JITTERY PEACE CALMS NERVES OVER EUROPE

By United Press
A jittery peace temporarily calmed Europe's nerves Monday. Against a sullen background stretching from the Baltic to Barcelona and punctuated by sporadic military and anti-Jewish demonstrations the United States' military preparations to guard against future conflicts assumed new importance.

The United States' activities stood out against an European background that bristled with resentment, fear and military demonstrations.

In Lithuania the foreign minister and justice minister resigned as a result of week-end settlements of the threatened war with Poland. The president rejected the resignations, however. It was predicted in London the entire cabinet would retire.

Adolf Hitler's drive to dominate Central Europe, paused apparently to permit consolidation of the Nazi position in Austria. Some circles believed that Hitler's seizure of Austria increased rather than diminished the prospects of peace, perhaps for years.

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 21.—Germany notified the League of Nations today that Austria had ceased to exist as a sovereign state.

VIENNA, March 21.—Egon Friedell, 60-year old Jewish writer and actor, committed suicide today.

Home Made Brooder Proves Successful

A brooder house made of an old galvanized tank was good enough to save 99 out of 102 baby chicks for J. D. Morrow of Rising Star, Miss. Ila R. Parrish, home supervisor for the Farm Security Administration, reported recently.

Mr. Morrow turned the tank upside down, cut a hole in the side for a furnace, and covered the whole with dirt to keep the warmth inside. Since wood from the place is used for fuel, the cost of this brooder house was nothing.

"The importance of poultry in a sound farm and home plan for this section can hardly be overestimated," Miss Parrish said.

"Even more important than the cash value of the sales of chickens and eggs that may be made is the health-giving value of poultry products on the family table."

A sufficient supply of home grown food to insure a balanced diet is one of the first requirements from FSA makes of its clients, she pointed.

Lamesa Not Voted Into the Oil Belt

The Oil Belt football district will remain divided, with four teams in the western division and seven in the eastern. It was decided at a meeting of the district committee held in Abilene Saturday.

After it was voted to keep the district divided, the representatives of the eastern and western divisions met in separate groups, the eastern representatives voting to accept Mineral Wells in this division, while the western representatives voted to bar Lamesa from participation in the Oil Belt schedule, the town remaining in the first district by the vote.

Italian Slaughter In Spain Deplored

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today voiced the "scene of horror" of the entire American people over the slaughter of Spanish civilians in Barcelona by nationalist bombing planes.

No Armistice Seen For Spanish War

BURGOS, Spain, Mar. 21.—An authoritative source here told the United Press that "there is no possibility of an armistice unless it is a prelude to the unconditional surrender of the international fascists, carrying on the Spanish civil war."

Chaplin's New Leading Lady?

Everyone in Hollywood is wondering whether Charlie Chaplin will have a new leading lady for a story he is now writing, and speculation centers around the young lady pictured above, Dorothy Coninger Meitzer, 25. The girl, who does a little modeling around Carmel, Calif., won't talk about the situation, but her father said she told him Charlie had offered her a part, "but her husband doesn't want her to accept."

$60,235.76 Certified By Security Board For Beneficiaries

SAN ANGELO, March 18.—A total of $60,235.76 has been certified by the Social Security Board for payment to beneficiaries in Texas under the old-age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act. It was announced today by W. O. King, manager of the San Angelo office of the Board. The amount included $14,419.25 authorized for payment during the month of February, 1938.

King said 2,327 payments to claimants have been approved since the old-age insurance program became operative on January 1, 1937, and that 508 of these were authorized during the past month.

February payments averaged $28.38 to claimants in Texas, King said.

"Since claims now being filed are based on wages received in many instances from a year or more of employment, it is not hard to understand why this phase of the social security program is becoming more important to wage earners all the time," King asserted.

"For example, the close relatives or estate of a man who has died after having received total wages of $1,000 from covered employment after 1936, is eligible to file a claim for $35.

"We expect a gradual increase in the number of claims received each month until the public becomes so familiar with the law that all eligibles will make application for lump sums due them as a matter of course."

Insanity Is Plea In Six Slayings

CENTER, March 21.—Mrs. Lillie May Curtis, 38, today was ordered to trial April 6 on charges that she shot and killed six of her nine children.

Next month's trial will be the second time Mrs. Curtis has answered murder charges in Shelby county. Three years ago she was given a suspended sentence on a charge she murdered her husband.

