Judged By Our Deeds, Few of Us Are Sane

One of the reasons why reading the newspapers is a joy is the fact that every so often they pop up with a story like the one about the crazy man in Kankakee, Ill.

It isn't quite right to call him a crazy man, at that, because he seems to have had right good sense. But, anyway, he was confined in an asylum having been sent there on petition of his father; and he finally won his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus after he had shown that, although supposedly off his base mentally, he had made $75,000 speculating in stocks.

"No man," remarked the judge, "can make that much money these days on the stock market and be insane."

So, logically enough, he adjudged the man sane and freed him.

Solomon himself could hardly have turned in a sounder ruling. But if the judge's standard is to apply in all similar cases, we may be obliged to build rows upon rows of new asylums for the insane, for the ruling cuts both ways.

That is to say, if you can figure a man's mental capacity by the things he does, and not by the way he responds to some psychiatrist's tests, which of us is safe?

How about the good American (whose name is legion) who went to the stock market in September, 1929, when stocks were all set to fall over the cliff of their own weight, and bought heavily on margin in expectation of a continued rise? What section of the booby hatch does he occupy?

How about the chap who believed all that talk about a new era of high prices, or the man who rushed forth to buy when the Rockefellers shortly after the crash, announced that they were loading up with good common stocks?

How about the man who innocently entrusted his money to Mr. Insull, the lad who financed the Kreuger swindle, or the investor who bought Allegheny Corp. at 50?

Or—to get away from the stock market—what shall we do with the citizen who figured that the way to get over the depression was to pretend that private charity could go right on handling the needs of 10,000,000 unemployed?

What about the men who find it logical to reduce the output of food at a time when millions don't have enough to eat? How about the people who want to see wages cut when we suffer from lack of purchasing power?

Maybe we'd better not carry this sort of thing any farther. Once we start judging our mental capacity by the imbecilic things we do, we are apt to find ourselves parading off to the loony bin by platoons. So very, very few of the things we do these days make sense.

Texas' Wool and Mohair

Texas is one of the greatest of wool and mohair states. Producers are minded that America's wool and mohair industry, "caught for years in the world collapse of values, has reached the level of recovery where it can now laugh at the depression." Furthermore and to the point, other branches of the important textile industry also have reached modern advances in recent months trade reports show, but wool appears to be leading the parade. There is life in the old land yet. There is faith in the government of the fathers. A flag floats over the nation that is unsullied. And the constitution drafted by the men who made the republic is as virile and as aggressive today as it was in the long ago when this was a nation of 6,000,000 instead of the greatest of republics with a population of 126,000,000. Why worry? There is work cut out for all and the real defenders of the constitution are the men and women who believe that the rights of the constitution are the men and women who believe that the rights of humanity should be given an even break with the property rights of those who have accumulated great fortunes.

Warning to Motorists

Texas courts have held that a motorist who is blinded by the headlights of an approaching car while driving at night, and who hits something while so blinded, is guilty of negligence.

The case which produced this ruling arose after a motorist, traveling at 35 miles an hour, crashed into a parked truck which he was unable to see because approaching headlights had blinded him. He was killed, his heirs sued the truck's owner, and the defendant replied that the dead driver had failed to exercise proper care.

This contention the court upheld, and its ruling is worth nothing. A driver, it held, must anticipate the presence of objects in his path. If a headlight blinds him, it's up to him to slow down or stop until he regains his vision. If he doesn't do so, and hits something, it is his fault.

The ruling is a timely warning to all motorists.

"Hoover asks for liberty." Just as we feared; to keep him silent, G. O. P. leaders have him locked up.

Whenever a power annoys Great Britain, it seems to be a matter of "Quick, the fleet!"

American Farmers Are Buying More
Imported Animals

WASHINGTON — An upswing in the importation of purebred animals for breeding purposes — greatest since 1930 — is shown with the entry of 10,836 animals into the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1935. J. O. Williams of the Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, who certifies the pedigree of such imported animals, reports that the 1935 importation is 22 per cent above the 1934 importation and 36 per cent more than those of 1933.

A total of 7,411 purebred animals was imported in 1934. In 1933 the arrivals totaled 6,939, in 1932 the number imported was 10,647, in 1931 a total of 7,818 were brought in, and in 1930 the importations amounted to 12,843.

The 1930 tariff act includes a provision for the free entry of purebred animals by American citizens for improving herds and flocks. The increase in the number of entries indicates that the livestock breeders of the United States are taking advantage of the privilege allowed on purebred animals. Federal quarantine laws require that the animals offered for importation must have a clean bill of health before they are allowed to leave the port of entry or quarantine station and be shipped to the purchaser. This precaution is to prevent any foreign livestock malady getting a foothold in this country.

Of the total animals imported during the last fiscal year, 8,663 were cattle, 1,036 sheep, and 274 horses. The cattle were mostly of the dairy breeds but the horses included about equal numbers of draft and light breeds. The importations also included 12 swin, 839 dogs, and 12 cats.

More than half of 91,995 animals imported during the last 10 fiscal years were cattle. During the last decade 3,156 horses entered, the largest number in 1930, when 446 arrived.

Sheep importations during the last two years were greater than in the preceding two years. The 1935 importations were six less than in 1934 when 1,042 sheep were imported. A total of 598 was imported in 1933 and 682 in 1932.

WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NRA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Reconnaissance along the pork chop front reveals an indication that certain packers have been kidding the government as to the amount of their profits.

Also, though roast pork, bacon and eggs, and ham sandwiches will cost more this winter than they do now, prices probably will start dropping next summer and be materially lower by election time.

The AAA's first public hearing on a proposed adjustment program concerned the corn-hog situation. Thanks mostly to drought, there'll be about 47 pounds of hog products available per person in the marketing year beginning Nov. 1 instead of the normal consumption of 82 pounds.

With no adjustment program, there should be about 62 pounds in the marketing year beginning next fall, meaning lower prices, which should begin to appear earlier.

Meanwhile, the AAA is required by law to operate in two-year programs and fears if something isn't done to keep down corn production there'll be a subsequent hog production in excess of normal consumption.

PACKERS' profits, often the subject of kicks from housewives on meat strikes, were represented as $29,550,000 for 1934 by packers themselves at the hearings.

That figure, which is all the government ever had to go on—being unable to examine packers' books—was the total reported to the Bureau of Animal Industry under requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act.

But late in the afternoon an AAA official stated that the figure had been revised to $36,953,331.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Again!
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world is pink.

Laxatives are only snake-oil. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

How to RUN a WANT AD

First Second Third

PICK UP YOUR TELEPHONE

CALL RANGER TIMES 2-2-4

TELL AD-TAKER WHAT YOU WANT

THERE'S NO MYSTERY

or hocus-pocus about putting an ad in this daily paper. It's as easy as falling off a log. You want to sell something or hire somebody or rent a room or find a job and the quickest, cheapest, surest way is with a Want Ad.

Pick up your phone, call 224, and tell your story to the Ad Taker. She will write your ad for you on the spot. With short, easy-to-understand words she will save you money and get you more results from your ad. She will read your ad back to you over the phone for your O.K. Not a chance of a thing going wrong.

That's all there is to it. And if you are selling something that someone wants, or want something that somebody has—it's dollars to doughnuts you'll get results! Because the The TIMES reaches nearly everyone in Ranger and because wise people turn to the Want Ads first!
