Democracy Receives Another Bitter Blow

There are a few people who believe that democracy is waning today, sick of a wasting disease that will cause its death.

But there is better reason to believe that the death rate among democratic-republican governments since the World War is due not so much to disease as to outright murder.

Beginning with the Russian revolution in 1917, everything has conspired to make things as tough for democracy as possible. The overthrow of czarism was brought about by a democratic-republican revolution. The plan of the new government set up by Prince Lvov and headed later by Kerensky was to build a democracy.

But the mad policy of insisting that Russia continue in the war, after her people were sick of it, destroyed any chance of building a Russian republic. So Russian democracy was murdered by its friends.

Then Germany made the effort. Smothered under an oppressive peace treaty, burdened by unpayable reparations, stripped of colonies, the German republic was short-lived. The friends who might have helped create a democracy there let German democracy die in confusion and turmoil—and the result is Hitler.

Now the Republic of China is stricken, ground to pieces between the advancing Japanese on one hand and the ever-aggressive Communists on the other. In 1912, when Sun Yat-sen founded the Chinese republic, America was friendly, helpful, sensing that a brother democracy was to arise in China.

The dream never came true. Disunited, China's democratic leaders veered to extreme radicalism, then back to military dictatorship. But the seeds of republicanism were still there, and under Chiang Kai-shek there was reason to hope that, despite his military dictatorship, progress was being made toward a united republican China.

Now the Japanese hosts advance, driving and discrediting Chiang Kai-shek. The captured territory no doubt will become a puppet empire like Manchukuo, directly under the domination of Tokio.

And what of the rest of China? It is being driven straight back into the arms of the Chinese Communists, who offer military strength, trained leadership, and close alliance with Moscow. Between these two, the thin ghost of a Chinese republic hovers uncertainly. On Japan's shoulders may fall responsibility for the murder of a third republic.

What might the world be like today if Russia's democracy had been allowed to develop, if Germany had been given a decent chance to develop a real republic, and if China had been given a few more years to get "over the hump" and start marching toward democracy?

Almost certainly, it would not be the mass of opposing hatreds that it is today.

THE FIGURE SKATER

WASHINGTON NEWS

FROM CONGRESSMAN CLYDE L. GARRETT

CLEARING ATMOSPHERE

The special session of Congress largely is being blamed for doing nothing. But three things were done which would have taken just as long in the regular session and they were done at the special session. The Housing bill, to increase labor was put in form where it can be quickly passed and will go to conference as soon as the regular session convenes. The same thing is true of the Farm bill and just as much time would have been needed in the regular session as was consumed in the special session for its enactment. The Wage and Hour bill was sent back to committee and if it ever comes out of there it should be in a form which will be far more acceptable to all parties who are interested in its effect, labor, business and the consumer. As it was just brought forth it was purely political and was opposed by all the groups who should have been the most interested in its success.

MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES

The regional planning bill and the Government reorganization bill are to be taken up at the regular session and both face strong opposition. Relief appropriations revision of the food and drug laws, and anti-trust laws, strengthening of the Maritime Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission and the Federal Trade Commission are other subjects due for consideration.

FARMERS TO PROSPER

In 1938 there will be more than a billion dollars headed in the direction of the farmer.

WAR REFERENDUM MEASURE—A measure proposed by the President, and one seeking to amend the Constitution so war could be declared only by a national referendum except in case of invasion, will be one of the first measures taken up at the new session. It is likely to bring about a real fight.

ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

The Senate on January 6, will return to consideration of the Anti-Lynching bill that was halted at the special session by the Farm bill. A filibuster is expected to continue but Administration foresees want the bill passed and will attempt to keep it in the Senate until a vote can be had. Other legislation will be taken up as soon as the measure is settled.

