UTILITY BILL FAILS TO GET ENOUGH VOTES

AUSTIN, May 3.—Governor Allred's "brain trust" utility bill, which Dr. R. H. Montgomery, University of Texas economist, promises will have Texas' light and gas bills, today became the chief issue of the legislature. The bill was thrown into the foreground last night in a stormy senate session. The session was one limited by agreement to local bills and "uncontested bills."
Each senator prepared a list he wished to take up. If three hands rose in objection he had to withdraw it and suggest another. When the name of Senator Allan Snivers, Beaumont, was reached he called up the bill. It still bore the name of the measure drafted by Dr. Montgomery and passed in the house. A senate committee had recommended a substitute which prohibited cities from installing utility in competition to existing private plants, without first buying the private plant at a price to be fixed by a state commission. Shouts from protesting senators brought crowds flocking to the senate galleries.

Food for Thought About Business

Although facing consideration of momentous problems of American business, President Henry I. Harriman (left), of the United States Chamber of Commerce, seems to be devoting his entire attention to the important business of eating. Talking with him between bites at the luncheon opening the chamber's convention in Washington is Lawrence M. Judd, former governor of Hawaii.

KIDNAPING OF WITNESSES IS THOUGHT HOAX

GALLUP, N. M., May 3.—The sheriff and the chief of police today openly expressed doubt that David Levinson and Robert Misor, who came here to aid the defense of 10 accused rioters, were kidnaped. They indicated the kidnaping report was a hoax designed to attract attention to the trial of 10 men charged with murder in the eviction riot here April 4, in which the sheriff and two unemployed men were slain.
There was only one witness to the reported kidnaping by a "gang of hooded men." That witness was Mrs. Julia Bartol, wife of one of the defendants.
She said the hooded men seized Misor and Levinson while they were sitting with her in a parked car downtown discussing the riot cases. A night-long search failed to reveal a trace of the three car loads of abductors.

Pipe Line Bill Is Apparently Killed

AUSTIN, May 3.—Defeat of the proposed $60,000,000 natural gas pipe line from the Panhandle to Detroit and St. Louis, seemed likely today as the house refused to take it up out of order.
The bill cannot be reached in regular order before the session ends on May 11.
The vote was 76 yes and 57 no. Two-thirds vote is necessary to suspend regular order. Another attempt to get two-thirds vote may be made.

PANNING NEW DEAL CAUSES A NEW BREAK

WASHINGTON, May 3.—A break in the ranks of the nation's business leaders developed today over the United States Chamber of Commerce's harsh denunciation of the new deal.
New groups split over two of President Roosevelt's primary recovery measures, NRA and social security.
The Chamber of Commerce closed its convention with a boisterous denunciation of the entire new deal program. A group of 23 leaders went to the white house to assure the president of their support of his two important recovery measures.
The liberal leaders comprising the business advisory council of the department of commerce offered the president their support of the extension of NRA and enactment of a security program for aged indigent and unemployed.
The council was accompanied by Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper, who had defended the new deal before the chamber. Included in the group was Henry Harriman, retiring president of the chamber, who presided at the convention.

Wistful Juliana

Holland's future queen, Princess Juliana, is wistful and lonely in this informal picture, just received in America. Though she'll one day have a throne, romance has steered a wide course, all attempts to arrange a royal match for her having been without avail.

FLOODS BRING HAZARDS TO SOME AREAS

Seven Killed in Arkansas and Four in Kentucky By The Storms.
Tornadoes, electrical storms and wind-driven snow brought death to 11 persons, injuries to scores and caused untold property damage in the midwest last night. Floods brought additional hazard to the area.
Seven were killed by tornadoes in Arkansas, four others in Kentucky and property damage ran into millions of dollars. The twisters were accompanied by rain and historic Churchill Downs, groomed for the Kentucky Derby, slight damage was reported and it appeared the race would be run in the mud.
A snowstorm whipped across Wisconsin. Five inches of snow covered the ground and it still was falling.
The storm amounted to almost a blizzard near Lake Michigan, borne on a 40-mile wind.
Meanwhile torrential rains sent rivers to near the flood stage in Indiana and Illinois. Both the Wash and White rivers in Indiana were rising rapidly and railroad service on two lines was disrupted by washouts near Peoria, Ill.
Communication distorted by a half million dollar sheet storm in Minnesota has been restored.

Best Rehearsal of Lions Minstrel Is Staged Thursday

The Colonial ballroom of the Gholson hotel was the scene last night of some real hard work on the part of the members of the Lions Club Minstrel. A number of the younger players were absent on account of attending the Senior play but many of them had practiced earlier in the day in the groups in which they are to appear.
There are three practice nights left before the show on next Thursday night and they are to be as follows: on Monday night at the American Legion hall; on Tuesday night on the stage of the new Ranger Recreation building, where the minstrel will be shown, and on Wednesday night the dress rehearsal will be worked on the Recreation building stages.
A nearly as possible every man, woman, boy and girl who has any part in the show is being contacted in person and urged to make every one of the last three rehearsals. Those who are not called on or are out when called on are asked to accept this notice and be present.
Costumes are being procured in Fort Worth and Dallas this week-end by Director "Biscuit" Bob Sweeney and will be turned over to those who will wear them at Monday night rehearsal.
Tickets went on sale Thursday afternoon and some of the sellers have already been back to Clyde H. Davis, chairman of the finance committee for more to sell. R. F. Holloway has charge of two hundred special student tickets for the boys and girls of high school and junior college. These tickets went on sale at the school cost only 30 cents, a reduction in the adult price of 10 cents per ticket. The regular adult admission is 40 cents and the children's tickets are 20 cents.
In order to advertise the show in the neighboring towns a number of Lions are to visit the clubs and carry them an invitation to attend and also will place an display in the stores in each town placards telling of the minstrel.
P. A. Nelson and W. B. Crossly went to Breckenridge today at noon. Tuesday Dr. Harry A. Logston and A. N. Larson will visit the Eastland club. C. J. Moore and J. J. Kelly will go to Strawn and Dr. D. T. Wier and Floyd Kilgusworth will take the message of invitation to Cisco Wednesday at noon.

