AMARILLO MAN IS VICTIM OF BOMB IN CAR

AMARILLO, Mar. 1. — Louis Keck, 59, motor car dealer, was injured critically today by a bomb placed in the engine of his automobile.
Sheriff Bill Adams revealed that Keck recently was issued a permit to carry a gun.

The incident was reminiscent of the famous Amarillo case eight years ago when A. D. Payne, an attorney, placed a bomb in his wife's automobile, killing her and seriously injuring their 11-year-old son. Payne later committed suicide in the Potters county jail by blowing himself up.

Need of Training Boys for Positions Is Encountered

HOUSTON. — The need of young people for training which will enable them to earn a living has been recognized definitely in the program of the National Youth Administration, and opportunity to receive this training is being made available in Texas through the NYA student aid and work program, J. C. Kellam, Texas youth director, declared here. "We find that young people are asking for practical training," he said. "They want to learn to use tools, to use their heads and their hands in a way that will create a market value for their knowledge and skill. After all, a youth's education and training must be such that he can do some one thing well. Young men and women want to be shown a way to make a living."

Mr. Kellam revealed that more than 13,000 Texas boys and girls are working part-time this year on jobs in high schools and colleges in order that they may continue their education. Much of the work has definite training value for the youths. Concerning the work program, he said: "We found that many youths had had little or no work experience; the N. Y. A. was their first job. We set ourselves to providing job discipline and elemental work training for these youths on work projects. In addition, parallel training classes are made available to youths during their spare time with the cooperation of the state department of education and other agencies."

Mr. Kellam said that special attention is given to training on resident training projects, for which youths interested in one type of training are gathered from isolated areas. Early this month the N. Y. A. began a resident training project at Southwest Texas State Teachers College for youths interested in building construction. Another resident training project for 50 West Texas farm boys will begin at Texas Technological College in Lubbock in March. With $700,000 for 29 ice shows, Sonja Henie has definitely cashed in on frozen assets.

C of C Directors Talk Over Plans For New Projects

Many new projects, and some that have had little or no attention, were discussed at the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce Monday night. At the opening of the meeting K. E. Ambrose, president, thanked the directors for the flowers sent to him while he was in the hospital recently. Resolutions of appreciation were voted to the city commission and the fire department for the work done in keeping down the fire loss in Ranger during the past year, which led to a reduction in the fire insurance rate. A resolution of appreciation was also voted to Mrs. F. E. Jacobs for her part in furnishing several programs recently over radio stations. The resolution committee appointed for this purpose was composed of L. R. Pearson, L. L. Bruce and J. E. Meroney. There was considerable discussion of reorganizing a Boy Scout troop in Ranger, as there has not been one here in some, and it was decided that the chamber of commerce would sponsor a troop until such time as some other organization could take it over. Sig Faircloth reported that work was going forward toward another 4-H club livestock show in Ranger, and that programs and prizes were being worked out with the assistance of the county agent. The annual banquet of the organization and a cleanup campaign for Ranger were discussed and approved, and the operation of the softball field and rodeo field was discussed.

The highway committee reported that it was preparing to move highway signs from the old to the new Strawn and Eastland highways and a survey was to be made to see if suitable markers could be installed at the junction of the Cisco-Breckenridge and the Eastland-Breckenridge roads to point the way to Ranger. Those present at the meeting were K. E. Ambrose, L. L. Bruce, Lee Dockery, F. P. Brashier, A. N. Larson, W. F. Creager, C. D. Woods, C. H. Martin, L. R. Pearson, and two visitors, J. J. Kelly and H. V. Davenport.

A Morse Operator Recalls Old Signals

By United Press
CONNEAUT, O.—Edward M. Smith, telegraph operator, after 55 years of service, has signed his last "thirty" and retired at the age of 73 to spend his days recalling tales of the "old days." Smith recollects the days when a train order was sent to the caboose and relayed to the engine with bell signals. These cords, which ran the length of the train, often would snap off and fall to the right-of-way. Smith said that nearly every farmer living alongside the tracks had clothes-lines made of the cord. Smith worked in Lyons, Rochester, Syracuse, and Buffalo, N. Y., before coming to Conneaut, where he worked for 26 years as a telegraph operator with the Nickel Plate railroad.

Survey Shows Rural Women Sewing Less

By United Press
AMES, Iowa. — Modern rural America apparently is forsaking the sewing machine as a means of making clothing, just as another generation abandoned the spinning wheel, according to a survey of 1,031 Iowa farm women. The survey, reported by Miss Elizabeth Peterson, clothing specialist, disclosed that 80 per cent of the clothing worn by the farm women was ready-made. Only 40 per cent of all dresses worn were made on the family sewing machine and most of these were cotton house dresses, Miss Peterson said. Only 6 per cent of the coats and 11 per cent of the underwear were homemade, according to the survey. The clothing specialist reported that 62 per cent of all dresses worn were cotton. The same was true for hose, indicating that farm women do not risk hazards of "runners" and save silk hose for special occasions. The women averaged seven pairs of hose a year, spending only $4 on them. Of an average expenditure of $64 for each of the 1,031 women, $17 was spent for dresses and the same amount for coats. They averaged two or three silk or rayon dresses each, six cotton and one wool. An average of $2.33 was allotted annually by each of the women for their "beauty budgets," which included such items as permanent waves, haircuts and cosmetics.