REARMAMENT

The United States may venture into a field of rearmament. Her navy may be made the second largest, and the army completely modernized. Many are in favor of such a program of spending for the Government, as it would not only take effect soon after approval but would put thousands of people back to work, help industries, and above all would place this country on a safer basis in regard to world conflicts by helping her assume world leadership.

VETERANS' NATURALIZATION

Recently congress liberalized laws respecting naturalization of alien veterans of the World War. Before the laws were changed recently, aliens had to prove good behavior during the entire period of their residence in the U. S. The law as amended last August holds that they only need to offices of the Federal or State court.

TENANCY ACT AIDS FARMER

These farm tenants, laborers or share-croppers who can show that most of their income comes from farming operations, are eligible to consideration for loans from the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenancy Act. Up until 1939 the law authorized an expenditure of $35,000,000 for Federal loans to these farmers, and $50,000,000 annually thereafter for financing these loans. An interested applicant must address the Farm Security Administration, 1025 Vermont Ave., Washington, D. C. giving all facts about his farm status and asking for blanks and other information. This application will be sent then to a committee of disinterested persons in the applicant's county who will examine the application and appraise the desired farm. Preference will be given to those who are married, who have dependant families and who are able to make some initial down payment or who have livestock and farm implements. Only American citizens are considered for these loans.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Will He Bid $10.00 or $40.00?

Fletcher Valentine knows tobacco values...like so many other independent experts he smokes Luckies!

"I've bought 4,000,000 pounds of tobacco at auctions in the past ten years," says Mr. Valentine, independent buyer of Westfield, N. C., "and my bread and butter depends on making the right bids. That's why I have to know tobacco values."

"Now I've smoked Luckies ever since 1918, and the reason is, they suit my taste to a 'T'. Nobody knows better than we tobacco men that Luckies are made of the finest center-leaf tobacco."

Yes—and that isn't all...Luckies' exclusive process, "It's Toasted" takes out certain irritants naturally present in all tobacco—even the finest! The result is that you will find Luckies not only taste good but are easy on your throat.

Surely, independent experts like Mr. Valentine make good judges of cigarettes... Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes combined!

CHAPTER II
 Now that everyone's drunk a toast to our hap-

 He had persuaded Connie away to the little summer
 that often served as a moments alone.

 "Yes?" Connie murmured.
 "Yes," Rodney repeated. "You expect me to wait to wait longer, darling. In fact I see any reason now for waiting at all."
 She tilted her head to one side regarding him. "You manner sound like the impatient Rodney—almost. Somehow, don't make it quite convincing for my part I can't see any reason to hurry."

 off now, ... Rodney toward her, smiling. He was untroubled, seldom angry. He was poised; he might have been perfect. Just as he was too handsome in his impossible dinner jacket.
 Connie shrugged her lovely shoulders. Sometimes she wished Rodney would get angry. It would be more exciting. What was it to quarrel, if the other could never would fight back?
 "I'll marry you next year or tomorrow. What difference will it make? Things will go on the same anyway."
 Rodney laughed. "That's not too far from my male vanity. But you told you, I'll take you on terms, my dear. I'm such a beggar to get you." He took her hand in his. "Would you marry me tomorrow,"

Suddenly there was a flash of blinding light. A voice said, "Hold it!" A man had slipped up the stairs toward them.
 Connie interrupted. "Perhaps we should go back." She got to her feet. He jumped to his. He put his arms around her.
 "Don't go—not quite yet," he pleaded. She did not resist him.
 Yet there was no response in her arms or on her lips.
 Suddenly there was a loud report; a flash of blinding light. A voice said, "Hold it!" A man had slipped up the stairs toward them.
 The man laughed. "I scaled the wall. Quite a feat, let me assure you, Miss Corby. But it was worth it."
 "How did you get in here?" Connie asked sharply. She pushed Rodney away; her blue eyes
 smoldered.
 "Rodney!" Connie whirled on him. "Aren't you going to do something?"
 "What can I do?" Rodney gave her his slow smile.
 "Throw him out! Break his old camera..."
 "Oh, come now! You wouldn't have him do that, Miss Corby." Nevertheless the cameraman began to edge away.
 "Wouldn't it be nothing would give me more pleasure. We posed a dozen or more times, gave out interviews so that you'd let us alone... Can't a person have any privacy at any time any where?"
 "Not when she's the richest girl
 in the world, Miss Corby."
 The cameraman laughed again, said he was sorry. He put... hand on the wall. He could hoist himself over it, manage the sheer drop to the beach; but how he ever had sealed it, especially keeping his camera intact, remained a puzzle.
 "Aren't you going to do something?" Connie demanded of Rodney once more.
 He did not seem to resent the intrusion. "Oh, let the fellow have the picture. He's earned it.

