RANGER MAN MISSING IN NEW MEXICO

MEETING JUST SHORT PARADE OF RANGERITES

A meeting of the merchants of Ranger was called for Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock for the purpose of planning a fall campaign for new business, but little, if anything, was accomplished. At 9:47 Meule Perlestein arrived for the meeting and was the only one present at that time. He waited almost 10 minutes, but was forced to leave because of business. Shortly after he left Carl Jansing arrived, and was surprised to find there was no one present, as he feared he would be a little late for the start of the meeting. Immediately after Jansing arrived F. D. Hicks appeared, and the two decided that it would be useless to wait if the merchants were not going to show up for the meeting. After they left the parade of business men ended after Emeric Baker showed up just as Jansing and Hicks were leaving. He was the last to arrive, waiting 10 minutes and giving it up as a bad job. John Hassen sent word that he would be unable to attend, but sent in his proxy, stating that he was behind any movement that would be for the promotion of trade and business in Ranger. The chamber of commerce also sent word that the organization would work with the retail merchants in any way possible. The Times' representative left at 10:30 after it was decided that no meeting would be held, and no report has since been received about any later arrivals.

Ranger Girls On Rotarian Program

Two Ranger girls, Misses Margaret Watt and Dorothy Marie Henry, were seen and heard by Eastland Rotarians in dances and songs Monday at the luncheon on Connelley hotel roof. Mrs. T. A. Watt played accompaniment for the numbers. H. Flowers and Albert Taylor were program committee men. J. B. Moreno, director of the football boy's benefit minstrel to be presented Friday night, urged attendance of Rotarians. Rotarians decided to loan $45 to $25 to Boy Scouts who otherwise would not be able to attend the annual camp at Richland Springs. Jack Taylor of Austin was the guest of his father, Albert Taylor. Mrs. Harry Henry of Ranger was a visitor at the club with her daughter, Dorothy Marie, who danced. Rev. Charles W. Estes invited Rotarians to the annual Denton County Cattle Club, of which he is president, annual picnic scheduled Wednesday.

OLDEN REVIVAL BRINGS TEN IN CHURCH MON.

Interest in the Baptist revival being conducted in the open air tabernacle, is creating much interest with new members being received early in the meetings. At the first call, made Monday night, ten responded and were received into the church. No call was made on Sunday night, the first of the meetings. Rev. C. C. Edmonds, pastor of the church, who is conducting the meetings, is well pleased with both the attendance and with the response with which his sermons are meeting, as is Rev. Hugh Blair, who is conducting the singing. The meetings are being held in the open air tabernacle, where it is cool in the evenings, and where there are plenty of seats for all who attend. The public is cordially invited to attend any of the services.

Invitation Given To Cattle Club's Picnic at Denton

Invitation was extended today by Rev. Charles W. Estes of Eastland, president of the Denton County Jersey Cattle, for all interested to attend the annual picnic of the association Wednesday at Denton. The picnic will be held at the Kenilworth Jersey Farm, three miles from Denton on the Dallas highway. Imported animals from the Jersey Islands, and several national champions will be seen at the picnic grounds. Rev. Estes stated he would be at the Denton Chamber of Commerce Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock to direct any of this section to the picnic. Those planning to go from Eastland include County Agent C. Metz Heldt, T. E. Richardson, Louis Pitzer, J. A. Beard, H. C. Davis and John Harrison.

GOOD SERMON IS HEARD AT CROSS ROADS

"God's Universal Invitation" was the theme of the message that Rev. H. H. Stephens brought to the Cross Roads people in their second night of the meeting that is being conducted at that place. This Monday night service was well attended and much interest was shown in the message that was brought. Another interesting part of the meeting was the prayer bands that preceded the preaching hour. Rev. J. J. Ponder conducted the adult prayer meeting and Mrs. H. H. Stephens worked with the young people, while Mrs. L. A. Eudy directed the "booster band."

TAPPED WIRES ARE CHARGED BY RANKIN

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Representative John Rankin, Dem., Miss., charged today before the house lobby inquiry, that his telephone wires were tapped during the utilities fight and telephone companies aided utilities holding companies in fighting the "death sentence." Rankin charged his line was tapped at the time the holding company bill was being discussed. "I took it up with the department of justice. They turned it over to the federal communications commission," he said. Utility companies attempted to coerce congress "indirectly and directly," he charged. He testified it would be "very difficult" to get information concerning the alleged tieup between the telephone companies and the utilities.

Patterson formerly held the same position in this county.

Students Riot In Mexico But Rain Quells Disorder

MEXICO CITY, July 16.—A fatal political fight and an attempt to fire the home here of Thomas Garrido Canabal, Mexican Nazi leader, caused urgent government action today to prevent more serious trouble. Seven men were killed and a number wounded when students and student leaders challenged the dictatorship of Canabal. Angered at the news, 2000 students gathered here last night, drove to Canabal's residence and made ready to charge a hastily policed cordon in order to set fire to it. Both sides were set for a clash when a rainstorm intervened and caused the mob to disperse.

