JUDGE HOLMES LAID TO REST AT ARLINGTON

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The mournful toll of a funeral dirge summoned citizens high and low, today, to a final tribute to Oliver Wendell Holmes. The solemn sounding of the bell of fashionable All Souls Church gave voice to the nation's sorrow for its servant whose funeral marked his ninety-fourth birthday. A thousand mourners and more crowded the little chapel where the solemn last rites were held for the former supreme court justice who died early Wednesday. At high noon the rites began, Mrs. Roosevelt, representing her husband, was present. The ceremony at the church was over in 30 minutes. With the ancient bell again tolling the body was borne out of the chapel to Arlington cemetery.

A. J. Baum of the Baum Welding company, Pine street, announced today that he had a large pit full of white wash material that he would gladly give to anyone who needed white wash for any purpose. A large quantity of the white wash has been spoken for by the city of Ranger, to be used around the park being built on Strawn road, east of town. "There is still enough left in the pit," Baum said today, "to whitewash half of Ranger, and anyone who wants any of it can have as much as they need if they will bring a container in which to carry it." The white wash is suitable, he said, for painting tree trunks, back fences, chicken houses and roosts, or anything for which regular white wash can be used.

BREAD BONDS ARE VOTED IN HOUSE TODAY

AUSTIN, March 8.—The state's remaining $3,500,000 relief bonds were made available for sale today when the house adopted a conference report on a relief bill. Only the governor's signature is needed, since the senate had previously adopted the measure. It carried an emergency clause with enough votes to make it immediately effective on signature. The bill allocates $5,000,000 state funds for relief through next December. What has been saved from a former issue is allocated to March and April. There is then allocated $400,000 a month through November and $700,000 for December. All figures are maximum. Present Texas relief rolls number about 1,500,000, the house was told.

LONG PLEASED OVER REPLIES TO HIS TALK

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Senator Huey Long declaring himself highly gratified at popular response to the speech which launched his presidential campaign, loaded his guns today with fresh ammunition to fire at the "Roosevelt Depression." Long's secretary in behalf of the Kingfish, said the reaction to last night's address promising a $165,000,000 capital levy to "share our wealth" was "the most spontaneous response we have ever had." New Dealers, however, maintained utmost confidence in the 1936 prospects and discounted a factor of Long's platform to make the rich divide up their bounty with the poor. Most democratic leaders apparently deciding to try to give Long "silent treatment" for the moment, declined public comment on his speech. Long's office by noon had received 400 telegrams and 24 long distance calls. "And only four of them panned the senator. We are surprised and gratified," said one secretary. Long, himself, determined to keep the fires burning, was busy preparing material for a fresh outburst, which he planned to make in the senate. Long's associates looked for a longer response from the public in the mails tomorrow. "Write to me. Will you organize a share-our-wealth society in your community?" Long pleaded as he strutted before the microphones, sneering at the New Deal as a "St. Vitus dance" administration.

Lions Attendance Contest Entering Into Last Week

The attendance contest in the Lions club which has been running for several weeks, comes to a close with the count of those present at the next meeting. The standing to date shows the side captained by Lion Crossley leading the side under Lion Killingsworth's standard by 11 points. The entertainment for the Lions and ladies to be paid for by the losing side is yet to be decided but an evening outdoors seems to be favored by most of the Lions. The program at Thursday's meeting was very interesting and instructive and was provided by Lion E. A. Ringold, program chairman for the week. Barefield Thomas and Travis Winsett, high school boys, were presented by their coach, Rupert Ringold of the high school faculty, in a debate on the subject of "Government Ownership of Utilities." Arguments in the affirmative were presented by Travis Winsett while the negative side was well championed by Barefield Thomas. The facts on both sides were well presented and the debaters show promise of going far in the district this year. An announcement was made by Prof. R. F. Holloway that on next Sunday he would tell of the Oil Belt Education Association convention to be held at Mineral Wells on March 15 and 16, and invite, over the radio, all the teachers and school men of the district to attend. He also said that at 12:45 p. m., R. L. Maddocks and his high school band would present a program from Mineral Wells on radio station WRAP, in the interest of the convention. The club gave a vote of thanks to the committee appointed last week to provide chairs for the children attending the federal nursing school and kindergarten in the Ravis building on Pine and Marston streets. The committee chairman, E. A. Ringold, and committeemen, Dr. Harry A. Logsdon, W. B. Crossley and Calvin Brown, began work on the project immediately after appointment and have already given the school 35 chairs of various sizes to accommodate the several age groups in attendance. Thanks were also extended to Fire Chief Murphy and his fireboys for the great help they were in providing the lumber and in painting the little chairs in bright greens, reds and yellows. The first week in April has been set for the annual ladies' night and a program is being worked up now for the event. The club adjourned after the transaction of other business and a report by Lion Larson on the trip to Abilene last Friday night to the ladies' night of that club. The Ranger Tiekville band was the best liked spot on the program, according to Lion Larson.