COMMITTEEN ELECT EASTLAND COUNTY FARMER TO MAKE TRIP TO WASHINGTON IN AAA DEFENSE

That Eastland county farmers are in accord with AAA policies and want enactment of legislation to guarantee their life for a long time was demonstrated at a called meeting of county and local production control committeemen at Eastland Thursday.
Committeemen voted to send Joe McNeeley, farmer who resides 12 miles southeast of Eastland, to Washington with other Texas farmers to thank the administration for benefits received.
Edgar Alton of Pleasant Hill, near Cisco, corn-hog committeeman, was elected alternate.
Over 35 local and county committeemen voted to send McNeeley to Washington to make the trip of demonstration of faith of the administration's agricultural policies.
McNeeley is a member of the peanut committee.
Expenses of the trip will be borne by members of the committee mutually.
McNeeley will leave from a Texas point with hundreds of Texas farmers May 12.
Insurance of support of Eastland county farmers in support of the program, recently the attack of some, will be made by McNeeley.
McNeeley promised that every senator and member of the house of representatives will be presented a horned toad from the county.
"I appreciate the honor," McNeeley thanked committeemen after his election.
"I feel like I'll enjoy the trip if everything is favorable. I appreciate your thinking I'll make a good representative whether I will or not," he responded to his election.
In conversation with the committeemen, C. Metz Heald, county agent, said he expected that cash benefits of the programs this year will approximate $200,000.
Figures given showed that 950 have signed peanut reduction contracts, 290 the corn-hog papers and 1,110 for the cotton program were expected to be secured.
G. W. Ewing, in charge of the cotton program, presided at the meeting.
A publicity committee to arouse interest in the trip was appointed in H. C. Davis, S. M. Doss, Eastland; June Hendricks, Kokomo, and Joe McNeeley.

35 TRUE BILLS RETURNED BY GRAND JURORS

Grand jurors of 88th district court headed by O. L. Duckett, foreman, ended their March labors late Thursday afternoon when they returned 35 indictments to Judge B. W. Patterson.
At a previous session, eight other "true bills" were reported, totaling 35 indictments returned for the March term.
All charged offenses were felonies.
Most of the indictments returned, District Attorney Grady Owen said, were for liquor offenses.
A majority of the reported offenders have been arrested, it was reported.

Employable Farm Families Are Not Eligible For Relief

County Administrator H. E. Driscoll has been instructed that it is not permissible to extend any form of relief, payable from general relief funds, to any employable farm family.
A farm family is defined as a family residing outside the limits of incorporated or unincorporated cities, towns, or villages, and who depend upon farming operations for the major portion of their income.
General relief funds may not be used for extending aid to farm families. They may receive aid in the form of advances through the rural corporation.
This regulation is effective May 2, and if work cards have been issued for relief to such families, such work cards will be recalled, and relief given in the form of advances secured by notes and mortgages, through the rural department.
"All families affected by this change will be classed as Group 3 rural rehabilitation families, and will continue to receive aid from our rural subsistence funds when such funds have been received. Such families will execute notes and mortgages after this date, but up to the present time, no rural subsistence funds have been received, although daily expected.
If a client transferred under these regulations receives subsistence advances, executing notes for same, and later it develops a waiver form cannot be secured from the landlord or other creditors, then the case shall be dropped completely, as provided in previous instructions covering Group 3 clients, and the client shall receive no further advances after the date creditor refuses to execute waivers.
County Administrator Driscoll announced that this morning a report was forwarded Austin, showing the total case load as of May 1, including all families (whether general relief or rural), total of all families transferred to rural rehabilitation as of May 1, total number of families dropped from relief on account of failure to secure waivers as of May 1, and total number of farm families on relief rolls as of May 1 which have not been transferred to rural rehabilitation, and which will be automatically transferred under the above instructions.
Upon Austin receiving the above report, allotments will be adjusted to provide a proper distribution of funds for the families remaining on relief and families transferred to the rural program, and we are herewith prohibited from expending general relief funds to give aid to any farm family. Hereafter farm families can receive aid only in the form of credit advances received the rural corporation.

SHORT NRA EXTENSION IS NOT FAVORED

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Speaker Joseph W. Byrnes said today he doubted the house would accept a temporary eight or nine month extension of NRA as proposed in the senate.
"It seems to me that if it is extended it should be for more than a few months, if it serves a good purpose," he said.
A distinct change in sentiment has occurred in regard to NRA, Byrnes and Chairman John O'Connor of the house rules committee, said.
Each said their mail from business men failed to uphold the stand of the Chamber of Commerce and appeared to favor extension "with some modifications."
Byrnes indicated the house would accept the two-year extension proposed by the president.

Everyone has been extended a cordial invitation to attend these services and people from all the surrounding country are expected to be in attendance to hear the gospel as preached by Rev. Messagee.

Six Find Refuge From Dust Storm At Eastland Port

Six United States Navy and Army fliers found refuge from grit during the sandstorm Thursday when they were forced to land at Eastland American Legion airport.
The fliers departed early this morning after spending the night at Eastland.
They were J. B. Kneip and O. R. Sanborn, Philadelphia; Stanley E. Herbert, O. M. Hawkes, Philadelphia, and L. L. Lee and D. D. Curley of Norfolk, Va.

LONG GIVEN COLD SHOULDER BY SENATORS

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Administration leaders gave Senator Huey Long another treatment of "cold shoulder" today by ignoring his latest radio attack on President Roosevelt.
Administration leaders said they did not remain up to hear his reply to the President's fireside chat. Leaders stood by their announced intention of ignoring Long and his attack on the administration. His radio address followed a similar attack in the senate.
Long asserted Mr. Roosevelt was misleading the people when he told them conditions are improving. He criticized the president's vacation.