Martin Named to Succeed Lattimore

AUSTIN, July 16.—Gov. James Allred today appointed District Judge P. A. Martin, Wichita Falls, to succeed Judge Hal Lattimore, Fort Worth, who resigned as a member of the second court of civil appeals. Appointment to succeed Judge Martin was tendered to Judge Alan Montgomery, Wichita Falls, at present judge of the 30th district court which included Wichita, Archer and Young counties. If he accepts he also will become presiding judge and member of the judicial council.

Allred Beginning To Enjoy Being Chief Executive of State of Texas

AUSTIN—Gov. "Jimmie" Allred is beginning to enjoy being governor. The legislature and its problems are off his hands. His major appointments have been made, of decided. He has things down to a routine that gives him time to go places, and he's supremely happy. "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown" apparently doesn't apply to governors—at least not those of the buoyant, optimistic Allred type. He's found the answers to all the questions that put furrows in his brow from January to June and now he gets a kick out of this governorship. Law enforcement by ranger methods was an early problem. Death sentences troubled him much at first. Taxes worried him. Now that he has tested out his department heads and found them satisfactory, the governor has ceased to worry. "The adjutant general is in charge of the rangers," Allred notified El Paso when inquiries came for a clean-up campaign. Legal problems are referred to the attorney general. The board of pardons and paroles can sift out clemency matters more thoroughly than the governor can with his other duties, so he has decided to follow their advice. The legislature gave a negative answer to his tax plans, and that is the legislators' worry. So, all in all, the governor will find the second six months of office much less trying than the first six. He has grasped quickly something that Farmer Governor Dan Moody never did learn as governor. That is, to fill vacancies immediately. When death removes an official, the governor's name is ready as soon as respect will permit. If there is a resignation, notice of the resignation and of the new appointment go out simultaneously. The promptness relieves a governor of much importuning. It also keeps him from making enemies. One of the state's best "mixers," the governor naturally likes to be in crowds. The summer picnic season, a national guard airplane, and the Austin office in the hands of secretaries who can be depended upon, the governor literally is soaring in the clouds these warm days. Threats of next summer's political campaign have not become pronounced enough to disturb his enjoyment. Altogether he is having a much easier time as governor than he did as attorney general. His trips this summer are keeping up valuable contacts so that next summer's campaigning—for whatever office—will be over prepared ground.

BOSTON, July 16.—From his jail cell Forrest Welles, 30, blind street musician, pleaded today for a "decent burial" for his half-blind sweetheart whom he loosed to her death from a hotel window. He was held for the grand jury for the murder of Hazel Martin or Hazel Ammons. The victim's father resides in Wheeling, W. Va. Meanwhile the police investigated the beggar's story that he lifted the girl from her bed and hurled her "with all my might" from a window. Other residents of the hotel told of loud voices and noise of a struggle before the woman's body crashed onto a cement walk.

Lions Have An Outing on Monday At the Willows

More than 30 Lions and their ladies gathered at the Willows on Monday night for a big feed, swim and entertainment, which was the outcome of an attendance contest between two teams, one captained by Floyd Killingsworth and the other by W. B. Crossley. Floyd Killingsworth, ex-captain of the losing team, furnished the entertainment. Swimming was enjoyed by the majority of the Lions and a few of their ladies, after which refreshments of wieners, rolls, pickles, onions, lemonade and watermelon were served. After the refreshments were served a number of games were played, in which all joined.

PROCESSING TAX ON WHEAT DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL BY CIRCUIT APPEALS COURT

BOSTON, July 16.—The controversial AAA processing tax is unconstitutional, the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled today. In so deciding the circuit court overruled Federal District Judge Elisha Brewster, who last October upheld the validity of the tax. The ruling was made in the case of the Hoosac Mills, Corp., which challenged the right of the government to collect processing and floor taxes of about $82,000. The case before the circuit court since April 24 is regarded as the test which will establish whether the tax is constitutional. It is understood government attorneys are prepared to carry it to the U. S. Supreme Court, before to get a final decision before Christmas. The court decision was by a two to one vote. Two reasons for the decision were cited: 1.—The federal legislature has no authority to regulate production which was in control of state authority. 2.—It was an improper delegation of power. WASHINGTON, July 13.—Frank Wideman, assistant general in charge of tax cases, today said the decision of the circuit court in Boston holding AAA processing taxes unconstitutional, would be appealed immediately to the supreme court. The Boston decision, the first made by a circuit court on the disputed taxes, will provide a supreme court that will determine the fate of the entire AAA program. As additional suits are brought in district court many millions of dollars in taxes will be held in escrow pending those already filed. AAA Administrator Chester Davis professed to welcome the Boston ruling because it brought the decision to the supreme court. Seth Thomas, solicitor of the agriculture department, said he was surprised at its nature.