WAR FEARED OVER EUROPE AFTER REVOLT

VIENNA, March 8.—Europe watched with fast growing anxiety today the spread of a Greek rebellion which statesmen feared might make a war. Troops of three nations massed on Grecian frontiers as rebels and loyalists fought in the snows of Macedonia and rebel and loyalist fleets sailed the sea. France and Great Britain had warships off Athens. Italy was considering sending ships to watch its interests. Bulgaria had before the League of Nations a memorandum calling world attention to the concentration of Turkish troops in Turkey's southeast corner of Europe, with frontiers on Bulgaria and Greece. All reports agreed that the rebellion had given no indication of its fate. Snow impeded soldiers in Macedonia, where a government army contended with rebels, hoping to crush them. Government warships had bombarded Crete, "governmental" seat of aged Eleutherios Venizelos, leader of the rebellion by which he seeks to seize power. Rebel warships took possession of three islands in the Aegean sea along the coast of Asia Minor.

Police Thanked for Special Protection At Cooking School

Mrs. Martha McDonald, who conducted the Happy Kitchen Cooking School in Ranger this week, the Ranger Times and the merchants taking part in the cooking school today offered their thanks and appreciation to the Ranger police department for watching after the materials stored in the building during the four days of the school. The police force watched over the building during the nights of the cooking school and gave it special attention because there was several hundred dollars worth of merchandise in the building, belonging to practically every merchant in the city. Because of this special protection nothing was lost from the building during the four days, it was stated today.

Legion's Chief Demands Bonus

HOUSTON, March 8.—Miss Jeanette Shelton, 30, San Antonio, was held today for questioning in the hotel room shooting of Spencer Silver, 46, San Antonio clubman. Silver, with a .38-caliber pistol wound in the head, died en route to a hospital following the shooting last night. The pair registered at the hotel Wednesday as man and wife, Police Captain George Peyton said. "I shot him," Peyton quoted the woman as saying. No charges were filed against her. She told Peyton today that she had known Silver about a year and that they came to Houston from San Antonio together. "We got to drinking and it happened," she said. Silver was found dying in his bathroom by a hotel attendant who investigated when he heard a woman's screams. The crowd at the Happy Kitchen Cooking School, which was conducted in Ranger four days, beginning Tuesday and ending Friday afternoon, overflowed the lower auditorium of the Masonic Temple Friday afternoon and the balcony was partly filled. The seating capacity of the lower floor is 550, and with the overflow crowd in the balcony and those who were standing, it was estimated that between 750 and 800 were on hand to hear Mrs. Martha McDonald's last lecture on cooking and kitchen economies. An exact check of the total attendance for the four days of the school had not been made today, but it was estimated that it would run more than 2,400.

General Strike Feared In Cuba

HAVANA, March 8.—Leaders of labor unions in Cuba today voted a general strike, seeking economic paralysis and overthrow of the government, it was learned today. Leaders met secretly at a rendezvous in the city. Authentic reports of the meeting said they agreed on a strike in 24 hours. Delegates of the Cuban Electric company, affiliate of the American Electric Bond & Share company, were present and agreed to join a strike. This would cut off power throughout the island. Street car men walked out at midnight, the first union labor to strike. It was expected railway and bus workers would follow without a general strike call.

Strange Events Make a Strange World

Helping the winter along toward spring, folks in Sudbury, Ont., have found an apple tree in blossom at the bottom of a 600-foot mine. Meanwhile, city authorities in Cleveland, O., announce that they can't collect taxpayers' ashes because they are too busy removing snow from the streets, and simultaneously a dust storm hits Kansas.

H. L. Menchen invites Commonwealth College to move from Mena, Ark., to Baltimore, Md., to preserve academic freedom, a freshman at Brown University wins an inter-collegiate championship by eating 20 doughnuts in 18 minutes and 50 seconds, and an Indiana college instructor is arrested on charges of kidnaping himself and holding himself for ransom.