Texas Convicts Are Held In Illinois

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., May 3.—Authorities today attempted to link Olin Tyler, John Bratcher and Tom Bryant, escaped Dallas prisoners, with a $5000 bank holdup Tuesday at Iberia, Mo., and with several other crimes in Missouri and Arkansas.
When captured last night as they sped out of the city the fugitives had guns, ammunition and burglar tools.
The arsenal included an automatic pistol, two shotguns, a rifle and 800 rounds of ammunition.

No Proceedings Report Issued

No report on proceedings were issued today by the 11th court of civil appeals.
Chief Justice J. E. Hickman and Associates O. C. Punderbark and W. P. Leslie were in Dallas the major part of the week, when they heard arguments in 31 cases at the 9th court of civil appeals.
Dan Children, clerk of the Eastland appellate court, accompanied the trio on the trip.

Tex Thornton May Not Have Chance To Produce Rain

DALHART, Texas, May 3.—As though blocking the attempts of Tex Thornton, explosives expert, to bomb rain from the skies, heavy clouds gathered over the Panhandle as Thornton planned to send more bombs upward.
Weather-wise residents regarded the clouds as the vanguard of storms which have advanced to Clovis, N. M., and were expected to reach Amarillo by mid-afternoon.

State Cotton Growers Await New Staple

EDINBURG, Texas.—Farmers in this area await the appearance of a new variety of cotton which is said to attain a height of 10 feet and produce an extra-long fiber. It is known as "Axtex cotton."
Seedlings already have sprouted, but they have not developed sufficiently to enable farmers to determine the nature of the plant. Approximately 80 farmers have planted acreage in the new variety.
The "Axtex" seed is rare and Edinburg growers are under contract to return all seed from the 1935 crop to the original owners. According to reports, the seed was found in an Indian cave in Colorado. The discoverer planted the seed and was amazed to find that the stalks grew 10 feet tall.

ALL TOWN FIRES OUT

ATTICA, N. Y.—The day after Cornelius Perry was appointed fire chief he extinguished virtually every fire in Attica, including those upon which housewives were cooking their luncheons. The reason was that a gas main broke when bridge fell into Tonawanda creek, and Perry ordered the town's gas supply shut off.

Illinois Relief Crisis Is Grave

CHICAGO, May 3.—The Illinois relief crisis verged on a famine today as many families besieged private charities with appeals for food.
The Illinois emergency relief commission, its flow of federal funds cut off, admitted the situation was becoming "really desperate."

FLEET LEAVES TO WORK OUT "PROBLEM 16"

ABOARD U. S. FLEET FLAGSHIP PENNSYLVANIA, May 3.—Behind a shroud of wartime secrecy, the U. S. navy moved in combined force into the Pacific at dawn today, beginning the biggest war game in its history.
From San Diego on the south to the Aleutian Islands in the far north, the battle forces swept to sea to engage in problem 16.
A majority of the heavy battleships and cruisers and destroyers and two units cost off from Puget Sound. From the maneuver is expected to come knowledge America is safe from foe.

Cotton Blossom was Almost State Flower

By United Press
 VICTORIA, Texas. — Texas' bluebonnet covered hills this spring call to mind the story of how the cotton blossom, instead of the bluebonnet, almost became the state flower of Texas.
 It was Vice President John N. Garner, then a member of the Texas house of representatives, who waged the unsuccessful battle to have the cotton blossom named the state flower in recognition of the importance of cotton to Texas.
 Judge John M. Green of Cuero led the winning fight to have the bluebonnet named. The debate, however, is a classic in Texas parliamentary history. And the defeat of his proposal was one of the few set-backs Garner has ever suffered.

Kerrville Section Is Budding Pecans

By United Press
 KERRVILLE, Texas. — Native pecan trees are being made over into the papershell variety on a large scale in Real county, adjoining Kerr.
 About 500 native trees were top-worked and budded on the Rex Phillips ranch near Camp Wood. A pecan expert was hired to do the job.

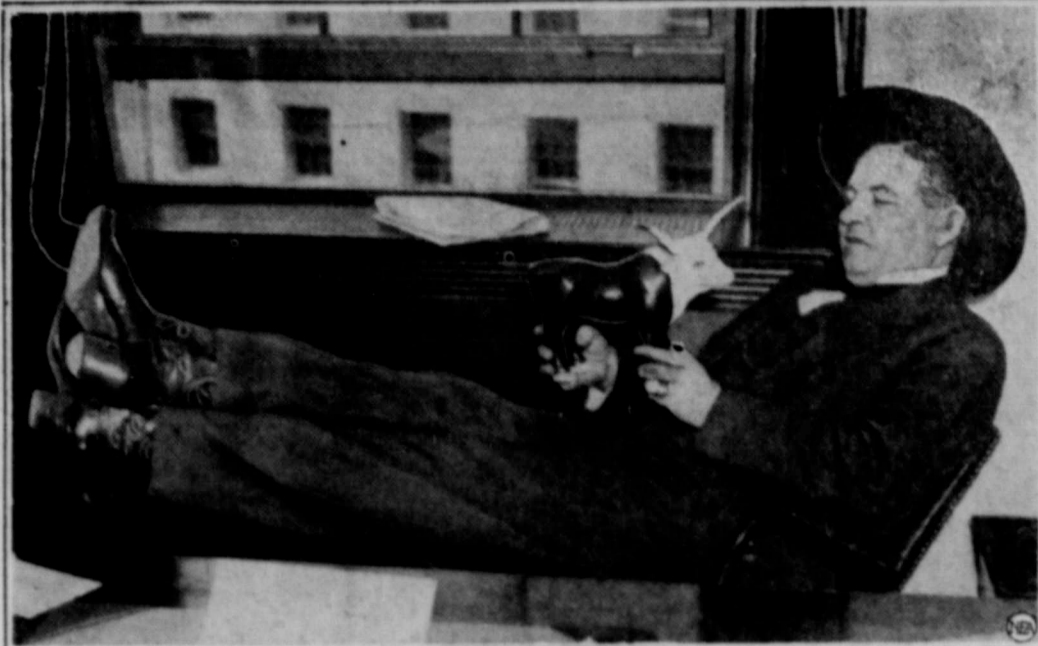

Bodies buried about 300 B. C. in Rome were found to have gold teeth and bridgework. Isn't it impressive to think that we and they have scanned the same magazines?

