Restrictions On Parking Passed by City Commission

The Ranger City commission has passed a resolution prohibiting parking of cars in the 50-foot zone in front of the Arcadia theatre.

In explaining the action it was stated that this was done for safety reasons, and to cut down traffic hazards on that section of Main street.

Many people stop in front of the theatre to let passengers get out of automobiles, and with cars parked in front of the theatre they are forced to "double park" for a few minutes, thereby causing a hazard to the traffic along the street, it was said today.

Suitable signs are being installed to warn the public against parking in the restricted area. Roy Mosson, city secretary, said today, and the police will enforce the parking regulations strictly in the future.

Those who drive up to the theatre to discharge passengers from their cars can pull in to the curb, back out and drive on, but no parking will be allowed in the 50-foot space directly in front of the theatre, it was stated.

AGED PIONEER DIES

Britain's Ace in Peace Game

Captain Anthony Eden, lord privy seal of Britain, is the youthful roving ambassador in whose diplomatic ability rests much of Europe's hope for peace. His rapid rise into the innermost international councils of Europe when not yet 38 years old is the sensation of recent political history, marked by his fight for an effective League of Nations and for disarmament.

300,000 FOR CCC CAMPS IS POSSIBLE

WASHINGTON, April 12.—President Roosevelt today was informed that 300,000 more young men can be given outdoor jobs in the CCC within probably 60 days as one of the work relief moves. Mr. Roosevelt devoted most of his time to personal direction of the $4,880,000,000 employment program in which the CCC will be the first to swing into action. He discussed the CCC program with Director Fechner. Fechner said the CCC could be expanded from 300,000 to 600,000 in 60 days. The army will build the necessary 1,500 additional camps throughout the country.

Silver Boost Is Nicely Timed By Pres. Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, April 12.—President Roosevelt's six-cent boost in domestic silver prices to slightly more than 71 cents an ounce was timed accidentally or intentionally to checkmate the senate silver bloc which wants to freeze silver to gold at the ratio of 16 to 1. The fact is Mr. Roosevelt and congress are playing their annual game of currency hide and seek. The game began two years ago when the president decided to save trouble by accepting the Thomas inflation bill which became a rider to an agricultural appropriation.

Rising Star Boy at Journalism Congress

LUBBOCK, Texas, April 12.—Wayne Sellers of Rising Star and 17 other journalism students of Texas Technological college are attending the Southwestern Journalism congress at Louisiana State university, Baton Rouge, April 12 and 13. Hines will take office immediately upon confirmation of his appointment by the senate. Commissioner John Wood of Austin and D. K. Martin of San Antonio have scheduled a session for April 19 to open bids on highway work, estimated to cost $1,680,000. Commissioner Ely was an appointee of former Governor Dan Moody and is the oldest member of the commission in point of service.

Children Give An Interesting Program At Lion's Meeting

The Lions club at their regular meeting Thursday in the colonial room of the Gholson saw a very worthwhile and well-acted playlet under the direction of Mrs. George Robinson, teacher in Hodges Oak Park school who was presented by the program chairman, W. B. Crossley.

At the beginning of the program Miss Mary Edlo Davenport at the piano presented a group of 5th grade Health class pupils in two clever song-and-action numbers, which was very pretty with the following little girls in their blue uniforms: Katherine Thomas, Jackeline Dutton, Beverly Smith, Doris Goforth, Zoe Arrington, Billie Fry, Virginia Westfall, Gladys Lowry and Norma Nell Blanchard.

"Changing 'Careless City' Into 'Careful Town,'" the play, which was worked up by Mrs. Robinson for presentation during Ranger's own clean-up and general safety campaign, showed how a careless town could be changed into a careful town if the people co-operate with the heads of the city departments.

Act I gave the careless condition of the town. Act II gave the plans for improvement. Act III showed what improvements had been made. Sidney Bowlin acted as mayor, Mary Claude Blacklock as the mayor's secretary, Donald Ervin as park commissioner, Hobby Lester as school superintendent, J. T. Arrington as street commissioner, Herman Bryan as police chief, Billy Houghton as a distinguished citizen, Wayne Judy as a boy who knew how to sound the fire alarm, Frank Champion as health officer, Desdie Mae Jones, a woman whose home had been burned through carelessness, Margaret McClesley, a woman whose child had been crippled by a careless accident, and Doris Anderson, a woman who was working for cleaner and safer streets and roads. Each head of the city department was responsible for a definite part of the work of making the "Careful Town," and each told what had been done in the presentation of the last act.

