JUNIOR COLLEGE OPENS GRID SEASON FRIDAY

KEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

With BILL MAYES
Every year we marvel at the fact that a football team can go under the name of "Ducks." Every year we do. And it still seems funny to us. Bulldogs, Mustangs, Mavericks, and all those names indicate things more or less wild and woolly, with a fight to them. But who has heard of a rough and ready, scrapping duck? We have two ducks and all they do is kick and eat. Maybe that is why the Taylor High School got its name.

One of the best stories told at Knute Rockne, and most of the best ones are told about him, is a game in which Notre Dame was playing against Army, and the ball on their own three yard on a fumble.

The captain looked over toward the bench as though he wanted someone to tell him what to do. He started warming up and went to go in as a substitute, so the captain urged the line to hold their breath.

The coach, who he informed them, did to hold 'em."

It was evidently the trick, because he held 'em and later won the game. Psychology, maybe. He might, maybe. Whatever it was it worked.

And speaking of tricks reminds me of Coach E. T. Sealey of Ranger Junior College, evidently has a full bag full of them. He is taking up the backfield play in comparison to the usual line of backfield plays, but according to reports, everyone is. Cisco is reported to be practicing a lot of these stuff, which they are to use on the teams once the conference season opens, and Eck

Woman Renews Her Subscription to Paper

Mrs. C. D. Woods of Route 2, Ranger, was a pleasant caller at the Times office Wednesday. Mrs. Woods said she had two things in mind when she came to Ranger—to renew her subscription to the Times and the other was to buy jars for the canning of fruit and vegetables in her home. She said, "You know we have the care of everything that is in our garden, because next year we do not have such a good fruit vegetable year."

"Mile-High" Drive Is Being Planned

AUSTIN.—A "mile-high" scenic drive in Texas' Davis Mountains has been proposed to the Texas planning board for early construction.

The proposed route is 75 miles long. Ten of the 20 land-owners along the route have promised to donate 2,556 acres of land for a park.

The length of way has been tending to the 75 miles. Included in the park area are two mountains more than 8,000 feet altitude. The project has been referred to the board's land use committee.

Tickets For Games Are For Sale at The High School

Tickets for the Ranger Junior College-Daniel Baker College-Freshman game, to be played Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, are for sale at the registrar's office at the high school, announced today.

Tickets for the Ranger High School-Polytechnic game, to be played in Fort Worth Saturday afternoon, Oct. 5, can also be obtained at the office of the registrar.

POTATO MEN HEAR PROTESTS ON WALLACE

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Republican and Democratic members of congress formed a coalition today to fight Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, whom they accused of nullifying the laws of the United States by refusing to enforce the potato control act.

Storming into a meeting of potato growers, Senator Wallace White, Rep. Me. Josiah Bailey, Dem. N. C., and Representative Lindsay Warren, Dem. N. C., demanded the AAA enforce a law declaring potatoes a basic commodity. Wallace contended he cannot enforce the law for lack of funds.

Warren and Bailey made angry speeches and brought cheers from the 300 potato growers.

Bailey, Warren and White gathered outside the agricultural department and considered means of bringing pressure on Wallace.

Claim Wild Ducks Damaging Crops

CUERO, Texas.—Complaints that wild ducks are damaging their crops will be taken to the state game commission by rice farmers in the El Campo district.

In the past few weeks, thousands of the wild fowl have been flocking into the El Campo rice fields, causing heavy damage. Farmers claim they are helpless because the duck hunting season does not open until Nov. 20.

The farmers will ask permission to protect their property by shooting ducks out of season.

Lawyer Leaves Law Volumes to College

DALLAS.—Upon the death of J. J. Falk of Athens, former state senator, Southern Methodist University received almost a thousand law volumes which comprise one of the most noted collections in the state.

The executor's bequest of court records and decisions adds greatly to the importance of the S. M. U. library, already considered one of the finest in the South.

Among the books included in the bequest were 350 volumes of the records of the Texas Court of Appeals, 160 volumes of American Decisions and American Reports, and numerous volumes containing Texas statutes.

