Don't Let War Chorus Deceive You Again

If you put your ear carefully to the ground these days you can hear the first faint squeakings and twitterings of a great propaganda chorus that will presently be in full cry.

The same phenomenon was noticeable in 1914, and Americans failed notably to devise the right kind of defense against it. Before so very long we were lending the Allies money to buy our own goods, going to war to protect the loans, and then learning that the loans weren't to be paid anyway.

Right now the propaganda noises have Geneva as their base.

The League of Nations has imposed "sanctions;" member nations, in other words, are asked to put trade and financial penalties on Italy, in the pious hope that Signor Mussolini can thereby be persuaded to see the light of reason.

Through it all we hear a great deal of talk about "enforcing peace," and about the challenge which the war presents to the world's collective machinery for averting war.

"This makes fine reading, but we should beware of taking it all too seriously. For it leads to a long lane which has no turning, and at the end of the lane there is another fight to make the world safe for democracy, or something in which American troops and warships would be greatly appreciated.

Italian imperialism has provoked a new war. That much is undeniable. What we can easily overlook is that the shouting at Geneva comes principally from a rival imperialism whose toes are about to be stepped on.

Britain is the moving spirit in this action for sanctions; and Britain, you may remember, has the greatest African empire the world has ever seen. It goes this empire in precisely the way that Mussolini is trying to get one—by walking in and hitting the original possessors of the soil on the head.

Africa is a large continent, but it does not contain room enough for two rival empires, both interested in the same territory. If Mussolini achieves the empire he wants, the British empire in Africa will be threatened. Hence Downing street is anxious, British warships are concentrated in the Mediterranean, and Britain is prodding the league into activity.

It is up to Americans to refuse to be fooled. The league action is less a move to enforce peace than a move to protect England's African possessions against the designs of a rival power.

If we let ourselves get swept off our feet by emotional talk about America's duty to the cause of peace, we may yet find ourselves sending troops across the sea to preserve the British empire. And while that empire may be well worth preserving, it is hardly our job to do it.

As far as we are concerned, now at least, the one at Geneva just isn't in it with the American and National Leagues.

Can You Beat Him?

GIGARETTE rolling contests are the new sport of local roll-your-own experts as a result of public attention won by James Whiteman (above) of Clarksville who rolls a perfect cigarette in nine and one fourth seconds. Some of the old timers were say they can beat this Texas man's record.

Rolling with one hand and rolling "Indian fashion" or backwards adds variety to speed trials. Prince Albert tobacco is favored by the contestants because they say it rolls easier, stays rolled and smokes better.

Every College Is Benefiting By the Youth Movement

AUSTIN, Tex.—"Every college university in the State of Texas is now benefiting from the student aid program of the National Youth Administration, with 5,025 young men and young women having been assigned part-time jobs at a total monthly expenditure of $75,540," Lyndon B. Johnson, State Director, announced today.

Quarantine Should Not Be Necessary In Some Diseases

AUSTIN.—"Quarantine and isolation have long been practiced to limit the spread of contagion. Theoretically, these measures should no longer be necessary for diptheria and smallpox, two diseases which are absolutely preventable," said Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. Practically, however, we still have smallpox with us and cases as well as deaths due to diptheria, occur only too often. Control and preventative measures are being practiced against scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough. Nevertheless, until such measures find more universal application, isolation and quarantine must continue to be emphasized. These are, in a true sense, essential aids in the control of the disease. The attitude of people toward observance of health regulations varies as greatly as does human nature itself. Most families, realizing the necessity for restrictive measures, cooperate readily. This attitude is exemplified by the mother who learned that her little girl had measles. She waited a while and then telephoned to the health office to ask that her home be placarded. Mothers in increasing numbers are asserting this sort of health consciousness. There is, of course, the opposite attitude, that of evasion. Failure to report the presence of suspected communicable disease in the home is unfortunate. A chief purpose of isolation is to allow for the infected person to rid himself of the disease germ. In the case of scarlet fever, this period covers a number of weeks. If proper isolation is not observed and a child is allowed to return to school while still infectious, the danger to other susceptible children is obvious. To counteract such danger requires constant vigilance on the part of teacher, nurse, and physician or health officer. In this era of Joe Louis Mickey Cochrane, a super-genet Detroitier is one who rethats Henry Ford has something do with autos. "I am certain that much of the

Interesting Day's Program

Yesterday's meeting held at the First Baptist church and attended by members of the Women's Missionary Society, proved that much interest is being shown from week to week in plans carried forward for fall work under the capable leadership of the president, Mrs. W. A. Lewis, and her active committees.

At 10 o'clock members began to assemble and shortly a large number were present and entered into a quilting hour, an industrial feature of the fall outline of work for Buckner's Orphan Home. Two lovely quilts were given the finishing stitches at yesterday's sewing, and a delicious covered dish luncheon was served at noon.

As the work neared its close Mrs. Lewis called to the attention of each individual the week of services now in session at 7:30 each night. The programs are recognized as denominational services and a good representation from the society is expected at each service.

Members present were: Mmes. R. F. Lee, W. M. Weber, Hugh Russell, Carl Presslar, Colonel Brashier, Nannie Walker, Lee Mitchell, A. S. Miller, G. W. Thomas, Frank Arrendale, John Tibbles, W. A. Lewis, Lula Jones and Misses Eula Presslar and Sallie Ringold.

Sig Faircloth Is Enlarging Store

Sig Faircloth, who has been operating groceries in Ranger for a number of years, is doubling the size of his store on North Austin street by removing a partition and taking in the vacant building next door.