Aged Oklahoman Runs Spinning Wheel

By United Press
 WAYNOKA, Okla. — Spinning wheels have come to be regarded as fit museum pieces—but not so with the one owned by Mrs. Phoebe Davidson.
 Mrs. Davidson, now 80, has owned a spinning wheel since childhood, and has used it since her father gave it to her on her fifteenth birthday, two years after the Civil War.
 She recently demonstrated to a group of friends just how their grandmothers and great-grandmothers used to make the family's clothing.
 Mrs. Davidson carded the wool on cards that showed the wear and tear of years of use. She displayed numerous articles she has made, including mittens, sock and wool-filled comforters.

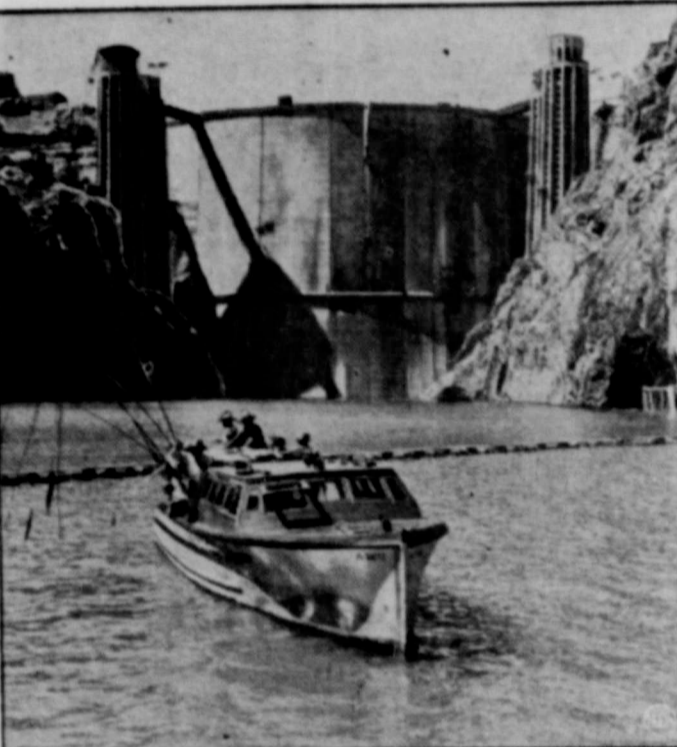

You can't blame college students for being against war. Every time they write home for more money they get a taste of it.

Maybe Gassaway Will Toss This at Huey

A cowboy of renown, it appears as if Rep. Percy L. Gassaway of Oklahoma may be ruminating over taking up bullfighting as a serious occupation. But it's a capital joke that the southwestern member keeps the bull on hand to weight down a copy of "Every Man a King," literary masterpiece of Huey Long, with whom Gassaway has a feud, ridiculing the Kingfish's share the wealth idea.

Fish Really BITE at Boulder Dam

It's a perilous spot these fishermen are in! Fish leaping at them from all directions, seizing their hooks, storming the boat! What a thrill for the hardened angler! It looks almost too ferocious to be authentic, but here 'tis, showing Jim Cashman, pioneer Las Vegas, Nev., transportation man, proving to his eastern friends how they bite in the new Boulder Dam lake. You'll notice that the lake is still up rapidly, back of the huge barrier in the Colorado river.

Cost of Food Per Family Increased

AUSTIN, Tex. — Average cost of adequate weekly food allowance for a family of five in Texas has increased 16 cents since October, 1934, it has been announced by Mrs. Helen Swanson, consultant dietitian of the Texas Relief Commission, who recently completed a study of reports from 212 Texas counties.
 Average division of the food dollar, if an adequate food allowance is to be provided at low cost, is 30 per cent for milk, 30 per cent for fruits, vegetables and legumes, 15 per cent for cereals, 15 per cent for fats and sugars, 9 per cent for meat and eggs, 3 per cent for coffee, soda, salt and other foods.
 Average cost of milk in Texas in March was slightly more than 11 cents per quart, and very slightly less than six months ago.
 Milk, fruit, vegetables and eggs show an expected seasonal decrease in price and relief clients have been urged to use more of these "protective foods."
 Chief significance of the analysis, Mrs. Swanson said, is that although the price of some foods has increased appreciably, the low cost foods in the quantities sufficient to provide an adequate diet have shown only a slight increase in cost. In other words, the foods which have shown the greatest increase in price are not necessary in any considerable quantity for an adequate food allowance.

Mrs. Swanson stated that the food cost survey was taken in order that the social welfare department might have an itemized index to use as a guide in setting up food budgets, in adjusting prices for school lunches and in making specific recommendations to individual counties regarding economy of certain items; to guide the field administration department in appropriation of funds; the commodity distribution department in making available larger quantities in counties where the article being distributed costs more; the rural rehabilitation department in choosing counties by taking into consideration cost of food along with other factors influencing designation of the areas for the rehabilitation centers.

