DIRECT RELIEF CURTAILMENT BEING URGED

Is First of Series of Many Conferences Being Planned.

By United Press
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 30.—President Roosevelt today began a series of conferences with administration officials from which may emerge drastic changes in federal unemployment relief distribution.

The chief executive met first with James Moffett, federal housing administrator. Coming here for conferences over the week-end were Harold Ickes, secretary of the Interior; Harry Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator; Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., and Frank Walker, former director of the national emergency council.

Hopkins wants to substitute a work relief program of large proportions to get away from the dole system of aiding the unemployed.

The size of his contemplated program has been reported as approximately $8,000,000,000. It also was reported that his plans contemplate large extensions of subsistence, farming projects and a major stimulus of home construction through federal housing financing.

She Sat Beside F. D. R. at Feast

"BABIES IN THE WOODS" ARE BELIEVED IDENTIFIED WITH INFORMATION FROM CALIFORNIA

By United Press
ROSEVILLE, Calif., Nov. 30.—Family protests to a love affair seem Elmo Noakes, 32, and his 18-year-old niece, Winifred Pierce on a long flight, which apparently ended in the strange "babies in the woods" tragedy in Pennsylvania, it was learned today.

In the background of the tragedy there also was a story of poverty which had exhausted the resources of the couple and which, in the opinion of Roseville residents, formed the most likely motive for the death of the elopers and of Noakes' three children.

For none had the slightest doubt that the bodies of two adults found near Newton, Pa., were those of Noakes and his niece, and those of three children found 100 miles away, were those of the Noakes children, Norma, 12, Devilla, 10, and Cordelia, 8.

They left here secretly Nov. 11. None knew where they had gone until Pennsylvania and California identified the Pierce girl through a club footed left leg and Noakes through other means and linked them with the bodies of the three little girls.

Mystery of two deaths on Matchena Island in the South Pacific and mysteries of science will be investigated by an expedition commanded by Capt. G. YOUTH FOUND SLAIN BY HIS OWN PISTOL

By United Press
TULSA, Ok., Nov. 30.—John Gorrell, 25, dental college student found dead of bullet wounds in his automobile, was slain by someone who knew him well and who shot to kill, police said today, after investigating the tragedy.

Two bullet holes were in the right side of the youth's head when his sedan was found on a lonely driveway. His father, Dr. J. F. Gorrell, surgeon, identified the body.

Doubt Vanished Child Kidnaped

Whether Rita Lent, 4, above, has been kidnaped, is lost, or is being used as a pawn in divorce suit puzzled Ashtabula county, O., officials, as they instituted a search for the child and questioned her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Lent, of Conneaut, O. Officials believe the mother, suing for divorce, or the father knows where the girl is.

BRECKENRIDGE SNOWED UNDER BY BULLDOGS

Britt, Anderson and Payton Score: Taylor Thrown For Safety.

Ranger High School's conquering Bulldogs went through their 14th consecutive Oil Belt game without a defeat and won their third consecutive district title on the gridiron Thanksgiving Day when they powerhouse the Breckenridge Buckaroos to a 42 to 7 victory. Though this is the third straight district title won on the field it is the second in three years the Bulldogs have retained, the 1933 championship having been forfeited to Abilene.

The Bulldogs now go to Amarillo to play the bi-district game.

The Bulldogs proved themselves to be great mud and rain players, as the field was muddy and a slow drizzle of rain fell throughout the game, which did not halt an aerial attack by both teams, though the Buckaroo air circus floundered and resulted in two Bulldog touchdowns.

Dean Walsh, who was on the sick list most of the week and whom fans were afraid would be too weak to play, proved to be the best mudder on either team when he broke through on two quick-opening plays and galloped down the field for gains of 45 and 68 yards. The latter putting the ball on the Buckaroo four-yard line.

The Bulldogs tossed their form in the game with Breckenridge, Eastland and Abilene, the only other teams to score in district play against the champions, scored first, but against the Buckaroos the Bulldogs got the first score and the Buckaroos lost little time in coming from behind to tie the score.

The two teams played an even terms the first half as far as scores were concerned but at the opening of the second half they turned on the power and ran roughshod over the Buckaroos.

