenridge connect the incident to thieves who robbed the postoffice at Parks Friday.

Tickets Not Sold To Be Taken Up Early Wednesday Announcement was made again Monday morning by W. W. Jarvis, registrar of the Ranger high school, that all tickets for the Breckenridge-Ranger football game Thursday which were sent to the drug stores for sale, and which had not been bought, would be taken up and returned to the high school.

"Tickets which have been reserved, but which have not been actually bought will also be taken up and the reservation lists destroyed." Mr. Jarvis said. After 9 o'clock Wednesday morning all tickets must be purchased for cash at the school and no reservations for tickets will be made over the telephone or in person. An additional 108 tickets have been arranged for each side of the field between the 20 and 27-yard lines, it has been announced, and these will be sold at the registrar's office at the high school beginning on Tuesday morning.

HAMILTON IS THOUGHT TO BE A KIDNAPER

PARIS, Texas, Nov. 26.—Law-enforcement authorities of North Texas were marshaled today to search for two bandits who kidnaped two Paris police officers and fled with their captives.

Several hours after the kidnaping, staged on the streets of Paris early today, the bandits and policemen were reported seen speeding through Pattonville, southeast of here. Local authorities believed one of the bandits may have been Raymond Hamilton, Texas No. 1 desperado, but had no idea as to the identity of his companion.

The bandits seized Policemen R. Mark and Newt Baker when the officers stopped at a Paris filling station to question them. Mark and Baker were disarmed and forced into the back seat of their automobile. The bandits then transferred their weapons from their automobile to the police machine and sped away.

It at first was believed they were headed for Oklahoma, but the Pattonville report led authorities to believe they possibly had "back tracked" and hope to escape into Louisiana.

AGED NEGRO SEEKS FOUR SILVER DOLLARS

RUSK, TEXAS.—For Sampson Willis, 90-year-old negro farmer, there can be no return to normalcy until he once more feels the old-time jingle of four silver dollars in his pockets.

Prior to 1932 Sampson kept this reserve all his life. If the making of change sacrificed it, he rushed to the bank to recover it. When his funds reached this minimum he simply refused to spend until more cash was available.

Two years ago he came back the rocks, the pocket reserve struck to three cents, "which jis can't jingle lak four dollars."

Nebraska Sets Example For Other States

One of the most significant points of the recent election was an event which has drawn relatively little notice—the adoption by Nebraska voters of Senators George W. Norris's plan for a one-chamber state legislature.

It is significant because it is the first real step taken by an American state to bring long-needed reform into the machinery of state government.

In any democracy, the machinery of government is bound to be more or less cumbersome. No legislative body designed to reflect the people's will can function without some lost motion. But it is hard to think of any place where the lost motion is quite as great as in the average American state legislature.

The legislature is patterned after the national Congress—two houses chosen on different representational schemes—operating under a governor whose national counterpart is the president. And because attention usually is focused on the national campaign, on the gubernatorial contest and on the fights for local offices, members of the legislature are usually chosen on a hit-or-miss basis.

What the state legislature may do is extremely important in the life of the citizen. Its actions may affect his business, his taxes, his public institutions far more closely than do the actions of the national congress. Yet it is a safe bet that the average citizen could not tell you the name of half a dozen members of his legislature if his life depended on it.

The thing has got out of his reach. It is clumsy and unwieldy. Selfish interests find it easy to seize and hold an unfair advantage. Small blocs can exercise an influence out of all proportion to their size.

The people of Nebraska have begun a bold reform. Hereafter they will have a small and compact legislative body. Not only will it be able to function much more efficiently than the two-chamber group; it will be possible for the voter to keep in touch with it, to know who is who in it, to interest himself directly in its actions and get the kind of representation in it that he deserves.

We have passed the time in which we could afford to put up with inefficiency and unresponsiveness in a law-making body. The reform which Nebraska has begun might very profitably be examined with great care by the voters in other states.

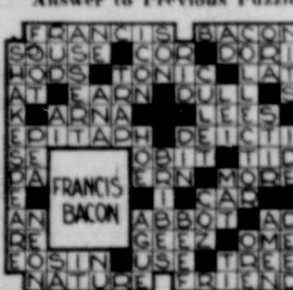

The stores that feature nationally advertised goods are the stores you should patronize. When you buy from stores that advertise their merchandise, you are buying good merchandise.

'No Food, No Music' Is Slogan of Band

AUSTIN—Orange-clad members of the University of Texas band have adopted a "no food, no music" policy concerning out-of-town football trips and have created a dilemma which may require the attention of the board of regents.

For several years the school athletic council has paid the train fares of handmen on trips away from home, but have not favored the idea of bearing any more of the expense. Before the recent T. C. U.-Texas game in Fort Worth the band voted as a unit against making the trip unless the council footed the bill, hotel, food, taxi and all.

Behind the decision was months of argument on which the campus itself was fairly evenly divided. All agreed those who tooted it up for dear old state were entitled to some consideration. Moreover, students thought new uniforms should be furnished. Those now worn are becoming shabby and only 55 suits are available for 110 band members. Texas musicians receive no scholarships or tuition reduction. On the long trips, such as to the Notre Dame game in South Bend, Ind., they traveled on tickets bought by public spirited subscription.