That's the most beautiful throat and neck in America which Prof. Frederick Schweigart, world-famed sculptor, is giving his undivided attention. New Oil Method May Aid China

By United Press
 DONCASTER, Eng.—China is the latest country to become interested in the low temperature carbonization method of extracting oil from coal. Two Chinese engineers, sent by their government, have arrived here to study, at the Asken plant of Low Temperature Carbonization, Ltd., the actual treatment of a load of Chinese coal which has been shipped here for testing purposes.
 The tests are declared to have shown that Chinese coal can be profitably treated by that method and the two engineers have been authorized to place contracts in Sheffield for a plant to be erected in China.
 While China is one of the richest countries in the world in coal resources, with an annual output of around 29,000,000 metric tons, she is very short of good coking coal suitable for blast furnaces. In fact, this lack of good coking coal is stated to be one of the great handicaps of the struggling iron and steel industry in the Pacific basin. As one of the advantages claimed for the low temperature carbonization technique is that it produces, as a by-product, a good semi-coking coal not unsuitable for blast furnaces, it is considered probable that this aspect of it has weighed with the Chinese authorities.
 It also produces, of course, motor spirits and lubricating oil, but although these are useful enough, they would have to compete with the huge natural petroleum resources of the Far East and are probably less interesting, from the economic point of view, than the semi-coke.

SCHOOL BOY BUILT AUTO
 REDLANDS, Cal.—John Velardo drove to high school in state today in an automobile five feet long and three feet wide that he built from scrap iron and tin. A one-cylinder motorcycle engine is capable of driving the little car 40 miles per hour and gives 40 miles to a gallon of gasoline. It took six months to build.

CINCINNATI—Charley Yee, an inn proprietor, is believed to be the only Chinese Kentucky colonel in the world. Lawrence Gammon, state representative from Kentucky, presented Yee his commission, signed by Gov. Ruby Laffoon.
 Add coal deliveries to Newcastle. On Easter each inmate of the Michigan state prison received four hard-boiled eggs.

Church Named After Non-Existant Street

BOSTON.—Boston has a church named after a street that never existed.

It's the Phillips Congregational Church in South Boston.

In 1859, when the edifice was built, it was proposed to change the name of streets in that area to the names of former Boston mayors. If this had been done, the street would have been named Phillips street.

The plan fell through, but to this day, the church has borne the name of the former mayor.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

Sin, Repentance and Faith

Text: Luke 15:11-24.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 3, 1935, is "Sin, Repentance and Faith" by W. M. Gilroy, D. D., Editor of Advance.

OUR lesson deals with three of their chief characteristics. The reality of sin needs very little emphasis. We see the evidences of it on every hand, and the records of the past speak chiefly of what we find in our own age.

It is this tragic record of the prodigal son leaving a good home and a kind father, going out into life to have his fling, to waste himself and his substance. It is the old, familiar story of sin that turns out to be a snare and a tragedy.

In this, also, the story is not old. It is the story of what is happening in many lives today. If that were the whole story, life indeed would be dark and dismal. But the worth of our study of Sunday school lessons, and of our teaching of them, is found in the fact that there is a way out of the abyss of sin.

MAN may rise from his misdeeds and errors. He may still be the bird with the broken pinion, never able to soar quite so high again; for it is true that though sins be forgiven they often leave their indelible marks and scars.

But even broken by sin in body and soul, man may find a new peace with God and the beauty and glory of a new life.

How can this be found? The gateway to it is repentance. When the prodigal son came to himself and turned from his sin, he had made the first step toward the new life. In coming to himself he was on the way to his father's house, and on the way to God.

Sin is always a departure from one's self and from one's best. Repentance is the way of return to oneself as well as to God.

Repentance is the first great evidence of faith. It is not the full flowering of faith, though it is something more than despair and disgust with sin.

REPENTANCE is disgust with sin in effective action. It is the strength of one's turning that constitutes his repentance. Repentance is the beginning of what faith fulfills in man, in the salvation of man from sin.

Paul said, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth."

It is the nature and quality of the Gospel that it is defined by its fruits. It is not a theory; it is not even just a beautiful teaching; it is an effective power of God upon which men may lay hold and under which they may find their lives transformed.

Would God that in every story of prodigal sons there might be as happy an ending as in the great parable of the Scripture? Why not? The same power is working in the world today as then, and those who have wandered far a way may return and find a father's grace.

If human fathers fail there is no failure with the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ and Our Father.

WASHBOARD BRIDGE
By United Press
CLINTON, Mass.—A landmark of which this town isn't proud is what is known as "Bouncing Bridge," a span between Clinton and West Boylston whose washboard surface causes motorists to bump their heads on car roofs. No less than a dozen cars have zoomed over a 30-foot embankment at that point when bouncing drivers lost control.

OLDEN HI-BROADCASTER

Published By the Students of Olden High School

(This essay was submitted to us so we decided to use it in place of an editorial.—Editor.)

Before writing this brain spasm I bought an India rubber arm, as an extension is needed when my imagination runs away with me.

Track meets are very foolish occurrences which most people go crazy over. To my idea they are the most foolish of all games because there is always one individual who stands out more than others. There is no chance for team work. One man must run his own race, and if he wins he is either big-headed or ashamed of his weakness of running too fast.

We extend our deepest sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jones, who lost their sweet little daughter last Saturday morning.

The highest honors of our class go to Miss Frances Hunter, who with an average of 91 is our valedictorian. Miss Olin Cox, with an average of 90, was second and salutatorian.

A. C. Gibson won the boy's scholarship, and we extend congratulations to these. El Merle Stanford has the privilege of writing the class poem, Valeta Alldredge is class historian, Ruby Lee Oglesby is class prophet, and Lena Norton writes the will.

Freshman News
From the freshman ranks Wilbert Norton and Bobbie Collins will receive sweaters. Wilbert will receive one for his work done in football. Bobbie acted as track manager.

Too bad that Charles Young left our freshman class and our good old Olden high school. Come again sometime, Charles.