Defense attorneys indicated insanity will be Mrs. Curtis' defense.

Sunday Shutdowns May Be Continued

AUSTIN, Mar. 21.—Continued Sunday shutdowns of Texas oil fields will be ordered for April, and allowable production for six days may be somewhat curtailed, Chairman C. V. Terrell said today.

Judge Adamson said that the railroad commission said today. The changes in allowable production were expected to be slight. An order for April production likely will be issued tomorrow.

ACCIDENTS AND VIOLENCE TAKE A TOLL OF 10

By United Press
Accidents and violence took the lives of 10 persons in Texas over the week-end.

At San Antonio Robert Toscano, 32, who did not want his mother to remarry, was charged Monday with murdering her.

The mother, Mrs. Lena Toscano 59, died at midnight Saturday from burns suffered after her son allegedly beat her unconscious and then set her house afire.

The body of M. C. Parker, 60, Tyler county farmer, was found hidden near a creek near his home. A bullet hole was in his back.

Peter Attalan, 70, was robbed and killed in his store in San Marcos Saturday night.

Andrew Howard, 14, young radio star, was drowned in the Trinity River at Fort Worth Sunday when he fell from a dam.

Constable O. J. Moody of Taft shot Florentino and Juan Mendez, brothers, to death Saturday night when they attacked Moody as he attempted to arrest them for disturbing the peace.

Birth Records May Enable Aged to Secure Pensions

Found recently in the office of County Clerk R. V. Galloway were the birth registration records of several persons, which may enable them to obtain old age pension, not known before to have been on record.

The name of the persons and the year of their birth follows: Robert Lewis Elison, 1873; William James Allen, 1874; Lee William Whitehead, 1874; Mary E. Wilson, 1874; Bell Norah Bruer, 1874; Wiley Reath Lindley, 1874; Sally Alice Schmicke, 1874; Minnie Bell Reed, 1874; Robert Osburn Youkum, 1874; Tosia Ann Elison, 1874; Samuel Berry Henderson, 1874; John Andrew Smith, 1874; Tennessee Laura Stuart, 1875; Walter Scott McEann, 1875; Alfred Foster Morgan, 1874; Jo Ella Davidson, 1875; Leah Allen, 1874; Leulah Allen, 1874; Claud Owens, 1875; Emily M. Mansker, 1875; and Thomas Henry, 1876.

A record of birth has proved one of the most valuable aids in securing an old age pension.

Two Are Silent On Charges by Crowley

FORT WORTH, Mar. 21.—Col. Ernest O. Thompson withheld comment today on charges by Post Office Inspector Karl Crowley of the Post Office Department that he used his office to "coerce" support in his campaign for governor.

BROWNWOOD, Mar. 21.—Attorney General William McCraw merely laughed today at charges of Karl Crowley that McCraw was forcing financial and other support in his campaign for governor.

Whitney Discloses He Got a Big Loan

NEW YORK, March 21.—Richard Whitney, former stock exchange president, who is awaiting sentence for theft of securities entrusted to his bankrupt brokerage firm disclosed today his brother, George, a partner in J. P. Morgan & Company, last November, loaned him $1,082,000.

10 Beer Requests Granted by Court Monday Morning

Ten licenses for sale of beer were granted, subject to action of the Texas Liquor Control Board, by Judge W. S. Adamson in hearings at county court Monday morning.

Judge Adamson said that the report of the proceedings would be sent to the liquor board at Austin for final action, as required by the amended state laws.

Hitler 'Asks' Four More Years

Strikingly reminiscent of the last German election, in which Adolf Hitler polled 98 per cent of the vote on a ballot marked only "yes," was the dramatic scene shown in the above radiophoto when Der Fuehrer, indicated by arrow, appeared before the Reichstag in Berlin asking "another four years that I may complete the tasks ahead in the German Reich." Defending his coup in Austria, hurling an implied warning at Czechoslovakia, Hitler announced dissolution of the Reichstag and called for legislative elections for the new Pan Germany on April 10, the same date on which Austrians will vote to "decide" whether they want to be annexed by Germany.

Accomplishments of the Bullock 4-H girls' club, although organized only recently, were related Monday by Miss Mable Caldwell, assistant county home agent.

Miss Caldwell said that every member of the club has planted 200 feet of garden space for each member of their family.