Rankin Britt led the scoring parade with three touchdowns to account for 18 points, while Anderson ran him a close second with two touchdowns, both on intercepted passes, and kicked four of six goals after touchdowns for a total of 16 points. Bill Payton made the first touchdown on a pass from Anderson and the other two points were made when Jacoby tackled Spud Taylor behind his goal line for a safety.

Good punting, despite the heavy ball and the muddy field, by Anderson kept the Bulldogs out of trouble most of the time, while the Buckaroo punts were short and unable to keep the Buckaroos out of danger.

It was a punt for 62 yards that went out of bounds on the Buck-

SUICIDE IS VERDICT IN GIRL'S DEATH

By United Press
DENTON, Tex., Nov. 30.—The words "suicide from burns" today summed up an official investigation of the strange death of Helen Gardner of Wichita Falls, brilliant 18-year-old student at North Texas State Teachers College.

The suicide verdict was returned at an inquest today.

Motivation of the act was not disclosed to the public, though the girl, a writer and student of poetry, left six sealed and addressed letters and a note.

Apparently suffering from melancholia, the girl yesterday spread towels and newspapers soaked in rubbing alcohol over her body and set them on fire. She died 12 hours later in the Denton hospital.

Friends of Miss Gardner destroyed the notes and five of the letters. One addressed to her mother, Mrs. W. H. Gardner, was delivered when Mrs. Gardner came here yesterday.

The mother did not disclose its contents before leaving for Wichita Falls with the body last night.

Granite Shaft is Object of Comment

SAN ANTONIO.—A granite shaft erected here 20 years ago by the Japan Geographical society commemorating a remarkable similarity between a famous Japanese battle and the historic Alamo, is the object of universal comment by tourists who visit this city.

The marker is erected on the site of the famous battle where nearly a century ago, Santa Anna's troops fought the loyal defenders to finally capture the Alamo.

The shaft is itself a piece of one of the huge granite stones which once formed the great Nagashino castle which was located on the plains half way between the modern cities of Nagoya and Shizuoka, the tea center of Japan. What the Alamo is to Texas, the great castle is to Japan.

The inscription on the monument is, strangely enough, in Chinese. It is a long poem written by Prof. Shigetaka Shiga of Tokyo, Japan, commemorating the stand of the famed "One hundred and fifty" against the 5,000 of Santa Anna's army.

Sunken Boats in Red River Found During Low Period

By United Press
 SHREVEPORT, La.—Low water in the Red river and in Caddo lake near here, has brought to light the hulks of several river boats which were sunk years ago when river boats plied a profitable trade.
 Since 1833 when Capt. Henry Shreve landed his two boats, the Archimedes and the Jarvis, opposite the red bluffs where this city now stands, more than 200 steamboats have perished in the treacherous Red river which was long ago christened "the graveyard of steamboats."

One of the most famous of steamboat disasters here was the sinking of the Mittle Stephens, a gambling boat with a gay holiday crowd, on a cold February day in 1869.
 Large for a river boat, the Mittle Stephens was a three decker and was handsomely fitted. She caught fire in Caddo lake and sank with 150 people on board. More than a hundred people lost their lives.

The hulk of the Mittle Stephens can still be seen when the lake is at low stage. Her machinery has been removed and the boiler and engine were for years used in a cotton gin near Belcher.

This year the river again started cutting through an old channel which had for many years been filled with silt and inhabitants were surprised to see emerge the hulk of an old boat.
 It is thought that the boat is the Richmond which sank near here soon after the Civil war. A pulley which could still be used was recently taken from the wreck and it is said that other pieces of equipment are in a remarkably good state of preservation.

Tragedy- Trails King of Siam

By United Press
 LONDON.—Tragic coincidence has dogged the footsteps of the King and Queen of Siam. Every plan they have made recently has been spoiled by death or assassination.
 The story is told by M. Smaksman, young confidential secretary to the King.
 "The King and Queen had planned first of all to visit King Albert in Belgium," said Smaksman. "He was killed."
 "Next we were to go to Holland on a visit to the Queen. As soon as arrangements were complete, the Queen-mother died."
 "Then we were to go to Vienna to stay with Dr. Engelbert Dollfus. He was assassinated."
 "Finally the King and Queen again planned to go to Holland. Arrangements were made. Once more the visit had to be abandoned. The Prince Consort was dead."
 "All this happened during the last year. We believe there is something unlucky for royal personages in this present time."

