PASSION PLAY TO BE HERE ON JUNE 17 TO 19

At a meeting of the directors of the Lions and Rotary clubs and the pastors of Ranger, held in the offices of the chamber of commerce Wednesday morning, a committee composed of L. R. Pearson, R. F. Holloway and F. D. Hicks was appointed to sign a contract for a three-day production of the Passion Play in Ranger.

The play, which will be presented by the same cast which has been showing in the larger cities of the United States for the past four years, will be shown at the Recreation building on Monday Tuesday and Wednesday nights, June 17, 18 and 19.

Scenery, costumes, principals in the Passion Play and many forms of advertising it through this section of the country will be furnished by the company presenting the production, while it will be sponsored by a committee representing the entire city of Ranger.

An advance man will arrive in Ranger eight to 10 days before the opening of the play to make all arrangements and to assist the local committee, which is to be composed of 15 men and women of Ranger, in all the details in connection with the presentation.

Controversies In Employment Plans Taking Up Time

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Inner administration controversies arose today to hamper the $4,800,000, 600 re-employment drive.

Harold Ickes, public works administrator, attacked Frank Walker's division of applications and information, charging the organization had wrecked almost half its $450,000,000 low rent housing programs.

President Roosevelt stood ready to step in and end their bickering should the quarrel reach an exchange of nasty statements.

Triumvirate Who Will Address Thousands Thursday At Highway 89 Celebration To Be Held At Eastland

JUNE 10 IS SET AS FINAL DATE COTTON SIGN-UP

Monday, June 10, has been set by the state cotton allotment board as final date for signing 1935 cotton contract and Blankhead applications for tax exemption certificates to be used for ginning this year's cotton, announced O. W. Ewing, assistant in cotton adjustment, Wednesday.

"In order to make the sign-up as convenient as possible for cotton producers in the county, the county agent has arranged to have committees and clerical help visit seven different points in the county, outside of Eastland," said Ewing.

"Producers should meet the committee at the place 'nearest and most accessible,' Ewing advised.

Following is a schedule of places and time the committee will be at the communities:

Nimrod—From 8 a. m. until 12 o'clock noon, Monday, June 3, at the schoolhouse.

Claxton—From 1:30 p. m., Monday, June 3, until 12 noon Tuesday, June 4; Chamber of Commerce.

Rising Star—From 1:30 p. m., Tuesday, until 5 p. m., Wednesday, June 5, at Miggisbotham's.

Ranger—From 8 a. m. until 12 noon, Monday, June 3, at Chamber of Commerce.

Alameda—From 1 p. m. until 5 p. m., Monday, June 3, at the schoolhouse.

Gorman—From 8 a. m. until 5 p. m., Tuesday, June 4, in office back of Judge Smith.

Carlton—From 8 a. m. until 5 p. m., Wednesday, June 5; at Carlton Trading company.

Eastland—At county agent's office every day after Wednesday, June 5, until final date, June 10.

"In the event the producer finds it inconvenient to meet the committee at his nearest point, he can go to Eastland and sign," Ewing stated.

Britain Ready For Monetary Meeting

LONDON, May 29.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, intimated in the house of commons today that Britain is prepared to join a stabilization conference, but wants some other nation to take the initiative.

In reply to a questioner, MacDonald refused to make the first move.

"We are not required at this late hour to take the initiative. We have been trying to get the initiative taken up and until now have not been successful."

His statement placed a new light on the British attitude. Previously the chancellor of the exchequer had stated he sees no useful purpose in such a conference at present.

EASTLAND TO BE SCENE OF BIG JUBILEE

Thousands will attend the Highway 89 Airline Celebration marking opening of the Ranger to Weatherford short cut, to be held in Eastland Thursday, committee members were confident today.

Expectation that over 10,000 will be in Eastland to hear the notable array of band music and state speakers has been expressed by Milburn McCarty, general chairman of the fete.

