

SEPT. 16 LIKELY DATE FOR SPECIAL SESSION

PEEPING THRU The KNOTHOLE

Coach Moore and 34 of the Bulldogs got off about 10 o'clock Monday morning for the two-week training camp at the Country club and everyone, even the coach, seemed to be decidedly anxious to get started on the hard, hard grind that comes before a football team can get out on the field and win games.

Even some of the boys who were more or less lax about training last year were as impatient to get off as one could imagine and were ready to start the back-straining, muscle binding exercises that come before the team is ready to start work.

At 4 o'clock the squad had assembled just off the No. 6 fairway and began to exercise, which should work off any excess pounds and fat, especially since the exercises were being taken in mid-afternoon under a blazing sun.

It looked so hot out there in the distance, with the weeds knee deep, that we couldn't sit in a car and watch it for more than about five minutes before we had to come in for a cold drink.

Few people who have not been through it realize the hard work that is necessary before a football team is ready to play. Or what a prize fighter has to go through to get ready for a championship bout.

There is plenty of exercise for the young hopefuls, as well as the veterans. Exercise to limber up these muscles, exercises that make one's back ache, exercises that are designed to toughen one up so he can take it, exercises that are designed to make one more supple, exercises to give one a quicker getaway, exercises to develop speed, exercises to develop stamina, exercises to develop wind. And then, last exercises. And they are all hard work, especially at first. The boys who can stick it out, can look forward to the football season and realize that he must be right in there every minute and like it is the one who usually makes the best player, with other things being equal, and there are few, if any, instances of a half-trained boy making the grade where a well trained one did not.

All this is preliminary to the two hours the fan sits in the stands to see the thrills, if any, the brilliant plays that look so simple but which are built up with lots of hard work, practice, study and coaching. There are none too good or none to experienced to escape this grilling, grinding work. Even the professionals have to go through it.

And in the meantime the fan is sitting under an electric fan complaining of the heat, while the football candidates are out there going through that six weeks of preparation so they can play San Angelo, Amarillo, Polytechnic, Eastland, Abilene, Cleburne, Sweetwater, Cisco, Brownwood and Breckenridge.

Yes, a boy must love football to stick it out long enough to break into the lineup.

SOMALIS ARE DESERTING THE ITALIAN ARMY

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)
ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 27.—Reports here today said more than 12,000 Somalis, chiefly troops and equipped with machine guns, had deserted the Italian army and offered their services to Haile Selassie.

Upwards of 15,000 natives of Somaliland, including native troops, have crossed the borders of the Italian colonies into Ethiopia. The latest exodus occurred several days ago and they have been arriving in groups of 100, safely within Ethiopia.

The reports aroused high interest in diplomatic circles, waiting to see which way the native tide would turn.

The soldiers are said to have crossed the border proclaiming allegiance to the emperor.

Many diplomats here predicted such difficulty for Italy, saying that the borderlands were controlled by the Italians, French and British, and Ethiopian remains a subject of his emperor.

Reports that Italian nationals were evacuating Addis Ababa were declared groundless.

Short Change Gang Runs Afoul of Law; Pays Fine In Ranger

Chief of Police Jim Ingram of Ranger has received a telegram from John Watt, chief of police at Oklahoma City, stating that a man held for a short time in the Ranger city jail was not wanted in that city, though his record showed 21 arrests in 14 years on con game charges.

The man, who was arrested in Ranger Saturday afternoon, was accused of being a member of a gang of short-change artists who were caught working in the city. A woman, working the $10 bill change racket, escaped from the officers, but her alleged companions were captured. They were fined $15.70 in city court and returned the money obtained from J. C. Smith in the short-change transaction.

The man who was jailed in Ranger, and whom Oklahoma City police said had been arrested 21 times, gave his name as R. B. Evans.

Cotton Loan Plan Is Worked Out

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—A revised AAA cotton program calling for a 10-cent loan and 12-cent guarantee emerged today as the result of a battle between southern senators and the department of agriculture.

The plan evolved at a white house conference in an effort to break the congressional deadlock on the third deficiency bill, applies to all cotton produced under acreage allotments on AAA adjusted acreage. Farmers must sign up for the 1936 program, which the AAA warned would provide for a sharp reduction, to receive benefits under the plan.

RELIEF FAMILY DENIED DOG

BUFFALO, N. Y.—A family on relief has no right to own a dog, City Judge Peter Maul ruled in a case tried here. The judge directed that a dog, owned by Mrs. Josephine Starks, which allegedly had bitten a neighbor, be turned over to the S. P. C. A.

ROOSEVELT TO CONFER UPON FINANCE PLAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—President Roosevelt called a conference of congressional leaders and Comptroller General McCarl at the White House today to consider means of meeting the crisis resulting from blocking the deficiency bill.