Robert E. Sweeney of Fort Worth who was in Ranger yesterday to consult with the Lions club minstrel committee was a guest at the luncheon. Lion president, Col. Brasher, added A. N. Larson and Charles J. Moore to the minstrel committee which had been composed of W. B. Crossley, Floyd Killingsworth and Dr. D. T. Weir and told them every member of the club was behind them and willing to show with them in staging the show and urged that practice be begun at once so that everything would be in readiness early in May as planned.

WHEAT AT $1 A BUSHEL

CHICAGO, April 12.—One-dollar-a-bushel wheat became a reality today for the first time in several months as a late buying movement sent prices up 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents a bushel.

HARRY HINES NAMED HEAD OF ROAD GROUP

AUSTIN, April 12.—Harry Hines of Wichita Falls, oil operator, today was appointed chairman of the state highway commission by Gov. James Allred, succeeding Justice W. R. Ely of Abilene. Hines will take office immediately upon confirmation of his appointment by the senate. Commissioner John Wood of Austin and D. K. Martin of San Antonio have scheduled a session for April 19 to open bids on highway work, estimated to cost $1,680,000. Commissioner Ely was an appointee of former Governor Dan Moody and is the oldest member of the commission in point of service.

District W.W.M. To Meet at Cisco

The 27th annual meeting of district 17 of the Texas W. M. U. will be held at the First Baptist church of Cisco on April 16 and 17. It has been announced here. Mrs. G. W. Thomas of Ranger will appear on the program on Wednesday morning.

Ray Hamilton's Partner Will Not Give Up He Says

By United Press. MCKINNEY, April 12.—Sheriff Walker said today Ralph Fuitts, a former convict, until recently the partner of Raymond Hamilton, kidnaped Cecil Howell, 21, farm youth, early today and held him prisoner until noon.

The youth was released east of McKinney after Fuitts stole a new Ford V-8 car.

Howell said the convict told him he was getting desperate and would never be taken alive.

Large Area Is Covered By Oil Belt Safety Meet

According to those in charge of arrangements for the Oilbelt Safety Conference to be held in Ranger on April 29, the invitation roster in connection with this meeting will extend to quite a sizeable list of companies and industries. Among others, invitations have been extended to the employee personnel and the families connected with the following:

The committee has also extended invitations to the city officials of several of the Oilbelt towns, together with the officers and members of a number of our civic organizations, as well as the faculty of the public schools.

F.F.A. Sponsors Hi Scholol Chapel

A chapel program sponsored by the Future Farmers of America, at the high school auditorium this morning featured "Three Shades of Rhythm" and the American Legion Tivoli band.

The band dedicated its first number to the Ranger Bulldogs and Coach Red Moore and the last, "How Ya Gonna Keep 'Em Down on a Farm" to the Future Farmers.

The Eastern Star and Youth's Fraternity will render their Palm Sunday program Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the A. M. E. church. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The loyal colored citizens had their trash ready for the wagon near the colored churches.

The Texas Federation of Colored Women's Clubs of Ranger is supplying milk daily at the colored school for 8 or 10 undernourished children. The milk is bought from Ciemmer's Dairy.

The Colored Adult school is still progressing nicely under the instruction of Christine Small, and is very helpful to those who will attend.

C.C. Membership Committee Pleased With Its Success

Members of the membership committee of the Chamber of Commerce today thanked the people of Ranger for the hearty co-operation with which the drive met early this week.

It was impossible for the members of the various committees to canvass the residential sections of the town for individual members, but a number voluntarily came in to the Chamber of Commerce today, and it was stated today.

The committee said it appreciated the spirit shown by these citizens and said they believed the Chamber of Commerce was one that deserves the support of the entire citizenship.

A list of those who took out memberships is now being compiled and prepared for publication, and the committee will be glad to have any others call at the Chamber of Commerce office and enroll, in order that as many names as possible might be included in the list of individual members.

DUST STORMS ARE THINNING OVER STATES

KANSAS CITY, April 12.—Thinning as it spread, the dust blanket was rapidly disappearing today from the middle and southwest.

It appeared that the soil in the drifted areas of Western Kansas and the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles, where all the dust storms have originated, might remain quiet for a few hours.