Senator Bilbo of Mississippi turns up in the senate with a black eye and Huey Long appears with a bandaged finger on his left hand, thus leading to official denials that the two mishaps were in any way connected.

The bandmaster of the Kansas state penitentiary, himself a convict, persuades the warden to send him to town to get some new music, and forgets to come back, leaving the band musicless and leaderless.

An Indiana manufacturer of bows and arrows says that the American Indian was really an extraordinarily poor archer, and Andy Mellon's confidential secretary testifies that Mr. Mellon lost nearly $3,000,000 selling stocks to himself in 1931 and 1932.

Meanwhile, the citizens of Jasper, Alberta, call a meeting to discuss the town's need of an ambulance, and one of the moving spirits falls down on the way to the gathering, breaks an arm, and has to be lugged off to the hospital on a stretcher.

Crime raises its ugly head in Chicago anew. A canary bird is kidnaped from Holy Cross hospital, and a detective discovers that erstwhile auto thieves have turned to stealing baby carriages, if not the traffic in hot autos too dangerous.

The Prince of Wales is mobbed on the streets of Vienna by the biggest crowd of women seen in one spot since the days of Vienna's great Socialist mass meeting, and 300 people jam the concourse of Cleveland's Union Terminal to say hello to Kate Smith.

A Hungarian count has challenged 13 residents of Budapest to duels, on the ground that they insulted his wife by throwing her out of their club when they caught her cheating at cards.

And then, to cap the climax, a New York woman goes to a hospital with a stomachache, attributing it to something she ate. A doctor operates on her and removes from her stomach 224 pins, pieces of bed springs, links of auto tire chains, a set of rubber bands, and bits of broken glass.

Texans and the New Deal Roosevelt Administration

Adam R. Johnson is director of the Texas relief commission. He is a Texan. He knows where to find his hat. He knows when to talk and when to muzzle his lips. This is his latest: "More than $100,000,000 of federal and state funds have been disbursed for relief of the destitute in Texas since federal money first began to be received in the state through the Reconstruction Finance corporation in October, 1932." True to his pledges, President Roosevelt did not overlook the forgotten man, neither did he overlook the hungry man. Now according to Col. Johnson, March relief must be furnished and quick action is imperative "to care for the destitute unemployed in this state through the coming months." It is for the lawmakers of Texas to act without delay. They hold the purse strings, meaning the unexpended bond issues for relief voted by the taxpayers of the Lone Star commonwealths.

Richberg Urges Future Scope of Recovery Program

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Urging congress to define the future scope of NRA, Donald Richberg, the recovery co-ordinator, said today that uncertainty over the agency's future as "slowing up trade and industry." Testifying for a second day before the senate finance committee, holding hearings on NRA legislation, Richberg said some judges who had given adverse decisions in NRA cases needed "education in modern economic conditions" in order to understand how local business may effect interstate commerce. He conceded under questioning that pressure from big business had the effect of forcing adoption of sub-codes, which were not satisfactory from NRA standpoint.

Famous Silver Queen Is Dead

LEADVILLE, Colo., March 8.—A shroud-covered form was all that was left today of "Baby Doe" Tabor, the once lovely bride of the once wealthy A. W. Tabor, legendary figure of the silver mining west. "Baby Doe" died 10 days ago on the floor of the shack where she kept vigil by the matchless sil-

Poultry Shipping Shows a Decrease

AUSTIN.—A marked falling off in rail shipments of poultry and eggs from Texas to interstate points always occurs between December and January due to the passing of the holiday season, it is pointed out in the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research report on poultry and eggs. Moreover, this year shipments also were 25 per cent less than during January a year ago. "Rail shipments from Texas to out-of-state points in January, 1935, totaled 94 carloads, composed of 82 cars of poultry and 12 cars of eggs, as compared with a total of 117 cars during the corresponding period a year ago, made up of 104 cars of poultry and 13 cars of eggs," the bureau's report said. "The decrease in total shipments of poultry was due entirely to the smaller shipments of turkeys, since more chickens, both live and dressed, were shipped in January this year than in January last year. Apparently farmers are still culling out a larger than usual number of birds as a means of counteracting the high cost of feed. Receipts of eggs from other states amounted to only four cars during the month, against 19 in January last year."