SECOND DIES OF INJURIES IN CAR WRECK

Carrie Paschall, negroess, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident Sunday afternoon two miles west of Eastland, died in a Ranger hospital late Monday night. She was the second victim of the accident, Thelma Smith, 28, colored, also of Ranger, was instantly killed in the accident. No funeral arrangements had been made for either of the accident victims, but it was said that the body of Thelma Smith would be shipped to Okmulgee, Okla., for burial. The victim's father resides in Wheeling, W. Va. Meanwhile the police investigated the beggar's story that he lifted the girl from her bed and hurled her "with all my might" from a window. Other residents of the hotel told of loud voices and noise of a struggle before the woman's body crashed onto a cement walk.

Eastland Swimming Pool Plans Must Be Changed Slightly

County Administrator H. E. Driscoll, who returned from San Antonio late Monday night, after stopping off in Austin, was informed that the Eastland swimming pool project application was being returned only because the drainage opening of the large pool was not large enough to meet the specifications of the U. S. Department of Health. The department requires that a pool can be emptied in four hours, Driscoll was informed. City Manager Jep Little was in turn told of the changes that would be required in the original plans and stated that they would be made immediately.

Grocery Clerk Is Released On Bond After a Slaying

KENEDY, Texas, July 16.—Leslie Wright, 30 year old grocery truck driver, was at liberty today under $3,000 bond charged with murder in connection with the shotgun killing of F. M. Johnson, 56, violin teacher in whose class Wright's 12 year old daughter was a student. Johnson was killed as he drove up to the grammar school here. Two carpenters working on a building nearby were witnesses. Wright surrendered to officers who said they learned the two men had a fight yesterday over the argument of the violinist's attention to Wright's daughter, Elizabeth. Others injured in the accident were Lammie Mills, driver of the car, who received severe cuts about the arms and body; Dan Gray, who received a fractured leg; Ivy Howes, cuts about the arm and a broken collar bone; and the one-year-old daughter of Carrie Paschall. The cause of the accident was never exactly determined, but it was believed that in passing another car a wheel slipped off the shoulder of the road into the soft dirt, overturning the car, which rolled across a ditch, over a wire fence and into a field.

ALLRED NOT TO STUMP FOR PROHIBITION

AUSTIN, July 16.—Gov. James Allred will not take the stump in the campaign against repeal of prohibition, he said today, although he will vote against repeal. Organized drags were reported preparing to ask him to make speeches. Allred said: "My position remains just the same as it was during the campaign. I favor submission. The question has been submitted. I stated I would vote against repeal but I acceded every other citizen the same right to his own conviction."

Alameda Favored Again for Meet

ALAMEDA will be the scene of the fall meeting of the Eastland County Singing Convention, R. L. Rust, president of the association, announced Tuesday. Date of the meeting will be Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 15 and 14. Indicative of success of the meet and hospitality of the host community, Alameda, at the meeting which ended Sunday, Mr. Rust stated, was that the church in the community was full, and hundreds stood outside and the citizens of that section served an appreciated dinner Sunday. Singers were present from Abilene, Snyder, Roscoe, Haskell, Cisco, Stamford, Albany and other points. Well known singers present who renewed old acquaintances included the music teacher-composer, Bud Warren of Stamford, Z. Z. Nuttle Butler of Phoenix, Ariz., and S. C. Hunt of Eastland.

Officers Seek Slayer of Police

PUYALLUP, Wash., July 16.—Deputy sheriffs, state police and 50 possemen today renewed the hunt for the slayer of two Puyallup policemen, who is believed to be William Mahan, fugitive kidnaper of George Weyerhaeuser. The man hunt centered in the rugged hill country above Sumner. An all-night search failed to reveal trace of the man who shot down police chief Chadwick and patrolman Harry Store near Sumner, a few minutes after he robbed the Ortag State Bank of $500. Fingerprint experts of the Tacoma police department checked the car the bandit abandoned. They were unable to make any marks check with those of known criminals.

CONGRESS NOT TO ADJOURN BY JULY 23RD

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The house today voted to table the resolution to adjourn congress July 23. The vote followed a motion by Rep. John O'Connor, Dem., N. Y., on a motion to table a motion, by Rep. Unsworth Deane, Ga., to adjourn July 23rd. Deane was cleared yesterday when he called for adjournment in a week. When the question was put to a vote only a handful of Democrats favored the proposal, which was favored by the Republicans.

A. F. HARTMAN FEARED KILLED FOR HIS MONEY

Cash Box He Carried Four
In Coal Car On Train
At El Paso.