Roosevelt-Garner Club Organized

DALHART, Tex.—The first Roosevelt-Garner club in Texas was inaugurated here Sept. 28 coincident with the first Congressman's Appreciation Day ever held in the nation.

The Appreciation Day was held for Marvin Jones of Amarillo. More than 5,000 persons heard him laud the courage of Panhandle citizens who had stuck it out against sandstorms and lashing winds and explain New Deal legislation with particular reference to farmers and ranchers.

The big crowd enthusiastically adopted a resolution establishing the Roosevelt-Garner club and endorsing the work of Congressman Jones.

Cuero Planning a Big "Turkey Trot"

CUERO, Tex.—This city's contribution to the Texas Centennial in 1936 will be the most elaborate "Turkey Trot" ever staged here.

Cuero is called the "turkey capital of the world," and its parade of turkeys to celebrate Thanksgiving season has become famous.

Thousands of persons attend the annual festival.

Slain by Deputies Serving Writ

Though witnesses say she was unarmed, Mrs. Sophie Crempa, above, was shot five times when deputy sheriffs, seeking to serve a writ, opened fire on her and her husband, fired as tear gas routed them from their home at Scotch Plains, N. J.

MAVS TO PLAY BROWNWOOD AT EIGHT TONIGHT

Probable starting lineup of the Eastland Mavericks who engage in their first conference game of the season tonight at 8 o'clock in Brownwood against the Lions was announced today by Coach Johnny Kitchan.

The MAVS, scoreless to date, have hopes of regaining prestige by a victory with the team they spanked thoroughly last year.

Brownwood, meeting Class B opposition to date, have rung up victories over Comanche and Santa Anna.

The Lions Club is providing transportation for members of the band and pep squad.

Dothan Man Given Parole By Alfred

J. W. Adams of Dothan, who was sentenced to two years recently in district court on a cattle theft charge, has been paroled to Dr. Bass at Abilene for treatment, Edward Clark, secretary to Governor Alfred, informed the sheriff's department Thursday.

BRITAIN NOT TO CLOSE SUEZ CANAL SOON

PARIS, Oct. 3.—The British government does not intend to close the Suez Canal, it was asserted officially today.

It is understood the question was raised as to whether ships of Italy could not be "intercepted."

The possibility such interception might be legal was based on the presumption economic sanction may be voted against Italy by the League. The final legal point appeared to be whether interception would constitute an act of war or would be compatible with an economic boycott. It is presumed the study is being conducted in Paris because the headquarters of the Suez Canal Company are here, though more than half the stock is British owned.

PATIENT ATTACKS SURGEON

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—While undergoing treatment for a severe scalp wound, an operating table here, a Wichita, Kan., man turned on the surgeon and tried to throttle him.

WITNESS IMPRESSES COURT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Robert Barrett is blind, but he testified in court here as the witness of an automobile accident. The driver was fined $200 for drunken and reckless driving.

Lone Mourner for Famed Sister

At the funeral of her sister Katherine, Charlotte Pailon, pictured on her way to the cemetery, learned bitterly how fleeting fame was, for she was the sole mourner at the rites. A generation ago they became known as "the terrible Pailon sisters" because of the many law suits growing out of their adventures in New York City. Daughters of a Troy, N. Y., fish dealer, both were considered great beauties.

1044 Enrolled in Eastland Schools

Enrollment at Eastland schools, 1,044 to date, is the same as that for a similar period last year, Supt. P. B. Bittle announced Thursday.

Increase is shown in the high school registration, junior-high and the colored school, the superintendent stated.

Additional registrations are expected since many youths are at work in the fields and have been unable to enroll, Bittle said.

School census enrollment of Eastland placed 1,143 as of school age.

Registration figures for this and last year follows. High School, 282, 276; Junior High, 173, 168; South Ward, 277, 279; West Ward, 264, 190; Douglas Colored, 48, 81.

Crime Survey By SMU Students Is "A Step Forward"

DALLAS.—A crime survey made by two graduates of the Southern Methodist University Law School has been acclaimed by Dean Charles S. Potts, of the School of Law, as a "definite step towards determining what the courts are actually doing."

"There has been much criticism of courts and court procedure," Dean Potts declared, "but little information based on actual investigation has been obtained. This survey is an attempt to supply, to some extent, this information."