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 8.—Sir Malcolm Campbell, who yesterday set a world record of 278.8 miles an hour, decided today he would make another attempt to realize his ambition to reach a speed of 300 miles an hour. Campbell will remain until late March in the hope nature will provide him a better racing strip than he had yesterday.

Gas Company Has Cooperated With Cooking School

The Community Public Service company, through the efforts of R. B. Canfield, local manager, has provided one of the best displays at the Happy Kitchen Cooking

School, which has been in progress since Tuesday afternoon and which will end with the session at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The company has connected the Roper range, which is being used by Mrs. Martha McDonald in all her cooking demonstrations, and in addition has connected a hot water heater for display purposes.

The company is also giving away one of the most useful prizes during the cooking school. They have offered a space heater as their prize during the period of the cooking school. It is on display at the Masonic Temple auditorium, where the cooking school is being conducted.

Outlook for The Cotton Growers Is Estimated

AUSTIN, Tex.—Cotton is the major source of buying power of over two million people in Texas, it is pointed out by Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, in his monthly survey of the cotton industry.

"It is hard to over-estimate the importance of cotton as the life blood of Texas business, especially in the heavy cotton growing areas," he said. "What is the outlook for business based on cotton?"

The price of cotton is now approximately what it was at this time last year, but the buying power of a pound of cotton is about 10 per cent less than at this date last year due to the advance in the prices of other things. What is far more important, cotton production in Texas during the past year is down about 45 per cent.

The United States Department of Agriculture estimates that the dollar value of cotton and cottonseed produced in Texas the past season was about $187,932,000 or about $42,000,000 less than in 1933. American cotton harvests have been reduced over 8,700,000 bales during the past two years whereas world supplies of all kinds of cotton on August 1, 1935, will have been reduced less than 2,000,000 bales from the high in 1932, according to present indications.

Foreign cotton-producing countries have increased production to offset largely America's enforced reduction. It is this large increase in cotton production abroad which has prevented any great advance in the world gold price of cotton. The fact is, the world gold price is up less than a cent a pound from the average in the fall of 1932. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the advance in the price of cotton in the United States has been due very largely to the fact that the dollar is worth only 59.06 per cent of its 1932 value.

Total supplies of cotton in the United States February 1 were 11,994,000 bales, compared with 13,579,000 bales last year, 14,617,000 bales two seasons ago and an all-time high of 15,749,000 bales three seasons ago. Dr. Cox said in his monthly cotton balance sheet. Normal supplies at this time of year are about 9,500,000 to 10,000,000 bales. The net decline in the supply of cotton in the United States and of American cotton in and about to European parts is 2,532,000 bales.

"Calculated price changes based on the average demand-supply-price relations prevailing during the past seven years indicate that the index price calculated on the Bureau of Labor Statistics wholesale index number should be about 428 points above the price on this date last year calculated on supplies of American cotton only," he said.

"The calculated price of middling 7-8 inch spot cotton in New Orleans based on changes in supply and spinners margin should be about 15.50 cents. Calculations based on average percentage change between supply and price indicate a price of 15.35 cents.

Prices of both cotton and yarn declined during January, he added. The yarn declined relatively a little less than cotton so that the spinners ratio between the price of middling 7-8 inch cotton in Liverpool to 32's twist yarn in Manchester advanced from 153 in De-

January 31, 6,612,000 yards, were down 23 per cent from December and 57 per cent from a year ago. Active spindles, totaling 121,818, were down 2 per cent and 24 per cent respectively from the previous month and from January a year ago; while spindle hours were slightly below December but sharply below January last year.

The cotton textile industry of Texas is still in the doldrums although in a few cases the January statistics were better than the month before, he concluded. Cotton consumed totaled 3,125 bales, an increase of 35 per cent over the previous month but 44 per cent below January, 1934. Cloth produced, 3,758,000 yards, was up 4 per cent from the previous month but 34 per cent under January a year ago; unfilled orders on January 31, 6,612,000 yards, were down 23 per cent from December and 57 per cent from a year ago. Active spindles, totaling 121,818, were down 2 per cent and 24 per cent respectively from the previous month and from January a year ago; while spindle hours were slightly below December but sharply below January last year.

WILLIAMSTOWN, N. C.—Texas farmers of North Carolina's "Bright Leaf" belt, still feeling the thrill of high prices brought by their product last fall, have begun work on the next crop. Large piles of wood are stacked against tobacco barns in preparation for the summer's curing. Seed beds have been cleared off and, in many instances, the seeds already planted in them.