EL PASO, Texas, July 16.—F. Hartman, former Ranger-prosecutor, was being sought today after a cash box he was known have carried was found in a car here. It contained papers and deed with Mrs. Hartman's name. Check with Ranger reveal Hartman disappeared after started from Douglas, Ariz., July 10, for El Paso. He owns considerable real estate in that state. Hartman first became interest in mining properties in Arizona and Mexico after he had been to by O. D. Hill, employe of the A cadia theatre, of a letter Hill received from a friend in Arizona telling of a gold mine. Gold nuggets, which Hill showed Hartman, caused his interest in the mining proposition and Hartman offered to grubstake the mine. In the meantime a man by the name of J. D. Lillywhite, who has his address as 1326 Fifth street, Douglas, Ariz., wrote to Hill trying to interest Hartman in mining property. Hill stated today. It was not known whether Lillywhite as Bowman had the gold stake in mine or not. Bowman is a former resident of Eastland county and known Hill for 27 years. Hartman, according to Hill, became interested in the proposition and went to Arizona to investigate. After arriving in Arizona Hartman wrote to D. C. McRae of Ranger, who was keeping part of Hartman's property for him, and asked that two steel lock boxes be sent him at Douglas. The letter, which was written on June 19, states that Hartman was "out in the sticks" most of the time, but that he was making his headquarters at Douglas. The lock boxes were sent to Arizona from Ranger on June 5 and on June 26 D. C. McRae mailed a check to Hartman. The check which was in payment of rents on properties in Ranger, was cashed at a bank in Douglas on July 29 and the endorsement signature was verified today by Edw. George at the Commercial State bank of Ranger. No word has been received from Hartman since July 12, when I wrote a post card to Ranger asking that his address be changed to Douglas, Ariz., and that all mail be forwarded to him there. In the letters from Lillywhite and Bowman, written to Hill, he stated that they had valuable gold and silver locations in Arizona and Mexico, which could be mined for about $1 a ton and which would assay anywhere from $4 a ton up with prospects of obtaining upwards of $20,000 from one location and around $200,000 in another. No direct word has been received from Hartman in Ranger since the letters he wrote to McRae and the post card on July 1 asking that his address be change to Douglas.

War Can Be Just, A Real Pacifist

The editors of the Modern Monthly recently undertook poll a number of distinguished Americans as to their attitude in the next war. They asked these people three questions, as follows:

One of the most interesting answers received came from Archibald MacLeish, the poet. He made the point at the moment a pacifist admits he might support a just war, he ceases to be a pacifist; for, he points out:

A good deal of rather loose talk has been indulged in about pacifism in this country during recent years. Much it represents a very real and sincere determination to do nothing more to do with war; but some of it, as this questionnaire suggests, is not so much based on opposition war itself as on opposition to certain kinds of war.

Parole System Fails When It Is Abused

Mr. Hoover, director of those "G-Men" who have made such a notable record of late, has earned the right to be listened to with serious attention whenever he speaks of crime problems.

Yet we should be exceedingly careful to see to it that the criticism falls where it really belongs—on the men who have abused the system, rather than on the system itself.

If society, for instance, fills its chief offices—its governments, its mayoralties, and so on—with self-seeking politicians who are in public life solely for what they can get out of it, then no one need be surprised if the instruments which these men handle are debased and perverted.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
SEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Ewing Mitchell would be the most popular man in town if he had been able to make his charges stick.

Neither the bungling attack of that ousted "little cabinet" member nor any conceivable amount of whitewash can bury the odors which emerge from the Department of Commerce under Secretary Dan Roper, the ex-lobbyist.

It will take an even more inept person than Mitchell to destroy the department's reputation here as the New Deal's chief citadel of favoritism and peanut politics.

If Mitchell had had the faintest notion of how to assemble and present his charges and evidence effectively, he would have made much more of an impression.

About all he displayed, however, was a strong sense of indignation and a living exhibit of the type of folks who land in soft spots in the Roper organization.

MITCHELL'S flop will not divert fire from other sources at Roper's Shipping Board Bureau, Steamship Inspection Service, Bureau of Aeronautics, and other bureaus. His evidence of continuous excuses from penalty for violation of navigation laws, of ships allowed to go to sea inadequately manned or with broken propellers, and of steamship inspectors allowed to remain after being found to have taken "gratuities" still stands in the record.

The Morro Castle, which burned with loss of 100 lives after being built with government money, was found to have had passenger cabins and stairways made largely of wood—including Oregon pine in

SECRETARY ROPER has hired a new crew of press agents and his critics believe he needs them. The department has been notorious for political spionism which trampled on many seasoned old-timers.

H. Russell Amory, hatchet man in the cleanout of employees and often credited with helping block confirmation of Dr. Willard Thorp as chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has since been rewarded by a high post in the Shipping Board Bureau.

Some of the non-political old-timers in the department say they often pray for the return of Herbert Hoover as secretary of commerce.

AFTER reporting the current local reaction to Mr. Roper, it is perhaps only fair to point out also that political activities of the Roosevelt boys, James and Elliott, have roused no great enthusiasm among many folks in the administration camp.