There was a chance, however, that a north wind sweeping across the Dakotas into Kansas might develop sufficient velocity to send the dust soaring again.

At Garden City, Kansas, the sky became visible for the first time in four days.

DALLAS, April 12.—Texans washed behind their ears today and looked out on skies clearing of dust which curtailed the state from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande yesterday. The storm brought damage amounting to millions.

Only in South and West Texas did the top soil remain in the air. Panhandle residents were cheered by telegrams from Congressman Marvin Jones and Carl Hinton, Amarillo Chamber of Commerce secretary in Washington, informing them the government was releasing $500,000 for soil erosion control in the Panhandle.

Chinese Grocer Is Victim of Robbers

HOUSTON, April 12.—An aged Chinese grocerman, victim of an attack with meat cleavers, today was in a hospital.

Yuan Lin, 60, was found unconscious by George Lin, 39, a clerk, when the latter reported for work. A bloody cleaver was found near the victim.

Officers believed the attacker waited in hiding behind a pile of boxes until Yuan Lin retired. Robbery was believed the motive. The owner of the store reported $106 missing.

Utility Regulation Scores First Point

AUSTIN, April 12.—Governor Allred's utility regulation plan won its first skirmish as the utility battle opened in the house today.

Speaker Stevenson overruled an eight-page point of order against the utility bill. Representative W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi presented the objection. He contended the bill could not legally be considered unless the original bill was printed and given to members for comment with the substitute.

The bill sets up a state commission with state-wide power to regulate the utility rates.

MAJOR CITIES TO GET MOST FROM RELIEF

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The nation's major cities will receive the bulk of the $4,880,000,000 work relief fund, high officials indicated today.

More than half of the 20,500,000 on relief rolls are crowded into metropolitan centers. President Roosevelt announced employment projects would be financed to meet local needs.

Publisher Dead

An outstanding figure in modern journalistic history, Adolph S. Ochs, 77 (above), publisher of the New York Times and the Chattanooga, Tenn., Times, died unexpectedly in Chattanooga.

OIL COMPANY CHARGED WITH VIOLATING 7-A

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Oil Administrator Harold Ickes ruled today the American Petroleum Company of Houston, had violated section 7-A of the oil code by refusing to bargain with employees in its refinery at Norworthy.

The firm, Ickes said, had not recognized the International Association of Oil Field Gas Well and Refinery Workers of America, although the majority of its workers had chosen the union.

Unless the company notifies him within 20 days that it has recognized the union, he said, the case will be transferred to the department of justice.

Students' Strike Called Out Many

The student "strike" against law drew many thousands of students from their classes for one hour today with youthful leaders estimating a participation of 150,000 in demonstrations throughout the nation.

A cold, drizzling rain in New York and other eastern sections forced many demonstrations indoors.

Police guards were provided for many mass meetings where there were threats of violence by opponents of the strikers. At Columbia university leaders faced an estimated 4,000 students. New York college and school students were estimated at close to 30,000.

Equipment Taken From Automobile Of Eastland Man

While parked at the residence of F. V. Williams on South Seaman street in Eastland Wednesday night, an automobile of Carl Springer's was stripped of equipment valued at approximately $35, officers reported today.

Equipment taken from the car included two horns, a sun visor and a gear shift knob. Steele Hill, county officer, said.

BACKED BY ITALY TODAY AT A PARLEY

Gives Reports On Germany's Secret Rearmament Works.

By United Press. STRESA, April 12.—France brought into the allied security conference today a long-secret report on German armament and demanded prompt and severe punishment for future violations of the World War treaty.

Backed by Italy, France seeks action, not words, to curb Germany and prevent others of the World War vanquished from following her example.

Her first memorandum to the League of Nations already toned down so that Germany was not denounced individually for past violations, France wants definite automatic, immediate penalties for future violations.

She took into the conference today her revised draft. With it Premier Pierre Laval and Laval took the army's report on secret German armament.

That there was such a report has been known for months. It has been a magnet for hordes of spies over Europe and the object of interest of military experts.

Bit-by-bit it had been sent by the French army general staff by intelligence agents as Germany's secret armament proceeded—as factory after factory went on war work, as military air force matching Great Britain's, came into being.

Fetiring Marginal Farm Land May Solve Two Problems

The system whereby the American government paid its farmers to grow less food, in a time when many people would have a hard time finding enough to eat, is on the verge of being dismantled, according to recent advices from Washington.