 Though you'd better get going
 now," Rodney addressed the photographer, "or I'll have to summon the guards."
 "That won't be necessary," the man returned. He tipped his hat to Connie, said, "Thanks!" again before he disappeared over the side of the wall.
 "I hope he breaks his neck," Connie said, fiercely. Her hands were clenched at her sides. "As for you," the fire in her eyes had not abated as she turned them on Rodney. "I hope I never see you again!" She swept him out of her way, when he would have stopped
 her, broke into a run.
 Rodney did not pursue her,
 though. He did call after her, shook his head, still smiling. One never knew what Connie would do next. Melt in his arms one moment, run from him the next.
 But she would run back. She had always come back. The only thing to do was to humor her.
 Give her time.
 But that was where he made
 his mistake.
 Paradoxical as it might seem,
 Connie was tired of being humo-
 red, of having her own way.
 She was tired of everything in her glamorous golden world. Sick to the soul of it, as she had suddenly discovered earlier that same evening, as she discovered anew
 now, flung across the magnificent big four-postered bed, with its silk hangings and hand-made lace spread, that had belonged to the lovely and mad Marie Antoinette, shaking with sobs that tore through her whole body, that came from anger or sorrow, temper or pity, she did not know which.
 She only knew that she would not marry Rodney Branton now if he were the last man on earth.
 She had meant it when she said that she never wanted to see him again.

Q. Why did Spain become acquired in the United States purchased Louisiana from Napoleon
 in 1803?
 A. The United States had acquired in the Louisiana purchase
 the same territory that France
 had ceded to Spain, and later acquired from Spain, which had no fixed western boundary. Spain was anxious to keep the Indians
 in a large territory between Mexico and the United States to serve as buffers to prevent any further United States aggression into Mexico and feared that American settlers would eventually drive out the Indians.

Q. Why did Governor Martinez at San Antonio at first refuse to listen to Moses Austin's petition to establish an American colony
 in Texas, and why did he later approve it?
 A. In refusing he was adhering to Spain's policy of keeping American as far from Mexico as possible. The favorable hearing later was due to Baron de Bastrop's intercession for Austin and to the fact that Austin presented a pasport from the Spanish minister at Philadelphia and explained that he had become a Spanish subject in Louisiana in 1797, when Louisiana belonged to Spain. Mexico was much interested in mining and Austin impressed Martinez that his experience in the mines near St.
 Louis might be used to Mexico's advantage.

Bulldog Cagers to Compete at Gorman

H. G. Jennings, coach of the Ranger High Schol basket ball team, announced today that the Bulldogs would play tonight at Gorman before entering the Ranger Invitation Tournament Friday.

The Ranger cagers have played the strong Carbon team Tuesday and lost by a score of 31 to 16.

The two teams were tied 13 to 13 at the half, with the Bulldogs making a good showing against the Carbon team, which plays basket ball the entire school year, and had much more experience, but in the second half the Bulldogs were outclassed by their more experienced opponents. However, Coach Jennings says he has the makings of a good team before the season ends should be a contender in all its games.