Public Works Administrator Harold Ickes said the social security program could not be financed from PWA's $700,000,000 revolving fund.

The money received from the sale of securities, taken in as collateral on federal construction loans, can only be loaned in accordance with congressional law.

Those close to the social security board held that failure of the deficiency bill barred any activity by the board before the next session. This would bar the board from making grants of funds to states, which at present have old age pension laws and are eligible for federal aid. The act provides the federal government shall match state pension funds dollar for dollar to a maximum of $15 per person per month.

Resentment against Long for his blockade of the vital appropriation was apparent among congressional leaders and was reported to extend to the White House.

In one quarter suggestions were heard that President Roosevelt take to the air in a series of addresses to put the situation before the people.

Liquor Still Being Sold Openly Over Bars In the State

DALLAS, Aug. 27.—Although Texas still was legally and technically dry, those who like their liquor might stand up to the bar and enjoy it today.

After 16 years of drought the state voted Saturday to repeal constitutional prohibition. But Attorney General William McCraw said the Dean law still is in effect and would be until the vote was canvassed officially in about two weeks.

After that, he said, counties will be wet or dry individually in accordance with local option laws.

But the technicality barely caused a ripple in the state-wide gush of intoxicants.

She collapsed in an elevator and was carried to her husband's office.

Sen. and Mrs. Connally were married in 1904 when he was a member of the Texas legislature. Surviving are the senator and a son, Ben of Houston.

Grand Jury May Consider Poker Game Case On Saturday

DALLAS, Aug. 27.—Sheriff Smoot Schmid said today the Dallas county grand jury would probably consider the cases of Fred Batson, Cleburne, and Jack and Buck Terry, brothers, of Fort Worth, charged with murder in connection with the poker game killing of one of the players.

The sheriff said Batson made a statement detailing his version of the slaying. He is still too ill to appear before the grand jury. He was arrested in Cleburne last week and is now confined in the hospital ward of the jail.

Suspect May Not Be a Kidnaper

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 27.—Butte police officers, Chief Jerro Murphy and Detective James Mooney today failed to identify a man here as William Mahon, fugitive kidnaping suspect.

The man who gave the name of Les McGowan, former inmate of the Montana penitentiary, was arrested last night.

The arrest was made because of a resemblance to the kidnaper, officers said.

He was with three other men in a sedan when arrested. One ran and the other two were not arrested.

"It's pretty definite he is not Mahon. We are holding him, however, until we can get his fingerprints checked at Washington. He admits serving a term in Deer Lodge prison for burglary," officers said.

State Game Wardens Cannot Enforce the Federal Game Laws

AUSTIN, Aug. 27.—State game wardens are powerless to enforce federal dove hunting regulations, the secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster commission said today.

"It is not a matter of choice with the game, fish and oyster commission. State game wardens have no authority to enforce federal laws," he said.

He quoted from a section of the constitution forbidding any state officer holding a federal job.

Miss Sisk is aiding the fight for the divorce and annulment.

New Proration Is Up For Discussion

AUSTIN, Aug. 27.—Texas Railroad commissioners had under advisement today a new plan, proposed for prorating oil in the East Texas field. A conference was to be held late today when the commission will issue its September oil and gas proration orders.

Two of the three members are said to oppose departure from the present system of prorating based on well ability to produce.

Holders of large tracts with few wells asked the commission to consider acreage as a factor.

Final attack on the change were made at a hearing today.

LEGISLATORS WANT TIME TO STUDY PLANS

Governor Not Sure What Topics Will Be Submitted to Session.

AUSTIN, Aug. 27.—September 16 is under consideration as the day to convene a special session of the state legislature for liquor regulation and tax, Gov. Alfred said today.

"Most of the members of the legislature from whom I heard believe it will be best to wait two or three weeks before attempting to legislate. A few suggested a session within a week but most want time to study legislation," he said.

The governor said he has not determined what topics will be submitted beside liquor and old age pensions. Substitution of salaries for fees is made obligatory in the amendment whether or not the governor submits the topic.

Old age pension legislation may be deferred. It was unknown if failure of the appropriation bill in congress will stop the government set up its old age pension plan, with which it was planned to have the state cooperate.

Submitting the topic of liquor Alfred did not consider a submission of taxation generally as the liquor tax would be incidental to regulation.

When police arrived, they were unable to find the window-watcher, but the frightened midnight callers preferred not to return to their home.

Uncle Sam Is Master Mind of American Republic

Howard C. Hopson is the "elusive master mind" of the Associated Gas and Electric system and a very remarkable individual, to say the least.

Now he is in the custody of the government. He certainly led the congressional lobby investigators a wild chase for weeks.