Meanwhile, Eastland today was tidying up, putting on the finishing touches of an unofficial program to dress up the town.

A pre-holiday air was prevalent among many. With closing of school activities Monday at graduation, a carnival spirit was manifested by youths.

The program is due to open officially at 10 o'clock on the Eastland square with address of Judge Sam M. Russell, district judge of Stephenville. His address will be on behalf of the committee.

Previous to Russell's address, the Eastland band is to play a concert at 9 o'clock, an unofficial signal that the Highway 89 Airline Celebration has opened.

State Senator Grady Woodruff of Decatur will respond to Judge Russell's address and Hamilton McRae, president of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, will respond for the City of Eastland.

Band music will be prevalent, to fill the gaps after address of the speakers.

A luncheon will be held at noon on Connelles hotel roof in honor of the speakers.

Music throughout the luncheon will be provided by the North Texas State Teachers College stage band.

All members of the committee who have worked on the celebration will be part of the reception group. Eastland women will meet those of the section and arrange for their entertainment and comfort.

The celebration activities after noon will center at the city park, when Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene, former member of the highway commission, and his successor, Harry Hines of Wichita Falls, new chairman of the commission, and Ray Nichols of Vernon, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will speak.

Nichols is slated as final speaker of the day.

The Hardin-Simmons Cowboy band of Abilene will play at intervals throughout the day, as well as other aggregations of the section. The Ranger Tickley Band will play after Hines is heard.

The day's festivities will conclude in the evening with a dance at an Eastland hotel.

On the lips of Eastland citizens today was an invitation of all the section to "come to the Highway Celebration Thursday, where every one will receive a cordial welcome."

371 Carloads of Canned Meat are Shipped From State

AUSTIN.—Shipment of 371 carloads of government-canned meat from Texas warehouses left 22, 241,896 cans in storage within the state, C. Z. Crain, head of the commodity distribution for the Texas relief commission, said today.

Much of the remainder will be transferred to other states by the federal surplus relief corporation, Crain said. Texans already have consumed 15,428,000 cans of such meat and another allotment is to be made soon.

Another product of the federal cattle buying and canning program last year, animal hides, is stored awaiting completion of plans to manufacture them into vests, comforters, and other articles for winter wear.

DEADLINE ON RANSOM NOTE HAS PASSED

TACOMA, Wash., May 29.—The critical fifth and last day set by the kidnapers of nine year old George Weyerhaeuser for payment of $200,000 ransom, arrived today, with the family still trying to contact the abductors.

The time set in a ransom note expired at noon. The note warned John Weyerhaeuser the family would be "sorryful" unless the money was turned over to the kidnapers by that time.

For a time yesterday it was thought the path to the kidnapers had been found by the family. Mysterious journeys, conferences and optimism prevailed but before midnight a representative of the family admitted the hope had collapsed.

SHERIFF CATO TAKES STAND IN DEFENCE

LUBBOCK, Texas, May 29.—Defending himself from the government charge the killing of Spencer Stafford was a result of Stafford's investigation of a narcotics ring, Sheriff W. F. Cato testified today that no one told him until after the shooting that Stafford was a federal officer.

"He raised a gun to fire," the Post peace officer declared, "and I shot. I shot at the gun in his hand."

Immediately afterward, he said, he learned from Stafford's companion, V. C. McCullough, that they were federal agents.

Cato denied protecting Kitchen and Dr. V. A. Hartman, who also were charged with murder, in their alleged dealing in narcotics.

County Drys Call Mass Meeting For Saturday at 2:30

Mass meeting of voters favoring repeal of the constitutional amendment for repeal of prohibition has been called by a committee appointed Tuesday at a session of dries at Eastland.

The mass meet will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the county courtroom.

A general organization in the county will be effected and carried into every community in Eastland county, the convention Tuesday decided.

Committee calling the Saturday meet pointed to highway deaths allegedly caused by intoxicating liquors as a basis for repeal of the amendment calling for repeal of state prohibition.