The assistant agent also stated: "They reported that most of vegetables were up at the first meeting in March. In our garden demonstration we are featuring other vegetables other than leafy or green starch vegetables. Nine of the following other vegetables have been planted by each of the Bullock girls, pumpkins, cucumbers, beets, radishes, squash, okra, onions, carrots, egg plant, cuhaw, fredd shelled beans, shell-ed peas and peppers. Henry Wilson, Bullock school superintendent, reported that these girls were outstanding girls in their school work as they are in club work."

Surviving are his wife, one brother and three sisters. Hammer Undertaking company of Eastland is in charge of arrangements.

Mail Handlers of 17th District To Organize May 7th

Postmasters of the district met at the Wooten Hotel in Abilene Sunday and elected D. C. Harris of Mineral Wells as chairman of the meeting to be held in Ranger. W. B. Luna, postmaster of Dallas, who has the longest record as a postmaster in the state of Texas, has promised to be present at the meeting in Ranger, and other well-known postoffice officials are to be invited. It was announced today by Mrs. Martha Davenport, Ranger postmaster.

Every congressional district in the state is now organized, with the exception of the 17th, it was stated today, and the 17th district organization will be perfected at the meeting in Ranger.

TVA Director Is Given a Warning

WASHINGTON, March 21.—President Roosevelt today told Arthur Morgan of the TVA he must withdraw charges against the TVA co-directors by 2:30 p. m. tomorrow and agree to cooperate in the president's inquiry or face immediate suspension or removal from office.

ORDERED TO EVACUATE MOSCOW, Russia, Mar. 21

The American-Russian Chamber of Commerce has been ordered to evacuate its offices within two weeks, it was understood today. No information was available as to the reason.

OIL COMPANIES TO FIGHT FOR THEIR RIGHTS

MEXICO CITY, Mar. 21.—Foreign oil companies announced today that they would start injunctions as the first move of their fight to regain $400,000,000 oil properties seized by the government. Diplomatic proceedings would be the second step.

It was estimated that American business interests already had lost millions through suspending dealings in gold and foreign exchange. Food hoarding started and prices skyrocketed.

Ambassador Josephus Daniels said that the oil companies were expected to exhaust every legal means of defending their property.

"What should be done after recourse to Mexican law is a matter for the state department," he said.

The present oil industry was paralyzed and American business was almost at a standstill. Dispatches from oil centers reported a mass flight of American and British oil companies and their families. The workers had seized control of the plants.

The American Government is encouraging an adjustment of the difficulties between foreign oil interests and the Mexican Government, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today.

CROWLEY CALLS UPON TWO TO RESIGN JOBS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—The American Government is encouraging an adjustment of the difficulties between foreign oil interests and the Mexican Government, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today.

Washington, Mar. 21.—Post Office Inspector Karl Crowley of the post office department, today charged that Attorney General William McCraw and Railroad Commissioner Ernest Thompson of Texas used their offices to "coerce financial and other support" to promote their candidacies.

Crowley, himself a prospective candidate, made his charges in a telegram to the two officials after Gov. Alfred announced he would not seek a third term.

Crowley called upon McCraw and Thompson to resign their offices or withdraw from the governor's race.

He charged McCraw has "nearly a hundred active campaign managers in the form of assistants—attorney generals."

Thompson, he charged has nearly 300 employees "who have turned themselves into political campaign workers at the expense of the state."

Education Meet Of Legion Fixed For Breckenridge

The sheriff will sell to the highest bidder holding a package store or wholesale liquor dealer's permit. Majority of the liquor is stamped.

Defies Senate 'Lobby' Probe

The indignant finger which Dr. Edward A. Rumely points at the Senate Lobby committee in the picture above was no less expressive of his feelings when the committee considered contempt proceedings because he refused to produce records of his organization's activities against New Deal legislation. Executive secretary of the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government, Dr. Rumely said he spent $50,000 to "educate" the public to the "dangers" of the President's organization bill now before Congress.

The vote was taken while the senate debated the administration reorganization bill and the senate finance committee opened hearings on tax revisions measures.

Senator William King of Utah charged that the reorganization bill would mean abandonment of plans for balancing the budget. He said under it new agencies would be curtailed and thousands added to the payroll.

E. C. Alvord of the United States Chamber of Commerce, urged the senate finance committee to "unshackle business" by revising capital gains and undistributed profits taxes.

Extension Agent Speaks at Meet In Staff Community

Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent, met last week with the members of the Staff home demonstration club in the Baptist church of that community.