Sports News
All the track boys are working hard in preparation for the state meet which will be held at Denton on May 5 and 6. The boys who will leave Thursday at noon for the meet are H. Young, Jarrett, Whisenant, Anderson, Patterson, Gibson, Gullett, Butler and Curry. Sweaters were awarded to the track, basket ball and football players on April 30. The girls who played basket ball also received sweaters. Those receiving sweaters were Vernon Patterson, Elco Gullett, Lemar Whisenant, A. C. Gibson, James Ward Robertson, Howard Young, Johnny Jarrett, Max Anderson, Charlie Butler, G. W. Curry, Wilbert Norton, John C. Hyatt, Jack Owens, Bobbie Collins, Bob White, T. J. Weeks, Frances Edwards, Elizabeth Everett, Beatrice Young, Mildred Wynne, Jean Adams, Lena Norton, Arlean Belcher, Ruth Hunt, Doris Stanton, Alta Lee Owens, Oda Neil Owens, Valeta Alldredge, Fay Young, Ruby Lee Oglesby, Olin Cox, and Coaches Collins and Scruggs. The sweaters are gold with black letters and stripes.

The Olden high school junior baseball team, winners of first place in the county, enjoyed a fishing party Friday night at the Power Plant. They were accompanied by their sponsor, Mr. Smith, and those attending were Wilbert Norton, Joe Norton, S. B. Norton, Charles Hunter, Melvin Holt, Bob Collins, John C. Hyatt, and Joe Barney Arther. Ray Howell, a member of the team, was unable to go.

Centennial to Be Subject of School Declamations

AUSTIN.—Texas Centennial subjects will be used in the Inter-scholastic League's 1935-36 program, Director Roy Bedichek reports.

"Extemporaneous speech topics will be in the field of Texas history, Texas resources and Texas industrial progress. Even in the story telling contest for tiny tots, an effort will be made to introduce folk-lore stories."

It took congressmen quite a bit of time and controversy to determine which state's apples were the largest number of loaded freight cars taken out of this city in any one year. Now, on the relative mer-24-hour period in five years was reported recently in the moving of MARTIN'S FERRY, Ohio.—The 45 cars in one day, most of them from steel mills.

You'd think vivid personalities were plentiful in congress. The statesmen go around hurrying things.

Keep Your Eyes Open For That 'Corner'

We have been watching so long for that famous "corner" which must be turned before we pass from depression to prosperity, that our eyes may be getting a little glassy. It is entirely possible that we may get 'way past it before we even see it.

All of which is just another way of saying that a business revival could easily steal upon us unawares. It cannot come overnight; there will be no abrupt transition from depression to boom. Instead, the pick-up must begin a little bit here and a little bit there. Then, one day, we might look around and make the pleasing discovery that things were a lot better than we had thought.

Hearing all that in mind, it is worth glancing at a size-up of the situation just made by the National Industrial Conference Board. This presents a picture which, while somewhat spotty, is preponderantly bright.

The auto industry, for instance, continues to expand. Auto production for the first quarter of 1935 reached a higher level than any in the last eight years with the exception of 1929.

Steel production, on the other hand, slipped nearly 5 per cent from February to March, although it remained 6.5 percent above the 1934 level. Bookings of fabricated structural steel, meanwhile, rose 34 per cent from February to March, and machine tool orders jumped sharply, giving the first quarter an average 18 per cent above that of 1934.

Another encouraging factor is to be found in the fact that building and engineering contract awards, rose in March by more than the usual seasonal amount. Residential contracts, in particular, made a gratifying gain.

Electric power production in March declined slightly from February, but the decline was somewhat less than seasonal and the March output remained 4 per cent above that for March, 1934. Bituminous coal production was up in March—possibly because of fear of a strike—and department store sales rose.

It is hard to add all this together and get anything very definite. In the main, however, it may be said that the picture is encouraging.

A slow current of business expansion seems to be at work. How far it will carry us may be another question; but for the moment, at least, we seem to have genuine grounds for optimism.

your accomplices to take care of Norman when he came to the apartment.

Millicent lost her temper. "As a detective," she said, "you are a first I love Norman Happ. I tell you I love him! I love the ground he walks on. I love every hair in his head! If you want to know, Norman Happ asked me to marry him tonight and I was never so happy in my life."

There was sudden doubt in Detective Buchanan's voice. "Asked you to marry him?" he inquired.

"Yes."

Detective Buchanan remained silent for a moment while he seemed to be deliberating. Suddenly the beam of the flashlight moved down to the purse which lay in the Millicent's lap.

"I'm just going to check up on this story," he said. "Go ahead," she told him. He took the purse in his hands, snapped open the catch, let the beam of the flashlight play upon its contents while he said musingly, "Phyllis Faulconer—I wonder if your story is true. I hope it is. I wanted to believe you. I would have sworn that it was another who..."

He took a folded paper from her purse. Her eyes, blinded by the flashlight, failed to recognize the paper. She saw only the glitter of the light from a fold square of paper.

"I don't know what it is," she said. He unfolded the paper, and she would have given much to have recalled her words, for suddenly she recognized it.

At that moment Detective Buchanan gave a low, taunting laugh. "Oh," he said, "so you don't recognize it, eh?"

She made some stammering attempt at speech but Buchanan interrupted her, reading in a slow, mocking tone of voice the contents of the letter that she had taken from Phyllis Faulconer's apartment.

When she had first seen that letter she hadn't appreciated how utterly damaging it would be if found in her possession. Now, as she heard Buchanan's voice making a damning accusation of every sentence, a black despair engulfed her.

Woman, 108, Takes No Chances When Ill

HOUSTON—Sarah Jane (Grandma) Gillis, 108, doesn't believe in flaunting fate, or flying in the face of providence.

When she became ill recently with a mild attack of bronchitis, she promptly went to the hospital.

Grandma Gillis has outlived three husbands and eight children, and she is proud that her father, S. P. Morly, helped defeat Santa Anna and his Mexican army at the Battle of San Jacinto to win the freedom of Texas.