Members of the committee are D. J. Neill, Charles W. Estes, G. M. McGlosson, J. L. Roden.

BUSINESS IS DIVIDED ON NRA POLICY

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Many business men beseeched Roosevelt today to find some way to maintain the standard set up under the invalidated NRA codes.

Others frankly welcomed the end of the NRA system.

The white house received hundreds of telegrams from business urging speedy action. Most of them complained that code standards of wages, hours and price policies already were being broken down. About 700 telegrams were received. They were said to have averaged 9 to 1 for continuation of NRA.

Organizations appealed for voluntary compliance with code standards until the situation is clarified.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward McGrady, however, said he was being besieged by telephone calls, letters and telegrams from workers charging that employers were reducing wages and lengthening hours. All the complaints concerned small establishments, he said.

POLICE CHIEF OF ORANGE IS FATALLY SHOT

ORANGE, Tex., May 29.—Police Chief Ed J. O'Reilly, 40, was shot to death today on a downtown street by Rev. C. E. Estridge, 45, crusading Baptist minister.

City Secretary M. G. Davies said Rev. Estridge fled across the state line into Louisiana after the shooting. Witnesses said Chief O'Reilly was standing on the street corner when the minister drove up.

Estridge was said to have driven up, pulled a shotgun from the floor of the car and fired one shot. The shot struck O'Reilly in the head, killing him instantly.

No word passed between the two men according to a dozen witnesses.

Estridge, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Orange had been arrested last night and disarmed of two pistols he was carrying.

After being warned by the chief not to carry weapons.

Estridge claimed to have been a special ranger and as such was entitled to carry arms. He had been conducting a campaign from his pulpit against vice and had demanded that the police clean up the town.

Still Seized By Raiding Officers

A still of estimated 300 gallon capacity rested Wednesday in Sheriff Virge Foster's office, testimony of a raid made Monday by officers in brush one mile southwest of Romney.

A lone operator, on the scene at that time, escaped through thick brush, but arrests are expected in the near future.

The sheriff stated bedding on a cot was near the still, showing "tower" was run each day as an oil well. There were three cooling systems in operation.

Three thousand gallons of mash and 48 gallons of whisky were seized.

In the raiding party were Sheriff Virge Foster, Deputies Loss Woods and Steele Hill; Constable Marion Seabourne of Eastland, and Loren Barr, state highway patrolman stationed at Abilene.

PASTOR LAID CEMENT WALK

XENIA, Ohio.—Donning overalls, Dr. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, led his congregation in laying 700 square feet of cement sidewalks in front of the church.

Hot Oil Probe is Termed a Junket

AUSTIN.—Hot oil activities in East Texas, rumors of which persist despite the railroad commission's contention that none is being produced, will nevertheless be looked into by a five-member committee from the house of representatives.

Legislators, generally, felt the investigation should not cost the state more than $1,000.

Chairman Augustin Celaya's plea for at least $5,000 fell on deaf ears.

The committee which Celaya heads is going to conduct the investigation, which some termed a "junketing expedition," if he has to borrow automobiles and the committee has to pay the "difference" out of its respective pockets, he said.

June to Be Big Month at Central

Sunday, June 2, offers a combination of things that are of interest to members and friends of the Central Baptist Church. It not only marks the beginning of their annual revival, but it also marks the end of Rev. H. H. Stephens' sixth year as pastor of the church.

Rev. Stephens who came to Ranger from Winters, Texas, has enjoyed a very successful pastorate in his six years here. His services have been characterized by an active and extensive evangelistic, missionary, and training program.

An average of some 75 members have been received into the church annually since the beginning of Rev. Stephens' connection with the church.

No formal anniversary program has been arranged, but each member is sincerely urged to be present to enjoy a great and informal homecoming on the initial day of their annual revival.