Smaksman then talked about King Prajadhipok's offer to abdicate from the Siamese throne because of the government's alleged efforts to take away his power of life and death.

"If it were the wish of the people that the King should not have the power of life and death, I know he would grant it," said Smaksman, "but it is not their wish. It is the wish of unscrupulous statesmen."
 "It is impossible to foresee what will happen. The King and Queen intend to remain here throughout the winter. They see no one. They do not go up to London from the country retreat at Cranleigh, Surrey, where they are staying. They play tennis and go for walks."

Toledo "Last Man" Club Has Humor

By United Press
 TOLEDO, O.—For all their laughter, there was a grimness in the face of each of the dozen members of the Last Man Club as they sat in their first official meeting in the chamber of commerce.
 War veterans all, the members will continue their organization along lines of similar groups over the country. A bottle of liquor will be placed in the center of the table at each meeting. As each empties the chairs, they will be tilted forward. The last man may drink the contents of the bottle. There are 13 members in the club altogether.
 Whoever the last man in the club may be, Milo J. Warner, national vice-president of the American Legion, won the honors at the first meeting. He arrived late and chose the 13th chair.
 The members drank a toast and chatted before their turkey luncheon was served. At times, when it appeared all were laughing, at least one face could generally be found solemn, its eyes searching the faces of the others.

By United Press

 The man who will face trial is Oscar Hawkins, an inmate of the penitentiary at Fort Madison, Ia., who will be released Dec. 23 after serving a six-year term for robbery.
 Hawkins was indicted by the county grand jury for first degree murder in the fatal shooting of his wife, Glenna. While awaiting trial, he escaped in a jailbreak. Later, he was arrested in Iowa on a robbery charge and convicted. He will be brought here immediately to stand trial on the old murder charge.

Forest Fire Hazard Declared Too High

By United Press
 WASHINGTON.—Fires in unprotected forest areas of the United States last year were 20 times as damaging as blazes in protected sections, according to figures compiled by the Agriculture Department's Forest Service.
 In all, fire swept 43,889,820 acres of the nation's timberland in 1933. Of this area, 40,166,900 acres was forest land devoid of protection, and 3,722,920 acres was land under protection.
 Approximately 20.79 per cent of the country's unprotected forests were burned, while the toll on protected land was 1.09 per cent.
 All national forests are under systematic fire protection. The Forest Service estimated that 533,579,240 acres need protection.
 Property damage from forest fires in 1933 was estimated at $60,274,960, compared with a five-year average of $62,831,423. The loss, however, does not include intangible values such as watershed, recreational, scenic, soil, young reproduction, or other values amounting to untold millions.
 Mississippi, with 22,366 fires, led the states.

BOISE, Idaho.—Sam Hallenger, duck hunter supreme, offers this suggestion to hunters who wish to save ammunition. He says he fired six shots at a flock of mallards. Four fell to earth. He found leaden pellets in three of them. There was not a wound on the fourth. Sam contends he scared the bird to death.

Mixed Tendencies Are Observed In Fed. Reserve Area

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—Mixed tendencies were observed in the financial activities of the Eleventh Federal Reserve District during October, according to the compilations of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Checks cashed by the Dallas Federal Reserve bank which serves the Eleventh district totaled $697,000, 28 per cent above September and 8.4 per cent greater than in October last year, the bureau's report said. Total deposits of $28,000,000 were up 4.1 per cent from September and 19.6 per cent above October, 1933, due entirely to the increase in demand deposits. Total loans of $196,000,000 showed an increase of 2 per cent over September but a decline of 9.7 per cent from October a year ago. Commercial loans were responsible for the small increase over September while loans on securities other than those of the government showed a decline from September of the current year and October last year of 2 per cent and 18.3 per cent respectively. Government securities owned, totaling $176,000,000, were down 1.7 per cent from September but still were 43 per cent above October last year.