Sam French and Robert Dillard, ex-students of the university, who made the survey, studied disposition made by two criminal courts of all indictments, during the years 1933 and 1934.

The method of investigation of the young law school "graduates was similar to that used in Missouri and Illinois official crime surveys.

Rangers Popular With Victoria Boys

VICTORIA, Tex.—Texas Rangers are given royal welcomes by the small boys of Victoria.

The state officers recently crusaded against slot machines here. They smashed the devices and allowed the youngsters to scramble for the coins.

WETS AND DRIES PREPARE FOR FINISH FIGHT

AUSTIN, Oct. 3.—Wets and dries in the legislature prepared for a finish fight today over sale by the drink of liquor.

Before the house was a substitute bill by Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene and others to license the sale of liquor in package stores only.

No sales would be permitted by the drink in open packages or for consumption on the premises. Backing the plan were many advocates of the defeated state monopoly setup.

Representatives of large wet centers insist on sale by a drink as provided in the license bill of Rep. R. E. Morse, Houston, for which the Bradbury bill would be substituted.

Wets had another alternative, local option on by the drink sales. An amendment by Rep. E. H. Thornton, Galveston, was withdrawn yesterday because of doubt of its constitutionality. He said today it had been written. The plan would allow local option elections on by the drink sales.

Body of Oil Man Sent By Train to Pennsylvania

The body of Daxe Hixon, 63, who died in Eastland Wednesday, was scheduled to be sent to Bentleyville, Pa., Thursday afternoon for burial. Reports stated Hixon, who had no relatives in Eastland, came to the Oil Belt as a rig builder when the boom started.

Italians Accused of Bombing Hospital

GENEVA, Oct. 3.—Ethiopia accused Italy today of bombarding a hospital at Adowa, flying the red cross flag, and the league committee took the first step toward moral condemnation of Italy.

The committee of 13, which is really the council, comprising all members expect Italy, met for two and a half hours and designated a sub-committee of five powers to judge the dispute.

Two Bandits Rob Chicago Messenger

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Two bandits who held up a bank messenger shot and killed a policeman today.

The bandits, who fired on the policeman, William Stringfellow, as he reached for his revolver, escaped in a car waiting for them outside the railroad terminal.

The messenger was carrying the money to the Fred Harvey Cafe.

WORLD TRADE IS NERVOUS OVER WAR TALK

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—World markets were nervous as Italians started a drive into Ethiopia. The New York market opened lower with trading active with blocks up to 4,000 shares appearing. It immediately reversed its position and prices rebounded from lows and gains of almost a point were substituted. Thereafter the list quieted and prices were steadier.

New York cotton opened with gains of 50 cents a bale and then dropped back.

Gold shipments continued to reflect European nervousness. The Federal Reserve Bank reported during September $225,000,000 of gold had been rushed to American vaults, bringing total imports since the dollar was devalued January, 1934, to around $2,500,000,000.

Gallows Looms for Floyd F

Death of a Missouri gallows draws near for Adam Richetti, above, confederate of the late "Pretty Boy" Floyd. For his part in the Kansas City Union Station massacre, in which three police officers died, the former Oklahoma oil field worker has been sentenced to hang on Oct. 4.

MUSSOLINI SAYS ITALY MUST CONTINUE WAR

ROME, Oct. 3.—Italian troops will continue to force their way into the interior of Ethiopia without a declaration of war, it was said today.

If any explanation is demanded Rome will reply that Ethiopia's continued "aggressive attitude" makes war necessary to safeguard Italy's colonies bordering Ethiopia.

In quarters close to Mussolini the United Press learned Il Duce feels much relieved now that the decisive step is taken. His friends said he had been under an almost inhuman strain as he fought to carry through his African program without setting a torch to European peace.

It is reported he has spent many sleepless nights, constantly drinking tea. Last night his emotion reached a climax.

Extension Courses Will Be Offered at High School Today

W. T. Walton, superintendent of the Ranger Public Schools, announced today that teachers from Abilene Christian College would be in Ranger at 5:30 this afternoon to meet those who want to take up extension work from the college.