"OUT OUR WAY" - - - - - By Williams

SILKEN SPINDLES

by Laura Lu Brockman © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Gale Henderson, pretty and 23, works in a silk mill. She and her 19-year-old brother, Phil, support their invalid father.

Steve Meyers, who also works in the mill, asks Gale to marry him. She delays giving the answer. Meanwhile, she meets Brian Westmore, whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian is much attracted to Gale but, through the trickery of Vicky Thatcher, society beauty, Gale concludes Brian's at- tentions are insincere.

Vicky, whose father, Robert Thatcher, is general manager of the mill, is scheming to win Brian for herself.

Phil loses his job. He is arrested, accused of shooting Ed Vogel, another mill employee, in a street fight. Gale, frightened and dis- tracted, waits for Steve to come with news. There is a knock at the door and she rushes to open it.

CHAPTER XLIV

Brian Westmore said, "May I come in? I'd like to talk to you for a few moments."

He stood in the doorway, almost filling it. He looked very tall and very handsome—his face a trifle paler than Gale remembered it. Or perhaps that was only the effect of the darkness. Gale, who had been sure it was Steve when she heard the knock on the door, still showed her surprise. She said, "Why, yes. Come in."

Brian crossed the threshold. He stood in the shabbily furnished living room with its table lamp casting an arc of yellow radiance on the faded rug and he looked slight- ly ill at ease.

"You said you wanted to see me," Gale prompted. "Yes—yes, I did."

Still he hesitated. Gale, remem- bering her manners added, "Won't you sit down?"

Brian dropped to the nearest chair. "I didn't hear until a few hours ago," he went on, "about the trouble last night. I mean the trouble your brother's in. I came because I thought there might be something I could do. If there is I'll be awfully glad to do it."

"Thank you," Gale's eyes met his squarely. "But there isn't any- thing."

"I'm sorry. I was hoping—" "There isn't anything," Gale re- peated. "Phil has to stay—where he is for a while. There's nothing anyone can do about it."

"You've employed a lawyer?" "Not yet."

"But you should! That's the very first thing you should do."

"I know," Gale told him. "We're trying to get one, but lawyers don't seem to want clients who haven't any money—at least the ones we've tried so far."

"But I know plenty of lawyers. I'll get one for you."

Gale shook her head. "No thank you," she said. "Phil wouldn't want you to do that—and neither would I."

"See here!" Brian leaned for- ward, emphasizing the words, "Your brother's in a bad spot, don't you realize that? This thing is liable to become serious. I don't want to frighten you, but if Vogel should die—"

Gale got to her feet. "I know," she said. "If Vogel dies Phil will be tried for murder. And he's in- nocent. He didn't have any more to do with that shooting than you or I. The men who shot him did it simply lying, that's all. They tried to frame Phil. They think they can do it, but they can't. I'll work—I'll do anything to save him!"

"But you can't do it alone. You've got to have help. You'll need a smart lawyer—one of the best. Let me get—"

Gale interrupted sharply. "No," she said. "There's nothing you can do, Mr. Westmore, for Phil—or for me."

"You mean that?" "I certainly do."

Brian's eyes sought hers, held them. A moment more and he rose to his feet. "Well," he said slow- ly, "if that's the way you feel about it I guess there's nothing more to say. Unless you change your mind. If you should—"

"I won't change it," Gale told him. Her cheeks were colorless but her eyes seemed unnaturally bright.

"Just the same, if you should I'll be glad to hear from you." He was at the door now, his hand on the knob. "I'll be glad to hear from you," he repeated, "in case you change your mind. Good night."

Gale closed the door and turned away.

Twenty-four hours can seem an endless time. Gale thought this, walking along the street beside Steve. It had been 24 hours—even a little more than that—since she had seen her brother. Twenty-four hours of hoping, waiting. Twenty-four hours of telling herself that somehow things would be all right, that none of the dreadful things she had imagined were going to happen.

She hadn't wanted to come out tonight, but Steve had insisted. They were on their way to "the meeting."

Steve had said, "It's better for you to get out and see people than to stay cooped up at home."

"But I don't want to see peo- ple!" "It's better for you," Steve in- sisted. "Besides, Phil would want you to."

Gale knew that was true. That was why she had decided to come, finally.