HOUSES LINED WITH CEDAR

AUSTIN—Housewives who lived in Washington county, Texas, during the early days did not send out for moth balls when they packed away clothes. They did not even look for cedar chests. Closets and most of the woodwork in their houses were cedar. Many of the old cedar-lined houses still remain, it has been found in an architectural survey.

The New WATERLESS WAY. While the New Utility Cooker brings to you the possibilities of enjoying old-fashioned meals in addition, it permits you to prepare foods by the newer methods of cooking without water. Science has discovered that there is so much natural moisture in all meats, vegetables and fruits that it is entirely feasible to cook them with little or no water. About the only reason why we have cooked with water was to avoid burning. Water distributes the heat evenly, conducting it away from the point nearest the fire. However, after we have cooked our foods we have poured off the excess water and with it we have poured the bone-forming, teeth-building minerals; the iron, calcium and phosphorus that constitute the essential elements which the human system must have. With the new perfected Utility Cooker you can prepare foods deliciously tender and full of these health-building elements. The Utility Cooker is ideal for the housewife who wishes to practice this modern, more healthful and more economical way of cooking. Look! HERE'S HOW YOU GET ONE OF THESE COOKERS... FREE! Picture Italy's 'Corporate State' in American Terms!

It is always easier to figure out what is going on in a foreign country if we translate the action there into local terms. By imagining how some European program would look if it were being followed in America, with American actors in the leading roles, we can usually get a pretty fair idea of its nature.

So it is with the latest development of Mussolini's "corporate state" in Italy. It is worth while to picture this in America—not only because that gives us a better idea of Italian conditions, but also because it shows, by contrast, how far from Fascism our own set-up really is.

Suppose, then, that we have this Mussolini system in operation in America, and that you are a business man anxious to open a new factory to make, let us say, clothes-pins.

First of all, you must go to Washington and satisfy Mr. Roosevelt that the clothes-pin industry needs a new factory and that you will be able to sell clothes-pins if you make them. You must also permit the minister of corporations—Secretary Roper, for instance—to put a man on your board of directors and examine your books.

Getting the necessary approval, you open up. You automatically become a member of a vast corporation which embraces all the woodcutters, clothes-pin makers and the clothes-pin sellers in the United States; your employes, likewise, become members of an allied corporation including all other such employes.

The wages you pay are fixed by law; you pay no more and no less. Your workers can't strike, and you can't fire them. Any dispute must go before the Labor Relations Board, whose decision is final.

Suppose you don't like this, and want to appeal to Congress for a change. Congress, as it previously existed, is gone. Instead, you find a group of congressmen representing, not the various states, but the industries of steel, oil, auto-manufacture, farming, railroads, and so on.

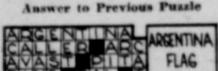

Each of these industries is grouped in a gigantic corporation—whose head is Mr. Roosevelt, assisted by three of Jim Farley's boys.

Meanwhile Mr. Farley's men are forever inspecting your factory to see if you are efficient. If you aren't, they can shut you up or make any change in your methods of operations they see fit.

A fantastic picture? To be sure. But it is nothing more than a translation into American terms of the actual situation in Italy today.

aroo three yard line that paved the way to the first touchdown as Taylor's punt carried back only to the 28-yard line and Anderson heaved to Payton for the score, and then converted for the extra point.
The Buckaroos had little trouble in making their score and tying the score early in the second quarter when Taylor passed 24 yards to Clark for one of the few Breckenridge passes that gained ground and Clark converted.
With the beginning of the second half it was all Ranger. Britt took the kickoff and raced back 44 yards to midfield and on the next play made nine through the line, but was kicked in the head and knocked out. That started the fireworks.
With Britt and Anderson doing most of the ball carrying, but with a neat pass to Payton, the ball was soon plunged over by Britt for the deciding score and he came back a few minutes later to step off 16 yards to pay dirt.
In the fourth Anderson intercepted one of Taylor's passes on the Buckaroo 45-yard line and raced to the goal line to score, and then kicked goal.
Taylor assisted materially in making the next Bulldog score when he tried to pass from behind his goal line and was smothered. Instead of throwing the ball and getting rid of it he attempted to run it out and was tackled behind his own goal line by Jacoby for two additional points.
The Bulldogs, still not satisfied, came back to score again after a few plays and pile up additional points. After the safety, Taylor punted out from his 20-yard line, the ball going out of bounds on the Ranger 25-yard line. Walsh galloped through the mud on a quick-opening play, stiff-armed and sidestepped the secondary, dodged Spud Taylor and left him lying helplessly on the ground, but was overtaken from behind by Hodges and was brought down on the Buckaroo four yard line.