SCHOOL AID BILL SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, May 29.—Gov. James V. Allred today signed a $10,000,000 state rural and school aid bill for the next biennium. It was the largest Allred approved since his inauguration.

The funds, an increase of $2,000,000 yearly from the present appropriation, will make provision in the future so no federal aid will be needed, he said.

Harry Hopkins yesterday notified Allred emergency aid would be furnished Texas until the appropriation becomes effective Sept. 1.

Desdemona Girl Is Awarded Letter at J. T. A. C. School

STEPHENVILLE, Texas, May 29.—Romalee Wright of Desdemona is one of 19 women students of John Tarleton college to win the athletic "T" for the 1934-35 session, according to announcement from Laura Fellman, director of physical education for women.

Miss Wright, daughter of J. M. Wright, received the tennis letter. Only four other girls were awarded the "T" for tennis playing.

Plan Picnic, Meet For J. E. Hickman

A barbecue and special Bible class meeting are being planned by Eastland citizens and others of the section, in honor of Judge J. E. Hickman, appointed last week to the Supreme Court Commission of Appeals.

On Friday a barbecue "Cowboy Picnic" will be given at the City Park starting 6:30 p. m. by the 9:49 Bible class, of which Judge Hickman has been class teacher.

Sunday, members of the Morning Tower Bible class at Breckenridge, a Dublin class and the Eastland 9:49 class will gather in the Methodist church in tribute to the man who was instrumental in their organization and has served as teacher.

"We would like to have all members attend; there will be music in addition to the lecture," P. L. Crossley, president of the Eastland class stated.

Range Location Given Wednesday By Club Members

Attention was called Wednesday by members of the Oil Belt Gun club that their first shoot will be held on the Ed Castleberry farm, on main route Highway 87, one mile east of the junction of the Cisco-Breckenridge road, near Yellow Mound.

Previously announcement was made that the range would be located on the Ed Castleberry farm, about one mile toward Cisco from the forks of the road from Breckenridge, which was in error, members said.

VACCINATION OF DOGS NOW COMPULSORY

At the regular meeting of the city commission, held Tuesday night, an amendment to the city ordinance pertaining to licensing of dogs in Ranger was passed, requiring, also, that all dog owners have their dogs vaccinated against rabies.

It was pointed out that the original ordinance required that all dogs in the city be licensed, or the owners subject to a fine, and that dogs kept in houses or in pens or fenced yards were not exempt from this yearly tax.

The amendment to the ordinance requires, in addition to the annual tax, that the dogs be vaccinated by a veterinary each year.

In the future a certificate of vaccination, issued within the year, signed by a certified veterinarian, must be presented when the dog license is paid before one can be issued.

It was stated today by Wade Swift that as soon as the ordinance was put into effect and a reasonable time had been allowed for vaccination and licensing dogs, that a concerted drive would be conducted to rid the town of all dogs not properly protected by the vaccination and license tags.

Hyacinths Block San Marcos River

AUSTIN.—Hyacinths are blocking the San Marcos river by their rapid spread and growth. Boaters complain that the once-clear stream can scarcely be traversed because of the heavy growth.

Until 20 years ago there were no hyacinths on the stream. There some were planted for beautification. Their removal has been proposed as a work relief project.

Considerable opposition to the removal of the hyacinths is heard. Besides their beauty, hyacinths have a patriotic appeal to Texans. It was along the San Jacinto river that Gen. Sam Houston won Texas independence from Mexico in a battle with Gen. Santa Anna. Hyacinth in Spanish is "jacinto."

Karl White Takes Second Honors at A. and M. College

Karl K. White Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. K. K. White Sr., of Eastland, will be graduated from A. & M. college at College Station, Friday, May 31, with salutatorian honors.

White, who spent Tuesday in Eastland, is retiring captain of a battery of the field artillery. Recently he was presented a gift by members of the battery.

On June 10 he will begin work in the laboratory of an oil company at Port Arthur. He majored in mechanical engineering at the College Station school. When graduated from Eastland high school he took third honors.