In its place, it is said, may come a scheme whereby the necessary crop restriction will be attained through retirement of marginal land. And while any restrictive plan may look odd to people brought up in the belief that a granary can't be too full, it seems obvious that the new idea would be a good deal more logical than the old.

The Department of Agriculture hopes to kill two birds with one stone. It wants to check soil erosion as well as eliminate over-production. The retirement of marginal land offers itself as a program which can accomplish both ends.

Under present plans, approximately $1,000,000,000 of public works funds will be used to set up and finance the land retirement program.

Experts believe that millions of acres now being farmed should be withdrawn from production. In the first place, their cultivation makes them especially subject to erosion by wind and water. Deprived of its original cover, the topsoil is irreclaimably dissipated; eventually, if present trends continue unchecked, the land will be permanently worthless.

In addition, this land contributes directly to farm surpluses. It may be a hard pill to swallow, but we might as well recognize the fact that the American farmer has been producing more than he can possibly sell at a profit—has been doing it ever since the World War.

Unless his lost markets can be restored—and that, under present conditions, seems impossible—he must cut down on his production if he is to be prosperous.

The present way of meeting that situation is admittedly unsatisfactory. There is something so incongruous about paying men to raise less wheat and cotton and hogs at a time when millions of people are suffering for want of food and clothing that we can hardly expect to make this scheme permanent.

The land retirement idea looks like the answer to both problems. It calls for national planning in its best sense—a far-reaching, carefully devised plan to use our agricultural resources for the best interests of all the people.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS By Blosser

"OUT OUR WAY" By Williams

The Newfangles (Mom 'n' Pop) By Cowen

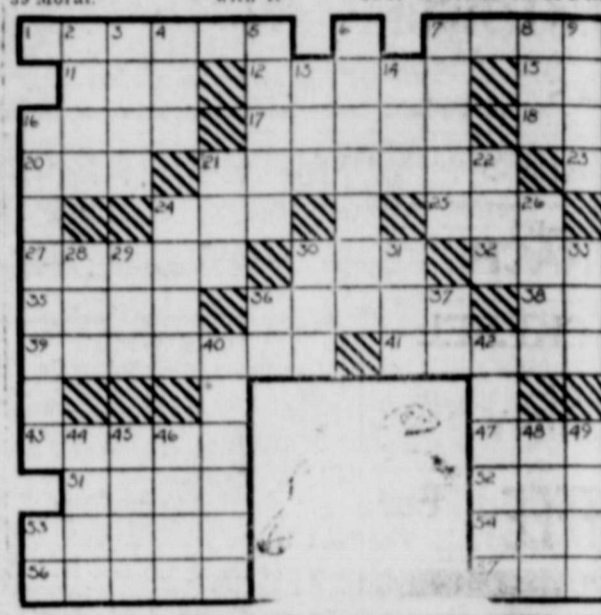

Begin here today Millicent Graves, secretary to George Drimford, finds her employer in his office dead. Jarvis Happ, a stranger, offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty shop where she is transformed into a brunet, then takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. She meets Jarvis' son, Norman; his stepson, Robert Caise; Mrs. Happ; and Vera Duchene. Mrs. Happ's maid. That night a note under her door informs Millicent, "The woman in black ermine is here." Millicent sees the woman, tries to follow, but loses her. Millicent goes to the chauffeur's quarters. The chauffeur is dead from a bullet wound. Next morning Sergeant Mahoney takes charge of the case. Fingerprints are found on a whiskey bottle in the chauffeur's rooms. By means of a trick Sergeant Mahoney secures Millicent's fingerprints. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVI Detective Buchanan, observing what had happened, stepped forward and said, "Make her roll her fingers over the pad." Sergeant Mahoney shook his head, stared at the ink imprints on the pad of paper. "These," he said, "are sufficient. That's the type of print you'd find on a flask. You wouldn't find a rolled print on a glass bottle." Millicent, having jerked her hand free, regarded the inked tips of her fingers indignantly. Then she glanced, with something of a panic in her eyes, over to the pad of white paper which Sergeant Mahoney was holding. She saw that the tips of her fingers had left very legible prints on the specially prepared paper. "Would you," asked Sergeant Mahoney, "mind giving us your rolled fingerprints, Miss Graves? That is, take your fingers one at a time, roll them over the inked pad, and then roll them over the them. You'll also know better than to tell other suspects when that evidence has been destroyed. If you'd had sense enough to tell Miss Graves her fingerprints checked identically with the fingerprints on that flask I think she'd have made a statement. As it is, she'll take advantage of the situation by keeping quiet." Buchanan stared at Sergeant Mahoney with a crestfallen expression. "I'm sorry," he blurted. "I didn't think I was so interested in letting you know what had happened. I think we should concentrate every effort on finding out who smashed that whisky flask." Sergeant Mahoney got to his feet, nodded slowly. "Did you say that Jarvis Happ gave you his key to the study?" he asked. "He surrendered it temporarily, yes." "You explained to him why you wanted him to do so?" "Yes, I told him I had to have an absolutely safe place in which I could leave a valuable piece of evidence." "You didn't leave him in the study with the flask?" "Certainly not. I put the flask in the study where it would be available for the fingerprint specialist. Then I left the study myself and saw that Mr. Happ left. I locked the door and put the key in my pocket—that is, there's a spring lock on the door. I pulled it shut and the lock clicked into position. The key was in my pocket." "Did you try the door to make certain it was locked?" "Of course."