Walsh did most of the ball carrying, but lacked a yard of making the goal line and the ball went over.
Taylor then took to the air in a desperate attempt to score and one of his best passes was for a short gain, but Ranger took the ball on the Buckaroo five yard line on downs. Britt flowed through for the score.
The Buckaroos were again backed up to the goal line and again Taylor's passes proved fatal when Collins stood in the flat zone ready to take in the heave and Anderson stepped in front of him, took the ball and raced 35 yards to score. Anderson converted after both touchdowns to end the scoring for the day.
On the offense Anderson, Britt, Walsh and Payton stood out, while on the defense the same quartet, aided materially by Mellinger Jacoby, Stumpy Warden and the entire Ranger line made the going rough for the Buckaroos.
For Breckenridge Taylor was the leading player on the offense, despite the fact that he gained little ground and was held throughout the game, his only brilliance showing on a lateral and forward pass and on the one heave to Clark for the score. The remainder of the day he was so badly outclassed that he had no chance to show anything. Hodges also showed up well on the offense, but had little to show on the defense in the mud, while on the defense Hodges, Collins and Holt were outstanding, with Pitzer and Russell doing fair work.
Starting lineup:
Breckenridge—Collins (capt.) and Cudd, ends; Holt and Orvar, tackles; Pitzer and Russell, guards; Morris, center; Taylor, quarter;

Clark and Hodges, halfbacks; Hall, full.
Ranger—Jacoby and Payton, ends; Love and Donowho, tackles; Warden and Wheeler, guards; Buntion, center; Anderson (captain), quarter; Westorook and Walsh, halfbacks; Britt, full.

BEETS YIELD 2 MILLION

million dollars in cold cash came rolling into Nebraska this month as the first return on the sugar beet crop, expected to be the most profitable in history. Although a smaller crop is being produced this year than last, a refinery price of $4.50 per ton plus a government bounty of approximately $1.50 will bring the price to parity for the first time in years. The $2,000,000 payment was only the first installment on total returns, which are expected to aggregate $5,000,000, in the upper North Platte Valley alone.

PECAN HARVEST SMALL

AUGUSTA, Ark.—The pecan harvest in the White River basin, one of the best pecan areas in the South, will be the smallest in years this fall. Early rains when the trees were in bloom and the summer drought are blamed for the small crop. Last year St. Louis buyers took thousands of pounds from the basin. More than 250,000 pounds were bought here at an average price of 5-1-2 cents a pound. Indications are that there will be only a few tons this year, with offers of 10 cents a pound.

SPECIAL CORN FIELD

VINCENNES, Ind.—A special field of corn will be planted by Orville T. Stout, local farmer, to meet the requirements for entertaining the national corn husking championship in 1935. The Knox County farmer has entered a bid for the competition, which was held this year in Minnesota. W. E. Renshaw, agriculturist, is aiding Stout in laying out the special field. The Stout farm this year was the scene of the state corn husking competition.

