draft of the measure.

Revival Closes at Cross Roads Church

The revival meeting which has been in progress at Cross Roads
for the past week, with Rev. H. H.
Stephens, pastor of the Central Baptist church of Ranger doing the preaching, came to a close on Sunday night when a good crowd was present for the last service.

REAR CROWD AT REVIVAL SUNDAY NIGHT

The largest crowd that ever gathered in the First Christian church in Ranger assembled last night to hear Rev. Paul Campbell preach his message on "Christ Before the Throne." His picture, "The Rugged Cross," was the best available space was taken people were turned away in at numbers. Rev. Campbell's sermon was a masterpiece and the homiletic of any sermon yet heard. Rev. Campbell is professing himself a very splendid preacher and all denominations are to be pleased with his work.

THOMPSON ON TRIAL FOR A FOURTH TIME

ANGLETON, Tex., July 22.—An effort to postpone the murder trial of Clyde Thompson, 23-year-old thrill killer, failed today when District Judge M. S. Munson denied a petition of defense attorneys. The petition for postponement was made on the basis of the absence of Thompson's step-mother. She was described as an important witness for the defense. Defense counsel announced after the denial of the plea for postponement that a change of venue would be sought today.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

A CLOUD cannot burst, since a cloud is made up of a mist of very small water particles. In still air, raindrops fall to earth as they form, but sometimes they are buoyed upward by rising air currents, only to fall, all at once. Such an occurrence is known as a cloudburst.

Brazil's Cotton Export Surplus Is Estimated 936,000

WASHINGTON. — Brazil will have an exportable surplus of about 936,000 bales of cotton from the 1934-35 crop, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, on the basis of the latest crop estimates by the Brazilian government. Exports during the calendar year 1934, following the large 1933-34 crop, totaled 584,000 bales.

Annual domestic consumption of raw cotton in Brazil is placed at 425,000 bales by the bureau. The present estimate of 1,361,000 bales of Brazil's total crop for 1934-35 represents an increase of 41 per cent over the 1933-34 crop of 969,000 bales.

By HARRY GRAYSON

WITH only half of it gone, 1935 already has had a full share of new arrivals in sports as well as more than the usual allotment of remarkable comebacks.

Alfred Perry joined the ranks of the latter by acquiring the British Open with a 283 that equaled the record for the event. The former Ryder Cup player's game had been so woefully off for two years that no one gave him a tumble when the firing started.

While the Stanford secondary was wondering where fleet Don Hutson, of Alabama, was coming from to snag all those passes from Dixie Howell on New Year's Day, Omaha was considered nothing more than a promiser. Chance Sun was the winter book favorite to win the Kentucky Derby.

Thos Sam Parks, Jr., out of the University of Pittsburgh for less than three years, had been a member of the Professional Golfers' Association for only six months. No one thought of Parks as the stars of the fairways squared off for the U. S. Open championship at treacherous Oakmont, but when it was all over but the handshaking it was the 25-year-old home brew who wore the crown with the only score under 300. And there was little handshaking. His professional brothers took Parks' victory too gracefully.

Comets in Baseball: BURGESS WHITEHEAD is from the position of reserve fielder with the Cardinals to place on the National League star array, whether entitled to or not. Pep Young sat on Pirates' bench for two years because he looked like an All-American, but given his chance at it and base the North Carolina promptly took his place among batting leaders and maintained .350 pace.

While Connie Mack strained tired old eyes for pitchers spring all he could see was W. Moses, up from Galveston, good enough to break into the balanced outfield of the AAAA.

Death Recalls Peril of Race Prejudice

This Lieut.-Col. Alfred Dreyfus of France, who died just the other day, will have about as odd a niche in the history books as any man that ever lived.

It was Dreyfus' unhappy fate to be a living testimonial to the fact that when men give way to prejudice they can lose all resemblance to rational beings. Not in all the innumerable years of human stupidity and meanness has there been a more clear-cut display of the sheer dumbness of race prejudice than was evinced in his case.

Consider his career for a moment. He was a young officer on the general staff of the French army; a quiet, talented man, who finished ninth in a class of 81 in the war college, minded his own business and worked industriously at his chosen calling. Then, out of clear sky, he was assailed by the worst charge that can be brought against a soldier—treason.

From the very beginning the case against him was flimsy. The evidence stank to high heaven. It was obvious that the army high command was proceeding against him largely because he was a Jew. It was not long after he had been convicted and sent to Devil's Island that the flimsiness of the accusation was too apparent for any thinking man to miss.

Yet the French people managed to get themselves so wrought up over the case that only the bravest dared suggest that Dreyfus had been wrongly convicted. Men were driven out of public life for taking his part. An army officer who discovered proofs of his innocence was exiled to the desert.

Eventually the swindle became too apparent to overlook. Dreyfus was recalled and given a new trial—and convicted again. At last it took a pardon by the president of the republic to bring him back to freedom; and even after that, it took extended court hearings to remove the last blot from his record.

What happened to Dreyfus himself no longer matters very much. The man is dead, and whatever he may have known of disappointment, of bitterness, of sheer heart-sickness, is gone forever. The thing that is worth pondering about is what happened to his fellow citizens, to make them go insane.