Whether the band or athletic council wins the argument, it is certain that until it is settled, fans must come to Austin to hear the band in action.

Rabbit Choked a Snake to Death

TAYLOR, Tex.—The story of a small rabbit choking a 15-year-old rattlesnake to death was told here by Albert Schram—and he had the evidence to prove that his story was true. In a clump of trees Schram found the skeleton of a six and a half foot snake with 15 rattles. Clinging to the snake's jaw bone was the skeleton of a rabbit. The rabbit, apparently, while being swallowed by the snake, had hooked his teeth into the side of the snake's jaw. The snake couldn't swallow his prey and the rabbit couldn't escape.

CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES!

BUSINESS GIRL. Egg L. Miller says: "I started to smoke Camels because I appreciate mildness and delicacy of flavor. Camels give me a 'lift' when my energy is low. They never upset my nerves."

HOCKEY STAR. "Bill" Cook, New York Rangers star, says: "I smoke only Camels. They have a taste that sure hits the spot! I smoke all I want and find that Camels never get on my nerves or tire my taste."

GIRL EXPLORER. Mrs. William LaVerre says: "Any time I'm tired I just stop and smoke a Camel. It wakes up my energy in no time. And smoking Camels steadily, I find, does not affect one's nerves."

CARTOONIST. Chas. Day says: "I often work 10-11-12 hours at a stretch and am smoking Camels all the time. They help to increase my 'pep' when I feel tired or glum, and Camels never upset my nerves."

23 Foreign Powers Will Take Part In Pacific Exposition

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Twenty-three foreign powers today pledged their participation in the California Pacific International Exposition here next year.

Through their consular representatives in San Francisco, the nations have enthusiastically accepted invitations to cooperate and exhibit under the Exposition's plan of foreign participation.

Thirty-five consulate officials, representing 23 nations, conferred with Frank Dragan, director of foreign relations, in San Francisco and voted unanimous backing to California in staging the spectacle which will be unfolded May 29.

Represented at the conference, which will be followed by a similar meeting with San Diego consulate officials on Dec. 3, were Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Czechoslovakia, Ecuador, El Salvador, Germany, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Japan, Luxembourg, Mexico, Netherlands, Panama, Persia, Peru, Siam, Spain, Uruguay.

Outlining the Exposition's plan of foreign participation, Dragan told of the unprecedented progress being made, emphasized the international aspects of the $10,000,000 undertaking, and declared that "the name—Pacific International—reveals the spirit of this Exposition. Foreign nations are being invited to participate in the promotion of the spirit of harmonious international accord."

Dragan told of the "House of Pacific Relations," an undertaking unique in the world of Expositions. This, he said, is a group of dwellings of California Colonial architecture in which representatives of foreign nations will reside while participating in the Exposition.

An enthusiastic response greeted the description of the Exposition's international effort, which was crystallized into pledges of cooperation from each of the powers represented at the reception.

Lovable

BEGIN HERE TODAY ANN HOLLISTER, pretty and 20, sells the family antiques to pay debts of her father, now dead, to the day of the sale a young man, stopped by minor trouble, comes to her home to telephone. After he leaves she finds a blue vase missing and in its place a note signed "P.K." and $50.

ANN gets work as a librarian and becomes friendly with SARAH KENT, also employed at the library. She meets TONY MACK, commercial artist, and is attracted by him, though Sarah warns her that Tony is fickle and irresponsible.

When Sarah asks Ann to share her apartment Ann agrees. She spends the evening with Tony and it is near midnight when she remembers she does not have the address of the new apartment. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER I TONY said, "You'll have to come over to my place, I'll give you the guest room, which is all the room I have, and I'll fold up on the rug outside the door."

Citizens of State Asked to Give Thought to Health

AUSTIN, Tex.—Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, has asked all citizens of Texas to give some thought to health both personal and public, on this Thanksgiving day. The original Thanksgiving was held by the Colonies for the purpose of giving thanks for their health.

Great advances in the treatment and prevention of disease have been made since that first Thanksgiving. Yellow fever, plague, and cholera have practically ceased to exist. Smallpox, diphtheria, and typhoid can be eliminated as a cause of death if a person will have himself and children immunized. Malaria and many other diseases can be controlled if the public would demand that the government furnish such protection.

Due to the advancement in knowledge of disease, concerning its prevention and cure, fifteen years have been added to the expectation of life. This means that a child born now can be expected to live fifteen years longer than he would have if he had been born fifty years ago.

We have a great deal more to be thankful for now, even with a depression, than did our Pilgrim forefathers; so let each one in his Thanksgiving pledge to assist in furthering the work being done to improve health conditions in Texas.