WHEAT DIET FOR NEBRASKA STOCK

LINCOLN, Neb.—Wholesale substitution of wheat for corn in Nebraska livestock diets is believed likely to develop in the next few months. Critical shortages of corn feeds in many sections of the state will cause the substitution, livestock and grainmen believe. With prices of the two grains approximately equal levels, feeders are beginning to feel that for the 60 pounds of wheat in a bushel they get more than from the 56 pounds of corn, cattlemen say.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
ANN HOLLISTER, pretty and 20, sells the family antiques to pay debts of her father, now dead. On the day of the sale a young man, stopped by motor trouble, comes to her home in telephone. After he leaves Ann finds a blue envelope and in its place a note signed "P.K." and $50.
Ann gets work as a librarian and becomes friendly with SAHAR KENDALL, also employed at the library. She meets TONY MICKLE, commercial artist, and is attracted by him, though Sarah warns that Tony is fickle and irresponsible.
The chief librarian sends Ann to interview PETER KENDALL, factory owner, to obtain permission to open a branch library in Kendallwood, factory community. Ann is unsuccessful but the way home she meets the young man who stopped at her home in Georgia. They enter word comes that Peter Kendall has moved to the operating of the library.
Ann sees the young man again in a night club and learns he is Peter Kendall's grandson, PETER KENDALL II. Learning the situation, Ann sees Tony with EILEEN WALKER.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VII
EVIDENTLY Sarah had heard and recognized Tony's laugh that laugh that had the power to set Ann's pulses throbbing. Perhaps Mac had heard it, too. Eileen and Sarah began talking at last, all at once, giving Ann time to regain her composure.
Later, when they were alone Sarah said to Ann, "Pity a girl fellow like Peter Kendall could have chosen a nice gal like you and let that double-crossing Valerie tie up with someone like Tony."
Ann's eyes flashed as she flew to Tony's defense. "You might wait for his explanation, Sarah. Tony may have a good one."

"Valeria is a cheat," Sarah said. "Everyone knows it except Peter Kendall."

wad into a waste-paper basket. "Wasn't it a swell moon last night?" When he'd been seeing the moon with Eileen! Well, he'd soon know how Ann was feeling.
And then after she reached home there was the usual call, and Ann said, yes, of course, she'd like to go for a drive.
The busy morning had been helpful. She was glad she would be able to raise a calm face and friendly eyes to Tony. It would be much better to talk things out quietly, without letting him know the storm of emotion that had swept her.
She was ready when Tony came at seven. Soon they were spinning along the street in his battered blue roadster.
"You look pale. Busy today?"
"Yea," Ann said. "Awfully."
"Sorry about last night. I worked late on a rush order and then a bunch of fellows dropped by with Eileen and another girl and dragged me out to the Blue Jug."
"Yea."
It was hard to keep the glow of happiness from her voice. If Tony had deceived her about last night she would never have forgiven him. But he hadn't tried to cover up. He had come through with everything. What an idiot she had been, spying awake for hours!
"I started to call you but it was late and I figured a good gal like you would be in bed. Besides, it wasn't your crowd."
"Well, it doesn't matter," Ann laughed. "I went, too."
"Yea, you were at the Blue Jug?"
"Yea."
"Who took you?" roughly.
"Dick Randall."

had seen the cat with his paw on the door. And he sold nothing more than a few wild guesses as to what was going on.
Valeria looked at the other girl.
"Sarah says," Valeria said. "She says she's going to marry Peter Kendall. She says she's going to marry Peter Kendall. She says she's going to marry Peter Kendall."
Ann gets work as a librarian and becomes friendly with SAHAR KENDALL, also employed at the library. She meets TONY MICKLE, commercial artist, and is attracted by him, though Sarah warns that Tony is fickle and irresponsible.
Ann sees Tony frequently and realizes she is falling in love with him.
The chief librarian sends Ann to interview PETER KENDALL, factory owner, to obtain permission to open a branch library in Kendallwood, factory community. Ann is unsuccessful but the way home she meets the young man who stopped at her home in Georgia. They enter word comes that Peter Kendall has moved to the operating of the library.
Ann sees the young man again in a night club and learns he is Peter Kendall's grandson, PETER KENDALL II. Learning the situation, Ann sees Tony with EILEEN WALKER.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VIII
IN THE entrance hall Valeria raised her lips for Peter's kiss. "Darling, I'm not letting you stay I've simply got to get some sleep. You know I'm on that Junior League ticket sale. So you'll have to rush along."

"I'm terribly sorry, Dirk. Please—I'm punished!" She broke from his grasp and ran into her room. She was slipping out of the white crepe and getting into a flame-colored chiffon when her aunt entered the room. The chiffon was practically backless and closely fitted. Valeria remembered the look in Dirk Van Balen's eyes when she had worn the dress last night.
"Valeria! Where are you going? It's perfectly shameful, saving late dates after Peter leaves."