The first ten minutes of the session was taken up in recreation prefacing the business presided over by the president.

Miss Ramey gave a discussion on the advantages of a "Light Airy Kitchen." She also presented pictures of the store cellar of the food supply demonstrator of the Staff club, Mrs. W. T. Duncan, and the kitchen of the kitchen demonstrator, Mrs. Wayne White, to illustrate her point.

The newly organized club has shown an increase over the original 12 at the beginning of the club activities to a membership of 19 at the second meeting.

The club meets every first and third Wednesday in the month in the Baptist church for the time being, and a cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested to attend the meetings and to join the fine work of the organization.

Those present at the meeting were Meses. W. T. Duncan, J. W. Seay, Wayne White, Lowery, Chester Henderson, F. S. Crowley, Rosh Crowley, O. T. Hazard, Zona Griffin, Pat Smith, Williams, Barber, S. E. Hazard, Allen Crosby, J. R. Griffin, and Misses Sarah Mae Barber, Lorraine Crosby, and two visitors, Mrs. G. S. Bennett and Mrs. Jones.

Reynolds and assisted by Edwin McNeely.

NAVY BILL IS PASSED TODAY BY THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—The house passed the $1,000,000,000 naval expansion bill 291 to 100 today and sent it to the senate where it faces stiff opposition.

The measure, authorizing the greatest fighting fleet in United States history, projects this nation into the world wide armament race, but asserts the U. S. would welcome disarmament.

Designed to carry out a 20 per cent increase in naval strength, the bill authorized additions to raise U. S. fleets to a total of 1,105,000,000 tons at a cost of $1,121,546,000.

The vote was taken while the senate debated the administration reorganization bill and the senate finance committee opened hearings on tax revisions measures.

Senator William King of Utah charged that the reorganization bill would mean abandonment of plans for balancing the budget. He said under it new agencies would be curtailed and thousands added to the payroll.

E. C. Alvord of the United States Chamber of Commerce, urged the senate finance committee to "unshackle business" by revising capital gains and undistributed profits taxes.

SCOUT TROOP TO BE FORMED AT MEET HERE

The mothers and fathers of Ranger boys who are eligible for boy scout work have been urged to attend a mass meeting in the recreation building tonight at 7:30, at which time plans for sponsoring, organizing and supporting a local troop will be taken up.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, and J. E. Meroney, secretary, will preside.

Russell E. Jones of Breckenridge, president of the Comanche Trail council, will be present at the meeting, and will bring several Breckenridge scouts with him. Jones will speak on the advantages scouting offers to the boys, to their parents, and to the town at large, and the scouts will give several practical demonstrations that will show what scouting teaches, according to members of the committee.

The movement to form a local troop was started several weeks ago at a meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, since Ranger has not had a scout troop in more than a year. The two troops that formerly functioned in Ranger were among the best in the Comanche Trail council, and won many honors at scout rallies and at the annual encampments. For this reason it is believed that the troop, when organized, will again be one of the best in this part of the country.

Not only are parents of eligible boys invited to attend the meeting, but everyone in the city who is interested in formation of the troop has been urged to attend the meeting.

The committee, appointed at a luncheon here several days ago, and which has been active in arranging for the mass meeting and in creating interest in the troop, is composed of Raymond Steel, B. S. Lemma and Rev. G. Alfred Brown.

Step Toward Solution of Parking Problem

Ask the average American what he is looking for in this life and chances are he will answer "a parking space." Traffic congestion and parking are problems that concern the small town just about as much as the large city.

For that reason New York City's decision to make permanent the ban on parking on 10 midtown streets is of interest to many people.

The "express streets" had been on trial in New York since January 3. Police liked the idea. So did motorists. The parking ban will soon be tried on 10 additional streets.

Other metropolitan centers can now be expected to follow New York's lead. In doing so they will finally give ear to advice which traffic experts have been passing out for some time.

And that advice is that the only real solution to the problems of congestion and parking lies in, first, elimination of parking on all but the widest and least traveled of city streets and, second, provision for off-street areas to accommodate not only the cars usually parked on the streets but also the even greater number of cars people are driving around the block in the vain hope that they will find a place to leave them.

The experts believe further that city planning should provide for conversion of low value real estate into parking space.