Some New Dealers are convinced that the activities of the presidential family, aside from Mr. Roosevelt, have been, politically, a net loss. There's some reason to believe that Jimmy, who has been virtual patronage boss of Massachusetts and has prospered in various lines of business, has lately been yanked out of the limelight for a while.

And you're likely to hear less of Elliott as a result of efforts to oust him from vice presidency of the Young Democrats of Texas. (Copyright, 1935, NEA 57-734, Inc.)

BACK IN FORM

Definitely proving by her performance in the recent California State tennis championships that she is in form, Alice Marble, above, one of the high ranking U. S. net stars before an illness forced her to retire last year, is on the way back. She probably will be chosen a member of the U. S. Wightman Cup team that meets the British ladies in this country in September.

In addition she has made five dresses, two slips and two cup towels. These are valued at $10.15 but cost only $3.05. Clara remodelled two clothes closets, but she spent no money on that work. Clara still has the 12 hens, and has 16 fryers in addition.

PALO PINTO—Seven pounds of new cotton plus one worn out mattress equals one good mattress for a child's bed in the home of Mrs. A. C. Newberry of the Village Bend Home Demonstration club in Palo Pinto county, according to Miss Pauline Lokoy, home demonstration agent.

Mrs. Newberry took the old mattress which was filled with shoddy, short cotton, added seven pounds of new long staple cotton after the old was well aired, beaten and fluffed; and then washed the tick and remade it. There was no cost to the renovation.

Junkyard Gets a Sky Chief Liner

KIRKSVILLE, Mo.—Two truck loads of wreckage stored in a local junkyard are all that remain of the luxury liner, "Sky Chief," which crashed May 6 killing five passengers, including Sen. Bronson Cutting of New Mexico. The wreckage, valued at $300, consists chiefly of duraluminum sheets and framework of the body.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Farms and ranches alongside of Texas highways will keynote Centennial visitors' impressions of the state.

The Centennial Farm and Home Demonstration Contest announced by the extension service is an effort to enroll every family living on a Texas highway in one great big reception committee to create a "smiling countryside" welcoming visitors to the birthday party.

Response to the announcement of the contest has been inspiring. Dallas News representatives met it when they went out to raise $2,000 for prize money for the contest. Commercial firms gave generously to stimulate enrollment in the state-wide movement to improve the homes and farms and ranches by which the state will be judged in 1936.

Newspapers all over the State have joined hands in cooperation with The News as representing the city where the principal Centennial event will be celebrated. Good editorials and generous inches of space are being given to promote the movement. Radio announcements on commercial programs are telling about it.

The sister State of Oklahoma plans to "pretty up" the highway leading into Texas.

Extension Service agents aided by the men and women and boys and girls who have worked with them heretofore are helping Texans on the highways to make plans for improvements based on Extension Service standards for country homes of comfort and beauty.

Everybody wants the contest to be a success because Texas will be host to the nation in 1936. Texas pride is involved. Texas pride is our pride. The nation's opinion of the homes and farms and ranches of Texas matters to every Texan. So enrollment will not represent alone a desire to win one of the big prizes but will be a measure of Texans' love for their state.

KOUNTZE—Tomato growers in the Volav community in Hardin county realized more than $30,000 from the 1935 crop which amounted to 44 cars, according to W. P. Barrett, county agricultural agent. Due to the late freeze, growers were forced to market this season in direct competition with the Valley and north Florida crops.

The shipment this year was the largest number of cars ever shipped in one season. The next largest season was the 1934 crop which amounted to 34 cars. Although only 10 more cars were shipped in 1935, the 1935 crop returned to the growers three times as much actual-cash, Barrett said.

DALLAS—An average production of 25 eggs per hen per month has been reached for the second time this year by the flock of C. A. Luper of Dallas county, according to Dale Merwin, county agricultural agent. For the month of May, Luper's flock of 71 white leghorn pullets averaged 25.5 eggs each, while in March they averaged 25 eggs each.

The flock is entirely composed of last year's pullets. The hens consumed an average of 4.7 pounds of mash and 3.4 pounds of grain each during the month and had access to green alfalfa all the time.

SAN SABA—By using barn fertilizer on their land, Charles Lee and John H. Traweck, San Saba county 4-H club boys, have both exceeded their fathers in the production of corn. Charles Lee planted his corn in three foot checks, manuring each hill. He will make seven or eight bushels more per acre than his father who planted his corn on unfertilized land.

John H. Traweck planted three-foot rows thick, which he thinned to a stand by cutting out the weaker stalks. He will average 10 bushels or more per acre in excess of the amount produced by his father. His father planted his corn on the same kind of land, but planted less per acre to avoid thinning.

ELDORADO—By using four feed sacks which were given to me and a card of bias tape for which I paid two cents, I made a two-piece dress for myself," says Mrs. F. M. Bradley, wardrobe demonstrator for the Eldorado Home Demonstration Club in Schleicher county. Mrs. Bradley made the dress by her foundation pattern. The dress was trimmed with adding a tie of brown material already on hand and a brown buckle which was taken off of an old dress. "This dress cost me about 5 cents, including the cost of the thread with which it was sewed," Mrs. Bradley said.