The answer to that is very simple. They gave way to race prejudice; and race prejudice, being an utterly nonsensical thing from the start, blinded them to all considerations of truth and justice, just as it always does. On Dreyfus' unlucky person it raised a warning monument for all ages to note.

It would not hurt us a bit to keep the Dreyfus case in mind. Here, once and for all, the utter insanity of surrender to race prejudice is recorded in terms of injustice and tragedy.

Martin Dies and the American Dumping Ground

Cong. Martin Dies of Orange in his address at Belton, where he faced 20,000 persons "deplored the use of America as a dumping ground for the populations of other nations." He said, in explaining his proposed plan for deportation of approximately 3,500,000 aliens, that he was "echoing the sentiments of George Washington when he said he wished an ocean of fire separated America from Europe." Well, America has to be separated from Africa as well as Europe, Secretary of State Hull, speaking through the President, has made it clear that Mussolini will receive scant recognition in his war to be waged upon the Abyssinians. Uncle Sam had his fingers as well as his brain pan scorched in the World War. Now he seems to be willing to permit Europeans and Asiatics and Africans to "stew in their own juice" and fight their own battles.

AAA Processing Tax Knocked Out by Federal Court

Secretary Henry A. Wallace is having troubles of his own. All the cabinet chiefs are having a rocky road to travel. They are damned if they do not furnish jobs to practical politicians. They are hounded if they do not bow to the demands or requests of the half-baked economists of the hour.

New England textile kings are fighting the processing tax to a finish. Northwestern millers are going all the road in their battles against the processing tax on wheat. Four-fifths of the judges of the federal courts, major and minor, are appointees of republican presidents. The latest knock-out for the AAA comes from Boston where the United States circuit court of appeals declared the tax unconstitutional. It was a 2 to 1 decision. Now the federal administration promises to carry the case to the court of last resort. Just now the court of last resort is on summer vacation. In October the "nine weary old men" will begin their grind. They will find a loaded docket of real court decisions passed up since they recessed in June and many of the New Deal acts will come before the court of last resort for the last word—speaking of constitutionality of the New Deal enactments.

The calling of an Editor compels him to live in tomorrow before today has half run its course.

Take mildness for one thing—how does it measure up for mildness? Chesterfields are milder—not flat or insipid, of course, but with a pleasing flavor. Then take taste for another thing—does it have plenty of taste? Chesterfields taste better—not strong but just right. In other words, They Satisfy—that's my yardstick for a cigarette. Rabbit Fever Is Reported In State

AUSTIN.—A number of cases of tularemia, sometimes called Rabbit Fever, have been reported to the State Department of Health, according to John W. Brown, State Health Officer. The disease is usually transmitted during the hunting season by the handling of infected rabbits when there is a break in the skin. The cases now being reported are probably due to the bite of the wood tick.

Canny Gully Wreak Havoc to Fruit Farm

SALT LAKE CITY.—A local influx of gulls and the subsequent competition for food among them has caused fruit farmers of Salt Lake and Utah Valleys great dismay. Unable to light on the branches with their webbed feet, the gulls have learned to hover over the trees, beat the fruit down with their wings, and then fly to the ground and feast on the fallen harvest.

THE FRAGONETS walked hurriedly to the car almost before Marsh had a chance to get out of it. "Doug!" Fragonet cried joyfully. "How glad we are to get off that blasted train. I hope your place is worth it. I'd have flown up—but Edna doesn't like planes."

"Edna and I will sit in front," Douglas Marsh said. "I hope you and Pete won't mind the rumble seat, Jo." "She'd better not," Fragonet said, smiling at Jo. "Me, I like rumble seats." He helped Jo into the rear compartment and hopped in beside her. As the car pulled away from the station, he heaved a great sigh. "It's certainly great to be here."

Penn Students Get Aid from FERA

PHILADELPHIA.—University of Pennsylvania students who worked part time under the FERA during the past 13 months, have earned $92,180, the university announced. During this period the students worked a total of 217,979 hours earning an average of slightly more than 43 cents an hour. The average earnings per month per student, however, were limited by the government to $15. Supervision of the federal relief work for self-supporting students at Pennsylvania has been exercised by the university's committee on student aid. Each applicant for participation was interviewed and was required to file a budget showing financial resources and estimated expenses. Included among the projects, on which the students were employed, were studies in secondary education; preparation of a report on political parties, a study of old age dependency in Philadelphia; inspection and repair of scientific apparatus, cataloguing work, and an analysis of data on savings deposits.

G-Men Hustle Kidnap Chiseler Behind Bars

Struggling against going behind the bars, Alfred Otto Wagner (center), called the "No. 1 misery chiseler" for his confessed efforts to obtain money from the relatives of kidnap victims, found resistance futile as the strong arms of the law at the Brooklyn, N. Y. Federal building hustled him to a cell. Wagner, recently released from Sing Sing prison on parole as a kidnaper, was trapped in trying to collect $75,000 for the "release" of 83-year-old Charles D. Towt, missing broker. He admitted having sent ransom demands in the Weyerhaeuser and other kidnaping cases.