They also want to know if Hopson knew anything about the mysterious fire which destroyed messages in a telegraph office in the State of Pennsylvania.

Uncle Sam is a very important and very powerful personage. When thoroughly aroused he handles the Hopsons, indeed all citizens, high or humble, without fear or favoritism.

Vivid Picture of Meteorite Is Told

MONTREAL—McGill university meteorological experts are attempting to determine the exact composition of a fragment of a meteorite which fell during an electric storm here.

The fall of the meteorite, which measures about 10 inches in diameter, was witnessed by Dr. I. A. Schlessinger. The fragment, described as "a white streak of light which changed to blue after it struck," fell with such force on a metal drain cover that the concrete pavement was cracked for several feet.

Dr. Schlessinger said he was awakened by a terrific thunder-clap and went to a window. He said he heard a "loud whirring noise" above the house, which increased in volume until the "white flash" crashed to the ground.

Montgomery Ward To Have Sale of Household Wares

Volume buying running into the thousands and even millions of articles of merchandise has been conducted in preparation for Montgomery Ward's nation-wide sale of housewares, which will be held in the company's 489 stores from Wednesday, Aug. 28, to Saturday, Sept. 7, inclusive. This concentrated volume buying has made it possible for Ward to offer housewares at the lowest possible prices. More than 5,000,000 clothes pins have been purchased for the event and in excess of 125,000 pieces of aluminum-ware. Other items of which large quantities have been purchased, and which will be featured in the sale are galvanized pails, wash and ironing boards, electric irons, mixing bowls, self-polishing wax, oil and dust mops, flashlights, and numerous other household items.

School Believed Most Modern and Complete for Negro Students In West Texas Is Completed Tuesday

What is believed the most modern and complete school for negroes in West Texas was completed Tuesday at Eastland when laborers put the finishing touches on the Frederick A. Douglas building.

The school, completed by relief labor, will be officially opened next week when K. B. Tanner, president of the Eastland school board, makes an address. Open house is planned for several days.

Frank Evans, who has been principal of the Douglas school for colored at Eastland, will continue as head of the school which occupies the entire 3C block in Eastland. The school faces on East Patterson street and measures 74 by 30 feet.

High school work will be offered at the school, only one in Eastland county in which the higher subjects are available for colored students. An enrollment of 37 is expected in the elementary grades. Fifteen high school students will attend, six coming from Ranger and three from Cisco.

The building has an office for the principal, cloak room, two class rooms, drinking fountains and a stage. The class rooms which extend across the length of the building are convertible into an auditorium.

The class rooms have a new type of blackboard which eliminates the glare found in the usual type, it was stated.

Swings and other playground equipment, furnished through civic organizations and citizens in Eastland, are available for recreation of the colored students.

Lumber for the school was used from the old Scripture Lumber company building. The material was obtained by the Eastland school board, which also furnished supervision for the project which has given $1,800 in wages to relief clients.

The Eastland board and Eastland school board views the completion of the project as one of its major achievements.

Schools Can Take Advantage Of WPA To Beautify Grounds

ABILENE. — While it is expected that the building of lateral roads will provide the major portion of the work necessary to the employment of 6,000 or more employables in the counties comprising District No. 13 of the Works Progress Administration, it is by no means the only method through which towns, counties and school districts may receive lasting benefits, according to W. P. A. Director, W. S. James, of the Abilene office.

As an example, Mr. James calls attention to the fact that all school grounds, both rural and urban, are afforded an opportunity to beautify their grounds by the building of retaining walls, sodding, laying out gravel walks, drives and playgrounds and planting shrubbery. School houses, out-buildings and garages may be repainted, repaired or built, provided the sponsors or patrons will supply a portion of the needed materials. The abundant supply of native building stone and road material throughout the District makes possible the employment of a great number of unskilled laborers in quarrying, loading and handling such material for these projects. This section has never, and probably never have another such opportunity to bring rural school and school grounds up to the standard of other states, says Mr. James.

"--as advertised"

How many times you see those two words in the course of a day's shopping: "This article for sale—as advertised."

And those two words are as welcome as they are familiar, for they form a bond of confidence between the merchants and yourself. They are his guarantee to you of worth and value.

Here is an article that has been described in your newspaper. Its merits have been told; possibly, too, its price. You know exactly what you will get when you buy it. You know its quality, its utility; you know how it fits into your needs. And when you buy it, you know you are getting not some unproved substitute but the specified article—as represented.

It is easy to understand why that phrase, "as advertised," creates a feeling of confidence. You have learned to depend upon consistently advertised products. You know that the maker has confidence in them, else he would not spend money calling your attention to them day after day, month after month. You know that they have been approved by the most critical of investigators—the buying public. And above all you know from experience that buying goods "as advertised" is the best investment you can make.