RICHMOND—From the sale of eggs laid by her 12 hens, Clara Logemann, 12-year-old president of the Lamar 4-H Club in Fort Bend county, paid all of her expenses for club work and has come out with a total profit of $23.60 for the year, according to Miss Loris J. Weihausen, home demonstration agent.

Twenty-five cents of her money went for seed to plant her garden. An incomplete report on this demonstration shows that she has used fresh 75 pounds and canned 31 quarts of vegetables and seven gallons of berries valued at $16.25.

Film Star Sued for Dog's 'Play'

Two all in play, but it was expensive play when "Cappy," Jeanette MacDonald's 100-pound English sheep dog, shown here with his mistress, frolicked in the Hollywood home which the movie songstress rented from Corinne Griffith, another film headliner. So enthusiastic did "Cappy" become that Corinne has sued Jeanette for $1018, charging damage to furniture and drapes to "Cappy."

Aged Staging a Rush for Pensions

OLYMPIA, Wash.—With a $10,000,000 "paper appropriation" by the 1935 legislature, the State of Washington has started paying old age pensions directly out of the state general fund. The state abandoned its old plan of having counties pay pensions because no adequate way of financing them was discovered. Formerly, the state had contributed horse racing and liquor profits toward pensions. Under the new system pensions are handled by the newly-created state department of public welfare which replaced the Washington Emergency Relief Administration. A two per cent retail sales tax, an occupational tax and 11 other types of taxes were enacted by the 1935 legislature to finance government, schools, relief and pensions. The tax bill is expected to raise $35,000,000 the next two years. The state will retain its share on horse race betting and liquor profits to help finance pensions up to $30 a month. Frank Dowd, supervisor of old age pensions, estimated the state would pay 6,000 pensions by the middle of July and would have as high as 60,000 applicants for money. The state's pension law requires a person to be 65 years of age and a state resident five out of the last 10 years. All applications for pensions will be investigated by the welfare department before grants are made. The law was drafted to take advantage of any Federal Aid Congress may give states in financing pension programs. Under Washington's old county system, which proved unsatisfactory, few pensions were paid, due to lack of funds.

ALLEY OOP By HAMLIN

CLEVELAND, O.—The metropolitan district of Cleveland has increased by 6,567 families in the past year, according to the fourth volume of the Real Property Inventory, just published. The current trend, real estate owners, construction companies and apartment building owners say, is away from families "doubling up." By this time people have begun to realize that hot weather isn't so hot.

Glad to Pay Tax

There's a mere difference of some $500,000 between the amount of contested income tax he believes he may owe the government and the $1,274,238 the government is demanding, but Robert J. Dunham, above, Chicago park district president and public works progress administrator for Illinois, says he is willing to pay whatever amount the courts or the internal revenue commission may finally set. Dunham's lawyers contend the government's valid claim is not more than $400,000.

"Joshua took a great stone and set it up as a witness unto all the people, for it hath heard all the works of the Lord which he spake unto us." Thus the stone face. SUN-TAN

She wondered if, when she saw him again, she would be able to face him with the nonchalance of last night at the Olympic Bowl. "I wish he hadn't given them my name," she thought. "But I suppose he had to let them know who would be using the account." Willingly she would have postponed the shopping tour then and there. But she had promised to leave for Crest Lake tomorrow so it was now or never. When Marsh asked her how she had done with her wardrobe she couldn't say. "I bought two luring suits—a white one and a blue one—and some accessories." She was startled from her thoughts by the car's sudden stop and the operator's "one of Fourth floor, please." Jo hadn't the slightest idea what was on the fourth floor, but as she stepped out on the deep pile of the carpeting she came almost face to face with a young woman modeling a chic evening gown. "Well," Jo thought, "I certainly will need an evening gown!" She decided on just one. She had two of her own which she had worn that winter at school. They were simple and inexpensive. Marsh had admired one of them last night, and if he didn't like the other it would be just too bad. Jo told herself stoutly. THE Lytzen gown she chose was a long beige lace which made her seem much taller than she really was, and to peep from under the starched girders at the hemline she bought a pair of twinkling slippers. To make the dress informal if need be, Jo voted on a crisp little taffeta cape to caress her shoulders. On another floor she bought a three-piece outfit of sturdy, sensible tweed—skirt and coat and topcoat with a jaunty hat to match. For the rest she concentrated on sport clothes as modestly priced as she could find in Lytzen's, and she insisted that all of them be washable. A striped cotton dress, a sun-back frock, a shorts-and-skirt outfit for tennis. To her surprise Jo found that it was almost Lytzen's closing time when she had finished. She wondered vaguely how much her purchases had totaled, and she was on the point of asking for the total when she decided that this was after all, the business of Douglas Marsh. "Thank you. And now may I direct you?" When she reached the Pendule once more she sagged, weary but happy, into a chair. What a day it had been! What— She leaped up suddenly, remembering that Bret Paul was coming for dinner, and to a movie afterward. Hurriedly she removed her hair and was rearranging her hair when there was an imperative knock at the door. Sighting impatiently, Jo crossed the room and swung back the knob. It was Bret. "Why, Bret! You're early. I just this minute got in." His voice sounded strained and queer. "Like your job?" he asked, tossing his hat on a chair and leaning against the door he had just closed. "Oh, Bret, I haven't told you. I've a new job. That's what the shopping was all about. I've been at it all day, and—" She stopped, seeing Bret's clouded eyes. "Why, Bret, what's wrong?" "I know all about your new job," he said quietly. "That is, I know almost all about it. I didn't know it included clothes." She had never seen Bret like this, and she staggered back as if he had struck her a blow. (To Be Continued)