Jobs await 80 per cent of the graduates, White estimated, who cited employment of friends by oil companies to work in foreign fields.

Many of the graduates, White stated, will begin service as agronomists for the government.

The drawing will determine the order in which they must appear in all counties. This will enable gathering returns by ballot numbers.

HAVANA, May 29.—John Barrimore, arriving today on his yacht, was "unaware" of the divorce suit filed against him in California by Dolores Costello, the woman who gave up her screen career to marry him.

Dressed in dark blue pajamas he sat on the after deck of his yacht and discussed his divorce.

"I didn't know anything about the suit, but I am leaving the whole affair in the hands of my attorneys," he said.

F. D. R. Makes Possible Completion of Vast Project

President Roosevelt has made possible the completion of a vast project undertaken by the Lower Colorado River Authority. This calls for the completion of the Buchanan dam and additional dams for the catching of flood waters, the construction of lakes and basins in order that there shall be power manufactured for many cities and towns and irrigation for the vast rice plantations in the lower river.

Indeed, the authority project was among the first approved by President Roosevelt in releasing the first billion dollars under the $4,880,000,000 works program. A reminder that the authority project for power purposes is identical to Tennessee Valley Authority was recommended to the President May 16. Rep. James P. Buchanan led the long fight for the approval of the project. In his honor the name Hamilton was changed to the Buchanan dam. After the President had approved, Representative Buchanan predicted that construction on the $200,000,000 flood control and reclamation proposal might start in 30 days and give employment to 4500 men.

Speaking of the vast project, Buchanan dam with a planned capacity of 1,000,000 acre feet is partially completed. Plans call for another dam of the same capacity below the Buchanan project on the Colorado. Two more power sites will have no reservoirs but will receive water from the other two dams, and the water will be used four times to produce power and a fifth time for the cultivation of rice. It is a marvelous undertaking. It had the backing for years and years of citizens of Austin and the press of Austin. It had the backing of two senators, Rep. J. J. Mansfield, the veteran chairman of the house committee on rivers and harbors, and the loyal support of other representatives sent from the Lone Star state.

There was a third revolution at the polls in a nationwide election in 1932. That revolution elected President Franklin D. Roosevelt. It placed Vice President John N. Garner, gavel in hand, as the presiding officer of the senate. It placed James P. Buchanan at the head of the important committee on appropriations. It recognized for the first time in American history that Texas was the coming commonwealth, in territorial area, in growth of population, in vast natural resources wealth, in all the staples that supply the needs of man and an agricultural area the greatest under American skies.

In addition to all this it proclaimed Washington and not New York to be the seat of government, the head center of governmental power and the growers of things to be placed on an equal footing with the makers of things and that industry and agriculture should walk hand in hand in the future in the building of waste places, the development of not only the agricultural but the natural resource wealth of the nation and that the people should rule in the making of financial and tariff and tax laws as the framers of the federal constitution intended more than 150 years ago. Now it is for Texans to march forward, "all for one and one for all," in shaping the destiny of not only a super commonwealth but the mightiest and finest republic that time has known.

Too many cities have too many factions. They should each give and take a little and hit some happy medium where they can work together towards the up-building of their city.