Down in Argentina, the forward-looking city of Buenos Aires is showing the way to a motorists' Utopia by constructing the worlds widest street—with subways beneath it to provide parking space for 300 cars. This plan appeases the honest objection of merchants who say that elimination of street parking also eliminates a part of their business.

Parking is the prime causative factor in traffic congestion.

Consider a 100-yard block on a busy artery. Only 18 cars can park in 100 yards; that would be 36 cars for both sides of the street. But the pavement left for moving cars may serve more than 2000 an hour.

Thus a few parked cars clog the street and slow up traffic for many times that number of moving cars.

New York has taken the first step toward a sensible solution of what are probably America's most universally irritating problems, parking and traffic. Simply stated the one practical course seems to be:

Provide adequate off-street space—and then get the parked cars off the busy streets.

When that is done life will be a lot more pleasant for a lot of people. Saturday night on Main street a midwestern town will be no more of a drivers' nightmare than will 5 o'clock in the afternoon on 33d street in New York City.

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic

"Camels are preferred by the tobacco growers, who know leaf tobacco from the ground up" according to the observation of tobacco planters themselves

"I'VE BEEN planting tobacco for twenty years," says Harry C. King, a successful grower. "Camel bought the choice lots of my last tobacco crop—paid more for my best leaf tobacco. So I know they use finer, more expensive tobacco in Camels cigarettes. That's one mighty good reason why my cigarette is Camel."

THOMAS MIDDLETON and his twin brother James have been growing tobacco for 14 years. "The Camel people bought up my best tobacco last year," Tom Middleton says. "They have for 12 years. When anyone talks about finer, more expensive tobaccos, that means Camels to me. I smoke 'em—and so do most of the growers around here who grow and keep tobacco."

"DOWN AT THE tobacco warehouse they told me they'd never seen finer tobacco than my last crop," says J. E. Jenkins, veteran tobacco grower. "Camel bought all the top grades. It just shows that the Camel people make sure to get the choice lots of tobacco. I prefer Camels every time. I know what those finer, more expensive tobaccos in Camel cigarettes mean to smokers."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox SEA Service Staff Writer A ROSE may smell as sweet by any other name, but how will a sausage taste when called a Piccadilly Dainty? It's worth investigating on this, the first official day of spring. Piccadilly Dainties (Serves 6) Twenty-four small breakfast sausages, 3 cups flour, 1 cup shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 (or more) cups water. Puncture skin of those cute little sausages. Bake them in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) until done, then stand on sheets of brown paper to cool. Make short pie crust of flour, shortening, salt and baking powder and moisten with water. Dough must not be too soft. Roll out thin on floured board, cut into oblong little overcoats for the cold sausages. Wrap up each sausage and brush with beaten egg, mixed with small amount of water. Place in greased pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F) for 15 or 20 minutes. That, gentle cooks, is what they serve on special occasions at the Piccadilly Hotel in New York.

Tomorrow's Menu BREAKFAST: Strawberry rhubarb, dry cereal, scrambled eggs, Canadian bacon, wholewheat toast, coffee, milk. LUNCHEON: Baked tomatoes stuffed with wheat kernels, French bread, ginger bread, whipped cream, tea, milk. SPRING ARRIVES THIS YEAR ON MONDAY, MARCH 21 ST, 1:42 A.M. EASTERN STANDARD TIME

BUT IF THE EARTH'S AXIS SUDDENLY BECAME PERPENDICULAR TO THE PLANE OF ITS ORBIT, WE WOULD HAVE NO VARIATION OF SEASONS AND OUR DAYS AND NIGHTS WOULD BE EQUAL THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE YEAR.

THE sun, which has been moving northward through the sky since last December, crosses the equator in the early morning hours of March 21, and, according to convention, this marks the beginning of spring, or the vernal equinox.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
the type of sleek, super-sophisticated men who most often came to the shop. Yet he showed none of the discomfort of the mere male who finds himself in an utterly feminine setting.

Constance resented the quietly amused curiosity with which he was looking about him. As if this were a flea circus, she thought. He was older than she had supposed, with a deep line between his alert brown eyes, and a fine web of wrinkles at the corners.

The woman was voluble and friendly. "I'm afraid we're keeping you after hours," she smiled apologetically to Constance.

Miss Letts—perhaps reflecting that she, too, was being kept after hours, and nothing said about it—shrugged faintly.

"But I'm going away tomorrow," the lady went on, "and my son and I want to select some things for a young niece who's stranded in a small town."