CHAPTER 2
WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
Jean Valjean, sentenced to five years in the galley for the theft of a loaf of bread, serves his term of horrible torture and privation. Paroled, he is hunted by everyone and hounded by the authorities. He seeks refuge in the home of kindly old Bishop Myriel who treats him like a long lost brother. Jean is suspicious of such kindness; revenge for the wrongs done him is foremost in his mind.

The Bishop's Candlesticks
The only dish on the table is a large tureen of ragout. The bishop and Mlle. Baptistine are at opposite ends. Magloire sits opposite Jean, who keeps his eyes on his plate and eats as though he were famished. "I seem to miss something—the table looks bare," says the bishop. "When we have visitors we use the silver plates, but—" She eyes Jean suspiciously and seems to say "not when these kind of people are about." She looks at the bishop and then rises and gets the silver plates from the sideboard. They do not pass unnoticed by Jean.

"When your turn comes, promise me you too will give!"
plates in a basket. She gives a furtive look at Jean as she passes. The bishop indicates the door opposite. "Is your room—the best we can do—hope you'll be comfortable enough—take this!" He gives Jean one of the silver candlesticks. But during this Jean's attention has been riveted on Magloire, who is putting the silver in the cupboard at the head of the bishop's bed. She sees him and comes to the door, shutting it.

"She's afraid of me! And no wonder. He looks at the bishop. "How do you know I won't murder you in the night?" "Well, how do you know I won't murder you?" is the soft-spoken reply. "That's absurd." "You have faith in me, it seems? Then I must do the same by you, mustn't I? Good night." Jean starts at him, amazed.

A Thief in the Night
Jean wakes with a start. His hand instinctively goes to his wallet. He satisfies himself that the 100 francs are there. Then the thought comes to his mind—the bishop's silver. The cunning, crafty look of the criminal comes into his face again. He gets out of bed quietly, goes to his knapsack—takes out an iron bar, feels it, mutters. The door to the bishop's room is ajar. It makes him hesitate. It is too easy. He enters, regards the sleeping man with haggard astonishment, not unmixed with fear, then moves to the cupboard to pry it open.

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—Sonny Workman considers the class of running horses on American tracks today the poorest in years. Only three stand out of the pack—Discovery, Omaha, and King Saxon. He adds that Cavalcade and Today have tremendous potentialities if they can be brought to top form.

He points out that the others beat one another with monotonous regularity.

Workman ought to know what he is talking about, for even during the last years of the spectacular Earl Sande, Sonny was considered tops of the riding fraternity. The little man from Washington began riding for Harry Payne Whitney in 1924, and since that time has ridden steadily, first for that late lamented sportsman, and since for C. V. Whitney. So even if he weren't the greatest of our jockeys, he at least has had more than 10 years of riding for the finest racing stable in America.

Discovery Flies
Workman opines that Discovery is a truly great horse. Despite the injury which put him on the shelf last autumn, the big chestnut has come back in marvelous form.

"Of course," asserts Sonny, "the horse started slowly this year, requiring half a dozen races to get into his best form, but his Brooklyn Handicap victory was a smashing triumph. He broke the world record for the distance of a mile and an eighth, paring it to 1:48 1/2, and this makes his second world record in two years."

I asked Johnny Belshak why he let Discovery run so smashing a race. He beat King Saxon by about 10 lengths. Johnny said that Discovery ran in such effortless fashion that he had no idea his mount was going anywhere near that fast.

"Omaha is by all odds the best of the 3-year-olds, but that isn't saying too much. Omaha is no Equiptote or Cavalcade. Cavalcade nearly tore off both quarters in his three or four high-class stamouthing Johnny Gilbert in the

Take Turn About
As runners are beating each other at all ages. The 2-year-olds take turn about—Delphinium, Triumphant, Blue Donna, Goldstream, Wise Duke, White Cockade, and Snark.