The politician with a glib tongue and the patronizing one who asks about the health of the family and all the relatives are often a doubtful proposition.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElliott © 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 Katharine Strykhurst, beautiful, becomes acquainted with Michael Heatheer, riding teacher, and toward him. She is worried over the progress of an affair between Zoe Parker, her best friend, and Gibbs Larkin, of whom Zoe's parents disapprove.
 Katharine and Dr. John Kaye, friend of the Strykhurst family, take Zoe to a night club where she sees Gibbs with a notorious woman. Zoe threatens to kill herself.
 That same night Michael is inveigled into taking Sally Moon, local coquette, to the same place. Sally, arriving home late, informs her father that she and Michael are engaged.
Now Go On With the Story
CHAPTER XVIII
 Katharine said very softly into the telephone, "John, I wish you'd come over—if you can get away, that is. Is there bridge or something?"
 She was at the instrument in the upper hall of the Parker house. Zoe was not 10 feet away. Gerda, for the moment, was with Zoe. Katharine had explained that Miss Zoe had a splittin' headache. She wanted to call Dr. Kaye, but Zoe had protested.
 John said yes, there was bridge, but he could manage it.
 "Gracia—Mrs. McIvaine—just ran in," he said. "She'll take my hand."
 In spite of her relief, in spite of her fear for Zoe, Katharine could not refrain from making a grimace. Of course, Gracia would be over! As soon as she knew John Kaye was in Innislock, Gracia had put on her prettiest frock, made up her plump face as seductively as she knew how and very casually "happened in" at the Strykhursts. Just like Gracia. And, if she could manage it, she would break her engagement to that nice army officer and marry John Kaye herself.
 "She's years old than he is," said Katharine rather angrily. She went back to Zoe's room. Zoe had refused to permit herself you hear? I didn't believe what he said, didn't care what he'd been in the past. But now I've seen him with that—that devil. Now I know how he feels. Why, he never wanted me for a minute. I was a fool. He was laughing at me—laughing all the time."

 Katharine did not try to stem the tide of the other girl's suffering. It was dreadful to look upon—the rawness and newness of the wound she had received.
 "That's why I want to die, Kay. You've got to help me. I can't—I couldn't live after this. Couldn't face it. The way he's been laughing at me. And that woman, too. Did you see her look at me, as if she was amused?"
 At the recollection Zoe groaned again.
 Katharine said, very gently, "You made a mistake, dear. That was all. We all do that. And you're only 20. Do you suppose there is a single person of 40 today who can't look back on an early mistake?"
 "I'm through," Zoe said with finality. "Life—it's done for me, Kay. You don't know—ah, you don't know. What wouldn't I give to be like you! Nothing seems to hurt you."
 Katharine said nothing to this. There was nothing one could say. Zoe was like a deaf woman, a blind woman. She was aware of nothing but her own raw wound.
 There were steps on the stairs and Katharine, distracted by the responsibility of her charge, was relieved to see Dr. Kaye at the door.
 "Johnny, can't you give her something to make her sleep?"
 Zoe overheard. She rose, swaying giddily.
 "It's Kay, you can't do anything for me. Katharine should not have bothered you. I'm sorry. Just go away and leave me alone." There was a kind of desperate dignity about the small figure.
 "Zoe, dear, your mother and father will be home soon. They won't know what's happened. Do you want to frighten them?"
 Katharine asked her gently.
 "That's true. That's true." Zoe seemed suddenly tractable. "You give me something to sleep on, doctor, and I'll be better tomorrow, perhaps."
 John Kaye had his finger on her pulse now; his quiet eyes were examining her.
 "I have something in my kit," he said. "It's right there on the chair, Katharine."
 The tall, slender girl in white, with the fair hair brushed like a golden cascade on her head, found the leather case and gave it to him in one quiet movement. John Kaye smiled at her; she was so cool and sure of herself, so aloof, apparently, from earthly troubles. Katharine recognized the quality

Ask those who use Electric Refrigeration

As a result of the long period of development, the electric refrigerator of today is lower in price and more economical to operate than ever before. With more than 6 million electric refrigerators in use, it is only necessary to ask those you know who have them to get first-hand information of the many advantages they get from electric refrigeration.