Courses will be offered in education administration, history and physical education to meet certificate requirements and to meet hour requirements to renew or obtain certificates.

Work can also be taken toward a degree, Walton stated, and those who are interested in obtaining certificates or in renewing certificates will be sure to find work in the extension department of the Abilene college that will appeal to them.

All who are interested have been urged to meet with the teachers at the high school building at 5:30.

Cuero Will Ship a Fine Turkey Crop

CUERO, Texas.—More than 165,000 dressed turkeys will be shipped from DeWitt county during the 1935 marketing season for Northern and Eastern markets, it has been estimated.

Growers say the birds will be the finest produced in this section in many years. Cuero, called the "turkey capital of the world," will ship approximately 35 carloads.

Ranges were reported in the best condition in several years, indicating a continued growth of the fowls DeWitt county was expected to receive approximately $500,000 for the crop.

Egypt Is Speeding Construction Work

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 3.—Speeding up construction work to strengthen Egypt's defense on the eastern frontier which divides Egypt from Cyrenaica, eastern section of the Italian colony of Libya, has been decided upon, it was learned today.

The decision to go full steam ahead was taken at a meeting of the minister of war with army leaders and frontier chiefs. It is understood there will be full participation of the Egyptian army in defense plans.

Friday afternoon Coach Sealey's Ranger Junior College Rangers will play their first game of the season when they take on the strong Daniel Baker College freshmen in the first game for the Rangers and the first game to be played in Ranger this year.

The Hill Billy freshmen are reputed to be a strong team, while

Flashing Lights On Derrick Give Unique Appearance

Did you notice the derrick lights last night? Quite tricky, were they not?

In case they were overlooked by anyone it might be explained that a flasher system has been added by Johnny Boyd and B. S. Lemma, the top row of lights around the top of the derrick and the row just under them alternately flash on and off. The top row is burning while the lower row is off, then the lower row comes on and the upper row goes out.

The flashing makes quite a unique appearance, especially from a distance, and draws much more attention to the lighted derrick. All lights along the main standards were not renewed when the re-wiring was done, however, as there were not enough bulbs to replace all that had burned out. The others will be replaced soon, however.

Small Family Only a Passing Fad

Gather a little group of serious thinkers together for an evening's discussion of what is wrong with the world and sooner or later you will find them speaking sadly of the decline of the family.

Broadly speaking, the complaint will be that educated folk who stand the gaff financially in the matter of child-raising are having few children, or no children at all, while Mr. and Mrs. Joe Doakes from back of the yards are encumbering themselves with more offspring than is either financially or socially advisable.

From all this you will learn that America is systematically breeding out those traits of character and intelligence which it ought to preserve.

Dr. Clark Wissler, curator of anthropology at the American Museum of Natural History, reports that the time-honored trend toward small families on the part of educated and well-to-do Americans is being reversed. Basing his views on a careful study of statistics, he believes that in the near future families of four or five children will be as common in the upper income brackets as they are now among the very poor.

"The social ideal about large families is subtly changing," he remarks. "The large number of married couples who can afford children, but don't have them, has caused a lot of thinking, and this has started the reaction going the other way. It is all a matter of social ideals.

"A social ideal about the desirability of large families will inevitably bring about large families."

This would seem to indicate that America's upper middle class is at last beginning to get some sense.

Rearing a family of children is just as expensive and difficult as everyone says it is; but when all is said and done, it remains the most rewarding activity that the ordinary human can indulge in.

The married folk who limit themselves to one child, or to two children at all, are simply cheating themselves out of the best thing life can offer them.

In no other way is it possible to taste the full richness and deep flavor of living. It calls for sacrifices, it means heartaches and worry, it brings vexing complications—but what thing that is worth doing does not?

It is safe to assume that the recent trend toward small families is but a passing fad. In the long run it makes life less satisfying rather than more so. Sooner or later the common sense of the race will recognize the fact.