The 12 boys coming out for the team are:
 Forwards: Gentry Warden, Bill Houghton, Spud Summers, Shat Gray, Fillard Morgan and Ralph Ebers. Warden and Houghton are regular starters with Ebers being one of the mainstays of the team.

Centers: Billy Joe Turner and LeRoy Bishop, Turner being the regular center, relieved by Bishop.

Guards: Dewey Brawner, Hubert Anderson, J. H. McKelvin, and Raymond Smoot. Brawner and Anderson are usually starters on the team, with McKelvin seeing service in all the games.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

RED COATS SLOW

HELPS WHY
CONCORD, Mass.—Small wonder that the Concord Minute Men of 1775 were able to rout His Majesty's British regulars. A manual of arms used by the British Army at that time and uncovered by a local antiquarian, reveals that before firing his flintlock Red Coat received 16 separate commands from his officer and used 17 different motions.

Brunk's Leading Lady Fay Adams Is a Real Find for Any One's Show

Miss Fay Adams, introduced to Ranger this week as the leading lady for Brunk's comedians, is a direct descendant of John Quincy Adams, from whom she derives her theatrical talent; she is the daughter of Mr. F. L. Adams, of St. Louis, Mo. Many of us saw Miss Adams as "Grannie Parker" in the Cavalcade in 1936 at the Texas Centennial Exposition in 1937 she was publicity director for Admiral Byrd's exhibition "Hero of Little America" which was also an outstanding attraction at the Centennial.

Miss Adams was the first to be selected for a role in Cavalcade of the Texas Centennial production out of five hundred artists. Mark Hamilton, dramatic director and judges were quick to recognize rare talent based on her experience and appearances in stock, repertoire and production on the air. In addition, this monologist and dramatic actress, has been affiliated with the Southwest's best known theatrical enterprises. Her dramatic schooling was centered at Washington University, St. Louis, later attending a dramatic school at Detroit, where she majored in her chosen field of study. Of wide reputation both in the East and West, Miss Adams, who sometimes adds another family name, Davis, for a change and variety in her work, has written and directed when she tires of acting. Only recently while touring East Texas cities she got "just a bit personal" and presented under the auspices of such organizations as the Players Guild at Corsicana, and Junior Chamber of Commerce, such a presentation as titled "Dramatic Impersonations." At Tyler the Junior Chamber of Commerce heard of her feature presentation and immediately signed her for the same performance.

We believe paramount in Miss Adams' moment of reminiscing comes when she tells of her part as leading lady in Henrik Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" a Madison-Adams production. Also there was much fun in writing script conducting and announcing the radio program for Blanche's tea, from KMOX the Voice of St. Louis. Her initial line and an original one, "Come on folks, and have a chair, Wayside Tavern is on the air."

This young actress intrigues one with her spicy chatter, enhanced through her magnetic personality and homy philosophy. She has only been with Brunk's eight weeks. Highly pleased in her connection she aspires for added experience in stage work. Days go winging for Miss Adams, so filled are her dreams and calendar from day to day it might well be said, "She lives not for her past nor her future, the present is all that she hath" for her present will soon be the future and the future her past.

The show playing in Ranger this week is one of the best ever to have been presented by Brunk brothers. Those not having attended due to inclement weather have missed programs of great entertainment. From Ranger the Brunk personnel goes to Mineral Wells for a week's engagement.

Choral Practice Held at Braisher Home: The Y. W. A. girls of First Baptist church gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Felton Braisher, Oddie street, Tuesday for their hour of choral practice.

The hostess, Mrs. Braisher, pianist for all musical activities added much to the practice and at the close of many songs, served refreshments to Murl Dean Murrell, Mona, Robinson, Ruby Milburn, Nauwana Stafford, Betty Patterson, Mary Davis, Geraldine Pirkle, Dorothy Neville, La Vrene Duncan, Edith Mae Taylor, Jimmie Beth Todd, Mary Jane Todd, sponsor, Mrs. W. A. Lewis, and host, F. P. Braisher and son, F. P., Jr.