The "lift-top" model illustrated at the right is a low-priced refrigerator that is ample in food storage space for small families, small cafes and grocery stores.

to be undressed. She was lying on the bed, her evening sandals, stained with mud and dew, dragging the pretty coverlet away. Her face was lead color. Her blue eyes, open wide, had a sort of dead look in them.
 Gerda asked if there was anything else she wanted. At a negative shake of the head, the maid went away. Katharine sat down beside the girl.
 "Zoe, won't you talk about it? It would help, maybe."
 Zoe twisted her small body about so that her face was again burrowed into the pillow.
 "Go away, why don't you? Leave me alone. Oh, I'm dying—that's what it is. This awful feeling... I can't stand it!" Suddenly she sat up with one violent movement, clutching her head in her hands.
 "I was going to marry him—do of his smile and answered it in kind. John was good! Whenever he was around you felt safe.

 "This will do the trick. Two of these now. You'll sleep like a log."
 "All right," Zoe said docilely. "I want to bathe my face, I think. Back in a minute."
 Katharine and Dr. Kaye waited as she disappeared into the glittering, tiled bathroom. They could hear the rushing of water. Then a thud.
 John Kaye rushed for the door. It was locked.
 "The balcony!" gasped Katharine. "You can get in through the bathroom window."
 The doctor hooked his leg over the sill. He was out of sight. Katharine waited, her heart thudding painfully. Zoe—how awful! What would they find?
 The key grated in the lock. Dr. Kaye stood in the doorway, Zoe's body in his arms. A strangely limp Zoe, her face stained by a brownish liquid.
 "White of egg, quickly," grated the doctor. Katharine never knew how they got through the confusion that followed. Bells ringing—people hurrying to and fro through the corridors. Mrs. Parker was there, her face strained and white. And there was a nurse with dark hair under a flyaway cap.
 "However did it happen?" wailed Zoe's mother. Katharine said something nervous and rather garbled about Zoe's desperate headache—John Kaye's prescription.
 "She just got the wrong medicine, that's all," Katharine said, trying to make the lie sound reasonable.
 "Oh, Katharine, do you think so?" Terror looked out of the older woman's eyes. "Katharine, it wasn't anything else? She was happy lately, wasn't she? It wasn't—wasn't the other?"
 "How could it be?" You had to lie to mothers, Katharine reflected. Zoe's mother couldn't have borne to know what her child had gone through that summer night. Life was sometimes too black and pitted with terror.
 All through the night they fought for Zoe's life. Katharine went through the halls softly; once she met John in the doorway and he smiled at her wearily, gently.
 "John, is she—are you going to be able to—?"
 "Don't ask me now. I don't know." He looked desperately tired. "You'd better lie down and get some rest yourself."
 "Oh, I'm all right. I simply couldn't go home. I wouldn't be able to sleep anyhow."
 She went down again to the library where Mrs. Parker, propped with pillows and sustained by her husband, was waiting.
 The woman's haggard eyes sought her face. "Katharine, if Zoe dies, I'll—"
 "Don't talk that way, Mama."

Milwaukee Woman's Cake Won a Title

By United Press
OREGON CITY, Ore.—Mrs. R. B. Eckenberger, Milwaukee, claimed a moral victory when the folks around here got to comparing antique pieces of wedding cakes. She brought forth a piece of the cake that P. T. Barnum ordered for the wedding of Tom Thumb, the famous midget, to Lavinia Warren, 67 years ago. George Warren, Lavinia's brother, had given it to Mr. Eckenberger in 1880, when it was then 17 years old.

Governor Receives Many Requests

By United Press
AUSTIN.—Strange suggestions and inquiries are received at the governor's office. One lady seriously requested that the late Ray-mond Hamilton be commissioned a Texas ranger. The criminals would be afraid of him, she argued, although Hamilton maintained to the last that he never killed anyone. A girl caller wanted to know how she could make her father support her. She was politely referred to the office of Attorney General Will McCraw. There, she probably was referred to her own district or county attorney. Statute forbids the attorney general to give private advice. School delegations always have an entree to the governor, and such a delegation visits the state capital almost every day. Recalling that school opportunities aided him as a poor boy, the governor sees in every school-boy caller a possible governor of the future.