"Keys to that study," Sergeant Mahoney said slowly, "are in the possession of virtually everyone in this house, with the exception of Miss Graves. That is, almost every one of the servants can get into the study if they want to badly enough. A key is accessible to them." "If we'll hurry," Detective Buchanan said, "we can make inquiries immediately." Sergeant Mahoney walked slowly toward the door, opened it, stood at one side for Buchanan to leave the room, then turned and stared steadily at Millicent. "You understand, Miss Graves," he said, "that you're under a grave cloud of suspicion. Under no circumstances are you to attempt to leave this house without my permission." He pulled the door shut behind him with the ominous finality of one who clangs the door of a cell upon an unfortunate prisoner. Millicent got to her feet, her heart pounding. She stared at the door through which the men had gone. So someone had smashed that tell-tale whisky flask! Her fingerprints were stamped on it. Now they could never be identified. If she kept her head, it could never be proven that she had been in Harry Felding's room... except for that handkerchief. She must do something about that handkerchief. Suddenly she realized that if she told Mr. Happ frankly that she had tried to follow the woman in the black ermine coat he would understand. In fact, Millicent realized that she only needed to tell the entire truth, up to the time she returned to the house and sat in that wicker chair on the front porch. She could tell Jarvis Happ that she had used the borrowed front door key just as soon as she returned to the house. Happ would believe her. She regarded her ink-stained fingers, stepped into her bathroom to wash the ink stains from her hands. The ink came off readily enough with the aid of soap and a scrubbing brush. She dried her hands, surveyed herself in the mirror, made up her mind that she would go directly to Mr. Happ and explain to him just why she had borrowed Bob Caise's automobile. She stepped from her bathroom, opened the door to her room, and suddenly recoiled. A masked man, wearing an overcoat with the collar turned up around his neck, was ransacking the drawers of her dresser. He heard the sound of the door from the bathroom opening and swung around to face Millicent. She could see his eyes gleaming through the holes in the mask. Millicent gave a half-stifled scream. The masked figure extended his hands as though about to throttle her and slowly advanced, teeth bared, eyes glittering, nostrils distended. "If you scream," he announced in a hoarse voice, "I'll kill you. If you don't..." He broke off and chuckled meaningfully. That chuckle told Millicent more than words.

Special Hosiery Designed For Film Showing at Arcadia

A fashion show is a feature of a specialty number staged by Busby Berkeley in connection with the song "I Am Going Shopping With You" sung by Dick Powell in Warner Bros. picture, "Gold Diggers of 1935." The models appearing in the production are all dressed in stunning creations specially designed for this mammoth musical, which is playing at the Arcadia Theatre.

In assembling the costumes worn in this fashion show, as well as those worn by the principals in the picture, Orry-Kelly considered the importance of the slightest detail. He gave considerable attention to the stockings which had to harmonize perfectly with every costume.

"Because the eyes of the entire country are upon them, screen stars must have a sixth sense," declared Orry-Kelly. "They must always wear the advanced fashions... without being extreme. In their personal wardrobes, most screen actresses are as conservative as any group of women I know. But they do insist upon distinction, and the realize that distinction in dress is more than a matter of choosing the most outstanding fashions. It is a matter of perfection in the smallest details. It is this attention to every small detail, even to the correct weigh and shade of their stockings, that is winning for Hollywood stars the reputation of the best dressed women in the world."