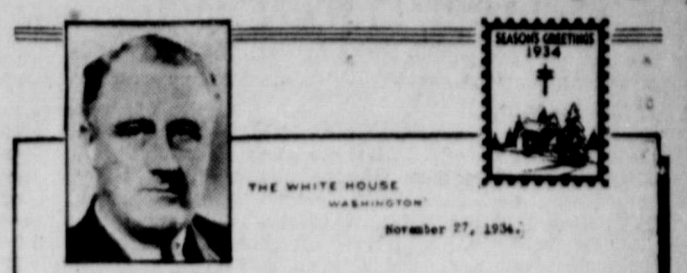

Three Irrigation Projects Succeed

KERRVILLE, Texas.—Three of the farm projects in this section where irrigation was used to thwart the drought have reported success. K. A. Holekamp of the Cypress Creek community, Kerr county, made enough from an irrigated truck garden to pay for a $500 engine used to pump water. Among his most prolific crops were 3,000 pounds of Irish potatoes from a half-acre plot.

President Roosevelt Endorses Christmas Seal Campaign

Not by one thing alone, but by many means of attack, both direct and indirect, tuberculosis must be fought. Fifty years ago Doctor Trudeau pointed the way to successful treatment. Sanatorium care is still indispensable. Hence, we need complete special and general hospitals for tuberculous patients.

For those with early disease, I believe the sanatorium is best for cure, and patients with advanced disease also need a reconvalescent hospital. More beds are needed, especially for tuberculous children. But prevention is even more important. To protect infants and young children and to avert the infection of adolescents and adults, the resources of every community are taxed.

The task before us is more than a medical problem. Physicians, nurses, and hospitals are only a part of the great defensive force, which must include the needs of all families, generous and merciful, education, social workers, scout masters, volunteer workers, charity organizations, pure food agents, and the forces of the United States Government. The National Tuberculosis Association and its local branches give competent leadership.

By wise arrangement, the responsibility for the sale of Christmas Seals is a local one. The money is spent locally by and for the residents of each city, town, or county. It is part of a plan for each locality to secure the due share of relief and responsibility.

The seal is urgent; the cause most worthy. Very sincerely yours, Franklin D. Roosevelt

President Roosevelt's endorsement of the nationwide Christmas Seal campaign that is conducted from Thanksgiving Day to Christmas by the 2,000 affiliated tuberculosis associations. Insert (upper right) shows the seal, which commemorates the fiftieth anniversary of the beginning of the sanatorium movement in this country.

By Jim Barnes and Lucias Linn on the banks of the South Llano river in Kimble county, yielded 7,500 bushels of tomatoes and were expected to yield another 12,000 bushels. Five acres planted in lima beans had produced 175 bushels which averaged 90 cents per bushel. Green peppers, planted on six acres, had yielded 800 bushels and brought 85 cents. Six acres also given over to green beans had produced 125 bushels which brought $2.35 per bushel.

Elks Donate to Toy Making Fund
Fire Chief G. A. Murphy, who has charge of the Elks toy project, whereby toys are to be made for a large number of needy children of this vicinity, announced today that the Elks lodge of Ranger had donated $10 in cash from its charity fund to purchase lumber with which to continue the work.

The men who are working on the project have completed several hundred toys, including chairs, tables, guns, airplanes, carts and stick horses, and are to build a number of doll beds, cribs and other toys with the new lumber.

"If anyone else can donate a dollar or two to this cause, the lumber will be purchased and the toys made before Christmas," Murphy said, "and each dollar contributed will help to make many children happier this Christmas than they have ever been before."

Three Academy Stars In Arcadia Feature

Three Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences Award winners head the cast of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," to be shown today at the Arcadia theatre.

Norma Shearer, in the role of the poet Elizabeth, is starred opposite Frederic March, as the ardent Robert Browning—the same team which broke all records in "Smilin' Through." Charles Laughton, most recent Academy Award winner, appears in the grim and powerful role of the older Barrett, his first American picture since the international hit "Henry the Eighth." Sidney Franklin, director of many of Miss Shearer's greatest successes, including "Smilin' Through," was the genius behind the megaphone in filming the famous stage play.

Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Ax?

What a swell roost this is, muses the turkey, as she settles herself for a rest after a session of industrious feeding. But she's been a bit careless lately about watching the barnyard calendar, so little does she reckon that the day is drawing near when this hospitable perch suddenly will be changed into an instrument of death. She's not up on criminology, or she'd see a warning in those dark spots on the chopping block. But let her be happy while she can—Thanksgiving's still a few days away.

TRY A WANT AD—IT ALWAYS PAYS

An unseen army helps Molly Malone serve your telephone

DARKNESS falls, and Molly Malone, telephone operator, goes on duty. Through the night she will keep the voice paths of the telephone system open.

But . . . she will not work unaided.

Back of her labors an unseen army, without whose help her job . . . and your telephone service . . . would become infinitely more difficult, more expensive and less satisfactory.

In a distant city a scientist bends over a delicate experiment. He is one of 4,000 workers at Bell Telephone Laboratories, research unit of the Bell System.

Workmen draw back from the glare of giant furnaces. They are a part of Western Electric, the organization which buys or manufactures the 100,000 parts needed in the telephone service . . . and sells them to the operating companies of the System at a cost in most cases below what would have to be paid on the competitive market.

A watcher keeps vigil at a lonely "repeater" station of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, parent company of the Bell System, where weakening voice currents over the long lines that bind together the 24 operating companies of the System are strengthened and sent on their way.