With the season approaching its noontime for the year, with Arlington Park well started and Saratoga coming up in August, it may well be said that the class of horses racing in America has seldom been so poor. Some 9500 thoroughbreds will race on American tracks, during the year, but so far at least, there are not more than three or four high-class horses on the turf.

Suburban, but if he comes back in good shape he'll be tough to beat.

PERSONALLY, I believe that Today will give Omaha all the racing he wants if the horse with which I beat Omaha in the Wood Memorial returns to the races at Saratoga. I believe Today will be fit for the Saratoga meeting. He hasn't had a saddle on him since the Kentucky Derby, in which he would have given a good account of himself had he not developed a blind quarter crack.

"Saratoga meetings between Omaha and Today would be interesting. That's where I rode Whitehorse, daddy of Today against Gallat Fox, sire of Omaha.

"Incidentally, I just lost a $10 bet to Arthur Hancock, Jr., son of the breeder. Art bet me that there were four horses in that race in the mud at Saratoga in which Jim Dandy, the 100-4-1 shot, beat Gallat Fox with Sande up, and Whitehorse with myself aboard.

"I would have testified that there were only three, but when he told me that it was a Kilmer horse and that Frankie Colletti rode the horse, I remembered and paid off. But he couldn't recall the name of the horse, and I've been trying to think of it ever since."

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH REVIVAL IN PROGRESS

The revival at the First Christian church is in full swing. Dr. L. B. Gray, pastor of the Presbyterian church, preached Sunday evening and gave the meeting a good start. Dr. Gray preached a splendid sermon, which was enjoyed by all who heard him.

Rev. Paul Campbell, pastor of the Central Christian church, Weatherford, arrived last evening and held his first service in the revival. His coming promises to be a great blessing to the community. His preaching, singing and picture drawing certainly puts him in a class all his own. The house was more than two-thirds full last night for the first service and the crowd will fill the church tonight. We have a lot of chairs and will do all we can to accommodate all who come. If you want to appreciate the picture you should be as close up as possible. Come early and get a good seat. You will be very much pleased with the preaching and all the other program that Rev. Campbell brings. He makes your people's work a specialty. Glad the orchestra is fully organized and they made a very pleasing start last evening.

One of the special features of the service this evening will be a solo by Mr. Fisher. All who have heard Mr. Fisher will be delighted to know he is to sing this evening. Singers from all other churches are especially invited to come and take part in these services.

Rev. Campbell drew, for the audience last night, "Rock of Ages." It made a great impression on the congregation. Don't miss any of these services. Remember the services start at 8:15 p. m. Come and bring your friends. The one who is responsible for the most folks coming this evening will get the picture that is drawn at this service.

Monte Carlo Is Seen As Reno Of the Continent
By United Press
MONTE CARLO—Monte Carlo may be made into a European Reno, should the Casino fall. Divorce fees would offset the rapidly dwindling gaming receipts.

The United Press talked with Maitre Felix Bonaventure, prominent Monegasque lawyer, and the leader of the opposition party within the principality.

Bonaventure said: "It's evident now that there will be no more golden eggs from the Casino goose. So we Monegasques have to look around to see what we can find in place of gaming revenues.

"My party is in favor of exploiting the position of Monaco as a sovereign state. The first thing that comes to my mind in this connection is legislation to make divorce easy. Look at the Laboratories have devoted years of research to discover the facts about bran. These tests show that Kellogg's All-Bran is a natural laxative food for normal people.

As a result, All-Bran has been accepted by the American Medical Association Committee on Foods, and approved by Good House-keeping Institute.

Millions of Americans use All-Bran to correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. For All-Bran supplies generous, mild "bulk," which continues to be effective when used for months. All-Bran also furnishes vitamins B and iron, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

sums the State of Nevada is realizing from the divorce traffic! "Yes, one—the party in power. It still believes in the omnipotence of the "factory" (Casino). But this party will be out in time. In fact the party that was "out" five years ago, when we were "ins." They were the ones who stood in the street and booed the Prince at that time! In Monaco if you can make up a couple of hundred citizens to shout, you have a political majority.

"And then there are other sources of revenue. Pictures and books banned in other countries for political or other reasons, are some of them. I am, of course, exaggerating when I suggest that we could even go so far as to permit a 100 per cent nudist colony on our shores, but we really could! That will give you an idea.

"So we were not worried about the future. Come what may we are not going to starve to death."

M. Theophile Gastaud, another prominent Monegasque, is not of Bonaventure's opinion, as far as it concerns the desperate financial situation of the Casino.

"I still have faith in the Casino. Of course, they need money just now; they are trying to raise now 40,000,000 francs ($2,643,000) on a bond issue. If the public should not buy the bonds, I am told that Sir Basil Zaharoff will come to the rescue. I understand that he has promised to do so.

"The Casino always will continue to be our principal source of income. People must gamble, and in no other place can they gamble like in Monte Carlo."