There were things to be grate- ful for tonight. Steve had succeed- ed in finding a lawyer to take Phil's case. He was a young lawyer and Gale had not been greatly reassured by his appearance. But he had promised to represent Phil and to wait a reasonable length of time for payment of his charges. That meant a great deal. The lawyer had talked in legal terms that had at first confused and then en- couraged Gale. Since there was no money for bail, the lawyer ex- plained there was no hope of ar- ranging Phil's release. Even with bail it would have been difficult, probably impossible. While Vogel's life hung in the balance the charges would be delayed. Mean- while, the lawyer would "look into" the facts.

Gale held to Steve's arm, walk- ing down the street. It steadied her somehow, made it easier to think of going into the meeting.

"What are they going to talk about tonight, Steve?" "Oh—more about getting new members, I guess. Phil's got a lot of friends in this crowd, Gale. A lot of them think that fight the other night was a frame-up. They think Vogel planned the whole thing."

"But why would he do that?" "Oh, he didn't plan it the way it worked out, of course. Some- thing went wrong. He didn't plan to get hurt himself. I wish I'd been there to see what really hap- pened."

"Those who were there don't seem to know much about it." "No—"

They had come to the house where the meeting was to be held. Steve knocked and they were ad- mitted. A dozen or more men and women stood about. Some of them were in small groups, talking earnestly. Others smiled, exchang- ing jokes. Josie Gridley crossed to where Gale stood.

"I'm glad you came," Josie said. "I was afraid you wouldn't."

"Steve thought I ought to."

"Let's go over there and sit down," Josie suggested. "The chairs will be gone by the time everyone gets here."

They made their way to the chairs and sat down. Josie was in her usual high spirits, chatter- ing brightly. Gale scarcely lis- tened. She saw the door open and two girls whom she knew entered. A minute later, three men came in. Joe Gillaspie saw Gale and came over and spoke to her.

Joe said, "Don't you worry— Phil's goin' to come out of this all right."

"I try to make myself believe it."

"Sure he will!"

By EL MERLE

How great then is this thing called courage. With it we can face all odds and win our goal. We are never defeated until we admit defeat and we never admit defeat so long as we have courage to go on. We learn to be firm and calm in any position, through any trial; to bear pain of mind or body unflinchingly; to smile and help some one else along in spite of our own troubles. We learn not to whine, regardless of what our lot may be.

We can plainly see that gaining courage, if we do not have it, makes better, finer, men and women of us; gives us greater strength of character. We realize that cour- age does not always come easily to us, for often we have to gain it by hard struggle and patient waiting. It may be gained little by little as we progress along the path of time toward the wider horizon of a dull life well spent.

Each time that we lift ourselves from a pit into which we have fallen we add a little to our store of courage; we gain a little more to help us up the next time we stumble.

SENIOR NEWS

We are eagerly awaiting the ar- rival of our personal cards. They are to be here the latter part of the week.

We certainly enjoyed the ad- dress by Mr. Clayton Eldridge, county superintendent, Monday morning on prohibition. We invite you to return and give more of your splendid addresses.

JUNIOR NEWS

The junior play practice has been postponed until next week because it interferes with basket ball practice.

All six weeks examinations are over and everyone is anxiously waiting to learn the grades. Re- port cards will probably be given out Thursday.

POEM FOR TODAY

Do you dread the task,
That each day may bring;
Would you like to put off,
Doing that thing.

—JEAN ADAMS

Sophomore News

We regret to say that our little sophomore reporter, Florence Reeves, has been ill for the past few days. We hope you will soon recover, Florene.

Freshman News

Almost all of us showed a great improvement in our six-weeks test grades.

Virgie Sue Wyatt has dropped two of our subject, algebra and history. We shall miss you from these classes, Virgie Sue.

In 10 minutes more the room was filled. Joe stood up where ev- eryone could see him and said, "Fellow workers, we ain't goin' to wait any longer. This is the time we said the meeting would start and we're goin' to start it."

"Mr. Chairman—" A small man with bushy, dark brows got to his feet. "Since our last meeting," he went on, "one of our members—one of our most active members—has found himself in a very un- fortunate situation. You all know who I'm talkin' about. And you know that the other party in the case is an enemy of every member of this organization. The two who made the charges against our member are enemies. Fellow work- ers, I believe—and I know there are others here who believe the same thing—that our member was framed. I believe Ed Vogel is in the hospital tonight because the bullet that was intended for Phil Henderson hit Vogel instead."