"We're always glad to accommodate you, Mrs. Rogers," Miss Letts put in effusively. "If Constance is too tired, we have other models who—"

"Oh, but we want her," Mrs. Rogers objected, and went on to Constance. "My son suggested the day we saw you at Da-aler's that you are about my niece's size and coloring."

Constance displayed several garments, and Mrs. Rogers selected a racy hand-knitted frock and a furred evening wrap.

When they rose to go, she said to Constance, "You do look tired. I am hurrying off with a friend for dinner, but my son has his car outside, and—Mark, why don't you take this obliging young lady wherever she wants to go."

"Oh, don't look at your watch, my son," she explained proudly, "can't forget, even when he's on vacation, that he's a busy doctor. You're not rushing off to any deathbeds this evening, Mark."

A doctor, Constance thought. Of course it can't be any novelty to him to see a little lingerie strewn about.

When Constance hesitated, Dr. Rogers said, arching one eyebrow at her, "Doctors are notoriously bad insurance risks, but if you're willing to take a chance, I'll be very glad."

I don't think he'd burst into tears if I refused, Constance thought wryly. But she was tired, and she knew that by this time every car and bus would be jammed to the doors.

"Thank you," she said. "I'll hurry." He was walking up and down before his car when she went out. Constance almost laughed when she noticed that he had just returned his watch to his pocket.

"This is a record," he announced. "I've never known a woman to get dressed so quickly."

Constance wanted to ask, "How many women have you timed?" But she said instead, "That's part of my job"; and then in response to his questioning eyebrows:

"Twenty-two forty Blanchard street, please. . . . You go out the Boulevard."

They did not speak again until they were out of the worst of the traffic. Then he said, "Do you know, the other day at Daimler's I thought the joke was on Mother. I'd have sworn at first that you were there for a more frivolous purpose than modeling gowns."

"I should have supposed," Constance suggested, "that to a busy doctor, modeling might seem the least useless and frivolous business possible."

"Useless?" He seemed to consider the question. "Maybe. But highly decorative. And God knows we need all the frivolity and beauty we can get in this sordid world. . . . I'm not so sure that a lot of the women I have to deal with wouldn't be better off if they were doing anything half so useful."

"SUPERIOR male, hm? Constance thought. Aloud she said, "I gather you don't think too highly of women?"

"On the contrary," he said. "I've often thought women might be rather good company if you didn't always have to see them at their worst."

"Well, I suppose being physician to the idle rich must be a disillusioning business," Constance said, wondering if there would be a letter from Derek waiting for her at home.

"You are tired, aren't you?" he said in an entirely new tone glancing sideways at her. "If I were you I'd get to bed as early as possible. There's nothing like—"

"I'm so tired," Constance cut in, "that if you turn on your best bedside manner, I'll probably spoil your vacation by yawning on your shoulder. . . . That's my house—the third on the right. . . . And thanks a lot."

The first person Constance talked to when she went back to the store after the showing in Chester was Miss Letts.

"Miss O'Dare called to see you as soon as you came in," Miss Letts told her with a furtive satisfaction in her manner that made Constance vaguely uneasy.

THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Although Mr. Harry Bridges is a hero only to the pro-labor groups, it will be cause for general grief in Washington if he does not eventually get the chance to appear before Senator Royal S. Copeland and the Senate Commerce committee of which the latter is chairman.

An encounter between the senator and the West Coast C. I. O. leader, whom Copeland wants deported as an alien agitator, would be this capital's idea of a spectacular show. Bridges, militant, aggressive and highly articulate, has been demanding a chance to appear to answer witnesses who have charged at hearings on maritime labor affairs that he is a Communist and a bad man.

Copeland, who encouraged the anti-Bridges witnesses and made it evident he believed them, has been reluctant but now indicates Bridges can appear if the Department of Labor doesn't hold against him in its investigation of charges that he is deportable.

It wouldn't do to suggest that Copeland is afraid to cross swords with Bridges, although other committee members have been considerably more eager than he to take on the assignment.

BUT the C. I. O. has been digging up the "dirt" on Senator Copeland, just as Copeland has been digging up "dirt" on C. I. O. maritime labor leaders. And Bridges, who is no shrinking violet and doesn't care who knows what he has in mind, is loaded with ammunition for the fray.