Wednesday Luncheon Planned:

When the Julia Alexander grove No. 1954 of the Woodman Circle met at the IOOF hall Wednesday afternoon a resume of the year past was given after which plans for a luncheon to be held next Wednesday was given discussion. Hostess will be Mrs. Bessie Harris and the entertainment will be given at her home.

Visitor to Oklahoma Has Interesting Trip:

Mrs. W. W. Paschall who only a short time ago visited at Ardmore, Okla., at the home of her husband's father, enjoyed a full program of entertainment. Named as honoree at several informal holiday parties, she also attended the dedication of the First Methodist church of Ardmore. Principle speakers were Bishops, A. Frank Smith and John M. Moore, of Dallas, well known to Methodists over the State of Texas. Miss Geraldine York, who for a number of years has served as head of the music department of Ardmore public schools was pianist, with Mrs. N. C. Wood, whose thirty-one years as director of the choir has also gained for her a wide and favored reputation.

The gorgeous profusion of flowers for the occasion was perhaps the largest ever to have been seen for such a dedication, and tribute paid to Mr. Gilbert and deceased wife. Many thousands of dollars were given by this couple while residing in the state of Oklahoma.

Attention Goes to High Noon Wedding of Popular Ranger Girl:

Friday, January 7th, at high noon, Miss Mamie Robinson, becomes the bride of the Rev. Wilson Adkins at the First Baptist church, Walnut street. The bride-elect resigned her duties as bookkeeper for the Times Publishing company Monday of this week. Prior to her connection in this capacity she was for a number of years associated with the Ranger Clinic. A group of out-of-town friends are expected to be present for the ceremony.

Party at Church Tonight:

There's a tucky affair on social program for tonight when members of the Gleasons class of First Baptist church gathered in the basement of the church at 7:30 o'clock for the entertainment planned as a "tucky party."

Each member is expected to be garbed in gaudy costume and accessories to add to the gaiety of the occasion. Mrs. Charles T. Talley, Jr., serves as teacher and again extends an invitation to every member of the class to share in the hour.

Dancing at Legion Hall Friday Night to the Tune of Brunk's Novel Band:

Attention dance folk, Friday night there is to be dancing at the American Legion hall beginning at 10 o'clock to the tune of current hits furnished by the Brunk's novel dance band. The troupe is in Ranger this week under the auspices of the Ranger Fire department and due to inclement weather many have missed some of the performances. Now will be an ideal time to take advantage of the nights you may have missed and meet your friends at the Legion clubrooms for dancing.

Is Named Joseph Wayne:

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Farrell are the proud parents of an 8 1/2 pound son who made his arrival at the City County hospital, January 5th. He has been named Joseph Wayne.

Remains Ill:

Mrs. V. V. Cooper Sr., who enjoyed the presence of her children during the holidays remains quite ill at her home, Desdemona boulevard. Her condition has improved

Prize Beef Bought By Traders Grocery

One of the best calves ever butchered in this part of the country has been purchased by Traders Grocery and Market and the meat from the prize animal is selling rapidly.

The calf was nine months and 23 days old, weighed 518 pounds, dressed and was fed an raised by Louis Rogers, Goron 4-H Club boy.

Those who know good beef state that the beef is as fine as has ever been offered in this part of the country.

"The Only Road" to Be at Tent Show

Brunk's Comedians now playing in Ranger under the auspices of the Fire department did not play last night on account of the very inclement weather conditions. The show entitled "The Only Road" requested by a number of patrons will be shown tonight at the big tent on Elm and South Austin. The tent is very comfortable inside and is water proof.

In the advertisement of the Brunk's show tonight will be found a coupon when clipped and presented at the box office together with a small cash amount will entitle holder and lady to admission to see "The Only Road" starting promptly at 7:45 tonight.

Read the announcement found elsewhere in this issue.