"Fellow workers, the bosses are hiring stool pigeons to watch you all day in the mill and at night on the streets. You aren't safe anywhere. They're armed with guns."

The words died in the sound of smashing wood and breaking glass.

SPORT NEWS

The Girls played Colony last Wednesday night at Eastland in one of their best games. They were defeated by a score of 23-19, but they were leading at half, 8 to 10. The starting lineup for Olden was: Forwards, Edwards, F. Young, Norton; guards, B. Young, O. Owens, Oglesby. Subs were: Wynne, D. Owens, Adams.

The girls have been working out every afternoon and are in good condition and we expect to give Colony plenty of competition Fri- day afternoon. We urge every- one to attend the tournament and root for us, for we need plenty of en- couragement.

Coach H. C. Scruggs took three members of the track team, A. C. Gibson, Elzo Gullett, and G. W. Curry and participated in a trial track meet Saturday, March 2. These boys made a good showing and the track team, with these boys, is well balanced. We are very optimistic toward winning the county championship this year. We urge everyone to help us in win- ning the all-round championship again this year.

DOPE

I do wish Charles Magill would be a little more explicit as to how he got that beautiful red lip-stick on his collar the other night. He didn't know I was listenin' in when he mentioned it and when I polit- ely inquired about it he tried to tell me he had been hugging a telephone post. Pass-t, Charles, send her to me and I will tell her a brand of lipstick that won't come off, no matter how quickly she ducks her head.

Lena, was a certain young man angry the other night when you just couldn't get away from your other boy friend?

I hear that Arlean and Cather- ine are going ga-ga over a certain giant from Cross Plains—

It seems as though Joe Barney fell for a certain little girl from Strawn Saturday night. What about it Joe Barney?

About the beginning of the week Max and Ruth seemed to be pretty chummy. I wonder if this means anything—

Hey, Red, as you want a job? This skating rink seems to be a bad influence on our students. I, personally, know of three couples who have become engaged there, but being the kind-hearted person that I am, I won't tell—yet!

Charles Magill seems to need some help with his letter writing. Won't some nice little girl help him a bit?

It seems that one Fred Gray of Ranger, doesn't care to have his name in print. Better watch, Fred- die, or I'll get something on you yet. Lena has told me the most amusing joke about you that hap-

GARDEN HINTS

By J. F. ROSBOROUGH, Extension Horticulturist

Spinach is a failure if planted on poorly drained soil or if planted on acid soils. To grow it suc- cessfully in sandy land, plant on raised rows to insure drainage. Before planting apply 5 to 10 lbs. of wood ashes for each 100 feet of row. Soak the seed 48 hours before planting to hasten germination.

Chinese Cabbage. I want to recommend this queer looking type of cabbage to you. To grow it, plant seed in a hotbed in the near future and transplant into the garden by March 20th. Set the plants in rows that have been heavily manured, spacing them about a foot apart. This type of cabbage has the best flavor of any cabbage known.

Planting carrots to come up. There are too many complaints of "carrots not coming up." To correct this trouble, cover the seed with about a half inch of rotted manure at time of planting. This material will not pack or crust over. The tiny carrot plants will come up through it and grow off in a jiffy. Try it and see.

Tomato Plants: Remedy for plants beginning to crowd and become spindly in the box. Make a temporary coldframe by forking up the soil and boxing in a small area on the south side of one of the buildings in the yard. If some glass sash is not available to go over the small frame built around the plants, you can make a cover of muslin cloth. Each morning open the top and allow the plants to become exposed to out- door conditions. Where there is a limited area to be planted, the plants may be transplanted from the hotbed in cans, one plant to each can. When the plants are large enough, they may be set in the garden.

Lions Club Provides Class With Chairs

The Lions club at its last meeting appointed a committee composed of W. E. C.asley, E. A. Ringold and Dr. H. A. Logsdon to provide chairs for the kindergarten and nursing school being conducted in the Regis building under the federal education program in Range.

The committee secured lumber from several firms, paint from another and hired two men to build the chairs, which are sturdily constructed and well painted.

The work was done in the Ranger fire station, where the facilities of the workshop were offered and the work supervised. The chairs, of three sizes and numbering 35 have been completed and were ready, Thursday morning, for use in the nursing school. The outlay of money and materials on the part of the Lions club was very little, as many co-operated in helping to furnish the materials.