"What'll I do?"
"Go into the guest room. I'll get rid of him in a moment."
Valeria obeyed. She closed the door and leaned, trembling a little, against it.
In a moment she heard voices, Dirk's and Ann's. Now and then she caught a word and once or twice heard Dirk laugh. After a couple of drinks he would be gone. Everything would be straight if some of the others didn't arrive on the scene before he left. That dumb Peg would like nothing better than to open the door and scream out "Ooh, Valeria, what a start you gave me!"

Valeria switched off the light and, very cautiously, opened the door. Don, slumped in a chair, was holding a glass in his hand. Dirk, poised, stood near the mantel, coolly lighting a cigar.

"Another drink?" Dirk suggested.
"Thanks, no more. I'll be running along."
"Prop in tomorrow night a crowd is coming over after Fay Richter's party."
"Thanks, but I have another date," Don said, almost curtly.
Dirk went out. He heard the elevator door slam, and then knocked on the guest room door.

Christmas Cheer Dance Looms
 As Gala Social Feature

Keep Holiday Spirit is being manifested in Ranger this year even more than seasons past. We sometimes make the mistake of shifting back to the routine too quickly, but this year Thanksgiving spirit promises to linger in a number of ways.

There is always a happy element in the air when we are doing something worth while, and for the happiness of others, the surest way of making happiness for ourselves.

A Christmas cheer dance and a tag day is to be held in Ranger, Tuesday, December 4th, for the splendid purpose of supplying funds for the annual Christmas cheer baskets, presented the needy families of the city.

The plan which has been worked out for the ones in past years, the baskets for wanting 1934 are to be filled with candy, toys, fruits and other things for the children.

The tag day is to be staged in connection with the dance, which will be given at the Elks club-rooms, Tuesday night with the American Legion Tickville band furnishing the music.

Tags, are to be sold - on the streets, and one must have a tag to be admitted. Price of same has been set at 50 cents. Everyone going to the dance must have a tag which will be their admission. Ladies must have escorts. . . another very good agreement which adds to such an occasion.

Ladies of the Child Welfare club will assist in tag day, while the Elks lodge will have charge of the dance, with W. N. McDonald, exalted ruler, in charge of all arrangements.

Just as the members adjourned the hostess asked that the group follow the leader. With Mrs. George as hostess to Mrs. C. O. Bolin and others falling in line, their destination was the Church of Christ basement and upon arriving found another group of friends awaiting them. These ladies were: Mmes. E. V. Reynolds, Reese, Ivy, Mathena, J. G. Kim, Tom Burk, Will Myers, Pleas Moore, D. W. Nichol, and Miss Ennis Clemen.

The hour was transformed into that of a most pleasant surprise for the honoree, Mrs. Bolin, who was presented a basket of lovely gifts, just a few hours prior to her departure for San Angelo, where she and her family are to make their home. The loss of the Bolins from the community is greatly felt. They have been active in the Church of Christ for a number of years, and took part in all worthwhile undertakings. As the hour was brought to a close the hospitality committee headed by Mrs. D. W. Nichol, passed a plate of pumpkin pie with whipped cream topping and black coffee to personnel.

The Thanksgiving Day motif was used in decorations.

International Wrestlers Are On Elks Program

What promises to be one of the outstanding wrestling matches of the year will be seen at the Elks arena Monday night when the ever popular Ken Gaston meets the rough and tough Dutch Aultman of Hamburg, Germany, in the main event best two out of three falls.

Those who have seen Gaston in his previous matches here are high in their praise and he has become quite a favorite with the fans, but there are some who will place their bets on the German after seeing his last week's performance.

While Gaston has become famous with his educated legs, doing all kinds of sleight of foot tricks, Dutch has been stacking up a long list of wins with his punishing hammerlock. It looks like this match will be a contest between legs and arms of the two contenders.

On the semi-final event will be seen Ramon Vitello, who has recently come to the United States to conquer new worlds. The Mexican boasts the "middleweight crown of Mexico, and that is no mean title, as some of the best wrestlers in the country hail from Mexico.

In the 45-minute time limit affair, Don Carver, who has made an outstanding showing here the last few weeks has been chosen to match holds with the Mexican. Don boasts that he is a native Texan and knows the history of the Alamo and Goliad and avers that no Mexican can now come over and whip a Texan.