The GOLDEN FEATHER by Robert Bruce

CHAPTER I
AFTER a long drowse, America decides to wake up. A lanky giant, carefree under the sun as long and brown as the great rivers that loop across its plains—and as unexpectedly powerful too, when its course is obstructed—the giant yawns, stretches, looks out over the continent wide-panorams of busy life and begins sweeping the vermin that have been pestering it into the sea.
What is the giant like, and what are the vermin, and how is it all happening? To answer calls for a moving picture camera with a thousand lenses; a camera that can look into every aspect of American life—the good and the bad, the spectacular and the humdrum, pecking at a myriad unconnected pictures and displaying them in a pattern which falls together at the last like a jigsaw puzzle when it is completed.
Pictures of American America—sweeping and selfish America—coming to its senses and striving for a high, America welding brain and muscle into one gigantic job of housecleaning—the world's great nations, displaying its raw strength and its reckless vitality and itsality, saving humor in a triumphant struggle to show the Uncle Sam is still the homely and admirable chap he was in his youth.
A good-looking girl, with matel-yellow hair and eyes that haven't looked at the world long enough to know how seamy its underside can be, looks up from her table in a night club. She's thrilled to death to be there and she thinks she's being just a little bit wicked in a perfectly nice way. She looks up from her table and smiles at the sandy-haired chap who is leaning down at her, and she says "How do you do, Mr. Harkins?"
A clerk in an airy Washington office yanks a green drawer out of a ceiling high filing cabinet and looks through it with practiced fingers and draws out a card. On the card there is a man's picture and with it 10 inky smudges and half a dozen lines of type, and pinned to it is a smaller card, colored red with the word "Wanted!" on it in six black letters.
A big automobile stops in a lane by the veranda of a western ranch house, and a hard faced man sticks his head out of the front window and a broad-shouldered youth gets out from the veranda steps and says, "Okay, Jock," and puts himself and his suitcase into the car and it spins off to the north over the rolling, treeless hills toward the famous bad men of the old west to have their hide-out.
An anxious, worried-looking man sits at a desk in a Chicago doctor's office. The telephone jangles; answers says, "Yeah yeah yeah. I'll be right over," and takes a load, furtive look around the place before he picks up and goes out. A maid in a Chicago apartment writes down a phone number on the varnished woodwork over a closet door. . . . An ambitious youngster fresh out of college sells a big sedan to a well-dressed stranger and goes home congratulating himself and trying to figure how soon he'll have enough money to get married. . . . A politician, grim as his rival shuns the odds, door behind him, and puts a fistful of bonds into his safe. . . . A tired police detective drinks a glass of beer and says to his friend "Yee, Bill. It's like this the big lug's got an in down at city hall."

And four very tough looking gentlemen walk into a small town bank in the middle west, as the sun muscles menacingly and walk out presently with a small fortune in cash and securities.
So what? So it's all part of the panorama, and it all makes sense if you string it together right. It makes sense because some people are foolish and some people are downright bad and some other people are both wise and good, and out of it all you can get a tentative picture of a new world. . . .
"I'll be right over," and takes a load, furtive look around the place before he picks up and goes out. A maid in a Chicago apartment before we get respectable and settle down. I'm spoiled, I guess, but I don't want to be just a housewife just yet. I want—oh, Bobby, I want to play. I've only been away from home for six months. I like being on my own. I like being independent. Don't you see I want to enjoy it a while?

Bobby sighed.
"You were in college for four years," he protested.
"Yes, and if you call that being independent, you're crazy," she retorted. "I mean being out on my own, earning my own living and all. Don't you see?"
"But we could get the nearest little apartment," said Bobby, as if that answered her objections. "Regular little parlor-bedroom-and-bath apartment, and you wouldn't be tied down. Why, you'd be more independent than you are now. You'd be more your own boss. You wouldn't have to trot down to an old office every morning. And pretty soon we could buy one of those new sport roadsters, and go—"
"PRETTY soon!" said Jean. "Bobby dear, I don't want to hurt your feelings, but I'm just not one of those little home bodies that can start on a hoisting. It's not as if—" she paused, trying to pick her words tactfully. "Bobby, if you were on a regular salary it might be different. But you know yourself that selling autos is awfully awful irregular. One month we'd be flush and the next one we'd be living on salmon and crackers. The strain's too much. I guess I'm pretty selfish," she finished apologetically.
"No, no," said Bobby nastily. "Then he said, 'You mean if I suppose if I had a nest egg laid away say a couple thousand dollars would you look at things differently?'"
She smiled at him and Bobby reflected irritably that no girl with long drooping eyelashes ought to smile in that way unless she wants to be kissed.
"You make me sound like a cheap little gold digger, Bobby," she said. "But would you?" he persisted.
"Bobby," she said, "I like you better than any man I know or ever have known. I'd marry you tomorrow only I'm not ready to marry anybody yet. And therefore don't hurt Bobby—I think that if we did get married, we ought to be better prepared financially." Bobby gazed at her. "If I can lay away two thousand dollars will you marry me?"
"Then," pursued Bobby, "if I can lay away two thousand dollars will you marry me?"
"You do it, and then come and see me," she said, laughing. "Let's dance." Bobby's starting again. (To Be Continued)