Morly was 102 when he died. Grandma Gillis has no recipe for longevity. She uses snuff and has since she was a small girl. She got the habit when she lived on a farm as a girl. Her father raised tobacco and the "women folk" ground up the weed and "dipped" it.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE, N.E.A. Service Staff Writer

HERE'S the menu that my bridge club has voted the best eating that has been served to us so far this year: Veal birds, all savory in cream gravy; new green peas in timbales to bring a breath of spring; stuffed orange salad for color; chocolate roll, which a good many of us feel we oughtn't to eat, but do because we can't resist chocolate; coffee.

We had hot rolls, too, and a very good home-made tomato relish, but we're skipping the salted nuts and mints this year and feeding very virtuous thereby. It's a good thing, though, because chocolate, you know, contributes a good many calories to any dish to which it is added.

Remember, chocolate and chocolate mixtures scorch quickly. For this reason don't try to melt chocolate over direct heat. Put the chocolate on a piece of wax paper in a saucer and place over hot water until melted.

If you've had trouble combining chocolate and liquids, try melting the chocolate in the top of a double boiler over hot water; then add the liquid which should be warm or about the same temperature as the chocolate. Add very slowly beating constantly.

Chocolate Roll: Six tablespoons pantry flour, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup sifted sugar, 4 eggs, 2 squares baking chocolate, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup heavy cream, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, few drops vanilla.

Sift flour once and measure. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Sift several times. Beat whites of eggs until stiff. Fold sugar gradually into stiffly beaten whites. Fold in yolks of eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Melt chocolate over hot water. Fold flour into first mixture and then carefully beat in melted chocolate and vanilla. Line a pan 15 by 10 inches with oiled paper.

Stuffed Orange Salad: Allow one orange for each person to be served. Cut through the skin three-quarters of the way down in inch strips, being careful not to break strips apart. Remove orange pulp and cut in neat dice. Combine with avocado and grapefruit dice and fill oranges shell with mixture. Drop a spoonful of heavy mayonnaise on top of each salad and garnish with a maraschino cherry.

Another good mixture to stuff the orange shells with is a combination of orange sections, date-stuffed with cream cheese and nuts. Mask with mayonnaise.

Opera School
Settles Scores Success
A musical production on a small scale was the delight of a well-attended auditorium last evening at the Cooper school when parents and friends gathered to witness the presentation of "The Gypsy's Secret," a gay, colorful operetta for children as well as grownups, made even more delightfully entertaining through artistically designed costumes and the universally merry mood of over 50 children who took part.

Lovers of good music were given a real treat, also, for gypsy songs and dances were sung and danced to the music of favored compositions of Lincke, Rubinstein, Capua, Denza and others.

The scene of the play was a forest near the Court of Spain and never more fittingly used were the mesquites with their lacy leaves drooping lazily, accenting the care-free life of gypsies. Along the front edge of the stage, roses of brightest hues in great masses, intermingled with fern, were made lovelier by the soft glow cast by the footlights, and lent a brightness reflected in the variety of colors used in the costumes. Roses, banked by small branches of the trees on the stage, graced the top of the piano, at which Mrs. H. D. Smith, whose reputation as an accompanist is favorably recognized in this section of the state and who is highly prized by Cooper for her musical ability, very ably accompanied the song and dance numbers in the production.

Preliminary numbers to create a gypsy atmosphere were given before the play proper. The Cooper school quartet, the personnel of which is Fern Allen Meroney, Fern Taylor, Mildred Denton and Margaret Adkins, blended their voices in perfect harmony of four part singing to give three very pretty songs. Bobby Smith, dressed as a vagabond, read "The Vagabond Song." To further remind of the merry Maytime, Yvonne Kribbs gracefully gave a tap dance, dressed in a pink embroidered organdy, which accented her blonde loveliness. A faculty quartet, composed of Misses Mittie Pettitt, Doris Mitchell, Rose McEver and Mrs. H. D. Smith sang two gypsy songs.

After explanations and a partial synopsis of the story, the curtains drew back whereupon a group of dancers tripped lightly on the stage, dressed in the usually bright gypsy colors, with bandanas, much jewelry, and tambourines which accented various parts of the song and dance. "Marianina" was the gay gypsy song sung in tribute to the old Madre, whose maiden name was "Marianina."

At the next curtain, a great many years had elapsed and we see the Madre's band gathered around the campfire, planning a summer festival. The Captain, very effectively played by M. L. Baskin, was gay and boisterous in his commands and rule. He kept the band in a happy mood with his oft-repeated exclamation, "A gypsy's heart is always merry!", to which the gypsies were ever ready with a laughing "ye-o" and tambourine response.

The Gypsy Queen was well characterized by Mary Frances Johnson, whose distinct pronunciation and expression stamped her a little artist. A discontent in the Captain's mannerisms was detected by the Queen who insisted that he tell his forebodings. He expressed his worries about his old Madre, who is sent for and questioned. Upon her arrival, she caused them to go into a mystic ceremony which drew much praise from the audience. Wildflower, a part played by Betty Jean Dryden, was very well done in her vivacious light-hearted manner. In the midst of the ceremony, Wildflower dancily broke into the ring, and, in so doing brought ill luck on the band. One of the members, according to the gypsy superstition, would be taken away in death or otherwise.

A gay tambourine dance was ordered by the Captain to relieve the depressiveness. The dance was well received for the dancers, with tambourines striking knees at each step, kept perfect rhythm through a large number of difficult steps. The dancers were Nell Weekes, Betty Weekes, Lonelle Herring, Ruth Dorsey, Caroline Robinson, Lois Denton, Norman Huffman, H. L. Baskin Jr., Bobby Smith, Alvin Johnson, Joe Don Meroney, and Ernest Hood.

Wildflower heard a voice singing a gypsy song, and immediately answered the call. The Captain ordered someone to follow but Madre refused for she knew something the others did not know.

Again, the Captain ordered a dance, and this time nine girls, dressed in ankle-length organdy dresses of pastel colors, kept in perfect time, doing a graceful dance, pivoting, gliding, and bowing through a great many steps. The dancers were Genie Lowe Barrage, Gern Taylor, Lillian Kelly, Adele Brimberry, Margaret Adkins, Dorothy Helen Mathena, Mildred Denton, Nova Young and Grace Jones.