The stockings used by Warner Bros. in this production are Mojud Clari-phanes, which are featured by J. C. Smith's Store in this city. And Mojud's Screenlite Shades were specially created for Mojud by Orry-Kelly.

"Hosiery chosen for the screen must be specially clear and beautiful," declared Mrs. Smith of this store. "Notice particularly the screen in the picture where Winnie Shaw, after returning from an evening of gaiety, takes off her stockings. In this close-up, it is especially important that the hosiery be sheer and flawless. Only a stocking like Mojud Clari-phanes can pass the exacting test of a screen close-up."

ENJOY MORE SUNNY DAYS

Your moods, your actions, your very personality—all are influenced by the state of your health. Avoid common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. This ailment may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. It takes the color out of living.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a natural laxative food, furnishes you with this needed "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN remains effective with continued use. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Isn't this cereal food better than patent medicines?

ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B and iron. Serve it as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, waffles, etc. It's much more satisfactory than part-bran products. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

'GOLD DIGGER' CHORUS GIRLS DECLARED MOST BEAUTIFUL

The widest door through the strong but invisible walls that surround Hollywood, is located in Busby Berkeley's office.

During the past two years Busby Berkeley has picked at least two thousand girls for his various choruses and spectacles.

It is too early yet to know how many of the girls originally selected by Berkeley for "42nd Street," "The Kid From Spain," "Footlight Parade," "Wonder Bar" or the forthcoming "Gold Diggers of 1935," the latest First National mammoth musical which comes to the Arcadia Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, will finally become stars or featured players in pictures, but there are a number of likely candidates for such honors.

In pictures, Berkeley's name has come to be associated automatically with beauty, much as the name of the late Ziegfeld was considered synonymous with beautiful choruses on the New York stage.

But where Ziegfeld selected one, or at the most two choruses a year, Berkeley picks four or five groups of two to four hundred girls each, every year he works in pictures.

All of which makes his office the most impressive "open sesame" to Hollywood.

When the call goes out that Berkeley is casting for a new musical, there is real excitement in Hollywood.

The girls begin to gather, and those who have been in his previous productions immediately make arrangements to apply.

Most of the applicants have sufficient experience to realize that he requires something more than a pretty face and a personable figure.

Berkeley's girls have to know how to dance and dance well, because his routines are always difficult and intricate.

All of which makes it a real distinction to be known as a "Berkeley girl."

Berkeley sees all applicants in groups varying in numbers from 50 to 500. He is kindly, efficient and amazingly rapid in making his choice.

He culls and sorts, eliminates and arranges and about one in every ten is made happy by the news that she may return a second day.

He has, however, the happy faculty of dismissing the others without hurting their feelings and without intimating by look or word that he thinks they are neither pretty enough nor smart enough to have a place in his chorus.

"Scarce as real beauty is in the world," says Berkeley, "there is still a plentiful supply in and around Hollywood. It would be unfair to urge the pretty girls of other cities to come to California on the pretext that they will find a job in the movies."

The chances are at least ten to one against them. However, enough of them always ignore this advice to keep Hollywood well stocked with acceptable chorus material.

I like new faces. I like to work with new people. When a girl shows ability and intelligence, I am glad to urge her to get out of chorus work and to make a try for something better on the screen.

At least 50 of the girls I have picked for musicals are now stock players with various studios."

The picture has one of the most imposing casts of any First National production, including Dick Powell, Adolphe Menjou, Gloria Stuart, Alice Brady, Glenda Farrell, Frank McHugh, Hugh Herbert, Joseph Cawthorn, Grant Mitchell, Dorothy Dare and Winifred Shaw.

The music and lyrics are by the famous song team of Harry Warren and Al Dubin with dances created and staged by Busby Berkeley who also directed the entire production from the screen play by Manuel Seff and Peter Milne taken from the story by Robert Lord and Milne.

Of course you need recreation, plenty of it—but your soul needs culture, too. It can best be nurtured by regular church attendance.

You would not live in a community without a church. Give it your support—your time, your brain, your thought, as well as your money. Come to church Sunday.

For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life through Christ Jesus our Lord.