All in all, this is the best card lined up for some time and those who get a thrill out of wrestling will get more than their share Monday night.

FARM NEWS

With contour ditches, Hal McCampbell, ranchman living near Hebburnville in Jim Hogg county, is utilizing the waste water from his artesian well to irrigate land which he has sown to gain for winter pasture. Mr. McCampbell plans to plant and water 100 acres in this way.

From a garden subirrigated with old pipe, Mrs. W. J. Stoneman of the Anderson ranch in Baylor county gathered tomatoes from June to November. "We've had plenty all summer, picking from a gallon to two bushels daily. We have eaten them raw and canned them many ways," she says.

Sixty varieties of canned products in 650 containers, valued at $142, are the sufficient barrier to keep the wolf from the door of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kennedy at Inez this winter.

GROESBECK—A good mattress made at home for $5.21 is the promise of Mrs. T. B. Morton of Limestone county, according to Miss Cora Kirkman, home demonstration agent. "I have a good mattress at a cost of $5.21, and I would not take twice that much for it," Mrs. Morton says. "The mattress cost $2.25 for 10 yards of feather mattress ticking, 10 cents for the cord to make the roll around the mattress, and $2.51 tax on a 50-pound round bale remnant. The seed paid for the ginning."

BASTROP—"It is the nicest thing we have ever had," says Mrs. Oscar Anderson of Bastrop county in speaking of the clothes closet constructed by her daughter Gladys as a part of her work as wardrobe demonstrator for the Kyleberg 4-H club, according to Miss Dessie E. Hoerster, home demonstration agent.

The closet is 12 feet high, 9 feet wide, and 26 inches deep, and has a rod that extends the length of the closet, shelves for storing folded garments, shoe rack, hat racks, and a large space for storing quilts and blankets. The entire cost was $6.75.

Averaging four tons of beehari per acre, Pecos county farmers are following the demonstration planting of this grain sorghum on the Webb farms in 1932. The price has been around $18 a ton with a profit of about $58 an acre on irrigated lands.

Bees have proved to be a good side line for E. Schokade of Shackelford county. Beginning with 20 hives the number has increased to 26 colonies which have harvested 90 gallons of honey, even in this dry year. The honey was gathered largely from mesquite blooms, it is estimated.

OLTON—A sink has been built for her kitchen from a part of the body of an old car and a drain board made from an old sheet iron sign board by Mrs. George Wallace of Lamb county, according to Miss Bernice Westbrook, home demonstration agent. Mrs. Wallace has also increased the size of her kitchen by taking in a small back porch. The kitchen has been ceiled with sheetrock, the ceiling and walls finished with a coat of caliche and a cabinet and wood-work finished with cream paint. The total cost of this improvement was $3.50 which was spent for the sheetrock and a new glass for the kitchen door.

sheep manure when applied under sweet potatoes returned an increase of 14 bushels per acre for Otis Cox of Comanche county, according to J. A. Barton, farm demonstration agent. The potatoes sold at $1 per bushel so the manure increased his profits by $14 per acre.

Mr. Cox stated that very little rain fell on his potatoes, but that he had prepared the land well, placed the sheep manure deep, and planted potatoes on a bed. In addition to the value to the crop this year, Mr. Cox figures that there will be an increased yield for the next four or five years.

for the Herren family. More than $400 was realized in this way.

LIPSCOMB—Ensilage made from Russian thistles is being fed to the dairy herd of G. A. Robbins and sons of Lipscomb county, according to C. M. Gay, farm demonstration agent. Mr. Robbins reports that Russian thistle ensilage is very palatable and that his production records compare favorably with records from past years for corresponding cows that were fed alfalfa and sorghum hay as roughage when these feeds were more plentiful.

IT WASN'T AN ELOPEMENT MEMPHIS, Tenn.—A frantic father telephoned police to halt the "elopement" of Calvin Houghland and Miss Josephine Trice, both prominent here. The police halted the "elopement" all right, but Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Houghland had the laugh on all when they announced: "Why, we're not eloping! We were married almost two months ago!"