Letters in which Copeland is made to appear as though he

HORSEMEN today are fairly certain of four things, viz.: Stagehand already is a great three-year-old; Seabiscuit is the unluckiest horse in American racing history; Pompoon is as great a cover, and the mighty War Admiral soon will have tough going for the rest of his career, because the handicappers will start putting the kitchen stove on his brown back by way of a handicap.

You can't take it away from Stagehand. Col. Maxwell Howard's three-year-old is a great colt. It is true that he was carrying only 100 pounds to Seabiscuit's 130 in the Santa Anita Handicap, yet he raced one of the fastest mile and a quarter races in history, and did so when he was barely three years of age.

He proved in the Santa Anita Derby that he can carry weight and defeat horses of his age, and in besting the pick of the handicap mounts, he established himself as the choice for the Kentucky Derby.

Up till now, Equipoise has rated in my book as the unluckiest of race horses. As a two-year-old, Equipoise lost $150,000 worth of races by being left at the post, disqualified, or otherwise failing by a nose or so. The next year he broke down from an obscure, ailment and missed his chance at the rich three-year-old specials. Of course, it is no cinch that he could have taken Twenty Grand and Mate, anyway.

SEABISCUIT has lost two Santa Anita Handicaps by margins of less than a foot. That means he has dropped purses amounting to nearly $200,000. In both races the "Biscuit" suffered interference at some stage of the race—enough to cause him to lose.

As for War Admiral, he won a he was expected to win. He spotted the sprinters several lengths, up to 30 pounds, out-sprinted them for half a mile, then cut loose long enough to race everything else dizzy, and loafed for the rest of the way home.

That means that the handicappers will have to continue to pile weight onto him until they find out just how much he can carry without dimming his speed. Equipoise, Discovery, and Seabiscuit suffered a common fate before him, and it is now up to him to prove he is different by taking it.

The Admiral, however, is a champion.

SPORT GLANCES - By Grayson

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
NEA Service Sports Writer

A COUPLE of years back, John Nicholson, Notre Dame track coach, watched a slender freshman pole vaulter go through a series of contortions which made Nicholson feel positive he'd have a corpse on his hands in no time at all, if he allowed the kid to continue.

Somewhat sorrowfully he called the youngster over. It was cruel but Nicholson felt it was his duty to tell him. "Son," he asked, "are you dead set on being a pole vaulter?"

The kid was Nicholson shook his head. "Well, son, as a pole vaulter you look like a sweet half-miler, a great hurdler, a likely possibility in the broad jump. But, kid, you aren't a pole vaulter. And if you don't quit it soon you'll wind up killing yourself."

"I'm going to be a pole vaulter," Dan Gibbs said.

His takeoff was terrific, his form on the upswing was just as bad. His legs thrashed around in mid-air like a breast-stroker splashing down the home stretch.

Nicholson often closed his eyes, fearing to look lest the kid impale himself on the pole.

BUT that was a couple of years ago. Today Nicholson is glad Dan Gibbs didn't heed his advice and try the half-mile or the hurdles. Because Gibbs, who recently did 13 feet 8 1/2 inches, is probably the finest vaulter in Notre Dame track history.

He may never climb to the dizzying 14-foot 11-inch heights attained by Bill Sefton and Earle Meadows, but 14 feet should be within his reach in another year or so.

And that, as Nicholson, or anyone else is willing to admit, is pole vaulting.

Don Gibbs isn't an isolated case. There have been numerous examples of athletes, told to try something else, who rose to the top through sheer confidence in their own ability.

BERT METZGER, first of Notre Dame's watch-charm guards, was one. He had to fight with the Irish coaching staff before he could get a uniform, but when Knute Rockne asked guard candidates to step forward, the 152-pound Metzger, was one of them.

Rock looked at him pityingly. "I don't know . . . you look awfully small to me, son."

Metzger stuck out his chin and barked: "Yeah, but I'm awfully tough!"

Army, Northwestern, Southern California, and others discovered he was right.

They told Al Simmons he wouldn't hit his hat size in big league baseball, because of his peculiar foot-in-the-bucket stance at the plate. Flatly, he refused to change it, and proceeded to batter down the walls of every park in the American League with his smashing line drives.

Lester Patrick didn't think his son Lynn would ever make the grade in big-time hockey, and told him so. Today Lynn is one of the New York Rangers' stars.

"Better try something else," is often the warning to a prospective champion. But if he's a champion the warning goes unheeded.