By enlarging the store and rearranging the shelving and all the fixtures of the store Faircloth expects to make it one of the most attractive and convenient groceries in Ranger, with a complete stock of staple and fancy groceries as well as a market that can compete with the best in town.

It is expected that nearly two weeks will be spent in remodeling, repainting and re-arranging the store, though business will be conducted in the old location until the new addition is ready.

BANKS ARM PATROLMAN

KIRKSVILLE, Mo. — Three Kirksville banks are not hunting trouble, they're merely discouraging it. The institutions chipped in and bought a five-shot automatic rifle which they presented to Highway Patrolman Maurice Parker to use as he sees fit.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

Oct. 4, was played Thursday night, Oct. 3.

The Brownwood-Cisco game, scheduled for Friday afternoon, Oct. 11, was played Thursday night, Oct. 10.

The Eastland - Breckenridge game, scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 12, was played Friday, Oct. 11.

So, according to the above dope, the Eastland-Ranger game, scheduled for Friday, Oct. 18, may be played in December for all we know.

And, too, the Mavericks themselves are enough to give the sports writers the jumping jitters. They have letters instead of numerals on their sweaters and few, if any, of the letters listed on the program correspond to the letters actually worn. So the team, if the program is followed and checked with the letters on the starting lineup, is composed of a couple of guards, a center and an end in the backfield, with a quarterback playing center, a half at guard, the fullback at one end and the other half probably carrying the chain or the water bucket.

So about all one can do when and if Eastland scores is to say that the youngster who happened to be wearing letter Q or O, whichever it was, made the touchdown.

The Bulldogs still have most of the fans of Ranger pulling for them, despite defeats, and most still believe that they will come through all O. K. when the conference season starts Friday at Eastland.

No one is particularly worried, it seems, and all believe that the Bulldogs have fight in them if they can just get together and get the team organized properly. By organized we do not mean getting the right men in the right places on the lineup, but get them all working together as a team must be.

Blocking hard and low whenever necessary, and whenever possible, will make a world of difference and the confidence that they will get around to it, as displayed by many fans, is nothing short of amazing. They joke about it a little, but deep down in their hearts they are hoping and hoping that the team will develop that spark of something or other that will make it click. And such confidence must be deserved.

Some of the athletic committee blame Lillard field because it is about three degrees harder than Main street, and hard practices tend to make the team in worse shape than an easy practice. Some sandy loam is to be hauled in, and it is about time, to cover enough of the hardpan clay, to make a spot to practice in, and then maybe the team will get to charging and driving as it must before it can win. There may be something

Mothers' Advice "Take CARDUI" Has Helped Many

Thousands of women have avoided useless suffering because they knew about, and used Cardui—recommended by mothers to daughters for the relief of functional monthly pains for more than fifty years.

"I am glad to recommend a medicine that has been used by my mother with good results and then taken by me by her advice," writes Mrs. Annie Mae Powell of Robertdale, Ala. "I am glad to say it has helped me as she thought it would. I suffered with pain and cramping and irregular trouble. This would unfit me for work at times. I took Cardui and it surely did help me."

Of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

to that, because there is little, if any, incentive for a boy to take a header into the field or to block out a teammate when he knows one or the other might get hurt on the play by striking the ground. It is enough to take the pep out of any team.

Some are still betting on the Bulldogs, too, because we have heard of a couple of light bets being made on the Eastland game, one even and the other giving Eastland 6 points.

It has been a long time, since 1927, in fact, since Eastland has won from Ranger, and then by a score of 7 to 0. In 1925 the Mavericks won by a score of 25 to 0 and since 1928, when the Bulldogs won 20 to 25, they have won annually by at least two touchdowns.

United Press Was Ready

United Press (U.P.) Planned Its War Coverage in May

All sources of United Press information—from the offices on the long corridors of the Quai d'Orsay in Paris—from 10 Downing Street, London, where Britain's imperial policies are made—from Palazzo Venezia in Rome, where Mussolini bent over his war maps and envisioned a new Italian Mediterranean empire—from Berlin—from Moscow—from Geneva—the confirmatory whispers came from diplomats—from statesmen—war in Ethiopia seemed inevitable.

The first line of U. P. news defense was planned. Edward Beattie was sent from Berlin to Ethiopia—first American Press Association correspondent to reach the Ethiopian capital—H. R. Ekins, in New York, was assigned to reinforce him—Street and Packard were put on the job at Djibouti—Ed L. Keen, United Press Vice President in Europe, went to Rome—Webb Miller, chief of United Press European news organization, flew to Cairo, down the Nile to Khartoum, to Port Sudan, to Asmara, the war front of the Italian troops—everywhere contacting United Press correspondents—assigning men to new positions, everywhere searching out new short cuts to spot news contacts—expanding, reinforcing United Press first line of news defense.

More men were moved into European hot spots—to Geneva, where statesmen talk and may sometimes act—to London—to Paris—where 3,000 miles from Ethiopia a new and even more terrible war front may be created—Berlin, where Hitler plans his strategy. New channels of communication were opened—new methods devised to reduce delays—to increase speed—to shrink the time—to get the NEWS TO YOU—FIRST.

- These preparations enable United Press to be FIRST with—
- 1 Mussolini's dramatic test mobilization of Fascists.
 - 2 The Italian advance into Ethiopia.
 - 3 Emperor Haile Selassie's call to arms.
 - 4 The air raid on Addis Ababa.
 - 5 The capture of Adigrat.
 - 6 Ethiopia's demand that League use force against Italy.

Fresh vision, independence, lack of cumbering entanglements, highest standards of service, make the news dispatches of United Press (U. P.) staff men the outstanding reports on the war.