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

Willis Thornton, NEA Service staff correspondent, is pinch-hitting for Rodney Dutcher, NEA Washington correspondent, during Dutcher's vacation.

BY WILLIS THORNTON

WASHINGTON—There is genuine prospect that "Rum Row" as it was known in prohibition days may be a thing of the past.

The various treasury agencies co-ordinating under direction of Harold Graves, assistant to the secretary, have "turned on the heat" to such extent that smuggling of illegal liquor has, for practical purposes, been cut to nothing at all.

Something like a year ago, when treasury agencies, such as the coast guard, alcohol tax division, customs men, secret service, internal revenue agents, and narcotic agents, were placed under co-ordination of Graves, liquor estimated at 2,000,000 gallons a year was being smuggled into the country from abroad.

Now the flood of illegal liquor is believed to be not more than a fifth of that, perhaps less, and certainly a trickle that is robbing the country of less than a million dollars a year in revenue and affecting the liquor market not at all.

Co-ordination of treasury agencies under Graves into a "Treasury Police" force numbering nearly 15,000 men is certainly responsible for a great deal of this curbing of smuggling.

Agreements reached with smugglers' bases, such as St. Pierre, Martinique, Belize, St. John, and Cuba, prohibit exports obviously destined for smugglers' trade, has done the rest. The "romance" of Rum Row is pretty much a thing of the past.

POINT of the co-ordination of treasury agencies, in which Secretary Morgenthau has taken an active part and interest, is this: liquor smugglers are almost always mixed up in dope smuggling, immigrant smuggling, and domestic distribution of both.

Hence, to have the heads of the various forces concerned with those things meet weekly under the eye and direction of a co-ordinator was a logical step that made them all more effective. It has worked—in a great big way.

Graves, the lean, tanned, energetic man who sits in a plain office across the street from the White House, so close that you could toss peanuts over to the squirrels on the presidential lawn, doesn't put out much on the details.

Six radio trucks, capable of running up and down the coast to any needed point, have opened to government ears practically all the radio conversation between rum ships and their land contacts.

Messages can be relayed to decoding points and back again so fast that you (and the rum runners) would be surprised.

FURTHER, the treasury's contacts with ports of shipment of illegal liquor have been perfected to the point where it is little exaggeration to say that Graves knows to the gallon where every bit of liquor is that evidently is destined for the smuggling trade.

And when 10,000 coast guardsmen, 250 narcotic agents, 1300 men of the alcohol tax unit, 150 customs agents, 650 border patrolmen, 150 secret service men, and some 200 men of the intelligence unit of the Internal Revenue Bureau are all turned loose as needed from a central direction, it is usually just too bad for the smugglers.

And that is why Rum Row, the picturesque creature of prohibition days, is practically a legend today. (Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.)

THE OLD MAESTRO

Will Meet—

the Rangers have a heavy, but green, line and a small and fast backfield that is expected to make the going tough for the Billies. The Rangers have been scrimmaging with the Bulldogs this week in an effort by Coaches Sealey and Moore to get their two teams ready for their games.

The Ranger Junior College Rangers, when they line up for their first game of the season Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, will have a fairly heavy line to throw against the Daniel Baker College Freshmen, according to the weights furnished by Coach Sealey.