Soon a song is heard again, and Wildflower with Prince Fernando, played in a dignified way by Billy Smith, entered. The gypsies bowed in due respect. A messenger, R. V. Cole, entered, informing the prince of his father's serious illness and his necessary return. The prince, because of his royal blood, couldn't take Wildflower with him, but at this moment the old Madre, who so long had been serious and gruff, becomes happy and informs the group that Wildflower is the long lost Princess Ermengarde, and so, can rightfully go with the Prince.

To climax the play all participants in the operetta, came on the stage to sing a happy gypsy chorus to the music of "Funiculi-Funicula," ending with voices reaching high notes, and a ringing of tambourines.

Mrs. Rose McEver, whose study in dramatic art and whose experience in the Little Theatre was evident in the direction of the perfected performance, was assisted by Mrs. H. D. Smith at the piano.

Montgomery Ward To Have Cooking School Next Week
A cooking and canning school will be conducted at Montgomery Ward from Tuesday through Friday with classes each day at 2 p. m., which will be open to the public, it was announced today by Carl Jansing, store manager.
Instruction in the preparation of all types of food with special attention given to the use of the pressure cooker, will be given by a demonstrator. Local women's clubs and organizations have been invited to attend in groups.

"The importance which is attached to this school," said Mr. Jansing, "May be easily appreciated when it is realized that more than 2,000,000 pressure cookers are in use in this country and that the United States Department of Agriculture recommends them as the only safe method for canning all non-acid vegetables, meats, fowls and fish. With the great number of these cookers in the homes, Wards feel that expert instruction should be given the public so that they may obtain the best results."
The reason the Department of Agriculture endorses the use of pressure cookers, according to M. Jansing, is because high temperature and steam under pressure effectively kill disease breeding germs. All commercially canned foods are canned under pressure.

Prizes will be given at the school.

IDLE HOURS IN COURTROOM INSPIRED KELLY'S FAMED 'VIRGINIA JUDGE' SKETCH

If shipbuilding in Newport News, Va., had not lagged one summer in the early 1930's and if one shipbuilder in particular had not chosen to spend an idle hour in a local police court—there might have been no "Virginia Judge," Walter C. Kelly might not be a motion picture actor today—and the world in general would have missed a lot of fun.

It was through just such a hazardous set of circumstances that Walter Kelly's famous "Virginia Judge" characterization, a favorite of the English-speaking stage throughout the world for more than thirty years, was first born. Kelly told the story of his first significant visit to the Virginia courthouse on the sets of Paramount's "McFadden's Flats," the picture in which he makes his debut and which comes Friday to the Arcadia Theatre.

Through the failure of finished materials to arrive at the shipyard, Mr. Kelly found himself. It was during this period, one warm and sultry morning, that he wandered into the local police court.

Court was held in the basement of the city hall. It was presided over by a tall, gaunt Virginian whose ancestors had settled there back in its early history. He was a quaint and lovable character and his broad philosophy, whimsical humor and love of justice had long established him as a leader in the community.

"On my first visit to this crude temple of justice," Mr. Kelly relates, "I found a motley crowd of male and female darkies, both friends and accusers of a dozen or more darky prisoners who looked through the heavy barred door of the prisoner's pen in the rear.

"Around a big fireless stove sprawled an ominous looking pack of liver-colored hounds belonging to the county sheriff for use in his frequent man-hunts. Over all hung the thick and noisome odor of wet dogs and hot bodies.

"Suddenly the jailer barked a horse announcement that the judge was about to enter and amid a buzz of hushed excitement from the crowd, followed by the jailer's rather-noisy ejection of the blood hounds, Judge Brown ascended the bench and scanned the docket for the day.

"The jailer barked out the name of Jim Williams and a very black and stupid looking darky emerged from the pack and ambled to the prisoner's dock.

"The Judge without even looking up from the docket said, 'Jim, you are charged by Officer Gray with feloniously cutting and wounding the body of Lindsey Gault. What have you to say?'

"'Judge, I want to plead not guilty,' Jim replied in an apologetic voice. 'I didn't want to cut nobody; I jes sort of pushed de oyster knife to'd him and seem like he run right into it.'

"'Jim, this is a serious case. Have you a lawyer?'

"'No suh, I don't want no lawyer.'

"The Judge smiled. 'Jim, having no lawyer, just what do you propose to do as to a defense?'

"'In the most ingratiating manner Jim replied: 'Judge, if you don't mind I would jest as leave let this here case undissolved gold mine of comedy and pathos should not be lost to mankind.'

"For his motion picture debut in "McFadden's Flats," Kelly is assigned to a new characterization. He plays a case-hardened old Irishman, who has risen from hooligan to wealth without losing his desire to carry on his feud with an old Scotch barber enemy.

Andy Clyde, Jane Darwell, Richard Cromwell and Betty Furness support Kelly in "McFadden's Flats" which was directed by Ralph Minsky.

Tiger Billy McEuin Returns to Ranger Wrestling Shows

Another double main event is booked on the Elks wrestling program for Monday, May 6. Tiger Billy McEuin, 180 pounds, Pasadena, Calif., grappler, will tackle our local favorite, Charlie Lay, 180 pounds, of Ranger. These two boys are evenly matched and will give the fans plenty of action.

The opening bout will be between Handsome Jack Hendricks, 180 pounds, of Chicago, and a new-comer, Eddie Wallace, 175 pounds, of Portland, Ore. Hendricks, who lost to Lay last Monday night, will try and redeem himself by defeating Wallace. Wallace has built up quite a reputation on the Pacific coast by his string of wins and expects to add Handsome Jack to his victims.

The attendance has been increasing each week, showing their appreciation of the efforts of the promoter to get the best wrestlers obtainable. Another good attendance is expected as several calls have been made for ringside reservations.