Campbell, a 173-pounder, will start the game at left end, while next to him in the line will be Love, who weighs around 165. At guard will be the main beef of the line with the 200-pound Adams holding down the position. At center will be the 170-pound Gooden.

On the right side of the line Bardsley, a 160-pound guard who has had considerable experience, will flank the center, with Sparks, a 180-pound tackle, next, and the 170-pound Walsh at the right end position.

The backfield will not have much weight, but will make up in speed what it lacks in weight. "Rabbit" Jones, who did not win his nickname for being slow, will be at the quarterback position as a triple-threatener, with Monk Agnew, who played the position on the Bulldog team last year, at left half. Agnew is also a fair punter and one of the fastest men on the team.

The other backs will carry more weight, Jones being a 143-pounder and Agnew weighing three pounds less, while Townsley at right half will boast 188 pounds, a fair size back for any team, with Everett at full weighing 167.

Love and Jones are co-captains of the team.

Reserves, most of whom will see service so that Sealey can see them in action and tell what they can do, will be Anderson, Poyner, Rawls, Jim Thorpe, Milburn and Porter at backs, Kimbrough, Palmer, Rodgers, Barry, Collins, Adams, Hodges, Sorensen, Thorpe, Waggoner and Vick as linemen.

Coach Sealey said Thursday that numbered jerseys had been ordered, but had not arrived as yet, though he was hopeful that they would be on hand in time to issue before the game.

A good crowd is expected at the Junior College-Daniel Baker affair Friday afternoon as it will be the first game played this year, anywhere in this section, the closest games heretofore being at Breckenridge and Cisco, all Eastland's games having been played away from home.

After the Ranger-Hill Billy clash here Friday the Ranger Bulldogs will go to Fort Worth where they will meet the Polytechnic Parrots in a game at La Grave field Saturday night under the lights.

The Ranger band and pep squad is to be taken to the game in cars furnished by the fans, and fully 100 cars are expected to make the trip to Fort Worth, the fans hoping that the Bulldogs will turn in their first win of the season after two overwhelming defeats.

The motorcade will assemble at Marine Park, west of the Trinity bridge on West Seventh street at Fort Worth at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, where a stop will be made for a lunch. They will be met there by motorcycle police from Fort Worth who will escort the delegation through the town to the football field, the pe-trade starting at 6:30.

Fire Chief G. A. Murphy has been elected marshal of the parade through Fort Worth and will follow the motorcycle police who will be assigned to the Ranger delegation.

The Eastland Mavericks and the Brownwood Lions will open the district conflict for high school teams tonight when they meet at Howard Payne park in the first conference game of the district. The Lions have won two Class B games by easy margins, while Eastland has lost two Class A and one class B contests, Sweetwater, Mineral Wells and Olney being the victors.

Friday night the Breckenridge Buckaroos, who have won all their games this season, and against whom no team has scored as yet, will meet the San Angelo Bobcats in San Angelo. The Bobcats likewise have not had their goal line crossed, winning their first two starts from Ranger and Cisco by 50 to 0 and 44 to 0 scores. This is expected to be one of the outstanding games of the week-end in high school circles in this neighborhood.

Ahlene will entertain Lubbock on Friday, the game originally being set for Saturday, but later changed, as has become a custom in Ahilene this year. Cisco will invade Sweetwater, conquerors of Eastland by a score of 13 to 0, to complete the Oil Belt activities of the week-end.

On Friday afternoon, however, there will be a Class B game near-by when the Olden Hornets invade Colony to take on the Colony Broncos in the third meeting of the two teams this season. This is Colony's first football year and though the team has not won it has showed promise of developing into a Class B threat in the district.

Tent City Planned For the Centennial

By United Press

DALLAS.—A camp consisting of 4,000 tents to house visitors to the Centennial Central exposition in Dallas is being planned, it was announced here.

A company, backed by Dallas interests, is being organized to build and maintain the tent city. Joe Maida of Wichita Falls, who was operator of a tent city that housed and fed 10,000 unemployed war veterans at Denver, is in charge of the project.

According to the plan, tourists visiting the Centennial, could rent a tent-home for from .75 cents to $2.00 a day.

Facilities would be provided in each tent for the visitors to cook and a place to park their automobiles would be provided.
